Budget faces a hard time, Simon says

By William Walker
Staff Writer

The federal government's budget process now in full swing following President Reagan's televised budget speech last week, is likely to drag on for some time, with many members of Congress opposed to the president's spending plan.

Among those disagreeing with the president is Sen. Paul Simon, who says he is especially opposed to Reagan's call for $320 billion in defense spending.

"I can't tell you what he will get for defense, but I can tell you that it is an overwhelming sentiment in Congress that he will not get the $320 billion," Simon said in a recent telephone interview with the Daily Egyptian.

Reagan said in his speech that it would be "reckless, dangerous and wrong" for Congress to reduce the military budget, a move he said "could fatally compromise our negotiating position" with the Soviets.

He went on to say that such cuts would be "backsliding of the most irresponsible kind," emphasizing his belief that it has been increased U.S. strength that has brought the Soviets to the bargaining table to discuss arms reductions.

But Simon said that improved dialogue between the two superpowers is what is needed to bring about meaningful arms agreements.

Moreover, Simon said that we had sufficient strength to deal with the Soviets before Reagan began the arms buildup upon taking office in 1981.

"We had plenty of strength already," Simon said. "We could have blown up the world 13 times over before Ronald Reagan even became president."

In addition to disagreement over the defense budget, Simon also opposes a recent Reagan request for $100 million in aid to the Contras rebels fighting the Sandinista government in Nicaragua.

The president's request calls for $30 million in non-lethal aid and $70 million in military aid for the rebels, an amount that many Washington observers believe Reagan will not receive.

After a difficult battle with Congress last year, Reagan had to settle for only $27 million in non-lethal aid and no direct military assistance for the Contras.

Simon said that he will vote against any aid for the Contras, because he said it simply is "not good public policy" for the United States to help overthrow governments.

Lawsuits postpone convention center action

By Scott Freeman
Staff Writer

City Council action on an agreement for development of the downtown convention center has been postponed pending information from developer Robert Joblin on lawsuits involving him in Racine, Wis.

City Manager William C. Dixon said in a report to the council, which will meet Monday, that "to protect the city in view of the Racine situation," he had asked for Joblin's written account of the lawsuits.

The council had been scheduled to consider a preliminary memorandum of intent on an agreement with Joblin, who was chosen in January as developer of a proposed 175-room, $11.8 million hotel-convention center project.

Dixon's report said a foreclosure filed by Pioneer Savings and Loan Association against Joblin "is a serious concern" and that Joblin had acknowledged he is 10 months behind in payments on a mortgage on his Inn on the Lake hotel in Racine.

The lawsuit also names as defendants Xamax Inc., corporate owner of the hotel, and the city of Racine, which loaned $150,000 to Joblin and the corporation for the project.

Dixon said Joblin had told him the hotel lost business because of a fire in which a guest was killed and that keeping up utilities payments during a rebuilding period had been given priority over mortgage payments.

Joblin has sued St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. for settlement of a claim stemming from the fire in August, 1984.

"We are unable to predict the impact of Pioneer's lawsuit against Joblin on Joblin's ability to finance the Carbondale project," Dixon's report to the council said.

Due for council consideration is a report by Mayor Helen Westberg on the pending abandonment of three Gulf Transport bus routes, one from Carbondale to East St. Louis, one from Cairo to East St. Louis via Carbondale, and one from Carbondale to Springfield.

Gulf's intention of abandonment was originally filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on March 25, 1985. On May 13, the city approved a resolution opposing the proposed abandonment, but according to Westberg's report the bus line has chosen to stick by its original intent to discontinue service to the Carbondale area.

West Bus Service of Carbondale had negotiated with Gulf to take over the three lines last summer, but dropped the negotiations because of high insurance rates for operating the routes.

Swedish leaders given bodyguards

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Swedish leaders were assigned full-time bodyguards Sunday and police said the murder of Prime Minister Olof Palme probably was plotted in advance by an assassin firing an "unusual" copper-jacketed bullet.

Investigators had no clues about the identity of the killer or his motive two days after the nation's first political assassination in nearly two centuries, and police commissioner Hans Holmer likened the case to "assembling a puzzle with very small pieces."

"We reckon the murder was planned," Holmer said, but added that the team of 120 investigators has been hindered because a motive has not been established. Police continued to press a nationwide manhunt for the killer. Authorities said they have not dismissed a claim of responsibility for the shooting by at least one terrorist group, the Holger Meins Commando, linked to West Germany's Baader Meinhof gang.

After Palme was shot on a Stockholm street Friday night, a man who police did not identify chased the assassin down a narrow street and up a steep flight of stairs to a hill. The killer ran across the hill and down another flight of stairs to a square, where the witness lost the chase, Holmer said.

Police think the gunman followed Palme and his wife when they left their home Friday night and took a subway to the Grand movie theater, where they met their son, Morten, and his girlfriend.

Astronauts' time of silence on disaster to be broken

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Two key senators defended NASA's overall decision-making process Sunday, the day before the space agency allows senior astronauts to break a month of silence on their reactions to the Challenger disaster. Of four astronauts tapped to meet with reporters Monday, three are veterans of shuttle flights in which rocket seals between fuel segments experienced damage. The astronaut corps has had nothing to say on the record.

Reagan steps up drive for Contra military aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, concerned that the conflict in Nicaragua is at a decisive point, meets with anti-Sandinista rebel leaders Monday to step up a drive to fortify them with $100 million in military and non-lethal aid. The Oval Office meeting, followed by a session with private-sector supporters of the rebels, will mark the start of a two-week drive to win congressional and public support for the aid request, White House officials said.

