Summer occupancy down

By Elizabeth Cochran
Staff Writer

About 30 percent of the on-campus residence hall spaces open for summer term are filled, down from normal summer occupancy of more than 50 percent, a housing official said Monday.

Cathy Hunter, supervisor of housing contracts, said about 80 of the 240 spaces in Baldwin Hall and Abbott Hall were filled, but she expected "a few more" to be filled this week.

Each of the two residence halls — Baldwin for women and Abbott for men — on Thompson point has 120 spaces.

Hunter said the two halls usually have a total of about 130 occupants during the summer term.

Admissions officials declined to release figures on registration for summer. Roland Keim, associate director for records and registration, said enrollment figures would be released in about two weeks.

The Baldwin Hall and Abbott Hall residents will eat at the Student Center. Hunter said each resident has been allotted $375 in coupons that can be used at any of the food services in the cafeteria.

Dunn, Poshard don't agree on administrative pay raise

By John Krukowski
Staff Writer

Sen. Ralph Dunn voted against an amendment to hold SIU-C administrators to a 6.5 percent pay raise, while Sen. Glenn Poshard voted in favor. Both said they voted in the best interest of the University.

On May 20 the Senate approved, in effect, an 8 percent increase for SIU-C administrators. An amendment to SIU-C's annual appropriation that would have held the increase to 6.5 percent failed on a 25 to 25 tie. Dunn termed it a "fluke amendment" because of the vote.

Dunn, R-Du Quoin, said that any amendment he might have introduced in favor of the 8 percent raise would have suffered a similar fate.

"Had I tried to put it on, it would have failed also," he said.

SIU-C was the only university to receive the Senate's approval for the 8 percent increase, although Dunn predicted that the other schools will get the same raise when the House votes on it.

Dunn said he supported the 8 percent raise and was opposed to the 6.5 percent increase amendment because he feared that the smaller increase would favor only the top paid administrators as opposed to those in the $20,000 to $30,000 salary range.

"What they were doing there was hurting the little guy," Dunn said.

Sen. Poshard, D-Carterville, voted for the 6.5 percent increase and said he has received about 150 letters from SIU-C administrators

ISC leader resists move to oust him

By Paula Buckner
Staff Writer

Eight members of the International Student Council have declared Aris Kotsioris ousted as president, but Kotsioris contends they lack the authority to make it official.

The eight signed a petition dated May 16 declaring Kotsioris relieved of his duties as president and appointing Caleb Awoniyi to the office for the summer term.

Kotsioris, graduate student from Greece, was elected ISC president in 1983 and re-elected in 1984. Awoniyi, graduate student from Nigeria, is the organization's vice president for internal affairs.

Kotsioris said the eight petition-signers do not constitute the required two-thirds of the ISC's General Assembly, the organization's voting body, to oust him from office.

"The decision was not official at the last meeting and I don't consider myself relieved of my duties," Kotsioris said in a telephone interview.

The petition states Kotsioris was found "guilty of charges of abusing his powers as the president and of improper administration of the council."

Awoniyi said the ISC had been having "internal problems" and that Kotsioris had been requested to present an oral and a written apology for his alleged misdeeds.

"Aris had to officially apologize to all the General Assembly members for charges found against him," Awoniyi said. "He apologized verbally but there was no written apology" and so the petition was drafted, he said.

Kotsioris questioned the word "abuse" in the petition. He said there was only one incident during his last term as ISC president to warrant any type of action.

"There was a disagreement with another university unit and they (ISC members) signed a letter with my permission," he said. The letter had some adverse consequences, he said. He declined to elaborate.

"People were saying that I gave them no advanced notice of accepting any consequences of the action," he said.

Last fall, a committee of the Undergraduate Student Organization was asked to investigate complaints that the ISC executive council had recognized the Iranian Student Union as a General Assembly member without a vote of acceptance by the assembly.

According to the complaints, the executive council had refused to seat a rival Iranian group, the Iranian Student Association, even though the rival group won a special election for admittance.

Sailing Club back at Crab Orchard

By Erma Waddy
Staff Writer

The Southern Illinois Collegiate Sailing Club expects clear sailing again at the sailboat basin at Crab Orchard Lake.

An agreement was reached last week between the sailing club and Ken and Susan Barnhart, managers of the lake concession that includes the sailboat basin. The agreement establishes sailing hours from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., provides storage space in the boathouse for the club's equipment and prohibits keg parties on the premises.

Survivalist lair yields piles of human bones

WILSEYVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — As many as 25 men, women and children may have been slaughtered by two killers caught up in sadistic sexual domination and survival at a remote retreat littered with human bones, police said Monday.

Fifty bags of evidence including human bones and the partially decomposed bodies of a man and a woman have been unearthed so far in a search expected to take weeks at Leonard Lake's bizarre mountain compound 125 miles northeast of San Francisco.

Other remains may be scattered at other burial sites, officials said.

Lake, 39, killed himself while in police custody last week. The other suspect, Charles Ng, 24, is a fugitive who has vowed not to be taken alive.

Officials could only speculate on how many kidnap victims they believe the two ex-Marines sexually tortured or used as "game" to hunt down and kill.

"We absolutely must find Ng," San Francisco Police Chief Cornelius Murphy told a news conference. "Without Ng we won't be able to completely solve the case."

"I don't know how committed he is to suicide, but he has made statements indicating he would not be taken alive."

The estimate of as many as 25 murder victims is based on identification papers of missing people, clothing and jewelry, Lake's day-to-day diary since 1983 and many videotapes found at the site.

Hundreds of human bone fragments, some charred, have been found since last Thursday in shallow graves near the Lake cabin.

"The bones are in halves or thirds," an investigator said. "It's difficult to identify what part of the body they came from."

Deputies were probing seven or eight locations on the two-acre foothill property in Calaveras County where burning had occurred and more bones or bodies could be found, Murphy said.

Officials have confirmed two bodies and possibly two others — including a small child — but have not been able to identify any victims.

San Francisco police, who believe many of the victims may be missing Francisco Bay Area people, think Lake and Ng were caught up in fantasies of sexual torture and survivalism.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Unidentified gunmen kidnapped an American University of Beirut dean from a limousine minutes after he flew into Beirut airport from a U.S. visit, officials said Monday. It was the third abduction of a school employee in less than two weeks. No group immediately claimed responsibility for the kidnapping. Seven Americans are now missing in Lebanon.

Court OKs regional curbs on bank takeovers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday approved a state-backed scheme to keep control of banks in local hands, endorsing regional accords to curb the ability of big financial firms to take over banks from coast to coast. The 8-0 ruling upheld limits on bank takeovers by corporations outside a specified region. At issue was a regional banking zone set up by Connecticut and Massachusetts to prevent banks outside New England from merging with local banks.

Senate delays final vote on Contra aid plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Monday delayed a final vote on $38 million in non-lethal aid for the anti-Sandinista rebels in Nicaragua. Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas said the final vote may come Tuesday and no later than Wednesday, the day the House considers several plans on providing and denying aid to the guerrillas. The Senate voted 55-42 last Thursday to release $14 million in non-lethal aid for the rebels and $24 million next year.

Lack of transportation leaves food in ports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hundreds of thousands of tons of emergency food aid is piling up in Ethiopian and Sudanese ports because of a lack of transportation to camps of starving people in Ethiopia, the Agency for International Development said Monday. AID Administrator M. Peter McPherson faulted the Ethiopian government for not releasing available trucks being used for military or resettlement purposes.

Iran fires missile at Baghdad in retaliation

By United Press International

Iran said it fired a missile into the Iraqi capital of Baghdad Monday in retaliation for attacks by Iraqi bombers on five Iranian cities that killed at least 15 people and wounded numerous others. Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Beirut, said the missile was fired at Baghdad "in retaliation for the senseless missile attacks and bombardment of cities" by Iraq, which did not comment on the report.

