Tour of Kentucky's Reorganized Schools Made By Educators

Approximately 25 Southern Illinois educators made a tour of reorganized public schools in Kentucky Dec. 7-8 on the fourth such expedition sponsored by the School Reorganization Committee of Southern Illinois University, according to Dr. Howard E. Bosley, committee chairman.

Many of the teachers, school survey board members and administrators who made the trip were students in University extension classes at Elizabethton, Benton and Harrogate.

The group visited Lincoln's Birthplace, near Hodgenville, Ky., "My Old Kentucky Home" at Hardestown and "My Old Kentucky Home School" near Hardestown. The Vine Grove and Hardin County schools also were inspected and discussed with school officials.

"The purpose of this tour was to study the operation of large school administrative units," Dr. Bosley explained.

"In Kentucky, each county is an administrative unit with a board of education. The members elected by the people to conduct the county schools. In some, but not in all counties, one or more independent units may exist within a county, though a marked tendency exists for these independent units to petition to join the larger county school unit."

FORTY-FIVE VETS APPROVED FOR ORDNANCE HOUSING

Forty-five Southern Illinois University married or soon-to-be married student veterans are in process of moving into the University's latest housing project.

The 68-apartment housing project, located at the Illinois Ordnance Plant, some 10 miles from the campus, was accepted recently from the Public Housing Administration by University President Chester F. Lay, and was opened occupancy Dec. 6. The remaining apartments will be filled as rapidly as applicants qualify.

Three of the applicants who have secured apartments are scheduled to be married soon and to take their brides into the new apartments, according to Van A. Bobolis, University housing project supervisor. They are Philip H. Strange of Carbondale, James E. Levin of McLeansboro and Floyd Eckard of West Frankfort.

The strengthening of P. Quinn and Calvin Threewild of Golconda are newly-weds.

Canteen Opened On Former Site of Carter's Cafe

The Canteen, a confectionery catering to all students of Southern Illinois University, opened at 7:00 o'clock on the site of the former Carter's Cafe.

As promised by Messrs. Martin Chaney and Gene Crawshaw, leasee and co-managers of The Canteen, the opening coincided with the beginning of the winter term. The site, which is across the street from the main gate, has been closed since last June.

The canteen offers soda fountain as well as food service. It was announced that dancing will not be permitted and that patrons may not bring intoxicating liquors on the premises.

Two rooms lined with booths provide seating capacities for the students. It was made clear that no discrimination will be made in securing the canteen patrons and that the facilities of The Canteen may be enjoyed by all students with no exception.

A suit to enjoin the use of the site has been filed by attorneys for the former operators of the old Carter's Cafe. The suit may or may not have an effect upon the operation of the new canteen.

Messrs. Chaney and Crawshaw, co-managers of the Varsity Drug, recently opened the University Drugs, located on South Illinois Street.

Invitation To Learning

Last year Southern had a weekly round table discussion on international affairs. The program was carried so that members of the university might gain a better understanding of the affairs carried in international scope.

This year we have on campus some people who can and are willing to enlighten us on the habits, customs and ways of life of countries unfamiliar to us. It is our belief that through a better understanding of the customs and habits of the peoples of foreign countries we will develop an attitude which will be helpful in maintaining world peace.

We can't be sure of anything until they have been shown it is true. Sometimes we avoid the efforts of other people to prove things. All our lives we have been taught the history of our country. In other places they have been taught differently.

We should like to propose a weekly round table discussion in the form of letting Jose Reyes and Saad Salih Jaber take part. Each week a different phase of misunderstood matter could be discussed—and perhaps straightened out.—F. H.

Speed Registration

The general state of confusion and frustration which confronts a student every time he registers is becoming deplorable. No matter what system is used the student must stand in long tiring lines. Such a situation was pardonable immediately after the war when returning veterans pushed college enrollment to an all-time high, but now that the war is over, some solution to this problem should have been worked out by now.

One of the worst bottlenecks in our registration system is the book store line. Students are asked to wait for hours to turn in their books and then to return and wait still longer to obtain their books for the new term. And too, it seems a bit unfair that several students had to pay fines for turning their books in late when it was an impossibility for everyone to turn in his books in the allotted time.

