Bangladesh hit by worst typhoon

Nearly 1,000 dead; 185 mile wide wave sinks island chain

Hamiduzzaman Khan, the director of the Bangladesh Meteorological Department, described the storm as "the severest cyclone in 20 years" while other experts called it the most powerful in history because of its intense winds.

The typhoon, 185 miles in diameter with a core area 46 miles across, unleashed winds of as much as 46 mph. Officials said the storm's intensity surpassed that of a 1970 typhoon that hit Bangladesh with 138-mph winds and killed 300,000 people.

The storm slammed into the coastal regions of the country shortly after midnight, submerging the inhabited offshore islands of Bhola, Hatiya, Sandip and Kutubdia beneath 12- to 20-foot tidal waves.

The Press Trust of India news agency said an air force helicopter surveying the damage after the storm could not land on several offshore islands because they were still submerged. Those aboard the helicopter reported residents were clinging to the roofs of homes and buildings to escape the flood.

DHAKA, Bangladesh (UPI) — The worst typhoon in 20 years slammed into Bangladesh early Tuesday, submerging major offshore islands under 20-foot tidal waves and battering the shoreline with 146-mph winds.

State-run Bangladesh Television said an unofficial tally indicated at least 987 people had been killed in the storm, but officials said the final toll could be in the thousands once communication was restored and rescue workers began reporting back from stricken areas.

The Red Crescent relief organization had said in an early, preliminary casualty count that at least 115 people had been killed.

Little Grassy Fish Hatchery gets funds for construction

The Little Grassy Fish Hatchery will go ahead with plans to build a chemical storage building now that Gov. Jim Edgar has thawed $350,000 in capital funding.

The funding was released by the Governor's Bureau of the Budget last November, but a temporary freeze was called to allow the Edgar administration time to determine what projects were important.

Gov. Edgar announced Monday that the freeze was being lifted and gave a list of

Reform Party seeks new USG election

By Doug Toole
Staff Writer

Undergraduate Student Government will decide its own fate tonight.

If the results of the April 18 election are not ratified at the meeting, there will not be a USG after the current officers and senators leave office May 10.

Michael Parker, Reform Party chairman, filed an appeal against the decision of the election commission to issue two strikes against the party for flyers it distributed, saying the committee acted arbitrarily and denied the party due process.

Parker's complaint requests that Harvey Welch, vice president for student affairs, say the election commission acted in error.

It further requests that Welch halt the ratification of the election results at the USG meeting and hold a new general election in fall 1991 for all USG offices.

Three proposed hardwood timber sales in 1,150 acres of the Shawnee National Forest are being delayed while public opinion and environmental evaluations are being done, U.S. Forest officials said.

John Schultz, Forest Service Ranger for the Elizabethtown district, said the delay is in cooperation with a request by the Illinois Congressional Committee and will be extended until at least Aug. 15.

Adam Kimbrell visited SIUC for the first time to register for fall classes the Friday before Springfest.

The senior high school student from Farmington says he's definitely coming back.

"I got a hands-on look at the parties," he said. "It was pretty wild."

In his small hometown community, Kimbrell said he has a difficult time convincing people the University's party school image isn't true.

After visiting the weekend of Springfest, Kimbrell said he isn't sure himself that the party image is distorted totally.

"Coming from a small town, the parties and bars were quite a shock," he said. "I'm sure it's not like that every weekend, but Springfest probably worked against SIUC if it's trying to lose that image."

Kimbrell's perception of SIUC after visiting during Springfest is exactly the kind of negative attention that concerns University officials.

Jack Dyer, director of University Relations, said events like Springfest and Halloween, for which the University attracts attention, reinforces the image that SIUC is a party school.

"We've overcome the image to some extent, but we're never going to get away from it entirely."

University and Carbondale Police arrested more than 100 people during the Springfest weekend for underage consumption of alcohol, public indecency, reckless conduct and mob action.

Although the number of arrests at Springfest was less than half the number of arrests during the peak of the SIUC Halloween parties, University Security Director Bob Harris said there is some concern Springfest is taking on the appeal of another Halloween.

"We've just about won the war on Halloween," Harris said. "But Springfest looks like it's turning into a Halloween in April."

Softball team takes two from Eastern

Saluki senior first baseman Angie LeMonnier attempts to lay down a bunt against Eastern Illinois at the IAW Softball Complex Tuesday afternoon.