ORANGE, Calif. (UPI) — Hospital officials said Monday they believe "the heartbreak is over" for Sam and Patti Frustaci, who have agonized through the deaths of four infants born three weeks ago in the nation's first septuplet birth with survivors. Although still listed in critical condition, doctors at Childrens Hospital of Orange County said babies Patricia, Stephen and Richard are expected to live.

Concerts will raise money for famine victims

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concerts in London and Philadelphia featuring Paul McCartney, Mick Jagger, a reunited The Who, and dozens of the biggest names in rock music will be staged to raise money for famine victims in Africa, organizers said Monday. ### Salmonella outbreak linked to suburban delicatessen

SKOKIE (UPI) — At least twenty-nine people, two of them employees, contracted salmonella from food sold at a north suburban delicatessen, health officials confirmed Monday. Skokie Health Department Director Lowell Huckleberry said the cause of the bacteria has not been pinpointed, but that tests showed salmonella was present in cole slaw and corned beef samples taken from Kaufman's Delicatessen. A total of 250 cases have been reported.

Development plans highlight Thompson visit

By John Krukowski
Staff Writer

Gov. James Thompson was in the area last week to participate in a ground-breaking ceremony at Giant City State Park and a fund-raising event in his honor in Marion, but the ceremonies may have been eclipsed by his announcement of new projects for Southern Illinois.

The new projects announced by Thompson include expanding Scott Air Force Base to accommodate civilian airline use and developing an industrial corridor between Carbondale and Belleville. Both proposals are scheduled to enter the study stage in the fall.

Thompson estimated that the projects would cost more than $1 billion to complete and justified the ideas by saying at the fund-raising event, "We need to put the infrastructure of Southern Illinois in better shape." The ideas are separate from his Build Illinois program, he said.

The Illinois Department of Transportation will study the Scott Air Force Base project, estimated to cost $220,000 and is scheduled to be completed by March 1986.

While initially lukewarm to Rep. Ken Gray's idea to expand the base, Thompson was enthusiastic about the proposal Tuesday, citing the potential economic development the airport could bring to Southern Illinois.

Thompson predicted that the study will show that the expanded air base, with the installation of two new runways and expanded passenger terminal, will live up to Gray's expectations.

Contrary to objections raised by officials at Lambert International Airport in St. Louis, Scott will act as a supplement to Lambert. Missouri and Illinois will work together on the project to avoid bickering, Thompson said.

"We don't intend to ask for a lot of federal money," Thompson said, noting that the majority of funding for the project will come from the state and participating municipalities.

The governor emphasized the economic potential of the projects Tuesday and warned that if Illinois does not undertake such work it risks becoming a "backwater state and a second-class state, and I don't want to be governor of a second-class state."

"We stand on the edge of economic greatness," he said. "It all depends on which way we want to go."

Thompson predicted that the development of an industrial corridor between the St. Louis metropolitan area and Carbondale would bring "thousands of jobs to Southern Illinois." A $620,000 study of the plan will determine the feasibility and benefits of the improved highway system, he said.

The "high-speed" corridor, Thompson said, would bring greater industrial development and tourism to Southern Illinois. The corridor could link with the proposed river-to-river road, which Thompson said is necessary to attract tourists from both the St. Louis area and upstate Illinois.

"The quicker we can expand tourism in this area, the faster we can expand jobs," Thompson said.

The governor predicted that a $400,000 study, which he authorized last month, will show that the river-to-river project is feasible.

Thompson said the corridor study will determine whether highways between St. Louis and Carbondale will need to be expanded and will examine the economic climate of Southern Illinois for attracting small manufacturers.

Thompson did not announce his candidacy for another term as governor at the rally, held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Marion. From the approximately 500 in attendance came chants for "four more years" and both former Republican congressional candidate Randy Patchett and 22nd District State Central Committeeman Joe Hale expressed desires in their speeches that Thompson would run again.

Airport expansion offers region hope

DURING HIS RECENT VISIT TO SOUTHERN ILLINOIS, Gov. Thompson brought good tidings. His rosiest message was that he wants to open Scott Air Force Base to commercial use and create an industrial corridor between Carbondale and Belleville.

As Thompson pointed out, expanding the air base, now used exclusively by the military, would be an economic boon to the whole state, especially its southern half. Since the major commercial airport closest to Southern Illinois is on the far side of St. Louis, expanding operations at the air force base would make it much handier to transport people and supplies into and out of the region. This would make Southern Illinois more attractive to both business interests and tourists.

Developing the area between the base and Carbondale into an industrial corridor would also, as Thompson suggested, do much to improve the sagging economy of Southern Illinois. Businesses, attracted by easy access to the airport, would bring jobs and draw people to the area. The project would give isolated Southern Illinois a chance to climb out of the unprogressive rut that it has been trapped in by underdevelopment.

SIU-C WOULD ONLY STAND TO BENEFIT from such progress. More funding for research as well as more interest in its current work would probably result from economic development in the surrounding area. Making it easier to travel to and from Carbondale will ease one of the problems the University, as well as all the institutions in Southern Illinois, has consistently had to contend with.

Though Thompson was not the first public official to support the two projects — Rep. Ken Gray did so back in February — he is the first to announce that feasibility studies of the projects are set to begin this fall. From the tone of the speeches he gave during his visits, it appears that the governor is determined to bring both of the projects, estimated to cost over $1 billion, into reality.

Let's hope that Thompson is sincere in his desire to improve the economy in Southern Illinois. Direct action must be taken to see that the air force base is expanded and to see that potential business interests are aware of the planned change. If this is done, downstate residents may at last see a change for the better in the region's economic prospects.

EIGHT WONDERS OF THE WORLD

British owe McEnroe an apology

IN THE PAST, many Americans have felt embarrassed by the behavior of John McEnroe when he has played tennis at Wimbledon in England.

He has used foul language, abused the officials, made obscene gestures at the fans, kicked the grass, pouted and shouted. Once he even swatted a ball at a line judge, hitting the bloke's bald spot.

Although he has done the same things in this country, it seemed much worse in England. That's because the English have an image of being so, well, so civilized, so sensitive to unsportsmanlike behavior.

And they have reacted with dyspeptic indignation. The English press has described McEnroe as nothing less than a thug, a barbarian and — even worse — as a cheeky sort of fellow. English government officials harrumphed that he not be permitted to play at the hallowed Wimbledon tournament.

In this country, many Americans shook their heads and felt sheepish. That's because many of us feel inferior to the English — at least in the social graces.

WELL, I SAY, to hell with them and their haughty airs. And I hope that the next time John McEnroe plays at

Mike Royko

Tribune Company

Wimbledon, he demands an apology for the past criticism.

If he doesn't get it, he should go to center court, drop his whites and moon the entire stadium.

Where, I ask, do the English get off berating a kid from New York for a few cuss words, an extended middle finger, and a bit of spouting and pouting.

For world-class unsportsmanlike behavior, I offer you the murderous British soccer fans.

When they get upset, nobody tallies up the swear words. Instead, there's a body count. And at last count in Belgium, the number of dead trampled when the Brit fans attacked the Italian fans was more than 40.

Whenever there is a big match in England — or an English teams plays on the continent — it is usually preceded by a full-blown riot in the streets.

THEN, DURING the actual game, there is maiming and mauling in the stands.

And after the game, win or lose, there is another full-blown riot in the streets.

Now, I'm not just talking about the kind of rowdiness that occurs in this country after a World Series. In comparison, we are mere pussycats.

