Board to consider fee increase

By Jay Fmall
Staff Writer

A proposal for an $8 increase in the student athletics fee will go before the Board of Trustees for the first time at its Feb. 9 meeting, Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, said Friday.

Any fee increase must be considered twice by the board, Swinburne said, so a decision on the $8 boost is expected in March.

The fee boost will be broken into two parts, he said. Two dollars of the fee increase for each student will go into the repair, maintenance and modernization fund for athletics facilities. The remaining $6 will be used for operating costs for intercollegiate athletics.

"This increase is not really to improve our budget situation. It's to hold it where it is," Swinburne said. He added that fiscal year 1985 state funding for athletics at SIU-C will be down $100,000, while drops in fee income — without the increase — and other revenue shortfalls will cost about $157,000 more.

"It is my belief that many of the things we are funding through fees should be funded by the State of Illinois," he said, "but I support the fees because we don't have another way."

The $8 fee increase proposal was one of two plans being considered, Swinburne said. The administration dropped a plan for a $10 fee boost which included free admission for students to all sports events.

"In general, our position has been that we shouldn't do that," he said. "It would be just a further $2 burden on people, some of whom couldn't care less about attending sports events."

The $10 fee increase, minus $2 per student for the repair fund, would have generated $290,000 per year for operating costs, according to an intercollegiate athletics budget summary statement released last fall.

Based on that figure, the $8 increase less repair funds should generate about $217,000. Student ticket sales should pick up $28,850 of this difference in FY 1985, the report indicates.

A $2-per-student boost will generate $72,000 per year for the repair reserve, Swinburne said. Priorities for use of these funds have already been established.

"The first items are strictly health and safety items," he said. "Those are our No. 1 priorities."

A project to correct a "dangerous situation" involving deteriorating curbing around the McAndrew Stadium track and another to repair holes in the long-jump runway at the stadium top the list, Swinburne said.

Other long-term projects

Air Illinois resumes service under revamped procedures

By John Racine
Staff Writer

Air Illinois resumed service Saturday, 30 days after it voluntarily grounded its fleet, with a maiden roundtrip jet flight between Chicago-O'Hare, Cedar Rapids and Waterloo, Iowa.

The Federal Aviation Administration did not recertify the airline until 12:06 a.m. Saturday. FAA spokesman Mort Feldstein said agency inspectors and Air Illinois workers put in 12 to 15 hours a day for the last several weeks, revamping the airline's operations, maintenance and training procedures, manuals and handbooks.

"We will survive, and we'll be a lot better airline than we were before," airline President Roger Street said after disembarking from the plane at O'Hare International Airport Saturday. "We certainly won't have a problem with name recognition."

Last week Street announced that the National Transportation Safety Board will resume its investigation into the Oct. 11 crash of Flight 710 which killed 10 people. The hearings will be conducted in Washington beginning in mid-to-late February, he said.

The Carbondale-based carrier's 11 other planes should begin flying again this week although a full-scale start-up may not be seen until April, according to Alice Mitchell, vice president for marketing. That will be done by restarting flights gradually, beginning with those between Carbondale and St. Louis, Springfield and Chicago-Meigs, she said.

Air Illinois' fleet of two British Aerospace BAC-111's, nine 19-passenger Twin Otters and two 15-passenger Jet Streams was grounded and most of its 230 employees were furloughed when the airline surrendered its operating certificate to the FAA Dec. 15.

In order to avoid being grounded longer than 30 days, which would void "interline" agreements with other airlines, Air Illinois needed to resume

NAACP calls for 'objective' inquiry

By Jeff Wilkinson
Staff Writer

The outside agency called in to investigate NAACP charges of harassment of blacks by Carbondale police has ties too close to the police department to do a proper investigation, according to the local NAACP.

NAACP spokesman Carlton Smith, at the Carbondale City Council meeting last Monday, said the choice of the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement's Division of Criminal Investigation was unacceptable to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People because it was "unlikely the DCI could maintain their professional objectivity" because of "professional associations and friendships."

"There is a strong relationship between the two agencies (the DCI and the police department) which should represent a conflict of interest," Smith said.

Smith said the Carbondale Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, which called in the DCI to assist in the investigation, did not pursue justice with equity.

City Council members said they could not act on the complaints because the police and fire board, although appointed by the mayor and approved by the council, is independent of the council. Any complaints, they said, would have to be lodged with the board.

City Manager William Dixon said the results of the DCI's investigation will go to the police and fire board, which has the options of ignoring them, filing charges and/or imposing penalties. Officers who may be charged or penalized have the right of review, he said.

Councilman Patrick Kelley said it would be "premature and improper for the City Council to take any action. It is not our job to interfere."

Harvey Welch, chairman of the police and fire board, said "If the DCI finds that an officer is guilty of a criminal act, we will recommend to Chief Hogan and City Manager Dixon that he be dismissed. They will then take action on the matter."

"As far as choosing the investigative agency, we were given advice by the city attorney," Welch said. "Our choices were the Jackson County Sheriff's Office, the

IBHE recommends increase in tuition

By Anne Flaszka
Staff Writer

A tuition increase will provide more than 10 percent of the University's budget increase for fiscal year 1985 if Illinois Board of Higher Education recommendations are approved in full by the state Legislature.

SIU-C would receive an 8.1 percent increase in funding, totalling $9.5 million, under IBHE budget proposals announced last week.

At the IBHE's recommended level, SIU-C students would pay a total of $1.28 million more in tuition during the 1984-85 school year. Actual increases may be determined by the SIU Board of Trustees.

A 6.5 percent increase would raise a full-time Illinois resident student's tuition $58 per year, increasing the total for tuition and fees from $1,307 to $1,423. SIU-C tuition went up 10 percent last year.

Budget proposals call for $126.3 million to operate the University during the fiscal year beginning July 1. The recommendation fell $5.5 million short of what SIU-C administrators had sought, but the 8.1 percent increase is equal to what the IBHE is recommending for all state universities.

John Baker, executive director of planning and budgeting, said the administration is pleased with the IBHE's recommendations but said he could not speculate on whether the proposals would be approved without changes.

The IBHE has urged the Legislature to extend the temporary state income tax increase in order to fund "quality education."

Altogether, the IBHE is recommending $1.44 billion in appropriations to run higher education in the state. In addition, the board recommended another $63 million for capital improvements, including energy conservation efforts and food production research facilities.

Faculty and staff salaries would go up 7 percent and students at state universities would pay $60 to $80 more per year in tuition under the IBHE's FY 85 proposals.

SIU-C had asked for money to give pay increases ranging from 10 to 12 percent. The University's plan called for an across-the-board salary increase of 6 percent, with catch-up adjustments of 4 percent for faculty and 6 percent for civil service employees.

If the University receives the 7 percent salary increase, Baker said, President Albert Somit or a member of his staff would meet with constituency groups to determine how the funds would be distributed. The IBHE recommended a total of $5.58 million for salary increases.

If the budget proposals are approved, the University would also receive a 10 percent increase, $210,000, to cover library costs; 5 percent more for general cost increases; and an average of 8 percent to cover increases in coal and electricity bills.

Engineering and technology would receive the majority of new funds recommended for academic program improvement at SIU-C. The IBHE recommends $2.18 million for program improvement, $768,000 of that for engineering and technology. Computing Affairs would get $300,000; the School of Law, $100,000; and the Commerce by Saturday, Street said.

The grounding cost Air Illinois an estimated $1.2 million and 26,000 passengers.

ResortAir expands services, connects to TWA operations

By John Racine
Staff Writer

ResortAir, Carbondale's newest commuter airline, announced Friday that an agreement with TWA has enabled it to offer connecting flights to any destination, according to a company spokesman.

Bob West, president of the 8-month-old airline, said the agreement allows boarders to fly ResortAir from Carbondale to St. Louis for $20, if they connect with TWA to any other destination. That service became available Friday.

That price equals similar flights offered by Air Illinois prior to its voluntary shut-down Dec. 15. The 14-year-old airline resumed service Saturday and expects to restart service to St.

Louis within the next month.

The expanded service will benefit both the airline and customers, West said. "Our passengers can fly just about anywhere," he said.

West said that the move should not be interpreted as the start of a price war between the two airlines, which both have reservations offices at Southern Illinois Airport in Carbondale. "I don't want to get into a price war with anyone," he said, "and I don't believe Air Illinois can afford to participate in one now."

West believes that Carbondale is a competitive market. "We can't complain about business. I only wish I'd been there six months ago," he said.

Boardings have been averaging 40 percent since ResortAir began operations on Dec. 26, he said. The airline flies two 19-passenger Metroliners in roundtrips from Carbondale to St. Louis every day.

ResortAir is solely owned by Koplar Enterprises, which is based in Lake of the Ozarks, Mo. That company also owns a resort hotel, a land development company and two television stations, including KPLR in St. Louis.

Air Illinois spokeswoman Alice Mitchell says that competition can be viewed two ways. "There are two philosophies about competition. One says that it will stimulate the market and the number of patrons will increase. Another says that the number will stay the same and there will be smaller pieces of the pie."

Mitchell said. Prior to the grounding Air Illinois flew 125 flights daily to 15 cities in six states, she said. Until the airline's smaller planes take to the air again there will be fewer than 20 flights daily.

The decision to relocate jet service from Evansville, Ind. to Carbondale was an efficiency move, Street said. The move from Dress Regional Airport will provide an additional 25 jobs and the first-ever jet service to Southern Illinois Airport.

Mitchell said there will be no major changes in operations. Pre-flight instruction to passengers, however, will now include greater emphasis on items such as seat belt.

Airline rates will be the same as they were prior to Dec. 15, Mitchell said, adding that the effect on business remains to be seen.

"People generally look for two things in air service: the best time and the best price. That decides which airline they fly," Mitchell said. "Most fliers look for connecting flights and in that area we are proven."

puter Science Department, $60,000. The rest would be earmarked for equipment, repair and improvements for those programs.

The University had requested $6.8 million for capital improvements, but the ISBE is recommending that the state appropriate only $2.3 million.

Major items included in the funding request are more than $1 million for continued upgrading of livestock teaching research facilities, as well as waste disposal improvements; $650,000 to help plan a Springfield laboratory to be operated jointly by the SIU-C

School of Medicine, Illinois Department of Public Health, and the Environmental Protection Agency; and $239,000 to remodel Wheeler Hall for handicapped access.

Of the $126.3 million recommended for operations at SIU-C, about two-thirds would come from state revenues, the rest from money generated by the University itself.

Operating recommendations for the entire SIU system total $178.8 million. A total of $51.1 million is sought for the Edwardsville campus and $1.46 million for the Chancellor's Office.

Tracks move called bad for business

By Paula J. Finlay
Staff Writer

Carbondale's plan to relocate the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad tracks through downtown will mean more than an inconvenience to businesses adjacent to the tracks, Councilman Keith Tuxhorn says.

The plan calls for temporary tracks to be built west of the existing tracks, to be used for two to three years while the "big ditch" is being dug. The north-south tracks will be lowered about 25 feet to clear six street crossings from Grand Avenue to Oak Street.

Tuxhorn told the City Council that he has heard opposition to the plan and the effect it will have on businesses in the area where the tracks would run. Placing the temporary tracks to the west will cut into parking space and the businesses may not be healthy enough to withstand the loss, he said.

"It's a matter of closing businesses — not just an inconvenience," he said.

But Mayor Helen Westberg said the plans were the result of "careful deliberation" and would benefit the storeowners in the long run. The temporary railway will be placed west of the tracks so the permanent depression can be to the east, giving the storeowners more room, she said.

Tuxhorn said that placing the tracks on the west may harm the ones that the move is intended to help.

Placing the temporary tracks to the east would be more costly, according to Eldon Gosnell, railroad relocation director. Gosnell said that "with a project this massive" there will be inconveniences, but the plan has been approved by the council and the city staff.

The council accepted an agreement with Deleuw Cather and Co. of Chicago for the final engineering design for the rail depression and the major drainage system at a cost not to exceed $2.6 million.

include improvements in men's and women's locker rooms at the Arena and replacement of the AstroTurf at the stadium.

"I don't know when it (the turf) is going to have to be replaced," Swinburne said. "We're looking at three, four or five years down the road. I hope it's longer but I don't think so."

Swinburne said suggestions to return to a grass surface at McAndrew to save money aren't logical.

"It actually isn't less expensive. I think the research is conclusive on this," he said. "You spend a considerable amount per year just for maintaining and taking care of a facility with grass."

Hints that the athletics budget situation could improve, possibly making further athletics fee boosts unnecessary, have appeared in preliminary income information for fiscal years 1988, '87 and '88, Swinburne said.

"In upcoming football schedules, for example, it appears we are going to generate a fair amount of added income," he said. Among the games on future SIUC schedules which could bring in additional revenue are contests with the University of Illinois and the University of Kansas.

Swinburne said the effect of the football Salukis' 1-AA playoff and championship success on the athletics budget situation is still unknown.

"With everything that took place this fall with football, we've added obvious income, but we've added obvious expenses, as well. I'm not feeling as clear as I'd like on that, and

Bruce Swinburne

I've asked for a report," he said.

Also, Swinburne said plans to hire a special fund-raising official for athletics are progressing.

Swinburne, SIU Foundation President Stanley McAnally, women's Athletics Director Charlotte West and men's Athletics Director Lew Hartzog have looked at applications for the post and have narrowed consideration to "about five or six people," Swinburne said.

Once hired, this fund-raiser would work with the SIU Foundation with a full-time responsibility to generate money for athletics. At the next meeting of the four, which Swinburne said has not been scheduled, a decision on which of the applicant to invite for interviews could be made.

Council to consider demolition of four downtown buildings

By Bruce Kirkham
Staff Writer

A motion to authorize the solicitation of bids to demolish four city-owned downtown buildings associated with the proposed conference center will be considered by the Carbondale City Council Monday night.

The motion was presented to the council last Monday, but the council delayed action on the matter when Councilman Patrick Kelley requested additional information on the possible use of one of the buildings, a gas station at South Illinois Avenue and Elm Street.

A study conducted last week by three city staff members, Code Enforcement Director John Yow, Real Estate Officer Steve Roaz and Railroad Relocation Director Eldon Gosnell, recommended that the building be demolished along with the other three buildings.

The report states that gas stations are not permitted to operate in the primary business district. To use the existing structure, it would have to be in some form other than a service station.

The cost of renovating the building to accommodate a suitable business would probably be too high for investors, the report concludes. Therefore, the study recommends that the property be demolished.

The three remaining buildings under consideration are the fire-damaged Cost Plus Audio building at 210 S. Illinois Ave., the former park district office at 206 W. Elm St. and a building at 205 W. Monroe acquired from Hugh McGowan in a property exchange with the city.

The council will vote to authorize repayment for attorneys' fees incurred by land owners in negotiations with the city on land acquisition for the proposed downtown conference center.

The reimbursements, $3,499.29 to Jack C. Atwood, Mary Lou Atwood and Atwood Drugs Inc., and $1,090 to James Cleland and Linda Bollenbach, were approved in Jackson County Circuit Court.

The council will also vote to award a vehicle towing contract to Jim's Towing of Carbondale, which is the city's present contractor and the only firm to submit a bid.

Cost high from dorm water damage

Subzero temperatures and a power outage resulted in broken pipes and severe water damage to University Housing facilities and residents' personal property, with losses estimated at $35,000.

Joseph Gasser, associate director of University Housing, said Neely Hall in University Park suffered the worst damage, although housing facilities in Brush Towers, Thompson Point and Southern Hills were also damaged.

Gasser said that most of the damage occurred Dec. 23, when temperatures dropped to 12 degrees below zero and power was off for nearly three hours.