Staff Writer

The SIUC softball team continued its streak as it whizzed past the Eastern Illinois Panthers Tuesday in a doubleheader.

The Salukis swept EIU 9-1 and 2-0 at home on the IAW Softball Complex. Their record is now 35-3 overall and 12-0 in Gateway Conference games, setting a new school record for the most consecutive conference wins in a season. The old record of 10 was set last spring.

These wins up the team's winning streak to 23. With these games, EIU's record falls to 26-16.

"I don't want to say we are unbeatable," SIUC coach Kay Bretchelsbauer said. "I don't know any team that has never lost. Every team is beatable, but until then, we are taking it one game at a time."

The team pushed past the Panthers quickly in the first game scoring three in the third. Senior left fielder Shannon Taylor had a base hit and reached third on the left fielder's error. Freshman Jenny Klotz hit a single to score Taylor and sophomore right fielder Colleen Holloway followed with a double.

Senior third baseman Mary Jo Firnbach singled to plate both Klotz and Holloway.

In the first game, sophomore hurler Angie Mick pitched a two-hitter and almost shut out the Panthers. EIU did not score until the sixth when Carrie Voisin belted a triple and was brought home by Tammy Stice.

Mick was named Gateway Pitcher of the Week for her performances last week. On April 24 against Evansville, Mick tied the school record for the most strike-outs in a single game (12).

The Salukis scored two runs in the fourth when junior shortstop Cheryl Venorsky singled, stole third and ran home on a wild pitch. Junior second baseman Andrea Rudanovich reached second on an error by the shortstop, ran to third on the wild pitch and scored on another error.

SIUC scored two more in both the fifth and sixth innings bringing the final tally to 9-1.

The second game did not come so easily for the Salukis. They had to struggle and fight for their two

Salukis attempt to win again against Racers

By Wayne Frazer

The SIUC men's baseball team will try to saddle the Murray State Racers at 3 p.m. today at Abe Martin Field.

The Salukis are coming off two tough losses to the 12th-ranked Missouri Tigers Monday. The Dawgs either were tied or head lead late in both games, but couldn't hang on for the victory.

Last Thursday SIUC and Murray State played a wild one at Abe Martin Field, with the Dawgs hanging on to win 11-8. The Salukis pounded out 19 hits in the game, but they came against the Racers' second-line pitching.

The Racers' 21-14 mark comes from their strong pitching staff. Starter Kirk Reuter is 8-2 with an earned run average of 1.51. In 652 1/3 innings pitched, Reuter has allowed only 21 walks and struck out 53.

Kent Wallace is the other key starter for Murray State. He is 5-1 with an ERA of 2.45. Wallace also has allowed only 21 base on balls.

The relief comes from Rick Grogan. Grogan, a hard thrower with great control, has fanned 41 in 542 2/3 innings while walking just 10 batters. He is 5-2 with four of the Racers' five saves.

Murray State is led offensively by outfielder Danny Alfeldt. He is hitting .353 with 19 RBI.

Alfeldt and shortstop Shane Witzel combined to have four hits and four RBI in Thursday's game.

The Salukis will counter with their potent offense. SIUC is averaging .289 as a team and is led by senior right fielder Jeff Nelson. Nelson is batting .358 and also

Golfers take fourth in conference

By Wayne Frazer
Staff Writer

The SIUC women's golf team finished fourth in the Gateway Conference Golf Championship Tuesday at Jackson Country Club.

Illinois State University won the tournament with a three round score of 980 strokes. Wichita State was second with a score of 1002.

SIUC was nipped for third by three strokes by the Southwest Missouri State Lady Bears. The Salukis finished with a total of 1020.

Saluki head coach Diane Daugherty said her team's inexperience affected the outcome of the tournament.

"Our team is very young," Daugherty said. "We had four players who had never played in the Gateway Championships."

Daugherty was surprised by Southwest Missouri.

"I thought it was a three-team tournament: us, Wichita State and Illinois State," she said. "Southwest Missouri was the most improved team in the conference, but it was an upset that they finished ahead of us."

The Salukis did have two bright spots. Sophomore Tracey Pace finished second in the tournament individually. She shot rounds of 84-78-81 for a three-day total of 243. Pace was named to the Gateway Conference All-Tournament Team.

