FORENSIC CLUBS SELECT QUESTION AND BEGIN WORK ON SPRING DEBATE

NEW SYSTEM OF JUDGING TO BE INSTITUTED THIS SEASON FOR BI-CLUB CONTEST

Quite definite arrangements for the For-Agora-III debate, of former years a tri-club debate, but this time due to the Agora having been discontinued, a bi-club, are well under way. On account of there being but two contestants this year, the constitution has been changed to provide that when only two of the clubs are represented, the debate should be between them, a disinterested person presiding.

The plan of the debate is that the Forum negative meet the Illini affirmative; the Illini negative meet the Forum affirmative. Two debates are to be in progress at the same time. In one room there are to be three judges, in the other four. It is not yet decided in which room there will be four judges. This, together with a number of other matters will be worked out at a joint meeting of the contesting clubs.

The team getting the decision of four or more judges will win one leg of the cup. It takes three successive winnings to entitle any one club to get permanent right to this cup. Last year the Illini won, the year before, the Forum was successful. Should the girls win this time, one more cup will give them the right to the trophy.

The question for debate is: Resolved, That armed intervention by United States in Haiti should cease.

This needs a little explanation. The question is not meant to include the Dominican Republic singly, nor does it mean to exclude formal declaration of war.

The Illini team is: Bernice Myers, Fern Haney, Margaret Wood, Irlf Wells.

The substitutes are: Lucy Glasscock, Margaret Armentrout.

The Forum has not yet chosen its team.

The sponsors of the clubs are: Illini—Miss Jonah, Dr. Holt. Forum—Miss Barbour, Dr. Beyer. Arthur Trammel, being the member with greatest seniority, is president. The date of the debate is set for Monday evening, April 14, 1930. Good work has been done this year, and a brilliant debate is expected.

OLD NORMAL QUINTET HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

This week end the Maroons have another two games at home. The first engagement is with Old Normal on Thursday evening.

Up until this year Old Normal had not been on our regular schedule. Last year, however, we played them twice at the Normal School tourney at Macomb. In the first round we were beaten 32 to 30, and in the second meeting we edged out, 28 to 27, and went on to win the tournament. Judging from this and the showing of the teams this year Capt. Wilson and his squad are going to have their hands full.

Shurtleff to Play Macmen Saturday On Home Floor

Shurtleff will furnish opposition to the Maroon cagers in the last game of the week and the last on the home floor for two weeks. Shurtleff with a teams of youngsters has proven one of the surprises of the Little Nineteen and is right up at the top.

In the game up there two weeks ago the Altonites proved too fast for the locals who tired in the final period and were beaten, 43 to 28. Saturday night the visitors will feel that they have our number and may be too sure about the Maroon team. Last year we were defeated by the Pioneers 40 to 27 after handing them a defeat earlier, 32 to 20. The year before we beat them twice.

Leo Brown is Strong Man of Royal Family

The members of the Strut and Fret play, "The Royal Family," which is to be given February 20, attended a matinee of this play, January 25, given at the Orpheum theatre by the Casey Players. Seeing their respective roles interpreted by artists was a distinct advantage to every member of the cast, and you may be sure that to at least one member of the audience, each character was of prime importance.

Much excitement was registered by Leo Brown (Tony Cavendish) when he saw the Tony in the play walk up the stairs with Fanny Cavendish only leaning on his arm. The stage action calls for a "carrying act" but the Fanny of the play was too heavy for Tony. Leo has been religiously practicing the action exactly as the script demands. Marjorie Leach's avoirdupois will allow such action. The cast is rehearsing three times a week and promises a real entertainment.

Frosh Give Chapel Program Friday

The d-through-k alphabetical section of the Freshman Class gave a varied and interesting program Friday morning at Chapel. Mr. Cooper acted as master of ceremonies, introducing Mr. Dean Goltz to open the program with an accordion solo. An accordion solo was something new different, surely, and the students, judging by their enthusiastic encoring, seemed to really appreciate Mr. Goltz. He played several popular numbers.

The very talented Fanny Cron gave a reading, "The Swimm' Hole In The Baptist Church" as judged by two small boys, in whose dialect the reading was given.

Mr. Pape, who played the accordin, and Mr. Dunlap, who played the guitar gave an old-time melody revue. The students seemed to think it as good as our grandparents; feet could be heard responding all over the chapel.

The entertaining program was climaxed with a cornet solo by Carl Gower, accompanied by Mrs. Mathis. They played that haunting, much-loved old song, "Hearts and Flowers," from "Samson and Delilah."