Israeli-appointed Palestinian mayor killed

NABLUS, Israeli-occupied West Bank (UPI) — The Israeli-appointed mayor of the largest town in the occupied West Bank was assassinated Sunday. Two radical Palestinian splinter groups claimed responsibility for the murder. The shooting death of Zafer al Masri — the first Palestinian appointed to replace Israeli administration in the area since 1982 — prompted condemnations from Israel and Jordan. Masri, 43, took office last November.

'Peace City' continues coast-to-coast journey

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nearly 1,200 marchers packed up their traveling town and set off Sunday on the second day of their coast-to-coast journey to make a plea for nuclear disarmament. Participants in "The Great Peace March" were up about an hour before dawn from their brightly colored tents pitched in a parking lot at Cal State Los Angeles. They had breakfast, packed up their "Peace City" and headed east under grey skies through the suburban San Gabriel Valley.

Admiral denies U.S. military use in rebellion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adm. William Crowe, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Sunday the United States did not use military power in the Philippines to boost the rebellion that brought President Corazon Aquino to power. Crowe, 61, appearing on NBC's "Meet The Press," said the U.S. military was "in contact with both sides" throughout the post-election events that culminated Feb. 25 with Ferdinand Marcos surrendering the presidency of the Philippines and fleeing the country.

Soviets might have fooled U.S. in spy swap

NEW YORK (UPI) — Photographs taken by a Navy lieutenant indicate the Soviets may have fooled U.S. officials and switched a Russian sailor for a Ukrainian seaman who wanted to defect last year. The New York Times reported Sunday. The newspaper reported that the photographs and other new evidence seem to show the Ukrainian, Miroslav Medvid, did want to come to the United States when he jumped from the deck of the Soviet grain carrier Marshal Konev into the Mississippi River near New Orleans Oct. 24.

Growers protect crops from Florida freeze

By United Press International

Freezing temperatures in the South Sunday sent Florida growers scrambling to protect their fruit and vegetable crops while dense fog blamed for four deaths shrouded the central California Coast for a fifth day. An arctic cold wave that dropped half an inch of snow on Jacksonville Saturday, sent the mercury to record lows in three Florida cities. In Plant City, which bills itself as the Strawberry Capital of the World, temperatures as low as 23 were reported.

Jeanne Simon praises leaders at Women's History Week kickoff

By Darci Arien
Staff Writer

Jeanne Simon, wife of Sen. Paul Simon, paid tribute to some outstanding women in modern history and their accomplishments at a reception Sunday at the Holiday Inn marking the opening of National Women's History Week.

Kelly Cichy, one of the program's organizers, said, "Legislation that is drafted every year in honor of the weeklong program says, 'American women helped found a nation. They played critical economical and social roles. They have often been overlooked and undervalued.'"

"We need women meeting the challenges life offers. We need National Women's History Week," Simon said.

All women feel very proud of Corazon Aquino, Simon said to the 200-member audience. She should be enshrined forever in history, she added.

"Corazon is a person who knows what she is doing," said Simon. "She is tough but feminine."

Jeanne Simon

Coretta Scott King carries on her late husband's fight for civil rights, Simon said.

"I was very pleased to witness the unveiling of his statue in the Capitol's rotunda on Jan. 15," she added.

Simon also praised a Catholic nun in Chicago who fought the Church over the abortion issue. The nun felt that although abortion can be tragic, it is sometimes a matter of choice, Simon said.

"Even though she was dismissed from the order, she was very brave to challenge the Church of Rome," Simon said.

Jan Kemp, a University of Georgia professor who flunked nine athletes and was fired for doing so, also received Simon's praise.

"She stood up for what is right. She sued the University of Georgia and won," Simon said. "I hope Kemp is remembered during a National Women's History Week 100 years from now. She took a chance and she had guts."

Ten women earned regional women of distinction honors. They were Velma Alecci, Margaret Boren, Dorothy Dykema, the Rev. Olive Haynes, Ivanna Koritz, Nelda Miesner, Dorothy Moroni, Elsie M. Speck, Carbondale Mayor Helen Westberg and Helen Bass Williams.

These women are also finalists in the Woman of the Year contest being held in conjunction with National Women's History Week. The winner will be announced Saturday at 7:30 during Women's Day at the University Mall.

Quinn calls for job preservation

By William Walker
Staff Writer

Saying Illinois needs "creative solutions to a lot of hard nosed economic problems," Patrick Quinn, a candidate for state treasurer, has called for an Illinois Jobs Preservation Program.

Quinn, who made a campaign stop in Southern Illinois Saturday, said that his program would utilize state deposits and public pension funds to bolster the state's economy and save manufacturing jobs.

The program calls for the deposit of state funds in banks and former treasurer Jerry Cosentino, for having what he called "do-nothing records" in the treasurer's office.

He said that both Donnewald and Cosentino have failed to do anything to promote economic development in Southern Illinois and have instead "put money into institutions that are more interested in investing in South Africa or the Far East than they are in creating Illinois jobs."

Pulaski holiday observed

State banks and schools will be closed Monday as Illinois observes the birthday of Casimir Pulaski for the first time.

Pulaski, born in 1747, came to America in July 1777 to offer his services to the patriots. Pulaski first took up arms in 1768 against the Russians who occupied Poland in America.

he served in George Washington's army and is credited with saving Washington's life at the Battle of Brandywine. Pulaski was wounded in the Battle of Savannah in 1779, and died at sea three days later near Charleston, S.C., aboard the "Wasp."

