Evidence introduced at FEPC hearing

The process of introducing and identifying evidence took most of the first day of an Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) hearing on charges of sex discrimination by the University.

Barbara Hillman, attorney for Carolyn Weiss, former staff assistant in the Department of Cartography, began introducing the first of almost 20 stacks of documents intended as evidence in the complaint.

Ms. Weiss has charged the University discriminated against her on the basis of her sex while she was employed and that she was later terminated from University employment because of her sex.

A FEPC hearing in December, 1972 found evidence of sex discrimination in the case. A conciliation meeting in January failed to solve the complaint, and was followed by another hearing in March.

SIU has contested the FEPC's findings.

At one point in the hearing, SIU Legal Counsel John Huffman objected to Ms. Hillman's manner of identification of certain items being introduced as evidence.

Discussion centered on whether the material should be classified as evidence or as testimony.

Hearing officer William T. Regas noted Huffman's objection, but overruled it. Regas said he would not the objection during consideration of the evidence.

The hearing is scheduled to continue Wednesday.

Services to be expanded

SIU gets grant for Veterans office

SIU has received a grant of $215,580.19 for the establishment of an office of Veterans Affairs, President David R. Derge announced Tuesday.

Derge said at a press conference the funds from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare will be used to expand services to veterans.

The new office will operate under the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, headed by Frank C. Adams. Office Coordinator will be Jack O'Dell formerly of the Operation Outreach program for veterans.

The office will be divided into divisions of Comprehensive Assistance, Counseling and Testing, and Certification and Records, each with its own director.

The Comprehensive Assistance section will handle media contact, keep employment listings, assist with admissions and registration, assist with housing, advise on educational benefits, work with community programs for veterans and refer veterans for health services.

The Counseling and Testing

Divisions will arrange career, psychological and motivational testing, develop and supervise remedial classes for disadvantaged veterans and provide general assistance to disabled veteran.

Certification and Records will handle certification of veterans for educational assistance, Illinois Military Scholarships, tutorial assistance, loans and grants. This division will also help with such problems as missing checks and academic problems. It will be responsible for handling all veteran records, keeping track of present and pending legislation and seeing that Veteran Administration regulations are observed.

O'Dell said the office will be concerned with orienting the veteran to the university environment as well as giving him the opportunity to develop skills for the future.

"We want to explore all the avenues toward helping veterans the area in which they want to develop these skills as well as helping him get along in this environment," O'Dell said.

The Office of Veteran Affairs will be located at 611 S. Washington.

Ervin: Haldeman ordered to interpret tapes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Watergate chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., accused the White House Tuesday of ordering former presidential chief of staff H. R. Haldeman to reveal his interpretation of disputed tape recordings which President Nixon has refused to make public.

Haldeman denied the charge and said in answer to a question that he would welcome the opportunity to play the tapes to the committee "because they would confirm what I told you."

"I think this is counterfeit evidence," said Ervin as the committee heard again from Haldeman how he listened to recordings of two key meetings between Nixon and John W. Dean III, the ousted White House counsel who has accused Nixon in the Watergate coverup.

Ervin said: "I would say the clear indication is that the White House counsel ordered Mr. Haldeman to reveal his interpretation of the tapes to the public."

"The facts are that the President of the United States stated on July 23rd he had sole control of the tapes and none would be published. Now the man closest to him appears the next week and puts his interpretation of them into evidence."

Haldeman startled the committee Monday when he said he listened in late April to the recording of a March 21, 1973, meeting between Dean and Nixon, and then listened just three weeks ago to the tape of a Sept. 15, 1972, meeting.

Haldeman disclosed Tuesday that he was also given additional tapes in July to take home, but said he did not listen to them since he had not attended the meetings recorded on the tapes by the recently disclosed White House sound system.

The Senate panel, the Watergate special prosecutor and Nixon have battled for possession of the tapes since a former White House aide disclosed their existence earlier this month.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., who has sought to compromise the battle rather than have it end in a massive constitutional confrontation, asked Haldeman if he would be "agreeable to bringing these tapes up here and play them."

Haldeman said: "You're asking me to take a legal position different from the President's."

Haldeman restated in more detail Tuesday how Nixon asked him to report on the two meetings and how he listened to one tape at his office, the other at home.

Gus Bode

Gus says he'll gladly take another title if it means getting a double raise—even a 4.5 per cent one.

GSEC to consider pay hikes for some administrators

Recent pay hikes for some administration personnel will come under fire at the Civil Service Employees Council (CSEC) meeting Wednesday.

The meeting will be at noon in 121 General Classrooms Building.

"If you ask (some civil service) people to accept little more than poverty, these administrative salaries are excessive," said Lee Hester, chairman. Hester said some employees' take-home pay is only a few hundred dollars above the federally defined poverty income of about $3,800.

Hester charged that some administrative personnel have received raises in excess of the 4.5 per cent per year maximum allowed by the Illinois General Assembly.

He explained some administrators received personal raises on top of raises that they received for taking on additional duties as administrative offices were reorganized.

Hester said one such instance involved no reorganization save the changing of the office's official name.