After the program there was a pep (?) meeting, led by "Slats" Randall. How we need more PEP!

Woman's Athletic Association Gives Indoor Picnic

The Woman's Athletic Association held an indoor picnic in the girls' gymnasium last Wednesday. A very interesting program was given, part of which was extemporaneous.

What Other W. A. A.'s are Accomplishing—E. J. Wiggs. Past Achievements of Our W. A. A.—G. Dein.

Impromptu numbers: French harp solo—Miss Carpenter. Scarf dance—F. Peacock.

Quartet—Z. Easley, B. Rayburn, M. Oakes, M. Armentrout.

The joys of an outdoor breakfast at 17 degrees below—M. M. Logan.

The refreshments were served picnic fashion. There were sandwiches galore, potato salad, cookies, fruits, and cakes—everything a picnic should have, but ants. A large time was had by all—but, personally, we did miss the Ants.

UNIVERSITY HIGH HAS SPECIAL CHAPEL

A special chapel service is held by the High School, every Thursday in the Socratic hall.

Programs are given which have been arranged by a committee composed of certain students and faculty members, and announcements of special interest to high school students are made.

The high school has an orchestra of twelve pieces and a band of about twenty-five is being organized.

The purpose of the special chapel is to help develop the school spirit and to create more interest in high school affairs.

FAILURE OF BOTH QUINTETS TO SEIZE THE BREAKS KEEPS OUTCOME IN DOUBT

The Maroons were nosed out of the Saturday night game by one point by the McKendree Bearcats in a rough, hard fought contest. It was one of those heart-breaking games that are decided by one point in the last few seconds of the game. The Maroons had fought an uphill battle all through the game. Coming in at the half trailing by three points they had tied the score at 17 all. Sensational play gave the Macmen a lead which they held until Church, McKendree forward, tied the score at 22-22 with a field goal. Hubble, with one of his wonderful one-handed loops for the basket and a free throw, put the McKendree quintet three points in the lead. Wright sank a basket from behind the foul line, and McKendree's lead dwindled to one point. That point was sufficient. Bob Hudgens' effort to tie the score with a free throw failed and the whistle blew immediately afterwards.

Four times in as many years McKendree has defeated the Maroons in games similar to this. One or two points and overtime affairs mark the play when these two teams meet on the local floor. Wilson was unable to play the whole game because of sickness and he laid out ten minutes of the first half. White is still out of the lineup because of the flu and his absence is being felt by the Maroons.

Hubble, the giant center of the Preachers, was the high point man of the contest. Specializing in those one-handed shots, he sank six field goals, and a free throw was accredited him. Scott was next in scoring honors, with nine points. Scott played one of the best games this year. He was willing to mix with the Bearcats and he was fouled six times. The game was rough from this aspect, two of McKendree's men were taken out because of personals. Wright dropped in three baskets from a nice distance that gave the crowd an added thrill. (Continued on Page Six.)

Student Council at Work on Questions of Vital Interest

At a call meeting of the Student Council Tuesday at chapel period, with Dean Wham presiding, the following subjects were introduced and discussed:

Shall students' extra-curricular activities be limited? Sometimes students who should not be carrying extra-curricular work (or at best, a very small amount of it) became members of the various organizations. Thus they lose time from their class work, and sometimes fail to make passing marks.

Who shall be the Advertising and Business Manager for the Egyptian next year? Some candidates' names were presented, but further investigation is necessary before a choice will be made.

Lastly, shall there be a two-year language requirement for the bachelor's degree instead of one. No final action was taken.

Freshmen Edition Well Received

The freshman edition of the Egyptian appeared last week and was received by all as a very interesting and well written issue. Instead of the usual six hundred copies, the freshmen had twenty-three hundred copies printed. Fifteen hundred of these copies were taken by President Shryock to be sent to the graduating classes of the various Southern Illinois schools to show them the unusual opportunities offered to freshmen at our school. When the lists of graduates arrived, it was found that fifteen hundred copies were inadequate and many schools failed to receive the paper.

It was a success financially, and from the surplus on hand prizes will be given to the persons writing the best articles in the paper. A committee will judge the merits of these articles and a list of the winners and the prizes received will appear in next week's issue of the Egyptian.

MRS. T. B. F. SMITH DIED THURSDAY MORNING

Mrs. T. B. F. Smith, formerly Miss Bessie Johnson, died at the Holden hospital Thursday morning following an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Smith graduated from S. I. N. U. in 1906. She was an active member of the Zetetic Literary Society. She will be remembered by everyone who knew her, as an accomplished musician. Mrs. Smith appeared on the Zetetic program for the dedication of the new hall on January 15, 1930. For many years she has been an outstanding leader in all the Women's organizations in Carbondale, Illinois.