Pulaski's birthday had in the past been celebrated as a commemorative holiday, but with the culmination of 13 years of work by state Sen. LeRoy Lemke, D-Chicago, the first Monday in March has been marked an official holiday for banks and schools.

New holiday joins crowded calendar

A NEW STATE HOLIDAY debuts today. Illinois schoolchildren have yet another day off, courtesy of Kazimierz (Casimir) Pulaski.

Kazimierz who? Kazimierz Pulaski. Surely you remember him. The son of a count, he fought unsuccessfully for an independent Poland in the 18th century. While in exile in Paris, he was persuaded by Benjamin Franklin and Silas Deane to fight with the Continental Army in America against the British.

Pulaski was made a brigadier general and put in charge of the cavalry. He resigned after arguing with fellow officers, then organized a guerrilla unit of cavalry and infantry that was, for the most part, unsuccessful in thwarting the British troops, according to Webster's American Biographies. Pulaski is best remembered for his heroic death at the Siege of Savannah, where he led a cavalry charge directly into British lines and was wounded. He died two days later.

CERTAINLY PULASKI WAS a brave man, and honorable — a freedom-loving man willing to aid a country other than his own, even to the point of giving up his life in that strange land. And the contributions to history of oft-neglected people — especially those who weren't white, male and Anglo-Saxon — ought to be recognized.

But it is doubtful that the state declared Pulaski's birthday a holiday because it wants to honor the man's bravery and historical significance. There's no connection between Pulaski and Illinois; he didn't fight here. More likely it was done to appease Illinois' large Polish-American population, as well as give state employees yet another holiday pay day. If the intent were truly to honor Pulaski, children would have an extra history lesson Monday, not a day off. How will they learn of his role in the War of Independence if they aren't in school to study about it? (The same could be said of Columbus Day, President's Day, Veteran's Day and Martin Luther King Day, which are federal holidays.)

Every ethnic or racial group can name people who contributed to American history. But there are only 365 days in a year; if holidays were declared for every important historical figure, every day would be a holiday. And holidays cost taxpayers money.

So honor Pulaski. Honor other little-known historical figures. Just don't take time off to do it.

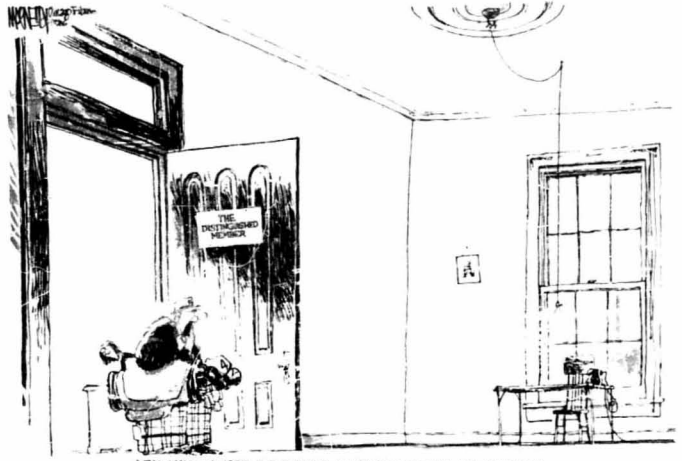

Other ways of analyzing art

Carolyn Hooker has astutely pointed out the words 'mens'es' and 'stud' being 'ejaculated' from the volcano on the cover of the Women's Studies brochure. She has made a fine beginning toward hermeneutical analysis, but I believe that with further practice she will be able to refine her skills to a much finer pitch.

For instance, I have found that when looking at the brochure over my shoulder in a mirror while hanging upside down under a waning moon, incredible messages are revealed.

I am hoping to sound new depths of comprehension soon by swimming backwards with the brochure when Halley's Comet is most visible. Hooker might consider a similar attempt, to better decipher the words 'Women's Studies.' — Lynn Otterson, graduate assistant, Women's Studies.

BY ANY CHANCE DID EITHER A MR. SPAN OR A MR. RUDMAN DROP BY WHILE I WAS AWAY. MISS SMITHERS?

Contra support waning?

President Reagan's campaign to enlist American public opinion in his attempt to subvert the government of Nicaragua received a setback last week with the publication of a report by the Washington Office on Latin America, a church-supported human rights group.

According to the report, the Contra forces are responsible for "the continuation of a systematic pattern of gross violations" of human rights. We can, of course, expect the usual double talk and lies from the White House in response.

Orwell's apt characterization of the political language of our time was "the defense of the indefensible."

Defending Reagan's "freedom fighters" is becoming more difficult, however, as this report documents. "The presence of Contra troops in a given locale seemed to give rise to a pattern of indiscriminate attacks against civilian targets, kidnappings, rapes, assassinations, mutilations and other forms of violence. In response to a recent letter of mine to the Quaker Oats Co., I have just received a reply denying that it has contributed financially to the Contras. To prevent further false allegations, according to the letter, the head of their Government Relations Department "has just resigned his membership in the Council for National Policy," a group that has been supporting the White House campaign against the Sandinista government of Nicaragua. — Robert Griffin, English Department, associate professor.

'Dream' people to combat apathy

A few weeks ago I went to Atlanta to honor the late, great Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Previous to this trip, my memories of Dr. King were somewhat vague. What I remembered, sad to say, was the uproar when he was assassinated. Being eight years old at the time, I didn't comprehend the major charges he was bringing about in this country during the 60s.

What inspired me most in Atlanta was the fact that Dr.