Here is our suggestion for a solution. Each professor could very easily collect the textbooks when he gives his final examination, since he already has a check list, his class roll. This same system could also function at the beginning of the term. The texts would be taken out by the instructor since he will have a list of all of the students in his class. This way, we feel, the entire system of registration would be speeded up.—R. G.

Let's Ignore Your Mind

It was the first time in weeks we had been in the Makanda hall, but there we were at the end of the line to the local book store. Wasn't very crowded, just jammed. Somewhere a girl screamed, but was crushed into silence. Hours passed. Hours that we haven't the time, space, nor adjectives to tell you about, but finally there we were in an exhausted condition leaning weakly on the counter of our very best book store. They told us there were several seconds late and owed the school fifty cents. Unable to pay the fine we took our books and went home, grateful that we didn't have to register and report the battle of the book store for two whole days.

Seriously, a recent survey shows that if all the students of Southern stood end to end for twenty-four hours and tried to get into the book store—they probably wouldn't make it. Yet students were given approximately that amount of time to turn their books in at the end of this term. Several hundred students owe fines for something that with proper planning could have been avoided. Something should be done. Jack Drake

Bring Out Our Sphinx

"The Sphinx! What's that?" This question is often asked by freshmen whenever the name is mentioned. Indeed, it is asked by many sophomores, for neither class has been privileged to see the symbol of Southern.

The Sphinx is a large stone object closely resembling the large sphinx of Egypt.

It takes approximately six men to carry it, and is supposed, according to tradition, to make its first appearance of the year at the half of the homecoming game. Because of rain or some other reason, the Sphinx has remained undisturbed in its chamber under McAndrew Stadium, for the past two years. All it needs is a few spikes and some cloth to be wrapped in, to join the mummies in everlasting rest.

Surely Mr. Sphinx has caught up on his sleep enough to make a public appearance once more. If he doesn't appear at the homecoming game, why not at some other social event of the year? Can't something be done to give him a little bit of social life and the two underclasses of Southern a chance to see the grand old man with the wrinkled face.—M.A.N.

STOLEN STUFF

The way we kick it around, you'd never think the price of corn was so high.

Matrimony is an institution in which a man loses his bachelor's degree and his wife acquires a master's.

When the teacher suggested to the freshman that his theme on "A Dog" was exactly like a fraternity brother's, the wit replied, "Yes, sir, it's the same dog."

He was so stingy he wore only one spur when he rode a horse. He figured that if one side of the horse started moving, the other would follow.

WE WOULDN'T KNOW The more arguments you win, the fewer friends you have.

Mrs. Astor owns a dog. One of those high-toned towners, he's so well bred and nice," he said. He never pants—he trousers.

Excerpts From Eastern State News "I went to tell Rez about it. He was putting whiskey into walnuts with a hypodermic needle, and giving them to the squirrels.

"It makes them real drunk," he told me, "and they fall off of the trees. "OUP!" F the trees," I corrected him. "Yeah," he said, substituting sulphuric acid for the whiskey. "It made the squirrels real dead."

"My alarm clock exploded!" I told him. "Ain't that odd," he said, offering me a walnut. "Perhaps you have enemies."

Flash—What a kind, considerate and lovable mother she was—she shot her husband with a bow and arrow so that she wouldn't wake the children—Unflash.

He was taking the pretty girl out for a ride in his new car.

"Would you like to see where I was vaccinated?" she asked. "Why, yes," he blurted. "Well, look to the left—we pass the hospital any minute now."

AGRICULTURE CLUB HEARS SPEECHES BY LAY, REHN

Dr. Chester F. Lay and Dean Henry J. Rehn were guest speakers at a regular meeting of the agriculture club which was held in Parkerson Laboratory on November 25.

Dr. Lay gave an informal talk on scientific farming in Little Egypt through the important experiments that will be carried on by the university's agriculture through the coordinated efforts of his office, Dean Rehn, and the faculty of the agriculture department, plans are being drawn up to establish a program covered by the following points: (1) Making Southern's experimental farm one that will be accurate and up-to-date in scientific fruit, vegetable, and livestock production. (2) Establishing a soil testing laboratory that will make possible more extensive studies in farm soils and soil conservation. (3) Enlarging the faculty of the agriculture department so a more complete and comprehensive field of study may be offered in agriculture at the university.