A permanent Rules Committee, formulated by CSEC's Seniority Committee, will be established at the meeting. Hester said the new committee would seek the sanction of President David R. Derge in interpreting matters of seniority and other rules of the Illinois Civil Service System.

A report to CSEC is expected from a task force comparing the salaries of civil service workers at SIU and other state institutions. The task force was formed in answer to charges that a disparity existed between salaries at SIU and those at other schools.

$37,000 in loans overdue

by David C. Miller Jr.
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

More than $37,000 in uncollected loans is overdue to the Short-term Loan Program, but Blufford Sloan sees no danger for the student loan service.

Sloan, with the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, said even with about 17 of 100 loan applicants being rejected, there are still students for whom college is "not a very serious adventure in the first place."

"We lose money from students who are leaving school," Sloan said. He pointed out many of the persons whose loans are overdue are not college graduates, since an overdue loan freezes a person's SIU records. "There is nothing here to secure things, except the goodwill of the people," Sloan said. "I shudder every time we take a loss... I don't like it."

Despite the missing $37,000, Sloan said the program is in good shape, pointing out that its working capital of about $175,000 is adequate to handle the expected 4,000 loans this year.

loan, but he said "our funds are not being depleted." Sloan explained there are two ways of replenishing the program's funds, and said continuing the program is both practical and defensible. More than $4,000 in service charges for loans last year has been put back into the fund, he said, along with donations from outside "friends and groups."

"The SIU Alumni Association is the most active group in this," Sloan said, adding that they contribute at least $1,500 each year. Another $1,500 comes from other sources. "Our losses don't exceed our gains," he said. Continued operation of the fund, he said, is dependent on the gains and the proper administration of the program.

University auditors make a periodic check on the program's books, Sloan said, although the money is given to SIU only for "its protective care and administrative control." The program's money consists of "very private funds," Sloan said.

About $100,000 is presently on

Some "incredibly naive" students come after loans, Sloan said, and "act like we're supposed to be forgiving" when a loan is not repaid.

"We're not here to make like a father, we're here to render a service," Sloan said many students fail to take the loan seriously, and become indignant when the University or a collection agency comes after the money. Three months after the loan is due, Sloan said, the University employs a collection agency to gather the money. Occasionally students can not be found. He said about $5,000 of the $37,000 was recently written off, "as impossible to recover."

However, Sloan pointed out, the money is sought if the students is still in school. Changing schools is not possible with a frozen transcript, he said. Those with loans dragged out through their stay at SIU, "in the final analysis, pay up," he said.

About $300,000 was loaned by the program last year. Loans this year will decrease because of the drop in enrollment, Sloan predicted.

Character witness testifies in behalf of Illinois judge

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A character witness for Judge Paul Durr testified Tuesday that Durr was condemned if he did and condemned if he didn't give legal advice.

The Illinois Judicial Inquiry Board has accused Durr of official misconduct.

The case is being heard by the Illinois Courts Commission, which recessed the proceedings until Wednesday, when oral arguments are scheduled to be heard.

The character witness was Harrell Miller, holder of several offices in the village of Hardin. Miller credited Durr with having been a prime mover as a lawyer for such vital Hardin and Calhoun County projects as the Tice district, the county fair and a water system.

"We're a small community," Miller said. Calhoun County has about 5,600 people. Hardin has three lawyers.

"After he became a judge and he wouldn't talk to friends, they would have said he's got the big head."

Miller said.

"Yet if advised them, he apparently was wrong," he said.

He testified that Miller called him occasionally to serve as a witness to a will.

The 1970 Illinois Constitution requires judges to devote full time to their duties, and forbids the practicing of law or holding a position of profit. Durr's salary is $30,000, a witness said.

Support group for inmates meets today

The Prisoner Family Support Group, which aids families visiting inmates in area penal institutions, will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Christian Foundation. The group will report on its progress and answer any questions concerning its work.

Shari Rhode, coordinator of the group, said the program needs volunteers and anyone interested should attend the meeting.

The group plans to help visiting families by transporting them to area prisons and providing them with a place to stay during their visit, Ms. Rhode explained.

The penal institutions involved in the program are the Vienna Corrections Center, Menard State Penitentiary in Chester, the Chester State Security Hospital and the Marion Federal Penitentiary.

Firm must stop gas leak

LEMONT (AP)—A Circuit Court judge Tuesday ordered the Steelco Chemical Corp. in suburban Lemont to prevent future chlorine gas leaks. Thirteen persons were overcome Monday night by gas leaking from a pressurized tank at the plant.

Judge Charles R. Barrett issued a temporary restraining order after the Illinois attorney general's office filed a suit asking for a hearing to determine the cause of the leak. A hearing was set for Aug. 3.

Five of the victims Monday night were placed under hospital care and the others were treated and released. A spokesman for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said two Lemont policemen were among the injured. They were identified as Charles Wood and Charles Oldham.

The EPA spokesman said the lead occurred in a pressurized facility and had been contained.

Under Barrett's order, the EPA and the attorney general's office have the authority to check the plant for further leaks. Richard Cosby, assistant Illinois attorney general, said that if Steelco is not able to discover the cause of the leak, his office will seek a permanent injunction to halt operations in the part of the plant using chlorine gas.