King had made such an impact on our society that we still feel the benefits today. One human being against tremendous odds had transformed human ideals into human reality. It gave me renewed hope for humankind, even in the midst of nuclear arms, world hunger and injustice such as apartheid.

I believe that each and every one of us has that same potential to make this world a better place to live.

A new group is forming in Carbondale with goals of making a difference on important issues facing us today. Called "People Living the Dream," everyone is welcome to join or just sit in on a meeting. If you would like to throw away the guise of apathy, meet interesting people and learn more about important issues concerning us all, call 549-5118 to find out more. — Bobby Lee, senior, Computer Science.

What's love to you?

Valentine's Day is an interesting day. For just a short while, the general populace stops to ponder matters of the heart. The topic of love seems to be on almost everyone's mind.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship asked people about this at the Student Center. For five hours on Valentine's Day we asked people for their definition of love. The response was overwhelming. Almost everyone had an opinion, and we'd like to share them with you. Some of the best and some of the worst are here for you to read. The authors are students, faculty and staff of SIU-C.

- What is love?
 - An extended version of "like."
 - Love is what we need.
 - Love is a disease no one wants to be inoculated against.
 - Knowing the one who loved us most.
 - Love is pain.
 - There is no such thing as love.
 - Love is? Is love?
 - Love is having one heart and following one way.
 - Love is an overwhelming feeling.
 - Sex.
 - Completely unknown to me.
 - Love is an unexplainable phenomena in human nature.
 - Love is belonging to the master.
 - Love is what you make of it.
 - God is love.

Thank you, all you authors, who stopped and gave us your definition of love. — Brian De Jong, vice president of IVCF at SIU-C.

public pension funds as well as public deposits of taxpayers' money in financial institutions in this state that are committed to Illinois," Quinn said.

"We need creative solutions to a lot of hard-nosed economic problems, and that can only come from a state treasurer who's working 365 days a year for Illinois," he said.

Under Quinn's jobs program, the state would deposit up to $100 million of state funds in banks that would lend the money to eligible small businesses. To receive a low-interest loan, businesses would be required to show a relationship between the use of loan funds and the creation or preservation of jobs.

The program would be limited to businesses that have their headquarters in Illinois; maintain offices and facilities exclusively in Illinois; transact business in Illinois; and employ fewer than 150 workers, the majority of whom are Illinois residents.

Quinn said that helping small businesses is especially important for economic development because studies show that more than 80 percent of all new jobs are created by companies with fewer than 150 employees.

"These are the firms that need financing, that need capital," Quinn said, and the state treasurer must "get banks to make loans to Illinois businesses so we can create Illinois jobs for Illinois workers."

"Too many banks ... spend more time investing in Brazil, in Argentina, in Far East countries than they do in investing in Southern Illinois in coal mining, in housing, in economic growth, in small business," he said.

Quinn attacked the State Board of Investments for permitting public pension funds to be invested so extensively outside Illinois, and he said that less than one third of 1 percent of such funds are invested in venture capital intended for small businesses.

And he criticized Donnewald and Cosentino for never attending a meeting of the board, which he said controls more than $3 billion worth of pension assets.

"We've got to change that kind of politics in Illinois," Quinn said. "We need public officials who will be there full time, not absentee treasurers like Donnewald and Cosentino, but people who will work ... for all the people of Illinois to get our state back to work again."

Quinn also criticized the major banks in the state, which he said too often "turn their backs on Illinois businesses that employ our workers."

He said that if more money was available to small businesses they could then finance equipment and plant improvements, expansion, pollution control and energy conservation.

Variety show featured amateur talent

By Maureen Cavanagh
Staff Writer

The 39th Theta Xi All-Campus Variety Show, which was performed in Shryock Auditorium Saturday, provided amateurs the chance to be creative and entertaining.

The Sigma Kappa Sorority and the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity livened the show with an energetic medley of songs and tributes titled "Be True to SIU." The group performed under banners of a Saluki and an SIU-C emblem. Dressed in maroon and white letter sweaters and cheerleading skirts, the group made a clean sweep in four categories.

"BE TRUE to SIU" won for the best large group choreography, best sets and costumes, best direction and best overall production.

Awards for "most entertaining" went to the Sig Tau Swingers from Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity to Gordon C. Bruner, Katherine Misker and Gina Nelson, who sang "Carousel" and "By My Side."

The Sigma Tau Gamma Ensemble pleased the nearly full house in the second act with a comical country twist. The Swingers sang John Anderson's hit "Swingin'" while a girl was "swingin'" on a porch swing, and Mark Glassford, Inter-Greek Council president, hammed it up with facial expressions, lively stage movement and a loud voice. Four members of the fraternity joined in and echoed the lyrics.

BRUNER AND Misker sang "Carousel" from the play of the same name and a song titled "By My Side," which was written by Bruner. Nelson was silhouetted in the background and danced as Bruner played the guitar and sang along with Misker. "Carousel" won best performance by a small group.

The Black Fire Dancers livened the show with a performance set to the "Fame" soundtrack. Their movements were well-synchronized and energetic. The Black Fire Dancers took awards as both best group and most original in the intermediate group category.

"SERVICE TO Southern" awards of $200, presented during intermission, were given to Louis Pukelis, senior in radio and television and the Sphinx Club president, and Valerie Wolf, senior in public relations and a Sigma Kappa Sorority member, in recognition of their participation and service to the University.

