2-1-1980

The Daily Egyptian, February 01, 1980

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_February1980
Volume 64, Issue 87

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1980 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in February 1980 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Snowclouds dump fines, tow fees on cars left parked on snow routes

By Mary Ann McNulty
Staff Writer

Carbondale's first snowfall of 1978 not only dumped 4 inches of snow on the city, but left 27 motorists without their cars Thursday morning. By Friday, other citizens may receive citations for not shoveling their sidewalks.

Motorists whose cars were towed from the 44 city streets marked snow routes had to pay at least $3.50 in tow fees to get their cars back, said Roger Karsten, president of Karsten Auto Recycling Corp., the city's contract tow firm. Violators also face a $5 tow fine from the city.

Tom McNamara of the Carbondale police said officers issued tow orders for 27 cars Wednesday evening.

Code enforcement officers will begin issuing tickets at 8 a.m. Friday to Carbondale residents who haven't shoveled at least a 30-inch path on sidewalks abutting their property, said John Yow, code enforcement director.

Yow said he didn't expect inspectors to issue many tickets since most people were out shoveling their walks Thursday.

The code enforcement office issued about 148 citations for violation of the snow shoveling ordinance last year. The order was passed in February 1978, requires tenants or homeowners to shovel a path for pedestrians within 24 hours after the snow stops falling. City Manager Carroll J. Fry designated 8 a.m. Thursday as the start of the 24-hour period.

Yow said code enforcement officers would first inspect sidewalks in downtown Carbondale to make sure that heavily-used walks are cleared. Officers will then inspect sidewalks on route streets and the rest of Carbondale.

Yow said that if code enforcement inspectors could not determine whether the tenant or owner of a building was responsible for shoveling the sidewalks, the officers would issue tickets to both parties.

"The courts would then decide who was responsible," Yow said.

All should register for draft—Simon

By Karen Galll
Staff Writer

"The day has passed" when only men can serve in the military, Simon D. III, U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said in a phone interview from his Washington office Wednesday. "There is an arbitrary division between the sexes in the military, new, and the distinction should include women.

Replacements for the draft should be made across the board for both men and women," Simon said. By Friday, newSelective Service registration should cover both sexes, it was reported. Simon had drafted a bill to study women's roles in active combat duty for them.

"I doubt there would ever be the need for women to assume combat roles in the military, but that is where the line is drawn," Simon said. "For anthropological and cultural reasons, men can serve combat roles more easily."

Simon is co-sponsor of a bill introduced in the last Congress that would institute a voluntary national service program for both men and women as an alternative to a military draft.

The bill, called the National Youth Service Bill, contains four options of military service, according to Vicki Otten, spokeswoman for Simon. The first option is a two-year mandatory service and six months of educational benefits. The second option calls for six months of active service and 12 years of reserve service plus 72 months of educational benefits. The third option is keeping the present lottery system. The fourth and what Otten termed the "most conservative" option for a year of civilian service. Community based public service employment, a program for conscientious objectors, would give up to 12 months of alternative service under this option.

Orientation event will open Black History Month

By Steve Grant
Staff Writer

"Kujichagulia," a student orientation event sponsored by the Black Affairs Council, will highlight the beginning of Black History Month Saturday at 7 p.m. in Grinnell Hall.

The English translation for Kujichagulia is self-determination, BAC Coordinator Sherrie Johnston said.

"As one of the seven principles of Blackness, this concept describes our struggle to define ourselves, name ourselves, and speak for ourselves, instead of being defined and spoken for by others," Johnston said. Aside from giving ups on maintaining good academic standing, the orientation will inform students about different organizations and activities available to them on campus.

Various organizations affiliated with BAC will add to the scope of Black History Month--to run through February--with a series of art and cultural exhibits, rap sessions and workshops.

Black History Month was begun in 1973 and originally ran as a week long celebration. The intent of the celebration is to offer events that emphasize the importance of men and women, as well as facts, in the history of black people in Africa, South America and the United States. The theme of this year's Black History Month is "Operation Self-Awareness of a Cultural Kaleidoscope."

"The theme exemplifies our awareness of the changes that have taken place over the years and expresses our hope for an optimistic outlook in the future," Johnston said.

"This theme depicts the many efforts put forth by black leaders to promote and install positive attitudes toward the black culture," said Denise Thompson, Chairwoman of the Black Programming Committee.

The celebration is dedicated to past and present black leaders in the U.S., including Lorraine King Jr., Ralph Abernathy, Versacare, Meadger Evers, Ralph Bunche, and Coretta King.

"As we enter the '80s, we would still have the oppression of the past if our courageous leaders had not struggled for us," said Elhott from the Programming Committee.

Orientation event will open Black History Month

By Steve Grant
Staff Writer

"Kujichagulia," a student orientation event sponsored by the Black Affairs Council, will highlight the beginning of Black History Month Saturday at 7 p.m. in Grinnell Hall.

The English translation for Kujichagulia is self-determination, BAC Coordinator Sherrie Johnston said.

"As one of the seven principles of Blackness, this concept describes our struggle to define ourselves, name ourselves, and speak for ourselves, instead of being defined and spoken for by others," Johnston said. Aside from giving ups on maintaining good academic standing, the orientation will inform students about different organizations and activities available to them on campus.

Various organizations affiliated with BAC will add to the scope of Black History Month--to run through February--with a series of art and cultural exhibits, rap sessions and workshops.

Black History Month was begun in 1973 and originally ran as a week long celebration. The intent of the celebration is to offer events that emphasize the importance of men and women, as well as facts, in the history of black people in Africa, South America and the United States. The theme of this year's Black History Month is "Operation Self-Awareness of a Cultural Kaleidoscope."

"The theme exemplifies our awareness of the changes that have taken place over the years and expresses our hope for an optimistic outlook in the future," Johnston said.

"This theme depicts the many efforts put forth by black leaders to promote and install positive attitudes toward the black culture," said Denise Thompson, Chairwoman of the BAC Programming Committee.

The celebration is dedicated to past and present black leaders in the U.S., including Lorraine King Jr., Ralph Abernathy, Versacare, Meadger Evers, Ralph Bunche, and Coretta King.

"As we enter the '80s, we would still have the oppression of the past if our courageous leaders had not struggled for us," said Elhott from the Programming Committee.
Tuition boost proposal being readied for board

A proposal to increase tuition at SIU-C is being prepared by the Board of Trustees and will be submitted to the Board of Trustees at its February meeting, Frank Horton, vice president for academic affairs, said Saturday.

Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, said the increase is the result of a recommendation by the Illinois Board of Higher Education that tuition for full-time students be increased by $46 in fiscal year 1961. Swinburne said the IBHE recommended the $46 per semester increase—$2 per credit hour at SIU-C—at its December meeting in order to offset the costs of inflation.

"The increase was very strongly recommended by the IBHE at an emergency type of increase and I do expect it to occur," a spokesman said.

If approved, the semester cost of tuition for a full-time resident would increase from $287 to $311. The cost for a full-time non-resident would increase from $861 to $885 per semester.

A joint effort by SIU-C and the state to collect part of the increase has brought $1,041 in February, said a spokesman. The comptroller also said the Anti-Nuclear Sentinels have collected $250 in a lawsuit brought by 13 faculty and staff members after having been deducted from their paychecks in accordance with an in-house collection scheme.

The university is ordered to repay the $1,041 that had been collected.

The comptroller also said the university has "no authority to act as both police and judge," by issuing the fines and then attempting to collect them.

Rhodes said she has sent the comptroller documents that prove the fines are invalid. Rhodes said the University had "no authority to act as both police and judge," by issuing the fines and then attempting to collect them.

Rhodes said she has sent the comptroller documents that prove the fines are invalid.

Overdue fine collection delayed

Last July, the University arranged to send the delinquent accounts to the comptroller's office for collection after the letters requesting payment sent individuals went unanswered. The comptroller, by state law, has the power to deduct from state employee's paychecks any amount that is owed to the state, Said Rhodes, associate University legal counselor.

Rather than initiating the deductions, however, the comptroller sent SIU-C a letter requesting further documentation proving the fines are valid.

Rhodes said the University was asked to prove that it had made adequate changes in its policy since 1972 when a circuit court ruled that the regulations were too vague and indefinite to be enforced.

The ruling came in a lawsuit brought by 13 faculty and staff members after having been deducted from their paychecks in accordance with an in-house collection scheme. The University was ordered to repay the $1,041 that had been collected.

The comptroller also said the University had "no authority to act as both police and judge," by issuing the fines and then attempting to collect them.

Rhodes said she has sent the comptroller documents that prove the fines are invalid.
Pact talks are slow, police say

By Leanne Watson

Staff Writer

Negotiations that began last November between the city and the Chicago Police Officers Association are "progressing slowly," the union's president said Thursday.

"We have had some disagreements over procedures, some ground-rule disagreements that I feel resulted in the CPD making major concessions for the sake of keeping the negotiations moving," Joe Coughlin, CPD president, said.

City and union negotiating teams will meet for the seventh time next Thursday. The current two-year contract will expire April 30, the same date the city's fiscal year ends. If a new contract is signed by April it will go into effect May 1. If an agreement for a new contract is not reached by May the current contract will be effective until a new contract is negotiated, Coughlin said.

"In past years, the city would argue that the budget ceilings were in and that they were restricted as to how much money they could offer. In other words, they have used the budget ceilings as a weapon," Coughlin said.

The City Council is scheduled to vote on budget ceilings Monday night.

City and union negotiating teams have "reached a point of mutual discussion," Coughlin said. He would not comment specifically on what may be slowing up the negotiations but he did say, "Part of the problem is that the city tends to run the clock out. Instead of acting as an equal partner (with the union).

Coughlin charged: "at when negotiations moved toward specific contract proposals the city was silent about what it would and would not consider.

"There is not a whole lot we can do about the city not looking at certain things except to explain to them that we want to investigate all of the possibilities," he said.

Head City negotiating representative Scott Ratter, assistant city manager, would not comment on the negotiations.

Coughlin would not comment specifically on CPDA contract proposals but he said they covered eight general areas ranging from money to police accommodations.

Coughlin also charged that the city has not come up with any "counter-proposals" to CPDA contract proposals, which were given to the city when negotiations began.

"We've waited for ideas on figures," he said.

The current contract was signed eight months after the previous contract has expired causing police personnel to work under the previous contract, Coughlin said.

When asked why negotiations were moving rather slowly, Coughlin said a possibility could be that slow negotiations "would be a tactic anyone would use to try and wear down the opposition.

..."
Don't laugh! Woody Hall could come to this!

By Jacques Kascnack
Staff Writer

Imagine, it's three, four, maybe five years from now, it's the morning of the first day of classes at SUU. The new students' registration center are the monotonous hum of the computer printout machine and the muted chatter of the armed security officers at the entrance.

They talk of wise-beaters and Lewis Parkinson, but most of you are still minutely shuffle papers or occasionally play war games on abandoned video-display terminals. The student union is abruptly shuttered when the double doors swing open and a man in his early 20s enters. He stands in the middle of the registration forms, financial aid papers, and class schedules that he jiggles in his hands. Without noticing the two authorities, who observe him in disbelief, he walks up to Step A.

"Hi! I've just written my paper and I think I'm ready to register. I have five classes listed on this form, but I may use that add-drop slip to change the economy class once I find out...

He stops short, not knowing why the clerk does not respond in the usual politeness and interest that either side is seen at him dumbfounded as he has two heads or a registration form void of a social security number.

Suddenly, a despotic voice from behind sends the befuddled student reeling around to meet his fate. "You've a head, two heads, two heads, you've to have a registration form, a social security number..."

The student quickly scans the empty room, lined with calculated, concentrated listings almost like a sea of tiny brown squares. He does some quick calculating and replies with relief, "Sorry, if you're closed I can come back tomorrow. I really didn't mean to..."

"Can't tomm' in back until the boss says so, kid! An' I gotta warrn you right now, the man don't take kindly to your kind, the kind that don' know the rules."

"But, but, the sign on the door says Registration Center."

"Yes, that's what it says all right," the cop answers with a sardonic grin. "That's what it always says. But what it MEANS is that only a fool would open these doors to the first year of class!

"You mean I can't register for this semester."

