University Store Changes Place

Beginning fall term, the bookstore will have a new location and a new name.

The old bookstore, presently located in Parkinson Lab, will be called University Store and will be located in the barracks part of Wheeler Library.

More floor space, an attractive front and self-service will be some of the advantages in the new location. The new name will distinguish the supply store from the textbook service.

Besides the regular school supplies, the University Store will also handle men's P. E. clothes, towels, new lines in school supplies and souvenirs for visitors. They will continue to handle college outline books and lab manuals.

The entrance will be on the south side of the barracks between Old Main and the Gym. Plans are being worked out for the architect, and the building remodeling should be finished by Sept. 1.

"A sign on the front of the store," said Carl Trobaugh, manager of the bookstore, "will show the students where they can buy supplies. Just look for University Store."

Ministers Visit Campus Today

Ministers from throughout Southern Illinois are gathering on campus today to discuss "The Role of the Minister as a Christian Citizen."

The conference is under the joint sponsorship of SIU's Religious Services and the Division of University Extension.

The ministers will approach the theme of the conference from different phases. There will be six discussion groups. Various members of the SIU staff will serve as group consultants.

Discussion leaders will be ministers from this area.

Discussion groups include: "Stimulating Community Responsibility," discussion leader, the Rev. William Boston, Lutheran Church, Murphysboro, consultant, Dr. John Barnes;

"Public Education," discussion leader, the Rev. John Burhorn, Anna Presbyterian Church, consultant, Dr. Raymond H. Day;

"Community," discussion leader, the Rev. Willard Ballard, First Baptist Church, Floris; consultant, Carl S. Ham;

"Political Action," discussion leader, the Rev. Hilton Leitchery, Fairfield Methodist Church, consultant, Dr. William Tudor;

"Human Relations," discussion leader, the Rev. Harry Adams, Christian Church, Carbondale, consultant, Dr. William Winter;

"Labor Relations," discussion leader, the Rev. Harry Adams. As a launch for taking this position, Dean Clark Davis, referred to the present University rules and regulations, which carries this statement:

"Southern Illinois University is opposed to and does not approve of the use of liquor in any student sponsored activities or events."

Davis said the University expects no alcoholic beverages to be served at student events by the group attending the function. He requested that officers of campus organizations stick to the regulations concerning alcoholic beverages at social affairs.

"It is apparent," Dean Davis said, "that as leaders in a society, college students will learn self-discipline and will also be law-abiding citizens."

The Illinois law provides that any liquor license is prevented by statute from selling, delivering or

Methodists Approve Fund For New SIU Wesley Foundation Building

The Southern Illinois Conference of the Methodist Church, meeting in Harrisburg May 24-27, Friday to let the Wesley Foundation start a money-raising project for a new foundation at SIU.

The financial campaign will begin in the fall and should be completed by February. Total cost of building, furnishings, and equipment is estimated at $225,000. The financial campaign will be conducted among 450 churches in Southern Illinois congregations.

Assisting in the presentation of the plans before the Conference were: Dr. W. Morris, Dr. H. D. Bollinger of the general board of education, Dr. H. G. Hurley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. Ronald Seibert, foundation director.

The proposed building will stand at the present site of the Wesley Foundation at 816 S. Illinois. According to plans, construction will begin in the spring of 1957 and the building should be ready the following fall.

Plans for facilities include a library, chapel, lounge, classrooms, conference room, guest rooms, work shop, and recreation and banquet area.

The present foundation was established two years ago and last May the Conference approved a $47,000 expenditure to purchase the building at 816 S. Illinois, the present foundation building.

There are now 850 Methodists students enrolled at SIU. If the expected total enrollment of 10,000 is reached by 1960, there will be between 1,500 and 2,000 Methodist students.

See Illinois Class Tours State "There isn't a major city we'll miss," said Dr. Dalis Price, associate professor of geography, who led the Geography 450 class which will tour Illinois during the summer term.

The geography department is offering this course, Regional Field Course in Geography of Illinois, from August 13 through August 24. Attention will be given to urban, agricultural, and industrial geography in this course which is designed to give students first-hand knowledge of the state.

There will be special tours of industrial plants, mines, canals, and historical sites, according to Dr. Price.

