Cold Type Printing Process Gives Egyptian New Look

Journalism Department Prints Newspaper

In Its New Offset Plant

At Building T-48

What's the new look? It's the Egyptian in cold type by offset.

It's cheaper, it's faster, and here's how it works.

Copy, as written by reporters, is first retyped on the Justewriter. This machine, which closely resembles an electric typewriter, types the copy and simultaneously punches each character in a code system comparable to the dots of Braille, into a special tape.

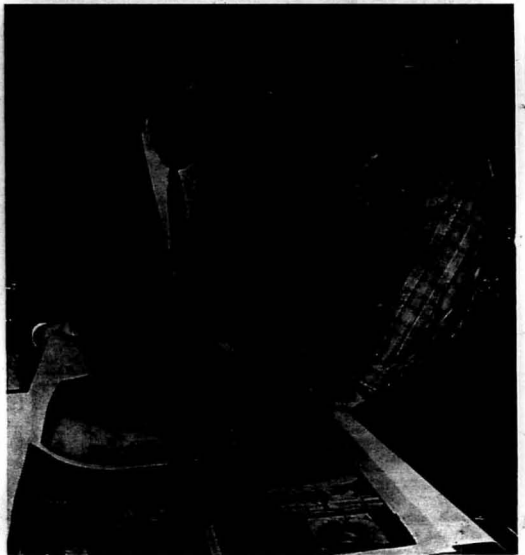

This tape is run through a reproducer machine which justifies the type, or sets it up in even "newspaper size" columns. This process works in a manner like that of a player piano. The tape is put on the reproducer unit at the side of the machine, and keys type out the letters, much as the keys of a player piano produce music.

The justified copy is then run through a waxer which coats the back of the paper with a thin layer of wax that retains permanent adhesiveness. The waxed copy is then pasted to a "flat," or type of "blue-print," of the paper's format.

Headlines are produced by the Headliner which uses negative discs that reproduce the letters on a 35 m.m. tape through a photographic process. The finished headline tapes are then cut to size and pasted to the flat.

Various miscellaneous large type such as advertising copy is set on another machine known as the Vartyper. It justifies and centers the type, and can produce several different type sizes.

The finished flat with copy, headlines, and ads pasted in their proper places, is then photographed on the process camera, which is a glorified box Brownie. This camera shoots sheet film 20 x 24 inches.

George C. Brown, assistant professor of Printing and Photography as well as EGYPTIAN business manager, and Thomas F. Bingman, assistant supervisor in the Department of Journalism, are the men in charge of the new offset printing plant which last night printed this edition of the EGYPTIAN.

Photographs are done separately through a half-tone process, and are attached to the rest of the copy later.

The negative of the flat is developed, and then exposed through a pre-sensitized aluminum plate which is coated with a lacquer that forms an ink receptive base and brings out the image. The finished flat is now ready for the press.

This photographic process eliminates the use of metal type. The print is made from a smooth plate, in application of the principle that oil and water don't mix.

The plate is coated with a fountain solution which is essentially water, but the image on the plate retains an oil base. The ink from the press will adhere to this oiled image, but not the water coated portion of the plate. The inked image is then transferred to a blanket roller from which the paper is actually printed, hence the name "offset" as the paper is not printed from the plate directly, but from an image set off on the blanket roller.

The paper, which comes in 840 pound rolls, is run through the press, and approximately 14,400 cut and folded issues per roll are produced.

Work Office Maintains List Of Summer Jobs In Resorts

Students who make use of the University's summer employment program have access to the names of 220 summer camps in 36 states, hotels and resorts in nine states and 13 national parks in 11 states. In addition there are job opportunities in the St. Louis and Chicago areas, reports Charles J. Carlsen, summer employment counselor. Wages in summer camps, resorts and national parks range from $35 to $65 per week. Industrial pay usually is higher. When the student walks in the Student Work office, located on Harwood Avenue, the receptionist will show him a roster of employers by states. He looks in the index under the state in which he prefers to work. Once the student receives all the desired information for the state or region of interest to him, he is referred to a set of directories which classifies the different types of employment, such as that offered by boys' camps, girls' camps, national parks, industry and other categories.

Student Talent To Take Boards In 1962 Theta Xi Variety Show

The 15-act Theta Xi variety show of 1962 will not only feature SIU's top student talent but also will feature the presentation of two service to Southern award, a $200 scholarship, and the appearance of ceremonies for the two shows.

The first show will be presented today at 7:30 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium and the second is tomorrow night, Saturday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are one dollar for reserve seats and seventy-five cents for general admission, and may be purchased at the Information Desk in the University Center.