Jan Hammer, junior in physiology, and Farzaneh Kefhmiri, junior in physiology, were chosen as recipients of the $400 Kaplan Memorial Scholarship awards, presented by Anne Johnson, physiology professor. The awards were presented by the Beta Delta Chapter of the Theta Xi Fraternity to outstanding undergraduate students in the biological sciences. The late Leo Kaplan was a Theta Xi faculty adviser and professor of biology.

THE SHOW, titled "SIU Revue," opened with the Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority and the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity dancing to a recording of Huey Lewis' "Journey Back to the Future." The lead member lipsync'd lyrics to the song before entering a time machine.

Candy Davis, mistress of ceremonies and a Sigma Kappa Sorority member, and Bill Nevin, master of ceremonies and a Delta Chi Fraternity member, introduced the performers.

THE ORCHESTRA, under the direction of Ted Henderson, supported the show by supplying it with real variety, especially when the curtain closed between acts. Ed Hill played saxophone and synthesizers, Leah Hinchcliff played bass, Jim Owens played keyboards and Lisa Simonton played drums. Hill and Owen arranged the music.

Neo Epaminondas, a native of Greece, sang "Words." Epaminondas sounded like Julio Iglesias painstakingly delivering a solo while wearing his heart on his sleeve.

Davita Hurtig and Robin Richman of the Alpha Epsilon Phi Sorority sang a duet titled "Make No Mistake He's Mine" with good timing as they exchanged lines in the sentimental ballad.

THE SIGMA Sigma Sorority and the Theta Xi Fraternity performed "The Magic of SIU." The group sang selections from the musicals "Applause" and "Pippin." The snappy, upbeat songs were titled "Applause" and "Magic to Do."

Maury Clay convincingly sang Billy Ocean's "Suddenly," a talented rendition of a recent pop hit. Clay's flexible voice sounded almost like Ocean's recording and he was not afraid to add emotion.

The School of Music's Vocal Jazz Ensemble concluded the variety show with "52nd Street" and "Jazzman."

THE PERFORMANCES were judged by Nancy Jo Humfeld, theater graduate assistant; Christian Moe, theater professor; Ronald Pelias, speech communication associate professor; Alfreds Straumanis, theater

International enrollment leveling

By Carolyn Schmidt
Student Writer

SIU-C is among the top ten universities in the country in the number of international students enrolled, but Beverly Walker, assistant director of the Office of International Programs and Services, says international student enrollment has leveled off within the last three years.

Walker said there was a dramatic increase in foreign student enrollment between 1979, when 1,168 international students attended SIU-C, and 1982, when foreign student enrollment was up to 2,319. Since 1982, that number has neither increased nor decreased dramatically, she said.

The leveling-off stems in part from improvement in educational opportunities in foreign countries and the increased value of the U.S. dollar, which makes it more financially difficult for international students to attend school in the United States, said Walker. Economic recession in OPEC countries may be another factor, she added.

While recession in the OPEC countries may keep some foreign students at home, many students from OPEC countries attending SIU-C are not adversely affected, said Mohammed Albaddr, a Saudi-Arabian graduate student studying computer-based education. Albaddr's education and living expenses are being funded by King Saud University, which sends graduate assistants from many majors to the U.S. to prepare them to be teachers. Albaddr said he plans to return home to teach after he graduates next spring.

Albaddr said the program he is studying is relatively new and not offered in many universities. As an employee of King Saud University, he and his wife receive $3,000 per month, plus expenses for books, medical costs, transportation and clothing.

The majority of international students attending SIU-C are enrolled in business administration, followed by engineering, liberal arts and computer science.

Walker said that SIU-C has a long history of international involvement. She said the factors that influence a high international student enrollment are word-of-mouth recommendations from alumni and faculty, and prompt response to foreign student applicants.

Emeriti to award scholarship

By Clotelia Slider
Staff Writer

The Emeritus College has asked SIU-C academic deans for nominees for its first scholarship, which it hopes to award to two students in August.

"We're supporting more young people, even today in our retirement, than young people are supporting their parents or elderly persons," said Arnold J. Auerbach, director and coordinator of the Emeritus College Scholarship Fund.

Two-thirds of the emeriti, which consists of more than 400 retired SIU-C faculty members, administrators and professional staff, reside in Southern Illinois.

Although some of the emeriti are busy, a lot of them are "still tied emotionally" to SIU-C, says Auerbach. He said they are not only tied emotionally to the university but they also feel responsible for the student body.

"In a sense, students are our academic grandchildren and we want to continue a relationship with the students," Auerbach said. "The least we can do, or one of the things we can do, is to set up a scholarship fund, especially now that federal and state funds are becoming restricted and tuition keeps going up."

The Emeritus Scholarship Committee is chaired by Hiram Lesar, former president of SIU-C, and Mrs. Dorothy Morris, widow of longtime SIU-C president Delyte W. Morris.

The 40-member committee began fundraising for its first scholarship last summer. Contributions are tax exempt and can be made through the SIU Foundation.

Nine deans have each been asked to submit the names of two students with outstanding scholastic records at SIU-C by March 15. In August, a seven-member committee will select two students from the 18 recommended for the scholarship, said Auerbach.

"We'd like to have several scholarships but we've just started. We've gotten over $8,000 but we're shooting for $10,000. Eventually we hope to reach as much as $20,000 and give two scholarships a year," Auerbach said.

Tourette Syndrome benefit set

Alpha Epsilon Rho, a local chapter of a national broadcast society, is sponsoring a dance benefit for Tourette Syndrome at Hangar 9 Monday night.

Three bands, Almost Blue, Hunting Sleeve and the Modern Day Saints, are participating in the benefit.

