Pay raises, $48 tuition hike urged

By Steve Krupka
Staff Writer

A tuition increase of $48 a year for undergraduates and $66 a year for graduates has been recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE).

The increase, however, has been met with opposition by the Board of Trustees and Gov. James Thompson.

The board and Thompson as well as the state legislators must approve the plan before tuition is raised.

Tuition at SIU-C increased $96 a year for all students this fall, the first rate hike at the University since 1971.

The IBHE urged that tuition be raised after it recommended a $97.4 million budget on Dec. 18 for state colleges and universities. That figure represents a $93.6 million increase over the current fiscal year budget, about half of which is to be spent for salary raises.

Included in the proposed budget is salary increases of 8 percent for faculty members and 10 percent for clerical workers. Last year, faculty received an average 5 percent pay hike. Also included would be a 5 percent general purchase increase of $352,000 for merchandise, a 10 percent increase of $318,000 for rising library costs and an 11 percent increase of $553,000 for higher utility prices.

Budget requests totaling $1.62 billion have been submitted by state universities and Colleges (IBHE), but the IBHE staff trimmed that amount by more than $25 million.

The IBHE Board also recommended capital projects funding for a School of Law building and for remodeling Devine Gymnasium. See story on Page 34.

The IBHE recommended a budget of $93.2 million next year for SIU-C, an increase of about 8.9 percent over this year’s budget of $84.5 million.

James Parman, IBHE executive director, said the tuition increases is sought to have students pay for one-third of the cost of instruction, with the remainder paid by tax revenues.

Harris Rowe, Board of Trustees chairman, objected to the IBHE formula, saying tuition increases should be decided by the individual schools. The Board of Trustees voted in December to oppose any increase in tuition.

Gov. Thompson has also opposed the tuition hike. Thompson said earlier this month that he does not believe the General Assembly will approve the increase because the tuition increase member last year.

The increase would generate an expected $8.4 million.

Thompson said it would be foolish for university officials to depend on that amount, but added that it is unlikely that Illinois’ budget is in such shape as to warrant a change from general revenue.

To help offset the problem, the IBHE has also recommended that the ISCC receive $103 million in aid next fall.

If the measure is accepted, the amount of financial aid available to Illinois students will be increased by $8.6 million and would surpass the $100 million mark for the first time.

The money would go to more than 76,000 students—students whose tuition increase last year is to be paid.

Nearly all state school applicants from families with annual incomes less than $22,000 now get scholarship aid.

City to begin ticketing Lewis Park fire lanes

By Steve Lambert
Staff Writer

The Lewis Park tennis courts will have to be a bit more discreet when they park their cars.

Tennis courts, a move the Carbondale City Council thought could save the lives of students throughout the City Park complex.

The council Monday night approved a contract allowing Carbondale police to issue tickets to cars parked in fire lanes at Lewis Park when requested by the apartment’s management. The city will charge the apartment $5 for each such ticket.

The contract was approved 4-1.

The fire lanes are actually a part of the regular traffic lanes of Lewis Park’s separate one-way entrance and exit, 10th and Grand Ave.

The parking is permitted on one side of each the entrance and exit immediately across the traffic lanes.

Residents, however, have been churlish about each of the entrance and exit, making it difficult for fire fighters to get through and nearby inaccessible for fire trucks to maneuver.

Under the contract approved Monday night, the City Park or the city will issue signs designating the fire lanes at the apartment complex’s parking.

If called by Lewis Park, Carbondale police will be requested to either remove any vehicle illegally parked in a fire lane or issue a ticket to the owner.

The $5-a-call fee to be paid by Lewis Park to the police is designed to discourage too many other private land owners from demanding the same police service.

"We’re providing a public function for a private party," City Manager Brewer said at the meeting. "We won’t send police there without some indication of a problem, or for one person getting everybody saying the same service." Why, then, in Carbondale providing the service for 1 area Park, Brewer added, stems from a recent court decision in Chicago which means land owners—such as the owner of an apartment complex—cannot demand services from their property without legal justification.

The ruling has forced some land owners into asking public bodies for assistance, Fry said.

Linda Ziemba, manager at Lewis Park, would not say Monday afternoon whether the $5-a-call fee would be passed on to tenants.

She said, though, that Lewis Park’s contract with the city would make it easier for emergencies and members in and out of the apartments.

"It’s really cool," Ziemba said. "But you know everyone wants to park right in front of their apartments." Lewis Park has more than 400 parking spaces, Ziemba said, adding that there are 100 spaces available for cars at the complex. However, she said she didn’t know exactly how many residents at the apartments own cars.

Dakin resigns for state job

Joseph Dakin, assistant professor in criminal justice, was fired after an ordinance, announced at Monday night’s City Council meeting that Dakin, who has been at SIU since 1977, would resign as council member Jan. 31. Dakin, who has been at SIU since 1974, was appointed to the council by Gov. James Thompson to the Illinois Prisoner Review Board.

Dakin has been on the council since 1973. His new job begins Feb. 1.

Council to fund anti-drug group

An intergovernmental agreement is being proposed by the University to provide a total of $800,000 to the Southern Illinois University (SIU) to fund the anti-drug education (ADE) w a of a program from the Carbondale City Council.

The council voted to approve the agreement. It will involve Carbondale, SIU, Murphysboro, Jackson County, Union County and Union County.

The funds will come from a portion of the state lottery, each of those units, except SIU, would provide one or more of the anti-drug group. The University will provide one or more of a group. Each of those units must approve the agreement.
Law instructor resigns; angry over promotions

By Pam Bailey

Andrew Onjeome, associate professor of law, has resigned in protest of what he calls the "automatic interference of the University administration in the School of Law." He is the second member of the Law School faculty who was given promotion by the University to announce that he will leave.

Onjeome and three other Law School instructors had been recommended for appointment last spring by Hiram L. Doctor, dean of the School of Law. However, the recommendation was turned down by Morton C. Hord, vice president for academic and research affairs, and from Warren Brandt. The Board of Trustees upheld their decision.

Originally, Onjeome had resigned at the end of the school year. However, when Brandt announced in September that he had reversed his decision to deny promotions for Taylor Matlin, associate professor, and Donald Garner, assistant professor, Onjeome decided to resign at the end of last year.

Onjeome said he reconsidered his decision because of new promotion recommendations by the Law School. He said Matlin and Garner qualified for promotion under the new guidelines.

"When deans are selected, there is an expectation to select the best people," explained Onjeome.

Brandt altered his original decision he did not consult Law School faculty who were disturbed by L. earlier known to be members of the Law School accreditation committee, and board of trustees.