"Sure see, sure you can register. But first you've got to answer Anthony Hall for some question, then o' course you gotta pay the fine," says the cop, unhooking a pair of handcuffs from his belt.

"Fine! What fine? You mean I have to pay a fine to register?"

The student has gone too far. It had been a peaceful sort of day until this vagrant, this devil, this procrastinator came in to spoil everything.

Commentary

"Listen boy, I don't want to have to get rough with you, so don't pull this dumb freshman stuff on me."

"You ain't just registerin'. You're registerin' LATH. That's written right there and you know does it!

All your teachers have been warned that the last couple o' weeks to make the first day of class is "madmen's" and not as a final step, but all You ain't gonna be there when they tell ya the security gates are closed.

If it's true you wouldn't be here any more. I'll be ready for another week."

"Then when they tell ya they don't have office hours yet or the last one or whatever it is," the student replies.

"I couldn't register until now. I'm a transfer student from Colorado, we had a blizzard on the break and..."

"Your prescptions", states the cop, with a chilling finality in this voice.

"The only one registered was tied up in financial aid for 6 months and...

"No exceptions."

"I have a teaching assistanship and I didn't even know what sections I was teaching until..."

"Let's go? O.K., O.K., I'll come peacefully. But first can I stop at the Bursar's Office?"

"Well I have some parking fives over there. Also some fives were taken by a cop, I have really added up. And then I have to pay for the fine for not paying the other fines on time."

"That's interest and enlightenin.' And your're not gonna lose this one kid."

Letters

Inflammatory letter misleading

The inflammatory letter misleading and lies are peculiar to the US. As the President of the US, I am committed to the security of our nation but I do not believe that the current policy of the administration is correct.

Let be noted that the letter was actually signed by an individual with a political agenda. The reactionary Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) is a well-organized group with the aim of spreading its conservative ideology to the young people of the nation. The letter is written by a member of this organization.

The letter boasts of its support for the current president and the fact that he is working hard to keep our country safe. However, the letter also contains several inaccuracies and falsehoods.

Firstly, the letter claims that the president is committed to the security of the country. This is not accurate as the president has been criticized for not taking action on various issues. Secondly, the letter states that the president is working hard to keep our country safe. This is not true as the president has been criticized for not taking action on various issues.

The letter also contains several false statements. For example, the letter claims that the president is supporting the military and the police. This is not true as the president has been criticized for not supporting the military and the police. The letter also claims that the president is doing a good job. This is not true as the president has been criticized for not doing a good job.

Furthermore, the letter contains several false statements about the president's background. For example, the letter claims that the president was educated at a prestigious university. This is not true as the president was actually educated at a less prestigious university. The letter also claims that the president has a strong family background. This is not true as the president's family background is not impressive.

In conclusion, the letter misleading and lies are peculiar to the US. As the President of the US, I am committed to the security of our nation but I do not believe that the current policy of the administration is correct. The letter contains several inaccuracies and falsehoods and should not be taken as a representation of the truth.
Oil refiners guilty of overcharges—study

By William Krehbiel
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The typical family using home heating oil will pay about $130 extra this winter because of unjustified price increases by oil refiners, a new congressional study shows.

The study prompted calls for price controls to be reimposed on home heating oil. Controls were lifted in 1975.

The study showed that domestic oil refiners' profits increased by more than 60 percent during the same period, the study said.

Rep. Anthony Molfett, D-Conn, who accompanied Rosenthal in releasing the report, said he will hold hearings Feb. 12 on why the refiners have not acted to stop the huge price increases.

"This is a question of broken promises," Molfett said. "It's administration and the last administration promised to monitor price. They promised that consumers would not suffer and they abandoned it from the lifting of federal price controls.

"That promise has clearly been broken... It is now obvious that the laws of supply and demand are not working," Molfett said. "The fact is that inventories of heating oils are very high, and prices are continuing to skyrocket."

In a related study, a coalition of labor and citizen groups filed a petition with the Energy Department urging reinstatement of federal price controls on home heating oil.

Robert Brandon, director for the Citizens Coalition, said the Energy Department has authority to reimpose controls without further legislation.

Among the members of the coalition are the AFL-CIO, the United Auto Workers, the International Association of Machinists, the National Education Association, the National Union of League and the Consumer Federation of America.

Brandon said the coalition's study of heating oil prices pegs excessive increases for home oil alone at about $1.6 billion, well below the congressional study figure, but not including diesel oil profits.

The coalition study said the oil companies increased their profit margins on heating oil from 27 cents per gallon in October 1977 to 61 cents per gallon a year later.

WSIU scheduled for Westar II hook-up; programming possibilities will increase

By Mark Swanson

Student Writer

Western Illinois University is scheduled for hook-up to Westar II, one of the nation's first domestic satellite broadcast services, during the first part of February.

Jack Brown, operations manager at WSIU radio, said the university has been working on the hook-up for several months. The budget for the trip was provided by the student senate for seniors and by contingency funds for the president and vice president.

By William Krehbiel

The typical family using home heating oil will pay about $130 extra this winter because of unjustified price increases by oil refiners, a new congressional study shows.

The study prompted calls for price controls to be reimposed on home heating oil. Controls were lifted in 1975.

The study showed that domestic oil refiners' profits increased by more than 60 percent during the same period, the study said.

Rep. Anthony Molfett, D-Conn, who accompanied Rosenthal in releasing the report, said he will hold hearings Feb. 12 on why the refiners have not acted to stop the huge price increases.

"This is a question of broken promises," Molfett said. "It's administration and the last administration promised to monitor price. They promised that consumers would not suffer and they abandoned it from the lifting of federal price controls.

"That promise has clearly been broken... It is now obvious that the laws of supply and demand are not working," Molfett said. "The fact is that inventories of heating oils are very high, and prices are continuing to skyrocket."

In a related study, a coalition of labor and citizen groups filed a petition with the Energy Department urging reinstatement of federal price controls on home heating oil.

Robert Brandon, director for the Citizens Coalition, said the Energy Department has authority to reimpose controls without further legislation.

Among the members of the coalition are the AFL-CIO, the United Auto Workers, the International Association of Machinists, the National Education Association, the National Union of League and the Consumer Federation of America.

Brandon said the coalition's study of heating oil prices pegs excessive increases for home oil alone at about $1.6 billion, well below the congressional study figure, but not including diesel oil profits.

The coalition study said the oil companies increased their profit margins on heating oil from 27 cents per gallon in October 1977 to 61 cents per gallon a year later.
Greensboro protestors remember first 'sit-in'

By Naomi Kaufman

ASSOCIATE PROFESSIONAL WRITER

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Four frightened young black men, 17 and 18 years old, sat down at a lunch counter 50 years ago. What they did changed the course of American history. What they have become is a history lesson itself.

Today marks the 50th anniversary of the beginning of the lunch counter sit-ins in Greensboro. Within days, sit-ins for integration of public facilities had spread to 54 cities in nine states. Within a year, more than 100 cities had desegregated some public facilities.

"In setting down," the late Frank Porter Graham, a one-time Democratic senator from North Carolina, said during the subsequent years of protests, "the demonstrators are standing up for the American Dream."

Ezell Blair Jr. — now Jibreel Khazan — Franklin McCain, Joseph McNeil and David Richmond left their North Carolina A&T State College dormitory about 4 p.m. on Feb. 1, 1960, to walk to the F.W. Woolworth store downtown.

"It took us a while to get the courage to go," Richmond recalled recently. "The manager came and told us to leave. When the police arrived, they just stood there. They didn't know what to do."

"I was the most fearful. If you had said 'boo,' I probably would have fallen off the stool," he said.

Richmond, now living in Franklinton, has been unemployed for six months. He has worked in federal jobs programs and does odd jobs. Richmond is the only one of the four who did not complete college.

"A lot of negative things have happened to me since," he said, but added, "If you take the risk, you have to be able to accept the consequences."

On Friday, Greensboro will honor the four. A state historic landmark sign will be unveiled.

The Lifestyling Program is offering a five-week group titled "Break the Smoking Habit: A Stop-smoking Group for Students" at 3 p.m., beginning Monday in Activity Room B. Students may pre-register by calling 336-7702.

Martha Cruul, clinical director of Aeon Alternatives Program, has been appointed to the Illinois Arts Council Dance Advisory Panel. The panel advises the IAC on financial assistance applications, policy and new program initiatives, and program reviews of applicant organizations.

The items confiscated on Jan. 25 from lockers in the Recreation Building from fall semester must be claimed by Monday or the items will be disposed of by the University.

"Thin From Within: A Self-Control Program For Weight Management," is being offered by the Lifestyling Program for five weeks beginning at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Conference Roots of the Student Wellness Resource Center. People may pre-register by calling 336-7702.

The Career Planning and Placement Center will present a government career day from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday in Ballrooms A and B. A walk-through format will provide information on job opportunities, training desired, career trends and how to apply. The government agencies will include the U.S. Department of Agriculture, FBI, and Veterans Administration.
Abortion: Moral, legal debate continues

Pro-abortion leader defends right to choose

By Jerrell Olson

As one of the founders of Southern Illinoisans for Abortion Rights, Jan Susler works to explain the politics of the abortion issue. She says she is a civil libertarian who believes in an individual's constitutional rights, including the right to reproductive freedom.

"I am not pro-abortion, I am pro-choice," says Susler, an attorney who also offers legal services to Illinois prisoners through the Prison Legal Aid program of SIU's School of Law. "I don't think abortion is a correct alternative for everyone. It's something that some people cannot live with. They may see myself as pro-choice. But the alternative has to be there as well."

As a volunteer for SIFAR, Susler speaks to classes and organizations about the various denominations that wish to know more about the legal aspects of abortion. SIFAR is an affiliate of the National Right to Life Committee.

"The issue involves many individuals with differing views on what constitutes a constitutional right to privacy. We don't believe in compulsory pro-life," Susler said.

Sen. Joe Carrretti, R-Naperville, says the First Amendment to the Constitution supports her views.

"The Supreme Court held that abortion is not a legal issue," Susler said. "It's a moral, philosophical and religious issue that the state should not interfere with. Theologians and philosophers for centuries have debated on when life begins, but the point is something that everybody has to work out for themselves.

Susler added that not all religions are against abortion. Many Protestant denominations, Jehovah's Witnesses, Conservative and Reform Judaism permit abortion when a "serious danger" to the mother would result in "tragic circumstances.

Thus, if abortion were banned, those involved in abortion are left to believe that abortion may sometimes be a moral solution. This would be impossible to practice the law by faith.

"What anti-abortionists are saying is, 'You must behave the way I believe.' Somebody else is imposing their religion or belief on me is repulsive to me," Susler said.

Susler, who also is involved in the National Lawmen's Guild and the American Civil Liberties Union, said the anti-abortion movement wants to change the Constitution through a constitutional convention. She said she feels that such a move would "definitely be a danger."

Women's right to abortion decided in landmark case

By Jacquel Kostercow

Staff Writer

In March of 1970, a young unmarried woman challenged a Texas statute which she felt abridged her right to privacy by making it impossible for her to obtain an abortion "performed by a competent, licensed physician under medically safe, clinical conditions."

In the midst of an emotional national battle between proponents and opponents of abortion, Jane Roe, whose real name was never revealed by the Court, filed her complaint against the District Attorney of Dallas County "on behalf of myself and all other women who find themselves in similar situations."

Prior to 1970, James Hallford, a licensed Texas physician, arrested for performing abortions under the same law disputed by Roe. Believing the law violated his own and his patient's right to privacy and also his right to practice medicine, he joined Roe in the suit.

Before the case reached the U.S. Supreme Court, the challenge to the statute acquired still another dimension when a married couple and children filed a companion suit. John and Mary Doe, also using pseudonyms, filed suit "on behalf of themselves and all couples similarly situated" when they found, in the event that Mary should become pregnant, the law would require her to have the child.

John had been advised by his doctor to avoid pregnancy until she recovered from a mastectomy. At the time he was advised to discontinue use of birth control pills.

The result of the consolidated grievances was the landmark Roe vs. Wade case of 1973, recognizing a woman's fundamental right to decide whether or not to have an abortion.

But in ruling on a woman's right to privacy in the abortion decision, the Supreme Court may have "generated as many problems as it resolved," according to the Women's Rights Law Reporter.