Pace said she didn't expect to finish as strongly as she did.

"I expected to do well, but not that well," she said. "I was hoping the team would do well."

Pace came back after a shaky first-round 84 to post a 78, the best second-round effort turned in. Pace said nerves were part of the problem.

"I was really nervous on the front nine," Pace said. "I double-bogeyed the first hole and triple-bogeyed the second. After that I settled down and played better."

Daugherty said Pace's finish wasn't a shock to her.

"Tracey is a strong golfer," Daugherty said. "She has played No. 1 or 2 all year. Her finishing second might have been a surprise to some, but not to me."

Junior Anne Childress also excelled at the championships. Childress shot 83-84-83 and finished seventh overall. Childress was picked for the Gateway All-Conference Team.

Daugherty said Childress is not happy with her performance in the championships.

"Anne's disappointed," Daugherty said. "She played very

Underdogs upset in Campbell final matches

EDMONTON, Alberta (UPI) — So much for the Campbell Conference form chart.

The Smythe Division's Edmonton Oilers and Norris Division survivor Minnesota North Stars start their best-of-seven conference final Thursday night, with each team trying not to think about the teams the opponent has laid to rest behind them.

Between them, the Oilers and North Stars have ripped a buzz-saw through the NHL's top four teams in the regular season.

The North Stars, 16th overall in the regular season, enter the Stanley Cup semifinal fresh from disposing of St. Louis in the second round and league champion Chicago, becoming the first post-expansion team to eliminate the Nos. 1 and 2 teams.

If such a thing is possible, the Oilers had even a rougher road, taking out provincial rival Calgary in seven tense games, then winning three of four overtime encounters to eliminate Wayne Gretzky and the Los Angeles Kings in six.

Edmonton has two main advantages in the series: They have the extra home game for the first time in the playoffs, and they have an edge in playoff experience, trying to win their sixth Stanley Cup in the past eight years.

Bruins face the 'new' Penguins

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Bruins and Pittsburgh Penguins played three times during the regular season, but the Bruins acknowledge they will face a different team of Penguins in the Wales Conference finals.

The Penguins were transformed in early March by their blockbuster trade with Hartford, which sent them high-scoring center Ron Francis and defenseman Ulf Samuelsson and Grant Jennings. The Penguins, who were 32-30-4 at the time of the swap, are 17-7-2 since.

Boston and Pittsburgh were 1-1-1 during the regular season. They last met Feb. 7 "and the Penguins have changed a great deal since the last time we saw them," said Bruins center Dave Poulin, "so we start all over again."

The series, which begins Wednesday night in Boston, will be the first conference championship in Pittsburgh's 24-year history. Yet the Penguins seem confident they can advance to the Stanley Cup finals.

Asked if the underdog Penguins can win the best-of-seven series, Pittsburgh Coach Bob Johnson replied, "You better believe it. We can do anything right now."

The Bruins are in the conference championships for the third time in four years. They lost in the Cup finals twice in the past three years.

"We're halfway to our goal of 16 victories in the playoffs," said Boston goaltender Andy Moog, who lifted the Bruins past Montreal in seven games in the Adams Division final.

Moog was outstanding when Boston's defense and checking were lacking. He has played all 13 post-season games and has a 2.62 goals-against average.

"Moog was sensational," Montreal Coach Pat Burns said. "They rallied around a great goalie."

Pittsburgh also has an excellent netminder in Tom Barraso, who is tops in the post-season with a 2.46 goals-against average.

The restricted confines of Boston Garden's smallest rink in the NHL could affect the series' outcome. No one is ever far from a shot on goal, as proved by Cam Neely's game-winner from beyond the blue line Monday night.

"It's such a short neutral zone that if you have a turnover at their blue line, the guy takes three or four strides and he's on top of the goalie," Pittsburgh left winger Phil Bourque said.

Francis, who played a lot of games in Boston Garden while a member of the Whalers, said the rink, "might take away from the skating part of our game, but in another respect it might help us with the style we play, the quick transition, a lot of lane changes and quick reaction."

Throughout the season, the Bruins have talked about how they make up for a lack of talent with total commitment and effort.

ROTC 'fine example' to retire with highest rank

By Kylie Robertson
Staff Writer

After 30 years of service, ROTC Sgt. Maj. Bobby G. Pruett led his last battalion run Tuesday. He will retire in September.