"Brandt seemed to consider the dispute a personal challenge rather than a dispute over principles," said Onjeome.

While Onjeome does not expect any further resignations among the Law School faculty at this point, he warned that a flood of resignations may occur if the American Bar Association (ABA) revokes the Law School's accreditation.

Onjeome, a Nigerian native, plans to return to Nigeria and practice international law.

James White, ABA legal counsel, said the ABA's accreditation committee will meet in February to decide whether to promote or demote the University to its standards for legal education. White said the committee will announce its recommendations by March 1.

Loss of accreditation would mean that incoming law students would not be eligible to take the bar exam.

Another personnel change was announced by the University. With the resignation of Elizabeth Kelly, previously reader librarian, has been named acting law librarian.

The vice president, Roger F. Jacobs, who left the University in January to assume the duties of associate commissioner of the United States Senate Court.

Custodial staff still searching for contract

By Pam Bailey

Negotiations of the custodial staff will meet with John McDermott, the University's chief negotiator, at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in another attempt to reach an agreement on the five-week impasse.

While Hollis Harrison, president of Building Service Workers Local 11, declined to speculate on the chances for progress at Tuesday's meeting, he said the union was prepared to seek outside intervention if no settlement is reached. Options under consideration by the union are seeking arbitration by the American Arbitration Association and forcing the University back into court.

The custodians originally demanded a wage increase of 50 cents an hour. However, Harrison announced in January that the 50 cents an hour retroactive to Aug. 1, the termination date of their previous contract.

The University has offered the custodians a 25-cent increase.

"The administrators say they don't have the money to give us the raise we want, but, then what about the Physical Plant just got all new trucks," Harrison said.

Further negotiations had been post-poned until McDermott returned from England, where he was scheduled to be on "vacation" until Dec. 25.

Meanwhile, University policemen, who are members of Local 23, are still working without a contract. Bill Collins, the union's business agent, said policemen who will remain in the job future are seeking wage equal to those paid to policemen at IU- E and increased benefits.

Cronin backs desegregation plan

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois Education Superintendent Joseph C. Cronin said Monday he supported the proposal of helping desegregate Chicago schools by bringing some Negro students to the white schools. He denied that the idea was new or radical and said, "It is not a busing program any more now than what we do for the 300,000 children we now bus for quality education to regular schools, area vocational schools, or special education."

"It is certainly not a forced busing program such as a judge might order," Cronin added.

Speaking at a hearing of the Illinois Commission on Urban Education, Cronin endorsed the voluntary plan, which had been proposed to the Chicago Board of Education by the Citywide Advisory Committee on school desegregation. The commission is a study group created by the General Assembly to recommend solutions to urban educational problems.

Cronin noted that the proposal would not require students to be bused who did not want to be bused or those who did not want to accept them to be bused.

"I do not recommend that suburbs already struggling with their own desegregation plans, such as, Maywood Park or Melrose Park, would any thoughtless educator recommend that students go to any suburban school where they might be received, treated badly, or insulted," Cronin said.

The Illinois Board of Education has asked the General Assembly for $11 million to help district institutions with desegregation plans. Some of this money was requested to pay for city-suburban busing.

"The plan does not require money, most of the time, for transportation," Cronin said. He added that the cost might be able to make up the difference.

The commission voted unanimously to support the board's request.

Parents investigate skydiver’s death

By Jean News

Parents of an SIU student who was killed in September in a parachuting accident have said they will file a civil suit if someone’s death and may sue if the search for an answer continues. Thomas Joaden, 31, was killed Sept. 1 in his first jump at the Archway Parachute Center in Sparta, about 40 miles northwest of Carbondale. Joaden was a member of the SIU Sport Parachute Club.

Red-eye jumping, Joaden had completed his first session offered by the center, which is a United States Parachute Association affiliate.

Herbert J. Lants Jr., a Sparta attorney and former member of the SIU skydiving team, said Thursday that an investigation is under way to determine whether there are grounds for a suit.

We will not file a suit unless we find negligence on someone’s part,” Lants said Monday. Lants said they will have the investigation information gathered by early March and will be sure he understands the Joaden family will have grounds for a lawsuit. Asked Monday if he didn’t know why the investigation was to include the airport. “All I know is that he ran the airport.” Lanning said. “We’re not involved.”

Lants said the Archway Parachute Center, the training center uses some of the airport equipment. “We sell them gas and they fly our airplanes,” Lanning said.

Lants said the investigation will try to determine whether Joaden was given instructions before his jump.

Henry Joaden of Mount Prospect, a student at the Archway Parachute Center the week after his son’s death. He was with an Army airborne division during World War II, and he said he does not believe that the six-hour training session was enough to prepare his son for the jump.

The Federal Aviation Administration, which made its own report, said Monday after Joaden’s death, cleared the Skydive training center of any blame and determined that there was no evidence to indicate any reserve parachute malfunction. W.F. Jones, an FAA inspector said Monday. Lants will check the University for possible connections with the skydiving club and responsibilities for club regulation.

The skydiving club is a recognized student organization, approved by student government.

The official FAA report on the accident stated that Joaden initially had a Mae West malfunction, which is when a parachute line crosses over the main chute.

Joaden then executed a cutaway, disconnecting the main parachute from him, and a state line automatically activated his reserve chute. The FAA report stated that as the reserve chute opened, he began to fall. Joaden apparently grabbed it and clutched it to his chest.

When contacted after his son’s death, Joaden said he was suspicious of the amount of training given the parachutists. Joaden believes the place (Archway Parachute Center) is relaxed in its procedures and lack of instruction.

“T’m not sure that we should have them jumping from a tower for the first two weeks.”

Nixon returns to self-imposed exile

WASHINGTON (AP) — After ending his 3½-year self-imposed exile from public life, President Richard Nixon returned to California to meet with close friends and to address a crowd of hundreds.

White House aides said Nixon’s trip to California was an out-of-town get-together with friends and a chance to do some shopping.

Aides said Nixon also talked with aides and friends about his possible political future.

The trip was Nixon’s first since he left Washington to begin his self-imposed exile last Christmas.

Labor Department limits chemical exposure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department took emergency action Monday to reduce the amount of a cancer-causing chemical seed in producing synthetic fibers. The order sharply reduces the amount of acrylonitrile that workers can be exposed to in factories, processing plants and other facilities.

The colorless liquid is highly flammable, explosive and toxic. It is a possible cause of leukemia and lung cancer. The Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc., said the new regulations will have a major impact on the industry’s ability to compete.