The Court treated with a liberal hand the right of women to abort in the first trimester, the first 12 weeks, of pregnancy without governmental interference. But it also left sufficient ambiguity in its provisions for safeguards against abuse in legal abortions to spur a wave of litigation separating the abortion factions in many states.

One such provision is the Court's finding that the informed consent of the pregnant woman is a necessary deterrent to medical abuse in the abortion procedure, according to the Reporter.

"Informed consent provisions typically require a signed statement which indicates that the woman's decision is voluntary and that she is aware of the nature and consequences of the procedure," the article states.

Put the question of what constitutes informed consent and what may actually be exercised not addressed by the court.

Thus, responding to thriving anti-abortion constituencies, state legislatures have promulgated amendments to abortion laws designed to deter women from seeking abortions.

Such was the case last fall when the Illinois General Assembly amended a 1975 abortion law to include a requirement for physicians to provide their patients with literature "designed to inform concerned persons of the above facts."

Mary had been advised by her doctor to avoid pregnancy until she recovered from a mastectomy. At the time he was advised to discontinue use of birth control pills.

The result of the consolidated grievances was the landmark Roe vs. Wade case of 1973, recognizing a woman's fundamental right to decide whether or not to have an abortion.

But in ruling on a woman's right to privacy in the abortion decision, the Supreme Court may have "generated as many problems as it resolved," according to the Women's Rights Law Reporter.

The Court treated with a liberal hand
Abortion clinics’ counseling varies

By Carrie Sweesy
Staff Writer

An unmarried pregnant woman, especially one who is in school, is often caught by the moment when she must make a decision. She may carry the child, place it for adoption or raise the child herself or she may choose to terminate the pregnancy.

The rules and costs of abortion may cause confusion for some women. When factual information about abortion is sought, one particular advertisement in the Post-Dispatch asks, “Need Abortion Information? Call Us. We Care.”

The ad continues, “We will help you through this experience with complete counseling of any duration, before and after the procedure.” Well, maybe.

When a reporter called the toll free telephone number listed in the ad, a woman asked what type of information was being sought. When she was told that a “problem pregnancy” was involved, she responded with an apparently memorized account of the abortion clinic’s procedures.

The woman who answered said all abortion patients receive a preliminary counseling at the Ladies Center, 5348 Delmar St., St. Louis. She said the counseling costs a flat rate of $170, which covers a pregnancy test, pelvic examination, counseling, medication and the abortion. The abortion, she said, can be performed up to the twelfth week of pregnancy. It is a five-minute procedure and is done only on Wednesdays and Sundays.

When asked about the counseling available before the abortion, the woman said, “Counseling sessions are available to thoroughly explain birth control and the procedures involved with the abortion.”

When the reporter asked why pregnancy counseling would be the right solution, she said, “In our cases, counseling on alternatives was available, the woman replied, “Oh, of course.”

Further questioning about alternatives to the abortion led to the response that no further information could be supplied at that time. A phone number for the Ladies Center was supplied, and when the call was placed, the reporter identified herself as such.

Ligrid Smith, executive director of the Ladies Center, answered the call. She said an average of 25 patients a month are referred to the center from private physicians and various medical centers.

Counselors work at the center, she said, but the number varies with the patient load. All counselors hold at least a bachelor’s degree in psychology or sociology, or have been trained in “other clinical settings,” she said.

“Our counselors are geared to meet the patient’s needs,” Smith said. “We always tell him that she has three choices—to continue the pregnancy and put the child up for adoption, to continue the pregnancy and raise the child, or to terminate the pregnancy.”

Smith said she believes it’s important to let the woman make her own decision because “the outcome is something she must live with.”

(Student Counsel)
Two birth counseling centers open

By Diana Prener
Staff writer

Two referral and counseling centers for women who seek alternatives to abortion for dealing with unplanned pregnancies recently opened in the Carbondale area.

Birthingright, affiliated with the international organization founded in Canada in 1968, began its advisory and referral services Jan. 14.

The Pregnancy Assistance Center, an independent organization, began offering its services Carbondale the same day.

Joan Davis, vice president of Birthingright, said the goal of the organization is to provide practical services and support to women with distressed pregnancies who do not wish to have an abortion.

"Many women who become pregnant see abortion as the only solution. We feel that social and financial pressures force many women to this decision," Davis said.

"If you lump the problems together, then maybe abortion seems like the answer, but if you break it apart, you may see that the problems can be solved," Davis said.

Davis, who is seven months pregnant herself, said that through referrals to state agencies that provide financial assistance and by supplying such things as maternity clothes and baby furniture, Birthingright helps give a pregnant woman the opportunity to have the child.

Sherry Yassin, coordinator of the Pregnancy Assistance Center, said the center offers friendship and support to women who do not want to have an abortion, and informs them of alternatives that are available.

"Our philosophy is that the baby is a human life, and we want to let the woman know that we care about her life as well as her child," Yassin said.

"So often, no other alternative is offered to the woman other than abortion," Yassin said. "Doctors often recommend them, because they assume that this is what the woman needs."

Both Birthingright and the Pregnancy Assistance Center will also refer a woman to an adoption agency if she feels she cannot keep her child.

"In Illinois, there are five to seven year waiting lists for infants, so there is no such thing as an unwanted child," Davis said. "There is no doubt that the child would be adopted."

Davis said the Carbondale Birthingright group deals with five adoption agencies. The Pregnancy Assistance Center also refers women to various adoption agencies, Yassin said.

Both groups are non-profit organizations and operate completely with volunteers and donations from individuals and organizations. Birthingright has a core of about 12 volunteers, and about eight others who contribute time to the group.

Davis said, "There are six volunteers currently working with the Pregnancy Assistance Center." Yassin said.

"(Continued on Page 11)"

The American Tap presents
For the First Time Ever Friday Happy Hour
25¢ Drafts
70¢ Speedrail
11:30-8

"Why pass me by forever?"
STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Educated in Chinese Medicine
Speclalizes Since 1938
Serves Both Sexes
In New York & Chicago
Swiss, German & Italian Consultations
Call Toll Free 800-325-1972

APRIL 26
MCAT THERE'S STILL time to prepare.

Courses for the Spring MCAT & DAT in Carbondale will start in March. Those interested please call (217) 997-7791

Red Lips
Kiss My Blues Away

This Weekend
On the 8 ft. Wide Screen
Saturday
NCAA Basketball
Indiana at Purdue
6:30
Saturday Night Live
Warm up those cold winter nights with one of the Tap's delicious hot drinks!
Student remembers abortion:
'I'm glad I had the choice'

By Currie Sweeny
Staff Writer

An abortion is viewed by many women as an alternative to an unwanted pregnancy. For some women the choice is more significant; it is a means of maintaining their present lifestyle and goals.

"When I walked out of the abortion clinic I felt totally exhausted," commented Sue, a soft-spoken 20-year-old student who speaks of her abortion in a positive and relaxed manner. "Sue, who asked that her real name not be used, was willing to share her experiences.

"I felt so happy to have my life back. It was such a big weight on my shoulders. I was crushed when I found out I was pregnant because I wasn't prepared to rearrange my life for a baby. I'm glad I had the choice." Sue said.

When her pregnancy was confirmed Sue called the toll-free number associated with an abortion clinic in St. Louis. Although she had been to the clinic once with a friend, Sue felt she needed additional information before she made an appointment. To her surprise the woman on the phone was amazingly friendly.

"The woman said, 'Hello this is Pat, can I help you?' and then she proceeded to tell me the cost how long the procedure would last and how long I'd be in the clinic. She added that I needed a physical, and note stating that I was pregnant and that if a pelvic examination determined that I was over 12 weeks pregnant the cost would be $10 more because the procedure would take longer," Sue said.

Sue and her mother were confronted by anti-abortion picketers when they tried to enter the clinic. An experience that left her as angry as it did frightened. "All of a sudden this large group came out of the clinic door, put her arm around me and walked me in through the door. I felt so reassured by the gesture," she said.

"On top I had filled out all the appropriate papers. I went into a waiting room where I was given a pre-op check-up, which included a pelvic and breast examination. I was feeling scared and frightened. All of a sudden this large group came out of the clinic door, put her arm around me and walked me in through the door. I felt so reassured by the gesture," she said.

"Once I had filled out all the appropriate papers, I went into a waiting room where I was given a pre-op check-up, which included a pelvic and breast examination. I was feeling scared and frightened. All of a sudden this large group came out of the clinic door, put her arm around me and walked me in through the door. I felt so reassured by the gesture," she said.

"The counselor was real warm and friendly. I knew that she was there to talk and that was a good feeling. In the counseling session Sue and the counselor talked extensively about the alternatives to abortion and their outcomes. Various birth control methods and the circumstances surrounding her pregnancy were also discussed.

"At the time I was feeling really guilty and stupid for getting pregnant, although I was using a birth control method at the time. The counselor didn't make me feel more guilty at all. Instead, she helped me realize that it was a mistake that I could get over," Sue added.

The clinic, according to Sue, had a casual, relaxing atmosphere. The waiting room was sectioned off by small groupings of padded chairs and end tables stacked with magazines. She was allowed to return to the waiting room after each step of the procedure.

The procedure room itself was a small white room with only a landscape painting hung on the ceiling to add a touch of character. The nurse, Sue said, held her hand and talked to her throughout the 10-minute procedure.

"The personnel were excellent," Sue explains. They acted like they really cared. Even the doctor was this casual, friendly and talkative. Both the doctor and the nurses described exactly what was going to happen before they did anything. Of course, it was painful, but it wasn't bad either.

"Not once did they use the word fetus, or abort. When they spoke to me the wording was nice. They never made me feel the abortion was anything but a minor surgical procedure," she added.

After the procedure Sue went into a recovery room where she was given a post-operative sit down. She was given pitching, which included a pelvic and breast examination. I was feeling scared and frightened. All of a sudden this large group came out of the clinic door, put her arm around me and walked me in through the door. I felt so reassured by the gesture," she said.

"When I left the recovery room I was given a post-operative sit down. She was given pitching, which included a pelvic and breast examination. I was feeling scared and frightened. All of a sudden this large group came out of the clinic door, put her arm around me and walked me in through the door. I felt so reassured by the gesture," she said.

"My counselor helped me feel I made the right decision, and at no time did I feel that her personal opinions were pushed on me," Sue said.

Sue was also warned that if she felt unusually anxious or depressed she should seek professional counseling immediately. "I was told that if I didn't have any place to go at home then I should come back and they would help me," she said.

"The counselor helped me feel I made the right decision, and at no time did I feel that her personal opinions were pushed on me," Sue said.

In this comedy, a reclusive office worker/music lover, whose closest relationship is with his stereo, tries to seduce the girl of his dreams. Unavoidable complications arise, ranging from hilarity to touching social commentary.
St. Louis abortion clinic was 'run like a mill,' patient claims

By Carrie Sweeney
Staff Writer

Many factors can alter a woman's feelings about her abortion. Sometimes a woman can accept her decision and somehow manage to keep the experience surrounding the experience. To keep her from feeling comfortable, one such woman who had an abortion in a St. Louis clinic found the people to be less than caring and helpful. She compared the environment to that of her clinic.

"I knew there was something wrong," she said. "I had been told the abortion was what she really wanted. I said yes, and that was the extent of the counseling," she said.

"The procedure room looked like a doctor's office, and although the doctor was nice he didn't say much to me. The doctor was the only one with me during the procedure until I started coming and then two nurses came in," she said.

"I was the last patient of the day and they really rushed me through the whole procedure," Beth said. "It was like a mill, people in and out."

When she underwent a required blood test, Beth learned that her R factor was negative and that she needed a shot to correct the condition.

"I was only 19 years old," Beth said. "I was the last patient of the day and they really rushed me through the whole procedure," Beth said. "It was like a mill, people in and out."

When she underwent a required blood test, Beth learned that her R factor was negative and that she needed a shot to correct the condition.

"I was the last patient of the day and they really rushed me through the whole procedure," Beth said. "It was like a mill, people in and out."

When she underwent a required blood test, Beth learned that her R factor was negative and that she needed a shot to correct the condition.

"I was the last patient of the day and they really rushed me through the whole procedure," Beth said. "It was like a mill, people in and out."