Junior, seniors, and graduate students may enroll in the course. Three quarter hours of resident credit will be granted.

The first two days will be spent on campus for study and orientation for the twenty, 2,000 mile trip through the state.

Transportation and lodging will be about $90.

Government Department Holds Annual Picnic Today The annual government department picnic will be held today at Giant City Park.

Those political science majors and graduate students and their wives and husbands who are attending will meet at the graduate school parking lot at 5 p. m.

Transportation will be furnished for those who don't have cars.

Residence Halls Hold Last Dance Tomorrow Night The last free Residence Halls dance will be held Saturday June 3, from 9 to 12 p. m. on the patio of Woody Hall.

Dean Davis charged that the use of alcoholic beverages accounted for the majority of disciplinary actions handled by his office in recent years.

"The University is constantly making efforts," Davis said, "to do everything in its power to provide wholesome, recreational opportunities for its students."

"We realize that students study hard and therefore need relaxation. As the institutions facilities expand, additional recreational outlets will be provided. It is hoped that these positive approaches will minimize the student use of alcoholic beverages."

Brief Interlude Shows In Library Auditorium

The tragic summer romance of a beautiful baller dancer is the theme of the Swedish motion picture "Brief Interlude," which will be shown Sunday, June 3, in the library auditorium.

This film, which was directed by one of Sweden's most famous directors and authors, Ingmar Bergman, takes place in the scenic Swedish countryside and is a combination of the joys of love and the sadnesses of death. Both beautiful music and dancing are added to this Swedish drama making it an outstanding film.

This is the Southern's Film Society last presentation for the season and will be shown at 6:30 and 8:45.

Audio-Visual Buys New Photo Unit Good news! No more waiting in line at the library for an article in a periodical. The Audio-Visual Aids department of the library has a new photo-copying unit. Each quarter many assignments are made for articles to be read in the periodicals, and in most cases the library will take Illinois during the summer term.

For this high average, Ann was given an award by the Alpha Lambda Delta, a sorority which she is a member, and was also presented a book of poetry by the national chapter.

The sorority, which was received by the national chapters last Saturday, also honored two honorary members. The two members were:

Edna Travis, English instructor, and a member of the SIU faculty since 1948 who is credited with having been one of the founders of Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority.

The other honorary member is Miss Entminger, associate professor of education and on the SIU faculty since 1922. Miss Entminger is an honorary member of Delta Kappa Gamma, sponsor of Pi Kappa Sigma and sponsor of Pi Kappa alums.

This sorority was founded on the University of Illinois campus in 1924 and became a national chapter in 1926. The sorority now has 28,854 members.

SIU Students Collect Fossils, Visit Mines Fossils were collected from an old strip mine near Pinckneville by geology students on a field trip, May 27. The trip was made by the paleontology 427 class, and the entire Geology Club.

The fossils, collected from the mine's spoil piles, will be studied to determine the age of the tree's rocks.

"More Pennsylvania rock fossils are found in this area than anywhere else I have seen," said J. R. DuBar, paleontology instructor, who accompanied the group.

Guest Editorial

Have you ever heard "If I was editor of the Egyptian I'd write an editorial on . . . ?" What would you do if you were given the opportunity?

There are many subjects which have been untouched by Egyptian editorial comment. Then when you think further you realize that many subjects have not been "harped on" enough.

The chance to have an editorial published by a non-staff member comes only occasionally.

When the opportunity does present itself, the individual could write about the food served in the cafeteria. This condition has existed for some time, but never has much been said or printed.

A visitor at a freshman convocation is always disgusted with the behavior of the adolescents which attend. As yet, little has been said about this behavior.

Why doesn't the Egyptian have guest editorial writers as a weekly feature of the paper. In that way maybe a greater variety of subjects could be discussed than is the case with "Letters to the Editor."

Well, what would an individual write on?

SIU Researchers Seek Clues in Laboratory Here

Did you ever stop to think that the biological research lab of SIU contributes to science? But before the lab can make important contributions, there must be money to pay for the research that is done.

The lab is supported in part by the university with the building, supplied and salaries paid, but very little research is done on university funds. These expenses are paid by research grants from various agencies.