The funeral was held at the Presbyterian church Saturday at 2 p. m.

Alumni Programs of Societies Have Worthy Results

The programs, presented by alumni of the two literary societies on the night of the fifteenth, were of such excellence that we consider it fitting to give them further notice. As some of you may know, and others may not, the primary purpose of the programs was to show the present members the type of work presented at the time when these societies played such an important role on the S. I. N. U. campus. There had been the rather wide spread feeling that a certain degree of the dignity of the actual function or purpose of the societies was being lost sight of. With this in mind the societies invited the alumni to arrange and to present old-time programs. The venture has already been rewarded by an improvement in the programs, a great increase in membership, and a renewed interest in general in this type of work.

For this much needed renewal of interest the societies feel that much gratitude is due those of the alumni who participated, although we feel that they, too, thoroughly enjoyed the social hour which accompanied the meetings.

Mr. Wham, presiding as Zetetic chairman, proved an efficient master of ceremonies. He knew the participants so well that his personal touches given in introducing them led the present Zetetics to believe they were reliving the olden times. The participants noted that it seemed very natural to be on a Zetetic program with our Dean in the chair, thus indicating his presence as a former Zetetic leader.

Devotional exercises, which are not now a part of the society program, were conducted by Mrs. Kate Snyder Miller of Carbondale. Mrs. Beulah Storm Renfro led the chorus singing which closed with "School Days." This was followed by a piano solo, "Lento" by Cyril Scott, played by Mrs. Elizabeth Brewster Thompson, also of Carbondale. An essay, "Making Friends With Books," was presented by N. W. Draper of Community High. This is one phase the societies have been especially neglecting in recent years. The excellence of this production should indeed be an incentive for a renewal of this important part of literary training.

"The Value of Literary Work as Teacher Training," was well discussed by R. V. Jordan, superintendent of schools at Centralia. He accredited much of his own success, as well as that of many of the teachers with whom he is acquainted, to the poise and self assurance acquired in literary society days. W. G. Cisme, superintendent of the Brush Training School, gave a very entertaining sketch of "Early Impressions," especially those he himself had at S. I. N. U. in general and in particular those of the literary societies. These impressions have retained a prominent place in his memory. But the program was not composed entirely of talks; it was interspersed with music. Solos by Mrs. Bessie Johnson Smith of Carbondale and Mr. Harvey Noon of Elkville and a quartet—Mrs. Jennie Teeter, Boucher, Mrs. Bertha Barr Keezee, R. E. Renfro, and Harvey Noon, gave a noteworthy variation to an already splendid program.

What has been said of the Zetetic Alumni program is equally true of the Socratic. Mr. Felts, a one-time loyal Socrat and now a member of our faculty in the Mathematics department, presided. As mentioned in a former issue of this paper, he used a rather novel method in calling the roll. Starting with the year 1880,

Zetetic Society has Twenty New Members

Twenty new members were voted to become Zetetics upon the payment of dues, last Wednesday night. This is certain proof that an interest has been renewed since moving into the new hall. This renewed enthusiasm in general is manifesting itself in a membership drive. The society is divided into two groups: the losing side to furnish entertainment for the winners and new members at a Valentine party.

The program for the evening, too, was particularly good. As customary, the orchestra gave the opening number. No comments are necessary. Leo Brown gave quite an instructive, as well as interesting talk on the question of disarmament. Mary Colombo (is she related to Chris?) sang two Italian songs very delightfully. Songs in a foreign tongue are unusual and perhaps more appreciated. Marie Baudison, though booked merely for a reading, in reality showed a large amount of ingenuity by having prepared a paper on the life and works of the modern American poet, Robert Frost. She read characteristic poems. Freda Duncan, first violinist in both Zetetic and S. I. N. U. orchestras, played two classical selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. Myrtle Chew from Herrin. One, acquainted with the excellence of Miss Duncan's work, realizes that it would indeed be high praise that would overestimate it.

Y.M. AND Y.W. HOLD JOINT BUSINESS MEETING

A joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. was held in the social room of the Associations last Wednesday during chapel hour.

The hours the rooms were to be open, and attendants, the hosts and hostesses were discussed.

All the members of both Associations were present at this meeting.