Heating coils froze in the high-rise dormitories, resulting in damage from broken pipes and heating convectors in individual rooms, he said.

Gasser said that most of the costs for reimbursement of residents' belongings are covered by the University's insurance policy. He estimated that costs for personal property damage will be $8,000 to $10,000.

Residents may obtain forms from their area housing office to claim damages to personal property. Gasser said that adjusters will set values on the damaged items and residents will be reimbursed for the assessed values.

All rooms were repaired by Saturday, Gasser said, but cosmetic repairs such as painting will not be completed for about three weeks.

Deeper look needed in police investigation

FIVE months after allegations of abuse and harassment were lodged against Carbondale Police by members of the city's black community, the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners has requested the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation to look into the charges.

The DCI will begin its investigation as soon as it receives formal complaints which include the time, place and names of officers involved in the incidents.

Choosing a law enforcement agency to investigate the police has brought further complaint from members of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. They aren't thrilled by the prospect of cops investigating cops and have suggested that the Illinois Division of Human Rights, the American Civil Liberties Union or the NAACP's legal wing be appointed to handle the investigation.

ALTHOUGH the DCI may be capable of producing an unbiased report on the charges, having another body without ties to Carbondale Police join in the investigation would give credibility to the DCI's work and help improve relations between the police and many of Carbondale's blacks.

Furthermore, the DCI will restrict its investigation to possible crimes committed by police officers. It will not consider non-criminal police actions — such as drawing weapons on juvenile suspects, detaining suspects without filing charges, use of abusive language and excessive, if not criminal, force. These acts — such as ticketing cars parked outside a community meeting held to discuss police harassment — aren't illegal, but they don't do anything to improve relations between police and public.

THE DCI is probably capable of conducting a criminal investigation into police behavior, and that is a good start. But an investigation which lacks credibility and doesn't examine all police actions, including those which are not necessarily criminal, will do little to lessen the hostility and fear that many blacks have toward the police department.

A situation where community members mistrust the police who are appointed to serve and protect them is in itself criminal. The Board of Police and Fire Commissioners should take into account the concerns of local NAACP members and consider requesting that a non-police agency join the investigation.

Those making accusations should move quickly to file their complaints so that the board can either clear innocent officers or take action against those guilty of harassment.

This unfortunate affair has been going on now for almost half a year — let's get on with the investigation.

1984 came four years ago in Afghanistan

THE small, torn fragment of dull-green plastic does not arrest the eye or arouse the imagination — until it is explained. Then it is mesmerizing evidence of the Soviet regime's essence: unfettered brutality.

The plastic is from the casing of an anti-personnel mine used in Afghanistan. But the term "anti-pe-sonnel" suggests traditional usages of war: It suggests that the personnel against whom the mines are used are military. Actually, the intended victims are civilians, and often children. The mines are especially dreadful because they are not meant to kill, at least not instantaneously.

They are scattered by the hundreds of thousands — green in vegetation, brown in arid areas, white in snow — near villages. They are designed to blow off a foot or lower leg. Occasionally they do more: One man's foot was blown off and as he fell his hand hit another.

These weapons of indiscriminate yet limited violence express a military strategy of unlimited war by the world's largest army against an entire population. The mines are designed to maim — or to kill lingeringly. Soviet tacticians know that wounded persons are a drain on the community because of the constant care they require. Lethal infections often result, so the Soviet tactic demoralizes everyone exposed to the hideous suffering of victims, and especially children, dying from gangrene, staphylococcus or gram-negative septicemia.

George F. Will

SUCH savageries are the subject of an article in the current issue of Foreign Affairs. The author, Dr. Claude Malhuret, is executive director of Medecins sans Frontieres (Doctors Without Borders) and has been one of the 162 physicians and nurses rotated in and out of Afghanistan, managing hospitals. Because the MSF people are among the few foreign witnesses of the war that world journalism has largely forgotten, their hospitals have been bombed by Soviet planes. But MSF people have seen enough to substantiate Malhuret's thesis, which is:

The Soviet regime has analyzed various failures, including America's, in counter-guerrilla warfare and has concluded that the key to success is a kind of ruthlessness that only a totalitarian regime will practice. Guerrillas succeed, as Mao said, with the aid of the local population, in which they live like fish in water. American, British and French strategies were aimed at winning the allegiance of the water — the population. Soviet strategy is to kill the fish by draining the water.

Reprisals, exterminations and other tortures are so unremitting that much of the population leaves and that which remains is immobilized by physical and emotional traumas. Twenty-five percent of the Afghan population of 1979 is now in Pakistan and Iran. Hundreds of thousands are refugees within Afghanistan.

AS Malhuret says, this ocean of suffering is not the unintended consequence of a war's unavoidable collateral effects. It is the bitter fruit cultivated by Soviet strategy. "This does not involve a warm bath — cold shower tactic, but the exclusive use of boiling water — again and again and again, until both the guerrilla fighters and the population ask for mercy."

Today the United States should be supplying Afghanistan's freedom fighters with as many hand-held rockets as they can use — the kind that can bring down helicopters. Soviet forces, having declared all Afghans of all ages to be enemies, live by helicopters that supply their isolated garrisons — and sow the landscape with mines.

The sowing is so thick that it is common to see goats and cows wearing bamboo splints tied with wires. Not content with causing random suffering among those who do not watch their step, Soviet forces booby-trap household artifacts, such as clocks, in villages they sweep through. They also scatter booby traps made to resemble pens or red toy trucks. "Their main targets," says Malhuret, "are children, whose hands and arms are blown off."

MALHURET denounces the "negligence" of the news media. He says that if organizations like MSF can maintain a constant presence in four provinces, in spite of violent Soviet opposition, the world's powerful news organizations could do as much.

The Red Army has now been engaged against the freedom fighters longer than it was against the German Wehrmacht, but what is being done in Afghanistan in 1984 is more akin to the Ukrainian genocide of 1933. Then, as now, Soviet ruthlessness prevailed, and the West's denial reflex kept the unpleasant business out of most minds.

But one mind understood. George Orwell said that if you want to imagine the future, imagine a boot in your face — forever. The future came to Afghanistan four winters ago.

Basketball telecasts help University

Well, Mr. Swinburne, you've done it again — first Phoenix VI and now WSIU-TV. I have a feeling that you are not cut out to be handling TV sports contracts. Just when WSIU-TV was giving you top-notch professional coverage of Saluki basketball, you cancel everything because, you say, it is hurting gate receipts. Sir, get out of your blue pin-striped suit and get a taste of the real world.

It's obvious that you have knowledge of television's impact on the Southern Illinois community.

The Broadcasting Service is doing the University a favor by airing Saluki men's basketball. What better way is there to promote a university than by its athletics department? Sure, academics is important. But if the medium is there, and the cost to produce basketball is so low, why not sacrifice a few hundred dollars in ticket sales for the exposure the University gets with TV coverage? From what I understand, the attendance at men's basketball games has never been that great. If anything, the broadcasts might help gain a loyal following and thus attract spectators to the arena.

Bruce, if money is the reason for cancelling the games, who is stopping Fred Huff, sports information director, from going out and looking for underwriting for the telecasts? Granted, Fred has been busy with the hiring of a new football coach and doesn't have the time to sell Saluki basketball to the business community, but I think advertisers would jump at the chance to sponsor the only locally-produced sports programming in the market. Maybe next time, if there is a next time, you'll be a little more prepared when you spend University funds without any knowledge of the television business.

As a radio-television student, I've been burned twice by your careless handling of SIU-TV contracts — first as a free-lance assistant in the Phoenix VI deal (services for which I have never been paid) and now as a student in television production who has put a lot of time and effort into helping make Saluki basketball coverage on Channel 8 one of the finest programs ever produced by the SIU-C Broadcasting Service.

Who gets hurt by your error? Bible 230 is an in-depth study of the life of Christ as explained in the four Gospels. The class begins at 9 a.m. Jan. 21 and is held at that time each Saturday for 16 weeks.

The person of Jesus, his character, travels, teachings and miracles will be studied. The Rev. James Barr, of Trinity Missionary Baptist Church, said the stress of the course will be on Jesus' methods of dealing with people.

The church is sponsoring the course from Central Baptist College in Conway, Ark. Students may take the course for three hours credit, which transfer as humanities hours, or may audit the class.

The cost of the course is $60 for three hours of credit or $30 to audit. Enrollment is limited to 35 students, according to Barr. Students who pre-register before the first class are assured of having a space in the class, he said. Registration will take place during the first class. The deadline for registration is Jan. 28.

"I believe there's a good possibility we'll fill the class," Barr said.

The Rev. Ron Fields of St. Louis will be the instructor. He has taught at the Baptist Missionary Theological Seminary and Central Baptist College. He is currently the pastor of Chambers Park Baptist Church in St. Louis.

The class will follow a lecture format with time for discussion. Barr said students will be expected to do some outside work as well as attend class regularly.

"I'm fully aware that this isn't going to appeal to all students," Barr said. He added that he believes there are people on campus who want to study the biblical perspective on life as well as the life and teachings of Jesus.

"The student who takes this will be the one that wishes to take it for his own benefit," he said.

The course isn't an extended Bible study, according to Barr, but rather an in-depth study that goes beyond what is learned in Bible studies.

Possibly two textbooks will be used and at least two tests will be given during the semester, he said.

The class is not being offered in connection with the Baptist Student Center or Southern Baptists, Barr said.

Blood donors are sought for drive this week

One blood donor can save four lives, and the Red Cross wants to give University students, faculty and staff members the chance to do just that.

The Red Cross will sponsor a blood drive from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in Student Center Ballroom D.

Red Cross spokeswoman Bridget Smith said the goal for the drive is 660 units. She said the holiday season and bad weather have reduced blood collections in this area, creating a "very critical situation" in January, when blood usage is highest.

Normally, 5,000 units of blood should be kept on supply for hospitals in the region, Smith said, but in a two-week period during the Christmas holiday, only 3,200 units were scheduled. Bad weather in January reduced that figure by 1,000 more because of cancellations in blood collection.

"We're depending so much on SIU-C," Smith said. "We need 920 units a day, and we're counting on SIU-C to provide over 300 of those units on each day of the drive."

Smith said the Red Cross is looking for all types of blood, and urged prospective donors who are healthy, 17 to 65 years of age and weighing 105 pounds or more to help reduce the shortfall.

Ambulance service to get new buildings

By Dave Saelens
Staff Writer

The Jackson County Ambulance Service will soon have a new Carbondale headquarters. The Jackson County Board on Wednesday approved borrowing $100,000 from the University Bank of Carbondale to pay for two structures, which will house six ambulances, as well as paramedic and ambulance crews.

In the same move the board approved an architectural plan for the buildings submitted by the Wedemeyer, Cernik and Corubia firm of St. Louis. They also agreed to contract the R.B. Stephens Construction Co. of Carbondale to build the structures on an already purchased one-acre site at North University Avenue and West Sycamore Street.

Project architect Robert St. John, who presented the plans to the board, said the residence house for the paramedic and ambulance crews will contain 1,500 square feet, and the garage for the ambulances will contain 3,000 square feet.

St. John said ground-breaking for the project is planned for about April 1 with ambulances and crews moved in by July 1. He added that although the cost of the structures is approximately $165,000, ways are still being explored to save money.

Kevin Buenerkemper, director of the ambulance service, said the fleet consists of nine ambulances, a rescue truck and a livery van, all of which are currently housed in the Edgemont building across from the Carbondale city complex.

Six units will be placed in the new structure, Buenerkemper said, and when the paramedic training program is completed, six paramedics will be stationed in the new ambulance center.

NAACP to add civil rights library to office facilities

Volunteers for the Carbondale chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will soon have a civil rights library added to their office.

In a meeting Wednesday of the Jackson County Board, board members voted to allocate $4,000 from federal revenue sharing for the construction of a library at the NAACP's office at 207 N. Marion in Carbondale.

Al Ross, president of the Carbondale chapter of the NAACP, said his office has been trying for many years to get the library built, and this is the second time he has gone to the board for funding.

Ross' original request of $18,000 to pay the salary for one full-time person, as well as buy library materials, was turned down by the board last September.

Ross said the $4,000 the board allocated will be a "big start" for the library, and although they will not be able to hire one full-time person for the library, he said they will continue to use volunteers.

At Wednesday's meeting, some board members objected to allocating the money, stating that some of the information Ross was requesting for the civil rights library was already located in the SIU-C law library.

Ross said that many people sometimes feel inhibited about using the SIU-C law library.

Local church representatives optimistic about Vatican move

By Phillip Fiorini
Staff Writer

Local reaction to President Reagan's decision to establish full diplomatic ties with the Vatican has been milder than some nationwide criticism, and Protestant and Catholic officials alike support the opening channels of communication.

Strong church opposition to Reagan's Jan. 10 decision came nationwide from evangelical Christians who have long viewed the exchange of ambassadors with the Vatican as a breach of separation of church and state.

However, the Rev. P.T. Bailey, minister at the Walnut Baptist Church in Carbondale, said the president made a wise choice.

"It's recognizing the Vatican as a state," he said. "It is a state whether we as members of the clergy recognize it or not."

Moral Majority Leader Rev. Jerry Falwell, who opposed Reagan's decision, contended that a bad precedent was set. He was joined by conservative churches and some liberal Protestants who also denounced the decision.

The National Council of Churches claims the decision gave Catholicism preferred status.

Bailey, calling himself a conservative, said the decision did not establish a precedent, because the United States has ties with other nations with religious affiliations. Reagan and Pope John Paul II have nominated representatives for both missions.

Bailey said the new pope "advocates the very highest moral standards all over the world."

By opening channels of communication, the United States "re-establishes a sense of values the pope is trying to advocate in the world," Bailey said.

The Rev. Theodore Gill, campus minister at the Interfaith Center, agrees with Bailey that the decision was not setting a precedent, nor granting a preferred status to Catholicism.

"All we're doing is formalizing an agreement that has been in progress since President Franklin Roosevelt," he said.

Gill said he understood opposition to establishing ties with the Vatican "on the grounds of religious liberty."

But he added separation of church and state may not apply internationally the same way it does domestically.

The Rev. Jack Frerker, of the Newman Center, said it's important to open channels of communication, "because the Vatican can provide information about people in the world who need help."

Frerker said he doesn't think establishing diplomatic relations with the Vatican will "foster the cause of the Catholic Church in America."

Those opposed to the decision should ask whether it violates the constitutional clause separating church and state, he said.

Randall Nelson, an SIU-C political science professor who teaches constitutional law, said he believes the courts would uphold the decision.

"The constitutional challenge would probably be barred," Nelson said, because no individual could establish grounds for such a case.

Citizens' group to help in solving utility problems

By Dave Saelens
Staff Writer

If you're a resident of Southern Illinois and are wondering how to pay your utility bills this winter, the solution to your problem may be less chilling than you think.

Southern Counties Action Movement, the largest citizens' action group in Southern Illinois, is helping people find ways to pay their utility bills and is working with power companies to keep them from shutting off their customers' power in cold weather.

Maryanne Dalzell, chairperson of SCAM and a member of the organization's Task Force to Ban Utility Shut-offs, said that power companies regulated by the Illinois Commerce Commission are banned from turning off their customers' power if temperatures drop below 32 degrees. But the fluctuating winter temperatures in Southern Illinois can cause many problems with this type of ban, Dalzell said.

"It could be 40 degrees outside when a person's power is turned off, and the next day temperatures could fall below zero," she said. "That's why our task force is working with local power companies to try to achieve an unconditional shut-off ban."

Dalzell said a ban would mean that power companies would not be allowed to shut off power between Dec. 1 and March 31, and also between June 1 and Sept. 1.

"These are life-threatening times of the year, and no one should have is power turned off during them," she said.