A research project on radiation being supported by the Atomic Energy Commission. Radiation does kill all parts of a living cell one time but attacks only one part. The purpose of this research is to try to find which of these parts is the most sensitive area and what is affected to realize.

In a project supported by Am. house-Busch, Inc. the research group is trying to develop a better yeast and to find other uses for it. Yeast has a high vitamin content and is the source for many important drugs.

The Public Health Service is supporting a project for studying the process of adaptability in yeast, or the adjustment to changes in environment. This adaptability, which is the same in all organisms, is important in cancer research.

In addition, there are grants from the American Cancer Society and the Illinois division of the American Cancer Society.

Approximately $50,000 is given to the lab for research work annually. A complete set of books accounting for each penny of the money must be kept and the grants must be reapplied for each year.

Pen Pal Leads Girl To SIU

Eleni Becomes First Foreign Home Ec Major

A dream of coming to the United States—came true for Eleni Kotsia when she arrived here before her 20th birthday in New York on March 6.

Eleni, from Salonia, Greece, is the first foreign student majoring in home economics at SIU. Before coming to Carbondale, she visited her pen pal girl friend, Billie Foote in Owensboro, Ky., who had helped her in selecting SIU.

"Americans are kind and want to help," said the tall, green-eyed brunette, "and I want to thank all my instructors and help students for their patience and help."

"I hope to devote myself to the well being of the poor classes when I return to Greece," said Eleni. "I chose to study dietetics

Government Prof Gets Medal

Brazilian Government Honors Dr. Harvey Walker

The Order of the Southern Cross, highest award that is granted to a foreigner by the Brazilian government has been presented to visiting government professor, Dr. Harvey Walker.

The award presented to him was first created on December 1, 1822, to mark the coronation of Brazil's first emperor, D. Pedro I.

The Republican Cortes of 1891 suppressed all existing honorary orders on the grounds that they were contrary to the principle of years later, on December 5, 1932 the Order was re-established with slight modifications in the insignia to adapt them to the republican regime.

Other services that also have been considered in the awarding of the medal to Walker, was the work he spent teaching translated into English at the National Order of the Southern Cross, is conferred exclusively upon foreigners whom the Brazilian government considers as having rendered outstanding service to Brazil. The award is comprised of six classes or degrees. The one conferred on Dr. Walker is that of Commander.

The service considered by Dr. Walker as the most significant was as a member of the United Nations Technical Assistance Mission to Brazil.

Ross Fills Allyn With Own Work For Art Thesis

The Allyn Gallery has once again taken on a new look.

The man responsible for the new look this time is Don Ross, SIU graduate student, whose paintings are currently adding beauty to the Allyn Gallery halls.

The exhibit, primarily made up of oil paintings, with some pen and ink drawings and one cesterin oil mix, will remain on display until Monday, June 11.

Ross is displaying these paintings as thesis work while studying for his master degree at SIU. Most of the works being displayed were done by Ross while doing graduate study here on campus.

The 28-year-old air force veteran came to Southern in 1954, after studying at Coffeyville Junior College in Kansas, the Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D. C., and receiving his Fine Arts degree at the Kansas Art Institute.

From the 18-piece exhibit which is presently on display, Ross has two paintings which rate as his favorites. One is a "still life oil painting" and the other is a cesterin oil pastel work called "City Silhouette."

The subject matter in Ross's paintings varies in content, as he has taken what he describes as "both an automatic and planned approach to painting."

Ross was born in Coffeyville, Kansas, but spent most of his youth in Oklahoma.

He expects to receive his Master's of Fine Arts degree from SIU this summer, and his future plans are centered around a college-level teaching career.

Another of his services to Brazil, according to Dr. Walker, was performed while he served as an advisor to a Brazilian committee which needed his advice on revising their rules and procedure in government. Dr. Walker informed the committee on changes made in the U. S. Congress and England's House of Commons.

Want Work? See Mrs. Rector Now

Looking for a Job? Then rush to the Student Employment Office.

Mrs. Alice P. Rector, supervisor of student employment office, said that a large number of student on campus were applying for jobs next term. All kinds of jobs from secretarial to janitorial jobs will be available both on and off campus.