Lt. Col. Margaret Winslow, commander of the SIUC ROTC, said Pruett is a fine example of a cadet when he leads the battalion formation. She said he moved up the ranks as his career and retires holding the highest enlisted rank.

"One of the main principles of leadership is to set an example for the cadets, and Sgt. Maj. Pruett fulfilled this," she said.

Pruett, an Alto Pass resident, said he is not retiring, but as the old saying goes, is being put out to pasture.

Although he is looking forward to fishing and hunting when he leaves the service, Pruett said he may complete a degree in administration of justice or look for a job in law enforcement.

"I want to make a good impression on the cadets. I have to practice what I say—not just tell them to do it," he said. "Leading involves doing and does not mean sitting back and yelling."

Pruett, a father of two, has had a colorful military career. He served three terms in the Vietnam War and spent six years in Germany.

He joined the Army in September 1961 after graduating from Senath High School in Missouri. After basic training he became a combat engineer, a position he held during a three-year service in Munich, Germany.

In 1965 Pruett received orders to serve in Vietnam and moved to Fort Campbell, Ky.

After training in Vietnamese customs, Pruett served in the war setting booby traps and mines, and building roads, bridges and prefabricated airfields.

In 1969 Pruett returned to the United States to train in the special forces and to become airborne. He returned to the war in 1970.

Pruett said the Vietnam War was fought by politicians, the news media and the American people.

"There is no comparison between the Vietnam War and the Persian Gulf war. There were completely different rules for both," Pruett said. "Forces in the gulf were left to do what was necessary to stop Iraq, while the Army was restricted in the Vietnam war."

"Iraq was a completely different enemy. In Vietnam they could hide in jungles and terrain and fight war when they chose," he said.

In 1970 Pruett returned to the United States with no welcoming. People accused him of hating his mother and killing babies because of his involvement in the war.

"The Army considered the anti-war symbol the footprint of the American chicken," he said. "The only people that cared were my family and friends."

Looking back on his career, Pruett said it has all been fun, even Vietnam.

"The peace with honor after the Vietnam War was not appropriate," Pruett said. "I'd go back and do it properly for those friends and men I served with."

Students show class at annual boat regatta

ALMOST 9,000 PEOPLE GATHERED at Campus Lake Saturday to watch students float around in cardboard boxes.

The crowd cheered as cardboard boats resembling floating flowerpots, guitars and whales raced to the finish line before they sank.

The weather was picture perfect and the mood of the crowd was relaxed—a welcomed change in scenery from Springfest weekend when arrest totals at the event reached record numbers.

THE BIGGEST DIFFERENCE between the two events wasn't the attendance numbers or the nature of entertainment. The biggest difference was the absence of alcohol at the regatta.

No one was arrested for violent behavior or public disruption because of alcohol consumption at the regatta. There were no beer cans thrown at boat racers and mace was not used for crowd control.

Thousands of people came together to have a good time without letting alcohol spoil an event many have been preparing for during the past several months.

BEFORE THE SEPARATION of Springfest and the boat regatta in 1989, alcohol was not banned at either event.

Coordinators did, however, strongly promote responsible alcohol consumption with advertisements carrying the logo "no kegs, no alcohol abuse, no glass containers, no underage drinking, don't drink and drive."

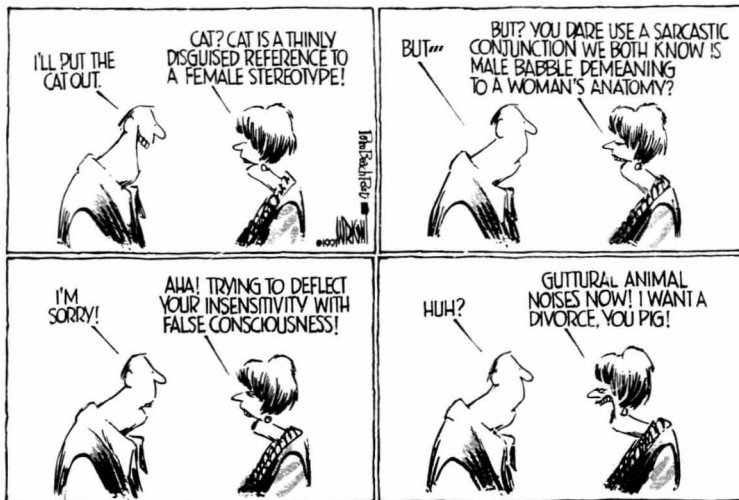

The message was made very clear—keep the drinking under control.