Dalzell said the task force is also checking into some of the conservation plans the power companies have adopted. One plan offered by CIPS, she said, gives a $200 rebate to customers who install high-efficiency heat pumps in their homes.

"The plan is not very good, because how many people can afford to take out a furnace in working order and replace it with a heat pump," she said.

Doris Freitag, area administrative supervisor for the Carbondale CIPS, said the $200 rebate plan is scheduled to go into effect in March and run until February, 1985. She said the rebate is designed to encourage people to install a higher than low-efficiency heat pump.

Dalzell said many of the utilities approached have been cooperative "because from a public relations standpoint, they know it's not very popular to shut someone off." She added, however, that it is sometimes more difficult to work with companies which aren't regulated by the ICC, such as LP gas suppliers.

Dalzell said that of the 265,000 people served by CIPS, 100,000 are senior citizens 65 years or older and living on minimal, fixed incomes. She said many of these people are having problems paying their bills due to CIPS' recent 22 percent rate increase.

To help them out, Dalzell said that the task force is offering a hotline people can call to get help in paying their utility bills.

"First we tell people to get in contact with the utility company," she said. "Sometimes if a company knows you can't pay, they will offer a payment plan so you can pay."

Freitag said that CIPS encourages their customers to communicate with them whenever they have any problems.

Dalzell said people who call the hotline and cannot arrange a payment plan with their power company are then referred to agencies such as Neighbor to Neighbor, sponsored by the Red Cross, or the Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program which will also help people pay their bills.

Move based on slow ticket sales

Basketball coverage stopped

By Jay Small
Staff Writer

WSIU-TV will not televise six Saluki men's basketball games which remain on its broadcast schedule because a verbal agreement between the WSIU station manager and a University official has been called off.

Vice President for Student Affairs Bruce Swinburne and WSIU station manager Allan Pizzato had agreed before the start of the fall sports season that WSIU would broadcast 20 Saluki sports events — some live, some tape-delayed — on a trial basis, Pizzato said.

Swinburne and Pizzato agreed to cancel the remaining broadcasts last week when Swinburne expressed concern that live broadcasts in particular may have slowed ticket sales for basketball games.

"Attendance hasn't been what we want," he said. "We were worried about the possibility of live broadcasts having a negative impact on the game."

Swinburne said he was unsure about how much effect the broadcasts may have had on attendance, but said basketball coaches and others had expressed concern that live TV coverage could "jeopardize the game."

"(When I called (Pizzato), my original desire was to discuss the possibility of eliminating just the live broadcasts," Swinburne said. "In our discussion, though, there was concern that the costs to do the programs were running quite high."

Pizzato said the cost of producing one sports event was "well over $2,000."

"We couldn't see doing just the tape-delay broadcasts, considering the cost," he said.

Patrice Maenza, a student producer for WSIU-TV, said about 25 to 30 student volunteers worked on the sports broadcasts. She said many students were angry over the cancellation.

Pizzato said, "Doing remotes for students is a fun project to do. I can understand their anger — they're personally involved with this thing. But we have other things for them to do. It's not like we're shutting the station down."

Maenza said the station was originally scheduled to broadcast four football games, 12 men's basketball games and four other sports events.

Of these events, all the football games and six of the basketball games have been telecast, she said. Two of the basketball games were televised live, while the other events were broadcast on a tape delay.

Swinburne and Pizzato both said that cancellation of the remaining broadcasts in no way indicates that a similar agreement between the University and WSIU-TV won't be considered for next year.

"I believe very strongly that television is a strong tool," Swinburne said. "Remember that our major concern was not the tape delay. Our major concern was the live broadcasts. I'd like to have it tape delayed, but we have to consider the costs."

Pizzato said, "This was strictly a verbal agreement — a test type of thing — and it worked very well. We agreed at first that at any time we would lay off for one reason or another."

"It's not a big thing," he added.

state police and the DCI. We felt the DCI was the farthest removed from our operation and therefore would be best able to deal with the problem."

In response to the NAACP's assertion that the investigation was a conflict of interest because the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement provides training and funds to the Carbondale police, Welch said, "I do not know if the people involved in the training are the same people involved in the investigation, and I don't know about any funding. Maybe the NAACP knows something I don't."

Al Ross, president of the Carbondale chapter of the NAACP, maintained that there are fraternal and monetary ties between the two agencies, but "we will cooperate with the DCI investigation, although we will do so under protest. We are highly suspicious."

Smith said the response from the City Council and the police and fire board was what he expected.

"By choosing that agency," Smith said, "the board might be minimizing the effects of what is being done." The DCI, he said, will look for only criminal acts by individual officers and not at administrative policies and attitudes that, while not being illegal, may overstep the bounds of proper conduct.

"We are sorry that the city would allow justice to be suppressed and is not interested in a more equitable group" such as the American Civil Liberties Union, Smith said.

The investigation stems from allegations, first lodged by the NAACP in August, of acts of harassment and intimidation ranging from beatings to unwarranted searches. The DCI investigation will begin after formal complaints are submitted Jan. 23 to the police and fire board.

Touch of Nature internships available for spring semester

By Debra C. Jburn
Staff Writer

Internships for about 15 students are available at Touch of Nature Environmental Center during the spring semester, according to Mark Cosgrove, program coordinator.

"We expect interns to work hard, play hard and use their initiative to obtain as much from an internship experience as they can," Cosgrove said.

Students may come from a variety of academic disciplines, as long as their majors are related to the area of their internship. Many interns are students from recreation, forestry, administrative justice, communications, graphics and design, he said.

The number of interns hired varies according to the needs of the different programs. Students must be at least at the junior class level to apply for a position.

The internships currently are unpaid positions, but Cosgrove said he is working on establishing a payment system. He said the center tries to compensate for the lack of salaries by the quality of learning experience students get.

A few of the areas interns may be assigned to work include environmental workshops, graphics and public relations, as well as other camp training programs.

The internship program is intended to give students work experience, Cosgrove said, and there are no skill prerequisites or preconceived notions about the students' technical abilities.

"We'd like for them to have a good professional working experience," he said. He described Touch of Nature interns as being highly motivated, self-directed and willing to learn.

He said students are encouraged to apply for an internship a semester in advance, but when that isn't possible, the administration tries to be flexible enough to accept a last minute application.

Cablevision to begin original, public access programming

By Paula J. Finlay
Staff Writer

Move over M-TV, Carbondale will soon have its own music video program.

The hour-long show, featuring videos selected on the basis of their local popularity, is part of a new programming schedule that will begin at Carbondale Cablevision at the end of January.

Steve Latshaw, Cable 7 program director, said that Carbondale Cablevision made a decision last July to "resurrect" local origination and public access programming. That type of programming had been done in "various capacities" since the cable service began about 13 years ago, but none had been done in the last several years, Latshaw said.

The new schedule includes a live call-in sports talk show, a weekly creature feature and educational and public affairs features. "Parley," a local discussion program, will center on major political and economic topics affecting the Carbondale area, and "Carbondale Speakout" will give area residents an opportunity to voice their opinions.

Local religious groups may produce shows for a program called "Living Today," and "Carbondale Magazine" will take a look at interesting people and places.

The programs will be repeated at different times to allow more people to view them, and the schedule will be expanded "once things get going," Latshaw said.

The Carbondale Cable Television Commission recommended to the City Council last June that Cablevision should be required to implement a basic 20-channel service as well as local origination and public access programming in accordance with the original franchise agreement. Cablevision asked for a $2.50 monthly subscription rate increase to bring in 20 channels.

No determination has been made on the rate increase, but "good progress has been made," City Manager William Dixon said Friday. The city team negotiating franchise compliance, which consists of Mayor Helen Westberg, Dixon, and commission Chairman Charles Klasek, will meet Tuesday to make final recommendations.

Graduate student killed in accident

An SIU-C student was killed Tuesday, Dec. 13, in an auto accident on Illinois Route 13 near the Saline-Williamson County Line.

Police said Russell Johnson, 23, of Marathon, Iowa, graduate student in communication disorders and sciences, was traveling west at about 5:15 p.m. when a truck ahead of Johnson signaled to turn. Johnson attempted to stop, but skidded on wet pavement and broadsided the eastbound car of Lennis Murrie Jr. of Elgin.

Police said Johnson was killed instantly. Murrie and a passenger, Joan Murrie, were treated for their injuries at Marion Memorial Hospital.

Master clock makes time fly

System coordinates clocks

By Sherry Chisenhall
Associate Editor

In Pulliam Hall it's 3:15. In the Communications Building it's 12:56. In Lawson 121 the time is 6:42, while next door in 131 it's 9:10.

Suddenly the hands of the clocks start spinning, and it becomes 1:02 in Pulliam, 1:05 in Communications and 1:06 in both rooms in Lawson.

While there isn't a keeper of the clock on the SIUC payroll, there is a timekeeper in chief, a 17-year-old mechanism called the Simplex Toded Clock System. All clocks on the SIUC campus are controlled by a generally reliable master clock in the University's power plant.

Harrel Lerch, superintendent of building maintenance for the Physical Plant, estimated the number of clocks on the campus to be well over 2,000. Despite that large figure, Lerch said that coordinating the time system has proved fairly easy.

Individual clocks in the more than 100 permanent buildings on campus are equipped with receivers which Lerch said are tuned much like a radio. The master clock sends high-frequency signals to the individual clocks over power lines, theoretically coordinating time on all the clocks.

"Strictly speaking, you should be able to walk around the campus and the clocks should be just a few minutes different from each other," Lerch said.

The master programmer sends regular time corrections, which will coordinate time on clocks that are within three minutes of the correct time. A clock which is up to an hour off will have to wait for the automatic 12-hour correction to be sent, while the 24-hour correction will send the hands full circle.

"That's what's happening if you're sitting in class and you see time fly," Lerch said. "When the hands spin, the master clock is sending a correction."

Lerch said that when clocks in a building are off the correct time, the Physical Plant will receive calls from people in that building or will get notification on the custodian's daily report. He said the most common reason a clock is inaccurate is because a circuit breaker in the building is switched off and the clock isn't getting electricity.

Another reason a clock might be ailing is that it may be "detuned" and is not picking up the signal from the master clock.

Lerch said that a larger motor-generator set for the master clock was installed around 1967. The system has required only two repairs in 14 years.

"The motor-generator set and the receivers are the only moving parts," Lerch said. "There's really no wear and tear on the system."

The same system is used at most universities, and Lerch said he gets fewer complaints about inaccurate time than he does concerning theft.

"We don't have too many cases of damage," he said. "We get very few. We do get cases of theft, where someone just takes the whole clock."

"It doesn't make too much sense to steal one of these clocks, though. Once you get out of the Carbondale area, the clock won't pick up the signal. It will run like a regular clock, but if the time gets off, there is no stem on the clock to correct it."

The clock on the outside of Pulliam Hall is also coordinated through the master clock, Lerch said. He said the clock was not originally part of the system, but was modified to pick up the signal.

"For the most part the system is reliable," Lerch said. "There isn't room for human error, unless someone gets to the master clock. We have the most problems when the time changes twice a year and the pulse on the programmer has to be held manually. There are always some clocks that just don't want to change times."

While the clock system isn't always to the minute, coordinating more than 2,000 clocks isn't a small task. For the trouble it causes in a few classrooms, the master clock may well be the University's least expensive and most reliable administrator.

Martin Luther King breakfast slated at Erma Hayes Center

Tickets for the event, which will be held from 7 to 8:30 a.m., are $3 per person and are available from Richard Hayes, chairman, Arnolia Boone or Pat McNeil. Proceeds will be divided between the Carbondale Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Youth Program.

Arthur Cox, an associate professor and director of the Division of Social and Community Service, will make a brief presentation. That will be followed by a breakfast of scrambled eggs, bacon, beef sausage, cereal, biscuits, milk and coffee.

A film of King's "I Have a Dream" speech will be presented during the breakfast.

The University has requested that those employees who are not performing "essential services" at the time of breakfast be permitted one hour off with pay to attend.

Charles Hindersman, acting manager of Personnel Services, advises all University employees planning to attend the breakfast observance to notify their supervisors in advance.

The City Council on Jan. 9 issued a proclamation declaring Jan. 8 to 15 Martin Luther King Jr. Week in Carbondale. NAACP President Al Ross accepted the proclamation on behalf of the local chapter.

The city is also allowing its employees to take an hour off Monday with pay in order to attend the breakfast.

Secretaries International to hold meeting

The Southern Lakes Chapter of Professional Secretaries International will hold its monthly meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Granada Banquet Room of the Carbondale Holiday Inn. Shari Rhode, Associate Legal Counsel at SIU-C, will speak on "Comparable worth."

The meeting is open to the public. Membership in the group is open to anyone currently working as a secretary.

Frozen pipes raise questions about who's to pay to fix 'em

By Bruce Kirkham
Staff Writer

Some students returned to Carbondale to find the cold December weather which kept temperatures below freezing for 16 consecutive days froze and then broke water pipes in their houses, apartments or trailers.

If they were lucky, the broken pipes were below the floor and no damage was done to personal property. Those not so lucky found that anything left on the floor was soaked and probably ruined.

The end result is costly, both in terms of repairing damaged plumbing and replacing damaged property.

John Yow, Carbondale code enforcement director, said that there is no question about who is responsible for repairing broken water pipes, but who will pay for the repair costs is not as certain.

The city's housing code specifies that landlords are responsible for providing hot and cold running water to rental units. Therefore, Yow said, the landlord must repair broken pipes within a reasonable amount of time to meet city housing code requirements.

Who is responsible for payment for the damage depends on the conditions of the lease agreement between the landlord and tenant and the circumstances of the situation, according to Elizabeth Streeter of Students' Legal Assistance.

Tenants who neglected notice by landlords of precautions to be taken to prevent damage may be charged for repair costs, Streeter said.

Most landlords will probably deduct the repair costs from security deposits, she said, and some students might not know they have been charged for damages until the expiration of their contracts.

Students who suffer personal property damage from water leaks can recover damages only if they can prove that a landlord's negligence caused the damage, she said.

Negligence is often interpreted in court as "knew or should have known" about the existence of a problem, Streeter said.

Frank Pereira, manager of Woodruff Services, said that about six of Woodruff's 100 rental units were damaged during the freeze.

Workers have been examining Woodruff's properties for broken pipes and most damage has been repaired, Pereira said. Crews are now adding more insulation to pipes in an effort to prevent more damage later this winter, he said.

Tenants were notified before leaving for Christmas break that they should leave thermostats set to at least 52 degrees, Pereira said. Some of the damage occurred because of furnace failures, he said.

Doug Bushur, manager of Carbondale Mobile Homes, said that of about 200 mobile homes at the park four had broken pipes. Tenants are required in their contracts to keep thermostats set to 60 degrees in the winter, he said.

Tim Roback, maintenance worker for Parkview Mobile Homes said that 10 of 55 units had broken pipes. Most of the damage was unpreventable, he said.

All of the property managers contacted said that tenants will be charged for repairs in cases where they neglected to follow instructions to prevent damage.

Pereira said that you can't really blame anyone for the damage. "If anyone is to be blamed, it should be the weather. These were very unusual circumstances," he said.

Health News... BY DR. ROY S. WHITE Doctor of Chiropractic YOUR VITAL FORCE

Dr. White

You may not realize it, but your vital force is expressed through your nervous system, extending from the brain and spine to every gland, tissue, organ, and muscle in your body.

That's why the health of spine is so essential to the health of your entire body. Any spinal strain or shock, even an awkward move, can sometimes affect the vertebrae and discs, causing irritation to the nervous system. Irritation of the nerves can disturb the body's normal function, causing pain and many other health problems.

