Simon not interested in No. 2 spot

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

Presidential candidate Paul Simon said Sunday he is not interested in filling the number two position on the Democratic ticket in November.

"I doubt I'd be interested in the vice presidency in the unlikely event that I should be asked," Simon said.

But, he added, "in politics you should never say never."

Simon, who has virtually conceded the defeat of his own campaign, said he is "virtually sure" Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis will win the Democratic nomination. But Simon refused to speculate on who will receive the nod for vice president.

"I think Dukakis ought to be free to choose who he thinks would be the best president" if Dukakis is elected and has to leave office for some reason, Simon said at a press conference Sunday at the Lesar Law Building.

The Makanda senator said he has a good relationship with Dukakis and would help him to win the presidency.

Simon suspended his presidential campaign April 7. By dangling his candidacy, he held onto his 169.5 delegates in hopes of influencing the party when a nominee is chosen.

Supporters of the Rev. Jesse Jackson have urged Simon to completely bow out of the race and release his delegates. Jackson would receive 60 instead of 13 Illinois at large delegates if Simon were to do so.

Simon said he saw no purpose in releasing his delegates.

"Had I released my delegates, the person who would have benefited best is Michael Dukakis, not Jesse Jackson," he said. "I see no sense in throwing my influence away."

Jackson supporters have said that by not releasing his delegates, Simon would lose support from black voters, who have traditionally supported Simon's liberal Democratic stand.

But Simon disagreed.

"It's a tempest in a teapot that will very, very shortly disappear," Simon said. "I don't see that (the possibility of losing black support) as any problem."

Simon, who spent a week in Puerto Rico with his family after suspending his campaign, said it's great to do nothing.

"We're doing things that normal people do," he said. "It's great to be home."

Springfest brings usual large crowd, mess

Workers begin 'great cardboard cleanup chores

By Jane Lamb
Student Writer

Springfest's most popular attraction is the Cardboard Boat Regatta, with original creations floating or sinking in Campus Lake, but what happens when it all ends?

It's not pretty. Cleanup crews face a 7-by-7 mound of water-soaked cardboard and enough garbage to fill two 30 cubic yard bins, acting Physical Plant director Duane Schroeder said.

The crews work more than 12 hours cleaning up about 80 cubic yards of trash, Schroeder said.

For the cleanup of the Cardboard Boat Regatta, the Physical Plant has two 30 cubic yard dumpsters hauled in by truck.

Old Main Mall transformed into carnival

By Phyllis Coon

Cotton candy, lemon shake ups and a ferris wheel helped to change the Old Main Mall and the Free Forum Area into a carnival on Saturday that lived up to the 'Clown' Around theme of Springfest.

Student Programming Council Springfest chairman Sean Craig estimated more than 24,000 people participated in the festival.

But SIUC Security Police estimated that 5,000 people attended Springfest, Lt. Jerry Brown said.

"It was a very good crowd," Brown said. "It was a lot better than in the past. If there was rowdiness, we would talk to the people and most would back off and cooperate with us."

The SPC promoted safety during Springfest, which included safety watchers.

"The safety watchers paid off," Craig said. "They helped the situation because people felt safer seeing they were only a few feet away." The safety watchers were made up of volunteers, including Student Life Advisers.

University police made 25 arrests for underage drinking and several people were arrested for fighting, Brown said.

There were no reports of rape over the weekend, Brown said Sunday. Last year four rapes were reported after Springfest weekend. Three of the victims were University students.

"I was really pleased with the people's behavior," Jill Clausen, coordinator of Rape Action Committee, said. "I think it says something for the University's efforts and our efforts. We must be doing something right."

The bands, the carnival rides and the games left Kurt Striegel, a junior in marketing, saying, "Goah, I'm empty minded." But Striegel said he enjoyed the day.

In the Marriott food tent, staffed by members of Theta Xi, Brian Richmond, senior in radio and television, said, "It's looking good."

"We were very happy with the results," Craig said. "The booths gave people more things to do and people were happy to participate."

There also were many novelty items for sale, including stuffed dolls, personalized buttons and T-shirts.

"I'm here for the profit," Willie Cave, an alumna, who sold personalized airbrushed T-shirts, said. "I've also been trying to start a business with

Baker urges Congress to trim bill

Baker announces cuts needed for trade bill's OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary James Baker sketched the conditions Sunday under which President Reagan might sign a stripped-down version of the landmark trade bill he is slated to veto in the days ahead.

Against a backdrop of election-year politicking, Baker said Congress would have to remove two provisions — a requirement that many businesses give 60-day notice of plant closings or massive layoffs and restrictions on exports of Alaskan oil — before Reagan would sign a follow-on bill.