Vance to participate in Mid-East talks

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance flew here Monday determined to play an active role in the new round of Egyptian-Israeli peace talks, but U.S. officials cautioned that "instant agreements" are not in the offing. Vance intended to meet with Israeli and Egyptian envoys for possible reconvening of the U.S. and Middle Eastern nations. Vance has been asked to consider mediation roles with Egypt and Israel.

Ex-student charged in bombing

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — The native of Minnesota was ordered to face the federal government Monday in a final trial to Robert H. Humphrey, one of the principal figures in the nation’s antiwar movement.

President Carter and Vice President Walter Mondale, members of Congress and judges and diplomats gathered at the altar of the Unitarian Church in the funeral of the Minnesota senator who died last week.

The funeral service was held at the memorial center and during his 20 years in Washington.

The folks who brought you last year’s $66 tuition increase are up to their budgetary shenanigans again. The Illinois Board of Higher Education wants to sock students with another $40 a year for undergraduate and $64 for graduate students at state universities. The second tuition hike in as many years is approved, undergraduate students at SIU would pay $572 a year tuition, plus the $318.50, for a grand total of $890.50 a year.

To further burden SIU students with another tuition increase is unjustifiable. SIU students already pay more for tuition, fees, room and board than do students at most state universities in the country. A poll of 303 major public universities conducted earlier this year by the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges revealed that 120 schools charge less that SIU does for resident undergraduate tuition. And 60 percent of those schools also charge less for room and board than does SIU. According to the study, SIU students already pay $80 a year more for tuition, fees, room and board than the average costs of the 303 institutions combined.

The IBHE contends that students should pay one-third the instructional costs of their education by 1980. SIU students currently pay about 31 percent. If the IBHE has its way, the tuition would go up every year to keep pace with the rising costs of state universities. This "one-third rule" is arbitrary and impractical. It should be Nothing.

In its place, the legislature should substitute spending priorities that give higher education the money it needs to offer an affordable price to all Illinois citizens. If the IBHE’s one-third rule comes into effect and it will if the IBHE holds fast to the one-third rule—the burden of escalating tuition will put higher education out of reach for many students; for others it will mean cruel hardships. A college education should not become the luxury of a privileged few.

The SIU Board of Trustees has steadfastly opposed tuition increases based upon the IBHE’s magical one-third formula. Last year’s tuition increase was approved by the board "under protest," after the IBHE tied tuition revenue into the budget.

"We want to make it clear to the IBHE that we don’t intend to be pushed this way in succeeding years," board chairman Harris Rowe said at the time. And in December the board adopted a resolution against a tuition hike this year.

Although college costs have soared, higher education’s share of the state’s general revenues has actually decreased—from 23 percent in 1963 to 20 percent in 1973.

Of six major categories of state spending, which account for 63 percent of the general revenue budget—public aid, elementary and secondary education, health, legislative, judicial and higher education—higher education got the smallest percentage increase since 1971, according to the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce. Although the dollar amounts are small compared to other categories, the increases in legislative and judicial salaries, for example, indicate a priority that seems misguided.

The IBHE should challenge those priorities and take a more aggressive role in getting higher education’s share of tax dollars. Last year’s IBHE staff report noted that a continued downward trend in state funding "will, be inevitably to a further deterioration of quality in higher education." For that reason, the IBHE’s budget demands should reflect the needs of higher education, not what it thinks it can get from the governor and the legislature.

The IBHE has earned a reputation for thoughtful, informed budget recommendations. Maintaining access to quality education while dealing with governors and legislators who are imprudently hack away at higher education’s budget is not an easy task. But the IBHE should take to hearts out of students’ pocketbooks—which have been considerably lightened by this year’s 66 tuition hike—and state legislators to balance the fair share of state funds that universities deserve.

Reports must talk to CIA — with caution

By Garry Wills

Washington report Carol Bernstein has claimed that the CIA used roughly one person as a journalist in the past. The New York Times claims that about a tenth that number would be the worst that. Who is right?

Both are, I suppose. The Times is talking about journalists who conceivably ran some kind of command for the CIA. But agents love to talk more vaguely about their "assets." In the press, they do exaggerating the number just as our "body counts" in Vietnam were exaggerated by those wanting to take the "tide of battle"—efficient death shop.

Some of the large number provided by Bernstein was made up, or, if there was an asset, it had its way with the government, without realizing it. But a larger number probably had a drink or dinner with an agent, swapped rumors, and parted with some of them the wiser. The agent would still count this contact with his "assets" for the same reason a businessman writes off lunch with a "client" who does not buy anything.

Still, the Bernstein number is imperative. It shows how thorough the job of these agencies is, how the work of an agency with large (and yet secret) funds. The bureaucratic waste and wheel-spinning of the FBI are coming to light, now, as do agents are released to their subjects under the Freedom of Information Act. Agents seem to have done a great deal of "work" for want of anything better to fill their time. Yet filling time with silly errands, and, the agent, is important to an employer. Like E. Edgar Hoover.

It is even more pernicious and less scrutinized, than the actions of the CIA. The CIA is the only American agency created in conscious defiance of the Constitution’s provision that all public money must be accounted for. The Bernstein number, put together with many other things, shows the result of this secret largess. Available money gets spent in monkey-business, some harmful, some silly, some important—as the Nixon education at 1972. We learned that Nixon’s giveaways would do just about anything business then had the heart, they believe they could afford to do just about everything. And that is one of the CIA’s many problems.

One of the marks of CIA press relations, I think, some journalists come off worse than the CIA itself. It is quite clear that any government agency should try to suppress the press. But the CIA has a more complete vision. Its agencies will not try to, at some point or other. Why should we expect a more delicate conscience to the CIA or FBI than we have found in the Justice Department or IRS? They all want a good and useful press. They all use flattery, lies, and preferential treatment, to help ensure it—out right bribes, perhaps, but nothing as outright bribes. The seduced press cannot, in ex-

Grade policy change merits student input

In response to the proposal for revision of the undergraduate grading policy, the Council of President's Scholars would like to make the following suggestions:

1. Classes taken as pass/fail may be changed to be taken for a traditional grade each semester, enabling students to take a greater variety of special courses without affecting their grade point average. This policy places the entire grading system in a more positive light.

2. A grading system should be made available for a student who wishes to withdraw from a class after the ninth week of the semester. While the policy before the Faculty Senate would allow a student to withdraw from a class at any time after the ninth week, this policy encourages students to enroll in more diversified classes. The Council still supports the 16 credit hour maximum for pass/fail courses.

3. Authorized withdrawals should be greater throughout the entire semester; withdrawals should be entered on students' records.