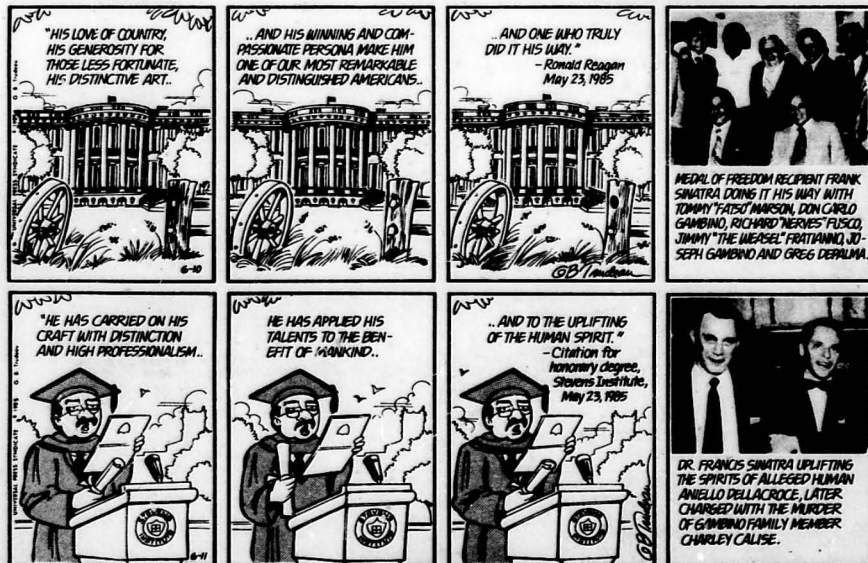

An English judge recently sent 25 fans to jail for showing their displeasure with another fan's loyalties. They slashed his throat with a broken bottle and then mauled a cop who tried to interfere.

At another match, the fans bashed each other about the streets. Before the festivities ended, 80 were hurt. Almost 100 cops were hurt. And they managed to knock down a brick wall that fell on a 15-year-old bystander and crushed his brain beyond repair.

And these are the same people who sneer at John McEnroe for conking a line judge with a rubber ball.

Next time, John, spit in his eye. The one without the monocle.

'Soap opera' trial concludes with acquittal for von Bulow

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Danish jet-setter Claus von Bulow, weeping with relief and applauded by spectators, was acquitted Monday of two counts of trying to murder his heiress wife with insulin injections.

The debonair financier, whose 1982 conviction on the same charges was overturned on appeal, said he was "very grateful" everyone and had "no feeling of vindictiveness or any kind of hard feelings."

Von Bulow, 58, put his head on his hands and tears of joy welled in his eyes as the verdict at his retrial was announced. Supporters, many of whom followed the nine-week trial like a riveting mystery novel, applauded the outcome.

He said he wanted to put the ordeal behind him "by leading a quiet life and ceasing to be in the public eye."

The verdict by the eight-woman, four-man jury was announced at 10:23 a.m. to a packed courtroom after more than 12 hours of deliberations over a four-day period.

The verdict capped a five-year legal battle that rocked high-society Newport, R.I., where the von Bulows lived on Millionaire's Row in a fabulous mansion called Clarendon Court. The nine-week retrial featured every element of a good soap opera: drugs, sex, alcohol, the "other" woman and even a maid.

Von Bulow's wife, Martha "Sunny" von Bulow, 53, remains in an irreversible coma in a New York hospital.

Prosecutors said von Bulow tried to murder his wife for her utilities fortune and the chance to marry his former mistress Alexandra Isles, a raven-haired actress who appeared on the TV soap opera "Dark Shadows."

Defense lawyers claimed Mrs. von Bulow became comatose in 1979 and again in 1980 through her own abuse of drugs and alcohol.

Von Bulow, who did not take the stand in either of his trials, said those who brought charges against him, including the stepchildren who investigated the investigation, had been "misguided."

The two stepchildren, Alexander von Auersperg and Annie-Laurie Kneissl, were at the Newport mansion when they heard of the verdict.

"We were devastated because we feel our stepfather tried to murder our mother twice," said Kneissl, 27.

"He knows and we know that he tried to murder our mother," said von Auersperg, 25. "But we know this jury was not permitted to hear all of the evidence that was permitted at the first trial."

The judge excluded from the retrial much evidence the prosecution was allowed to introduce in the first trial, including testimony from a banker designed to show a money motive.

Excluded evidence "really crippled this case," said Kneissl. She said she and her brother "firmly believe" jurors would have voted to convict "if they had been able to hear all of the evidence."

Smiling and appearing relaxed at a news conference after the verdict, the suave socialite said notes taken by a prosecution investigator, which were denied to his lawyers in the first trial, were "vital" to his successful defense in the retrial.

Taped evidence OK in trial

ROCKFORD (UPI) — A decision to allow some 250 hours of wiretap evidence to be used at the upcoming trial of Cook County Judge Wayne Olson makes seeking a plea bargain on Olson's behalf "a very real possibility," Olson's attorney says.

U.S. District Court Judge Stanley Roszkowski Monday ruled that prosecutors will be able to use evidence gained by bugging Olson's chambers in the Criminal Courts Building at his upcoming bribery trial.

Olson was indicted as a result of the Operation Greylord probe of Cook County judicial corruption.

Federal prosecutors charge the taped conversations captured payoff transactions and discussions between Olson and James Costello, a Chicago attorney indicted with Olson.

Roszkowski also ruled the tapes can be used in Costello's upcoming trial.

"If all of the tapes were suppressed the government would have a very difficult time proving its case against Wayne Olson," said Jeff Steinback, Olson's attorney. Roszkowski's decision "forces us to focus on a very real possibility" of entering a guilty plea, Steinback said.

Reversing the decision or winning at trial "is going to be an uphill battle," Steinback said.

The chambers were bugged in December 1980 and January 1981 as part of the three-year Operation Greylord probe. The bugging marked the first time the FBI electronically eavesdropped on a judge's chambers.

Both Olson and Costello are charged in a scheme where Olson received bribe money to influence his decisions and to steer cases to Costello.

Defense attorneys had argued the tapes were illegal because the FBI listened to conversations unrelated to the Greylord probe; lacked probable cause when it convinced former U.S. District Judge James Parsons to issue a warrant to bug the chambers; and because information in the affidavits to receive the warrant was false.

SAILING: Club set to return to lake

Eric Sutton, senior in engineering and the club's commodore, said he didn't think the new rules would seriously affect the club's operations. He said summer courses in sailing will begin as planned and that he expects to have a good membership drive for the summer session.

The basin was previously managed by the Crab Orchard Sailing Club, but because of a federal policy change, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service asked for bids to place the lake's sailboat basin under a private concessioner.

"Relationships between the sailing club and the managers have turned around," Sutton said. "We're looking forward to a great summer."

Other provisions in the agreement include space for nine boats at $175 each, with free space for one safety boat. In previous years, free space for all the club's boats was provided by the Crab Orchard Sailing Club. Because of the rental fees and needed repairs on two boats, the number of boats will be decreased from 12 to 10, Sutton said.

Susan Barnhart said the contract would remain in effect until Dec. 1, 1985. She said efforts were made to come to a "good and fair agreement for both sides."

"The agreement is very beneficial to the University and the sailing club," said Peter Carroll, associate professor in physical education, teacher of SIUC sailing classes. He said all issues had been resolved and that the Barnharts had been generous in the contract terms.

The first club meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in Lawson 131. Two free sail days will be June 15 and 22. Formal instructions will be given two nights a week.

criticizing his decision. Poshard, however, said the administrators don't understand that by casting his vote as he did he saved them from an even greater cut.

He said some of his Democratic colleagues wished to cut SIU salaries across the board by 1 percent because they wanted to put more money into public education.

"I thought that was too severe," he said, explaining that "I'd given my word to sustain it at 6.5 percent because I voted against the 1 percent cut."

Poshard said that some SIUC administrators don't realize that "I defended the University against that 1 percent cut, which saved them literally hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Terry Mathias, chairman of the Administrative Professional Staff Council at SIUC, said his group was opposed to the 6.5 percent amendment and is pleased with the 3 percent raise, although "obviously it would have been desirable to have a higher increase."

Summer Playhouse features musicals, plays

By Martin Folan
Entertainment Editor

Two musicals and two plays are on tap for Summer Playhouse '85, as the SIU-C School of Music and the Department of Theater mesh their talents for the 15th year of Summer Playhouse productions at McLeod Theater.