Strut and Fret Thursday Night

Strut and Fret will hold an important and entertaining meeting Thursday night at 7:30 in the Zetetic Hall. The meeting will be mostly a discussion of the play that is to be given February 20. All members should be there.

alumni answered to the year in which they had joined the society. This gave opportunity for many remarks for the sake of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Socratic program, too, of eminent value. Estelle Hooker Brown very creditably gave the reading, "The Pendulum." Lillie Royal Rife of Villa Ridge, and Mr. Will Hays of Joplin, Mo., (radio singer) each sang several very beautiful and much enjoyed selections. Mr. Kent Kellar and Mr. Walter Williams each talked. Mr. Williams giving quite an interesting account of his first coming to Carbondale. One of the highlights of the evening, and rumored as one of the most humorous events, was the debate: Resolved, That women should be given suffrage on the same basis as men. Thomas J. Lavman and Harvey Kessler succeeded in proving to the judges that women should not be given equal civil rights. Harry Wilson and Roy Spiller, however, offered some quite convincing evidence in favor of women in this connection.

The general atmosphere provided by these programs has indeed marked, already, a turning point toward greater accomplishment in these societies.

Socrats Present One Act Play Tonight

The Socratic Literary Society presents "The Lost Hat," a one-act play, tonight at its regular meeting. Program begins at 7:00.

The cast is as follows:
 Caller, Raymond Aiken.
 Laborer, Raymond Carson.
 Clerk, Clarence Stevenson.
 Poet, Omer Henry.
 Policeman, Dean Martin.
 There were sixteen names for first reading at the meeting last week.

The program consisted of a talk by Dean Martin. The subject was "Valentines' Day," and was handled well. The girls' quartet, under the direction of Miss Hannah Morgan, made its first appearance and pleased the society very much.

Two novel features were presented. One was a book review by Donald Payne. It was novel from beginning to end. The other number was presented by Raymond Carson, who has recently been empowered to perform magic tricks. He successfully did a number of startling tricks before the eyes of everyone. Mr. Carson is known, in magicians' spheres, as "Karno."

THE QUEEN OF HEARTS TO BE GIVEN FEB. 14

The Queen of Hearts, she made some tarts
 All on a summers' day,
 The Knave of Hearts, he stole those tarts
 And took them quite away.
 The King of Hearts called for those tarts
 And beat the Knave full sore,
 The Knave of Hearts brought back the tarts
 And vowed he'd sin no more.

Did you ever doubt this simple nursery rhyme? Have you ever felt sorry for the poor Knave full sorely beaten? From childhood we have heard the story about the queen with the culinary ambitions, and the knave with the taking ways, but seldom, if ever, have we stopped to think of the exciting story about them.

Was the poor knave as black as he was painted? No, a thousand times. No! It seems that in order to prove herself worthy of being Queen of Hearts, the queen-elect must bake some tarts which meet with the king's royal approval. The poor, misunderstood knave meant well, but—

Here! Here! We're telling you the story. We hate to leave you at this juncture—but there—don't feel bad, just come and see for yourself.

University High School presents The Queen of Hearts, February 14, chapel hour. Admission 15 cents.

COMMITTEE SECURES POSITIONS FOR MANY

The year has been no exception to the rule that there is a demand for teachers during the Christmas vacation. Dean Wham's record of placing teachers in exceptionally good schools is as always, unbroken. The following placements made this year fully justify our pride in the Normal for placing teachers in some of the very best systems:

George Calhoun—Ward Principal, Elmwood Park.
 Alta Hindman—Elementary, Decatur, Illinois.
 Sybil Garrison—Elementary, Decatur, Illinois.
 Helen Brada—7th Grade, Maryville, Illinois.
 Stella Cagle, Elementary, Lawrenceville, Illinois.
 Ethel Minor—Elementary, Pinckneyville, Illinois.

Thoughts of a freshman while waiting in an outer office to see Mr. Shryock:

What shall I ask him? I mustn't say "were" for "was." Oh, I know, I'll do it all wrong. And if I do! If I do I'm melted, that's all. Melted? Melted? Somehow that doesn't sound right. Literature. He taught for thirty-nine years the head of the English department. Melted? Oh, here he comes I do believe. Melted? Well, I know I'm in the wrong church anyhow!

The Zetets are still wondering what has happened to their gavel.

One of Mr. Warren's ambitious students in H. S. This test is very accurate, having a reliability score of 99.43 per cent. It is expected that this test will have an unprecedented sale. Doubting maidens are urged to investigate. (It won't hurt much. Very confidential.)

