Reinhardt Show To Open Art Gallery In Allyn Building

Beginning Tuesday, Dec. 11, the new Allyn Art Gallery in the Allyn building here at Southern, will open with Siegfried Reinhardt's one-man show of paintings and drawings. The exhibit is being sponsored by the art department.

Reinhardt is the youngest of 19 artists chosen by Life magazine as the country's outstanding painters under 30 years of age. This will be the first one-man showing by Reinhardt outside of St. Louis. In 1944 Southern Illinois University was first to present a one-man showing of his drawings.

Although Reinhardt's work will go on exhibit Dec. 11, the show will not officially open until Dec. 16 when Reinhardt will be presented at a reception in the Gallery. The exhibit will run until Jan. 18, 1952. During the course of the showing, Reinhardt will serve as guest lecturer for one week on the art faculty.

Twenty-four drawings and 24 paintings will be exhibited. Included in the paintings to be shown will be "Resurrection" which Life magazine reproduced and "Deposition" which was chosen by New York's Metropolitan for its 1950 contemporary show.

Student Center Plans Xmas Decorating Party

"The Student Center Decks the Halls" is the theme of a decorating party which will be held at the Student Center Monday, Dec. 10. A Christmas tree will be put up and candy canes, pines, and mistletoe will be used for decorations. After the Student Center is properly decorated, refreshments will be served and dancing will follow.

All students have been urged to attend the party and help with the decorations.

SIU speech students have participated in one other meet since the beginning of the current school year. It was held at Bradley University, Peoria on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16 and 17.

In the radio newscasting section of that meet, Lloyd Bitzer, SIU student from Carmi, received top honors with a superior rating.

150 Attend SIU Campus Thanksgiving Service; Dr. Eversull Speaks

Approximately 150 persons attended the Campus Thanksgiving service held in the auditorium of the University School, Tuesday, Nov. 20.

The program, which ran from 6:45 until 7:30 p.m., consisted of music by the Baptist Foundation Chapel Singers, and a talk by Dr. Frank L. Eversull, minister of the First Presbyterian church in Belleville. The subject of Dr. Eversull's talk was "Youth can be Thankful." Jean Gummershimer, student chairman, helped organize the program.

"We hope to make this Thanksgiving service an annual campus event and we believe that it is one means which we can use to help us Americans recall the basic Christian heritage of our national life," said the Rev. Ellwood K. Wylie.

Discontinue Priority Basketball Ticket Plan

Due to the fact that students did not use all of the tickets allotted them last year at any one basketball game, the priority plan as was used last year will not be put into practice this year until such a plan is needed, according to an announcement from the athletic office.

A university student may purchase a ticket for his wife or husband for a total of 60 cents. The entire east side of the gymnasium will be reserved for students and their wives or husbands.

Both the student's activity ticket and reserved seat ticket must be presented at the door on entering the gymnasium. If desired, students may interchange reserved seat tickets among themselves.

The university ticket office is open from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Soloists for Southern Illinois University's sixth annual production of "The Messiah" were announced today by Dr. Kesnar. The orchestra is composed of personnel from the Southern Illinois Symphony.

A St. Louisian, two Chicagoans, and a member of the Emporia State College faculty, Emporia, Kansas, are leading soloists this year.

Harold Bailey, a graduate of Southern Illinois University, will be bass-baritone soloist. Now residing in Chicago, he has appeared on all major Chicago radio stations and has sung with a variety of oratorio societies in this country.

ANOTHER Chicagoan, Miss Dorothy Krieg, is soprano soloist. Miss Krieg appeared last season with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Orchestra Hall, was the west side division winner in the Chicagoland Music Festival, and has been a soloist with the Chicago Swedish Male Chorus several times.

Russell Horton, tenor, a native of St. Louis, will also sing in the oratorio. Horton has sung in "The Messiah" with the Tabernacle Choir in Salt Lake City, and has appeared in other performances of the oratorio in Detroit.

MISS ROSAMOND Hirschorn, instructor in the music department at Emporia State College, will be contralto soloist. She is a former soloist at New York, Portland, and Seattle churches.

The public is invited to hear the oratorio which will be given at 7:30 p.m. in Shryock auditorium, Carbondale, Dec. 9.

Free Movie Shown On Campus Mon.

"Die Fledermaus" the first in a series of free movies this term, was presented Monday night at the auditorium of the new University school.

The Lectures and Entertainment Committee and the Audio-Visual Aids Service are cooperating to provide selected free movies to be shown on campus.

The movies are to be shown twice each evening, at 7 and 9 o'clock. University students will be admitted upon presentation of their activity ticket. The admission for others will be 25c, including tax.

"DIE FLEDERMAUS" shown Monday night, is a comedy opera-tta concerning Vienna in the age of Johann Strauss. It was first presented in 1874, and has since become a popular opera-tta all over the world. The film was in color, with spoken German, and English sub-titles. About 240 people were present for the movies, according to Audio-Visual Aids personnel.

"Pygmalion," by George Bernard Shaw, will be presented Jan. 14. The movie concerns the myth about a statue returning to life.

During the past few summers, movies have been presented to summer session students. Last summer Russian, English, German, American, and Italian films were shown.

So far only the two films, "Die Fledermaus," and "Pygmalion," have been scheduled, but if the turnout remains good the films might be shown throughout the year.

From Africa

Requests Formula For Mildew Spray

Dr. Robert Muller, director of libraries, has received a letter from Dr. Vernoy A. Reihmer, physician at the American Presbyterian mission in Africa, requesting the formula for the mildew-resisting compound developed by Southern chemists to preserve stored library books.