When she underwent a required blood test, Beth learned that her R factor was negative and that she needed a shot to correct the condition.

"I was the last patient of the day and they really rushed me through the whole procedure," Beth said. "It was like a mill, people in and out."

When she underwent a required blood test, Beth learned that her R factor was negative and that she needed a shot to correct the condition.

"I was the last patient of the day and they really rushed me through the whole procedure," Beth said. "It was like a mill, people in and out."

When she underwent a required blood test, Beth learned that her R factor was negative and that she needed a shot to correct the condition.
Right to terminate pregnancy sited in landmark court case

(Continued from Page 1)

One such provision is the Court's finding that the informed consent of the pregnant woman is a necessary deterrent to medical abuse in the abortion procedure, according to the reporter.

"Informed consent provisions typically require a signed statement which indicates that the woman's decision is voluntary and that she has knowledge of the nature and consequences of the procedure," the article states. But the question of what constitutes informed consent and what may actually be coercion was not addressed by the court.

Thus, responding to thriving anti-abortion constituencies, state legislatures have promulgated amendments to abortion laws designed to deter women from seeking abortions. Such was the case last fall when the Illinois General Assembly amended a 1975 abortion law to include a requirement for physicians to provide their patients with literature designed to inform concerned persons of... the serious and irreversible effects a woman through pregnancy... and the probable anatomical characteristics of the fetus at various gestational ages at which abortion might be performed.

The amendment makes no bones about how the General Assembly stands on the abortion issue. It uses the court's informed consent provision as grounds for requiring all the literature to conclude with, "The state of Illinois wants you to know that in its view the child you are carrying is a living human being whose life should be preserved."

In Illinois, as in many other states, the court's intention to protect a woman from medical abuse has been transformed into a new battleground for anti- and pro-abortionists to wage a political war.

Although the Supreme Court, in Roe v. Wade, has made it clear that the states are prohibited from using laws and rules to abridge a woman's reproductive rights, the state of Illinois has adopted a provision that requires all women seeking an abortion to sign a consent form certifying that they have been informed of the state's regulations regarding the abortion procedure. According to the reporter:

"...we need not resolve the difficult question of when life begins," Justice Harry Blackmun, who delivered the opinion, said. "When those trained in the respected disciplines of medicine, philosophy, and theology are unable to arrive at any consensus, the judiciary, at this point in the development of man's knowledge, is not in a position to speculate as to the answer."

"Consequently, the states still have the leeway to address that question themselves, and some states have formed definitions similar to Illinois' which states, "Human being means the individual from fertilization until death."

The court in Roe did strike down laws requiring a woman to obtain spousal consent before an abortion, but did not confront the issue of spousal notice. Furthermore, in a case called Planned Parenthood vs. Danforth, 1976, the Supreme Court ruled against a spousal consent requirement, reasoning that if the state has no power to prohibit the woman's abortion during the first trimester, the state could not lawfully delegate such power to the woman's husband," according to the Reporter.

However, the open end left by the Court's silence on spousal notice has provided states with enough room to allow some of them to enact statutes that actually make abortion contingent upon spousal consent," the article states.

Leader defends right of choice

(Continued from Page 7)

"There is no provision for limiting the convention to the purpose for which it was called. In other words, if it gets called we might not be limited to national aid abortion. It might move into other areas."

She pointed out that, "The more people who believe that abortion is a natural right to privacy."

"If the next step in the anti-abortion movement is to stop us from using contraceptives, then we've got to stand up for our rights and say, 'That's too much!'" she said. "We're not going to try to interfere with our right to abortion."

Sauls also commented on the name the anti-abortion movement has chosen for itself, "Pro-Life."

"When I think about pro-life, I think about the moral and ethical considerations, the impact of abortion on our society, the impact on our children, on our future. I think about the future of the country. I think about the future of the planet. I think about the future of the world."

"I think of the potential for the unplanned pregnancy. Unplanned children are often abused and neglected," she said.

Sauls pointed out that even though many pro-life activists believe they are preserving life, the act of terminating a pregnancy is not considered to be the same as the act of abortion.

"Abortion is an act of mercy. It's an act of compassion. It's an act of love. It's an act of caring. It's an act of giving."

"If we're having a child's punishment? Pregnancy and child bearing are not acts to punish adults or children. Teaching people about birth control is seriously more intelligent approach to sexual activity than requiring women to go through pregnancy."

"If we're having a child's punishment? Pregnancy and child bearing are not acts to punish adults or children. Teaching people about birth control is really a much more intelligent approach to sexual activity than requiring women to go through pregnancy."

"If we're having a child's punishment? Pregnancy and child bearing are not acts to punish adults or children. Teaching people about birth control is really a much more intelligent approach to sexual activity than requiring women to go through pregnancy."

"If we're having a child's punishment? Pregnancy and child bearing are not acts to punish adults or children. Teaching people about birth control is really a much more intelligent approach to sexual activity than requiring women to go through pregnancy."
If you missed the last Art & Craft Sale, Don’t Worry! Because the Fine Arts Committee is announcing the first Art & Craft Sale of 1980, TODAY!

10am-6pm
IN THE SOUTH ESCALATOR AREA OF THE STUDENT CENTER
Sponsored by Fine Arts Committee

Need transportation to Daytona or Padre Island for Spring Break? Need a place to stay too?

For more information, call 536-3393 or 453-2721
SPONSORED BY SPC TRAVEL COMMITTEE

SPC FILMS
Fri. & Sat.
Feb. 1 & 2
“COMES A HORSEMAN”
Starring: Jane Fonda
James Caan
Jason Robards
Directed by Alan J. Pakula

Sun. Feb. 3
“AUTUMN SONATA”
Directed by Ingmar Bergman
Starring: Ingrid Bergman, Liv Ullman

ALL SHOWS 7 & 9pm
Adm. $1.00
STUDENT CENTER AUDITORIUM
SPONSORED BY SPC FILMS

CATCH IT!
Feb. 8 at the Student Center

INTERNATIONAL COFFEEHOUSE PRESENTS:
Dana Clarke
9p.m.
Old Main Rm.
Adm. Free!

A DOONESBURY SPECIAL
Feb. 6-7
4th Floor Video Lounge
Feb. 6, 2nd Floor
International Lounge
Shows 7, 8 & 9pm
Admission 50c

SPC CONSORTS PRESENTS
“POISON SQUIRREL”
Direct from Gaspar’s and O’bannon at 9pm
7:30-9pm, a free Punk-Disco, 4th floor
Student Center FREE ADMISSION
POISON SQUIRREL

“Definitely Chicago’s premier Bluegrass band! Here at WXRT, we played their album and it generated requests and phone responses. But you ain’t seen nothing till you’ve seen them live. Buck’s Stove and Range gets 4 stars from me!”-Bob Gelman, WXRT Radio, Chicago
Buck’s Stove and Range
9pm Feb. 8
Big Muddy Rm. Stud. Center FREE Adm.
Counseling at abortion clinics varies with needs of patients

(Continued from Page 5)

"If a woman is forced (to decide), by anyone, it could be devastating for her after the abortion," she said.

When another reporter posed as a pregnant woman to the Ladies Center, Smith was unwilling to give more than a minimum amount of information.

"I would like to know of what alternatives to abortion were available, Smith replied. "If you don't know what a patient needs, how can you help the patient?"

"The emphasis is on helping the patient. People think they can handle the stress of pregnancy. If a woman chooses abortion, she should have access to the appropriate facilities."

"If a woman has had an abortion and is experiencing severe emotional reactions, she should not have gotten pregnant," said Smith, who had worked at the Ladies Center.

"We refer the patient to another clinic in Louisville, Ky. Kentuck state law allows abortion clinics to performeline abortion, the method necessary after the first trimester."

Another source of information about abortion is the Abortion Referral Service, located in Charlotte, N.C. AFS toll-free number serves as an interstate information and referral service. It is affiliated with 314 accredited abortion clinics that are funded through federal and private grants. Jim Sanders, director for the center, replied.

"Referrals from the Carboroda area, including, usually go to clinics in the St. Louis area. This includes Hope Circles, Ladies Center, Registry Medical Group, Planned Parenthood and Reproductive Services. The Ladies Center, Sanders said, is chosen by a majority of women referred by AFS.

"We rely on medical records and patient's reports about the facilities, he said. "Patient confidentiality is maintained."

"Abortion is not uncommon any more. In 1976, 1.4 million were performed. Also, there are fewer complications involved with abortion. One woman in every 1,000 will develop a minor problem that can be corrected with medication," he said.

"AFS staffs six volunteer employees who offer over-the-phone counseling and referrals. Of these six, four have degrees in psychology."

"Do we have adoption information and we can refer a patient to the county social service agency? We don't offer alternative information unless it's asked for," Sanders said.

"Of all the calls AFS receives, 96 percent specifically ask for abortion information, he added. "I wish 96 percent were calling for alternatives, like adoption, but they don't."

A reporter posing as a prospective patient called AFS and was given information quite similar to that which Sanders provided. Unlike the woman who answered at the first number called, this woman did not hesitate to discuss abortion alternatives or counseling with the reporter.

When asked about the abortion itself, she explained in lawman's terms the medical procedure, step-by-step. She explained what to expect during and after the abortion and added that the abortion would not affect a woman's ability to have children at a later date.

"You can always change your mind at any time. Take some time to think about your choices. Don't wait too long, but do think," she said.

"Abortion is an alternative to pregnancy that many women find most suitable to their own particular circumstances and lifestyles. It is, however, not the right choice for all women."

Two student pregnancies reported daily

Despite the various birth control methods available to SIU-C women, an average of two pregnancies a day are confirmed through the Health Center. Of these pregnancies, an estimated 97 percent are aborted.

"The estimated number is very conservative," said Sandy Landa, coordinator of Human Sexuality Services, because it is not known how many students entering pregnancy and decide to abort go through other services. Exact figures on the number who decide to abort or go through full-term pregnancy are not available. "Some of them get married, others drop out of school," she said. "We never hear from them."

Juniors, seniors and graduate

(Continued on Page 15)
Rights of father, child violated in abortion, says local pastor

(Continued from Page 7)

Babcox said he interprets the Court’s decision to mean that, “Abortions can legally be performed through the nine months of a pregnancy, although few doctors would consent to perform an abortion during that time.”

“The only restrictions,” Babcox maintains, “are that the abortion be performed in an accredited clinic and that the health of the mother be in danger.” He said that, “The courts have defined health to mean well-being, including the emotional, the familial and financial well-being of the woman.

Babcox said that he believes the legalization of abortion leaves open the possibility of abortion, and about about unborn children around a value of human life-support depend on the internal courts have defined health to mean well-being. including the emotional, the familial and financial well-being of the woman.

Babcox said that he believes the legalization of abortion leaves open the possibility of abortion, and about about unborn children around a value of human life-support depend on the internal courts have defined health to mean well-being. including the emotional, the familial and financial well-being of the woman. In his book ‘Aborting America,’ Nathanson says he was able to conclude that he presided over 75,000 deaths and that human life begins at the moment of conception,” Babcox said.

“Nathanson estimates that about 1.2 million abortions are performed each year, or that one out of every 3.2 pregnancies ends in abortion,” Babcox said. “In some communities, such as Washington D.C., the abortion rate exceeds the birth rate.”

Babcox said that although many pro-abortion groups charge that the anti-abortion groups are trying to impose moral values on other people, the pro-abortion groups are doing the same thing.

“Any legislation, whether it deals with murder, stealing or a speed limit is an imposition of morality,” Babcox said. “We’re both trying to impose our morality in accordance with the due process of the law.”

Babcox said he believes that, “With legalized abortions, the future are imposed upon, as they have no say in the life of the child they fathered. Parents are imposed upon,” he said, “as their minor daughter may get an abortion without their knowledge, much less their consent, even though she cannot have a tonsillectomy or have her ear pierced without their consent.” Babcox said that although he taxes, we are all imposed upon when federal funds are used for abortions.

Babcox said, “But most importantly, unborn children are imposed upon,” Babcox concluded.

Two pregnancies

(Continued from Page 14)

students became pregnant more often than underclassmen, said Landis, who attributes the fact to a more intimate level of relationships among this group. She also said that the freedom to live off campus is a contributing factor.