The School of Music and the Department of Theater began working on a cooperative basis in 1971, said Mike Hanes, executive producer of Summer Playhouse and music director at the School of Music.

"Before that, the School of Music did musicals in the summer, and the theater performed plays in the summer," he said. "We almost competed with them. We even performed the same nights."

In 1970, all productions were moved from the Agriculture Building and Shryock Auditorium to McLeod Theater, and in 1971 the two schools collaborated, he said.

Many other schools across the nation present summer plays and musicals, but the theater and music performances are separate, he said.

"We were one of the first where both performed together," Hanes said.

Audiences here appreciate watching the students in both plays and musicals, and the students gain more experience from the collaboration, the producer said.

"Now, with the two schools working together, the music kids get much more dramatic experience, and the drama students get more musical experience," Hanes said.

From left, Shy (Mara Polster) and Jewel (Rhonda McAfee) listen to Miss Mona (Jane White) tell Amber (Brigid Corrigan) about the

Nearly every performance is a sell-out, he added.

Twenty-five students were selected from among several hundred applicants for Summer Playhouse at auditions in Chicago, St. Louis, New York and on campus.

"There were probably close to 100 students auditioning at school here," said Justyn Hinderman, business manager at the Department of Theater. "The Midwest audition was held at Webster College in St. Louis. I would guess hundreds of students showed up for that one."

Daily rehearsals are held from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., with as many as three different rehearsals for three different performances held during the day, Hanes said.

Members of the company are paid and granted tuition waivers for their work throughout the eight-week period.

Legal aid to elderly funded

By Mike Cavanagh
Staff Writer

The SIU Law School has received an $80,861 grant to expand its Legal Clinic's service for the elderly.

The grant, one of 37 made by the U.S. Legal Services Corp. to law schools across the country, is part of a two-year, $326 million program to provide legal aid to the elderly.

The Law School was chosen because its Legal Clinic has a program that brings free legal assistance to the elderly in Southern Illinois, said Beverly Bunn, special counsel for the LSC's Office of Field Services.

"SIU-C's clinic program is designed to reach the types of people that we are mandated to help. We're getting the most return for the money."

The Law School also received the grant because of the large percentage of elderly people residing in Southern Illinois. Forty percent of the population in Southern Illinois can be classified as elderly, compared to 15 percent for the rest of the state, said Howard Eisenberg, director of the Legal Clinic.

"This is our fifth year operating 19 clinics in the 13 southernmost counties (in Illinois)," Eisenberg said. The program reaches nursing home residents, shut-ins or underrepresented blacks more than 60 years old. These people have specific legal problems that otherwise would go unaddressed, he said.

Three attorneys and 50 senior law students work with the Legal Clinic.

The grant will enable the clinic to hire an additional lawyer and allow more students get to those people who do not have access to one of the existing centers.

"We will be able to serve a population that hasn't been served before," Eisenberg said.

"It is the quality of service that makes this (program) special," said May Knussmann, field service coordinator for the Egyptian Area Agency on Aging, Inc. "It's a superior legal service program; the best I've ever seen."

"Sometimes the elderly think that lawyers are stiff and distant people, but they really relate to the students," Bunn said. "They think they are helping the students as well, which they are."

Previous grants to the clinic have not allowed income eligibility requirements, which are required by LSC. Eisenberg remains optimistic that this requirement will not be a problem.

Nuclear dump unlikely here

By Paula Buckner
Staff Writer

Despite the existence of three low-level radioactive waste storage sites in Southern Illinois, a long-term storage site probably will not be built in this area.

In a telephone interview, Bruce Rodman, spokesman for the Illinois Department of Nuclear Safety, said that although SIU-C, Allied Chemical Corp. in Metropolis and Olin Corp. in Marion generate low-level radioactive wastes, "the three sites are not technically sound or even large enough to be selected as long-term disposal sites."

The IDNS and the State Geological and Water Survey, he said, are "taking into consideration any potential site problems" while studying and making maps of water sources and mineral deposits.

Because of a federal law passed in 1980, the IDNS has to come up with a short-term management plan which would provide for the storage of relatively small amounts of nuclear waste.

A draft of that plan was presented last week in two informational sessions at SIU-C by Terry Lash, director of the state nuclear safety department. A public hearing on the short-term storage plan is scheduled for July 24 in Springfield.

John Sherman, director of the Illinois South Project, Herrin, said that groups such as Illinois South and SCAM are concerned with public awareness of the plan.

Only three states — Nevada, Washington and South

Carolina — operate long-term disposal facilities for the nation's low-level wastes. Under current federal law, these states can refuse to accept low-level radioactive material from out-of-state generators after Jan. 1, 1986.

Because of this law, Lash said, each state will be responsible for its own disposal system.

Regional compacts — agreements among states to dispose of nuclear waste — have to be approved by Congress before long-term sites can be developed. If Congress approves, Illinois and Kentucky will form the Central Midwest Compact.

By law, the Central Midwest Compact's disposal site has to be built in Illinois because Kentucky operates no nuclear power plants.

open with "Night Must Fall," a play in which a handsome ex-bellboy is hired as a servant by a rich, old invalid who lectures him about his amorous conduct with her maid. The plot thickens when a woman from the ex-bellboy's hometown pays a visit and is murdered. The play will be shown June 20-23.

Trouble erupts at the Chicken Ranch in Texas when a television reporter attempts to clean up the town by closing down the legendary brothel in "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," showing June 28-30 and July 4-7.

"How the Other Half Loves" is the story of two families in two living rooms and the affair between one couple's wife and the other's husband. The play will be shown July 11-14.

"The most lovely music ever written in theater" will be heard in the musical "Brigadoon," said David Stevens, producer of the musical.

"Heather on the Hill," "Almost Like Being in Love" and "Come to Me" are among the songs

Latest Marion prison lockdown discontinued

By John Krukowski
Staff Writer

The lockdown imposed last week at the Federal Penitentiary at Marion following the murder of an inmate there was called off Monday afternoon. Prison officials said the murder was not gang-related.

John Clark, executive assistant to the warden, said the prison was "pretty much back to normal" Monday.

Clark said the prison administration doesn't anticipate changing any general procedures because of the slaying. He said the administration did "learn some new things," which prison officials won't divulge for security reasons, from the stabbing of inmate Michael Lorick last Wednesday.

Lorick, 27, of Washington, D.C., was pronounced dead Wednesday morning in the prison hospital after being stabbed by an inmate. Clark said that Lorick was outside his cell in the prison's E Range during an exercise period with six other inmates when the stabbing occurred.

A suspect has been identified and isolated, and the handmade knife used in the killing confiscated, Clark said. The suspect's name was not released, pending indictment. Clark said the killing probably was motivated by a "personal grievance."

"It doesn't appear to have larger ramifications in terms of group problems," Clark said.

The prison staff found two other "homemade knives during the lockdown, Clark said. All three knives were hidden in inmates' radios to escape detection from increased security measures instituted following the murder of two guards and an inmate at the prison in October 1983, Clark said.

Lorick testified earlier this year in hearings at Marion dealing with a lawsuit inmates filed against the prison administration. The inmates contend that the prison is using unwarranted force against inmates since the incidents of October 1983.

The last murder occurred at Marion on April 29, 1984, when an inmate was beaten to death by fellow inmates, Clark said.

An inmate who escaped from Marion's minimum-security camp May 19 was captured Wednesday in Florida, Clark said.

Chester Zukowski, 50, of Fort Lauderdale, was apprehended in a shopping center in Davie, Fla., said Richard Hoffman, superintendent of the criminal division of the U.S. Marshal Service in Miami.

Zukowski, who was serving a six-year sentence at Marion for filing false federal income tax statements, put up some resistance during his arrest, Hoffman said. He was quickly subdued and neither he nor the arresting officer was injured, Hoffman said.

Zukowski is presently at the Fort Lauderdale city jail, pending indictment for escaping, Hoffman said.