She said her office would make personal contact in search of off-campus employment during July 1, August and September.

Mrs. Rector said there was no change planned in her office during the summer, but she said there would be piles and piles of applications coming in. She estimated that at the end of the fall term there would be about 2,000 new applications.

A new system has been adopted by the office. Mrs. Rector said all students looking for a job are required to fill out a budgetary form enabling the Employment office to determine how much help a student needs.

SIU Prints Catalogues To Replace Exhausted Supply
A month ago the supply of 20,000 copies of SIU catalogues printed two years ago to last until September 1956, was exhausted.

SIU's Cows Now Contend

Two Buildings Completed At Dairy Test Farm

The SIU cows can no longer complain of leading dog's lives. Two new buildings are now completed on the SIU Dairy test farm, and one more is past the planning stage. The first of the two completed buildings is a feeding barn 26 feet by 78 feet. Arranged for self feeding, it will hold about 120 bay feeders to lessen unsanitary conditions.

The other building, a 120 feet by 40 feet loafing barn, will house about 60 head of cattle. Both buildings are clear-span, pole-type structures.

An upright silo equipped with automatic unloading apparatus and feeder bunk is being built. The silo is 14 feet in diameter by 37 1/2 feet in height.

The building yet to be built is a concrete many-purpose structure housing modern dairy equipment.

One of the main features of the building is the modern milking parlor with observation windows and automatic cleanup equipment.

A second part of the building is a judging arena which may also double as a site for demonstrating dairy management practices.

Living quarters for two students and a small record room also will be included in the future structure.

The milk will be untouched by human hands until it leaves the building. As the milkers take it from the cow it will be caught up in a vacuum tube and taken to a storage tank to await haulage.

"The new equipment is designed to show the latest labor-saving methods in dairy operation and ways of producing high quality milk," said Dr. Howard Halfdan Olson, assistant professor of agriculture.

Sig Pi's, Scuttlebutt Hut Win In IM Semi-Finals

Jim Shaw's phenomenal fireball is cutting a swath through his intramural team's opponents.

Tuesday evening, he authored his second successive one-hit masterpiece as Sig Pi ripped through the Bootleggers 5-1, in the intramural inter-league semi-finals.

The spoiling hit, a scratch hit delivered by Foster in the fourth inning, also ruined Shaw's chance for a shutout.

After Aydt had struck out, Foster singled. He stole second base and reached third on a passed ball. Beasley walked, and Foster came home on another passed ball to give the Bootleggers their only run and only scoring chance of the game.

Adding further to his strike out total, Shaw fanned 16 Bootlegger batters—he struck out the first eight men to face him—walked only one man and allowed two men to reach base. He faced only 23 men.

In fact, not one ball was hit out of the infield.

Sig Pi jumped off to an early 1-0 lead on a four-bagger by Swanson in the second inning.

They grabbed their 3-0 insurance runs in the fourth inning on a ground ball by Slack which scored Shaw from third, and a double by Hale which brought two more runs in.

They grabbed another run in the fifth inning. Weber walked, went to second on a fielder's choice, advanced to third on a fly ball to the outfield and scored on a ground ball.

Barnum, who allowed four hits and walked three men, struck out three men.

The Bootleggers were the replacement league.

Scuttlebutt Hut 26, UD's 0

Scuttlebutt Hut literally massacred UD's Tuesday, 26-0.

The game went only five innings.

The UD boys got only two hits in the intramural inter-league semi-final.

There were five home runs by the Hut men. Buddle led the lopsided attack, smacking two homers and a single. Buehler, Maris, and Connelly also hit for the circuit.

Scuttlebutt picked up four runs in the first inning, two in the second, five in the third, and 15 in the fourth.

Waddell, Hut hurler, struck out three and allowed three hits. Only four men reached base, for UD's 0.

The Sig Pi's and Scuttlebutt Hut were scheduled to meet in a championship game yesterday.

Vogel Takes Batting Crown For 2nd Year

Norby Vogel, Saluki right fielder, wound up the season with 348 hitting average to lead the baseball team in hitting for the second and straight year.

The 185 pound junior hit safely 31 times in 89 times at bat and scored 21 runs.