This was the second incident at the plant within two years. Fifteen persons were treated in hospitals June 4, 1971 after breathing poisonous chlorine gas that was released into the atmosphere.

A Circuit Court judge fined the company $20,000 for the 1971 pollution violation.

Employee donations asked

In response to an appeal from Gov. Dan Walker, SIU employees are being asked to contribute to the Illinois Employee's Special Fund Drive for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc.

Walker, who is chairman of the fund drive, has asked all public institutions to participate. Don Hecke, SIU Director of Communications, said Tuesday.

Faculty and administrative personnel have been asked to make contributions to the drive at the office of Keith Leasure, vice president for academic affairs and provost, Hecke said. Leasure's office is in Anthony Hall.

Civil Service personnel may donate to the fund at the office of Joe Yuskio, director of faculty and staff benefits, Personnel Services, 805 S. Elizabeth, Hecke said.

New office to give easier access to health care

By Diane Mizialko
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer
and Don Crane
Student Writer

The Jackson County Health Department's new office in Carbondale's University City complex will give east county residents easier access to the full range of public health services, David Gobble, department health educator, said recently. The satellite office, 606½ E. College St., will supplement the health department's Murphysboro facility in bringing public health services to the 35,000 residents of Jackson County. The health department's U-City office is housed in a recently remodeled 2,000 square foot area in the complex's recreation building.

The health department has leased the space from the city. The Carbondale office has a staff of five, Gobble said. Three of the staff members moved to U-City from the Jackson County Family Planning Center. Family planning services were previously administered from the First United Methodist Church, Carbondale. A clerk and a sanitarian have been transferred to the U-City office from the Murphysboro health department headquarters, Gobble said. Supervisory personnel will remain in Murphysboro, he added. Besides becoming the new location of family planning services, the U-City health department satellite will also offer environmental sanitation inspection, nursing services, tuberculosis control and an immunization program, Gobble said.

Jackson County residents may contact the U-City office for a variety of reasons, Gobble said. Services offered by the office include investigations of reported public health hazards, nursing services recommended for homebound patients by their physicians and tuberculosis testing. The U-City immunization clinic will be operated by a registered nurse from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. every Tuesday, beginning Aug. 7, Gobble said. Immunizations against diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, typhoid fever, polio, rubella (German measles) and rubella ("hard" measles) will be available. A doctor's order is not necessary for an immunization, Gobble said.

Family planning services available at the U-City health department office include pre- and post-natal counseling, birth control information and medical referrals. For families meeting federal guidelines, the health department pays for medical counseling on birth control methods and for sterilization operations, Gobble said.

The health department is not in competition with doctors in curing illness, Gobble emphasized, but exists to prevent disease. He expressed the hope that more persons will use the health department's services because of the increased availability of its facilities.

The U-City health department office is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. For information and services, residents may call 457-8111.

Merlin's to feature longest bar in state

By Linda Lipman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Chances are you won't have to push through a crowd to get a drink at Merlin's this fall—the entertainment complex will feature four bars.

The 55-foot "longest bar in the state" will mainly serve beer and wine, Scott Evers, manager of Merlin's, said. A service bar at the entrance of the new complex "is service oriented to solve problem traffic, so people will be able to get drinks as soon as they get in, without pushing through a crowd," Evers said.

Another bar will be situated in the restaurant area—when the complex opens sometime before fall quarter. This bar will carry a variety of liquor. Evers is hoping the bar in the present building will be used more for mixed drinks.

The new Merlin's stood where the new complex is under construction. It turned to the ground last July 25. "It's been a long time since Merlin's has been up to its full force, and we're as excited as everyone else to get it opened," Evers commented.

Due to strikes, financial problems, weather delays, and "being particular about the huge investment," the construction has taken longer than expected. Evers would offer no set date for opening but said he hoped it would be before fall quarter.

"We need this time before the next quarter begins to adequately train our help," Evers explained. After conducting 500 interviews last May Evers thinks he will hire about 50 employees. A majority of the part-time help will be students.

Evers said Bill Hitchcock, president of the Merlins Corp., was instrumental in the design of the complex. Plans include a night club with nightly entertainment from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. The cover charge for the club has not been determined, Evers said.

The restaurant will be open daily from 11-2 a.m. A European style outdoor cafe is planned for the courtyard between the two bars. This cafe will feature an extensive wine list and dinners.

Evers said he anticipates problems finding good bands for the night club, but he is planning on recruiting talent from all over the state and not just locally. The bands will play on an arena stage and the dance floor will form a semi-circle around the stage.

Evers said he is not concerned about competition, because Merlins is centrally located and will "initially get the rush of people."

He added he may have a problem getting people out after hours (2 a.m.), but will try to have an adequate work force to manage.

Future plans for the Merlins complex include installation of a fireplace in the restaurant and a life-size video screen for sporting events in the nightclub area.

Med school accepting applications for 1974

The SIU School of Medicine is accepting applications for the 1974 freshman class, the Office of student Affairs announced Tuesday.

Since July 19 there have been 63 applications, eight of which requested to be considered under the Early Decision Program (EDP).