Treatment of spinal disorders is essential to good health. Pain-killing drugs won't do the job. They can dull the pain or hide the symptoms for a while. Pain-killers are not curative in themselves. Given a chance, the natural healing power of the body is often sufficient to return you to health.

If you are bothered by back pain, headaches, or other symptoms related to disorders of the spine, seek the help you need from a specialist trained to treat these disorders.

Bank marks $1 million for student loans

MidAmerica Bank and Trust Company of Carbondale has earmarked $1 million for Illinois Guaranteed Student Loans to college students living in the Carbondale area, according to bank President Ronald Watson.

The bank will lend the money in two phases, Watson said. In the first phase, loans will be made available to students within approximately a 15-mile radius of Carbondale until the end of January.

In the second phase, beginning Feb. 1, the bank will open up any remaining funds to any student outside the target area who attends SIU-C or John A. Logan College and meets loan guidelines.

"We want to assist students in financing, which in turn helps the Carbondale economy as well," Watson said.

The bank will have an "open-door policy" for lending the $1 million, he said. Students who otherwise qualify for guaranteed loans do not need an account with the bank to be eligible.

"We have been advised by the Illinois student loan office that we are one of the only banks in the area with an open-door policy," he said.

Under the Illinois Guaranteed Loan Program, college students can borrow $2,500 each school year at 8 percent interest to a maximum of $7,500. An override on the maximum amount may also be awarded, Watson said.

Watson said students who wish to apply for a guaranteed loan can contact the student loan officer at MidAmerica Bank, 100 N. Illinois Ave.

Family settles for $15 million in man's death

DETROIT (AP) — The family of an auto worker killed by a malfunctioning industrial robot in 1979 will receive $15 million from Litton Industries, the family's attorney said.

The widow, three children, mother and five sisters of Robert Williams, 25, of Dearborn Heights, Mich., will share in the settlement, approved last week by Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman, attorney Paul Rosen said Thursday.

Williams died when a protruding arm of an industrial robot built by Unit Handling Systems, a Litton division, struck him in the head while he was working at Ford Motor Co.'s Flat Rock casting plant.

Sandra Williams, the victim's widow, will get $2 million immediately and $10,000 a month up to a total of $2 million or until her death, Rosen said.

Williams' mother and each of his five sisters will get cash payments of between $100,000 and $200,000. His three children get regular payments ranging from $25,000 and $500,000.

GOP candidate enters 22nd District contest

By Phillip Florini
Staff Writer

Confident of his record as Williamson County state's attorney, Randy Patchett said he is a conservative candidate in a conservative district who is not overlooking the need for Congressional support of jobs, education and Social Security.

Last month Patchett, a 34-year-old lawyer from Marion whose term as state's attorney ends in December, announced his candidacy for the 22nd District U.S. House seat being vacated by Paul Simon, D-Makanda, who is running for U.S. Senate. Patchett is uncontested for the Republican nomination.

Two Democrats, former U.S. Rep. Kenneth Gray of West Frankfort and state Sen. Kenneth Buzbee of Makanda are also seeking the seat. The primary is March 20.

Patchett said his campaign platform will address the issues of jobs, education, continued stability of the Social Security system and strong defense spending. He said he expects to spend $250,000 on his campaign.

Patchett said unemployment is a problem in the 22nd district, especially in the coal mining industry. Out-of-work coal miners in the southern part of the district are hit especially hard, he said.

He also said he wouldn't overlook the northern part of the district, where agriculture is an important industry. He said that the public school system hasn't been neglected by the federal government, but that he would like to see more federal funds to help local schools make the transition into the computer age.

"For students in the rural areas to compete, the federal government is going to have to assist," he said. "All students should have computers and have access to them."

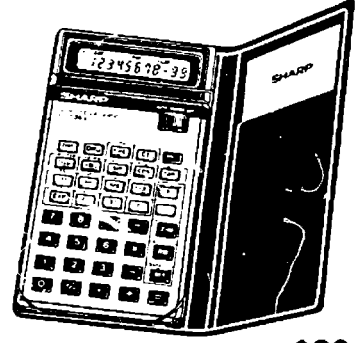

Patchett said the district also has a "very significant" junior college program and that it should continue.

He said he doesn't have a pat answer for the problems with the Social Security Administration, but contended that continued congressional support for the system is needed.

"We need to make sure there's a commitment to our elderly and that people are going to be able to rely on that system in the future," said Patchett.

Men cagers surpass last year's mark

By Daryl Van Schouwen
Staff Writer

Off to its best start in ten years, the Saluki men's basketball team won four of seven games during the semester break, bringing its season record to 10-4 going into Saturday's game at Wichita State.

SIU-C has already surpassed last year's win total of nine with 14 games remaining, and they can assure itself of a winning season for the first time since 1978-79 with four more victories.

All five Saluki starters, Ken Perry, Cleveland Bibbens, Bernard Campbell, Nate Bufford and Roy Birch, are averaging in double figures and shooting better than 50 percent from the field.

The Salukis defeated Indiana State and West Texas State before falling at Creighton Thursday in Missouri Valley Conference action. In pre-Christmas tournament play, SIU-C captured second place in both the Bayou Classic in Lafayette, La., and the Rebel Round-Up in Las Vegas, Nev.

CREIGHTON:

The Salukis' 78-62 loss at Creighton marked SIU-C's 16th consecutive Missouri Valley loss on enemy turf, dating back to 1982.

"We didn't play well the first nine minutes and that sent a message to Creighton that maybe we weren't as good as they expected," Van Winkle said following the game. "As a result, Creighton played with confidence."

Creighton grabbed an early 19-10 lead, then shrugged off a Saluki charge late in the first half by outscoring SIU-C 10-4 in the final three minutes after the visitors had closed the gap to 27-26. Creighton led 37-30 at halftime, outbounding SIU-C 19-11.

Thurs Bluejays widened the margin to 15 with 12 minutes left in the contest, and never trailed by fewer than nine the rest of the way.

Creighton shot 55 percent. Guard Vernon Moore hit nine of ten shots and scored 24 points. SIU-C shot 43 percent, well below its season average.

The Salukis were led by Perry with 20 points, who limited Creighton's 7-foot center Benoit Benjamin to five of 12 shooting and 13 points.

"I'm disappointed," Van Winkle said. "We know we can play so much better than that."

INDIANA STATE:

The Salukis moved to 10-3 overall and 2-0 in the MVC with a 99-85 victory over Indiana State Jan. 9 at the Arena.

Campbell led the Salukis with 23 points, and five others scored in double figures, including Perry (19) and Bibbens (18). Bibbens and Birch led SIU-C with nine rebounds each.

SIU's John Sherman Williams, last year's MVC Newcomer of the Year, led all scorers with 27 points.

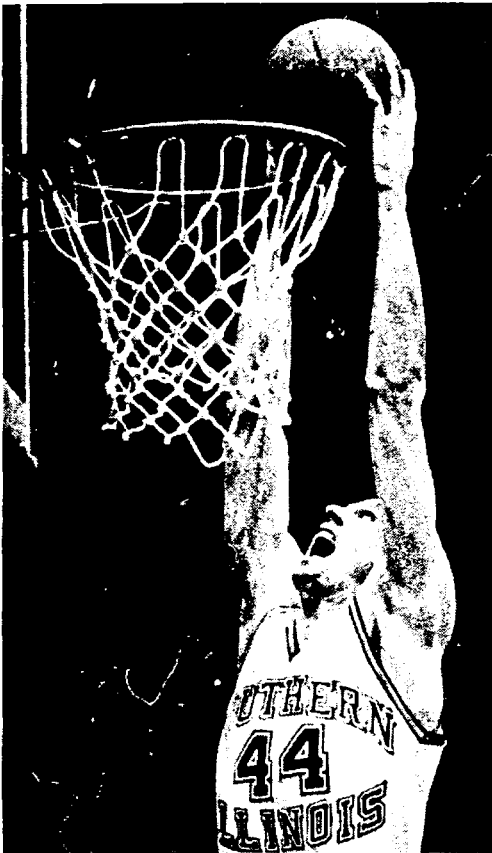

SIU-C led 48-42 at the half before opening up a 13-point lead early in the second half.

"It's all slowly coming together," Van Winkle said afterward. "We showed good patience and unselfishness offensively."

The Sycamores' loss dropped them to 8-5, 0-2 in the Valley.

WEST TEXAS STATE:

Saluki center Kenny Perry stuffs a shot against Indiana State Jan. 9, helping the Salukis to a 99-85 win and a 10-4 mark.

guard James Jackson, the Salukis held on during the final minutes to defeat the Buffaloes 80-76 in their Missouri Valley Conference opener.

Jackson poured in 22 of his 26 points in the second half, leading a Buffalo stampede that trimmed SIU-C's 10 point halftime lead to one on three separate occasions during the final five minutes.

Bibbens and Birch each missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw situation twice in the final two minutes, enabling West Texas to stay close until Bibbens sank a pair of free throws with four seconds left to nail down the 80-76 win.

The Salukis were 22 of 32 from the charity stripe, compared to four of five for West Texas.

Perry led SIU-C with 22 points. Bibbens scored 19 and led the team with 12 rebounds.

The Salukis committed 19 turnovers, due in part to their inability to handle the Buffaloes' press.

Van Winkle attributed the team's sloppy play to his squad's two-week layoff. "The season opener and the first game after Christmas are always the two toughest of the year," he said.

The loss dropped West Texas to 5-6 overall, 0-2 in the Valley.

REBEL ROUND-UP:

At Las Vegas Dec. 22-23, the Salukis raised some eyebrows by crushing NCAA tournament regular James Madison 74-56 in he opener before taking a harshing of their own in the championship game from Nevada-Las Vegas 91-68.

Against James Madison, Bufford scored a game-high 17 points on six of eight shooting. Perry, who came off the bench with 15 points. The loss dropped the Dukies to 6-3 and raised SIU-C's record to 8-2.

In the championship game, the Salukis were swept away by the Runnin' Rebels, who never trailed. Ed Catchings' 25 points and ten rebounds led UNLV.

The Rebels outbounded SIU-C 53-37. Despite the lopsided score and rebound totals, Van Winkle was pleased with the Salukis' defensive effort.

"Defensively, we really did a good job," Van Winkle said. "They scored about three fourths of their points on tip-ins, which indicates they have better players on the inside."

Van Winkle started Walker at center in place of Perry for the second straight game. Walker responded with 14 points and six rebounds. Perry netted 15 points and scooped up eight rebounds in a substitute role before fouling out with 11 minutes left in the game.

Campbell, chosen to the all-tournament team, led SIU-C with 15 points.

The loss put the Salukis at 8-3 heading into Missouri Valley Conference play at: 1 lifted the Runnin' Rebels to 8-0.

BAYOU CLASSIC:

The Salukis captured second place Dec 17. After defeating Cal-Santa Barbara 89-77 in the tournament opener, they were trounced by the Ragin' Cajuns 99-73 in the title game.

SIU-C shot a blazing 67 percent against Santa Barbara, the sixth time in eight outings they topped the 50 percent mark.

Bernard Campbell fired in 12 of 16 shots and scored a game-high 26, and Roy Birch was 11 of 13 with 23 points for the Salukis.

The Gauchos were led by Conner Henry with 17 points and Scott Fisher with 14.

The Salukis led 44-30 at halftime and by 21 midway through the second half before Santa Barbara rallied in the final three minutes to get within seven points with 28 seconds left.

The victory was the Salukis' fourth straight and raised their record to 7-1.

Swimmers World ranks women No. 7

By Scott Rich
Staff Writer

It may just be a prediction, but the No. 7 NCAA ranking of the SIU-C women's swimming team is "very realistic", according to Coach Tim Hill.

"The girls have been swimming better every meet," Hill said. "The hard training is beginning to pay off."

The predicted NCAA standings were published Jan. 3 in Swimmers World and were brought to Hill's attention at the Texas International Meet Jan. 6 in Austin.

Along with the No. 7 rating, the Saluki women also had some individuals ranked in the top 15 in the nation in their specialties.

"I think it is realistic to say that we can finish in the top seven in the nation," Hill said. "We have some very talented individuals on the team."

According to Hill, Swimmers World came up with the team and individual standings by the performances the teams have turned in so far this season.

"Our undefeated record (4-0 in dual meets) and the win over Auburn had a lot to do with the ranking," Hill said. "We had some outstanding individual and relay performances in the meet and that helped our girls rank in the top 15 in the nation."

The Saluki women posted an impressive 86-54 victory over last year's No. 8 NCAA finisher Auburn, qualifying for the NCAA's in seven events.

One of the events the SIU-C women qualified for was the 200 freestyle relay. The team of Rene Royalty, Sue Wittry, Barb Larsen and Pam Ratcliffe turned in a meet and pool record performance of 1:35.4. That time was good enough for a No. 1 rating by the Swimmers World poll.

The 400 medley relay team of Wendy Irick, Armi Airaksinen, Amanda Martin and Ratcliffe was ranked second to North Carolina in the poll. They turned in an NCAA qualifying standard and meet and pool record time of 3:52.5, a best-ever time by an SIU-C 400 medley team.

Along with these top rankings, the 800 free relay team was No. 5 and the 400 free relay was No. 15 in the poll.

Martin was ranked fourth in the 100 breast and fifth in the 200 breast and has already qualified for the NCAA's in both events.

Irick was ranked seventh in the 200 back and 15th in the 100 back by the poll. She has posted an NCAA qualifying time in the 200-yard event.

Royalty is ranked eighth in the 500 free and 15th in the 100 free, while Westfall is ranked eighth in the 200 fly and Airaksinen is ninth in the 200 free.

Other Saluki swimmers ranked in the top 15 in the nation by the poll are Larsen and Airaksinen in the 200 fly, Ratcliffe in the 200 IM, Irick and Roxanne Carlton in the 400 IM and Jamie Coontz in the 500 and 1,000 free.

"I'm very pleased with the performances the girls have turned in," Hill said. "I think all the girls deserve to be ranked in the poll."

The Salukis saw their first action of the new year Jan. 6-8 at the Texas International Meet in Austin. According to Hill the meet was a warmup for the Olympics for many of the foreign teams and featured swimmers from Canada, Japan, West Germany, France, Great Britain, Sweden, Norway, the German Dominican Republic and several teams from the United States.

All of the Saluki relay teams finished in the top eight in the meet.

The 800 free team of Carlton, Westfall, Ratcliffe and Coontz was seventh with a time of 8:31. The U.S. team won the event clocking in at 8:15.

The 400 free team of Airaksinen, Coontz, Royalty and Ratcliffe finished seventh with a time of 3:57.2 and the 400 medley team of Irick, Martin, Airaksinen and Royalty was eighth at 4:27.2.

Coontz was the top individual finisher for the team taking 15th in the 800 free with a time of 8:59.2. Astrid Strauss of the German Dominican Republic won the event clocking in at 8:30. Coontz also took 15th in the 400 free finishing at 4:22.

According to Hill, the 15th place finishes by Coontz were "great" considering there were 80 to 100 people in each individual event.

Coontz finished 29th in the 200 free with a time of 2:07.2, just 07.2 seconds off the winning pace. The event had 124 participants.

Martin finished 29th in the 100 breast at 1:16.6. World record holder Ute Geweniger of the German Dominican Republic was first with a time of 1:09.3. She also took 29th in the 200 breast at 2:40.61. Hiroko Nagasaki of Japan won the event in 2:30.3.

Royalty clocked in at 27.6 in the 50 free, finishing 25th in the event. World and American record holder Dera Toras of the U.S. team won the event in 25.9.

Irick was the 25th finisher in the 200 back, clocking in at 2:25.4. Katrin Zimmermann of Germany won the event in 2:17.4.

The Saluki squad competed in the Texas Quad Meet in Austin Friday and Saturday.