When it was decided to hold Springfest and the regatta on separate weekends, a ban on alcohol at the regatta was put in place in an effort to reduce the danger of accidents during the boating competition and keep the crowd under control.

JUDGING FROM THE HIGH participation and attendance at the regatta over the past two years, people consider the ban to be a reasonable request.

The 18th annual Great Cardboard Regatta began as a class project for students enrolled in Art and Design 100B.

The regatta is still holding its own and proving what a classy event it is.

Letters

America violates democracy

In my April 17 letter entitled, "Radical Changes Needed in America," it was established that radical changes are needed in America to both eradicate institutionalized racism and, in essence, yield real democracy.

The basic principle of democracy is the sacred right of the individual (i.e. each and every individual has the freedom to do whatever he/she decides as long as it does not interfere with someone else's right to do the same).

By that definition alone, America is not a democracy; to the contrary, traditional American politics violate the very principles of democracy.

My related letter on the 22nd made the case that "American majority rule democracy is racist and fosters white supremacy."

Racism and democracy are in principle mutually exclusive. So America isn't a democracy because widespread institutionalized racism admittedly exists.

Therefore, the radical changes that America needs are, surprisingly, real democratic changes that by conception eliminate racism. Such is the principle of individual freedom.

America proclaims a democratic ideal is, in a word, pluralism. Webster's dictionary defines democracy as "rule by the ruled."

The combination of the two support the individual freedom of each and every different ethnic/opinion group to directly control their own political destiny as a distinct political entity.

Understand that if every ethnic/opinion group ruled its own destiny, even to the extreme of statehood (e.g. a Black, Native American, Jewish, state for Blacks, Indians, and Jews respectively,) there would be no racism.

There would be a pluralistic democracy—the co-existence of and respect for cultural difference, i.e. the integrity and legitimacy of each culture as a stand alone, independent political entity.

That's pluralism! That's democracy!—Nate Luster, junior, political science.

Complaining about race ineffective

In the time that I have attended SIUC, I have read many letters to the editor in the DE about racism and discrimination to minorities. Most of these letters state how unfair minorities are treated due to their skin color.

Now I realize that sometimes minorities are treated unfairly because I have experienced it. I too am a minority.

I have put up with derogatory name calling. These insults do not upset me; I don't let them.

I don't see myself as a part of a minority group, I see myself as a regular person. I am a regular student trying to earn an education. I do not segregate myself from those that are not of my race.

I interact and hold very close friendships with people of all races. Skin color does not intimidate me, nor do I feel that it should anyone else.

Everyone is made equal; however, some of us have darker shades of skin than others. That doesn't mean that anyone should feel any less than a white person or any more than a black person.

In order for people to accept minorities, we must first accept ourselves as what we are, minorities. We shouldn't complain about how rough our lives have been due to our skin color, that won't change anything. We should not expect them to be handed to us.

All races need to work together to make out society work as a whole. When we begin to do this everyone's life be much easier and enjoyable.—Theresa Orozco, freshman, undecided.

Quotable Quotes

"The word 'party' to me just means get drunk and let it all out." Bill Solleder, vocalist of the Blue Meanies, in reference to the group's reputation as a 'party' band.

"I have not seen this bad a marketplace since the early '80s."—Job placement expert Victor Lindquist in reference to the job market college graduates are facing.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors. The letters pages will be a forum for discussion of issues of public interest. Open, civil dialogue is the aim. Letters may be edited for length and content. Letters of fewer than 250 words will be given preference for publication. Letters will be limited to 300 words. Letters that the editors deem objectionable because of potentially libelous material or because of extraordinary bad taste will not be published. Access to the letters space will be afforded to as many writers as possible to encourage diversity of points of view. Editors may impose, at their discretion, a limit on the frequency of publication of letters by an author. When a multitude of letters on the same subject are received, editors may select a few letters that are representative of those letters for publication.

Every letter must be signed and submitted in person by its author or authors. Students must identify themselves by class and major, faculty by rank and department, non-academic staff by position and department, others by address and occupation or position appropriate to the nature of their letters. Letters for which authorship cannot be verified will not be published.