"There are several other things and the president will speak to what has to come out in his veto message," Baker told NBC's "Meet the Press."

The Senate gave 63-36 final approval to the trade bill Wednesday, despite a vow by Reagan to veto the measure. How and when Reagan will veto the bill is not clear. The bill is expected to arrive at the White House this week and the president will have 10 legislative days to veto it.

Some Democratic congressional leaders saw political gain in the fact that Reagan chose to base his veto on the plant closings and predicted the issue could be successfully used against Republicans this fall.

Echoing that theme, House Democratic leader Tom Foley, interviewed with Baker on NBC, called the requirement for advance notice of plant closings and firings "a simple and equitable thing for a company to do" and one supported by a bipartisan majority of Congress.

"It seems to me very strange that the president would veto a trade bill which has many, many things that both the administration and the Congress and both parties in the Congress have agreed on, on this kind of an issue: an issue of simple fairness."

The administration and Congress came to be at loggerheads over the trade bi

Three British troops die, 3 hurt in two IRA attacks

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI) — Three off-duty British soldiers were killed and three seriously wounded Sunday in separate attacks claimed by the Irish Republican Army, which warned Britain there was "no haven" for its troops until it withdraws from Northern Ireland. The attacks came exactly eight weeks after British undercover special forces killed three unarmed IRA guerrillas in Gibraltar.

May Day provokes clashes around the globe

By United Press International

The Soviet Union's imminent withdrawal from Afghanistan brought a honeymoon with Western diplomats in Red Square for May Day celebrations Sunday, but elsewhere the annual holiday honoring working people was often marked by government tear gas and clubs. Violence broke out during workers demonstrations in Poland, El Salvador, Chile, Turkey and South Korea. Celebrations in Italy and Spain were quieter with festive picnics and rallies calling for better pay and shorter work weeks.

Iran cautions U.S. Navy about encounters

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — In what Western diplomats call a thinly veiled threat of terrorism, Iran warned Sunday that future encounters with the U.S. Navy in the Persian Gulf might have repercussions around the world. Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani, the Iranian parliament's powerful speaker, also told an opening session of the newly elected body "the U.S. administration is talking Americans toward another Vietnam," according to Iran's official news agency.

Israeli military investigates villager's death

JERUSALEM (UPI) — An Israeli patrol under attack from stone-throwing youths Sunday shot to death a West Bank villager, and military sources said a preliminary army investigation found the shooting was unjustified. The deputy company commander of the unit who killed the 22-year-old Palestinian was suspended after the investigation, the sources said. Investigators have begun a full inquiry into the incident.

Saudi opposition jeopardizes OPEC summit

VIENNA (UPI) — Stubborn opposition by Saudi Arabia Sunday threatened to scuttle OPEC efforts to link up with six non-OPEC oil-producing nations in a plan to reduce the world's oil glut and stabilize volatile prices. The majority wants full agreement by the cartel to trim 300,000 barrels from its official daily production quota of 15.06 million barrels as a gesture of solidarity to the independent six, who have proposed export cuts of 5 percent on both sides to put a floor under oil prices.

Polls show Dukakis could win Ohio's primary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Polls in Ohio showed Sunday that Democratic front-runner Michael Dukakis could pick up a fresh victory in a third big Northern industrial state, raking in another cache of national delegates. Vice President George Bush will have the GOP nomination locked up after Tuesday's primaries in Ohio, Indiana and the District of Columbia.

High winds blamed for deaths in California

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Wind-whipped seas swept away 150 feet of the Redondo Beach pier, stranded 1,300 people overnight on Santa Catalina Island and knocked a boater overboard to his death, officials said Sunday. Powerful northwest winds with gusts to 50 mph also were blamed for capsizing a boat and killing a teenager in the San Francisco Bay area. An intense storm over Utah and Colorado, which generated the high winds, began shifting to the east Sunday and the gusts buffeting California were expected to lessen by nightfall, the National Weather Service said.

Tour helicopter crashes into New York river

NEW YORK (UPI) — A helicopter carrying tourists on a sightseeing excursion plunged into the East River and broke apart Sunday. All five people aboard were rescued but one was trapped under the icy water for more than an hour, police said. A police frogman who found the Bell Jet Ranger 206B helicopter upside down, 38 feet underwater, used his knife to cut the victim free from the tangle of his seatbelt. Three passengers and the pilot — all in good condition — were fished out of the water within 10 minutes while the fifth man lay tangled in his seatbelt.

Former School of Journalism teacher dies

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

Charles Curtis Clayton, professor emeritus of the SIUC School of Journalism, died of a heart attack Friday at Styrest Nursing Home in Carbondale. He was 85.