Women netters take charge of Gateway Conference race

By Dan Devine
Staff Writer

For the SIU-C women's basketball team, the major battles are almost over. The Salukis outdueled Illinois State on the road last week, and then stunned Drake at Davies Gym Thursday night to take early control of the Gateway Conference.

Going into a Saturday night game with conference doormat Northern Iowa, the Salukis are 9-3, 3-0 in conference play. The winner of the Gaake contest the key to the Saluki season and said the win put SIU-C in the driver's seat in the unbalanced conference. SIU-C, Drake and Illinois State are at one level with the other teams several notches below that.

"But our work's cut out for us," said Scott, who has said that the conference winner cannot lose more than two of 18 conference games. The 10 Gateway teams play a round-robin, home-and-away conference schedule.

After knocking off the major powers, the Salukis now face potentially nerve-wracking conflicts with the rest of the conference. SIU-C will play seven games against league also-rans before running into Drake again. That game will be in Iowa, where Scott said it is almost impossible to win. That's what made SIU-C's 65-49 win last week so important.

Scott said her players were "scared to death" before the game. Afterwards, she said, "It's the best I've ever seen them play."

"They were under control and played great defense."

Led by the stifling defense, superior rebounding and the outside shooting of D.D. Plab, SIU-C moved to a 35-22 halftime lead — a lead that was never threatened. Plab had 16 of her gan-e-high 24 points in the first half. Drake could get no closer than seven points in the second half.

The Salukis held the conference's most feared offense to 43 percent shooting, shut down two of Drake's top three guns, including Lorri Bauman, one of the best scorers in women's collegiate basketball.

Bauman came into the game averaging 29.3 points per game, shooting 62 percent from the floor and fresh off an NCAA record-breaking 58 points against Southwest Missouri. The record she broke was her own.

Against SIU-C, Bauman was held to 20 points, all coming in the second half when the Bulldogs abandoned their motion offense and cleared out for the 6-3 marksmen. She had 20 of her team's 27 second half points. By then, SIU-C had the game in the bag.

Led by Char Warring, who guarded Bauman straight up, the Salukis effectively denied Bauman from getting the ball anywhere near the basket, especially in the first half. Warring got weakside help from center Connie Price and assistance out front from Plab, Petra Jackson and Eleanor Carr.

"The turning point was Char's defense," said Carr. "If you keep her (Bauman) to 25 points you're gonna win. That was the ballgame."

Carr's play was a big part of the game too. She came off the bench early in the first half and sparked SIU-C to an 8-2 spurt that put the Salukis in charge. Twice Carr fed Price for easy layups.

Carr finished with five assists and four rebounds. Price scored 13 points on six for seven shooting and added nine rebounds.

With a seven point lead late in the first half, SIU-C spread its offense, worked the 30-second clock down to 15 seconds and looked for Plab in the corner. She hit three long-range jumpers and SIU-C had a 13-point halftime lead. Plab was right of 10 from the field in the first half, mostly on long-range jump shots.

SIU-C shot 55 percent from the field, and outrebounded Drake 34 to 23. Forward Jackson added 14 points and seven rebounds for SIU-C and Warring scored eight points before fouling out in the final minute.

After Saturday night's game against Northern Iowa, the Salukis will play this weekend at Bradley and Western Illinois as the conference season heats up. It started two weeks ago when the Salukis knocked off Illinois State and Indiana State on the road. SIU-C got 25 points from Price in a 64-58 triumph over Illinois State, picked for third in the conference behind SIU-C and Drake by Gateway coaches. At Indiana State, Jackson scored 20 points and SIU-C limited the Sycamores to 38 percent shooting in a 72-64 win.

Jackson has emerged as SIU-C's leading scorer, averaging more than 14 points per game. Seniors Warring, Plab and Price are also averaging in double figures. At the other starting spot, freshman guard Ann Kattreh has emerged, after Terry Schmittgens began the year as a starter.

Plab, Warring, and a ferocious defense gave SIU-C a big non-conference win Jan. 3 at Illinois. Plab scored 20 points, Warring added 19, and the Saluki player-to-player defense limited the Illini to 41 percent shooting.

In SIU-C's other game over break, the Salukis were upset 63-62 at DePaul.

"We still have some players who think they can beat people one-on-one and you can't do it in this league."

visitors shaved the Shocker lead to 51-43 on Chris George's stuff with 13 minutes left. The Salukis could not get closer than seven the rest of the way.

For the second straight game, SIU-C played a sluggish first half. Van Winkle found little solace in his team's strong second half effort, however.

"We gave a good effort in the second half but we still came up short," Van Winkle said. "We don't like to lose."

The Salukis were led in scoring by Nate Bufford and Bernard Campbell who each had 12 points. Campbell did not start for the first time this year. Pie Walker took his starting spot at forward.

"The key for us right now is maturity," Van Winkle said.

Frey says Cubs need consistency

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Frey doesn't appear at all concerned about assuming the managerial reins of the lowly Chicago Cubs, whose last pennant came 39 years ago.

"It's time for a change," said Frey, who managed the Kansas City Royals to the American League pennant in 1980 and worked as a coach for the New York Mets last year. "The first question I'm asked is what did I see in the Cubs that made me come over here."

"In the middle of last season, while I was coaching for the Mets and long before I had any inclination I'd become the manager of the Cubs, we were discussing the Cubs in the clubhouse," he recalled.

"I told everyone, 'The Cubs can scare you with their offense. They have high averages and they have five or six guys who can hit the ball out of the park.'"

"As it was," continued Frey, "they were second in the league in runs scored. All this team lacks is a consistent starting rotation to be a contender."

Frey feels the Cubs have added an important cog to the starting rotation with the acquisition of Scott Sanderson from Montreal for rookie first baseman Carmelo Martinez.

"We have added a winning starting pitcher and we haven't lost any offense," said Frey. "What we have to do is stabilize our starting rotation. I feel good about Dick Ruthven, Chuck Rainey and Scott Sanderson. We'll have to come up with one more to fill out the rotation, along with a fifth man as a spot starter."

Frey isn't very high on chances of trading for another starter "because everyone is looking for pitching." So the next best bet is to find someone who is available.

"I'd like to find one more starter in either Fergie Jenkins, Rick Reuschel, Dickie Noles, Steve Trout or Don Schulze," said Frey.

Jenkins is 40 and went from 14-15 in 1982 to 6-9 in 1983. Reuschel, 34, was released last year by the New York Yankees because of arm problems, but showed well in four starts with the Cubs last September.

Noles managed a 5-10 record while undergoing treatment for alcoholism. Trout was 10-14, but the 26-year-old lefthander has never lived up to expectations. Schulze is a 21-year-old with very little major league experience.

Frey is satisfied with the bullpen, anchored by Bill Campbell and Lee Smith. Campbell was on the verge of a brilliant year before he suffered arm problems due to overuse, and Smith led the National League in saves with 29.

There were reports that the Cubs tried very hard during the winter meetings to trade off hard-hitting first baseman Bill Buckner for more pitching. But Frey insisted that was not the case.

Ray Dorr replaces Dempsey as coach

By Jim Lexa
Sports Editor

Ray Dorr, the 13th man to be named head coach of the Saluki football team, said he is not superstitious and expects to develop a "total program."

"My goal as the Southern Illinois' head coach is to bring added identity and improvement to the football program," said Dorr, an assistant coach at the University of Washington the past nine years. He was named Jan. 6 to replace Ray Dempsey.

Dempsey left SIU-C Dec. 26 to become the head coach at Memphis State. He led SIU-C to the 1983 I-AA national football championship and compiled a 54-37 record in eight years at the Saluki helm. Dempsey took almost all his assistants with him to Memphis State.

Dorr, the quarterback coach at Washington, said he took the SIU-C head coaching job "because of the reputation these young men (the football players) have developed."

Dorr has a three-year contract and reportedly will make more than $40,000, but less than $46,000, which was Dempsey's salary.

Dorr, 42, was one of three finalists for the Saluki position. Jim Donnan, an assistant coach at Missouri, and Jay Cain, an assistant coach at Missouri Valley Conference rival Tulsa, were the other finalists.

Men's Athletics Director Lew Hartzog led a search committee that screened more than 70 applicants. Hartzog said that Dorr was the candidate most highly recommended by Dempsey.

Dorr was putting the finishing touches on his coaching staff last week. He said he possibly will add one more offensive coach to his staff.

Mike Michaels, Dorr said, will be the offensive coordinator and line coach. Michaels, an offensive line coach under Dempsey, had left the SIU-C coaching staff for one week for a job at Memphis State under Dempsey.

"I wanted to keep Mike around in order to add consistency to the program," Dorr said. "Ray didn't want Mike to leave his staff, but Mike has a great love for the school and the area."

Tim Sherrill will remain at SIU-C as the defensive line coach. Sherrill was an offensive line coach under Dempsey last year.

The quarterbacks and running backs coach will be Jim Bentivoglio, Dorr said. Bentivoglio was a scout with the Seattle Seahawks.

Buzzy Preston will be the wide receivers coach. Preston was the defensive secondary coach at Washington after a stint at the University of Hawaii as receivers coach for two years.

Defensively Dorr appears set with Larry McDaniels as his defensive coordinator. Larry Slade as the defensive secondary coach and Scott Anderson as the outside linebacker coach.

McDaniels left his head coaching job at Fairmont State for the Saluki position. Slade was the secondary coach at Howard University, while Anderson has been an assistant coach at Georgia Tech and at the University of Southern California.

While Dorr was at Washington, the Huskies won the Rose Bowl twice, including a crushing defeat of Iowa in the 1982 game. Dorr coached quarterback Warren Moon, who led the Huskies to a triumph over Michigan in the 1978 Rose Bowl. Moon is being sought by National Football League teams after becoming a free agent in the Canadian Football League.

The new coach said his biggest influence has been Washington head Coach Don James. Dorr has spent the last 13 years working as an assistant with James, including nine years at Washington and four years previous at Kent State. "Don James was a good thing," said Dorr. "I hitched my wagon to that star."

In replacing Dempsey, Dorr will have a tough act to follow.

"Obviously, the national championship will be difficult to repeat," he said, "especially with the number of senior lettermen that will be lost. But we have a good nucleus returning."

The Salukis will return 16 offensive and 11 defensive players from their two-deep lineup in the I-AA championship game.

Dorr said he will try hard to keep the players, the University and the community involved in the football program, "but obviously, winning and losing is the bottom line."

A key factor in "the bottom line" will be recruiting. SIU-C has lost valuable recruiting time in the past weeks.

The national letter of intent day is Feb. 8. While most head coaches were recruiting throughout the month of December, SIU-C was concentrating its efforts on the I-AA playoffs and Dempsey did not have time to recruit heavily. Also, Dempsey has taken most of his recruiting knowledge to Memphis State.

Dorr said he is concerned about the situation, but said he had no complaints.

"When Ray Dempsey came here, it wasn't that great of a job," Dorr said. "Now it's a lucrative place for someone to be. I want to give SIU what Ray Dempsey gave SIU, recognition and individual care to the athlete."

He said that the players returning next season will ease the recruiting load. One position Dorr will have to fill is at quarterback. Rick Johnson has ended his career as the owner or co-owner of 19 Saluki passing records.

Dorr said he would like to recruit a top junior college quarterback, but said he would prefer to develop a high school quarterback. He said he hopes there is a candidate already here.

"Obviously, the freshmen would be behind the other quarterbacks," Dorr said, "but they would be given the opportunity to learn the system here."

before them."

About the Shockers' situation, Van Winkle said, "You don't have to feel sorry for Wichita State."

The Shockers, 17-1 in the Valley last year and preseason favorites to repeat as champions in 1984, still have Xavier McDaniel, the nation's leading rebounder last year, and second team all-conference Aubrey Sherrod. Sherrod and McDaniel led Wichita State against the Salukis with 22 and 19 points, respectively.

Wichita State got out of the gate quickly, reeling off 13 straight points after SIU-C had scored the game's first four.

The Salukis pulled to within three midway through the first half and to within four with five minutes remaining, but McDaniel and Sherrod led a 16-2 spurt late in the half, giving the Shockers a halftime lead.

Saluki center Kenny Perry was forced to the bench at the 10-minute mark with three fouls. He did not play until the second half, but quickly picked up his fourth early in the stanza. The 6-11 junior fouled out of the game with 11 points with 5:44 left.

Down by 18 at halftime, the Salukis did not give in. The

A journey on the road in the Missouri Valley Conference has often proved to be a journey to the valley of death for many a MVC basketball team in recent years.

The 2-2 Saluki men (10-5 overall) may not be dead, but Saturday's 73-63 loss at Wichita State probably left them yearning for home, where they are 8-0 overall and 2-0 in the conference. On enemy territory, SIU-C is 0-5 overall and 0-2 in the MVC.

"It'll be important to see how our team matures in our upcoming games with Bradley and Wichita State," Saluki Coach Allen Van Winkle said. "After that we're going to have to work to stay up in this league."

The Shockers, meanwhile, shrugged off the loss of three players, including starters Bernard Jackson and Gilbert Wilburn, who left the team last week for personal reasons.

"We've been faced with adversity before," said WSU Coach Gene Smithson, whose team is off to a surprisingly mediocre 2-2 Missouri Valley start. "The players that remain on our roster have completely accepted the challenge that lies

Salukis win it all in NCAA 1-AA football

Salukis' finest hour brought 1-AA title

By Jim Lexa
Sports Editor

Memories of SIU-C's first national football championship are indelible for any who saw the Salukis crush Western Carolina 43-7 in the NCAA Division 1-AA title game Dec. 17 before a record crowd of 15,950 at Charleston, S.C.

SIU-C's finest hour in football was broadcast on national television, showing the rest of the country the keys that enabled the Salukis to run their record to 13-1 and finish as the most winning college football team for the 1983 season.

Saluki Coach Ray Dempsey, who subsequently was to depart SIU-C for the head coaching job at Memphis State, called it "the greatest season I've ever been connected with."

In the championship game, seven interceptions by the defense, including four by safety Greg Shipp, helped shut down a Western Carolina attack that had been averaging more than 360 yards, 25 points and 20 first downs per game.

The defense yielded just 238 yards, 15 first downs and a late fourth-quarter touchdown. Shipp was voted the Player of the Game by ABC-TV.

Catamount quarterback Jeff Gilbert completed 16 of 33 passes for 154 yards and one touchdown, but eight of his completions, 83 yards passing and his touchdown pass came late in the fourth quarter when the game's outcome was no longer in doubt.

The Saluki secondary shut down Western Carolina flanker Eric Rasheed and split end Kristy Kiser. After Rasheed and Kiser had combined for 148 receptions for 2,021 yards and 18 touchdowns in the Catamounts' 14 regular season and playoff games, the pair caught just three passes for 44 yards and one touchdown in the title game.

Cornerbacks Terry Taylor and Donnell Daniel guarded Kiser and Rasheed with one-on-one coverage, but Catamount Coach Bob Waters was later to declare that the man-to-man coverages hadn't hurt his squad's passing attack.

"It shouldn't have taken anything else away from us," Waters said.

Dempsey said the Saluki defensive line was the key.

"We felt their offensive line was suspect and just normal," Dempsey said. "They were not as tough as some of the other offensive lines we've faced."

Dempsey said the "many different looks" the defensive line showed Gilbert forced the Catamount quarterback to check off and call more audibles at the line of scrimmage than he had expected.

Meanwhile, Rick Johnson took advantage of good field position and directed the offense to its third-highest point total of the season. Johnson completed 19 of 25 passes for 213 yards and two touchdowns. Unlike Gilbert, Johnson threw no interceptions.

Johnson continually found split end James Stevenson, who finished with five catches for 88 yards and one touchdown. Derrick Taylor came out of the backfield to catch six passes for 39 yards.