The Service to Southern Awards will be presented tonight by President Delyte W. Morris to an outstanding male and female student judged by a committee of five persons. The awards are based on extra curricular activities that promote SIU. There were over 40 nominations for the honors.

The winners of the Service to Southern Awards last year were Bob Hardwick and Donna Schuard, both seniors.

The $200 Leo Kaplan Memorial Scholarship will be presented at Saturday's Show to Hadley Edwin Thompson, of Granite City, by Larry Laswell, past president of Theta Xi.

The scholarship is named in honor of the late Dr. Leo Kaplan, faculty advisor to Theta Xi and instructor in biology at SIU for 11 years.

Recipient of the scholarship is selected by a university committee and Theta Xi on the basis of scholarship and need. The money comes out of the Theta Xi Fund.

Applications for new student week group leaders are available at the University Center Information Desk. The completed applications must be returned Friday, March 9.

Appearing as master of ceremonies will be Bob Hardy from KMOX radio in St. Louis.

Proceeds from the two performances will go into the Theta Xi Fund which is spent for betterment of SIU, according to Laswell. In past years, the Theta Xi Fund has purchased over 100 prints for the University Library that can be borrowed by any faculty member or student and may be kept for an entire term.

The bulletin board outside of the Home Economics Building was donated by Theta Xi. According to Laswell, "The money, in essence, goes back to the students."

Student Council Seeks Housing Investigation

Southern Illinois University's Student Council heard considerable discussion at last night's meeting on the off-campus housing conditions in a report given by Senator Frank Heiligenstein.

It was moved by Heiligenstein that the Council suggest there be created a committee composed of students, householders, and representatives of the housing office. The purpose of this committee will be to collect facts relevant to off-campus housing. The motion was unanimously passed.

Student Body President Dick Childers pointed out to the Council that the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a general clean-up day under the heading "Operation Carbondale". Childers stated that the group has asked for university student help in the project. The work entails street, lawn, and sidewalk cleaning over the entire city of Carbondale.

Council gave its approval to the project and encourages students to help. A starting date has been set as April 28.

Council approved the appointment of Bob McKechnie to a position on the Election Commission.

'Educated Idiot'

Many times, when a student begins reflecting, he will begin to ask himself just why he is in college, and furthermore, how seriously he should consider his work while in college.

The first question, why college, is one which should be immediately apparent to many people, as their parents have pounded the answer into their head since they have been old enough to understand logic.

The question is that in our highly modernized and competitive economic system, a person without a college education is like a ship without a sail. As our economic system is set up, a person sells his abilities, and is paid in accordance to the job he can do.

Obviously, the person with a college education has much more to offer, or at least that is the accepted standard; therefore a college education is a prerequisite for a secure future.

Now comes the second question, which is definitely the more important of the two--how seriously should college work be considered? A large number of students are under the delusion there is no real need to conscientiously apply themselves to their studies, but only do enough to get by and pass the class.

In hanging to these beliefs, the student eases through a course on what little he knows, and when the course is finished he even forgets that.

What they cannot understand is that college courses are not set up merely as stepping stones to success which are to be tolerated only because there is no other choice.

Most college courses are, and all should be, designed to provide nourishment to the mind, to set the mind to thinking, pondering, wondering.

It is the learning which comes through interested and dedicated study, the uninterested, undedicated, forced study is one reason behind the phrase "educated idiot."

Big businesses do not desire this type of person even if he has 10 college degrees. They want the person who has really benefitted from college, and who has qualified references to vouch for his ability.

In contemporary society, a man with initiative can determine how far he wants to go, and many times can go a long way. It is undeniable that a college degree will usually assure a person of a much better job than a high school diploma.

Also, it cannot be denied that the better student will get the better job. Therefore, it is a matter of how far one wishes to go.

The time to learn is now, while you have all the facilities for learning at hand. Do not wait until you are out of college and then be sorry that you did not apply yourself. Don't be an "educated idiot."

Patriotism Isn't Blind

Virginia Olsen, 17-year-old editor of the student newspaper at Redding, Conn., is in trouble because of an editorial entitled "A Higher Loyalty" which declared that to be a patriotic American "is to be blindly stupid." Patriotism to one's country, she argued, should be replaced by a loyalty to the world."

The Legion Post at Easton understandably has protested. The school board has expressed "concern." The town Republican committee said the editorial was "in bad taste."