CHAPEL ANNOUNCEMENTS

One of the good old customs of our college is Chapel announcements made by the members of the faculty. Lately we have heard much discussion of this practice. Some argue that announcements are not made in the larger schools and that we should follow their lead. Others say that posting the announcements on bulletin boards would save the students' time and patience. Surely all will agree that listening to the reading of long lists of names is decidedly tiresome. So likewise are too many announcements. We believe, however, that the present method has its advantages. It enables the students to become better acquainted with the various faculty members. The only other way to handle the problem of announcements is to post them on a bulletin board. To be sure, not to miss an important announcement, every student would have to look at the board every day. Wouldn't that take about as long as to listen to the announcements in chapel? Most of the students would forget to look at the notices; and when the teachers wanted to see a student, they would have to get out and run them down.

Last week the entire responsibility for the publication of the Egyptian rested upon the freshman class, and the results were entirely complimentary to that class. A few members of the regular staff are freshmen, but most of the persons concerned have had little or no experience in editing a college paper, a fact which makes their success the more phenomenal. There are two things that are absolutely necessary to make a good paper—worth-while material and a readable style. In both of these considerations the freshman issue excelled. There was one major consideration, that of showing the unusual opportunities for freshmen here and consequently the importance of the class in school affairs. This was proved to the entire satisfaction of the most critical. The style of the paper was exceedingly literary and a compliment to our rhetoric teachers. The freshman staff was talented to say the least, and it was with a great deal of satisfaction that the regular staff viewed the freshman product because we realize that after we have graduated, the school paper will be in capable hands for the next few years.

TRADITIONS

To become a controlling and far-reaching influence in the lives of students, a college must have traditions. The term, tradition, has been defined as practices or customs transmitted without written memorials. This is but a mere outline, a skeleton as it were, of the glowing figure which tradition presents. It connotes more than custom or practice. It is an intrinsic part of every student's experience, a factor as valuable and fruitful as the hours he spends at his work in the class room.

Many schools find the expression of tradition in freshman initiation, the junior prom, the annual sophomore-fresh pole scrap, enforced freshman cap rules, the May festival, or similar functions.

Our school is sadly lacking in tradition. Our alumni when searching for a fond memory of their Alma Mater must resort to a remembrance of prosaic algebra or chemistry classes. Surely nothing of pride and love can result from such ruminations.

As a defense against contemporary criticism, as a justification for our claim to academic virtue, we must establish traditions. The efforts of the freshmen students alone when directed by their accustomed enthusiasm will make great strides toward the realization of this commendable innovation. Only the cooperation of the entire college will insure the institution of a new regime, a regime of traditions.

In Other Colleges

A new game of ping pong has been introduced in the Teachers' College at Charleston, Illinois. It resembles very much the popular sport, tennis and may be played with singles or doubles. Instead of a floor or outside court, a table is used. The ball is hard and much smaller than the ordinary tennis size, resembling a golf ball. A tournament is being planned and the teams are to be Al Smith and Herbert Hoover. This game has become quite the rage!

What a Change

The maidens of old were romantic we read,
And their lovers sang beautiful ballads.
The maids of today are different, it seems.
And would rather have chocolates and salads.

Names of twenty-nine graduates from Western Illinois Teachers' College, Macomb, Illinois, who have secured teaching positions since the opening of school were published in the Western Courier from that school.

"The attendance is up in the schools all over the country," states Frank M. Phillips, chief division of statistics of the department of the Interior. The gain is 3.5 per cent in two years' period. The salaries of the teachers have also been increased. The number of pupils to the teachers have decreased from 39 to 37 in four years. These statistics are based upon the classification of city bureaus. —The East Central Journal, Ada, Oklahoma.

READERS' BAIT

In the magazine division of our library there are current issues of all the important magazines. From time to time notice to various articles in these publications have been brought to the attention of the students. Now attention is invited to the whole vast array of periodical resources of our library. What branch of study are you interested in? In agriculture? The very best publications on the subject, right up to the minute, are found in the library. Science? History? Literature? It matters not which you choose; if there are authoritative publications on the subject, it is pretty certain that they are attainable right here on our campus.

Cultivate the habit of reading a certain amount of magazine literature regularly. Do you know, for instance that Coolidge has recently published in the Cosmopolitan his autobiography? Critics have pronounced this a most human document. Ought to be; it brought the ex-president just $200,000!

INSINUATING ANSWER

The curiosity of the passenger was excited by the fact that his seat mate had his right arm in a sling, and the following dialogue occurred:

"You broke your arm, didn't you?"
"Well, yes I did."
"Had an accident, I suppose?"
"Not exactly. I did it trying to pat myself on the back."
"My land! On the back! Now whatever did you want to pat your self on the back for?"
"Just for minding my own business."