Clayton was born on June 3, 1902 in Cambridge, Neb. He did his first newspaper work from 1917 to 1923 at the Star in Lincoln, Neb. He obtained a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Missouri in 1925.

Clayton was a member of the Journalism Hall of Fame at the University of Missouri and received its Medal for Distinguished Service to Journalism. He was president of the Journalism Alumni Association from 1934 to 1936 and was a member of the board of directors for the Walter Williams Journalism Foundation from 1936 to 1938.

While a member of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat staff, Clayton lectured in journalism at Washington University from 1928-29, at Webster College from 1936-40 and at Lindenwood College from 1940-52.

Clayton was national president of Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists, from 1951-52 and was chairman of its executive council from 1952-53.

Clayton began teaching at SIUC in 1956 and was faculty adviser of the Daily Egyptian until 1961. In 1956, he taught the first journalism course ever offered in a prison at Menard Correctional Center. The course also was the first offered to inmates for college credit.

The University's award for the best prison newspaper nationwide was named after Clayton. He taught at SIUC until 1971.

One of Clayton's three books,

"Fifty Years for Freedom," a history of Sigma Delta Chi, was published by the Southern Illinois University Press in 1959.

Clayton was editor of The Quill, the official monthly periodical of Sigma Delta Chi, from 1956-61.

Other works by Clayton include "Newspaper Reporting Today" and "Little Mack" the story of Joseph B. McCullagh of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Clayton was a visiting professor at Chengchi University in Taiwan from 1960-61, at the Chinese University of Hong Kong from 1965-66 and at Cgengchi University from 1970-71.

The Charles C. Clayton Scholarship for journalism students was established at SIUC in 1987. Donations to the scholarship fund can be made in his name to the SIUC Foundation.

Clayton is survived by his wife, Mary Elizabeth of Carbondale, and a son, Charles S. Clayton of Minneapolis. He was preceded in death by a daughter, Carol Clayton Hill.

A memorial service has not yet been set.

Russell to receive sentence

By John Mohler
Staff Writer

A former Carbondale businessman who was convicted of unlawful restraint by a Jackson County jury Friday morning will be sentenced in early June, Jackson County State's Attorney John Clemons said.

James Russell, 45, claimed that he made a citizen's arrest in July, 1985, when he handcuffed Carbondale attorney John C. "Jack" Feirich and drove to Chicago to hand Feirich over to authorities.

After deliberating nine hours, a jury found Russell not guilty of nine criminal counts, including aggravated battery and armed violence. Shortly after midnight, the jury announced it could not reach a decision on two counts of kidnapping.

Clemons said he would not seek a retrial on the two kidnapping charges. A jury could not reach a verdict in June 1986 when Russell was first tried on the charges.

Russell's three-day trial concluded on Thursday. The jury began deliberations at James Russell about 3 p.m.

Unlawful restraint is a Class 4 felony with a maximum penalty of three years imprisonment. Russell has said he will appeal the guilty verdict. Russell's lawyer, Public Defender Robert Van Derhoff, could not be reached for comment.

Russell admitted approaching Feirich, who was in his garage, handcuffing him and taping his legs together.

Russell said Feirich, partner of Feirich, Schoen, Mager, Green & Associates at 2001 W.

Main St., misappropriated $6,000 that Russell had paid him for legal services.

Feirich, who testified Tuesday, said Russell never paid him for the services. Van Derhoff attempted to discredit Feirich when he produced a $5,000 cashier's check as evidence that Russell had paid Feirich.

Feirich was president of the Illinois State Bar Association from 1982 to 1983.

The dispute arose after Russell hired Feirich to help Russell regain his share of ownership of the now-defunct Southern Illinois Racquet Club.

Russell has said he sought to turn Feirich over to Chicago police, who he said were outside Feirich's "sphere of influence."

Russell alerted a local newspaper of his intentions and had a friend call various media representatives in Chicago. Russell was arrested at Daley Center Plaza by two police detectives in front of television crews and other reporters.

Faculty must have arbitration choice

THE UNIVERSITY'S GRIEVANCE policy is blatantly unfair and a revision of the policy proposed by the faculty senate won't help.

The faculty senate's resolution would shift the grievance process from the Board of Trustees to the SIU-C president, which would do nothing to make the process more equitable.

The problem is that the University has ultimate power to decide whether a grievance goes to binding arbitration. This is tantamount to letting the defendant in a lawsuit decide whether the case goes to court. With faculty members having no means to force outside review of grievances, the door is open for abuses of power by the University. Obviously, if the University thinks it may lose a case, it will deny a request for binding arbitration.