According to Dr. Reihmer, mold ruins everything in his locality and he would appreciate the formula.

An old copy of the Chicago Tribune, carrying a picture of student Harold Klingenberg, coating 10,000 books with an anti-mildew compound for the SIU libraries, last spring strayed into Reihmer's hands recently and prompted the request.

GOVERNOR OF ILLINOIS Adlai E. Stevenson is welcomed to Southern Illinois University by President Delyte W. Morris, during the recent dedication of the new university training school.

Adams said the new directory will feature one addition over previous publications. The new addition in the directory will include the student's entire home address: street, phone, and town. Before, only home towns were listed.

As usual the directory will have a complete listing of administrative offices, business offices, university phones, independent houses, fraternities, sororities, and faculty member addresses.

Adams commented that "The new publication will be far more accurate than past ones because of the time and consideration that has been given it."

View Unification of Higher Education

State-supported institutions of higher learning in Illinois took a short step toward possible unification in a meeting Monday here at Southern.

On motion of Coleman R. Griffith, provost of the University of Illinois, the Joint Council on Higher Education called for a committee to draw up proposals for formal organization of the council. The Committee will be appointed by SIU President D. W. Morris, who served as chairman for the Monday sessions.

Members of the council, presidents of the six tax-supported universities and colleges, have been meeting informally for several years. Usually the president of the host school serves as chairman-for-a-day. There have been no elected officers.

LEADING THE group in a discussion of common budgetary problems were Joseph Pois, director, state department of finance; Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to Morris; Richard Browne, educational coordinator of the state Teachers College board; and Griffith, all members of a steering committee which has been studying bases for budget requests.

Edward F. Potthoff, director of the U. of I. Bureau of Institutional Research and research consultant for the council, reported on problems of calculating instructional costs, and Lloyd Morey, U. of I. comptroller, reported on programs for group hospital and medical insurance for students and staff members.

Salukis and Millikin Whip Louisiana 63-58

by Sherman Doolen

Tom Millikin was back in form Saturday night and Southern won its first basketball game of the season, downing Southeastern Louisiana, 63-58.

Millikin scored nine baskets and three free throws, 21 points, to help the Salukis even their record at one win and one loss, Millikin, who was below par in the opening game because of a tooth infection, showed Saturday night that he will be missed sorely if and when he gets his induction notice early next year.

The Salukis held a comfortable lead most of the game but had to stall about five minutes of the last quarter when the Lions crept to within three points of them. Guards Gib Kurtz and Tom Taylor did a good job of keeping the ball in Southern's hands while the freeze was on.

Coch Lynn Holder started the same five he did against Indiana

State, except that Millikin was back in the lineup instead of Jerry Hollopeter. Hollopeter, suffering from an injured leg, did not dress for the game.

Southern starts IFAAC competition Saturday night against Northern at DeKalb. Next home game is Dec. 13 against Eastern New Mexico.

Salute the Salukis

When the Salukis take to the air it's usually Joe Huske who's doing the pitching. Huske, a sophomore from Chicago, finished second to Bob Ems in total offense for the Salukis in conference games. Joe racked up a total of 292 yards, all of which came via passes.

Huske came to Southern last fall fresh from Lane Technical high school in Chicago, a school which, as far as football goes, is rated as the Notre Dame of the Windy City. Strangely enough, though, Joe had to wait until his senior year before he could don a grid uniform of myrtle and gold. A Chicago ruling prohibited an athlete from participating in both football and basketball.

So while his buddies were winning sectional titles on the gridiron, Joe was sinking baskets on the hardwood. He lettered in basketball his freshman, sophomore, and junior years, captaining the quintet in his third season. When Joe was a senior, the football ban was lifted. Thus, the kid from Chicago got in one year of high school football and earned his "L" in two sports.

With veterans Fred Brenzel and Herb Cummins sharing the quarterback spot on the varsity squad last season, Huske saw action mostly in "B" squad games. Even then, he had to share duties with another freshman from Chicago, Don Zima.

The start of this season found Huske, sharpened up on his passing, running the team on offense, while Cummins and Zima were starring in the defensive line-up.

Joe lists two games as being a loss-up as his biggest thrill in college football. The first came in last year's thrilling 44-13 Shrine Classic victory over Michigan Normal. It was in that game that the 6' 1", 180 pounder threw his first varsity touchdown pass. That also marked the beginning of the combination of Huske to Wilson, for it was Leo who snared the ball for the score.

Joe's second choice, surprisingly enough, is the 54-13 loss to Western this year. It was in that game that he completed six straight passes, and Southern became the first team in two years that had scored twice against the Leatherneck defense.

Huske missed the Michigan Normal game this year. A tumor in his right arm, brought on by hard body contact in the Washington U. game, enlarged so that it affected the movement of his arm. Huske was submitted to surgery and the tumor was removed.

He recovered in time to play against Cape last Saturday, when he completed 10 out of 20 passes for 129 yards, to prove that the operation left no after effects on his passing prowess. Unless Uncle Sam has other plans for the top

Bob Ems. Voted Most Valuable Grid Player

Bob Ems, who led the Salukis in total rushing and scoring, was named most valuable player by his teammates.

Ems, a sophomore from Fisher, started the season as fullback, but was switched to the halfback spot early in the season.

He carried the ball 141 times, netting 467 yards for an average of 3.3 per carry. Ems led in the scoring department with six touchdowns and one extra point for a total of 37 points, more than half of Southern's season total of 70 points for all of their nine games.

Ems also ranked third in passing on the Saluki squad, and second in pass receiving.

dog in the Salukis aerial attack, the 1952 quarterback spot will be well filled.