The policy before the Faculty Senate would not allow a student to withdraw after the ninth week without receiving a "F." This means that a student who withdraws from a class at a time which indicates that he or she totally lacks the capacity to perform. Furthermore, because an "F" so drastically affects a student's grade point average, this policy places the entire grading system in a more positive light.

The position of the Council of President's Scholars, however, is that a student should not be punished with a failing grade for a late withdrawal. A student's grades should reflect his or her classroom progress. For this reason, if a student withdraws, the "W" which is a more accurate indication of what actually occurred, should be used. The student is here willingly, as a consumer of the University's services, and his or her decision not to consume should not be indicated as a failure but simply as a decision not to continue.

Any revisions of the current undergraduate grading policy demand thorough consideration and should involve student input. If the University's proposal seems unfair to you, express your opinions.

Faculty and staff should quit demanding raises as golf course is needed

We have been reading, with interest, the repeated statements by the administration to the effect that an increase in tuition would be needed to grant the building services workers the raise they seek. We wonder if the money came from that enabled the top administrators to give themselves a 4% raise.

Come on, now, staff and faculty of SU, let's quit demanding raises because, after all, what we really need is a golf course.

Obvious faults will stop new charity legislation from controlling fraud

Tony Davis' editorial (Daily Egyptian, Dec. 13, 1977) on the housing freeze bill introduced into the U.S. House of Representatives by Rep. Paul S. Broun, chairman of the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, should have supplied more information:

First, since religious organizations would be instructed to return the $300,000 currently used for charity purposes, it would not be a total freeze, whether by the multinational corporations who bribe political officials of other countries or the "pantshander on the sidewalks in New York," a bill that punishes the poor has no effect on the people who are the actual beneficiaries.

Second, the bill is an attempt to regulate an industry which is growing within the U.S. and which is not being adequately supervised by state and federal agencies.

Finally, the House of Representatives would serve this nation by proposing a federal bill which would preempt the different state and local laws which are so confusing.

"Physician, heal thyself" is a good idea, which, instead of adding another straw to the legislative camel's back, the federal government should concentrate on. The better off can support efficient mail fraud and other statutes that are already in place.

We want letters

Letters to the Editor are welcomed and writers may submit them by mail or in person to the Editorial Page Editor, Daily Egyptian, Room 317, Communications building.

In order to expedite printing of the letters, certain procedures and policies have been formulated:

1. Letters should be double-spaced, and should not exceed 250 words. Letters exceeding 250 words will not be edited with care to maintain the gist of the article.

2. Letters which the editors consider libelous or in any way inciting violence will not be published.

3. All letters must be signed by the authors. Students must identify their academic division and college, faculty members by department and rank, nonacademic staff members by department and title.

4. Writers submitting letters by mail should include addresses and telephone numbers for verification, which verification can not be made will not be published.

ELP to play Arena next month

English classic-rockers Emerson, Lake, and Palmer will bring their gargantuan stage show here for an 8 p.m. Valentine's Day show at the Arena.

"Their staging is so complex and their performance so complete that it takes five semi-trailers to haul it," according to Arena publicist Ralph Pratt.

Radio drama slated Friday

Local radio listeners can relax and "wax a little" in the comfort of their own visual imaginations at 7 p.m. this Friday when WSUI-FM airs "The Water Engine," this week's Earplay radio drama.

Set in Chicago during the famous World's Fair held there, "The Water Engine" concerns the invention of an engine that runs on water and the problems inventor Charles Lang (played by W. H. Macy) has when he attempts to sell it to those munificent lawyers and manufacturers who are otherwise uninterested in the new invention.

"The Water Engine" was written by David Mamet, a Chicago resident who co-created "Angels in America," a successful Broadway play.

Earplay is a regular feature of radio dramas, and this one at 7 p.m. on WSUI-FM, which are produced by National Public Radio, the radio-producing arm of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.
Ballet debuts Celebrity Series

Auditions set for drama

Auditions for the SIUC Department of Theater productions of \textit{Equus} and \textit{Medea} will be held 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Jan. 18 in the Laboratory Theatre, Communications Building.

The play offers roles for six women and one man, ranging from the late teens to the early 30s.

Auditions for \textit{Medea} are open to anyone in the Southern Illinois area.

In part, \textit{The Crowded Life} portrays a man who was born during childhood and informed he'd never live past 48. Indeed, he spent most of his adult life as a drifter, never having attended school.

The program also draws heavily from an almost endless supply of Hefner's anecdotes about his point of view: racism, religion, unions, minorities, technology, work, patriotism, causes and many contemporary issues.

Auditions for \textit{Medea} will be held at 8 p.m. on Jan. 18 and 19 in the Communications Building, and will be open to anyone in the Southern Illinois area.

Longtime state senator

Former presidential counsel returns to television focus

Eric Hoffer, a controversial longtime state senator, will take his turn in the limelight.

WSU Channel 8 will present the television show, \textit{Eric Hoffer: The Crowded Life} in a 90-minute documentary.

Hoffer achieved considerable celebrity many years ago with \textit{The Crowded Life}, a book that has been on the New York Times bestseller list since 1966. The book, which was never published, was written by Hoffer, a former national security advisor to Presidents Eisenhower and Johnson. He also became a favorite of big business and big labor with the numerous books that he has written.

STUDENT HEALTH PROGRAM CHANGES

On the recommendation of the Student Government Committee the Health Service administration announces the following changes:

(1) The $2,000 death benefit has been cancelled effective January 1, 1978.

(2) Each student visiting Memorial Hospital Emergency Room will be charged $10 with the remainder of the bill being paid by the Student Health Program.

HELPFUL HEALTH SERVICE HINTS

There is a new appointment system at the SIU Health Service. You may call up 536-2391 beginning on a Monday morning at 7:30 and make an advanced appointment for that week. There are only a limited number of advance appointments (usually filled by Wednesday or Thursday), but you can still call at 7:30 A.M. each day of the week to get a daily appointment.

If you can't get a limited advance appointment you can be seen by the walk-in staff any time during regular Health Service hours, 8 A.M. to 5 P.M., Monday through Friday. The Walk-In clinic hours are from 8 A.M. - 4:45 P.M., Monday - Friday and 8 A.M. to 12:45 P.M. Saturday.

Doctor's appointments are made for every 15 minutes. Be on time. The schedule is tight. If you are five or ten minutes late there is a chance that you may not be seen by a doctor that day.

Wasn't the Health Service offer something to help me stay healthy? It does. Prevention and Health Maintenance Programs can help you to lose weight, stop smoking, learn good nutrition, develop personal exercise program, deal with sexual concern, and to examine your life-style as it affects your health and well being. For information about programs, call 536-7702 or stop by 112 Small Group Housing, Room 215.