Dr. Hurley J. Myers, assistant to the associate dean of Medicine, explained that those students being considered under the EDP may register only for admission to one medical school.

"Those in the EDP will be considered for admission during the period of September 1 to October 1," Myers said. "The purpose of an early decision is to relieve the pressure on the student who would normally have to wait longer for a decision."

Myers said to be eligible for the EDP a student may only apply at SIU Medical School.

"The student is in effect saying he prefers our school to all the others, but must have an early decision," he said.

Myers said 24 of the 72-member freshman class will be accepted to the EDP. Admissions are restricted to residents of Illinois who have the intention of practicing in the state.

Myers said exceptions may be made for academically qualified students living in non-metropolitan areas of states bordering central and southern Illinois. These include Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana and the southern tip of Iowa.

Who knows which about a witch?

A lecture on witchcraft at the Ramada Inn recently presented certain revelations that are no more than "half-truths" when practically applied.

Don Holmes, who claimed to be a witch, made statements about witchcraft that were not only contradictory but also somewhat inaccurate.

Holmes said witches are not Satanists, magicians or sorcerers. Voodoo and other such forms of superstition, he said, are "taboo among witches".

This is true but not totally accurate. Witchcraft has always been taken out of context. The notion of Satanism, magic, voodoo and other such practices were derived from Christian theology — which adopted these theories from Judaism, Neoplatonism and many other pagan beliefs. Also the dogma that all diseases come from supernatural origins was more or less inherited from the ancestors of the seventeenth century Englishman. These components of witchcraft, however, were universally applied by most people, during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in Old England. Conversely, in the land of the Bible, as told by Holmes, witches were looked upon as messengers of God.

In both Old England and New, witchcraft has existed as the inherited creed of the common folk. Their beliefs, feelings, and fears would even take precedence over the decision making powers of their government. One of the many cases tried was that of Jane Wenham in 1712 — popular because of its timeliness. Chief Justice Powell, who presided over the case, thought that the evidence presented was incredible and poked fun at it, openly. But due to the strong influence of the populace he was forced to condemn her death. It is evident now, that the quality of witchcraft has always been completely dependant upon the climate in which it existed.

After refuting the mystical aspects of witchcraft, Holmes went on to say that the power to heal has always been a part of the art. He demonstrated his talent by stopping the running nose of a young woman in the audience. This was accomplished, he said, by imagining a tangible white light surging up his back, to his heart level, then through his fingertips and into the woman's body. But, of course, as Holmes said, mysticism and superstition do not come into play in witchcraft.

Also, exactly how can witchcraft attempt to teach people to survive, when the very nature of its existence is deeply rooted in malediction — evil intentions and wrong doing? This is totally incongruent with the long-time attitudes on witchcraft.

The characteristics of witchcraft, as viewed by the witch himself, may be applicable today but certainly not yesterday. One should be cautious, as to the postulates he professes, I guess — even if he is an expert.

It's one thing to put your foot in your mouth but it becomes pretty dangerous when you can't get it out.

The oil pipeline vote

From Newsday, Long Island, N.Y.

Largely under pressure of spot fuel shortages around the country, the Senate voted to permit construction of the Alaskan oil pipeline without further consideration of environmental dangers, alternative routes or necessary safeguards.

Within hours of the Senate's ill-conceived vote, the Federal Trade Commission accused the eight largest oil companies of monopolizing refining and marketing operations and thereby contributing to the current shortages.

Now that the FTC's antitrust complaint offers ground to believe that the present gasoline shortage is something less than divinely ordained, there's no reason for the House to go along with the Senate's hasty action.

EDITORIALS—The Daily Egyptian encourages free discussion of current issues through editorials and letters to the pages. Editorials—labeled Opinion—are written and signed by members of the student news staff and by students enrolled in journalism courses and represent opinions of the authors only.

LETTERS—Readers are invited to express their opinions in letters which must be signed with name, classification and major, or faculty rank, address and telephone number. Letters should be typewritten, and their length should not exceed 250 words. Letter writers should respect the generally accepted standards of good taste and are expected to write their points in terms of issues rather than personalities. Acceptance for publication will depend on limitations of space and the timeliness and relevance of the material. Unsigned letters will not be accepted, and authorship of all letters must be verified by the Daily Egyptian. It is the responsibility of the Daily Egyptian to determine content of the opinion pages. Other materials on pages four and five include editorials and articles reprinted from other newspapers, syndicated columns and articles, and interpretive or opinion articles authored locally.

MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM

Bruce Sharps Buffalo Evening News

Letter Decaying culture

To the Daily Egyptian:

Could it be that the reason why so many students do not consider Christ as a viable alternative to the options presented on campus is because of the watered-down version they see presented in the lives of secularized Christians? The failure of Christians to apply the Word of God in a radical way to their lives and to their culture has produced a synthesis of Christianity with racism, capitalism, socialism, pragmatism.

Rather than develop a distinctively Christian approach to these issues, Christians have adopted nonChristian viewpoints. They have become guardians of the establishment—more concerned with making money and obtaining security than with reforming and challenging a Satanic world system.