We hope that they will not be too hard on Virginia. In reaching out for a great truth--the brotherhood of all mankind--she failed to notice an equally important truth at her elbow. She is suffering from a youthful affliction known as hypermetropia which means she cannot see the trees for the woods.

If we could sit down and chat with Virginia, it would be our purpose to show her that one cannot be "loyal to the world" without being loyal to one's own country. One cannot be a good neighbor to the underprivileged people of what we used to call "darkest Africa" without being kindly disposed to Mr. and Mrs. Jones down the block.

The concept of brotherhood is the most elevating idea that ever dawned on man. However infrequently it is realized in our daily conduct, it is, even as an ideal, sufficient to raise us a notch or two above our animal friends.

But the only way Virginia or we or the President of the United States can give body to this ideal is by working patriotically within the framework of our own nation.

There may be conflicts of interest between governments, but there are not, in our opinion, basic conflicts of interest between the peoples of the world. Their ultimate desire is for the preservation of peace and the spread of the abundant life to all.

Because we love our country, and because we have faith in its basic goodness, we shall strive to have our government make its proper contribution to this worthy objective.

Patriotism is too seldom discussed either in editorials or from the pulpit. Maybe we are afraid of sounding corny. Or maybe, being fearful we will say nothing new on the subject, we say nothing. Perhaps Virginia has done us a good turn in compelling us to think about this love we bear for our country but which we seldom put in words.

--The Warrensburg (N.Y.) News.

Exercise in Self-Contradiction

Those who share the Thurmond point of view (referring to the current Senate "muzzling" inquiry) evidently do not even comprehend that free men are fundamentally different from the intellectual robots of totalitarianism. They do not know that anti-Communism is a spurious test of Americanism because an anti-Communist can be, and often is, an enemy of everything the free society stands for. They do not understand that the application of Communist methods to free men is an exercise in self-contradiction.

Southern Squads Shooting For Sweep Of Conference Championship Titles

Already possessing Interstate Conference championships in football, basketball and cross-country, SIU shoots for a clean sweep of the IAC all and winter sports this weekend.

Southern's gymnastic, wrestling and swimming teams are going for their fourth straight titles. If Southern wins these titles it will be the second straight time SIU has won all the fall and winter sports.

Coach Jim Wilkinson's rappers and Ralph Casey's unknowns will be competing at Eastern Illinois, while Bill Meade's title gymnasts travel to Illinois State.

Gymnastics
Last year's most valuable performer, Bruno Klaus heads Southern contingent that is expected to breeze to a fourth straight IAC title.

Klaus, NCAA 1961 high bar champion, along with NCAA all ring champion Fred Orfsky and sophomore sensation Rusty Mitchell are expected to dominate the meet.

Mitchell, from West Covina, Ill., is undefeated in the free exercise and tumbling events and figures to keep that record intact.

The Salukis won all eight events en route to a 206 1/2-183 1/2 decision over runner-up Western Illinois last winter, and have winners of seven returning on a squad which is expected to win the National collegiate gymnastic crown.

In addition to Klaus returning, Bill Meade has Len Kaldan, Fred Tijerina and Jon Sieder back to defend their blue ribbons. Other boys Meade plans to use are Tom Socaris, still rings; Chuck Ehrlich, still rings; Hugh Laney, tumbling and trampolining; and Chuck Woerz.

Swimming
Heading the SIU entry is CAA 100-yard freestyle record-holder Ray Radovan, and the IAC's most valuable performer last year after setting loop records in the 100 and 100-yard freestyles, and pacing SIU to a conference 100-yard freestyle relay mark.

The Salukis, who hold all IAC records, are returning winners in eight 1961 individual titles, together with key men from their championship relay quartets.

Other Saluki returnees in addition to Padovan are Walt Rodgers, who set a IAC 200-yard butterfly record, won the 100-yard butterfly and contributed to a 400-yard medley relay record last year; Larry Asmussen, defending 100 and 200-yard breaststroke champ and a member of last year's record medley relay team.

However, Asmussen will have to hustle to successfully defend his titles as sophomore teammate Jack Schiltz already has broken both loop marks in dual meet competition this season.

Also returning to put their blue ribbons on the line are seniors Ron Ballatore and Bon Deady. Ballatore won the 100-yard backstroke in record time last year, while Ron Deady is defending 200-yard individual medley champion.

Wrestling
Coach Jim Wilkinson's wrestlers will be trying to win their fourth straight title and sixth in seven seasons in the IAC meet at Charleston today and tomorrow.

Southern has all four of the 1961 individual champs slated to return--Frank Coniglio at 123 pounds, Eddie Lewis at 167, Ken Houston, heavyweight and Roger Plapp at 191.