Dean Rehn centered his talk around the agriculture classroom curriculum. He advised the freshmen to enroll in the required 140 courses so they will know the basic of agriculture when they are ready for the advanced work open to upper-classmen.

GUIDANCE CENTER ADDS MOSE HALL TO STAFF

Mose Hall, former chief of the downtown veterans' contact office, has been added to the staff of the university's Veterans' Guidance Center and will serve in the capacity of an itinerant contact officer. He will visit the Guidance Center each Monday.

Hall will be available to discuss with the veterans such matters as complaints of non-receipt of subsistence allowances, applications for out-patient dental work and medical treatment, insurance problems, disability claims, and all contact work in general. In addition, if a veteran wishes to apply for a certificate of eligibility, Hall can copy the needed information directly from the original discharge to an application blank. He also has authority to certify the application.

ull Hall regarding their non-receipt of subsistence payments, rather than some other member of the staff. It was stressed that Hall has more direct contact with the Veterans office in Chicago than has any other staff member.

Ernest R. Wolfe, chief of the Guidance Center, was instrumental in acquiring this additional service. He made a direct appeal for the contact representative at the Conference of Vocational Advisors, which he recently attended in the regional office in Chicago.

SOUTHERN LAUNCHES BASKETBALL SEASON WITH THREE WINS

Drop Murray State Teachers 71-58 in Game Tuesday

Playing before a capacity crowd in Paducah, Kentucky, the Southern Maroons scored a decisive 71 to 58 victory over Murray State Teachers College on Tuesday night.

It was the third straight win for the Holdermen and it was the first defeat in four games for the Tornados. The Maroons performed in mid-season style, showing championship form in their ball handling and shooting.

Two free throws and a basket by Bob Colborn in the first minute of play gave Southern a lead which they maintained throughout the game. With Colborn continuing to set the pace, Holder's charges piled up a 24 to 14 lead at the ten minute mark.

Southern began to pull away from the Tornados in the second period, leading by 16 points with three minutes remaining in the first half. The Maroons left the floor at the intermission in possession of a 38 to 25 lead.

Southern 71, Murray 58. Murray came within six points of tying the score early in the second half, but with Jack Eddie and Ollie Shoaff aiding Colborn in the scoring. Southern gradually pulled away from the Tornados to win by a decisive 71 to 58 score.

Eddie, Colborn, and Shoaff led in the scoring parade and Quentin Stinson proved a tower of strength on his rebounding. Joe Hughes fouled out of the

Maroons Down Scott Field with Point Record

Establishing a new record for points scored in a single game by a Southern team, the Maroons opened their 1947-48 basketball season last Friday night on the home floor by downing Scott Field 96-80. The old mark was 88 points, which was made by last year's Southern squad, against Normal.

Fifteen men saw action for Southern, with Quinton Stinson leading the scoring with 16 points. Bob Colborn and Jack Long were runners-up in the local scoring column with 14 points. Ambrecht led Scott Field with 10.

Holds Service Before Bowl Game

By Donald Grabenseyer
"Praise the Lord and pass the football ammunition," might well have been the theme of our victory at the Corn Bowl game last Thanksgiving if we consider efforts of Warren Littlefield, a member of the team. Littlefield, a licensed minister, conducted a Thanksgiving religious service for the members of the football squad before the game.

The idea for the service originated on the bus enroute to the Cornbowl game at Bloomington. Some of the members expressed their regrets that they would not be able to attend religious services on Thanksgiving Day. Bob Colborn, recently voted our most valuable player, suggested that Littlefield conduct a Thanksgiving Day service just for the football team. This suggestion met with the approval of practically the entire squad.

Appropriate Service Thanksgiving morning, upon completion of their breakfasts, most of the team's members assembled in the Captain Matthews' room for the service. Littlefield read from the Bible, the Lord's Prayer, and the Lord's Supper, after which Littlefield delivered an appropriate sermon based upon the text. At the conclusion of the service, the group sang the familiar old hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross."