"I think Rick Johnson has a great arm," Dempsey said. "He doesn't have a cannon, but he can pass for a lot of yards."

Johnson said he felt that the offense had something to prove in the championship game. During the week before the game, Johnson had said "everybody was praising the defense, which is only right. They've done a great job."

After leading the Missouri Valley Conference in scoring with a 32.6 points per game average, the offensive unit was miffed a little by being ignored, Johnson said.

"The offense got fired up after a mandatory press conference where all anybody wanted to talk about was the defense," Johnson said. "We got the offense together and talked about our role in the game."

After receiving poor field position in the first quarter, when three drives ended with two punts and a fumble, things improved for the offense.

In the second, third and fourth quarters, the Salukis started seven of 13 drives in Western Carolina territory and two others with the ball at the SIU-C 49- and 43-yard lines. Of those nine drives, six were converted into 38 points and one ended with the Salukis holding the football at halftime.

The first half ended with SIU-C leading just 10-0, but an explosive third quarter helped turn the game into a rout with the Saluki squad celebrating on the sidelines during the fourth quarter.

Western Carolina had several chances to score in the first half, but the Saluki defense made several key plays to turn the momentum around.

Midway through the first quarter, Catamount tailbacks Melvin Dorsey and Leonard Williams led Western Carolina from its 43-yard line to the Saluki 4-yard line.

Saluki safety B.T. Thomas tackled Williams in the backfield for a six-yard loss on first down. On the next play, defensive tackle Ed Norman forced Gilbert to fumble and Mike Brascia recovered at the 18-yard line.

Catamount Coach Bob Waters called that drive "critical" to the outcome of the game and said that the Norman sack turned the game around.

"We should have come away with something from there," Waters said.

On their next drive the Catamounts missed a 52-yard field goal. After the Salukis were forced to punt, SIU-C could do no wrong.

Shipp intercepted his first pass and returned it to the Western 20-yard line early in the second quarter. Five plays later, Johnson hit Taylor for a 10-yard pass that gave the Salukis a 7-0 lead.

The Salukis put together their longest drive of the game the next time they had the ball. Johnson moved the squad 44 yards, highlighted by three completions to Stevenson that netted 12 yards. After the drive stalled at the 18-yard line, Ron Miller kicked a 36-yard field goal that made the score 10-0 with 2:15 left in the half.

Gilbert's last pass of the first half was intercepted by Shipp and his first pass of the second half was picked off by Thomas, giving the Salukis the ball at the Western 37-yard line.

The Salukis marched downfield in eight plays on the strength of a 20-yard completion from Johnson to Stevenson and a 13-yard Johnson bootleg that moved the football to the 1-yard line. Johnson scored two plays later on a quarterback sneak, making the score 17-0.

Defensive tackle Ed Norman sacks WCU quarterback Jeff Gilbert.

Shipp intercepted his third pass of the game with 4:41 left in the third quarter and the Salukis wasted no time increasing their lead. On first down, Johnson found Stevenson all alone in the end zone for a 26-yard scoring pass.

Western Carolina tried bringing some life to its offense with a flea-flicker pass play, but Terry Taylor killed that move with an interception at the SIU-C 43-yard line. After SIU-C punted to the Catamount 9-yard line, Kenny Foster tackled Dorsey in the end zone for a safety, making the score 28-0. Tony Adams took the free kick for the Salukis and ran it back 69 yards to the Catamount 13-yard line.

Two plays after Terry Green ran 12 yards to the 1-yard line, Green carried the ball into the end zone, raising the score to 33-0 with less than a minute left in the third quarter.

The fourth quarter was icing on the cake for the Salukis. A 23-yard field goal by Miller increased SIU-C's lead to 36-0 midway through the quarter.

In the Catamounts' lone scoring drive, Gilbert moved the Catamounts 85 yards downfield midway through the fourth quarter. After Western Carolina scored with five and a half minutes left, the Salukis answered with the game's final points on an eight-play drive that covered 30 yards and was kept alive by a roughing-the-punter penalty. Green scored on a 10-yard run, making the score 43-7 with 56 seconds left.

Defensive backs coach Fred Manuel did a little jig through one of the end zones as he made his way to the Saluki sidelines from the coaches' box in the final minutes.

In the locker room after the game, the Salukis whooped it up, cheering each other and raising index fingers in the "We're No. 1" gesture as they gathered around the I-AA championship trophy and passed around cans of pop as if they were bottles of champagne.

Shipp voted MVP of game, says he's 'just glad we won'

By Jim Lexa
Sports Editor

SU-C's 43-7 romp over Western Carolina for the 1-AA national championship was certainly a game to end a season on.

For Saluki safety Greg Shipp, it was more than that. It was a game to end a collegiate career on. Shipp was voted the Chevrolet Player of the Game by ABC.

"I'm just glad we won," Shipp said. Last season Shipp, a fifth-year senior, watched his defensive teammates tie the school interception record of 20. After intercepting nine passes in his first two seasons, Shipp was shut out last year. Shipp also was the defensive back covering the Arkansas State receiver who scored the winning touchdown in the final seconds that sent the Salukis reeling into a four-game losing streak in the 1982 season.

This season the defense intercepted 41 passes. Shipp recorded nine interceptions, a school record. Shipp also saved this year's Arkansas State game with an interception near the goal line on the last play of the game.

Shipp went to work, though, when the pressure was on. Five of his interceptions came in the playoffs, with four coming in the title game on national television. Twice Shipp picked off passes that teammate Donnell Daniel tipped away from Catamount receiver Eric Rasheed.

Daniel said "I just reached over his head and tipped the ball. Fortunately, Greg Shipp was there."

Shipp, though, said he was "in the right place at the right time."

"We were in man-to-man coverage and I was free to roam," Shipp said. "In practice, we work on running to the ball when it's in the air."

Although the season is over, Shipp may still have to work on running to the ball. The Birmingham Stallions of the United States Football League drafted Shipp in the sixteenth round, probably mostly because of his playoff performance.

'Dog power' carried the day It was fantastic!

By Jeff Wilkinson
Staff Writer

In the end, the Dogs had their way on the football field and earned a national championship trophy, but Saluki fans' efforts to claim a trophy — the goal posts at The Citadel's Johnson Hagood Memorial Stadium — were thwarted by real dogs.

The Charleston Police Department must have been watching SIU-C's playoff victories with particular attention to the post-game celebrations at McAndrew Stadium. With a minute left on the clock, as Saluki fans lined the field in jubilation, Charleston's finest moved in with the heavy artillery — several officers mounted on horseback, a contingent of The Citadel cadets and two extremely vicious police dogs.

That was more than enough. You can't argue with police dogs, so Saluki fans had to be satisfied with petting the horses (an act the horses received with apparent boredom), shaking hands with the cadets (who were visibly amused), and acting insane for the ABC-TV cameras.

But SIU-C fans found another target of opportunity, namely a practice goal post in the parking lot outside the stadium. The Citadel may have to buy another practice goal post, but two SIU-C fans had to pay the price of a disorderly conduct charge for their efforts.

The goal post downing was fun, if you didn't get caught, but it was just one small part of the fan festivities in Charleston that day.

By noon, the crowd had started to arrive. Long lines of cars surrounded the stadium, many of the cars painted with plaquards to either the Catamounts or the Salukis. The temperature was high for December, in the mid-60s, and so were the spirits of the football faithful who had made the short plane trip or long drive from freezing Southern Illinois or the shorter drive from the mountains of Cullowhee, N.C.

The Southern Illinois crowd was estimated at 1,500, outnumbered by Western Carolina fans about four to one. But the vocal fans in maroon gained the upper hand in the shouting contest.

"The Cats are Dog meat!" shouted one fan.

"We didn't drive 900 miles to lose!" shouted another who was dressed completely in SIU-C "terrible towels" and maroon body paint.

The Marching Salukis were typically crazy, complete with a Santa Claus playing timpani as the cameras rolled around him.

Homemade banners and signs fluttered in the sea breezes as fans hoped to draw the attention of ABC cameras. One simply stated "Dog Power!" Another read, "ABC and SIU: No. 1 in coverage!"

And it was the Saluki pass defenders who ruled the day, shutting down everything that came their way. The two sections of SIU-C fans remained standing and shouting throughout the game as Western fans, after a first quarter surge, became relatively quiet, waiting for something to cheer about. It never came.

By the fourth quarter the SIU-C defense had not allowed a point. In the north stands, SIU-C fans had already started the victory celebration, while on the south side, WCU fans had to be satisfied with cheering their starting team as heroes as they left the game to give the substitutes a chance to play in the national championship.

With five minutes left on the clock, the Western offense finally scored on SIU-C's second-team defense. The SIU-C fans went nuts, cheering as loudly for the Western touchdown as they had for their own. Even SIU-C players, congratulating each other on the sidelines, screamed their approval.

As Catamount fans on the SIU-C side of the field began to file out, SIU-C fans waved good-bye, shouting "See you next year!" and "Bring on Nebraska!"

Western Carolina fans took the defeat with class. SIU-C fans were surprised at what good sports they were. Many Cat fans began shaking hands and heaping praise on Southern's fine team and season. When the two SIU-C students were arrested for tearing down the practice goal post, a Western Carolina alumnus tried to talk the police out of it and WCU fans joined SIU-C fans in shouting for their release. Western Carolina may have lost the game, but they lost with style.

After the celebrations at the stadium had ended, it was time for fans from both sides to come together, drink a little champagne, discuss the game and reflect on their teams' remarkable seasons.

Some made their way to the beaches to pop their corks into the Atlantic and drink to victory. Others made for hotel room parties. But many fans headed for the downtown clubs to dance the night away.

One club in particular, the No Name Cafe, looked more like a Strip bar on Saturday night than a Charleston disco as a couple of hundred Saluki fans jammed in to celebrate and mix with Western fans.

In the end, the stark divisions between the ranks of Southern Illinois and Western Carolina had disappeared.

"We just wanted to beat Furman," said one Western fan. "That was our season. Y'all have a great team. How's it feel to be national champions?"

"Beautiful," answered a Saluki fan drunk with victory. "Just beautiful."

Salukis rewrite record book; 21 official standards posted

By Dan Devine
Staff Writer

It was a record record-breaking season for the Saluki football team.

Officially, the Salukis set or tied seven NCAA Division I-AA records, two Missouri Valley Conference records, and 12 SIU-C records.

The major ones, of course, were the 13-1 season, the most wins ever by a Saluki football team, and the NCAA Division I-AA title, the first such title claimed by SIU-C. The Salukis won their first 10 games, dropped the season finale to Wichita State and then knocked off three opponents in the playoffs.

The Saluki secondary and freshman kicker Ron Miller made the biggest dents in the record books.

Safety Greg Shipp led the way with nine interceptions this season and four in a single game. Cornerback Terry Taylor finished his career with 20 thefts, and cornerback Donnell Daniel ran back three of his interceptions for touchdowns.

As a group, the defensive unit picked off 41 enemy aerials, including eight against New Mexico State at Homecoming. During the season, SIU-C returned interceptions for 447 yards (10.9 yards per return) and four touchdowns.

Miller started his career by eclipsing the standards of every previous Saluki placekicker. Miller made all 56 extra point attempts that he tried and 18 of 22 field goals for 110 points.

The defense set a Valley mark by gaining 51 turnovers, which helped the offense to score 56 touchdowns and 448 points, both school marks.

NCAA records set:

Team
Most consecutive extra points kicked, season — 56.

Most yards gained on interception returns, season — 447.

Most interceptions, game — 8 vs. New Mexico State.

Each board may develop its own operating paper. Each operating paper shall be reviewed by the Office of the Dean of Student Life to insure consistency with the provisions of this Code.

(4) Administrative Advisors
Each judicial board shall have an administrative advisor from the Office of Student Life. The advisor's role shall be limited to providing guidance and clarification. The advisor shall sit with the panel in both open and executive sessions.

(5) Terms
Each judicial board shall be in session for twelve weeks during the fall and spring terms and for four weeks during the summer term. A board is not expected to meet during the first two nor the last two weeks of a term. Disciplinary cases shall be adjudicated by an administrative hearing officer when a board is not in session or is in default.

(6) Prozors
A judicial board shall make a decision of guilt or innocence and shall make a recommendation on the sanction to the appropriate administrative hearing officer.
b. Administrative Hearing Officer
An administrative hearing officer appointed by the Dean of Student Life shall be available at all levels to conduct disciplinary cases.

6. Judicial Hearings
a. Time limitations
(1) A student electing formal adjudication shall have a minimum of five days written notice prior to a hearing.
(2) A student shall have five days after receiving notification of the decision in which to submit an appeal.

b. Failure to appear
If a student fails to appear at a judicial hearing, the hearing shall be held in absentia when the charged student fails to appear. An appeal shall be dismissed when the student fails to appear.

c. Tape recordings
All formal judicial hearings shall be tape recorded. After the appeal period has expired, the tape shall be erased.

d. Challenge for cause
A student may challenge panel members without assigning any cause. A peremptory challenge will be automatically honored by the chair of the panel.

e. Peremptory challenge
A student may challenge one panel member without assigning any cause. A peremptory challenge will be automatically honored by the chair of the panel.

f. Confidentiality
All evidence, facts, comments and discussion at a closed hearing and all executive sessions shall be held in strict confidence. Failure to maintain confidentiality may result in administrative removal of judicial board members by the Dean of Student Life.

7. Sanctions
A student's disciplinary history shall have no bearing on the question of guilt or innocence. If, however, a student is found to be in violation of the Code, the full disciplinary history shall be considered in determining sanction. The Dean of Student Life shall request the student's disciplinary records from the academic dean. The academic dean and the Dean of Student Life shall develop lines of communication to keep each other apprised of the student's disciplinary history, for this purpose.

Sanctions which may be imposed are:
(1) Disciplinary reprimand
(2) Disciplinary censure
(3) Disciplinary probation
(4) Disciplinary suspension
(5) Indefinite suspension
(6) Interim separation
(7) Involuntary withdrawal

8. Notification
The Coordinator of Student Discipline shall send written notification of the decision of the hearing and sanction(s) to the student. Such notification will normally be sent within five days of receipt of the judicial board's recommendation or within five days of the administrative hearing.

9. Appeals
Any disciplinary determination or sanction involving social misconduct may be appealed to the next level in the judicial structure by submitting an application for appeal in writing to the Dean of Student Life or the Vice President for Student Affairs, as appropriate, within five days after receiving notification of the prior decision. However, the right of appeal does not guarantee that the student will be granted a full rehearing of the case, but will be limited to the issues set forth in Subparagraph c. below.

a. The student may submit a preference for an appeal hearing before a judicial board or an administrative hearing officer. The appropriate university official shall decide the hearing agent.

b. The burden of proof at the initial jurisdiction level is on the University. At the appeal level, however, the student bears the burden of demonstrating error as defined in the following item (f).

c. Three issues constitute possible grounds for an appeal:
(1) Were judicial procedures correctly followed?
(2) Did the evidence justify a decision against the student?
(3) Was the sanction(s) imposed in keeping with the gravity of the violation? Previous violation(s) of the Code and the accompanying sanction(s) will be considered in determining a proper sanction for a current violation.

d. The appropriate committee of the judicial board or the administrative hearing officer will review the appeal and ascertain whether there are sufficient grounds for a hearing.

e. If an appeal hearing is granted, the agent hearing the appeal will not rehear the case. The agent will limit its review to the specific points of the appeal that were accepted at the screening review.

f. The agent hearing the appeal may:
(1) Affirm the decision(s) of the initial jurisdiction.
(2) Affirm the decision(s) and reduce the sanction.
(3) Modify the decision(s) of violation and reduce the sanction.