Testimony says local couple circulated drugs

By Bob Tita
Staff Writer

A Carbondale couple and eight other defendants are on trial in U.S. District Court in Benton for conspiring to distribute 1,000 pounds of marijuana between 1981 and 1984.

According to testimony by government witnesses, millions of dollars worth of marijuana was distributed by Jack and Judy Hrvatin, of 613 Owens St., Carbondale. Ernest and Nancy Poland, of New Baden, testified that during a two-week period in May 1982, 3,000 pounds of marijuana from the Hrvatins circulated throughout Southern Illinois.

Records of drug transactions kept by Mrs. Poland have been used extensively during the trial, now in its fourth week.

"The amount of money the Polands paid to Mr. Hrvatin in 1982 amounted to $876,000," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Carr during a change-of-plea hearing last month. "It has absolutely nothing to do with all their other transactions. Those are simply from the records they were able to find during that two-week period."

The Polands pleaded guilty to the drug conspiracy charges in May and were promised immunity and a reduced sentence in return for their testimony. Mrs. Poland was given immunity from prosecution while her husband was promised no more than six years in jail.

According to the Polands, marijuana was transferred from the Hrvatin's house in Carbondale by delivery men to "stash houses" where it subsequently was obtained by the Polands and sold in smaller quantities. Two of the defendants allegedly operated such houses.

The Hrvatins also face charges of income tax evasion for not reporting money collected from drug sales. The government is expected to complete its case by the end of the week.

Bone fracture might be key to Mengele case

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Forensic experts Monday found what they believe is an old pelvic fracture in the skeleton of a 1979 drowning victim that could confirm the body is that of Nazi war criminal Josef Mengele.

"If we confirm a fracture and if it matches information from abroad, then we have taken a great step towards identification," forensic pathologist Wilmes Teixeira said.

Reports from Germany said Mengele might have bone damage either from a war wound or from an automobile accident suffered while he worked at the Auschwitz concentration camp.

Teixeira said he received a phone call from the Wiesenthal

Institute in Los Angeles, which traces former war criminals including Mengele, and the institute promised to send a package of information on the war criminal.

"I hope this will give us something solid on a fracture," he said.

In West Germany, Mengele's son, Rolf, was reported to be preparing a family statement on the purported death of his infamous father, but it was unclear when he would release his first-ever public comment on the case.

In New York, Nazi hunter Simon Wiesenthal told The New York Times he had learned that Gita Stammer, a key witness in the Brazilian case who said she hid Mengele in Brazil from 1961 to 1974, is Jewish.

"I can't believe that Mengele stayed with a Jewish family for 13 years," Wiesenthal said. "This to me is unbelievable."

In new testimony Stammer, who sheltered the man suspected to be Mengele from 1961 until the mid-1970, also denied reports that she was Jewish, and said that at one point she confronted Mengele about his identity.

"I said to him: 'Are you Mengele?' and he said 'Yes,'" Stammer told reporters after speaking with federal police. "I saw a Paraguayan I.D. card in the name of Jose Mengele."

Mengele obtained Paraguayan citizenship in 1959 but apparently left that country shortly thereafter.

In Sao Paulo, Justice Department official Neal Sher said the United States was providing Brazil with Nazi documents that were seized at the Auschwitz death camp in Poland near the end of World War II. They include authenticated specimens of Mengele's handwriting.

"We are bringing down documents and handwriting experts," Sher said.

Sher said there was "an atmosphere of mutual cooperation" between Brazil and the United States following an "excellent" meeting with federal Police Chief Romeu Tuma.

Tuma has said he is "90 percent" sure a mysterious man who called himself Wolfgang Gerhard and who drowned in Brazil in 1979 was really Mengele, wanted for the deaths of up to 400,000 people — mostly Jews — at Auschwitz.

Mengele's handwriting from World War II will be compared with letters and papers Brazilian police believe were written by the Gerhard impostor, who was buried near Sao Paulo in 1979.

Tuma said he had already received authenticated Mengele fingerprints from Germany to compare with ones police hope to find on a series of objects possibly handled by the man before his drowning.

Negotiations to free U.N. soldiers continuing

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel's proxy militia in southern Lebanon held 21 Finnish U.N. peace-keeping soldiers incommunicado Monday and renewed a vow to keep them captive until Shiite Moslem gunmen release 11 comrades.

"No one will meet with them until every one of our men are freed," said commanding Gen. Antoine Lahd of the South Lebanon Army.

Negotiations spanned three continents in an effort to gain the release of the Finnish members of the U.N. Interim Force in Lebanon, abducted Friday by the SLA in southern Lebanon hours after Shiite Moslem Amal militiamen seized 11 SLA members.

In New York, U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar ordered an investigation of the incident that led to the kidnapping of the soldiers, a spokesman said. Israeli officials said the Finns disarmed the SLA members and abandoned them, leaving them to be captured by the Amal.

In a letter to Perez de Cuellar, ambassadors from Fiji, Finland, France, Ghana, Ireland, Italy, Nepal, the Netherlands, Norway and Sweden said they viewed the kidnapping with "deepest concern." The 10 nations contribute troops to the U.N.

peace-keeping force.

"The troop-contributing countries appeal to all governments that have influence on those keeping U.N. personnel as their prisoners to exert their influence so that the prisoners will be released without delay and unharmed," the letter said.

Reagan says U.S. will abide by Salt II treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, an ardent opponent of the SALT 2 treaty when it was signed six years ago, said Monday the United States will "go the extra mile" and continue to abide by the unratified arms control agreement.

As the first step, Reagan announced the United States would scrap an old nuclear submarine to make way for a new one to stay within the treaty's limits.

In a statement and letter to Congress, Reagan said, however, the United States would refrain from further strategic arms buildups only "to the extent the Soviet Union exercises comparable restraint."

He warned that the United States was prepared to make "appropriate and proportionate responses" to future Soviet violations.

Such responses would "provide incentives to the Soviets to correct their non-compliance and to make it clear to Moscow that violations of arms control obligations entail real costs," Reagan said.

"What the president is really saying is that the Soviets have until the end of the year to deal with our compliance concerns and deal seriously" at the arms talks in Geneva, Switzerland, a senior official said.

Officers elected to Civil Service employees group

By Scott Freeman
Staff Writer

Max Waldron, routing supervisor at the Physical Plant, has been elected chairman of the Civil Service Employees Council.

Waldron said one of his aims as chairman is to make civil service employees aware that the council exists to serve them.

Dave Saunders, School of Technical Careers information specialist, was elected vice chairman; Ed Bryant, chief architectural draftsman, recorder; Robert Brewer, assistant bursar, treasurer; and Joan Marks, stenographic secretary, College of Liberal Arts, corresponding secretary.

All employees are encouraged to attend the council's regular meetings on the first of every month from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Anthony Hall Balcony Conference Room, Waldron said.

"We are just like the Faculty Senate or the Student Senate in that we have open meetings," Waldron said. He said he wants the council to be as visible and accessible to civil service employees as possible this year.

If an employee wants to get an item on the meeting agenda, Waldron should be contacted at least two weeks in advance at the Physical Plant office.

Waldron said he feels very strongly about the importance of the work that civil service workers do for the University, saying they are "the hub of the wheel that keeps education turning."

Newly elected members of the general council were seated at the June 5 meeting. Eleven members were elected, with eight returning, said Barbara Humphrey, a council member from the Academic Affairs sector. There is approximately one council member for every 100 civil service employees on campus.

Waldron is entering his fifth year on the Civil Service Employees Council. In 1984 he received the outstanding Civil Service Award. He has also served for the past eight years on the board of the employees credit union, presently as vice chairman. Waldron has been employed by the University for 18 years.

Standing committee members will be named at the July meeting, Humphrey said.

Southern Illinoisan moves to morning

By David Sheets
Staff Writer

There were posters in the newsroom with the slogan "Midnight deadline plus morning delivery equals fresher news," and several of the news staff wore buttons that said "Join our dawn patrol."