How can believers be content to serve the gods of this world—scientism, militarism, materialism, humanism—if they believe that Jesus Christ should be made Lord of every area of human life? Yet, they serve as flunkies in the decaying garden of a dying culture—happy so long as they can tip their hat to God on Sunday morning and drop a few pennies in the offering plate.

If Christians continue to condition their children to worship materialism and technology, they will help speed up the rate of decay in society. Surely, something more than a modicum of churchianity and good works is required to turn the tides of moral and spiritual corruption which are enveloping our nation.

If an international body of radical Christians were to extend the Lordship of Christ to all of life, then Christianity would have a significant formative influence on Western civilization in the Twentieth Century.

In concrete terms, this means that we forget about the usual bourgeois goals of success, and security, and status and take the New Testament ideal of sacrificial service as our existential guideline. If we followed this, we would be prepared, like William Booth and his followers in the Salvation Army, to turn our back on life as it is lived by the affluent middle-class and really dig into the slums or wherever else there is agonizing human need. We must pray and push for this radical change in lifestyle—regardless of the cost.

Will we continue to work to perpetuate the status quo? Or will we live for Jesus Christ and refuse to worship the sheltered suburban incubators of comfort and pleasure—the idols of our society? Let us abandon our positions of security of slavish servility to the system to fight, like the evangelical Christians in 19th century England, for social reforms and for a just social order.

Letter Protest cites civil repression in Iran

To the Daily Egyptian:

Elected representatives of the American people are now spending tax money and giving the prestige of the United States Government in a display designed to convince Americans that they have an obligation to support the Iranian Shah and his government. It is important that Americans avoid letting their government keep them from making a sound judgement regarding the moral worth of the Iranian government. Along with the high sounding protestations of United States officials, Americans should consider the state of civil liberties in the country under the Shah's control.

Facts: In 1973 fourteen political opponents of the Shah have been executed.

Hundreds of individuals have been arrested for suspicion of opposing the Shah's political beliefs.

The Shah's regime is holding twenty thousand political prisoners.

These political prisoners are denied the Iranian constitutional right of trial by jury.

Trials of political prisoners are closed to both the public and the press.

Trials that condemn prisoners to death by execution frequently take only two hours, with no opportunity to appeal.

Political prisoners are prosecuted and defended by appointees of the Shah.

Civilians are tried by military courts. They are military prisoners.

One hundred and thirty-seven persons have been executed by the Shah's military regime in the last two years.

"The Iranian students abroad, knowing the true situation in their country, have considered it their duty to speak out about the political life of Iran. The Confederation of Iranian Students in Europe and the U.S. has, for the last twelve years, waged a struggle to expose the military dictatorship in Iran and defend the rights of political prisoners. This organization has been declared illegal by the military regime, and its members face prison terms from three to ten years in Iran."

This letter was prepared by concerned Iranian citizens. It is signed by American citizens, due to the fear of reprisal against the families of these Iranians.

Beef supply dwindles further; plight critical in some areas

By Louise Cook
Associated Press Writer

Beef supplies dwindled further Tuesday, reaching a critical level in some areas. Meat processors complained they were going broke and shoppers said they couldn't find steaks or roasts.

The Cost of Living Council, however, stood firm on the Sept. 12 deadline for the lifting of ceilings on beef and said it had begun an investigation of profits in the meat industry.

Representatives of New York's wholesale meat processors said many companies would shut down Wednesday and decide on a day-to-day basis whether to continue operations.

"Remaining supplies of beef do not warrant a five-day operation," said a spokesman after a meeting of about 30 wholesalers.

Under the Phase 4 economic program announced by President Nixon two weeks ago, controls were lifted on all food prices except beef, allowing processors and retailers to pass on increases in raw agricultural products.

Because of the remaining ceilings on beef, cattlemen have been withholding livestock from market, processors say the only way they can get meat is to pay more than they can charge and consumers are finding bare spots on the shelves.

A spokesman for the American Meat Institute said the trade group had confirmed the closing of 37 meat packing plants as of Tuesday morning and found operations were cut back substantially in 26 others.

He said government figures showed 79,000 head of cattle were slaughtered in the country Monday—a 32 per cent drop from the July 30, 1972 figure and a 23 per cent decline from a week earlier.

Representatives of the meat industry are scheduled to meet Wednesday with Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz in Washington to discuss their plight.

Officials of the Cost of Living Council, meanwhile, said the Sept. 12 deadline still stands.

Council Deputy Director James W. McLane said he was skeptical of claims that the ceilings have put meat producers in a serious bind.

"It appears quite a lot of money has been made so the argument that business can't produce because it is not profitable is a questionable argument," McLane said.

He said the investigation of meat prices is being conducted at all levels of the industry—from ranch to retail store. "We want to find out who in the cycle is getting all the return," he added.

Beef supplier refuses to fill order from White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—"If Mrs. Housewife feels the meat shortage, so should the White House," says Bernard Goldstein. "They started the shortage and...don't deserve any better treatment than anyone else."

With that he rejected an order from the White House for 15 pounds of filet mignon and New York strip steak.

Goldstein is president of District

Hotel Supply, Inc., the largest hotel and restaurant meat supplier in the District of Columbia.