If you have any questions about what kind of health benefits the Student Health Program has or if you need to submit a claim for payment, your questions can be answered by our Insurance Claims Officer by phone at 453-3311, extension 245, or in person at 112 Small Group Housing, Room 118. If you already are covered by some type of medical insurance, you may be entitled to a refund of a portion of your fee. If you think you qualify, you will need to apply within the first three weeks of each semester to our Insurance Claims Officer. Bring your paid fee statement and explanation of your benefits.

Cosmonauts home after linkup

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts returned to Earth on Saturday after an unprecedented linkup in space, leaving a science odyssey behind as an orbiting lab for a possible try at a record time.

Western space experts speculated the cosmonauts were done with the Soviet craft they had been aboard for 36 days, and the American space station they had been on since 1974 by the third crew to land on the station.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, described the mission as "a most significant step in the road of creating permanently operating space stations with reliable systems."

The two teams of cosmonauts joined in a historic triple linkup with the United States last month. The 36th orbit since Dec. 16, was the first time two space stations were both attached to the same craft, marking the first time two ships docked with the same space station.

According to a Soviet space expert, the mission also paved the way for more cooperation with the use of one crew to replace another already in orbit.

Bills backlog in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even if President Carter is right in saying Congress soon will agree on an essential tax cut, the backlog of domestic issues will extend through the summer.

Tax cuts, a new welfare system, and a long list of other issues are on the agenda of next year's Congress. Carter said Friday he will try to resolve the tax issue by the end of the year.

Senators and House members will meet next week to discuss the tax bill. The House has already passed a bill to reduce taxes and increase the minimum wage. The Senate is expected to act soon.

The Senate also is expected to make changes in the tax bill. Senate Tax Committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., said he is concerned about the impact of the tax cut on the country's budget. He said he is in favor of a tax cut, but he wants to see what the impact of the cut will be on the budget.

Even though Arlie Pauk was in 81 years old, he was still active in Chicago. He was a Southern Illinois bought and bred, a true fan of the Illini.

Arlie is a 1918 graduate of SIU, when it was just a teacher's college.
He played football and basketball during his time at the school. He also was an advocate for the Illini's turnovers during games.

Why did Arlie feel a school paper?

Arlie says he was an avid reader of school newspapers. He was a member of the Southern Illinois Normal School football team and had a passion for learning.

Pal·k's questioner says ex-lobbyist
giving 'vagabond' scandal information

Bill Fletcher Ed
Wafts
Former, klh Curt's.

But some people thought Arlie wanted to start the paper for his own reasons.

"A lot of people were skeptical. They told me not to try to start the paper so I couldn't get my picture there, because I was captain of the football team. It wasn't so, but I had a good time convincing them of it," Arlie said.

In 1918, Arlie went to see Secretary
Seymour, who was head of the Department of Education, and asked to start a student-oriented publication. He was accepted by the SIU students.

Following the teacher's orientation, Arlie convinced Secretary Seymour of his vision.

"We ran a contest for the best name. I had to pay $50 from my own pocket to the winner of the county. But the same was worth it.

Arlie was graduated from the Southern Illinois Normal School in 1917 and was a football coach at Southern High School for one year.
He was the high school's first coach. Arlie went to Europe to fight in the first world war and then came back to Illinois. He received a law degree from the University of Chicago in 1921.

And being a state's attorney was a piece of cake either.

"I was at five times," Arlie recalls. "The area was ripe for chasing and bootlegging. Horrific, true!

Today he practices law in Harrisburg, just as he has been doing for the last 58 years.

"I went to grade school. I got a degree from the normal school.
I got a law degree in Chicago. I'm just sorry I never went to high school," he says.

Park's questioner says ex-lobbyist
giving 'vagabond' scandal information

SEORL, South Korea (AP)—Tangeak Park's chief American campaigner, Arthur C. O'Conor, is giving a "vagabond" scandal information.

Washington lobbyist is providing
"vagabond" scandal information which could lead to the Capital Hill scandal probe and provide questions for the Senate committee, a total of 78 hours.

According to the Senate Attorney General's Office, which was already investigating Washington "vagabond" scandal questions to the remaining five members of the Justice Department team.

He said policy matters had been worked out so that Bill's command could continue the guessing round. South Korea investigation is also providing questions. The session will last about a week more, O'Conor said.

Park emerged from two hours of talking Saturday, asking to be briefed on the latest developments. "I think it's good," he said.

O'Conor said the testimony of the unknown South Korean rice dealer, whose 12-figure in the grand jury, is "very valuable because it is firsthand experience. It provides a basis for us to start analysis. We're also serving on other evidence the investigation has found.

But he added that the information could be self-serving and take time.

O'Conor refused to give details of the substance, but Rep. Bruce Canfield, R-N.Y., who sits on on the House Ethics Committee, has reported Park testified he gave "hundreds of questions" to the senators, congressmen and U.S. executive officials.

Caputo and the testimony covered issues of disclosure of payments.

Park's account of giving "$500
of favors for South Korea on Capitol Hill. More than 28 former and present congressmen have acknowledged receiving money or other gifts from him, but denied any wrongdoing. The Senate government also denied any connection with the alleged offenses.

Park has been indicted by a U.S.
Federal grand jury in a scheme of bribery, mail fraud and other charges. But under a U.S. Senate agreement he is to be granted imunity in return for truthful vagabond testimony at Justice Department proceedings, a Schizophrenic."

The House Ethics Committee, which is conducting its own investigation of the scandal, has objected to the agreement because it does not require Park to testify before congressional committees.

Chairman John Fitch has issued a statement that Park's testimony will be used in the United States for purposes of the Senate Caputo, reporting to the New York Senate, said the committee wants to negotiate with the Senate Ethics Committee to allow Park's voluntary testimony.
Parachute Club places 4 jumpers in 1977 Nationals

By Stanley Krupa

The SIU Sport Parachute Club's "Jump of the Year" did not capture any medals at the 1977 Collegiate Parachute Nationals, but the nation's team placed second, third, fifth and sixth in four different events.

The meet took place December 30 to 31 at Indiantown, Fla.

Team Captain Tom Hailey put in the group's best effort, placing second overall in the intermediate style competition. The event requires the jumper to complete a course of 5 and turn in free fall, while being timed by judges on the ground using high-powered photocells called teleometers.

Hailey had difficulty in the intermediate accuracy competition, however, and finished in place. Dana Thomas, a sophomore in administrative science, competed in both the intermediate accuracy and style events, and finished third in the combined points phase of the competition.