Minutes of the Goats' Club

The gay, green freshman paper last week impressed the Goats with its editorial on Friendship. They realize now more than ever, how lucky they are to have each other when heart aches arise over low grades, torn shoes, misplaced compacts, and lost sweethearts. The Goats took to their hearts the Baconian decree, classifying all solitary souls as beasts or gods. They are determined to look like goddesses should they be noticed trekking alone across the campus. In discussing this editorial, the members unanimously endorsed its sentiments and further considered how handy friends are when struggling over icy pavements, and how welcome they are when they drive up and whisk us off just as our weary feet are going on a strike. Besides, when they let us peak into the secrets of their diaries, ah—that is true delight! How many things there are to borrow from friends, from cars to postage stamps. In concluding their discussion the Goats gave a rousing cheer to Friendship and its two clever exponents.

Dear Sphinx:

I am having an awful time with my fiancé. I brought him all the way from Metropolis and I think a lot of the little fellow. He had grown so tame that he was really a pleasure to have about.

Such bliss was not to last. From the first of school hordes of girls from the greenest freshman to the most blase upperclassmen have striven to "natch him to stray. The poor little chap stood the strain valiantly for a while, but I can see that he is weakening. He does not come when he is called, nor scamper about as he used; he has been pursued by these shameless creatures until his sweet nature is suffering. He is becoming surly and vain. They have ruined his charming simplicity.

How am I to meet this appalling situation? There seems no way out but perhaps you can help me.

Most gratefully yours,
ISOLDI.

INDIANA BLUE AND WHITE QUINTET DEFEATS TEACHERS IN FAST GAME

BASKETBALL FANS MARVEL AT MOST OUTSTANDING PLAYS OF THE SEASON

The Blue and White quintet from Indiana State Normal defeated the Maroons in the fastest home game of the year Friday night in the headliner of a three-ring circus bill in the gymnasium, 44-30. The evening was the most entertaining sporting event of the year. As a preliminary attraction George Porter's Murphysboro Shades faced the Reserves in a close game which the Reserves won 22-18. The main game was next and at the half, a boxing bout between the Cox Brothers, little tots, seemingly too small to carry the boxing gloves, and a tumbling act by five smaller boys added vitamin A, B, or C to the enjoyable program.

The Hoosiers played sensational basketball. Those who witnessed the game saw the classiest basket shooting of the year. Shots from nearly the center of the floor were taken with as much deliberation as a free throw, and those baskets by Reynolds, Torre Haute guard, gave the crowd a thrill. The Maroons showed a fast brand of basketball. They took the ball down the floor in spite of the strong man to man defense of the Indiana five. Only the lack of good basket shooting holds the Maroons down. The fans marvelled at the baskets by Reynolds and Horton and overlooked the fact that "Cus" Wilson was second in high point scoring of the game and trailed the State center, Horton, by only two points. Horton, by the way, is the basketeer who leads the scoring in the colleges of Indiana.

Reynolds started the scoring for the opponents with a cripple. Free throws by Scott and Monical tied the score. Sheid and Hiller made baskets. Horton dropped in a field goal. Reynolds followed with a cripple and Martin tallied from the center of the floor. The Indiana boys pulled away from the Macmen. Three baskets in succession by the hard fighting Maroons jolted the Hoosier defense when Wilson, Scott, and Monical dropped in field goals. Score at the half, 23-16.

Wilson started the scoring at the beginning of the second half and then the State boys started sharp shooting with too much success for the Maroons. If held away from the basket, they would shoot long ones, and it didn't seem to make much difference to them. They secured a substantial lead and substitutions were made. The Maroons started scoring in rapid succession but the time was too short and the game ended 44-30.

Com. H. S. Beats Murphy in New Gym Before Big Crowd

Last Tuesday night between all the excitement and coloring that attends a high school basketball game between ancient rivals the Carbondale Community quintet defeated its old rival, Murphysboro, 23-13. Interest in the contest was heightened by the fact that the Murphy team was leading the Conference and had not been defeated, and Carbondale, with one of the best teams in its history needed only a victory to place it in a tie for first place. They had previously been beaten by Benton.

In order to accommodate the huge crowd that turned out, both from Carbondale and Murphysboro, our new gymnasium was engaged by the high school. Over 2200 people saw the game.

The preliminary game between the second teams hardly held the interest of the crowd which was packed in long before starting time for the big game. Everyone was keyed up and at the starting whistle everybody was on his feet.