(4) Reverse the decision(s) of violation, and remove the sanction, and dismiss the case.

g. A student dissatisfied with the decision of the Vice President for Student Affairs may seek review by the President by submitting such a request in writing within five days after receiving notification of the prior decision. Review by the President shall also be limited to the issues specified in Subparagraph c. above.

h. Further appeal may be made to the Board of Trustees by filing an application for appeal in accordance with Article VI Section 2 of the Board Bylaws. The Board of Trustees will review only those administrative decisions which meet the requirements for review established by the Board's Bylaws.

10. Implementation of Sanction(s)
a. The disciplinary sanction(s) shall be implemented when:
(1) The student has waived the right of appeal, or
(2) The appeal period has expired, or
(3) As specified by the final adjudicating agent.

b. A student separated from the University for disciplinary reasons is subject to the normal guidelines for tuition and fee refunds, grades and financial penalties for terminating a housing contract.

c. Any type of disciplinary separation from the University may be accompanied by a condition which bars the student from University property.

11. Exceptions
The above procedures shall be followed unless an exception is authorized in writing by the Dean of Student Life. All requests for temporary exceptions shall be submitted to the Dean of Student Life in writing. Any exception allowed shall be limited to individual cases and shall not infringe upon a student's right to written notice, opportunity for a hearing and an appeal.

VI. AMENDING PROCEDURES

1. Review and/or Revisions
At the request of any recognized constituency or to the Code, the Vice President for Student Affairs, the President or that officer's designee shall appoint a committee to consider amendments to this Code. The committee shall consist of two undergraduate students, one graduate student, two faculty members, one academic dean, one representative from the University Housing Office, one representative from the Legal Counsel Office. The student and faculty members shall be designated by their appropriate constituencies. The Vice President for Student Affairs shall appoint a chairperson for the committee, who may be one of the members listed above.

2. Amendments
The President may propose to the Chancellor amendments to the Code. Whenever the circumstances allow, due consideration shall be given to the recommendations of the committee provided for in the preceding paragraph. Amendment will be accomplished by the regular procedures for amendment of University Policy.

C. Notification

Any amendment of the Code shall become effective only after general notice of such change has been given to the student body, faculty and administrative staff. General notice shall include, but not be limited to, public notification of approved amendments twice a semester in the Syllabus and the Daily Egyptian and their entirety within seven days after approval of said amendments by the Chancellor.

Saluki players gather honors as part of winning team effort

By Daryl Van Schouwen
Staff Writer

Great players make great teams, and the national champion Salukis are no exception to that rule. Thirteen Salukis received All-Missouri Valley Conference honors with five landing spots on the first team.

Cornerbacks Terry Taylor and Donnell Daniel were named to All-America teams. Taylor made the Kodak team and Daniel was named to the Associated Press team.

Defensive linemen Ken Foster and Sterling Haywood, linebacker Granville Butler and offensive lineman Brad Pilgard joined Daniel on the All-Missouri Valley first team. No other team placed more defensive players on the first team than the Salukis.

Only Missouri Valley champion Tulsa had more players — seven — on the entire first team.

The Saluki defense, first in the MVC in passing defense, rushing defense, total defense and scoring defense, placed four players on the second All-MVC team: Taylor, safety Greg Shipp, linebacker Fabray Collins, and punter Drew Morrison. Placekicker Ron Miller was named from the offense.

Quarterback Rick Johnson, wide receiver James Stevenson and safety B.T. Thomas received honorable mentions.

The defense and special teams became the trademarks of the 1983 Salukis, and of the 13 Salukis named to the 1983 All-MVC team, nine played on either the defense or the special teams.

The Saluki players were not the only recipients of individual accolades. Memphis State-bound Coach Ray Dempsey was named Eastman Kodak's Coach of the Year. Dempsey also was named MVC Coach of the Year in balloting by league media and coaches.

Dempsey received 18 first place votes and 41 points to easily outdistance Illinois State's Bob Otolski for the honor. Otolski, who guided the Redbirds to a 6-4-1 record (the school's best in 10 years), received three first place votes and 15 points. Indiana State's Dennis Raetz and Tulsa's John Cooper also received votes.

Dempsey moves on to new job after leading SIU-C to heights

By Dan Devine
Staff Writer

Ray Dempsey knew all along that he could parlay a Saluki Division I-AA title into a job higher on the coaching scale. During the season, when word had it that he was being considered at other schools, Dempsey hinted that a school that wanted him badly enough would find him receptive to any offer.

After the Salukis had wrapped up the I-AA title, a reporter, thinking of the rumors that had Dempsey leaving for Minnesota, Rice, Memphis State or anyplace that would pursue him ardently enough, asked the coach if he would be back next year.

Dempsey deadpanned, "Where? Here in Charleston?"

For a man who cracked jokes about as often as Terry Taylor got beat on a deep pass, it was a good line, if an accidental one.

A week later he was gone, stepping up the coaching ladder to accept a post at Memphis State, which lost its head football coach in a plane crash just weeks earlier.

At Memphis State, he will inherit an improving football team. The Tigers went unbeaten in their last five games (4-0-1) to finish with a 6-4-1 record this season. Their last two recruiting campaigns are the best in the school's history, according to school officials. They are a young team seemingly on the verge of big things.

Dempsey will enjoy a better salary, too. Former Coach Rex Dockery made more than $100,000, netting some $60,000 from a television show.

The Memphis State situation is in marked contrast to the one Dempsey tackled upon his arrival at SIU-C. Eight years ago he was faced with a team that had won just seven games in the previous four years.

In his inaugural season SIU-C went 7-4, the first of six winning seasons during Dempsey's Saluki career. During his time at SIU-C, the Salukis had 7-4, 3-8, 7-4, 8-3, 3-8 7-4, 6-5 and 13-1 seasons.

He relentlessly drove himself and his staff to greater efforts. In 1977 he said that he worked 16 to 18 hours a day. In 1982 he confessed that he had slacked off and was down to about 14 hours and had even given up the habit of keeping a pad and paper on his nightstand in case he woke up in the middle of the night with an idea.

Dempsey continued that pace through recruiting season. He built the Salukis by establishing recruiting grounds throughout the Midwest, especially in Chicago and Memphis while retaining his old connections in Youngstown, Ohio. He coached at Youngstown State in 1973 and 1974 and was a well-recognized high school coach in the area before that.

Dempsey is a professed born-again Christian and many of his players either came here with the same religious intensity or picked it up from him. He was never hesitant to preach to his players in long inspirational talks.

Dempsey was heard after one practice exhorting his players not to get down on each other because that would be letting the Devil into their hearts. Many of his players echoed him in interviews, giving credit for their success to God, and "all glory and honor to the Lord."

The Salukis came close but never quite managed to win a Missouri Valley Conference title. This year, a season-ending loss to Wichita State dropped the Salukis' MVC mark to 4-1, one game behind Tulsa's 5-0 mark. That goal, though, was eclipsed by another goal that Dempsey set his sights on two years ago.

An NCAA shakeup had relegated the Salukis to Division I-AA status because of inadequate attendance. Dempsey was initially disappointed in the drop but it gave the Salukis an opportunity to compete at their own level.

Three Cheers for the National Champs! Congratulations Salukis!

Grid title 'something to rally around'

By Darvil Van Schouwen
Staff Writer

The 1983 Saluki football team's winning of 13 of 14 games en route to a national championship instigated a sense of Saluki pride not seen in these parts for some time.

The '83 season is history. And now that the smoke has cleared and the dust has settled, what does SIU-C have to show for its national champion football team?

In terms of dollars and cents, the effects will probably not be known until March, when the Athletics Department expects to find out just how large its slice of the post-season revenue pie will be.

According to Athletics Department business manager Reggie Shand, SIU-C will share in 10 percent of the net revenue generated by the playoff games gate receipts and radio and television money. The 10 percent will be divided among the teams in the Missouri Valley Conference, with SIU-C getting 25 percent off the top of that sum. The conference office will get 19 percent of the remainder and the remaining green will be divided eight ways by Valley teams, but SIU-C will get a double share of that.

But whatever the dollars-and-cents payoff, the exposure given to SIU-C is tremendously valuable, according to Jack Dyer, executive director of university relations.

"A PR dream," Dyer said. "People don't always relate to first-rate academic programs but they can relate to football and basketball. That's too bad but that's the way it is."

"This was tremendous for our alumni. All over the country, they finally got to see our team right there on national television with the Michigans, Texas and Illinois. It gave alumni everywhere something to rally around."

Bob Odaniell, executive director of the Alumni Association, said alumni groups in many places throughout the country gathered to watch the championship game.

Three Southern boosters make their Saluki pride known while watching the Salukis roll to victory at Charleston.

"The game had a very positive response from our alumni just as it did when our basketball team won the NIT," Odaniell said.

The Walt Frazier-led 1967 Saluki basketball team captured the hearts of the New York City media when it won the National Invitational Tournament. That team, "from the hills of Southern Illinois" went to the Big Apple and returned with a championship in tow that put SIU-C on the map.

"Without a doubt, our football team is the most rewarding team since the NIT champions in 1967," said Assistant Athletics Director Fred Huff, who was sports information director in 1967.

"I always feel that the most recent is the greatest. It's hard to compare the two. You're not comparing apples with apples. But there is no question that those two events are the two most successful in SIU history.

"With the game on national TV you just can't put a price tag on it. It created awareness, acceptance and recognition. Suddenly, we're hearing from friends we haven't heard from in years."

Congratulatory letters and telegrams have streamed in from a variety of people across the country, Huff said, ranging from Governor Thompson's two-page telegram which included a team invitation to the governor's mansion, to a letter from an ex-Saluki track letterman from Idaho who said he proudly pointed out to his young son "the track daddy ran around" at McAndrew Stadium. Another man from Kentucky simply sent a $5 check to the Athletics Department along with a short note stating that he "was very impressed" with Ray Dempsey and the Saluki football team.

"Those types of letters were very typical," Huff said.

Huff said the national championship "has rekindled excitement among SIU alumni and friends all over the country. It has caused them to become active again."

Activity in the form of alumni contributions would no doubt be appreciated by the University, but the SIU Foundation doesn't really expect big dollars to come pouring in as a result of the football team's success, according to Dr. Anne Carman, the foundation's director of annual giving.

"By and large, nationally, we've found that it doesn't cause contributions to go up and down dramatically," Carman said. "Any impact would be felt by the Athletics Department in the form of contributions and gifts directly to it."

"It's still way to early to tell what effect the team's success will have," said foundation accountant Brad Bowen. "There is no way of knowing yet."

The Missouri Valley Conference benefitted from the Salukis' championship victory.

"Not only with the win, but just being in the game," Valley publicist Jeff Hurd said. "With the exception of Tulsa, the league has struggled in football. The championship gave our league some credibility."

Dempsey's replacement, Ray Dorr, said the national championship gave SIU alumni "something to be proud about, an identity with SIU."

"It will aid the total athletic program," Dorr said. "SIU always has had excellent swimming, baseball, track, and other programs. This has given football its rightful place."

"Hopefully we can build on what's been accomplished and grow into a power at our particular level."

Powerful defense was key to super Saluki performance

By Dan Devine
Staff Writer

The defensive line harassed the passers and clogged the middle, the linebackers mopped up and the defensive backs made the air unsafe for the enemy quarterback and receivers. And SIU-C rolled to a convincing NCAA Division I-AA championship.

"We play a pro-type defense and we've got it down," said former Saluki Coach Ray Dempsey following his team's 43-7 rout of Western Carolina in the title game.

"They've got great players back there," said a teary-eyed Catamount Coach Bob Waters after watching the Salukis tear his team apart. "I don't like them, but I'm sure Ray does."

Defense was the key for the Salukis this season. It did more than shut down most opponents — it also set up an ordinary offense that put together enough short touchdown drives to average more than 32 points per game.

The experienced defenders — seven will graduate — were the best in the Missouri Valley Conference this year, leading the league against the run and pass and in scoring defense.

SIU-C allowed only 130 yards per game against the run during the regular season, 11 rushing touchdowns and 2.75 yards per running play. Against the pass the Salukis limited teams to 121 yards per game, nine touchdowns and 4.4 yards per pass attempt. They also intercepted 41 passes, including seven in the championship game.

The Saluki defense allowed 14.3 points per game during the regular season and gained a conference high 51 turnovers.

In the playoffs, they exceeded themselves, giving up just 21 points in three games. Indiana State got 55 yards (44 yards came on a run early in the game), Nevada-Reno managed 128 yards and Western Carolina got 238 yards but couldn't score until Dempsey had his second team on the field.

Great players, especially in the secondary, were the key to Dempsey's complicated defensive system, which employed myriad formations and defensive looks.

Cornerbacks Terry Taylor and Donnell Daniel played man-to-man defense on the outside, enabling the Salukis to stack men on the line to stop the run. On passing downs, the pass rush set up interceptions.

"I'd rather have my defense lead the conference against the run than against the pass," Dempsey said. "If teams aren't running against you, then they are passing and that means you are usually ahead."

Taylor and Daniel were both drafted by the Chicago Blitz of the United States Football League and both will probably be selected when the National Football League conducts its draft.

Greg Shipp intercepted nine passes to lead SIU-C, while Taylor had eight, Daniel seven, and safety B.T. Thomas added six. Daniel ran three back for touchdowns, and Taylor a d linebacker Granville Butler also reached the end zone after interceptions. Butler went 68 yards with his while Taylor scored twice with interceptions.

Throughout the season the Saluki secondary shifted any praise to the defensive lineman, crediting a fierce pass rush for setting up the interceptions.

Led by middle guard Sterling Haywood and tackles Ed Norman and Ken Foster, SIU-C had 60 quarterback sacks. Haywood, 5-foot-10 and 213 pounds, led the team with 10.

Duncan Levester replaced an injured Haywood in the championship game and did "a great job," defensive coordinator Carl Angelo said.

The defensive line kept run blockers off linebackers Fabray Collins and Granville Butler, who led the team in tackles. Collins had 160 and Butler had 152.

Game by game, Dogs' dream came true

By Jim Lexa
Sports Editor

Sometimes dreams come true.

The dream of a championship season for the Saluki football squad started after last season's disappointing 6-5 record. Talk of making the NCAA I-AA playoffs in 1982 surfaced after the squad ran its record to 3-0.

After a last-second defeat to Arkansas State in the fourth game of the season, the Salukis dropped their next three games before rebounding and winning three of their last four games to bring them above the .500 mark.

After the 1982 season, former Saluki Coach Rey Dempsey said the team committed itself to winning the 1983 I-AA championship.

In 1983, the only Saluki "losing streak" lasted just one game, a 28-6 loss to Wichita State in the season finale that ended a dream of becoming the first Saluki squad to be 11-0 during the regular season. The loss dropped SIU-C from the No. 1 ranking after the squad had held the top spot for three weeks.

Heading into the playoffs, SIU-C had regained the No. 1 ranking and had totally disproved a preseason Missouri Valley Conference coaches' poll that picked the Salukis for a third-place finish and a MVC media poll that picked them to finish fourth.

Game by game, here's how the championship season went:

SIU-C 35, WESTERN ILLINOIS 7

Heading into the season opener at Western Illinois, SIU-C was unproven and untested. Dempsey had finally won his first season opener at SIU-C against Western the previous year after six straight opening losses. The Saluki squad knew that it needed to defeat Western again in order to begin the season off on the right foot.

Quarterback Rick Johnson picked up where he left off the year before, passing for 174 yards and two touchdowns while completing 10 of 26 attempts in leading the Salukis to a 38-6 triumph. Johnson, though, left the game late in the third quarter with injuries to his left knee and ankle.

While wearing a cast on his leg, Johnson said he would be ready for SIU-C's next game, against Eastern Illinois, but Dempsey would not say if and when Johnson would be back.