The only fair solution is to grant faculty members the right to choose binding arbitration. The University undoubtedly would contend that the cost would be prohibitive. But access to outside arbitration is the faculty's right, not a privilege for the University to control.

UNDER THE FACULTY senate's proposal, the costs of arbitration would be paid by the losing party. The rationale is that faculty members would be reluctant to go to arbitration unless they expect to win. There is, however, the possibility that the University could intimidate faculty members exploiting its tremendous pool of assets to draw out a case and drive the cost into the thousands of dollars.

If the University lost, it would pay the costs, which would be a drop in the bucket for an institution of this size. But, if the faculty member lost, it could be disastrous to the person's family and future.

Potentially prohibitive costs to pursue arbitration would make the system unfair to faculty members with little money. Thus, arbitration costs should be borne by the University.

PERHAPS THE GREATEST benefit of recognizing the faculty's right to arbitration would be the pressure on the University to seek a fair solution to grievances before they go to arbitration. If the process works properly, there should be little need for outside arbitration.

Unfortunately, asking the University to implement such changes is asking it to reduce its power, which is extremely unlikely unless a great deal of pressure is applied by the faculty.

This is a cause for which the faculty should fight tooth and nail. The faculty senate missed the boat in its recent, lame resolution. The senate must take a much stronger role in advocating meaningful reforms in the grievance policy and stop wasting its time with useless proposals.

Knight's rape remark snowballs

Although I don't believe in censorship, it might not be a bad idea if sports figures refrained from ever opening their yaps in public.

We've heard Jimmy the Greek babbling about the mating habits of slaves and Al Campanis bumbling through a critique of black executive skills.

And now we have Bobby Knight, the successful but obnoxious Indiana basketball coach, offending the nation's female persons.

While being interviewed by Connie Chung of NBC, he was asked how he handled the stress of his job. Knight wittily said, "I think that if rape is inevitable, relax and enjoy it."

I don't know what the university president said in the privacy of his office. Probably something like, "Oh (bleep), why did that dumb (bleep-bleep) open his (bleeping) mouth again?"

But for public consumption, the university president said, "Coach Knight wasn't speaking for the university."

I would think not. Few universities would recommend, as formal policy, that women should relax and enjoy being raped.

Mike Royko

Tribune Media Services

But there is more to this story. Because of Knight's insult to women, still another group has been maligned. It's like a domino effect.

It happened this way. A reporter asked the university's assistant dean for women's affairs what she thought of Knight's remarks.

She said, "It's something you would expect your grandfather to say. That a man with Coach Knight's education would say that is shocking."

My late father was a grandfather and a great-grandfather. And he never advised any of his granddaughters to relax and enjoy an inevitable rape. To the contrary, his standard advice was, "Always pack a hunting knife in your purse, and when you get the chance, cut off his whistis."

This assistant dean's remarks were both sexist and ageist. Sexist because she singled out grandfathers, but didn't mention grandmothers. Does she suggest that grandmothers are more enlightened than grandfathers? And ageist because she seems to imply that anyone who is old enough to be a grandfather is insensitive to assaults on women.

A friend of mine who never attended college had this to say, "When I hear Coach Knight and that woman talk, I recognize the very genuine danger of being educated beyond your intelligence."

So, in addition to the demands by females for an apology from Knight, I demand an apology for all grandfathers.

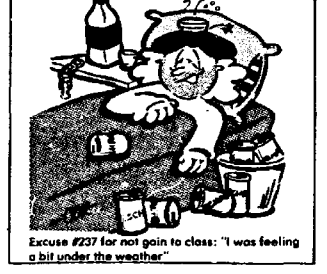

Grandfather power! And let's teach this bimbo a lesson.

after both sides dug in their heels on the issue of whether the government should require businesses with more than 100 employees to give advance notice to workers targeted to lose their jobs.

In the absence of an early offer by Reagan to sign the bill if the provision on plant closings was dropped, Democrats bonded with organized labor to insist that the veto-bait requirement remain in the legislation.

Although Democrats expect to seize on the issue as one of fairness and compassion, Baker insisted the plant-closing provision has nothing to do with trade policy and, "if it does anything, would make America less competitive."

"I think it's fine as a principle to let workers know," he said. "We think it ought to be done voluntarily, that the hand of big brother — the federal government — should not mandate it."

Citing his own experience as a former president of the Screen Actors Guild, Reagan said last week that the issue of advance notice is one that should be subject to labor-management negotiations and not federal law.

When asked whether Democrats would be willing simply to pass a new bill stripped of the plant-closing language, Foley said only, "I think we'll have to cross that bridge when we come to it."

Democrats acknowledge there is little, if any, chance that Reagan's promised veto of the trade bill will be overridden.