The Health Service laboratory conducted about 1,700 tests for pregnancy last year. Medical Director Dr. Edward Knapp said that out of 11 percent of the women who had positive results decided to terminate the pregnancy as soon as possible. The other 13 to 50 percent preferred to delay the decision to discuss the matter with their partner.

One of the five most common pregnancy tests is the Gravindex, a method which involves a laboratory analysis of an urine specimen.

Buy one case of $349

bag of ice for 254.

Save

50¢

Well & Walnut

Carbondale

$40-522

Drewrys

$3 39

12 pack cans

Heineken

$3 99

6 pack cans

Buckhorn

$3 79

case ret. bottles

Executive

Choice

Gin

$2 99

750 ml

This Weeks

Potable Poll

Riuneite

Giacobazzi

Cella

Lambrusco

You’ve seen the T.V. ads. Now decide for yourself

Taste/Compare/Vote

Sat. 3-6 p.m.

EXTRA VALUE IMPORTS

Chateauenuet-du-Pape "74 "Le Bernadine" 9.50/7.49

By Chappoutier

Chienti Classico Riserva '73

By Morelli

Reg. /SALE

8.75 /4.39

Giacobazzi

Lambrusco

THE WINE STORE

750 ml

This Weeks

Potable Poll

Riuneite

Giacobazzi

Cella

Lambrusco

You’ve seen the T.V. ads. Now decide for yourself

Taste/Compare/Vote

Sat. 3-6 p.m.

EXTRA VALUE IMPORTS

Chateauenuet-du-Pape "74 "Le Bernadine" 9.50/7.49

By Chappoutier

Chienti Classico Riserva '73

By Morelli

Reg. /SALE

8.75 /4.39

Riuneite $2 19

Lambrusco

750 ml

Crystal Clear

Grain Alcohol

190°

$6 99

750 ml

Giacobazzi

Lambrusco

750 ml

Daily Egyptian, February 1, 1980, Page 15
Red Grooms, an internationally-famous sculptor, will be returning to SIU-C in May to finish a joint project he began last December with students on campus.

Sculptor returning to campus under famous artist program

By Rod Furlow

Student Writer

An internationally-famous sculptor will make his second visit to SIU-C in May to work with students.

Red Grooms, who will paint the sculptures he and students created in December, is participating in a program started a year ago to bring famous artists to SIU-C.

Tom Walsh, who started the program, said, "Critics have praised Grooms' work. I really can't emphasize enough how important the art world is, and how lucky we are to have him coming back to SIU-C."

Walsh, a professor of art, said Grooms' most famous piece is "Rockie Manhattan," 2,400 square-foot parody of New York City. He said the piece was the most popular exhibit in the Mariborough Gallery in quite some time. He said the Mariborough Gallery is a prestigious New York museum.

Walsh said he didn't know the exact day that Grooms will arrive, but that it will be announced.

The program that brings the artists to campus is financed by a National Education Association grant and a University Galleries and Museum grant.

"The artists stay a week," Walsh said. "Our students get a chance to work with them. the public is exposed to their art, and the University Museum gets a cast or print of any work they do while they are here."

BOB HOPE RETROSPECTIVE

LOS ANGELES (AP) -- Bob Hope senses that the mood in America is just right for a six-hour retrospective of his entertainment tours for American troops. The patriotic fervor in the air may well make a big sale of "Bob Hope's Overseas Christmas Tours: Around the World With the Troops."

Movie traces singer's life, rags-to-riches

By Bob Thomas

Associated Press Writer

"The Coal Miner's Daughter" boasts two powerful performances: Sissy Spacek as the rags-to-riches country singer Loretta Lynn, and Tommy Jones as her headstrong but persevering husband.

Spacek is totally convincing as the 14-year-old bride and mother, interpreting the Lynn songs herself—no lip sync here.

Jones brings a vigorous presence to the screen, demonstrating once more that he is capable of important stars.

Director Michael Apted captures the look and sound of hill-country life and the country music scene, but the film falters in the final third.

The perils of superstardom have been portrayed from "A Star Is Born" to "The Rose," but the Lynn malaise in mid-career adds nothing new, and the cure lacks conviction. Rated PG, but the film contains little to prevent family patronage.

BLACK AFFAIRS COUNCIL

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

February 1980

Cultural Dance Concert: "Soul in Motion" Quigley Hall
7 p.m.

2/1

Alpha Kappa Alpha Set
Bal.inrooms or patio
1 a.m.

2/14

BAC Student Center Exhibit
North Gallery 51
All Day

2/19

BAC Morris Library Exhibit
Morris Library
All Day

2/20

Kujichagula: Black Student Orientation
Grimnell Hall
7 p.m.

2/22

Creative performances and presentations by BAC organizations

2/20 Set

Grinnell Hall
10 p.m. 4 a.m.

2/26

Introduction Lecture to Black Art Exhibit
Faber Museum
3 p.m.

2/27

Dr. Benjamin Miller, Director of School of Art SIU-C.
Faber Museum
All Day

3/2-29

Black Art Exhibit: "African Artists in America"
Faber Museum
All Day

3/27

BAC Prison Program
Marion Penitentiary
6 p.m.

2/20

with the Black Culture Society

2/29

Mystic Voyage: Black Culture Night
Eaze N' Coffee House
9 p.m.

2/29

Sigma Gamma Rho Formal Rush
Student Center
5 p.m.

2/29

Omega Panel Discussion: "The Black Church"
Ballroom C & D
7 p.m.

2/5 in America"

2/9

Kappa Alpha Psi Sweetheart Ball ($2 donation)
Ramada Inn
9 p.m.

2/10

BAC Executive Council Meeting
Illinois Room
6 p.m.

2/12

Sigma Gamma Rho Anniversary Dance
Ramada Inn
9:30 p.m.

2/11

Sigma Gamma Rho Movie: "The Learning Tree"
Student Center
7 & 9 p.m.

2/12

(75¢ donation)

2/13

Rap Session: "Informal Discussion of Black Male" Ballroom A
7 p.m.

Female Relationships"

2/14

BAC Prison Program
Marion Penitentiary
6 p.m.

2/14

Alpha Kappa Alpha Set
Big Muddy: 811.45p.

2/15

Black History Musical: Gippsie T Temple Church of God in Christ
7 p.m.

2/15

Greek Scene: Sponsored by AKA
Daw's Auditorium
1:30 p.m.

2/15

Alpha Kappa Alpha Pre-Ball Set
Student Center 10th floor
6 p.m.

2/16

Alpha Kappa Alpha Happy Hour
Sig TJ McFay's
1 a.m.

2/16

Mystic Voyage Talent Show: "Winner"
Sama Hayes Center
8:30 p.m.

2/16

Takes All ($2.00 adults and $1.00 children)
Stan Hayes Center
9 p.m.

2/17

BAC Movie: "Greeded Lightning" Ballroom D
6 & 9 p.m.

2/18

Friday Richard Pryor, Pam Grier, Brie Bridges, Cleo-Little

2/18

Lecture: "Contemporary Africa" Dr. Back
Grinnell Hall
7 p.m.

2/18

Black Student Art Exhibit
Allyn Bldg. Vertuga Gallery
All Day

2/19

BAC Awareness Quiz
Ballroom C
6 p.m.

2/20

Black Awareness Quiz
Communications Bldg.
6 p.m.

2/21

BAC Prison Program
with the Black Culture Society

2/22

Sigma Gamma Rho Set: "A Touch of Blue and Gold Magic"

2/24

International Festival
Student Center
6 p.m.

2/25

BAC Executive Council Meeting
Illinois Room
6 p.m.

2/25

Rap Session: "Informal Discussion of Black Faculty" Grinnell Hall
7 p.m.

2/25

and Staff and Student Relations

2/26

BAC Prison Program
with the Black Culture Society

2/28

Alpha Phi Alpha Basketball Tournament
Daves Gym
7 p.m.

2/29

Susan Foundation Donation: $150.00
Carnegie Hall, Harrisburg
7:30 p.m.

2/29

"An Evening with Tamales" Dancers: Maroon Civic Center
7:30 p.m.

2/29

and Friends (Donation $2.50 adults $1.00 children)

3/1

Alpha Phi A State Convention
SHUC

DANSKINS

40% off

Leotards & Skirts

Kaye's

660 S. Illinois

NOW SERVING

from our soup bar

Homemade Chili

Made Daily

Page 14, Daily Egyptian, February 1, 1980
Gene Shalit (right), will host a 11-week PBS series of British thrillers called "Mystery" beginning Feb. 5. Artist illustrator Edward Gorey designed the Victorian drawing-room set used in the series. "Simbad the Sailor" (10 p.m. Saturday) is a boy-meets-girl story unlike any other. The book "Movies On TV" calls "Bride of Frankenstein" the best of the Frankenstein series. "Karloft and Lancaster are excellent and her make-up in the final scene is every-way-choose average for this kind of trash.

"Charlie Smith and the Fritter Tree" examines the life and times of America's oldest living former slave at 8 p.m. Saturday. As a boy, Charlie Smith is coerced aboard a slave ship with a promise of corn fritter trees, the equivalent, I guess, of today's Big Mac. Bought by a Texas rancher, he serves as a cowboy and following the Civil War, lives a ramshackle life as a cattle driver and saloon keeper, outlining all the moralists and preachers who called him foolish. "Simbad the Sailor" (10 p.m. Saturday) is so fool. The seafaring storyteller has adventures with a secret amulet and a beautiful princess in this 1947 swashbuckler. The National Geographic special "Mysteries of the Miso

TUESDAY!

Family Night at Zantigo
$1.99

REGULAR $3.26 VALUE

Have we put a great dinner together for you!
Our three most popular items. A crisp taco, delicious cheese chilito (nobody makes them but us) and our famous taco burrito. Along with all that, rice, beans, chips and salad. All of it for $1.99.

Tuesday, Family Night. Dine here or take out.

5 to 9 PM

P.S.

Billboard lists singles, LP's

4. "Off The Wall" Michael Jackson (Epic)

5. "Kenny" Kenny Rogers (United Artists)

On The Radio - Greatest Hits, Volumes One & Two

Donna Summer (Casablanca)

8. "Tusk" Fleetwood Mac (Warner Bros.)

9. "Greatest" Bee Gees (RSO)

10. "Cornerstone" Stys (A&M)

Subscribe to Sabin Audio
Buy a technically furnished and get a $50 GRADO F300
Car. FREE
Buy a Technics CassDock and get a case (10) of Maxell
TFK FREE
All Grundig Condifiers 50% off
Philips-80 want. Amp.
Mail: $500 Sales 799
Matching Tuner Rait $350-Selle 799
Hokononi 480 cass. deck
Retail: $500 Sales 4499
Top: TDK SA-C90-$2.75 ea.
E-C90-$2.50 or $4.95/case of 10.
Maxell UDXLII
C/90/$2.45 or $4.95/case of 10.
"Homen of Paul Roth's Sabin Speakers"
7 days a week 8am-10pm
2125 South St. St. Louis 63118-2777

Phil's Egyptian, February 1, 1980, Page 17
Concert programming in financial bind

By Craig DeVriese
Staff Writer

Books and concerts for the Arena and for Shryock Auditorium may be two different matters. But if there is a common denominator, Gary Drake estimates that it might even lose a little money. He says, but not anymore.

"This semester, every show has to do all right," Scott said, pointing out that inflation and Memphis physician was.

Sonny West, who helped the late Elvis Presley with his 1977 tour, later became obsessed with the ingredients of his Memphis physician was.

Drake estimates that it might take at least $10,000 and $15,000 to put on a concert with $4,000 or $5,000 of the concerts this year.

Both promoters consider expenses. But for the past two years, Scott said, "I've lost a little money."

Drake said he doesn't have the luxury of always programming strictly for entertainment. The Arena is much larger than Shryock.

However, he said concerts at the Arena aren't booked with the SPC's budget in mind, but they are being planned with what's available and will reach at least their minimal goal of ticket sales.

A staff writer for the Daily Egyptian.

‘Jailbird’ a glimpse into future

By Suzanne Longstreth

News Editor

"Jailbird," by Kurt Vonnegut, is a glimpse into the not-so-distant future of the United States. This is America at a time when a huge corporation called RAMJAC owns 19 percent of everything. It is a story of working-class struggle, injustice, and American institutions and values, he implies, are not likely to survive.