SIU-C 17, EASTERN ILLINOIS 14

Speculation ended about the quarterback question when backup Darren Dixon started SIU-C's home opener. Dixon had completed just 11 of 30 passes while seeing part-time action behind Johnson. Called a "big play quarterback" by Dempsey, Dixon completed only 13 of 37 passes, but threw for 232 yards and one touchdown.

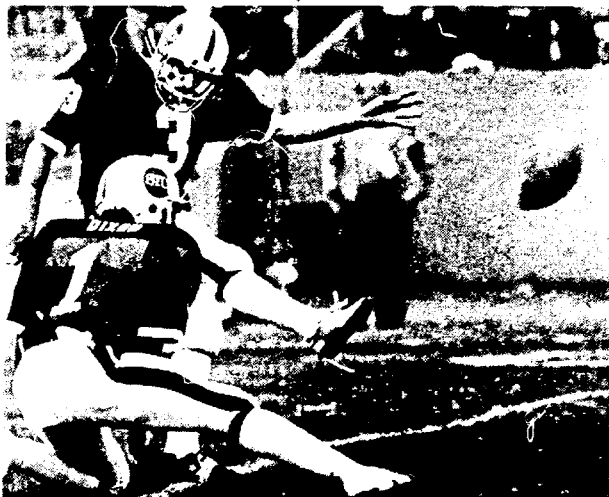

The special teams shot into the spotlight by blocking a punt that Mike Brascia fell on in the end zone to tie the game at 14-14 early in the third quarter. Ron Miller kicked the go-ahead field goal late in the same quarter.

Just when it appeared Eastern was finished, the Panthers mounted a late drive, but with 20 seconds left Terry Taylor blocked a game-tying field goal attempt. Taylor said winning the Eastern game was important for SIU-C because it got the team "over the hump" early in the season.

SIU-C 56, SEMO 7

In running their record to 3-0, the Saluki backfield ran wild at McAndrew Stadium, gaining 302 yards on 59 carries (5.1 yards per carry) and scoring six touchdowns as the team romped to a 35-0 halftime lead over Southeast Missouri State. Dixon was on target, completing seven of nine passes for 167 yards.

The defense, led by Granville Butler's 10 tackles and 68 yard interception return for the game's second touchdown, limited SEMO's offense to 26 yards rushing, 138 total yards and 11 first downs (three by penalty).

During the NCAA I-AA championship game, Saluki kicker Ron Miller extended his string of extra points to a record 56 in a row.

SIU-C 52, NORTHERN IOWA 9

Johnson started his first game since he was injured, but played sparingly in Northern Iowa's domed stadium. Tailback Derrick Taylor provided an early boost for the Salukis. Rushing for 108 yards and three touchdowns on just nine carries in the first half, including an 80-yard run early in the second quarter, Taylor led SIU-C to a 35-0 halftime lead.

The special teams recovered three fumbled UNI punt returns that led to Saluki touchdowns and also blocked a UNI punt in the end zone, which Terry Taylor recovered, all in the first half.

SIU-C 35, ARKANSAS STATE 28

Johnson rallied the Salukis from 14-0, 21-14 and 28-21 deficits and Greg Snipp made a game-ending, goal-line interception to preserve SIU-C's third road win of the year. Last year, the Indians sent the Salukis reeling into a four-game losing streak and it appeared they would snap another SIU-C winning streak.

Derrick Taylor scored on a 2-yard run. After Mike Brascia recovered an Indian fumble at their 15-yard line two plays later, Johnson tied the score at 14-14 on a seven-yard touchdown pass to tight end Carey Shepard.

With the Salukis down 28-21, Brascia recovered another fumble at the Indian 42-yard line early in the third quarter. Johnson ended a seven-play drive with a four-yard scoring strike to James Stevenson.

Terry Taylor blocked an Arkansas State field goal attempt early in the fourth quarter and the Salukis took over at their 20-yard line. Everett Wilson ran for 29 yards, Green for 19 and Johnson threw three completions for 18 yards before sneaking over the game-winning touchdown from the 1-yard line with 4:49 left to play.

With 1:32 remaining, the Indians moved 66 yards to SIU-C's 20-yard line before Shipp's game-saving interception.

SIU-C 28, DRAKE 9

Before a Parents Day crowd of 14,700, Fabray Collins staked the Salukis to an early 7-0 lead by scoring after picking up a punt he blocked at the 16-yard line. The game was expected to be a romp, but the Salukis looked flat and the squad was disappointed with its play.

Johnson completed the longest pass in SIU-C history when he hooked up with Cecil Ratliff on an 87-yard touchdown pass early in the second quarter. Johnson gave SIU-C a 21-3 lead when he sneaked over from the 1-yard line with four and a half minutes left in the third quarter.

Drake became the first team to score against SIU-C in the fourth quarter when it kicked a field goal with 11:50 left to narrow the lead to 21-9.

SIU-C 24, SWMO 6

Derrick Taylor's 26-yard touchdown run late in the first half put SIU-C into the lead, 7-6, after Southwest Missouri State had scored first. Terry Green's 21-yard touchdown run with two minutes left in the third quarter gave the Salukis a little breathing room. Miller's 43-yard field goal midway through the fourth quarter put SIU-C ahead 17-6. Sydney Byrd scored on a 4-yard run with seconds left in the game to seal the win.

Two Southwest quarterbacks combined to complete two of 15 passes for just 17 yards and two interceptions. Dempsey had said he thought his team would be able to handle Southwest easily, and after a close first half it did.

SIU-C 34, INDIANA STATE 21

Rolling to a 31-0 lead early in the second quarter, the Salukis coasted in the third quarter and completely shut down the Sycamores' comeback attempt in the fourth quarter. Win No. 8 was especially sweet for the Salukis, for two days later the squad was named the No. 1 team in the I-AA football poll for the first time in history.

Starting four straight drives inside the ISU 42-yard line, recovering a blocked punt in the end zone and helped out with a 15 mph wind at their backs, the Salukis scored four touchdowns and a field goal.

A late first-half touchdown pass gave ISU momentum heading into the third quarter, when ISU cut the Saluki lead to 31-21 with two touchdowns. Miller connected on a 46-yard field goal midway through the final period for his second field goal of the game.

SIU-C 41, NEW MEXICO STATE 3

Five touchdowns and a field goal in the second and third quarters clinched SIU-C's ninth win of the year.

Fan excitement about the unbeaten Salukis became evident at McAndrew Stadium when fans stormed the field and tore down both goal posts for the first time since 1967. Men's Athletic Director Lew Hartzog was fuming after the game, saying the game was not a big enough win to warrant felling the goal posts, but Dempsey broke into a smile when informed what had happened on the field and said he was pleased with the fan support.

SIU-C 28, ILLINOIS STATE 26

SIU-C fell behind early as its injured secondary was shredded for 222 yards and two touchdowns by the arm of Redbirds' quarterback John Coppens, who completed 14 of 27 passes.

Donnell Daniel gave SIU-C its first lead at 21-14 early in the second quarter when he ran back an interception 22 yards for a touchdown.

With the score 28-26, ISU drove down to SIU-C's 9-yard line where a controversial call was made on a fumble and Duncan Levestre recovered for the Salukis with 4.38 left to play.

Late in the fourth quarter ISU self-destructed by losing one fumble, losing 22 yards on another fumble and giving up an interception to B.T. Thomas at the ISU 31-yard line.

Once again both goal posts came down, but Hartzog was not quite as upset this time.

WICHITA STATE 28, SIU-C 6

The 3-8 Shockers destroyed SIU-C's ideas for an undefeated season and a first-ever MVC title in the season finale. Two key plays, a facemask penalty against SIU-C on third down that kept alive a Wichita State touchdown drive and a fourth-and-one play by SIU-C that was stopped deep in Wichita State territory gave the game's momentum to the Shockers. They kept it.

Wichita State's option attack tore through the Saluki defense. Shocked and upset by the loss, Dempsey said the team was in tears in the lockerroom.

The loss helped the team prepare for the playoffs, defensive tackle Kenny Foster was to say later after SIU-C had won the I-AA semifinal playoff game.

"Even though it hurt to lose, it was turned out to be beneficial," Foster said. "By losing, we knew we had to work harder if we were going to win the championship. And we did work harder."

SIU-C 23, INDIANA STATE 7

ISU scored an early touchdown in this I-AA quarterfinal matchup for a 7-0 lead and it appeared that it might just roll to victory as Wichita State had done. But helped by a three-week layoff that enabled many of the players to be healthy for the playoffs, the Saluki defense shone even though a downpour, near-freezing temperatures and a 15 mph wind made the afternoon almost unbearable for the 8,000 fans at McAndrew Stadium.

But ISU was to gain just 55 yards, including a 44-yard run in its lone touchdown drive, and four first downs, two by penalty. ISU quarterback Jeff Miller, the MVC's passing efficiency leader, completed just three of 18 attempts for 29 yards and threw two interceptions. Dempsey said he was "shocked" by how well the defense played.

Shepard, starting his first game at tight end since he tore cartilage in his knee in the first win over ISU, caught four passes for 80 yards, while Stevenson made three catches for 60 yards. Miller kicked three field goals and Corky Field scored twice on 1-yard plunges.

SIU-C 23, NEVADA-RENO 7

Playing for the last time of the season at McAndrew Stadium, and in the same weather conditions as the week before, the Saluki defense once again rose to the occasion. The unit shut down a powerful Nevada-Reno running attack (it had averaged 245.4 yards per game) and Terry Taylor broke open a 97-yard late in the fourth quarter when he intercepted two passes within 20 seconds, scoring one touchdown and returned the other interception 19 yards to the Wolf Pack 2-yard line. Fittingly, the other two seniors in the Saluki secondary, Greg Shipp and Daniel, each had an interception.

Johnson passed for 189 yards while completing 13 of 25 passes, although he threw two interceptions. Miller again kicked three field goals in three attempts, the third one as time ran out in the first half.

Offense quietly got job done while defense had spotlight

At the press conference preceding the NCAA Division I-AA title game, Rick Johnson and his teammates on the offense were lonely figures. Everybody wanted to talk about the Saluki defense, which had brought an intimidating reputation to Charleston, S.C. The Saluki offense was treated like a taboo subject by the assembled reporters.

Johnson later disclosed that he was thinking, "Hey! The defense is great, sure, but what about us?" After all, the Salukis had scored 448 points and won several games by lopsided margins. They beat Southeast Missouri State 56-7, Northern Iowa 52-9 and New Mexico State 41-3 and were held below 20 points only twice all year.

After the press conference, Johnson and company got together and resolved to attract some attention. "The offense got fired up," said Johnson.

They also got a more imaginative game plan from the coaching staff, which had chosen to ease up on the passing game and put their faith in the defense in the two previous playoff games.

This time Johnson came out passing, and it eventually resulted in an explosive 23-point third quarter that clinched the national championship. Johnson completed 19 of 25 passes for 213 yards and two touchdowns.

The SIU-C offense was seldom awesome in the championship season. Its drives were usually modest 30- or 40-yard efforts and it turned the ball over 45 times. But it was opportunistic and came up with some big plays.

Johnson, hurt early in the season and nagged by injuries and throwing problems, was not the force he was last year when SIU-C's unimpressive ground attack obligated the team to average almost 40 passes a game.

This season he completed 53 percent of 287 aeriels and threw for 1,989 yards and ten touchdowns, despite missing two and a half games because of ankle and knee injuries. He wound up as owner of 17 SIU-C passing records for his career.

The Salukis were second in the Missouri Valley Conference in passing yardage, hurt only by Johnson's 19 interceptions.

The running game picked up some of the slack although only fifth in the conference. It scored 34 rushing touchdowns.

Derrick Taylor rushed for nine touchdowns and 693 yards, averaging 3.8 yards a carry. Taylor was Johnson's favorite receiver as well, catching 40 passes for 327 yards and two touchdowns. Corky Field, despite missing two games with a shoulder injury, ran for 493 yards and Terry Green had 450.

Wide receiver James Stevenson caught 35 passes for 616 yards and tight end Carey Shephard added 27, even though he missed three games.

Dempsey said, "If you're going to have a championship season, then you need players to come off the bench and do the job for you." Nowhere was this more evident than in the offensive line.

Injuries bounced starters in and out of the lineup. At one point, strong tackle Brad Pilgraw was the only lineman still playing who had started the season.

When the offense failed to punch the ball over, kicker Ron Miller came in. Miller kicked 18 field goals and led the team in scoring with 110 points.

Punter Drew Morrison averaged 39.3 yards per attempt and the Salukis covered kicks better than any Valley team, holding their opponents to just .68 of a yard per punt return.

When the defense wasn't setting up scores, it was getting into the end zone on its own. It ran back five interceptions, recovered four fumbles in the end zone and in the title game scored a safety.

Dempsey made special teams into effective 'killer force'

By Dan Devine

"Special teams are one-third of the game."

Probably every football coach who has ever walked, talked and drawn diagrams on a chalkboard has said that, but Saluki Coach Rey Dempsey did more than just pay lip service to the idea. Dempsey believed in them, worked endlessly on them, and made them into a killer force that stole, saved or broke open almost every Saluki game this year.

Dempsey, a special teams coach for the Detroit Lions one season, broke down every phase of the game and drilled his team in every area. He also used starters as speciality players.

Excitement arose every time Terry

Taylor lined up to block a punt or when Donnell Daniel lined up to catch one. Taylor led a fierce rush that blocked seven punts and three field goals and Daniel averaged 8.4 yards per return without the benefit of blockers. Almost everytime the Salukis forced their opponents to punt, 10 men were on the line of scrimmage anxiously awaiting their chance to go for the block.

SIU-C was the best Missouri Valley Conference team covering punts, netting 37.1 yards on every kick. Enemy returners gained just 43 yards on 63 punts during the regular season.

The kickoff teams allowed a mere 14.5 yards per return and kept teams deep in their own territory.

Kicker Ron Miller was consistent throughout, shattering NCAA I-AA records for extra point accuracy, with 56 in a row, while adding 18 field goals.

In many Saluki games, the special teams made the big plays. Backup running back Bruce Phibbs made the most of his special teams play by recovering three fumbles. Backup outside linebacker Rick Spielman, who earlier was a backup quarterback, saw most of his action on the special teams and made 11 tackles during the playoffs.

Against Eastern Illinois, Taylor saved a 17-14 win by blocking a 20-yard field goal in the final minute. Earlier, the Salukis had tied the score at 14-14 when Mike Brascia recovered a blocked punt in the end zone.

Against Southeast Missouri State, Taylor set up SIU-C's first score when he blocked a punt at the 7-yard line.

At Northern Iowa another rout was started when the Salukis recovered three fumbled punts in the first half. All three led to touchdowns. Taylor also recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for another touchdown.

Taylor blocked a go-ahead field goal attempt by Arkansas State in the fourth quarter with the score tied at 28-28.

Fabray Collins blocked a Drake punt with the game less than a minute old and returned it 23 yards for a touchdown and a 7-0 SIU-C lead.

Sydney Blanchard recovered a fumble in the end zone, giving SIU-C a 17-0 lead against Indiana State after Taylor hit ISU's punter near the goal line. Frank Carr partially blocked an ISU punt, enabling the Salukis to receive the ball at the ISU 38-yard line and leading to a Saluki touchdown.

Daniel ran back a New Mexico State punt 85 yards for a touchdown.

Against Illinois State with the score 28-26, Ashley Sledge sacked quarterback John Coppins on a two-point conversion attempt. Instead of ISU tying the game, the Salukis made the two-point lead stand up.

The special teams worked hard at its phase of the game this season and it paid off. The unit made its one-third of the game vitally important to many of the Saluki victories.