There is a $2 cover charge, which includes a ticket for a chance to win merchandise from local businesses. Domino's will supply free pizzas hourly. Tourette Syndrome is a neurological movement disorder that begins between the ages of 2 and 16 and lasts throughout life. It is characterized by involuntary movements and vocalizations called "tics." About 100,000 Americans have the disorder.

The movements include rapid eye blinking, shoulder shrugging, head jerking, facial twitches and other movements of the torso and limbs. The vocalizations include repeated sniffing, throat clearing, coughing, grunting, barking or shrieking, stuttering and repetitions of words, or involuntary utterance of inappropriate words.

These symptoms were thought to be nervous habits, but they are actually due to a chemical imbalance in the brain. Most people afflicted with TS experience all of the symptoms.

There is no cure for the disease, but there are drugs that can control its symptoms.

Correction

A headline in Friday's Daily Egyptian incorrectly stated that two students, who were arrested Wednesday on suspicion of theft, were also charged with assault. Only one student, Darrin P. Larson, was charged with assault. The other student, Kevin B. Higgins, was given a notice to appear in court and released without bond.

Softball team opens with 2 wins

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

The Saluki softball didn't get to play four games this weekend as planned, but they did make the best of the two games they played Saturday.

Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer's squad pounded out two convincing wins, 10-1 over Tennessee Tech and 13-3 over Austin; Peay, to start their 1986 season on a winning note.

Against Tech, the Salukis tallied 10 runs on nine hits while Lisa Peterson stifled the Tech hitters, allowing one run on one hit in six innings.

In their first appearances as Salukis, catcher Kelly Fox went 2-for-2 and scored three runs while outfielder Dana Ridel went 1-for-3 with a two-run single.

In the second game, in which the Salukis defeated Austin Peay 13-3, Lori Day fanned 11 and gave up three runs on two hits, four walks and four errors en route to collecting her first collegiate victory.

Captain and center fielder Rhonda Snow went 2-for-4, scored three runs and added a triple to go 3-for-7 in the two games. Shortstop Jenny Shapryt also went 2-for-4 to raise her day's accomplishments to a 4-for-6 plate performance good for one run scored and two RBIs.

"I'm pleased that we had an opportunity to play," Brechtelsbauer said. "It gives us a chance to see where we stand."

Brechtelsbauer said that although the team needed more playing time in game situations, she saw "nothing glaring, nothing that would cause any great deal of concern."

The Salukis will now go into practice in preparation for next week's spring tour. Playing teams like Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Iowa, to name a few, Brechtelsbauer said she knows the competition will be tougher.

"We're not going to do anything special," Brechtelsbauer said. "We just want to get down there and play some softball."

Men tracksters second in Valley

NORMAL — The SIU-C men's track and field team finished second out of eight schools Saturday in the Missouri Valley Conference Indoor Track and Field Championships at Illinois State University.

The host Redbirds won the meet with 126.3 points. SIU-C finished second with 105 points and had three first-place finishes.

Weightman Tom Smith was a double winner for the Salukis in the shot put (58-5.75) and the 35-pound weight throw (59-9.25). The other Saluki first-place finish was recorded by the two-mile relay team in 7:34.3.

Second-place finishes were recorded by Connor Mason in the 300-yard dash (31.19); Mike Elliott in the 880-yard run (1:53.7); and the mile relay team (3:16.3).

Third-place finishes were recorded by Andrew Pettigrew in the mile (4:10.2) and Felipe Martin in the triple jump (46-8.25); and adding fourth-place finishes were Bret Garrett in the 600-yard dash (1:10.9);

Kevin Steele in the 440-yard dash (50.18); and Bill Henning in the high jump (6-9).

Finishing behind Illinois State and SIU-C in the meet were Indiana State (81.3), Drake (72), Wichita State (52.3), West Texas State (44), Bradley (23), and Tulsa (22).

Men swimmers take 2nd at NICs; achieve personal, seasonal bests

By Sandra Todd
Associate Sports Editor

Although the Saluki men swimmers and divers did not pick up the National Independent Championship title they sought over the weekend in Columbia S.C., they picked up an array of season-best, lifetime best and NCAA-achieving performances.

The Salukis finished the meet behind South Carolina's 617 points with 583, well ahead of the University of Miami, which scored 418.

Saluki junior-sprinter Tom Hakanson, who single-handedly was responsible for 56 team points, was honored as the meet's most outstanding swimmer on the basis of his performances in the 50-, 100- and 200-yard freestyles.

With a season-best swim of :20.36 in the 50, Hakanson won the event and qualified for nationals. The 100 was occasion for another win and NCAA cut, and lifetime-best swim of :44.46. In the 200, he swam to a third-placing, season-best time of 1:38.38.

Shining in the 1650 free with a one-two-three sweep and as many national standards were Erwin Kratz, Gary Brinkman and Anders Grillhammar.

Kratz led the trio with a lifetime-best of 15:17.94. Brinkman was clocked at 15:20.14 and Grillhammar followed closely with a 15:22.37.

Grillhammar shattered three records in the 200 free as he sprinted to a winning 1:37.56. Not only was his time a personal record, it retired the NIC meet record, the Saluki school record and is the fastest time recorded in the nation this year.

Brinkman, who swam untapered and unshaved, also took a second in the 500 freestyle with a 4:24:17. His split at the 250 mark, a 2:08, was faster than his split at last year's NCAA meet.

Divers Chad Lucero and Bob Cox contributed to the Saluki total with solid efforts on both the one and three meter boards.