In addition to a majority of the team, Coach Martin's wife and two children attended the unique services. Littlefield, a freshman here at Southern, is 21 years old and has earned his first football letter this past season.

Littlefield was emphatic in his praise of each member of the football squad. He was especially impressed by the high moral caliber of the individual members.

Incidentally, the Maroons defeated Central Teachers 21-0 that Thanksgiving day afternoon.

Holdermen Top Evansville For Second Straight Win

Southern scored their second victory of the young basketball season at Evansville Saturday evening by topping the Purple Aces 48 to 39. The tilt was characterized by "sloppy" play on both sides, typical of early season games. Trailing for the first 23 minutes of the game, Coach Holder's charges rallied in the second half to erase the deficit. Starting slowly, the Maroons were seven points behind at the ten minute mark, but with Jack Eddie setting the pace, they narrowed the margin to two points by halftime. The Holdermen made only nineteen per cent of their shots in the first twenty minutes of play.

A basket by Joe Hughes early in the second half gave the Maroons the lead which they never relinquished. With Eddie and Hughes leading the way, Southern compiled an eleven point lead at the thirty minute mark. The rebounding of Quentin Stinson was also instrumental in aiding the attack. Evansville came within three points of tying the score with three minutes remaining, but Southern struck back to emerge as nine point victors.

The Maroons connected forty percent of their shots in the second half to give them a shooting percentage of 26 percent for the game. They made only 12 out of 23 attempts at the free throw line. Evansville had previously been beaten by Cape and Murray Teachers.

Old-time bike racer, "mile-a-minute" Murphy, once won a bike race with a helmet like a top and shouting "yelling when every time the horse got ahead of him."

We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Bob Colborn on being voted the most valuable. Colborn's record as a defensive end this year could stand against any in the nation. If the records were closely checked, it would be found that the yardage gained around Colborn's end position would be close to nil.

Captain of this year's football team, Charles Mathias has scored three touchdowns in his career. They have all been counted against the same team—Eastern.

Tackle Warren Littlefield is a Baptist minister and applied his profession in the dressing room before the Corn Bowl game—He delivered a sermon to the squad. The North Central Cardinals probably suspected there was a bit of the supernatural connected with the contest.

Looking At High School Sports

By Dolan Ginger
Despite the fact we promised not to say anything about the Turkey Day game at West Frankfort it would be unfair not to mention it regardless of what has been said. It is our humble opinion that Benton is still the best in Southern Illinois. However, with the breaks attributed to the winning Red Birds, on that day, the Rangers weren't.

The King of winter sports, basketball, is here in full swing and we find that the expected powerhouses are rolling along. Salem has won their first six games easily with an average of over 50 points per game. Pinckneyville with Gladson, is the rage in the Southwestern Egyptian conference. In the South Six Centralia, Mt. Vernon, and West Frankfort have won league contests. Last Saturday, the champion Paris Tigers were entertained by the Orphans of Centralia at Trout Gymnasium. The Tigers were heavy favorites but Centralia always does the unexpected and Paris closed out a 58-56 victory in the closing minutes of play. Marion was beaten by the Orphans in league play last Friday, as was Harrisburg by West Frankfort; and Benton by Mt. Vernon. Herrin held the Pinckneyville Panthers last Tuesday for the first half, but the Panthers' classy style and ease in the last half showed that they weren't even pushing themselves.

Some week end games are: Friday, West Frankfort at Centralia; Saturday, Carbondale at West Frankfort; Friday, Benton at Harrisburg; Saturday, Johnson City at Benton.

Maroons End Brilliant Season By Taking Corn Bowl Game From N. Central, 21-0

The most successful season in the history of Southern Illinois University football closed Thanksgiving day when the Maroons of Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin over-powered the Cardinals of North Central in the first annual Corn Bowl game at Bloomington by a 21 to 0 margin.

The Bowl victory brilliantly set off a season during which the Maroons won the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference for the first time since 1930.

Southern won its first game from Scott Field 85 to 94 in its first game. The Maroons went into an early season slump by losing to two Indiana teams, Evansville College 7 to 0 and Indiana State Teachers 21 to 0.

From here on the Maroons were invincible. In order, they defeated Western Illinois State College 7 to 0, Northern Illinois State