In the service accuracy event, for jumpers with 25 to 100 jumps, Bruce Break, a senior at UTC, lost the ignition in his right foot on his first competition jump.

Break was forced to view the rest of the event from the ground, but teammate John Noon, a freshman in chemistry and biology, placed fifth overall in the service event.

A lack of practice caused by unemployment prevented the club's two reserve jumpers from tuning in a top-notch performance. Nevertheless, the team tied for 11th place overall in 19 events.

The four on the reserve work team were Hailey, a freshman in chemistry; Mike Hart, a senior in engineering; Larry DeKock, senior in art; and Dana Thomas, junior in chemistry. Also competing with the team in Florida were Dave Swanson, a sophomore in computer science; Robert O'Hara, a junior in computer science; and Eric Goff, a sophomore in computer science.

Italian government loses power

ROME (AP) — Italy’s 39th government in the 66 years of Fascism in World War II fell Monday, a victim of the political turmoil that has reigned in the wake of elections, political violence and the recent decision to withdraw Italy from the NATO country.

President Sandro Pertini scheduled talks with political leaders Wednesday and Thursday to form a new government by Thursday night. The talks reflected the need to find a solution to the political deadlock that has held up negotiations for more than a month.

The Italian Communist party, which has been the main opposition party in the current government, has called for a general strike to protest the government’s decision to withdraw from NATO.

In the past three years, 17 persons — including four this year — have died in political clashes. The victims were youthful members of the Italian Communist party, who have carried on a fascist Italian Socialist Movement on the right. The group has fought in the red Brigades and against the Fascist party in Italy.

As a result of the collapse of the Italian Communist party, the government has won the backing of the Chamber of Deputies, the lower house of Parliament, and has won a majority in the Senate, which is dominated by the right-wing parties.

Califano launches attack on smoking in America

WASHINGTON (AP) - New

Secretary of Health, Education, and Human Services, Dr. Louis Califano, has launched a massive government-wide attack on cigarette smoking, declaring it a "public health enemy No. 1 and a killer of thousands of people.

Califano promised help to the nation's 44 million smokers to quit the habit. The government will sponsor its own smoking research and urge broadcasters and educators to spread the message that "smoking means killing."

He announced that the President's Office for Smoking and Health, which was created by Congress in 1971, would combine forces with the Treasury Department's antismoking task force to study the possibility of recommending that Congress raise the excise tax on cigarettes.

The panel also will consider the possibility of a federal tax on tobacco products, which are a major source of cancer and other diseases. The Tobacco Institute, voice of the big four-year cycle in the cigarette industry, attacked Califano's program before its unveiling, and all the government should not include people's personal habits.

Califano urged the Civil Aeronautics Board to ban all smoking on commercial flights. He promised a tightening of smoking restrictions in new buildings and in large industry and other federal agencies to follow his example.

Califano said that a new office on Smoking and Health with a $20 million budget would coordinate all HEW's smoking-research and -education efforts. It will spend $42 million next year on antismoking research and education, compared with less than $3 million last year.

Health Service revises call-in

The Health Service has set up a new appointment system which allows students to make appointments, but officials said that the time slots are limited and may be filled by the middle of the week.

A change from last semester, appointments will be accepted for both entire classes and individual students. The advance appointments are now being accepted by Wednesday of Thursday, according to Health Service officials.

The number to call for appointments is 743-3388.

In a related matter, students who have paid their student medical benefit fee but are covered by duplicate insurance must apply for a refund within the first three weeks of the semester.

Students must have a refund application on file and present a copy of their insurance policy by Feb. 3 to Marine Horse-Mans at 113 Small Group Housing.

Those students who have deferred their fees must have a refund application on file before the three week deadline. However, a refund may not be issued until all fees are paid.

Xoil of Blood

Students enrolled for five hours or less may participate in the student insurance program on a pro-rata basis. The fee is $7.25 per credit for the entire semester beginning on the 20th day of each semester.

Students must apply in person at the Health Service Insurance Department and present a fee of their insurance policy.

Red Cross to take blood donations

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be on campus to receive donations from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday in Student Center Lobby D.

Donations are needed to replenish the blood supply. SIU's goal is set at 200 units a day.

We are depending greatly on the success of the SIU blood drive, said Joanne Habbatt, consultant for the Red Cross Blood Program.

Donors must be 18 and over, at least 17 years old and weigh at least 110 pounds.

SIU may get remodeling funds

By Steve Krople
Staff Writer

SIU-C would receive $12.7 million in capital improvement funds for 1978-79 fiscal year if a recommendation by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) is approved by the state legislature and Gov. James Thompson.

Though much of the money will be used for remodeling rather than construction, $9.2 million will be used to build a new building for the School of Law.

An additional $1.18 million was recommended for the addition of water, electrical, and steam utility systems for the new building, which would bring the total amount of state funding to about $27.9 million.

The total amount of state funding is estimated at $99.3 million. A new building for the Law School has been considered for the past several years. Library use due review Tighter rules on library use by faculty and administrators will be reviewed at the Faculty Senate meeting at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Student Center Illinois Room.

An included discussion is a report on proposed changes in the undergraduate grading policy.

Major changes in the current policy include:

Reducing the check-out time of periodicals for faculty to one week and one renewal.

The long period of time was extended to 14 days.

Reducing the check-out period of books to one week, with no renewals.

The previous period of time was extended to one week.

The proposed guidelines have undergone criticism from faculty members and the Faculty Senate. The Faculty Senate formed a committee to study the present policy.

 Personnel manager appointed

As an 11-year veteran of personnel administration at SIU, has been named to head the personnel services division.

Barbara Carpenter's appointment, following the retirement of Mr. Maloney, who has been manager since 1956, was announced on Oct. 1 by A. K. S. Carnahan, the field supervisor. She will begin her duties on Nov. 1.

Miss Carpenter joined the University in 1956 as the personnel officer. She was appointed assistant personnel officer in 1964. She was a graduate of the University of Illinois and is a member of the American Personnel and Employment Association.

Energy focus of Mondale's next mission
WASHINGTON (AP) - Vice President Walter F. Mondale, embarking on his third diplomatic mission for President Carter, visited Canada and Mexico this week, with energy a focal point of his trip.

Such key issues in his host countries as the nuclear safety movement and illegal aliens were discussed only briefly, if at all.

It will be the second week in a row for Mondale, who spent most of his time in Washington.