Tracksters 2nd at Gateway meet

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

The Saluki women's track team finished second in Gateway Conference Indoor Championships on Friday and Saturday in Charleston.

The Salukis scored 103 points in the meet. Leading the Saluki's drive was sprinter Denise Blackman, who was named Athlete of the Meet for her conference-record time of 35.36 in the 300-yard dash, placing second in the 60-yard dash (7.06) and contributing to the Saluki's record-setting

1:42.70 first-place performance in the 220-yard relay. She also turned in an outstanding 54.45 split time in the 400-yard relay.

Other first place performances were turned in by sprinter Carlon Blackman in the 440-yard dash (56.86) and Sue Anderson, who scored a total of 3,327 points in the pentathlon. Not far behind Anderson was Kathy Raske, who finished second in the event with 3,206 points.

Distance runner Vivian Sinou smashed the team record in the 2-mile run, finishing fourth overall with an effort of 10:44.50.

Field event specialist Rhonda McCausland finished second in the shot put with a 47-7 throw. McCausland was previously ranked No.1 in the conference in the event.

Women cagers must down Shockers for victory No. 22

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

The Saluki women cagers will try for win No. 22 straight Monday at 7 p.m. in Levitt Arena against Wichita State.

Coach Cindy Scott said that the Salukis can enjoy their win over Drake, but as soon as they hit the court at Wichita, they will try to maintain the undefeated league lead.

"It's really important to win," Scott said. "We can move up in the rankings and every win helps."

But the Salukis traditionally do not play well at Wichita, and will never forget that a loss there cost them the GCAC championship two years ago.

In addition to the rivalry and atmosphere, the Salukis and Shockers rate first and second in Gateway scoring defense, which led to unusually low-scoring outcomes last year.

But in the teams' first meeting Jan. 4, the squads reversed the low-scoring trend and the Salukis prevailed 71-60 in a foul plagued, physical contest at Davies Gymnasium.

Since then, the Shockers have lost senior Jenny Parr-Cook to an injury. Senior forward Allison Danies, who leads the Shockers' individual scoring, moved to fifth in the Gateway for scoring (17.3 ppg) on eighth-ranked 47.4 percent shooting. Daniel also rates third in the GCAC for steals (2.8).

Another senior guard, Cynthia Langlois comes off a career best of 18 points in the Shockers' 86-76 loss to Drake Feb. 20. Sophomore center Dawna Weber also hit a career mark with 16 in the Shockers' win over Northern Iowa Feb. 22.

After their loss to SIU, Shocker coach Daren Harden said her squad could bounce back to finish in the Gateway top four.

The Salukis need only two more wins in the Gateway to achieve a complete sweep of their Conference season.

lane, but the buzzer sounded before they could attempt a shot.

Scott credited the record crowd and said she had no sympathy for Bulldog coach Carole Baumgarten's complaint that the fans were too close. Baumgarten also complained that Ford was fouled on the last play, claiming that films would back her complaint.

Saluki assistant George Iubelt called Berghuis' defense on Ford super. Ford grabbed her average of 17 rebounds but hit just 9 of 24 field goal attempts, well below her nation-leading average.

Berghuis said Ford "ran me wild out there. But I didn't get tired because my adrenaline and emotions were really high. I got up in her face and she had to shoot over me or around me."

Bonds scored 13 and pulled down the Salukis' high of nine rebounds.

Kattreh added five for 10 shooting despite a Bulldog defense designed to control her and Jackson.

Salukis stifle Drake for GCAC cage title

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

It seemed as if the Salukis' score was stuck on 49 forever. But 49 points turned out to be enough, just enough, points to wrap up their first-ever Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference Championship with a 49-47 victory over Drake before a sell-out crowd of 1,552 at Davies Gymnasium Saturday night.

With the players embracing the many fans who poured onto the court to help them celebrate, coach Cindy Scott handed the Gateway championship trophy to senior Petra Jackson, the Salukis' leading scorer and four-year floor leader.

Jackson held the trophy high as tears streamed down her cheeks, and let go of it only when she led the team in cutting down the nets.

Saluki assistant coach Julie Beck said, "I'll always remember seeing the emotional state of Petra Jackson after the game. The look on her face summed up her whole four years being here."

A low-scoring first half set the tone for a brutal defensive classic. Drake needed a win to force the Salukis into a tie for the conference lead, but failed to play an awe-inspiring first half.

Wanda Ford, the nation's leading scorer and rebounder, made just four of 13 first-half shots and led the Bulldogs with nine points at intermission.

Saluki forward Ann Kattreh canned a shot at the buzzer to give the Dogs one of their largest leads of the half, 30-22. Jackson paced the Salukis in the opening half with 12 points.

The Salukis charged to a 44-29 lead to open the second period, but with just over 10 minutes left, the Bulldogs began to cut away at SIU's comfortable lead.

Holding a 49-37 advantage with 6:08 remaining, Bridgett Bonds made what would be the Salukis last point of the evening on the front-end of a one-and-one freethrow.

Drake's Missy Slockett, No. 20, and the Salukis' Ann Kattreh, behind Slockett, scramble for a loose ball. Slockett scored two crucial layups and Kattreh scored 10 points and pulled down eight rebounds at the SIU-Drake game Saturday night.

With 2:26 left, freshman Missy Slockett stole the ball and drove the length of the court to pull the Bulldogs to within four at 49-45.

Offensive fouls on Jackson and Marialice Jenkins gave the Bulldogs opportunities at the freethrow line, but the Salukis hauled down defensive rebounds on Bulldog misses and rattled Ford for a turnover and her fourth foul.