At the White House Tuesday, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren confirmed the order had been rejected. He added: "We are shopping elsewhere to fill out the normal replenishment. We are in the same position as anyone else...we are buying where we can."

"We've been supplying the White House with meat for 16 years and this is the first time we've ever refused them," said Goldstein.

Goldstein said he offered lower quality steak but was told no thanks. "I had no trouble filling their ground beef order," he added with a smile.

"We're talking principle here," he went on. "I realize I'm sticking my neck out—I may even lose the account—but I feel I have to do something to help the meat industry."

Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, Helen Smith, said White House chef Henry Haller reported no problems in his orders. She said the request turned down by Goldstein must have been for the White House where presidential aides eat.

Rebel troops pierce Cambodian defenses

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Rebel troops pierced government defense lines Tuesday and fought Cambodian troops five miles outside Phnom Penh. The thunder from bombing missions by U.S. planes was heard all day.

Fighter-bombers flew over the city while heavy bombers hit adjacent targets on all sides of the city. Three government soldiers were wounded in a battle at Robas Angkanh, a village between the Bassac and Mekong rivers southeast of Phnom Penh.

Northwest of the city, a squadron of armored personnel carriers moved into reinforce an embattled government outpost in the village of Kap Srau Toch.

Both engagements were several miles behind the governments main defense lines and reflected the recent pattern of increasing infiltration by the Communist-led rebels.

Sixteen Cambodian soldiers were wounded and one civilian killed 14 miles south of Phnom Penh in a misdirected U.S. bombing raid on the village of Setbo on Monday, field reports said.

Witnesses said there had been no fighting in that area at the time and no bombing strikes were called in.

Pay raise will not delay August checks, official says

Faculty, staff and civil service employees scheduled to get raises in their August pay checks should get them without a hitch.

Margaret Hill, payroll supervisor, said Tuesday there have been no problems in getting out the checks with the scheduled increases included.

No specific figures are available to show how many checks included increases, Ms. Hill said.

The increases paid in the August checks had been in doubt until some $824,000 was added to SIU's appropriation for next year by Gov. Dan Walker. This was combined with about 900,000 in money reallocated from within the University to cover raises for an estimated 1,800 faculty and staff and about 1,300 civil service employees.

Jet clips seawall in heavy fog

Airliner crashes, kills 88 near Boston

BOSTON (AP)—A Delta Airlines DC9 jet airliner clipped a seawall and crashed during its approach to Logan International Airport in heavy fog Tuesday morning. State police said 88 of the 89 persons aboard were killed.

Eighty-seven persons died instantly in the crash, which ripped the twin-engine jet to pieces, and one died later at Massachusetts General Hospital, police said.

The lone survivor was listed in critical condition at the hospital with burns and multiple injuries.

The jet was landing on instruments on a flight from Burlington, Vt. It had made a non-scheduled stop at Manchester, N.H., to pick up passengers stranded there because of fog, according to a Delta spokesman.

Maurice Worth, manager for Delta at Logan, said the pilot was making an instrument approach because of the heavy fog. He said visibility was one-quarter to one-half mile.

A spokesman for the FAA said the plane was flying some 1,000 feet too low as it made its approach.

The crash site, about a mile from the terminal, was described as a "grisly scene" of mangled and burned bodies, pieces of wreckage and other debris.

Authorities said the landing gear of the jet apparently clipped the 2½-foot high seawall about 3,500 feet short of the runway. The plane flipped onto its back and disintegrated.

Ferris Howland, regional director for the Federal Aviation Administration in Boston, said: "The pilot obviously undershot the runway."

Most of the bodies were so badly burned that efforts were made to identify them through fingerprints.

Police said 63 bodies were taken to a temporary morgue set up at the Logan fire station. Fifteen bodies were taken to Boston City Hospital and four to Massachusetts General Hospital, according to authorities.

There was a delay of about 10 minutes in reporting the 11:05 a.m. crash because no one actually saw it, due to the fog, authorities said. A fireman said the watches of persons found in the wreckage were stopped at 11:05 a.m.

A spokesman for the Massachusetts Port Authority, which operates the airport, said the last word the control tower had from the plane gave no indication of trouble.

The lone survivor was identified as Leopold S. Chouinard, 20, of Marshfield, Vt. He was reported in critical condition at Massachusetts General Hospital with third-degree burns over 80 per cent of his body.

The second person pulled from the plane and taken to the hospital was identified as Ross E. Brown, 31, of Louisville, Ky. He died of multiple injuries at 2:20 p.m., a hospital spokesman said.

Delta manager Worth said the plane, Delta Flight 723, originated at Burlington at 9 a.m. and stopped at Manchester to pick up 32 passengers stranded there earlier because of fog.

State Democrat 'financial arm' formed

CHICAGO (AP)—Formation of a "statewide financial arm" for the Democratic party was announced Tuesday with an immediate aim to pay off Gov. Daniel Walker's half million dollar campaign deficit.

Angelos Geocaris, a key Walker adviser on campaign financing, said he will organize the group and serve as its chairman. At a news conference he said Walker had recommended its formation and that the governor will have the "prime say-so" over which candidates receive funds.