The vice president, who spent five days here, flew to Canada last week and traveled to Minneapolis for Sen. Hubert Humphrey's funeral Monday, flew to Ottawa on Tuesday to meet with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and other Canadian leaders.

On Wednesday he flies to Edmonton, Alberta, and then back to Washington in time for Carter's State of the Union address the following day.

On Friday morning the vice president takes off again for a meeting in Mexico City with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo and weekend visits to Indian ruins in the Yucatan city of Merida before returning to Washington on Sunday evening.

Administration officials said Mondale's goal was to reassert that the United States attaches "the highest priority to our relations with each neighbor on the continent."

The officials spoke at a briefing Monday. Under the ground rules, they could not be identified by name.

While in Canada, Mondale will discuss additional gas sales involving the two nations, energy storage, transportation of oil and gas from Alaska and the shipment north across Canada and into the United States, and exchange of electricity along the border, they said.

Although no negotiations are taking place over natural gas to the United States, the officials said that there has been some discussion about possibly increasing the gas supplies.

Disagreement over natural gas was responsible for the failure to renew last month a natural gas purchase contract between a U.S. consortium and Mexico.

Officials conceded that with both Canada and Mexico, "we're not in a good position to position on the gas price issue because we haven't expanded that question ourselves."

One of the major obstacles to approval in Congress of a national energy program is the question of removing price controls from natural gas.

Tour guide lists haunted houses

By Sean Scott
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force may have just postponed UFOs, but activity in the paranormal seems less skeptical as to existence of ghost kind.

They've even put out a guide called "The Supperational Haunted House and Legendary Ghosts.

The U.S. Travel Service's eight-page booklet lists sights of 23 ghosts in eight states and 18 cities, including Southern plantations, boyhood homes, a governor's mansion, Army forts, and an aircraft carrier.

Most of the shades apparently are content to simply show themselves at the most spritely. But others do interesting things like using wise, chattering, playing into holes, and peering out of the cemetery.

The guide gives telephone numbers, too—communicating to real people, of course.

Unfortunately for ghost fans, most spots close by 8 p.m.—before prime time for spirit viewing. The Myrick House in St. Francisville, La., offers "creepiness by appointment" hours. Here, at the state's oldest plantation, a French governor makes an appearance to peer into sleeping faces in the bedroom. But visitors don't get past steepeners.

Louisiana and Virginia lead the Southeast, with 18 spots each, followed by the District of Columbia with 2, California 3, Maine 5 and one apiece in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Guests seem to liven to Louisiana plantations. Petitjean at New Roads, is haunted by the spirit of a jolly girl, the guide says. St. Maurice reports theiriservice.

"Take pastime that the massive home is haunted by a child who roamed from the cemetery and by spirits who mainly turn calendar pages."

Three ghostly spirits include one with a backbone for spirits who oppose decisions at the Governor's Mansion at Dover, Del., and at Shirley Plantation in Charles City County, Va., the "rail of Arie Prift" makes gravity noises when hung wrong.

Chattering spirits inhabit the Marine Antiqua Shop in Boston, Maine, home of over 204 mechanical music machines. "Most ghosts" award might belong to Fort Monroe, Hampton, Va., which busts at least 10 spirits in private residences and military quarters.

You'll find big-name ghosts on the list, too. Henry Clay's old home at Oaklands Manor in Franklin, Ky., and return in spirit form to the mansion, according to the travel service.

Police groups outraged at chief's pro-gay stance

CHICAGO (AP)— Leaders of the city's three largest police organizations have expressed outrage at a police official that homosexuals would be acceptable as police officers. "It's ridiculous," said John Danowski, president of the Fraternal Order of Police. "Most policemen don't want to work with a girl, but I don't know any policemen who wouldn't want to work with a guy who wants to be a girl."

Danowski said it would be unfair if their children were involved in a sex case concerning a homosexual and a gay policeman.

He was reacting to a statement by Acting Police Commissioner Michael Spettro that homosexuals "would be acceptable" as police officers if they passed screening tests.

Joseph Pecoraro, president of the Chicago Patrolmen's Association, said homosexuals on the police force would make a "joke of the force. He said "conditions would make the police department and citizens think this policeman was gay."

NCAA okays frosh redshirt rule

ATLANTA (AP) — The nation's football coaches on Tuesday countered a unexpected boost when the National College Athletic Association approved a rule that would allow schools to redshirt players, and still have four years of eligibility remaining.

Formerly in question was virtually overturned because of the last-minute vote by the National Football League Players Association and Academy of Sciences.

But it passed by a majority of coaches, even though opponents argued that a freshman who was academically ineligible would have to be signed in June.

The new rule, which was the result of a two-year unanimous vote by the NCAA's 12-member council, will allow for the first time a freshman who was academically ineligible to sign in June.

NFL legal hassles concern player's union membership

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals are in the middle of a legal battle which will affect all NFL players.

The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) in Cincinnati is pondering charges filed by a St. Louis lawyer against the National Football League Players Association and Academy of Sciences.

They are charging with causing the Cincinnati Bengals to discriminate against Baltimore Colts to discriminate against Baltimore Colts who failed to join the union.

The charges were filed Nov. 21 by NFL officials in Cincinnati and Washington by Gerald Toack.

At issue is the so-called "charge" by the NFL officials against the Kansas City Chiefs.

The contract sets up a modified schedule for NFL players in the league under the new collective bargaining agreement.

It specifies that players who come into the league after Feb. 1, 1977, must, after 30 days, either join the players association or pay the equivalent of union dues.

The standard contract under the new agreement would not allow players who do not pay dues the option of quitting the union.

Kansas City Chiefs: LeRoy Shears, LeRoy Shears, LeRoy Shears

New York (AP) — The National Football League has collected about $100,000 in fines this year, according to Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who is managing general partner of the Oakland Raiders.

Rozelle fined Davis after the Oakland boss charged the NFL with a deliberate lie in its playing of a controversial role in the American Football Conference championship game between the Raiders and Denver Broncos.

An apparent fumble recovery by Oakland's Mike McQueary was disallowed when head linesman Ed Marion blew his whistle. The Raiders scored on a fumble recovery after McQueary's fumble in an attempt to advance the ball forward progress of the play which Davis called "the big lie...like Vietnam."

Rozelle, speaking on the eve of Sunday's Super Bowl between Denver and Dallas, said the fine was not allowed because the officials did not see it and agreed that the original league statement on the play was misleading.

"The Oakland club was fined for its comment that was deliberately lied in our explanation," said Rozelle. "Our statement was misleading but it was not contrived."

The commissioner said that 75 percent of the fines collected this season had come from club officials and the other 25 percent from players.

About $20,000 of the club total involved uniform violations.