The characters and events, which seem to border on the prophetic and absurd, are not all that far-fetched. They have an unsettlingly authentic quality that calls for more attention. "Jailbird" is also very funny. Vonnegut's formula for using bitter coincidence and unfortunate victims as comic elements works once again.

Author wants further inquiry

(Continued from Page 19)

says he understands from news reports about the Nicholas incident that he was later made to. "I didn't realize he was getting that many shots," the former bodyguard says. "His rear end already was a pin cushion." After the book was published, West says the authors had trouble making people believe their story.

Dutch monarch steps down

by John Gale

Associated Press Writer

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Queen Juliana, telling the Dutch people her powers have faded with age, announced her abdication Thursday after 31 years on the throne.

She spoke for four minutes, presenting just the "sober facts." and explained, "Now is not yet the moment to express the feelings in me." She said she would step down April 30 — her 71st birthday.

When you want to chase a beer with a beer

When you've got a big beer you'll find Stag is brewed for perfect dryness...perfect refreshment.

Stay with Stag
Daily Egyptian

The Daily Egyptian cannot be responsible for the correctness of these classified insertions. Advertisers are responsible for verifying their advertisement for errors. Errors not immediately detected will be corrected in future insertions. There will be an additional charge of $1.00 to cover the cost of the necessary correction. Published classified advertising must be paid in advance except for those accounts with established credit.

---

FOR SALE

Automotives

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Global Auto</td>
<td>Used Car Parts</td>
<td>$594.16</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FOR SALE

FOR RENT

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>Contact</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Apartments</td>
<td>Efficiency Apts.</td>
<td>$130.00</td>
<td>$175.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houses</td>
<td>2 Bedroom</td>
<td>$270.00</td>
<td>$195.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Stereo Repair

Audio Repair

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Model</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JEEP CJ 1972</td>
<td>10&quot; all terrain tires</td>
<td>$120.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pinto SUNROOF</td>
<td>stereo, complete</td>
<td>$175.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Pots & Supplies

FISH NET PET SUPPLY HEADQUARTERS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Must Sell</td>
<td>TV, Duplicator</td>
<td>$950.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Royal Rentals

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>Contact</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Apartments</td>
<td>Efficiency Apts.</td>
<td>$130.00</td>
<td>$175.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houses</td>
<td>2 Bedroom</td>
<td>$270.00</td>
<td>$195.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

MUST SELL

- TV, Duplicator
- Auto, Duplicator
- All kinds of TV equipment
- Good condition

---

Music

CASH

FOR SALE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cash</td>
<td>Used stereo equipment</td>
<td>Condition</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Transportation

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>Contact</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cars</td>
<td>Used car parts</td>
<td>$594.16</td>
<td>$528.59</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Produce

Fruit & Vegetables

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Egypt</td>
<td>Fruit &amp; Vegetables</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
CRAB ORCHARD ESTATES.
$75.00

CARPET.

CARBONDALE TWO BEDROOM, Sublease 12x24, large living room, washer, dryer, utilities included. Free campus, 457-2000, 366/6067.

HUGE 2-BEDROOM, clean, carpeted, spacious kitchen livingroom, Campus Bus, 457-1895. 353/526.

1 and 2 bedroom trailers from $100 to $115 per month, plus utilities. In various locations. 528-1426 from 9am-5pm.

ROOMMATE NEEDED: To share 2 bedroom trailer. Immediate occupancy. females only. 513 S. Webster. 352-5998.

Carbondale, 12x16, ATTENTION 2 Bedroom trailer, private, full kitchen, Braun refrigerator, all utilities included. 528-2265.

PHONE: CARBONDALE, 12x16, ATTENTION 2 Bedroom trailer, private, full kitchen, Braun refrigerator, all utilities included. 528-2265.

ROOMS

ROOMMATE NEEDED: To share 2 bedroom trailer. Immediate occupancy. females only. 513 S. Webster. 352-5998.

YMC A CARBONDALE, Room needed: Baton instructor immediately. Call 549-0019.

POSITION AVAILABLE. Residence Hall Director, Carbondale, IL. Applicants must hold a master's degree in student affairs. 3 years experience in residence life. 10 years supervisory experience. Submit a letter of application, including 3 letters of reference. Address to: Dr. W. W. Williams, University of Illinois, 1333 S. 6th Street, Carbondale, IL 62901. EOE.

BARTENDERS COCKTAIL WAITRESSES needed for the Central University Club. Must have at least 1 year experience. Call 549-0121.

NEED A PAPER TYPE? IBM Select Type

WE WANT TO HELP

You with all your insurance needs!

auto

renters

mobile homes

call TERRY GOLD at 947-4868

H. J. Schoenberg 635 East Illinois

NURSING OPPORTUNITIES.

RN, LPN's, and ward clerks. Full and part-time positions available. Student rotation program in place. bald. Apply in person or call 558-1344.

ROOM $9.95. Supplied and furnished. 110 9th St. Carbondale.

SPECIAL SERVICES OFFERED

ROLEN FURNITURE REPAIR. Finest quality craftsmanship with over 26 years experience. Call for your furniture repair needs. 237 Lewis Lane. Carbondale. 549-4583.

WANTED

NEED A PAPER TYPE? IBM Select Type

WE WANT TO HELP

You with all your insurance needs!

auto

renters

mobile homes
call TERRY GOLD at 947-4868

H. J. Schoenberg 635 East Illinois

NURSING OPPORTUNITIES.

RN, LPN's, and ward clerks. Full and part-time positions available. Student rotation program in place. bald. Apply in person or call 558-1344.

ROOM $9.95. Supplied and furnished. 110 9th St. Carbondale.

SPECIAL SERVICES OFFERED

ROLEN FURNITURE REPAIR. Finest quality craftsmanship with over 26 years experience. Call for your furniture repair needs. 237 Lewis Lane. Carbondale. 549-4583.

WANTED
ANNOUNCEMENTS

BEDWETTING RESOLVING PROBLEMS.- Counseling - Get brand new The Cure for Human Development. - No charge - Call 349-4411.

DEPRESSION - MARRIAGE - YOUTH AND FAMILY - Family counseling and group therapy. - Call 441-1177.

PHONE FOR RUNS: Daytona, P. L. Jacksonville. Please leave name, phone number, address. - 591-6363.

THE CENTER FOR BASIC SKILLS announces a free Rapid Reading Program for elementary and high school students. Feb. 4-28, 1980 (30-60 minute test). Call 331-0791 for further information.

Get away to the Riverview Hotel
Golconda, IL
Home cooking at Ma Barker's Diner
Relax by the Ohio River
683-3001
12.60 single 14.80 double

ASKING COLLEGIANS: GUYS' gals interested in forming club to perform and write material. Call John after 9 p.m. 349-2777.

10 PERCENT OFF Clothing to SIU students mention of Rugby Spot, 1 mile west of 1-90. Monday-Saturday. 8:30-5:30

Get pregnant? Call Birthright
Free confidential assistance and pregnancy testing.
27th, 8-9 p.m. Tuesday.

BEDWETTING.
REPRESENTATIVES FROM OVER thirty federal and state governmental agencies will be on campus to talk with students at the annual Government Career Day scheduled for Tuesday February 5, 1980, in Hallrooms A-2 & B at the Student Center. The Career Planning and Placement Center is sponsoring this Day Activity with the assistance of the SA1 Student Alumni Fund.

KARIN'S Alterations-Drapes
Couture Alchemy
1101 S. Dixie Highway
St. Lucie Plaza

ANNUAL MALE MODELLING, ROOFING, VINYL SIDING, PAINTING, PLUMBING, and painting. 329-2901. D & R Home Improvement.

SMILE TODAY
Go on and 'DUET' Audition for the All-Campus Talent Show.

We're not Clownin'

CLASH explosive, innovative in album

'London Calling'

<List continues on next page>

Get your love in print
With a Daily Egyptian Classified Love Ad

Deadline 1:00 p.m. Tuesday, February 12 for publication Feb. 14, 1980 (NO FOREIGN LANGUAGE)

Signature
Name __________________________ Address & Phone __________________________ plot. Vonnegut's humorous, but sardonic, message is that America just won't work in the '80's.

BROOKE ENDORSES ANDERSON
BOSTON (AP) - Former Sen. Edward W. Brooke has endorsed Rep. John B. Anderson for the Republican presidential nomination, calling him the only true moderate among the GOP contenders.

"It's fashionable to be a moderate these days, but there's only one moderate in this campaign," said Brooke, pointing to the Illinois congressman joining him for a news conference.

Riders Wanted

BUS SERVICE TO Chicago and suburbs. Nest run Feb. 8-11, 21-25 roundtrip. All Tues and Feb. 1. Call 365.0674 or buy tickets daily at 823 S. Illinois in Bookworld Bookshop. 549-5792.

LIDS WANTED

WANTED: Stingray double bass. 349-3168.

ENTERTAINERS: MUSICIANS of all varieties requested at Easy Coffeehouse. Call 546-8416 between 9 and 2. 324-3838.

 Autos, Trucks
 Junkers, and Wrecks
SELL NOW for Top Dollar
G. W. Karmon
N. New Era Road
Carbondale
457-0421 457-6319

SMILE TODAY

London Calling

"London Calling" is a dance song with a heavy social message. Have you ever danced to such lyrics as: "Black home boys were up in flames. The Irish tomb was drenched in blood. Spanish bomba shattered the bottles. My memoria's rose was ripped in my bud?" You will when hearing this song.

"Lisa in the Supermarket" may be The Clash's most meaningful tune to date. Jones lends a Keith Richards-like vocal to the tragic story of a depressing personality crisis. "I wasn't born as much as I fell out. Nobody seemed to notice me. We had a hedge back home in the suburbs. From which I never could see" is just an example of the superior songwriting of Jones and Strummer.

Although The Clash sounds slick and polished "London Calling," it hasn't compromised its integrity a bit. There are potential hits on this album that sound truly innovative and appealing, but you'll never hear much of them on AM radio.

Pandamonium, wild and crazy times all night long. Join the brothers and little sisters of Phi Sigma Kappa Friday 9 p.m.

35 Small Group Housing. For a ride on more information call 453-2205

We're not Clownin'

"London Calling" is an excellent blend of upbeat, jazz numbers ("Jimmy Jazz") and "Wrong 'Em Wrong", straight-ahead rock ("HaHaHa!") and solid reggae.

Although The Clash sounds slick and polished "London Calling," it hasn't compromised its integrity a bit. There are potential hits on this album that sound truly innovative and appealing, but you'll never hear much of them on AM radio.

"London Calling" is a dance song with a heavy social message. Have you ever danced to such lyrics as: "Black home boys were up in flames. The Irish tomb was drenched in blood. Spanish bomba shattered the bottles. My memoria's rose was ripped in my bud?" You will when hearing this song.

"Lisa in the Supermarket" may be The Clash's most meaningful tune to date. Jones lends a Keith Richards-like vocal to the tragic story of a depressing personality crisis. "I wasn't born as much as I fell out. Nobody seemed to notice me. We had a hedge back home in the suburbs. From which I never could see" is just an example of the superior songwriting of Jones and Strummer.

Although The Clash sounds slick and polished "London Calling," it hasn't compromised its integrity a bit. There are potential hits on this album that sound truly innovative and appealing, but you'll never hear much of them on AM radio.

"London Calling" is an excellent blend of upbeat, jazz numbers ("Jimmy Jazz") and "Wrong 'Em Wrong", straight-ahead rock ("HaHaHa!") and solid reggae.

Although The Clash sounds slick and polished "London Calling," it hasn't compromised its integrity a bit. There are potential hits on this album that sound truly innovative and appealing, but you'll never hear much of them on AM radio.

Pandamonium, wild and crazy times all night long. Join the brothers and little sisters of Phi Sigma Kappa Friday 9 p.m.