These are the signs of the times at the Southern Illinoisan, the Carbondale-based regional newspaper that shifted from afternoon to morning publication Monday.

W. Stephen Burgess, publisher, said "everything was fine" in publication of the first morning edition.

"Morning newspapers usually have fresher content than afternoon newspapers," Burgess said of the reasons for the change. "Virtually the same paper is published in the afternoon as is in the morning but afternoon papers have updates on early morning news and the previous evening's sports scores.

"An 'early page' in the new SI can work the same way."

Burgess said there are two chief advantages to morning publication.

"It allows advertisers to time their sales and gives the newspaper a longer shelf-life. Advertisements can now run throughout the business day so readers are able to plan for sales and specials before the rush hour."

Mike McGorty, general manager, said there had been few complaints among staff members about the change in work hours. And Burgess said the early hours did not appear to be a problem for the carriers.

Switching to morning publication required nine months of planning, four months of which were needed to actually put the change into effect, Burgess said.

"Eight other newspapers that converted from afternoon to morning publication were studied," Burgess said. "We examined how each paper promoted its own change, how each approached the change and the best of each transition. Certainly some of the newspapers did not do a good job."

Wire found in candy

By John Krukowski
Staff Writer

Nearly 400 boxes of candy and peanuts were sent back to the manufacturer in Mississippi from Southern Illinois after steel wires were found in the packages.

David Blaise, regional supervisor for the Illinois Department of Public Health, said his office tracked down 165 boxes of peanut brittle and 219 boxes of peanuts last week after receiving "three or four complaints" from people who bought the candy and had found small steel wires in the boxes.

Saluki softball team enjoys surprising season

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

What started out as a rebuilding year blossomed into a much more pleasant surprise for veteran Saluki softball coach Kay Brechtelsbauer.

With only three seniors on a team dominated by freshman and sophomores, the Saluki softball team doubled its win total of the previous season. SIU-C finished with an overall record of 24-19 and an 8-9 mark in the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference.

"Overall we had a good season," Brechtelsbauer, who completed her 18th season at SIU-C, said. "We doubled our wins, won our own tournament and had some fine individual performances."

Six SIU-C players, five of whom will be returning next year, combined to shatter 12 individual school records.

Junior shortstop Jenny Shupryt and center fielder Rhonda Snow, both junior college transfers who were in their first year at SIU-C, led the way offensively. Shupryt set single-season records with 46 hits and nine doubles while Snow set marks with seven triples and 145 at-bats.

Shupryt and Snow also combined with teammates Nancy McAuley and Kathy Richert to establish a record for most games played in a season with 46.

Shupryt finished the season with a team high batting average of .341 and was second behind Snow in runs batted in.

"Shupryt carried the team for most of the season with her glove and bat," Brechtelsbauer said. "Snow started a little slower, but began to show her explosive offensive abilities in mid-April."

While Snow and Shupryt were leading the team offensively, pitchers Kelly Powell and Lisa Peterson combined to break seven school records. The pair of freshman tied with most appearances (22) and most starts (21). Powell set new marks for most complete games (20) and most wins (13), while Peterson broke records in innings pitched (163) and strikeouts (65).

Powell finished the season with a 13-8 record and a school record seven shutouts while Peterson finished 11-11.

"The pitching of Peterson and Powell was very significant in the team's success," Brechtelsbauer said. "Both improved as the season progressed, and they both demonstrated they can compete at any level."

"The performances of Kim Bruno at third and Becky Rickenbaugh at second were instrumental," Brechtelsbauer said of two other freshmen.

Bruno hit for a .324 average while committing just one error in 133 total chances. Rickenbaugh displayed her defensive versatility by playing at second base, shortstop and right field. She led the team with runs scored and was fourth in total hits. Her batting average was over .300 for most of the season before it dropped to .272.

The Salukis finished the 1985 season at the Gateway Conference Championship by going 2-2 and finishing fifth. The Salukis opened up the double elimination tournament with a 2-0 loss to Southwest Missouri, which dropped them to the losers bracket.

The Salukis won the next two games, defeating Northern Iowa and Eastern Illinois by identical 3-2 scores. Both games went 11 innings. The Salukis were eliminated when Indiana State won another extra-inning affair by a score of 1-0.

Shortstop Jenny Shupryt was the softball Salukis' top player this season. Shupryt, a junior from Country Club Hills, set two school records and led the team with a .341 batting average.

Men golfers finish 4th in MVC

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

The SIU-C men's golf team captured fourth place in the Missouri Valley Conference tournament played on the West Texas State University Golf Course in Canyon, Texas, May 13-15.

The home course advantage helped WTSU to a first-place finish with 1,230 strokes in the 72-hole event. Wichita State, the defending conference champion, was runner-up with a 1,237 total, followed by Bradley at 1,250 strokes. SIU-C finished with 1,264 strokes.

Saluki coach Darren Vaughn said, "I was satisfied overall. I was going down there with the attitude that if we finished in the top three, we'd be very pleased."

"But the home team played better than I thought they would. There really wasn't that much difference in the stroke totals, so I felt we really played well."

Saluki sophomore Jay Sala stayed in contention for medalist honors throughout the meet and led the Salukis with an eighth-place finish which earned him all-MVC honors. Although just one stroke off the lead after the first round, he slipped to eighth place after 36 holes. He pulled into sixth place after 54 holes, but returned to the eighth position on the final day with a 314 total for the par-72 course.

"Sala could've won, but he played the last seven holes of the tournament terrible. He went in the water on one hole and the wheels came off for awhile," Vaughn said. "He was pretty upset because he thought he had shot himself out of all conference, but then he was relieved to find out he still made it."

Three other Salukis finished among the top 20 individuals—Tom Neuman at 319, Bobby Pavelonis at 320 and Tom Portner at 321.

With most of the squad returning and two recruits, vaughn looks ahead to even better finishes next year. "With the new players coming in, we'll be a lot stronger, with more depth," Vaughn said.

Wadmark loses first match in NCAA tournament play

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

Per Wadmark, the No. 1 singles player on the SIU-C men's tennis team, lost in the first round of the NCAA finals May 22 at Athens, Ga.

Wadmark, a junior from Malmo, Sweden, was selected to play in the tournament as an at-large bid representing NCAA Region V and lost to Andy Solis of Alabama 6-4, 6-3. Solis was the top singles player for the Crimson Tide, which finished among the top 10 nationally.

Region V includes schools from the Big Eight, MVC and Midwestern Cities conferences. Four players were seeded from the region and 12 other players gained at-large berths.

Saluki coach Dick LeFevre said Wadmark was hindered by a bout with mononucleosis in the days prior to the match, but played well despite the illness.

"Per's problem was that he came down with mono about three days before the match," LeFevre said. "We didn't know if he'd play until the minute he stepped on the court."

Wadmark, who finished 16-12 and captured the Missouri Valley Conference singles championship, was the only Saluki to qualify for the NCAA finals. LeFevre said Wadmark's performance at the MVC tournament enabled him to gain a berth in the NCAA finals.

"Winning the conference title was the only way he could have earned a spot in the nationals," LeFevre said.

Wadmark's finish at the MVC tourney helped SIU-C finish second overall, its highest finish since it won the conference championship in 1977. The Salukis finished 15-13 overall in dual competition.

Wadmark was ranked among the top 40 singles players in the nation during much of the past season by the NCAA. Wadmark also teamed with Rollie Olquinio to give the Salukis a formidable No. 1 doubles team. The pair failed to qualify for the NCAA finals, but were ranked as high as 32nd nationally by the NCAA at one point in the season.

Wentland named new diving coach

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

Tom Wentland, a native of Rockford, was named Thursday as SIU-C diving coach for both the men's and women's teams.

Wentland will replace Dennis Golden, who left SIU-C after six seasons to work as a diving instructor at the Justus Aquatic Center in Orlando, Fla. Golden joins former Saluki men's swimming coach Bob Steele, who left SIU-C last fall to become the aquatics director at Justus.