Regardless of whether compromise can be reached on another bill, some Democratic strategists are confident their party will be able to use the veto against Vice President George Bush and Republican congressional candidates this fall.

One influential House Democrat recently predicted the plant-closing issue would be "perfect to demagogue" on the campaign trail.

husband, said the money will help pay a $10,000 hospital bill from February, when Dianne underwent testing to see if she would be a transplant candidate.

"We're still trying to whittle that bill down," Eric Levin, a graduate student in child clinical psychology, said. "We still have $6,400 left to pay on it."

The Levins have not begun to save money for the transplant operation, which is expected to cost more than $100,000.

"If we are not raising a lot of money at least the community is becoming aware of her situation and that is probably more helpful than anything," Eric Levin said.

During the weekend, the Carbondale Fire Department responded to about 12 false alarms and trash fires at Lewis Park, Brush Towers and Lewis Park, department spokesman Cliff Manis said Sunday.

"It is almost always filled to the top," Schroeder said.

The Physical Plant also uses its own trucks to haul the waste, he said.

Before the regatta, participants are aware that they have a responsibility to get their boats out of the water whether they're intact or not, Carboard Boat Regatta Coordinator Terry Mathias said.

Despite the admonitions, volunteers and Physical Plant cleanup crews usually pull the carboard from the water.

"And when carboard gets wet, it is bulky and hard to handle," Schroeder said.

The crews begin cleaning Campus Lake on Saturday afternoon, he said.

"We start cleaning the lake area on Saturday because we fear some kids will drag some of the boats back out onto the lake and try to use them again," Schroeder said.

"The cleanup is a lot of work," Schroeder said.

Garbage is scattered between Springfest activity sites in the central part of campus and Campus Lake.

"The two areas really have no definition, where one begins and one ends, because people are always back and forth between Springfest and the boat regatta," Schroeder said.

The workers also face deadline pressures: they have to get the mess cleaned up by Monday, Schroeder said.

Final argument set for trial in cyanide poisoning case

SEATTLE (UPI) — Final arguments were set for today in the two-week trial of a woman accused of spiking her husband's headache medicine with cyanide, then seeking to hide the murder by re-enacting the 1982 Chicago Tylenol killings.

Federal prosecutors contend Stella Nickell poisoned her husband for insurance money, then another of her deadly concoctions found its way into the hands of Sue Snow, 40, whose June 11, 1986, death has been almost a footnote during Nickell's trial on five counts of product tampering.

But at the time, Snow's death from ingesting Extra-Strength Excedrin caused a panic in suburban Auburn, Wash., and caused drug manufacturers to stop making over-the-counter pain relievers in capsule form.

It wasn't until two days later that pathologists, at Nickell's urging, took another look at the death of Bruce Nickell, 52, and found that he, too, had died of acute cyanide poisoning eight days before.

In today's final arguments, assistant U.S. Attorney Joanne Maida will once again argue that it was Stella Nickell's desire to collect $176,000 in life insurance that drove her to carry out a long-held plan to end a marriage she felt had become unbearable, emotionally and financially.

Maida has portrayed Nickell, 44, as an intelligent, cunning woman who knew she only would receive a fourth of the maximum insurance payoff if her husband's death was attributed to natural causes.

That, Maida has insisted through questioning of witnesses, explains why Nickell didn't tell FBI agents of two additional $20,000 life insurance policies, which she obtained by forging her husband's signature.

Official's aide jumps to his death

NEW YORK (UPI) — The top aide to a Maryland congressman jumped to his death Sunday in an apparent suicide at the Helmsley Palace Hotel after a newspaper reported he made unorthodox demands of male staffers, including forcing them to accompany him socially.

Tom Pappas, 46, chief of staff for Rep. Roy Dyson, D-Md., jumped from his room on the 25th floor of the mid-town Manhattan luxury hotel and landed on a ledge near the eighth floor about 12:25 p.m., Sgt. Diane Kubler, a police spokeswoman said.

Police, who called the death an apparent suicide, said Pappas left a note but they would not release its contents. He was pronounced dead at the scene and his body was taken to the morgue.

Pappas had checked in Friday afternoon along with Dyson and press secretary Todd Skipper, police said, adding that they believed the three were in New York on business. The men had separate rooms.

Police said they were questioning Dyson about Pappas's death. Calls to Dyson's and Skipper's rooms were not answered.

Pappas's death came on the same day The Washington Post reported that Pappas made demands on the social lives of young male staff subordinates that had little, if anything, to do with work duties.

The Post reported that when Pappas hired Scott Ourth to be Dyson's press secretary Pappas insisted that Ourth not date for the first year he was on the job.