Geocaris denied, however, the organization will be used to finance a Walker campaign war chest to dilute the political power of Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

Some Chicago Democrats controlled by Daley have been unkind to Walker's legislative program in the General Assembly.

Geocaris said he has not communicated the idea of the organization to the mayor but will seek an appointment.

He said John P. Touhy, state Democratic chairman and a close Daley ally, expressed "strict neutrality" when told of the proposal.

In a statement issued later, Touhy indicated opposition to the plan.

"A contributor has a right to know the philosophy, the policy and the integrity of those persons who will administer these funds," Touhy said. "There should be no straw men or ghosts unknown to the public meeting in secret to discuss who is to be punished or rewarded for political activity. . . I think it is more honest to have the fund raising directly identified—so that the purpose for which contributions are being used will be known to those who make the contributions."

In announcing the formation of the organization, Geocaris said he will require full disclosure of contributors and contributions. He also spoke publicly for the first time on the extent of Walker's campaign deficit.

Geocaris said he advised Walker early that it would take a minimum of $3 million to make a successful run at the governor's mansion in the primary and general elections.

He said the campaign costs were $2 million and that only half of that was raised.

Since the election, Geocaris said, dinners and other fund raising efforts have cut the deficit to $500,000.

Unlike the Republicans, Democrats have not had a statewide method for financing candidates since the end of World War II, Geocaris said.

Democrats have usually relied on the well-disciplined Cook County Democratic organization, controlled by Daley, as their main fund raising vehicle.

Skylab astronauts: 'Pretty good shape'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Skylab astronauts said Tuesday they felt "in pretty good shape" after a three-day bout with motion sickness. But a planned spacewalk was postponed until the spacemen get their housekeeping chores back on schedule.

"We're all going to be in pretty good shape by the end of the day," said Skylab commander Alan L. Bean. "As long as you get through meals, things are great."

Bean and his crewmates, Jack R. Lousma and Dr. Owen K. Garriott, said they felt well enough Tuesday to forego medication to soothe their queasy stomachs. It was the first day without medication for any of the three since their record 59-day space adventure started last Saturday.

Space officials postponed a spacewalk for the third time, saying it would come no earlier than Saturday. The spacewalk had originally been set for Tuesday and has been postponed twice before, to Wednesday and then Thursday.

The main jobs of the astronauts Tuesday were stowage and housekeeping chores, a procedure which was originally scheduled to be finished by Monday. Officials said they were more than a day behind.

Flight controller Don Puddy said there was no requirement that the spacewalk be held Saturday and noted that it could be postponed until next week with no serious effect on the mission.

Garriott and Lousma are scheduled to make the spacewalk. During 3½ hours outside the spacecraft they will replenish film in a solar telescope camera array and deploy a sun shade.

New Haven will hold meeting for volunteers

The Friendly Visitors Program committee will hold a meeting at 2 p.m. Thursday at the New Haven Center for those interested in volunteering for the program.

The meeting will be in the Building Three Lounge of the center at 500 S. Lewis Lane. Robert A. Strassman New Haven Center director of information announced Tuesday. The New Haven Center, a shelter care home, will be sponsoring the project in cooperation with a state program. The project will involve community members and students visiting with restricted residents at the center.

The purpose of the meeting will be to screen and arrange the construction of a task force of volunteers.

The visitation presently will occur at the New Haven Center, but Strassman has hopes of enlarging the program.

"This is only a start," he said. "We want to be able to visit restricted residents in their homes."

Kerner's bid for hearing into 'enemies list' denied

CHICAGO (AP)—A special U.S. Court of Appeals panel refused Tuesday to order a hearing to determine whether former Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois was on the alleged White House "enemies list."

The panel of three judges also declined to order hearings on whether Kerner or his attorneys were the targets of wiretapping.

Kerner is appealing his conviction in February on charges of conspiracy, bribery, perjury, mail fraud and income tax evasion in connection with a racetrack stock deal.

Kerner asked that the government be ordered to disclose whether wiretaps were used in connection with his prosecution and whether he was on the so-called "enemies list" described by former White House counsel John W. Dean III.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert L. Taylor of Knoxville, Tenn., who presided at Kerner's trial, earlier refused the request. Kerner then appealed the denial.

Kerner has been sentenced to three years in prison and fined $50,000, but the penalties have been stayed pending outcome of his appeal.

He is on leave as a judge of the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Gymnasts to train at Arena

The SIU Arena will be an important site for six gymnasts and three coaches in the next ten days.

The gymnasts, which include Saluki Gary Morava, comprise the United States gymnastics team which will compete at the World University Games in Moscow later this month.

The Arena will serve as a training facility from Wednesday until the American squad leaves for Moscow in a chartered plane Aug. 10. Workouts will be held daily from 4:30-7:30 p.m.

Aside from Morava, third-place all-around finisher in the NCAA meet last April, the team includes John Crosby and Jay Whelan of Southern Connecticut, Jim Ivceik of New Mexico, Mike Carter of Louisiana State and Jim Stephenson of Iowa State.

Both Crosby and Ivceik competed in the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich last August.