Wentland, who was co-captain of the SIU-C men's team in 1984, competed in the 1983 and 1984 NCAA zone meet. He finished 20th in the 10-meter platform competition in the 1982 United States Indoor National Championship meet.

Wentland graduated from Rockford's Harlem High School in 1974 and competed and coached trampolines prior to enrolling at SIU-C. Seven of his trampoline students became age-group champions, and they have won 11 national titles overall.

Wentland has won seven National Trampoline Championships and placed fifth in the 1976 World Championship meet.

Wentland will work under men's coach Doug Ingram and women's coach Tim Hill. The women's team finished fifth nationally.

Wentland will also have the opportunity to work with one of the nation's top divers in Wendy Lucero. Lucero won the women's national championship in 1-meter competition this season.

Wendy's brother, Chad, is the top returning diver for the men's team. The sophomore competed in NCAA zone competition last season.

Sharon Leidy set a school record in the heptathlon with 4,908 points at the GCAC meet.

Future bright for women's track team, DeNoon says

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

Despite a disappointing performance at the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference meet, SIU-C women's track coach Don DeNoon is optimistic about his team's future.

DeNoon, who recently completed his second season at SIU-C, led the Salukis to a fourth-place finish at the GCAC meet after guiding the squad to a third-place finish in his first year.

DeNoon said he believed the Salukis had a strong chance to win the conference championship, but he still thinks SIU-C had a fine season even though it didn't capture the title.

"Our program is headed in the right direction," DeNoon said. "We've started bringing in high-caliber recruits, and team members are improving their performances."

"My major disappointments this season were not winning the Gateway championship and not having any athletes at outdoor nationals."

The Salukis scored 86 points at the GCAC meet, which was held May 11-13 at Normal Western Illinois won the meet with 134 points and host Illinois State was second with 123 points.

The Salukis had two individual winners — Sharon Leidy in the heptathlon and Connie Price in the shot put.

Leidy, who ended her career at SIU-C at the meet, broke her own school heptathlon record with 4,908 points. Her previous record was 4,763 points.

Leidy also placed fourth in the high jump with an effort of 5 feet, 6.5 inches. She was the Salukis' leading scorer in the meet.

Price had a toss of 48 feet, 3 inches to claim the shot put title. She enabled SIU-C to maintain control of the conference shot put title, as teammate Rhonda McCausland won the event last year. Price also ended her collegiate career at the meet.

Junior sprinter Denise Blackman had a pair of second-place finishes for the Salukis. She recorded a time of 23.97 in the 200-meter dash and was edged by Wichita State's Nina Thompson (23.74). Blackman had a time of 54.41 in the 400-meter dash, just behind Illinois State's Carolyn Ferguson (54.23).

The Salukis ended the season by breaking or tying eight school records. DeNoon said this indicates that the Salukis should continue to improve next year.

"I've said all along that we would be a good team this year but we would be an even better team next year," he said. "If we're healthy, we should be improved next year."

However, DeNoon will lose eight seniors from this year's team and Leidy will be the most difficult to replace.

Leidy holds school records in the 100-meter hurdles (14.8) and the heptathlon. She also shares the school record in the high jump at 5 feet, 8 inches. She ended her career as the 12th leading scorer in SIU-C history with 206.5 points.

Price broke the single-season scoring record this season with 196 points and established a school record in the discus with a 165 foot, 1.5 inch throw.

Franks ends collegiate career in fine fashion

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

World-class sprinter Michael Franks ended a spectacular career at SIU-C by finishing fourth nationally in the 400-meter dash at the NCAA Outdoor Track Championships at Austin, Texas, May 27-June 2.

Franks, who won the NCAA indoor title in the 400-meter dash last March with a time of 46.71, had a time of 45.16 in the outdoor finals. He finished behind Roddie Hayley of Arkansas (44.70), Sunday Uti of Iowa State (44.91) and Garbriel Tiaoch of Washington State (44.92).

Franks had broke his own school record in the 400 in the qualifying heat at Austin by recording a 44.94. But he didn't win his heat, as Tiaoch finished with a 44.87.

Saluki coach Bill Cornell said this hurt Franks in the finals, because the winners of the four individual heats were given the inside, or preferred lanes. Franks ran in lane seven, an outside lane.

Franks leaves SIU-C with two school records: the 100- and 400-meter dashes. He also was a member of the 1984 4 X 400-meter relay team that holds the school record.

"You don't replace a Michael Franks," Cornell said. "A person like that comes around about once every 10 years."

Shot putter Tom Smith also qualified for the NCAA meet, but he failed to make it through the qualifying round.

The Salukis ended their regular season by competing in the Missouri Valley Conference Outdoor Championships May 8-11 in Des Moines, Iowa. The Salukis lost the outdoor championship for the first time since joining the conference in 1976.

Illinois State won the meet with 177 points and SIU-C finished second with 153 points. The Redbirds also handed the Salukis their first loss in the MVC indoor meet this year.

"Illinois State's strength in the middle distance and distance events made the difference," Cornell said. "We had a good overall performance and, with a break or two, we could have pulled it off."

Franks paced SIU-C at the conference meet by winning both the 100- and 200-meter dashes with times of 10.70 and 21.10, respectively. Franks didn't compete in the 400-meter dash.

Darryl Robertson was the Salukis' other individual winner, as he captured first in the high jump with a 16-4. SIU-C took four of the top five places in the high jump. Jim Sullivan finished second, Shane Weber was fourth and Andy Geiger placed fifth.

The Saluki 4 x 400 relay team of Eric Gray, Steve Breathett, Mark Hill and Franks also took first with a time of 3:10.44.

Cornell said the Salukis lost points in the meet when conference officials said SIU-C hadn't entered its shot putters. Cornell contends the athletes were entered in the event.

"We could have got 16 points out of the event but I don't think it made the difference," Cornell said.

Cornell completed his first season as the Saluki coach. He replaced Lew Hartzog, who retired after 24 years.

HERRIN: Coach vows to stay clean

"HERMAN WILLIAMS is supposed to let me know in the near future," Herrin said. "He's a great man, an outstanding coach and an asset to the entire program. He knows people on campus and knows how to get things done. I hope he remains on the staff."

Williams could not be reached for comment.

During the interim, Williams signed Ken Dusharm, a junior college transfer from Rogers State College, Keith Kiner, also a junior college transfer from Belleville Area College, and Randy House, who played for Herrin at Benton. These three are slated to play forward.

WHEN HE got the job, Herrin had just one day left in the signing period and didn't sign anyone. However, Grant Martin signed a non-binding letter of intent in the first week of June. Martin, who matches November signee Todd Krueger at 6 foot, 8 inches tall, has been in military service for the past three years.

However, Herrin said the Salukis still need to add size to the squad to be competitive.

"We don't have anyone in mind yet, but we're looking for inside players in the worst way. We lack bulk, physical size and strength," Herrin said.

HERRIN SAID November's early signing period is crucial, and he would like to sign at least five players. To do so, he will promote SIU-C's selling points: a beautiful campus, excellent facilities, choice of almost any academic endeavor, a great basketball conference and his personal coaching philosophy which guarantees playing time.

"I emphasize the fact that you've got to play with great intensity and lay your body on the line. I believe in playing eight or nine players to keep that intensity. I believe in rotating line-ups for opponents. Teams with great success don't always start the same line-up," Herrin said.

BRIAN WELSH, Dan Weiss, Doug Novsek and Steve

Middleton are the returning Saluki lettermen and although they lack experience, Herrin said they are "high class men with a lot of desire to play basketball and are very dedicated to the game."

Herrin started coaching at Okaville High School in 1956. He coached Benton High School from 1960 to 1985. During the summer of 1983, he coached in the Puerto Rican Superior Basketball League.

Herrin's 616-209 career coaching record includes a state record 21 regional championships, 11 South-Seven championships (with a 220-60 record), 55 team championships, six Centralia Holiday Tournament Championships (a tournament record), eight teams to the Sweet Sixteen and three undefeated teams.