Other staffers for Dyson told The Post that they either quit or were fired because they refused to attend social functions with Pappas, who they said exercised complete control over Dyson's office.

Some staff members were shocked when Pappas told one male employee he would have to perform a striptease at a 1987 office retreat at Fort A.P. Hill in Virginia, the newspaper said.

Ourth's relationship with Pappas started to sour, the Post said, once Ourth began dating. Six months after taking the job, Ourth quit during an argument with Pappas over Ourth's going to Michigan on personal business after Pappas had told him not to go, the report said.

Carbondale East-West Couple

What: Public Hearing on proposal to complete the East-West Couple for Rt. 13 in Carbondale.

When: 8:00p.m. May 3, 1988

Where: City Council Chambers, 607 E. College St.

Background: For many years there have been proposals to build the western portion of the east-west couple through Carbondale for Route 13. Currently Walnut Street and Main Street function as paired one-way streets from Lewis Lane to University Avenue. Construction of the western portion of the couple would entail building a new section of street from the intersection of Brook Lane and Main Street to the intersection of Walnut Street and Oakland Avenue. Main Street would then be one-way westbound as for as Brook Lane, and the new connector street and Walnut Street would be one-way eastbound from Brook Lane.

On April 19, 1988 two consultant studies were presented to the City Council. Both studies supported construction of the east-west couple. The Department of Transportation has requested a response from the City Council by mid-July 1988 concerning whether or not the City will support the construction of the couple. The public hearing scheduled for May 3, 1988 will give persons who may be leaving Carbondale for the summer an opportunity to comment on the couple. Once additional information from IDOT is available, a second hearing will be scheduled.

Softball offense sputters against conference foes

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

In four games the softball team managed just five runs on 16 hits, splitting doubleheaders with Wichita State and Southwest Missouri.

The Salukis lost 1-0 then beat Wichita State 2-1 on Friday. They lost to Southwest Missouri 3-2 in 10 innings before taking a 1-0 victory in second game Saturday. Wichita State and Southwest Missouri are second division teams in the Gateway Conference.

The Salukis are 27-18 overall and 10-8 in the conference.

"I don't have any explanation," Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said. "We were fired up as well as we can be. Our defense looked sharp. All three of our pitchers are throwing well.

"But offensively? That's hard to figure. Our bats are a little quiet. We're not stroking it particularly well. Even earlier in the season when didn't score, we were at least hitting the ball hard at people," she said.

Brechtelsbauer said the pitching in the conference is stronger than earlier in the season. This was evident against Wichita State.

Wichita State pitcher Patty Bautista fired a one-hitter to defeat the Salukis. A single up the middle by Mary Jo Furbach in the third was the Salukis' only hit.

In the second game, with Bautista making a seventeenth-inning relief appearance, the Salukis finally rallied for a victory.

Kim Hulsey's chopper to the left side bounced over the third baseman's head to score pinch-runner Becky Rickenbaugh. Kim Tammins' double to shallow right field put Hulsey on third. Hulsey scored on Furbach's single to deep left-center field.

In the 10th inning of Saturday's first game, Southwest Missouri's Jennifer Keesaer raced home from third on a wild pitch by Traci Furlow, giving the Bears the victory.

In the second game, Lisa Peterson pitched a two-hitter, striking out four and walking one to beat Southwest Missouri. The Salukis' only run came on back-to-back triples to right field by Furbach and Theresa Smugala in the sixth.

Men's golf team 14th at invite

The men's golf team finished 14th out of 15 teams at the Midwestern Invitational this weekend in Lake Geneva, Wis.

The team was in 10th place after the first round on Friday, but fell back in the standings during the second and third rounds, finishing with a team total of 953.

"I would've been happy to finish 10th," Coach Lew Hartzog said. "But we played as poorly this week as we played well last week (at the Illinois State Invitational)."

The team winds up its season at Missouri Valley Championships Thursday through Saturday in Des Moines, Iowa.

Illinois won the tournament with a team total of 891, followed by Ohio State with 892 and Indiana with 895.

Jeff Mullican was the low-scorer for the Salukis, with a three-round total of 231. He was followed by Bobby Pavelonis with 232, Mike Cowen with 248, Mark Bellas 245 and Britt Pavelonis with 241.

"I thought going into the season that we could have been seeded higher than second, but with our loss to Western there wasn't really any way we could have," Auld said.

SIU-C's No. 1 singles player Ellen Moellerling lost to Kathy Gates, 6-2, 6-0. Gates is first team all-conference at the No. 1 position. "Ellen played hard but Kathy is such a tough player," Auld said.