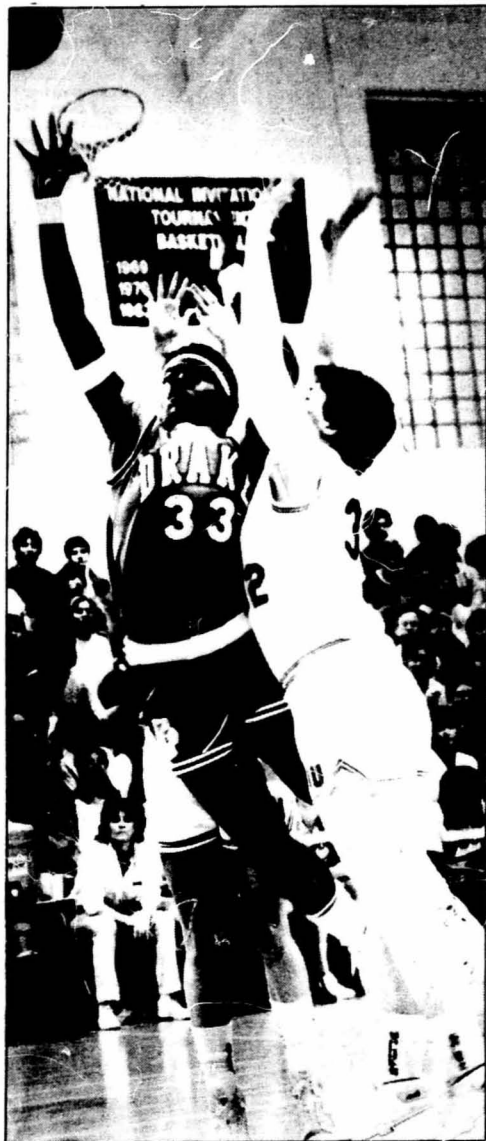

Just under the one minute mark, Jackson missed an 18-footer and Slockett grabbed the ball and drove the length of the floor for an uncontested layup to narrow the lead to 49-47 with :32 left.

On the next play, Jenkins tried a full-court inbound pass to Mary Berghuis, but Ford picked it off at midcourt. After a Drake timeout, Ford missed two shots underneath and SIU's Kattreh recovered the ball in the corner with five seconds left.

After a timeout, the Salukis inbounded the ball to Jackson, who stepped out of bounds with two seconds left. The Bulldogs tried to get the ball into the

Women swimmers capture fourth-consecutive NIC title

By Sandra Todd
Associate Sports Editor

For the fourth-straight year, the Saluki women's swimming and diving team caused major turbulence for title-seeking opponents at the National Independent Championships over the weekend in Columbia, S.C.

Victory does not always come handily, as the Saluki squad experienced in their 610-point, come-from-behind victory over the hosting

Gamecocks (585), the University of Miami (578) and remaining competitors.

Even with sizzling swims by Roxanne Carlton, Stacy Westfall, Wendy Irick, Rene Royalty and Lori Rea, the Salukis found themselves trailing South Carolina by four points after the first day of competition.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Irick, Iris Von-Jouanne, Rea and Royalty gave the team an early burst of points, as they dominated their competitors with a 1:45.43 finish.

Upholding the winning trend, Carlton topped the field in the 500 freestyle with a 4:51.46, making an NCAA time standard and season-best swim.

Teammates Westfall and Marianne Bentley contributed points in the same event with respective third- and 11th-place finishes. Westfall fell two seconds short of the national-qualifying standard with a clocking of 4:54.4, while Bentley finished in 5:06.00.

Three Salukis placed in the 100 butterfly, with Rea leading the Saluki pack in a third-placing :55.53 swim. Royalty was sixth with a :57.12 and Jackie Taljaard squeaked in at 15th with a :59.4.

The 200 backstroke afforded Irick the opportunity to achieve a qualifying cut for nationals, as she sped to a third-place and season-best performance of 2:04.3.

Two additional standards were accomplished in the 50 free by Rea, who took fourth place, and Royalty, who was fifth. Rea qualified for the 50 a month ago but improved her seed time for NCAAs to 23.73. Royalty qualified with a :23.75.

Additional top performances include the 800-free relay team of Westfall, Claudia Zierold, Irick and Rea, which won with a 7:33.1, and Carlton's 16:45.14 in the 1655 free.

Cagers lose to Sycamores; finish in MVC pit

By Ron Warnick
Staff Writer

As the month of March came in like a lamb, the Salukis exited the 1985-86 season in a similar fashion, as Indiana State downed them 69-54 Saturday at Terre Haute.

It was the Salukis' fifth-up their season at 8-20. The Dogs and West Texas State share the bottom of the Missouri Valley with a 4-12 record.

Saluki guard Steve Middleton was the top Dog with 20 points and 10 rebounds. Doug Novsek came closest to being the only other Saluki in double figures with nine points.

The Salukis' only senior, Dan Weiss, sank a field goal and grabbed four rebounds in his last game in an SIU uniform.

But other than Middleton, the Salukis could not get their offense into sync, shooting 35 percent and committing many turnovers.

In the first 12 minutes, however, the Salukis did work their offense adequately, as a Middleton 20-footer put the Dogs on top 17-16.

In an all-too-familiar Saluki scoring drought, caused by shooting mistakes and turnovers, the Sycamores scored 11 unanswered points.

Indiana State continually butchered the SIU-C defense with their transition game as they built up a 50-35 advantage.

The Salukis battled back to within seven, 54-47, with a pair of Greg Matta foul shots, but could come no closer.