35 Small Group Housing. For a ride on more information call 453-2205
Friday's Puzzle

ACROSS
5. Vehicle
10. Funk
14. Wild goat
15. Movie award
17. Mineral
18. 2nd toes
20. Engraves
22. Like: Suffix
23. Alien
24. Enamel
25. TNM 4
27. Radium
29. Eire county
30. Soggy
33. Sleighs
35. Possessions
36. Length unit
37. Top actor
38. Upper crust
40. Heroes
41. Heart
42. Plant stem
43. Fought
45. Kinds
47. Outboards
48. Total
49. Hogged
50. Cell up

DOWN
21. Atlhcl
22. Ulce; Suffix
23. Alullan
24. Engravers
25. Shipworms
26. Trees
27. Refuse
31. Man's name
32. Hawley
34. Landmarks
35. Goalie's feat
36. Length unit
37. Before
38. Upper crust
39. French!lower
44. Employed
45. Afflict
46. Dog
47. Stupor
48. Succor
49. Niggard
50. Call up
51. Hall:
52. Finished
53. Stupor
54. Flits
55. Portent
56. Sputter
57. Of course
58. Of charges
59. Prefix
60. Permit
61. Anxiety
62. Portrait
63. Hit hard
64. Aroma, etc.
65. Shush
66. Silent, Wha
67. Cloves

Across 53 Vehicle
I ApiiCtty
54 Flits
piOI Shot sa tta"d!
10 Flunk
61 Anxeety
14 ll'lild goal
62 Portent
15 Movie award
63 Hit hard
17 Mineral
65 Shush
18
2nd toes
66 Silent, Wha
20 Engraves
67 Cloves
22
Like: Suffix
1 Margens
23 Alien 24 Enamel
25
TNM 4
27 Radium
29 Eire county 30 Soggy
33 Sleighs
35 Possessions
36
Length unit 37
Top actor
38 Upper crust 40 Heroes
41 Heart
42 Plant stem
43 Fought 45 Kinds
47 Outboards
48 Total
49 Hogged
50 Cell up

DOWN 21 Atlhcl
22
Ulce; Suffix
23 Alullan
24 Engravers
25 Shipworms
26 Trees
27 Refuse 31 Man's name
32 Hawley
34 Landmarks
35 Goalie's feat
36
Length unit 37 Before 38 Upper crust
39
French!lower 44 Employed
45 Afflict
46 Dog 47 Stupor
48 Succor
49 Niggard
50
Call up
51 Hall:
52 Finished
53 Stupor
54 Flits
55 Portent
56 Sputter
57
Of course
58
Of charges
59 Prefix
60 Permit
61 Anxiety
62 Portrait
63 Hit hard 64
Aroma, etc.
65 Shush
66 Silent, Wha

Your Choice of Baskets
All or Match the Baskets to Find Your Family

1. Any
2. Beauty
3. Beauty

-----

SALE GOOD 2/1-2/3

West Roads
"The ALL IN ONE Store"
Murdale Shopping Center • Carbondale • 529-1221

DRIVE-UP SERVICE.

Case Ret. 12 oz bits.

BUSCH
$5.99 + dep.

GILBEY'S
GIN
$3.99

HEAVEN HILL
VODKA
$2.99

OLY
$3.79

EARLY TIMES
$5.79 quart

CALIFORNIA CABERNET SAUVIGNON
$7.19

RIUNITE
$2.49

LAMBRUSCO
Bianco
ROSATO
750ml

Wanted:
a few good leaders.

Being a Marine officer requires many things. Total responsibility. Ability to give 100% to every challenge. Above all, leadership. The single most critical skill sought after by an employer—military or civilian. If you have the potential, desire, toughness and determination, we can make you a leader. Not just while you're a Marine officer but for the rest of your life. See your Marine Corps Programs Representatives in the Student Center at the River Rooms, Feb. 5-7 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call (314) 263-5814 collect.

Friday's Puzzle Solved

Your Choice of Baskets
All or Match the Baskets to Find Your Family

1. Any
2. Beauty
3. Beauty

Guido's feat

West Roads
"The ALL IN ONE Store"
Murdale Shopping Center • Carbondale • 529-1221

SALE GOOD 2/1-2/3

DRIVE-UP SERVICE.

Case Ret. 12 oz bits.

BUSCH
$5.99 + dep.

GILBEY'S
GIN
$3.99

HEAVEN HILL
VODKA
$2.99

OLY
$3.79

EARLY TIMES
$5.79 quart

CALIFORNIA CABERNET SAUVIGNON
$7.19

RIUNITE
$2.49

LAMBRUSCO
Bianco
ROSATO
750ml

Members of the Carbondale band Friends are (from left) Terry Divers, vocals and guitar; Mark Stebnicki, vocals and lead guitar; Dave Reid, drums; and Charlie Ryan, bass, 12-string and harmonica. Since its formation almost a year ago, Friends has performed in Carbondale bars, the Student Center, Cambria and Marion. Stebnicki said the band’s goal is to “interject our own creative energy” into their music.

Band concentrates on unique sound

By Karen Clare

Friends, like most college-town bands, has hopes of someday making it big. But for now, the group seems to be satisfied and optimistic when talking about their plans for the future.

“We’re trying to concentrate on a unique style,” said Mark Stebnicki, vocalist, lead guitar player and a founding member of the group.

Stebnicki said the band’s goal is to make themselves marketable, to “interject our own creative energy” into their music. They have composed many songs and it adds an extra dimension to their sets.

“We can’t make any money playing other people’s music,” Stebnicki, 25, said.

The band, which has been playing together for almost a year, is composed of Stebnicki, Terry Divers, vocals and guitar; Charlie Ryan, bass, 12-string and harmonica; and Dave Reid on drums.

Friends is rich in musical talent and all of the band members have experience in bands. Originally, Stebnicki and Divers were an acoustic duo for four years, doing gigs in Chicago and Carbondale. Some might remember hearing them play at the Shawnee Jam in 1977.

Bassist player Ryan can boast of doing gigs with blues legend Junior Wells and shows in Chicago and its suburbs.

Reid has played with two Carbondale-based bands, The Vegetables and Stymie. He plans to graduate this spring from SIU-C with a degree in music merchandising.

Since its formation, Friends has performed in local bars around town and in Cambria and Marion. The group recently performed at the Student Center. They said they enjoyed playing in the Student Center because it gave them a feel of what it is like to play in a concert-type situation.

Friends has been influenced by a wide variety of recording artists. Stebnicki is a Beach Boys fan. Divers was influenced by the music of Paul Simon, and Ryan by the Beatles.

Reid’s favorite is The Who. He said he was inspired by drummer Keith Moon and he used to play along with him while listening to The Who albums in high school.

The group’s sets include songs by The Eagles, Dan Fogelberg, Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young and America.
Records

'The Beat' rates as a good one
By Ken MacGarrigle
Staff Writer

American Bandstand has something called Raisin-A-Record. A couple of high school kids and their steady'sistant; half a song then rate it. Dick Clark shows up, slacks a mile in one kid's face and says, "You gave that one an 81? I'd like to know what you were thinking!"

"Duhh...it's a good beat and it's easy to dance to.

Good beat, huh?"

The Beat is fronted by Paul Collins, who wrote or co-wrote every Beat song. He also sings lead.

Collins must have studied his U.S. Rock history while growing up, because The Beat evoke sounds of two American bands of the late '60s - Paul Revere and the Raiders and the Young Rascals. It's their dangerous sounding best.

A more recent comparison can be drawn with The Knack. The sounds are similar; both are very accessible, with catchy lyrics and hooks. The Beat has a more straightforward, less "cute" sound, though, than Doug Fieger and the boys. The Knack, despite the hype, is a good rock band. The Beat is The Knack without a big record company push.

Putting proceeds from the "No Nukes" concerts to good use, the Beat recently opened Side A. Collins says that it's not easy meeting girls these days. A disco! A single's bar? The phone? I wish there was an easier way to meet the girls of today. I really want to talk to what can I say? It want to be with a rock and roll girl.

The song getting some radio play on WQAO and WIDB is, "Let Me Into Your Life," a rocksteady number penned by Collins and Eddie Money. On the Special Thanks Dept. on the album sleeve, The Beat thank Money because "without you we wouldn't be here now." Good job, Edward. These guys have a bright future if people start buying their album. Bargain bins don't make for big sales, club dates, or second albums.

Rate this baby 100. Kid. Go pick up your partner's girlfriend. Now get outta here and get The Beat!

'No Nukes' full of faith, dedication
By Craig DeVrieze
Staff Writer

"No Nukes" is a surprisingly good live album that cannot be judged an ordinary fashion. Putting together a project the magnitude of the five-night, national project, for which this album was no small accomplishment. Capturing on vinyl the faith and dedication that pulled the concert together is even greater accomplishment. "No Nuke's" is filled with faith and dedication.

From James Taylor and Carly Simon's yearning cover of Dylan's "The Times they are A-Changin'" to the Doobie Brothers' hot rendition of "Takin' It to the Streets," the three-record set delivers a wave of spiritual hope throughout.

The entire concert and a forthcoming movie are the result of the combined effort of Musicians United for Safe Energy and a small group of anti-nuclear activists. The proceeds from all three are to go toward fighting nuclear energy.

Two anti-nuclear songs recorded behind the album. Gil Scott Heron effectively delivers a chilling tale of American casualties in "Almost Lost Detroit." And Janis Ian's cover of the beautiful version of "Before the Deluge," fueled by Craig Deove's work on the synthesizer.

The entire project has been compared to Woodstock, an analogy that is fairly appropriate. Aside from Taylor and Simon's "The Times They Are A-Changin'" there are numerous instances reminiscent of the 1960s. Crosby, Stills and Nash come through with sincere, heartfelt versions of "Long Time Gone." and "Teach Your Children."

"Grassman" Young's does a spirited cover of the Youngbloods' "Get Together."

Other highlights include:
- Bruce Springsteen and the E-Street Band's monster medley of old rock 'n' roll tunes.
- If someone could find a way to harness the energy "The Boss" packs out in concert there would be no need for nuclear power.
- Tom Petty's lurchy adaptation of Burke's "Cry To Me."
- Petty sings this so soulfully that it brings Ronnie Van Zant to mind.
- Robert Fripp, aided by the Doobies, finally doing justice to Neil Young's "Lotus Love."
- By Coober's bouncy calypso version of "Little Sister."
- James Taylor's contribution of his finest song, "Captain Jim's Drug Dream." Not to mention he and wife Carly's funky "Chinatown."
- Graham Nash's magnificent version of "Carmen"
- Jackson Browne's chillingly understated rendition of the old folk ballad "Crow on the Cradle."
- The contributions of L.A. session men Doerger, Linda, Russ Kunkel, Joe Lal, [F]enmarotta and Don Grolnick throughout the album.

The whole congregation turning out for the album's finale, "Takin' It to the Streets," making it an unlikely, out of proportion anthem for the anti-nuke movement. Lines like, "You, tell me the things..." are too good for me. I ain't blind, and I don't like what I think I see," suddenly have a meaningful sort.

The performances on "No Nukes" are inspired and heartening in a stirring. A line from Browne's prescient "Before the Deluge" (written in 1974), takes on new meaning. Browne sings, "Let the music rise..." I hear the music. I hear the music rise high enough to reach the people."

Six years later, he and the entire no-nuke delegation prove that music can do that much more. Transfer students to visit on Feb. 9
By University News Service

SIU-C admissions officials will roll out the welcome mat Saturday, Feb. 9, for prospective transfer students from two- and four-year institutions during the University's annual Transfer Guest Day.

The event is aimed at acquainting prospective transfer students with the University's facilities, academic programs, extracurricular activities, and admissions and housing policies.

Eligible students will be able to apply for on-spot admissions.

Special

Available at

Most Bars and

Liquor Stores

me Ranson Cocktails
by-the-Book.

24 oz.
'Refined' Clash still explosive

By Bill Crowe
Entertainment Editor

A sticker attached to The Chicago Reader's new album "London Calling" proclaims that the group is "the only band that matters." That statement may sound egotistical, but actually it's pretty close to being true.

Throughout the 1970s the anger was taken out of music. The social protest of the late 1960s was replaced by media-hyped disco garage and the latest, middle-of-the-roadness of such non-talents as the Captain and Tennille. Not too many artists got mad at society anymore, until the Sex Pistols and The Clash unleashed their attacks on the world in the mid-to-late 1970s.