The Salukis' No. 2 player Beth Boardman lost to Mary Pat Donovan, 6-3, 6-2. Donovan is also an all-conference performer. Dana Cherebetiu, Missy Jeffrey, Sue Steuby, and Michele Toye won the No. 3-6 positions for the Salukis. Steuby and Julie Burgess won at No. 3 doubles to give the SIU-C its fifth and deciding point.

The Salukis took care of ISU, 6-1, in the first round Thursday. SIU-C won all six singles spots against the Redbirds.

The Salukis came out of the weekend with a number of honors. Sue Steuby was named all-conference at the No. 5 singles position and Maria Coch got the same honor for No. 6 singles. Judy Auld was named the Gateway Conference Coach of the Year in the first year the award was given.

"I think the award is reflective of the program at SIU-C," Auld said. "The other coaches respect how our team acts on the court and the way we have consistently been in the top of the conference."

five games out of first. SIU-C dropped to 25-17 overall and 7-9 in the Valley.

The Shockers, who are now 37-12 overall and 12-4 in the conference, improved their home mark to 24-3.

The Salukis lost the first game of the series, 6-3.

Although the Salukis outthrew Wichita State, 10-6, the Shockers won on the power of Mark Standford. He knocked in three runs with two homers and scored three times.

SIU-C's Dale Kisten (5-7) had control problems. He walked six and gave up all of the Shockers' runs in his seven innings of work.

David Haas (10-3) pitched a complete game for his NCAA-leading 45th collegiate victory. Wichita State swept Saturday's doubleheader with a 5-4 extra-inning win.

Rick Damico tied the game with a two-run single in the sixth, but Wichita State won it in the eighth on P.J. Forbes' two-out RBI single off Shane Gooden.

Gooden (1-2) relieved starter Lee Meyer in the fifth and didn't allow a run until the eighth.

Shocker pitcher Pat Cedenon (0) went the distance and allowed just one earned run. He is 4-0 in conference games with a 0.88 ERA.

Standford hit his 12th home run of the season in the fifth against Meyer.

Damico and Brad Hollenkamp each had three hits for the Salukis.

Sophomore fullback Marvin Billups, who ran for 56 yards on 12 carries, scored the White team's last touchdown, a 5-yard run on the fourth play of the final quarter. The White team completed only two of eight pass attempts for a total of 22 yards. Reggie Edwards was 1-3 for nine yards but ran for 20 more.

Quarback Brett Weiland was 4-8 for 53 yards for the Maroon team, and 6-foot-2, 250-pounder Bill Leonard ran for 16 yards on four carries for the Maroon.

Rhoades said the scrimmage game "was no artistic success by any means but there was a little glimmer of hope. We had some good hits defensively."

held the old stadium record of 38-¾ set in 1986.

The other seven records were broken by competitors from Wisconsin and Murray State and two athletes competing unattached.

Craig Hagan, competing unattached, set a new mark in the pole vault with a vault of 17-7. The old record of 17-4 was set by John Sayre in 1984.

Connie Price, also competing unattached, set new records in the shot-put and discus. She beat Rhonda McCausland's shot-put stadium record of 51-1 in 1986 with a throw of 57-5. She also shattered the discus record by more than 27 feet with a throw of 187-11.

Tracy Mettes of Wisconsin set a new mark in the 400 meter hurdles with a time of 1:00.93. The old record was 1:01.38.

Suzy Favor, also of Wisconsin, broke the stadium record in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:06.30.

The Wisconsin 4 X 100 relay team set a new mark with its time of :46.99.

Diane Woodside of Murray State had a time of :13.60 in the 100 meter hurdles, breaking the old record of :13.80.

Kendy Vaughan of Southeast Missouri State tied the stadium record in the 400 meter dash with a time of :54.57.

The SIU-C men's and women's teams both had three other first-place finishes in the non-scored meet. For the men, Brian Bradley jumped 24-11½ to win the long jump. Bret Garrett stayed with the pack in the 800-meter run and held on to win with a time of 1:50.6.

In the last event of the meet, the Salukis won the 4 X 400 meter relay. The team was losing when leadoff runner John Stinson handed off to Kevin Steele, but Steele passed the leaders and gave SIU-C a good lead for third man Garrett. Garrett held the lead for anchor Erick Pegues. Pegues was challenged in the final lap but held on for the victory. The winning time was 3 minutes, 09.05 seconds.

For the women, Lisa Judiscak ran a personal best 36:06.2 to win the event. Dora Kyriacou won the 200-meter dash in a time of 24.50. Her previous season-best was 24.76.