The Benton High School gymnasium was named Rich Herrin Gymnasium in his honor in 1982. He was Southern Illinois Coach of the Year five times and was inducted to the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 1983.

Price earns Gateway honor

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

Connie Price, the top weight thrower on the SIU-C women's track team this season, was named the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference Track athlete of the Month for the period ending May 15.

Price, who ended her track career as the ninth-leading scorer in SIU-C history, won the shot put championship at the GCAC meet with a toss of 48 feet, 3 inches. Her effort helped the Salukis gain a fourth-place finish in the conference.

She established her career best in the shot put earlier in the season with a 49 foot, 11.5 inch throw. The mark was just .5 inches short of the NCAA qualifying distance.

Price broke the school record in the discus with a toss of 165 feet, 1.5 inches. She had not competed in the event prior to the outdoor season and only began training in the discus over spring break. Price also established a single-season scoring record with 196 points.

Price, a native of St. Louis, only competed in track for two seasons. Prior to her track career, Price was a member of the Salukis women's basketball team from 1979-1983.

Herrin vows to run clean program

inherit. Herrin makes clear his philosophy for the future of Saluki basketball.

Rich Herrin

Dean Stuck said he hired veteran Benton Consolidated High School Coach Rich Herrin to be SIU-C head men's basketball coach for many good reasons, but mainly because "he was the best coach for our situation at this time."

Stuck, special assistant for intercollegiate athletics, announced his decision May 13, following a nationwide search with the aid of an eight member advisory committee. Herrin, 52, replaces Allen Van Winkle, who resigned after four years of coaching in the wake of an NCAA violations scandal involving then-assistant coach Stafford Stephenson.

Still awaiting the NCAA and MVC verdict his team will

"I THINK there's only one way — it's got to be a very clean program. It's very important that I know it's that way from top to bottom, and I've instructed my coaches," Herrin said. "I have no comment on what other schools do. Here, we'll do anything to help our athletes, but it's got to be legal and above board."

Although Stephenson cleared Van Winkle from any involvement in the apparent NCAA violations, Van Winkle left anyway, citing a lack of financial commitment to a Division I program as his major reason.

Herrin said he doesn't know much about the money situation yet.

perienced players, it may seem ironic that Herrin plans to save money in recruiting. However, with his plans to recruit just in the Midwest, not only will he save recruiting budget dollars, but he will also be more likely to generate revenue by filling the Arena with fans who want to see local stars.

"Basketball at SIU and throughout Southern Illinois has a great tradition, and we've got some of the best fans you could possibly have. But I've got to ask them to have patience for a year or two. We lost a lot from last year's ball club," Herrin said.

WITH TONY Snooks lost to academic ineligibility, the list of lost lettermen now totals eight.

"He's gone, and that's unfortunate. We're going to try to prevent this from happening in the future — it's part of the coaching responsibility to make sure players make progress toward graduation," Herrin said, and using the exceptional graduation rates of NCAA champions Villanova and Georgetown as an example, added, "there is no doubt that a great relationship exists between the great players and graduation."

Steve Carroll, a former graduate assistant at the University of Illinois, signed as an assistant to Herrin on May 29. Herrin is depending on Carroll to aid in the search for talented student athletes. Both are hoping for the continued help of Herman Williams, who was interim head coach and is debating whether or not to stay as an assistant.

New cage assistant hopes to keep area talent at home

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

When Steve Carroll visited Carbondale from his Urbana home as a child to watch the holiday tournaments, he was inspired by players like Joe C. Meriweather and Mike Glenn.

At the age of 24, he accepted an offer on May 29 to become the recruiting coordinator for the SIU-C men's basketball team partly because of those memories.

"I'd like to see SIU get back to that heritage," Carroll said of the days of packed Arena crowds and teams that enjoyed national recognition. "This is what I've always wanted to do."

Carroll, a graduate assistant at the University of Illinois for the past two seasons, places his top recruiting priority on Southern Illinois athletes for many reasons.

"In the past they haven't recruited in Illinois. The key thing is to start to try to latch onto some players at home. People around here would like to see the top Southern Illinois players stay and play at Southern," Carroll said.

Carroll said he would make every effort to attract Carbondale Community High School standout Stephen Bardo, for example, along with other local players who are capable of playing on the Division I level.

"The thing he (Bardo) needs to consider is that he and maybe half a dozen other players can step in here and be a superstar and turn the program around," Carroll said. "Big-time schools go after premier athletes and they're all fighting for playing time. Does he want to be a small fish in a big pond or does he want to come to SIU and play right away and maybe be one of Southern's all-time greats?"

When Carroll recruits in the Northern part of the state and throughout the Midwest, he will try to be visible and "get the message out" — that SIU-C exists and has many fine selling points, including Coach Rich Herrin.

"It was the best possible decision to hire Rich Herrin, based on the fact that he's one of the most successful high school coaches. Everywhere I go with him, not just SIU and Benton, I've never seen so much support," Carroll said. "It's a challenge, let's face it, but if we can get the players we want, we'll eventually win. He's got the record."

Babcock wins U.S. gymnastics crown

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

Brian Babcock, a former standout for the SIU-C men's gymnastics team, captured first place in the overall competition at the U.S. Gymnastics Championships Saturday at Jacksonville, Fla.

Babcock, who ended his playing career at SIU-C in 1983, scored 11.90 points to edge Dan Hayden of Arizona State, who finished with 111.15 points.

Seventy-two competitors were vying for a spot on the 24-man national team which will compete against the Peoples Republic of China team in Los Angeles on July 7 and in Albuquerque, New Mexico on July 9.

David Lutterman, a current member of the Saluki team, finished 19th overall and will join Babcock on the national team.

United States Olympian Tim Daggett of UCLA was third with 110 points, while Charles Lake and Phil Cahoy of Nebraska placed fourth and fifth with 109.65 and 108.75 points, respectively.

Babcock holds or shares five SIU-C records. He finished third in the all-around competition at the NCAA championships in 1983.

Babcock has already competed for the U.S. in international meets with Rumania and the People's Republic of China. He has also competed in the Pan American Games, World Games and World University Games.

SIU-C women's golf coach Sonya Stalberger has earned the right to play in the 1986 LPGA Championship.

Stalberger gains chance to play in LPGA tourney

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

Coach Sonya Stalberger applied the principles she's taught the SIU-C women's golf team when she captured the LPGA Midwestern Section Teaching Division Championship in a sudden death playoff May 10.

Stalberger set a goal to become Sectional Champion because it earns her entry in the 1986 LPGA Championship to be played at the Jack Nicklaus Sports Center in Kings Island, Ohio. That dream eluded her when she finished second in the section; a year ago, and seemed about to slip away again after she shot a first round 31 on the par 71 Phenol Park Golf Course in St. Paul, Minn.

Clinging to her hope five strokes behind the leader, Stalberger put thoughts of her May 9 round out of her mind, came back and fired a 71 the second day. She packed her gear, waited, and to her surprise the leader, former LPGA tourist Cindy Booker, repeated a 76 stroke performance, leaving the two tied at 152 for the 36 hole event.

Unwilling to relent and having one of those days where "everything really came together", Stalberger claimed the title on the first playoff hole with a par 4, while Booker carded a bogey 5.

"I'm really pleased that I went there without practicing a lot and really played well. That's a tremendous confidence builder for me, in respect to my own golf game.

It's been a long time since I'd won a tournament and I hadn't competed in a year," she said.

Stalberger will not take lightly her upcoming chance to challenge the likes of this year's champion Nancy Lopez and other top tourists at the LPGA Championship, which is one of the four women's major tour events scheduled from May 28 to June 1, 1986.

"It's a thrill to be able to compete in such a prestigious tournament, and an opportunity not many have, so I feel fortunate. Whenever I'm presented with an opportunity like that, I like to capitalize on it," Stalberger said. "It's a goal now, something to work at through the year. I'm determined not to just make an appearance — I want to play well and make a good showing."