The Salukis have another title contender in Terry Finn, just recently out of the U.S. Air Force and who will enter the IAC meet at either 115 or 123 pounds.

Southern's closest competitor figures to be Eastern Illinois, who has a host of boys returning from last year's runner-up squad.

Salukis Book 10 Grid Games

By the time SIU students settle down to the books next fall, the Saluke football team will have played two games against highly regarded opponents.

The 1962 football schedule, released yesterday following a meeting of the university athletic council, indicates that SIU will open its season September 15, at Texas A & I in Kingsville, Tex. The following weekend, September 22, the squad will travel to Drake University. Classes do not begin until Sept. 24.

SIU will drop out of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at the end of the Spring quarter. Consequently, next fall's football schedule is nearly void of IAC opponents, with but Illinois Normal and Central Michigan appearing on the schedule.

New teams added, in addition to the powerful Texas A & I team, include Hillsdale College; Lincoln University in Jefferson City, Mo.; Northern Michigan, North Texas State, and a military team from Ft. Campbell, Ky. Non-IAC repeaters on next year's schedule include Drake and Bowling Green.

SIU will have three games away from plus an open date before appearing in McAndrew stadium. The SIU team will appear here initially October 13, against the Hillsdale, Michigan, team. There will be five home games.

The schedule includes:

- Sept. 15 - at Texas A & I
- Sept. 22 - at Drake University
- Sept. 29 - at Central Michigan
- Oct. 13 - Hillsdale
- Oct. 20 - Lincoln University
- Oct. 27 - Illinois Normal (homecoming)
- Nov. 3 - at Northern Michigan
- Nov. 10 - Ft. Campbell
- Nov. 17 - at Bowling Green
- Nov. 24 - North Texas State

Martin's Baseball Squad Shoots For Fifth Straight League Title

Glen (Abe) Martin hopes to lead his Saluki Baseball squad out of the IIAC in a blaze of glory and a fifth straight conference title.

With less than three weeks remaining until SIU begins its fifteenth baseball season, and last in the Interstate Conference, one finds that Coach Glenn (Abe) Martin's baseball teams have never finished lower than third in the conference.

In fact, Martin will be shooting for his fifth consecutive IIAC title and sixth in 11 seasons since the IIAC was formed in 1951.

Martin has compiled impressive records as SIU baseball coach. Since the revival of baseball here in 1947, the Salukis have won 207 games while losing only 110.

With the baseball season right around the corner Martin is preparing his charges for their spring trip to Tempe, Arizona where the Salukis tackle Arizona State.

Martin has a cautious optimism about him in regard to the upcoming IIAC season and the Arizona trip. Injuries are his biggest worry now as two second line pitchers Art Ritter and George Kerr are hurt. Ritter, last year's relief ace, broke his foot playing intramural basketball and is out indefinitely. Kerr, on the other hand, is bothered by a bad back. Others injured include second baseman Bob Hardcastle and infielder Jerry Qualls.

Martin has three of his former players in the minor leagues. Playing in the minors are pitchers Jerry Thomas and Ray Ripplemeyer and outfielder Fred Loesekam. Thomas is with the San Francisco Giants while Ripplemeyer is with the Washington Senators organization. Loesekam is with the Chicago White Sox club.

Thomas posted the best earned-run-average (ERA) in the Eastern League last season and has been invited by the Giants to spring training this month. Ripplemeyer, meanwhile, has been shuffled back and forth and now is with the Senators. Loesekam has been a top hitter for one of the White Sox farm clubs, according to the late White Sox yarns put out by the Chicago organization.

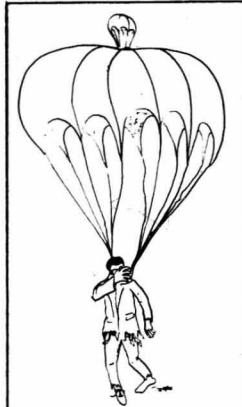

Martin came to Southern in 1929 and has been in Carbondale ever since except for a brief stint as coach at Fairfield, his home town.

(Abe) came to Southern as a football player in 1929 and was on Southern's only undefeated gridiron team in 1930. He was a halfback and captain of that squad.

In the fall of 1938 Martin served as assistant football coach to the late William McAndrew. Since that appointment (Abe) has held every major coaching position at SIU except track. In fact, he was athletic director from 1943-1953.

Starting his 33rd year at SIU, and 11th in the IIAC, Martin would like nothing better than to go out of the IIAC with a fifth straight championship.