One club indication that got away with no charge was Denver's apparent lack of candor after the physical condition of quarterback Craig Morton in the days just before the AFC title game. Morton was hospitalized with a nerve and missed several days of work without any disclosure by the Broncos.

The dispute heard in the Oakland-Denver AFC title game which cost Davis his fine and another player's fumble was not called in a game between Baltimore and the New England Patriots on the final day of the regular season, prompted suggestions that instant replay cameras might be used as an aid for game officials.

"If it is feasible, I have no objections," said Rozelle, asking the subject has been discussed before the NFL owners and was expected to come up again during the spring meetings in Palm Springs, Calif.

The commissioner said full replay equipment for every game would cost the league about $64 million per year.

"You don't know when the whistle was blown from the picture," said Rozelle.

While many SIU students might have gotten what they wanted for Christmas, few could be as happy with what they received during the holiday break as women's gymnasts Colette Herk Vogel.

In addition to two victories in the team's four meets, Vogel was also pleased over the news that two talented "Ymca" would be joining his squad for the second half of the season.

Lucie Piet, a freshman from Chicago whom Vogel says can vault as well as anyone on the team, and sophomore Maureen Hennessey, a transfer student from the University of Vermont, have joined the SIU team for the stretch drive.

"Put vaults like Eden (Barrett) and Hennessey is as good as all around if not better than Chris Wasnich," Vogel said. "They figure to give the team depth. We might have won all four meets during our western trip if we had them on the team at the time."

Despite defeating New Mexico by four points at a past of their first meet of the trip, it wasn't one of the Salukis' better days.

"We got off to a shaky start," Vogel said. "It was our first meet against real tough competition."

Barrett won the vaulting event with a score of 9.95 but twisted her ankle. Patty Tietz took the floor exercise event with a 9.5, but injured her foot and Linda Nelson won the balance team with a 9.52 but bruised her tailbone while vaulting a new dismount.

The team's next meet was at Arizona the following weekend. The Salukis were defeated by four points.

"The trip was tiring and there wasn't much time to heal up," Vogel said. "Arizona had a very strong team and our girls didn't think that they could win. We psyched up our girls which helped us to drop 13 of 20 performances."

Vogel also noted that Arizona had a very confused warmup room and that the format of the meet was changed without SIU's consent.

"The girls had prepared to vault to start the meet but were told then they had to perform on the uneven bars," Vogel said.

Vaulting was the strongest event of the day for the Salukis as Barrett came in first with a 9.15 and Condy Moran placed second with a 9.06 performance.

SIU continued its strong vaulting the next day as Barrett and Moran again took the top two spots in a win against Utah State, despite what Vogel considered to be one-sided judging.

The Salukis also dropped their final meet of the trip at Washington State's 9.26 score on the balance beam could spark SIU to victory.

The team's next meet is Wednesday against Southwest Missouri State at Springfield, Mo.

The Salukis got a taste of NCAA life when they had to go out for an atterritory win on New Year's Eve - their third game in the last 10 days. The Salukis defeated Liberty, 80-76, in which Lambert's alma mater, offered little competition as the all-conference team, gave the Salukis their most-needed playing time.

Indians State 81, SUIT 56

The game was the first Valley conference game of the season and the Salukis became eligible for the conference basketball season this year. It was also the first look for SUIT fans at Larry Smith and Duff's second-year program starring forwards Larry Birt and Harry Morgan.

"We had a lot of experience and energy," Birt said. "We had a lot of energy and we were able to get them off balance."

The Salukis led most of the first half and by 40-33 at halftime. Morgan scored 21 points in the first half, but Indiana State took the lead for good in the second half, holding on for an 86-74 win.

Morgan scored 27 points for the Salukis and Bird collected 31, although he was held to six in the second half. Wilson scored 16 of 18 points from the three-point line and was 7-28 at the foul line. Salukis overcome slow start to edge Tulsa, 67-58

The Salukis' 67-58 win over Tulsa at the Arena Tuesday night was frustrating for Coach Paul Lambert because he had hoped his team would play better in its tune-up for the four-ranked Indiana State Sycamores, who will play at SIU on Thursday night at the Arena. Lambert, however, was happy with the game.

Borrowing a routine from Wichita State, SIU fans last year started the practice of standing and applauding until the Salukos score their first point of the game. The fans apparently have accepted the ritual, but they were subdued until three minutes had passed on Tuesday when the Salukos missed their first 10 shots of the contest. A Wayne Abrams jump shot with 10:02 remaining in the first half enabled the standees to take their seats and they responded with a cheer of relief.

While the fans' frustration was relieved, Lambert said, "I was pleased to get out with a win because on some nights we don't win a game like that. It was a good win for us to have in December, we would have lost it but we had just enough points to win.

The Go-Go Hurricane, which dropped to 3-12 in Valley and 3-6 in the Conference, could not build up a big early lead but it was able to score only six points during the Salukos' 19-2 run in the first half. "We took the lead for the first time at 3-2 with 16:50 to play in the second half of the game and we scored only three points during the last 2:14 of the half," Hartzog said.

Lambert said, "The game was a little bigger than I thought it would be, but we didn't play well," Lambert said. "I was pleased to get out with a win because on some nights we don't win a game like that. It was a good win for us to have in December, we would have lost it but we had just enough points to win.

The Salukos lost to the Jayhawks, 76-63 but John Marks, Rick Rock and Lonnie Hibbs all scored 14 points.

Hibbs, 14 for the year, also won because of a point awarded for riding time. Hibbs posted his 27th advantage in the second half and ran his total to 76. Wildcats senior guard Dorsey Morris was scored for the Salukos' departure from the game. By this time, the Salukos had been on the road for over 500 points with 4:15 left.

Syracuse's Mark Lieberman, who played second in last year's NCAA Tournamen, ticked off the modern's most impressive match. Both wrestlers fought aggressively throughout the match.

Ramrods, who trailed throughout the match, scored a takedown with 28 left to go to the Lehigh's Doug Herrick at 5:50. Stallied Greg Cunningham 5-3 with an escape in the third period.

Lehigh beats SIU wrestlers, 24-13

The Salukis wrestled a 134-lb dual after five matches, but lost the final five bouts to lose 29-12 to Lehigh at the Arena Tuesday night.

Syracuse's Sean Gross, Paul Hibbs and Dale Eggert posted come victories. A decision from one to seven points is worth 2 points. MIu's Doug Resler and Rick Rock tied their Lehigh opponents for two points each.

Grasso escaped twice and had 2:35 riding time advantage to post a 5-2 win over his favorite.