The Clash has released two extraordinary albums ("The Clash" and "Give Em Enough Rope") before "London Calling." Both were musically explosive and lyrically innovative. Mick Jones' stinging lead guitar melded perfectly with Joe Strummer's vocals and the thundering rhythms of bassist Paul Simonon and drummer Nicky "Topper" Headon.

Unfortunately, since they refused to create such useless mind EXPANSION "Le Freak," the albums did minimal business.

"London Calling" not only presents The Clash as a viable social force again, but also refines and expands upon its considerable style. Guy Stevens' production makes the band sound slick without compromising its anger. The addition of saxophone and organ fills is a welcome change of pace from the guitar emulations prevalent on the first two albums.

However, Jones' guitar sounds more fluent than ever, especially on "Lover's Rock" and the ungodly chords of "The Guns of Brixton."

Side two of this double album is a sociology lesson in itself, ranging from the irresistible beat of "Spanish Bombs" and "Lost in the Supermarket" to the ominous tones of "The Guns of Brixton."

Like Elvis Costello's "Oliver's Army," Spanish (Continued on Page 22)

Metheny's jazz, rock tunes superb

Kerry Gillis
Staff Writer

One of the most refreshing guitarists on the jazz scene these days is Pat Metheny. His style is a naturalistic blend of jazz and rock.

Metheny fans won't be disappointed with his latest album, "American Garage." Although it isn't as exciting as some of his previous efforts, ("The Pat Metheny Group" is particularly), the album still contains some of his finest original tunes.

There is much to be said for members of The Pat Metheny Group. All the songs on "American Garage" are written by Metheny and keyboardist Randy Hall, but the success of the album is due to the efforts of all the musicians. Bass player Bruce Egan and drummer Lenny White accompany the sometimes complex and irregular guitar work of Metheny with ease and finesse.

Mays is an amazing musician. His jazz riffs and rock tunes are some of the album's high points.

The songs on "American Garage" tend to wander. Metheny's music runs, skips, and walks. It takes you up, then down and runs circles around you. The songs are full of climactic highs and subdued lows. You never know what to expect, but that's a part of Metheny's comprehensive yet evolving technique. Generally, the album contains more rock than jazz, but the material is blended well.

The first tune, "The Search," starts off like a ringing bell. The song has a gradual effect, but that segment of it sounds like a separate song. The piano and cymbals produce a ring which persists throughout the song, blending well with Metheny's harmonious guitar work. The song has a slight pop sound to it, but it's more soft rock than anything else.

The second song, "Airstream," is a soft melodic tune with pleasant chord progressions. Some lines are repeated and re-repeated, however, which makes it a little less interesting than the rest of the album.

The most notable aspect of the next song, "The Search," is the work of Mays on the Oberheim synthesizer and autoharp. The melody is smooth and simple; the incorporation of the different keyboard sounds produces individual textures of sound.

The second side of "American Garage" has a powerful beginning. The album's best song is the title track and it's a foot-tapping, hand-clapping tune. It has a fresh and invigorating sound; Metheny rocks out. His enthusiastic style charges this song with excitement and humor.

SPECIAL

Roast Beef
Sandwich Deluxe
(includes French Fries and your choice of salad)

$1.89

Good thru 2-6-80

220 S. Illinois Ave. Carbondale

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL...KAY
453-3636

FOR CRAFT AND WORKSHOP INFO

Attention
S.I.U. Students

For a limited time only, AEROFLITE INC. is offering a "Back to School Special" to students interested in learning to fly.

Here's how it works:

Any student presenting a paid Spring Fee Statement receives 10% OFF on:

1. The Piper Video Training System (Private Pilot) $495.00
2. The Private Pilot Flight Training $695.00
3. The Private Pilot Ground Training $150.00

Call now 925-2378.

Aeroflight Inc.
3412 Coliseum Rd. Marion, IL. 62959

SEE THE SYCAMORES!

Student tickets for Saturday night's basketball game with Indiana State are now on sale at the SIU Athletic Ticket Office. Only 50c with a paid fee statement.

Student Tickets for next Thursday's game with Lewis Lloyd and Drake go on sale Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 9 a.m.)

SALUKIS vs. ISU!!

THE GREAT ESCAPE

Friday and Saturday Nights

GEORGE FABER & STRONGBOLD

Friday Happy Hour

BETH & BECKY

Happy Hour Specials 1-6 pm

611 S. Illinois

SPECIAL

SOUTHERN Barbecue restaurant

Hours
Mon-Fri 6:00 am till 8:00 pm
Sat and Sun till 3:00 pm

SPECIAL

Roast Beef
Sandwich Deluxe
(includes French Fries and your choice of salad)

$1.89

Good thru 2-6-80

220 S. Illinois Ave. Carbondale
Coach says netters must ‘shape up’

By Ed Dougherty
Staff Writer

In search of improved play, from sophomores Lito Ampo and Steve Smith, tennis coach Dick LeFevre will take his team to French Lick, Ind., Saturday for the Sherman Invitational.

“Ampo and Smith have had trouble getting in shape so far this year,” LeFevre said.

“They were going to work on their games over break, but were unable to because of inclement weather.”

LeFevre’s team will take its 1-0 record up against three tough rivals. Indiana University, Southwest Missouri
Baptist College and the University of Illinois.

“We are looking for a good match from all the teams,” LeFevre said. “We don’t know a lot about Southwest Missouri, but I’m sure they have a good team.”

“Indiana probably will be our toughest opponent,” LeFevre said, “and I’m sure Illinois will be much tougher this time.”

SIU defeated Illinois, 7-2, last Friday at the Court (4d).

Wrestlers host Illinois State

Following a one-week layoff, the SIU wrestling team returns to action when it makes its Illinois State dual in a meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Arena.

The Salukis, 2-5 in dual matches, downed the Redbirds last year in Normal, 26-11.

The squad has been hampered by the loss of Bill Ameen and Steve Byrne, who quit the team during Christmas break.

Looking to the team now in dual meet competition is Gus Karalis, from a freshman from Barberton, Ohio. The 125-pounder is a 4-2 year in dual meets and is the overall leader in wins with a 15-9 record. Eric Jones, 158 pounds, and Tim Ditlick, 126 pounds, both are 3-3.

Saluki Coach Linn Long recently announced the team’s dual meet victory last week when the Salukis came away a forfeit from Evansville.

Friday will be one of only two chances remaining this year to see the wrestlers. The final home meet of the year will be Feb. 9 at 2 p.m. against Southwest Missouri State.

Gymnasts entertain Illinois

(Continued from Page 2A)

second. Fleischman fifth, Erickson sixth, Harrington, 10th, Painton 26th and Charpentier 27th.

Painton and Fleischman also have captured state championships in the all-around.

Painton last year and Fleischman in 1978.

Illinois comes to Carbondale with an average team score in the 130s. In defeating Wisconsin, Indiana State and Missouri, Illinois recorded scores of 137.4, 133.6 and 130.15.

Saturday’s is the first of a three meet home stretch for the Salukis. On Feb. 10, SIU hosts perennial gymnastics power
Penn State. The following Saturday, Feb. 16, Ohio State will be at the Arena. At both meets, the men’s and women’s teams will compete simultaneously.

Hodges serious about SIU

(Continued from Page 2B)

tremendous pressure has kept us in a lot of ball games.

“The experience helps in the clutch,” he added.

Hodges said Saluki seniors
Barry Smith and Wayne
Abrams, who provide most of SIU’s experience, would give the Salukis the opportunity to win its second in three days, while BSU faces its third close game this weekend.

"Wayne Abrams has always been a problem for us,” he said.

“He has the potential to carry the game.”

"Barry Smith always has played well against us,” Hodges said. "He’s not doing anything new we don’t already know he can do.”

The game will be the Salukis’ second in three days, while BSU faces its third close game last week.

"In this case, the rest will help,” he said. "We play four games in nine days.”

Pinch Penny Liquors
605 E. Grand
Lewis Park

HOURS
11-1 Mon-Thurs
11-2 Fri-Sat
1-1 Sun

Budweiser 6pk cans
1.89
Miller 6pk cans
1.85

7BLach's 12 pk cans
3.39

Rutini
750 ml
2.25

Blatz & pk cans reg. or light
1.39

Inglewood Chablis 750 ml
1.99

-Paul Masson \LT
(Roseburgundy-Chablis)
2.69

May-wine 750 ml
1.99

Popov Vodka 750 ml
3.75

Calvert Gin 750 ml
3.75

Bacardi Rum 750 ml
5.69

Early Times 750 ml
5.99

Canadian Lord
Calvert 750 ml
4.99

plus many in-store sales on liquor and wine

STOCK UP’N SAVE offer good Fri, Sat & Sun

Two can dine for $5.99 at Ponderosa
Jan. 25 thru
Feb. 10

Save $2.19 on two
Extra-Cut Rib Eye Dinners

Dinners include: Boiled Potato...All-You-Can-Eat
Salad Bar...Warm Roll with Butter.

Limit 2 per visit. One offer per family.

Extra-Cut Rib Eye Dinners

In K Mart Plaza across from University Mall

Daily Egyptian, February 1, 1980, Page 27
By Mark Patrich Staff Writer

Indiana State basketball Head Coach Bill Hodges, whose Sycamores boast an impressive 15-3 record in the Missouri Valley Conference and are the Valley’s leading scorer in the first half, was tied 48-48 by Wayne Abrams on a free throw with 30 seconds remaining in the game. The last half-minute which followed was filled with fouls, free throws, and a free-for all which almost ended after a heated debate concerning the left corner of the court.

Compton Hounds committed a rebounding foul which sent Senior Alex Gilbert of the Indiana State into overtime.

"Any team which does that, we're not going to lose out," he continued. "Traditionally, the Hounds have been a close one." Hodges said the game will be especially important because it is a conference game. "Every game from here on out is crucial because the Valley race is at stake," he said. "Also, the keys to winning the game is one of the keys to catching Bradley for the conference title. The worst road on the road would be a big win." Experience, which is by the Sycamore attack. The only starter missing from last year's starting lineup, and which might be the final four of the NCAA tournament, is Larry Arden, who now makes his nest with the Boston Celtics of the NBA.

Hodges said, "He did all right at Chicago," Illinois Coach Beverly Macke said, "downplaying the success a little bit." Wednesday night, Illinois entered the invitational with a 3-3 record, including a team score high of 123. "I'd like to see us score 123-134 against SIU," Macke added. "I think we're capable of it." SIU Coach Herb Vogel anticipates much the same score, according to his annual SIU appearance.

"We could easily have scored in the mid-130s," said Vogel. "The difference in our case is that one point really doesn't bother me at all that much." SIU's top team score, 129.15, came in the season opener against Memphis State.

The meet will mix up six of the top all-arounders in the country: Illinois' Mary Charpentier and Gayle Nagle, Indiana State's Mimi Eberly; SIU has freshman Pam Harrington and Lori Cole; Bradley's Donald Johnson and PSU's Pat Painton.

Last week, Eberly placed first in the breaststroke. Both teams have a meet advantage in this season. In invitational at Illinois State and Nebraska, the West Coast, the Valley, the Salukis finished second. However, men's Coach Bob Steeble is hoping for revenge. "Everything is different now," said. "Iowa was 4-1 this year, which is the top 12 in the country right now, but we are, too." Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.

Scott Full for both teams have a lot of outstanding players on the team and are going to be tough. Another defensive measure Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.

ISU and Purdue are both advocates of the zone, according to Coach Scott. Scott Full for both teams have a lot of outstanding players on the team and are going to be tough. Another defensive measure Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.

Scott Full for both teams have a lot of outstanding players on the team and are going to be tough. Another defensive measure Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.

Scott Full for both teams have a lot of outstanding players on the team and are going to be tough. Another defensive measure Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.

Scott Full for both teams have a lot of outstanding players on the team and are going to be tough. Another defensive measure Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.

Scott Full for both teams have a lot of outstanding players on the team and are going to be tough. Another defensive measure Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.

Scott Full for both teams have a lot of outstanding players on the team and are going to be tough. Another defensive measure Scott hopes to employ against Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Purdue. He is full court pressure defense. Scott thinks defensive pressure could be especially effective against Purdue.

Purdue (2-10) has had a poor year and they're really not any outstanding players and are probably going to use the 1-3-1 trap on both of them.