Roger Wells, second baseman, finished second in the batting race with a .330 percentage. He hit an even 300 last year.

Ray Tabacchi, shortstop, increased his average to .314 from the .300 he had last year.

Vogel, Wells and Tabacchi were the only team members to hit over the 300 mark.

The averages:

Six events were held in the meet. They were: 50-yard freestyle, 50-yard breaststroke, 50-yard backstroke, 100-yard freestyle, diving and the relay.

Central Michigan College defeated Northern Illinois in a doubleheader last Monday to tie Michigan Normal for fourth place in the IAC baseball league and defeated Southern by one point for the all-sports trophy.

Central Michigan finished with 56 points and Southern with 55; Western Illinois had 52, Michigan Normal 51, Illinois Normal 50, Eastern 38, and Northern 33.

Obviously, the conference was well balanced this year, with the possible exception of Eastern and Northern. Northern fell down largely in the spring sports, but with a new field house scheduled for construction, track and the other spring sports will probably be on the upswing.

SIU finished second in the baseball conference, with Illinois Normal taking first place. The Redbirds' doubleheader with Western was limited to one game, which they won. The second game was called after three innings with Normal leading 1-0.

If rain hadn't stopped the game and Western could have rallied to best Normal, SIU would have won first IP.

The final standings:

TEAM	W	L	Pct.
Ill. Normal	8	3	.727
Southern	8	4	.666
Western	7	5	.583
Mich. Mich.	7	5	.583
Northern	3	9	.250

Ronnie Ayers, the Salukis' workhorse pitcher, finished the season with an 8-4 record. He pitched 107 1-3 innings and allowed 77 hits. He gave up 60 walks and hit four batsmen.

The lady sophomore struck out 82 opponents, allowing 27 earned runs and 14 unearned runs. He had a 2.03 earned run average in Interstate Conference games this season.

From our editor comes this fish story: Seems that in a P. E. class (bit and fly casting), a boy was fishing just below the spillway at Crab Orchard, using a fly rod. A fish struck, cut off the leader and took the fly. The young man, undaunted, baited a hook with a crawfish tail and tried again. A fish hit again, and this time he landed it. You guessed it. Jim Shaw's teammates made eight putouts. The rest he struck out.

But a two-out single by Phi Tau Boehmer in the top of the seventh inning spoiled the hurler's bid for a no-hit game, as the second division Sig Pi's easily rolled over first division Phi Tau 5-0, Monday in the fraternity championship game.

Shaw, whose blazing fast ball struck out 16 Phi Tau hitters, walked only one man and allowed

Also he faced only 25 batters and struck out the side three times.

The only real scoring threat for the Phi Taus' came in the fifth inning, when speller Boehmer reached third on an error and Thatcher walked. But Shaw settled down, ending the inning by whiffing Gunz.

The game went three innings a scoreless tie. But in the top of the fourth, Donarski singled and Swanson walked. Both came around to score on Konorsky's double.

The Sig Pi's brought in three more runs in the bottom of the sixth inning on successive singles to Swanson and Wallin and a walk to Slack, leading the bases. A fielder's choice by ake brought in one run and a single by Donarski brought in two other runs.

Phi Tau losing pitcher Smith gave up five runs, seven hits and walked six.

Donarski rapped a single and a double to spearhead Sig Pi. Scuttlebutt Hut 14, Barracks 5

Scuttlebutt Hut exploded for eight runs in the third inning to humble Barracks 5, 14-4, Monday for the Men's Residence Halls championship.

The big blow of the eight-run

Two new school field marks were established at Northern Illinois State College during the past season. Dick Kerret, sophomore from West Chicago, bettered the old shot put standard of 46'2" by nearly three feet when putting the 16 lb. ball 49'1" while in competition in the IAC championships. Herb Knell established the old mark in 1941.

A new pole vault standard was set by Bill Walker, sophomore from Oregon, when he vaulted 13'3/4", bettering Dave Tams' mark of 13'3/4". Tams set his mark just two years ago during the 1954 season.

One of the top powers in the Interstate Conference and a big reason why SIU had its best roll this season in history was Andy Bar nett, who consistently hit near par the whole season. The team compiled an 8-2-2 record this season.