The game was fast and closer than the score shows. Although Carbondale kept the lead, that lead was only a few points until the final minutes when it was increased. The Community players seemed to be just a bit faster and they showed enough better team work to gain a decisive victory.

AGRICULTURE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

At the meeting of the Ag Club last Thursday evening the following officers were elected:

Mr. Leo Haun, president.
Mr. Kenneth Cross, vice president.
Mr. Clyde Winter, secretary.
The above officers will serve for the next six weeks.

The program was something like this:

Piano solo by Miss Emma Stearns.
Reading, "The Dutchman's Blue Chicken," by Miss Ella May Ohms.
Vocal solo, "The Desert Song," by Miss Mable Burklow.
Reading by Miss Marietta Frazier, "Aunt Jane's Trip to the City."
Talk by Prof. G. W. Smith, "Farming Fifty Years Ago."
Reading by Miss Eva Manninger, "Gold Mounted Guns."

I thought I had broken my nose—but it's still running.
She reminds me of an almond bar—sweet, but nutty.

Umpire—Young.

NOTES
The Indiana State Normal has lost only one game this year—to Wabash, Indiana. In the return game they defeated the Wabash five. Reynolds, that deadly No. 26, was all-state guard, and Horton is the high point man of Indiana. They will lose only one man through graduation. The Hoosiers have defeated such teams as De Pauw. De Pauw just gave Loyola their first defeat after 34 consecutive wins. The Hoosier coach was a football star for University of Chicago just a few years ago—Wally Marks. The fine bit of refereeing by Young and Forsythe was an asset to the game. There were no overlooked decisions and clean play ruled throughout.

Freshmen Group IV and Road Hogs Still Lead in Tournament

The Road Hogs and the Freshmen Group IV are showing a close pair of heels to the other twelve teams in the intramural basketball tournament being played by the athletic department. Neither of these two teams have been defeated, and they have been turning back opposing teams with surprising regularity. These teams are scheduled to play for the leadership of the race Tuesday, February 18, in what will be the game of games for the tournament. Another game which holds the attention of the fans is the game between the Freshman Group II and the 810 S. Normal aggregation. Neither team has won a game and the fight for the collar position has been heated.

The standing of the teams has not been changed much. The Fraternity jumped from the lower rungs of the ladder with two games in the last week. They defeated the Freshman Groups I and II. The Dunbars arched with the M. E. Deacons for third place after defeating the Freshman Group III and Freshman Group II. and 810 S. Normal lost two games since the last report.

Due to the Old Normal game being played Thursday instead of Friday as scheduled, the Thursday games were moved up to Tuesday and the Tuesday games were played Monday of this week.

Dunbars vs. 810 S. Normal.
Fraternity vs. House of Andusus.

UNIVERSITY HIGH WINS AT PINCKNEYVILLE

University High won its third successive basketball game last Friday night by defeating Pinckneyville 28-11 at Pinckneyville. The victory gave U. High a 500 standing in the Central Egyptian Conference, with four wins and four losses.

Pinckneyville has a small, narrow floor which makes it difficult for a visiting team to win, but the Junior Maroons had no trouble in turning the trick. Tomlinson and Springer were the big shots, with Rich and Thrailkill close on their heels. Greer turned in his usual brilliant game at guard. Toler, a promising sophomore, also broke into the scoring column. The score:

U. High (28)

FRESHMEN GROUP IV TEAM SO FAR IS UNBEATEN

INTEREST IN TOURNAMENT INCREASES. ROAD HOGS ARE IN LINE WITH FROSH

Five rounds of the intramural tournament have been played and the contests are getting more lively as the games are being played. The non-defeated teams have simmered down to the Freshmen Group Four and the Road Hogs, who have each won four games and lost none. The Methodist Deacons suffered their first defeat at the hands of the Road Hogs Tuesday night. The Dunbars were turned back by the Freshman Four after they had given the Sophomores their only defeat. The Dunbar-Freshman game was one of the best in the tourney. Both teams played cleanly, and few fouls were called. The preceding Tuesday the Dunbars completely annihilated the Sophomores 12-3. The Sophs beat the Senior College 15-12 in a close game Thursday evening. The Road Hogs nosed out the Rural Practice Teachers 9-7 the same night. The House of Anduses lead the 810 S. Normal 18-11 to hold on to a tie for third place.

All of the fans are waiting for the climax to the tournament when the Road Hogs play the Freshman Group Four team. As both teams are fighting for first place, and neither has lost a game, the game should be closely contested.