The women's team ended its meet with a close race in 4 X 400 relay. The team was losing until the second runner, Michelle Sciano caught the front runners and passed them on the backstretch. Sciano handed off to Rosanne Vincent who held the lead for the Salukis. In the final leg, Danielle Sciano was challenged by Southeast Missouri's anchor, but Sciano nipped her at the finish line for the victory. The winning time was 3:45.1.

Tennis team places 2nd in Gateway

By Jeff Griesser
Staff Writer

The women's tennis team fell just short of capturing its third Gateway Conference title when it lost to Wichita State, 6-1, Saturday in Macomb. The second-seeded Shockers also won the title in 1984 and 1986.

The third-seeded Salukis won the tournament in 1983 and 1985 but placed second this year. SIU-C beat Illinois State, 6-1, on Thursday, then beat top seed, Western Illinois, 5-4, Friday to advance to the championship match with Wichita.

The order of finish in the tournament: Wichita, SIU-C, Western, Southwest Missouri, Drake, Illinois State, Bradley, Eastern Illinois, Indiana State, and University of Northern Iowa.

The Salukis managed only one victory in the Wichita State match. Missy Jeffrey beat Laura Boon, 6-3, 7-5, at No. 4 singles.

"We went into that final match kind of tight," SIU-C coach Judy Auld said. "They're a real solid team. They were the team I was afraid of going into the tournament, not Western. We had our chances, though, we had some close matches.

Auld said she was pleased with her team's effort against Western and ISU.

Wichita State crushes baseball team's hope for conference title

Wichita State hammered the nails into the Saluki baseball team's coffin and buried its Missouri Valley title hopes.

The Shockers beat the Salukis, 7-5 and 13-7 Sunday, to complete a four-game weekend sweep in Wichita, Kans., and eliminate SIU-C's chances of a first-place finish.

With only a four-game series

White team runs to victory, 19-0

Coach Rick Rhoades definitely has brought a new look to the Saluki football team.

Pete Jansons, a 6-foot-7, 260-pound guard, turned running back for one play and rumbled 29 yards on the game's second to last play. Jansons' run was one of 84 running plays during Sunday's Maroon & White Game at McAndrew Stadium. Both teams used the wishbone offense. Saluki quarterbacks combined for 20 passes.

The White team, led by running backs Byron Mitchell and Chuck Harmke, won the game 19-0. Harmke scored the game's first touchdown on a 6-yard run and had 75 yards on the day. Mitchell, the game's leading rusher, had a 43-yard touchdown run at the beginning of the third quarter and ran for 79 yards on four carries for the day.

Maroon quarterback Fred Gibson connected with Wesley Yates for a 35-yard pass completion on the game's first play. The completion was one of only two on the day for Gibson and six total for the Maroon team, which had trouble getting on track.

Gibson was 2-4 for 55 yards on the day. "Freddie had a really tough day," Rhoades said. "I'm not sure what the problem was but every time he dropped back there were

Nine stadium records broken at Saluki invite

The Saluki Invitational provided a record-breaking inauguration of the new track facilities at McAndrew Stadium.

Spectators saw nine stadium records fall and one tied Saturday during the first intercollegiate competition on the facilities. Two records were broken on the men's side and seven were broken by women.

Two of the records were broken by SIU-C athletes.

All-American Ron Harrer led the men's team with a school and stadium record in the javelin throw. Harrer threw 216 feet 2 inches to surpass his previous personal best by almost six feet. The former school record was Harrer's throw of 210-7 in 1986.

Christiana Philippou set the new McAndrew record in the triple jump with a leap of 40-1. She Dave Peterson ran away with the fifth annual Doc Spackman Memorial Triathlon at Campus Lake.

Peterson, a student at Western Illinois, dominated the 6.2-mile bike race and 2-mile run to win the event Saturday in 32 minutes, 40 seconds. This is the third time in four years that Peterson has been the overall winner.

Pam Quarenghi won the women's division with a time of 42:30.74. The second overall woman winner was Kelley Karol in 43:15.04.

Peterson was second out of the water in the ¼-mile swim behind friend Mark Wachendorf. Wachendorf, a swimmer at WIU, finished second overall in 33:58.32.

Peterson participates in the triathlon to "get back in the swing of things," he said.

Kathy Hollister, coordinator of Intramural and Recreational Sports, said the triathlon was comparable to last year's except the water, which was "the coldest it's been." The water temperature was estimated in the upper 50s or low 60s.

The event, which was sponsored by the Office of Intramural Sports and Touch of Nature, had 226 participants, about 30 less than the record-setting numbers last year.

The top three finishers in each age bracket received awards from members of the Spackman family.

MEN'S DIVISION:

- Age 18-21: Ken Wilson, first, 37:59.52; Joe Rowe, 39:13.47; Noel Carr, 39:54.21.