Officials of the U.S. team include head coach Rusty Mitchell, a former SIU gymnast and assistant coach from 1960-64, now head coach at New Mexico. Serving as managers are former Saluki gymnasts Fred Orlofsky (1960-63), now coaching at Western Michigan, and Jim Howard, coach at the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

Two Americans quit track team

DAKAR, Senegal (AP)—Sprinters Herb Washington and Marshall Dill quit the American national track team Tuesday and departed for the United States despite a threat of being banned from future teams.

Dill and Washington, members of the 400-meter relay team, were to participate in a meet against Africa this weekend. Dill, of East Lansing, Mich., said he was returning to school and Washington, of Flint, Mich., said he was going back to work.

However, U.S. head coach Jim Bush disagreed, saying the runners' explanations were "pretexts."

"In reality," Bush said, "these two athletes have been disagreeable throughout the European tour July 7 through 27. Marshall Dill didn't even want to take part in the U.S. Soviet match in Minsk."

Miami, Skins favored

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The Miami Dolphins and the Washington Redskins have been made favorites to meet in pro football's Super Bowl by Reno odd-makers.

North Swanson of the Reno Turf Club said Monday Miami was a 2-1 favorite to repeat as the American Football Conference titlist, while Washington was a 3-1 pick in the National Conference.

Recent injuries have forced Steve Hug and Marshall Avenor off the American squad as Carter and Stephenson will represent the two instead. Hug of Stanford and Avenor of Penn State, both participants at Munich, had qualified for Moscow due to their first-place tie in all-around at the NCAA meet.

The World University Games, held from Aug. 11-26, can be compared to a mini-Olympic Games, represented by athletes all over the world. The only stipulation is that a competitor must be enrolled in undergraduate or graduate work at a college.

$5,000 reward after Oakland win

No-hit Ranger pitcher draws raise

OAKLAND (AP)—"I don't know what we could have done," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams after a no-hitter by the Texas Rangers' Jim Bibby left the world champion A's just .001 ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

Bibby fanned 13 Oakland batters Monday night in the fourth no-hitter of the major league baseball season, winning 6-0.

It was the first no-hitter in the 1½-year history of the Texas team, formerly the Washington Senators, and it earned the 28-year-old Bibby an immediate $5,000 raise from owner Bob

Saluki Stables is a place to horse around

In spite of the automobile, the horse is still a popular mode of transportation—for leisure, that is—in Southern Illinois area.

"It's been a slow summer due to the early rains," said Mrs. Juanita Young, manager of Carbondale's Saluki Stables on West Chatauqua Road. "But we've got the kids and the adults coming here."

Saluki Stables is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, all year round.

"Yes, we're open in the winter unless the snow and ice is real bad," Ms. Young explained.

SIU students can gallop around the dirt trails into the woods at $1.90 per hour Monday through Friday. On weekends and holidays, the hourly rate is 50 cents higher.

SIU faculty and staff can "horse around" for two dollars on weekdays and a dime more on weekends. The rate for the public is $2.25 and $2.75.

In addition to using Saluki Stables for pure recreation, instruction is also offered. Children in the Carbondale Park District are given lessons in the mornings while adult instruction is offered in the evening.

NHL official: TV would hurt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Hockey League vice president said Tuesday half the NHL teams are not making money and predicted a bill to ban television blackouts would add to their woes.

Don V. Ruck, the NHL official, also said he did not believe anyone had the right to see a game for free just because he couldn't purchase a ticket to a contest.

"What right does anyone have to see a game?" Ruck asked a congressional subcommittee. "I couldn't see 'My Fair Lady' on Broadway and it was sold out a year in advance."

Rep. Louis Frey, R-Fla., quickly countered: "'My Fair Lady' wasn't given an antitrust exemption by Congress, though."

Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., chairman of the House subcommittee on communications, pointed out, however, that professional hockey, baseball and basketball don't have the exemption from the antitrust laws of professional football.

Ruck was among the first witnesses to testify at the hearings on measures to ban sports blackouts for home games when the contest is sold out two days in advance.

Most of the measures are aimed at the National Football League.

One bill, passed by the Senate Commerce Committee, would amend the Federal Communications Act to prevent networks from blacking out soldout games in professional team sports. Rep. Stanford E. Parris, R-Va., has introduced an identical measure in the House.

Short. "I had the good fastball all night," said Bibby, and the A's agreed.

"He's close to Nolan Ryan," said Reggie Jackson, comparing Bibby's best pitches to the speedballs thrown by the California Angels' pitcher who has two no-hitters this season.

"You couldn't dig in against him because he was wild," added Jackson about Bibby, who walked six A's batters.

Batters have voiced the same complaint after facing Ryan, who ironically broke into organized baseball as a teammate of Bibby's for the New York Mets' Marion farm team of the Appalachian League in 1965.

The Mets gave up on both pitchers after the 1971 season trading Ryan to the Angels and Bibby to the St. Louis Cardinals. Bibby returned to the minors last season, went to the Rangers in a trade eight weeks ago and was earning the big league minimum salary of $15,000 until Monday night.

"I've gotten the chance to pitch over here," said the new American Leaguer in a simple explanation of his success. His record for Texas is 5-4.