The Freshman Group Four is made up of the following: Martin of Carbondale, Randall of Centralia, Osman of Carbondale, and Edmison and Snodsmith of Mt. Vernon. Ryan, Teague, Burkett, Howell, Shafer, Henley, and HARRIS play on the Road Hog combination.

The following are the standings of the tournament, schedule for Thursday and Tuesday, and the scores of last week's games:

NOTES ON SPORT

This being a Freshman edition of the paper, we are glad to mention the fact that of the twenty-three letter men of the football squad for the past season, nine were freshmen, Ted Penley and Bob Hudgens, team mates from Marion, Oakley Bradham and Glenn (Abe) Martin of Fairfield, Dean Martin of Shawneetown, Albert Patton of Carlyle, Ellsworth Robertson of Flora, Clarence Stephens of Sparta, and Archie Wright, Carbondale, are the members of the beginning class who received sweaters.

Carl Wright and Bob Hudgens are the only freshmen on the first ten men group of the basketball squad. Scott has been starting as a regular guard in recent games and is fifth in the scoring honors for the year. Hudgens started the season as a regular forward but is being used as a substitute. Hudgens found difficulty in finding the basket, but in a recent game with McKendree he broke his jinx with three field goals. Bob ought to come through before the season is over.

Coach Lingle looks over the prospective track material in the Freshman class with a bit of a smile of joy. There are several track men in the making. Bob Hudgen after a season of football and basketball should be in good shape. Just wait 'til the freshmen president starts high jumping.

With the intramural basketball tourney in full sway one wonders where all the freshmen come from. The freshmen class is represented by three or four teams ranging first place, tie for second place, half way down the list, and last. At this writing the freshmen group is tied with the Road Hogs for first place. All but one member of these two teams are members of the freshmen class.

White and Wilson are fighting for honors in high point scoring in the race for high point man of the season and at present White has a 500 single point lead over the captain of the Maroons. Hiller and Scott are not far behind in the struggle, and a three point difference in their total points separate them. Due to White's inability to go to Alton because of influenza, Wilson is expected to get ahead in the contest. These figures do not include Saturday's game with Shurtleff College.

Freshmen Active in the Ag Club

One would judge from the local interest in the Ag Club that the farmers' problem is soon to find a happy solution. But every Thursday night all seed catalogues, horticulture texts, and farm bulletins are cast aside and would-be farmers and farmerettes troop gaily to their club meeting. Like a happy family gathering in the kitchen of the old farm home to enjoy the cozy warmth of the battered kitchen range, the mingled odor of bacon and fresh cream; thus the college group crowds into its hall. Of course, the kitchen stove is missing the delicious odor of bacon is lacking, there is no red checked cover on the chairman's table, but the same spirit is present. Friends greet each other happily and find comfortable seats awaiting.

The president's gavel falls and there is silence. The program is begun. As it proceeds from solo to lecture, much talent is displayed. Freshmen are very noticeably the leaders here.

The program concluded, the president rises to make an announcement, and all eyes are turned in his direction. William Chestnut, a second-term freshman, is a splendid example of one whose leadership is easily adapted to entertaining the folks around the kitchen fire or presiding at a meeting of college students. In fact Bill tells us of the days—way back when—he was president, sole member, and janitor in his private Ag Club. Although he usually prefers to talk of the future of our club, he modestly admits that he was for four years a member of the Newton Ag Club and president of that organization in '28.

With the exception perhaps of the hired man, those who gathered with your family around the fire back in the old farm home were the Joneses. Likewise most of those in the Ag Club are of one family, the freshmen. We are especially proud of the fact when we remember the active part the club has taken in campus life and the progressive plans it has for the future.

RUBY P. BRANTLEY.

Freshmen Furnish Talent
The two literary societies compete hectically for talented freshmen every Fall term, and even honor them with the high office of president (i. e. Leo Brown, president of the Zetetic Society during the Fall term) when once they are within their clutches. Strut and Fret gives opportunity for those who can act to "strut their stuff." The cast of the big play, "The Royal Family," contains five freshmen, two of them in leads. And freshmen are represented in other fields of activity as well. A-ship young journalists may find berths on the "Egyptian" staff (there is a chance for promotion) and may, if they're good, work on the Freshman edition. Freshmen have the unlimited opportunity of writing themes, all sorts of themes—and of taking these themes to their teachers for conference. They also have a chance to learn more about friendship (and its difference from love) than all the upper classmen put together. What they don't learn from experience (and they learn plenty), they can learn from Montaigne's essay.

So if it's equality of opportunity for freshmen that you're hunting, you'll find lots of it at S. I. N. U.