Students responsible for math skills

In response to Diane Dove's letter concerning math and the Psychology Department in the April 26 issue, I beg to differ.

I disagree with you on your concept of "higher" math and "lower" math. If either type of math requires or uses a calculator, it would be lower math. Higher math is a great deal more abstract, and most higher math classes have no use for a calculator.

On the contrary, lower math is more concrete and computational, and its applications are seen more in other college courses. Thus, Math 107 or its equivalent is required for any degree at SIUC; furthermore, it is the lowest math class available to earn credit.

Next, we would like to point out that the following statement from Ms. Dove's letter is completely inaccurate: one that doesn't understand higher math is simply a lazy student with a bad attitude who does not deserve a college degree.

In fact, one may not have the cognitive structures, i.e. left brain functions, necessary to comprehend the complexities and abstractness of higher math.

Also, we would like to comment on Ms. Dove's argument about hiring tutors at "overpriced" hourly rates.

First of all, hiring someone to tutor you in a class that is somewhat difficult is not a waste of money. Secondly, the Center for Basic Skills, as well as the Math Department, offers free help for all students in all low math classes (up to Math 150).

Hence, a student need not "starve" in order to pay for a tutor. Lastly, effort is not displayed simply by attending class and seeking help from fellow students.

It also includes turning in homework regularly, asking questions in class and possibly seeking further outside help including your professor in order to gain comprehension of the subject.

We realize that Ms. Dove's letter may have been sarcastic because of her experience and insecurity with math; however, this is no reason to downgrade not only a required subject but a useful one.—Clarissa Payne, senior, math education.

the 1980s for its Halloween party, which attracted partiers from all over the country. A city ordinance allowed people to publicly consume alcohol on South Illinois Avenue and Grand Avenue in Carbondale for Halloween weekend.

When the party grew to more than 20,000 with almost 300 arrests and repeated incidents of violence, the city and University canceled the party after a call by University President John C. Guyon to end the "incipient riot."

Even after an official end to the Halloween party in 1989, revellers continued the tradition of taking over South Illinois Avenue and blocking traffic from the north to south sides of town.

This year the strip was taken over again Halloween night, Homecoming weekend and Springfest weekend.

But university and city officials aren't as concerned with people taking over the Strip as they are with the violence that occurs after the takeover and the attention the University receives from the media when it happens.

"Taking over the street per se is a harmless activity," Guyon said. "When something worse grows out of it, we get worried."

Raquel Frankenreider, a junior in speech communication from Annawan, knows firsthand what can grow out of a harmless activity.

The SIUC student received a three-inch gash on her head after she was pelted by a beer can during a band performance at Springfest.

Guyon said, "Consumption of alcohol has increased much of what stems from Halloween and Springfest."

A national organization, Boosting Alcohol Conscience Concerning the Health of University Students, reports 88 percent of all college students say they drink alcohol.

The University Wellness Center reports that 85 to 90 percent of SIUC students say they drink.

Harris said the real problem is with people drinking at Springfest and Halloween who are drinking to get drunk.

"I'm not a prude," he said. "But I have a problem with people who have to get drunk to get fun."

But Chad Rollins, Springfest chairman for the Student Programming Council, said he isn't willing to take the blame for a handful of people causing problems at Springfest.

"We have an event here called Springfest," he said. "Alcohol is allowed. These people are in charge of who they are."

"SPC gives them a quality event and they decide how much to drink and what to do if they go past the law," he said.

Rollins and Jack Sullivan, president-elect of the Undergraduate Student Government, said the University would be overreacting by eliminating Springfest.

"Shutting down Springfest would be a tragic reactionary attitude," Sullivan said. "A lot of people are blowing this out of proportion. This isn't even comparable to Halloween."

Frankenreider said students can't blame the University if Springfest is canceled.

"The University is extending us a great privilege," she said. "When we are granted a great privilege like that then why ruin it."

In the end, University officials say students will be the ones who pay for the reputation the school generates from the actions of some overzealous partiers.

"In some ways we're our own worst enemies," Dyer said. "Freshmen and sophomores really buy into that party image, but seniors cringe knowing it could affect their job search."

Sullivan said students know about the image before attending the University.

"I still came here, and I'm getting a quality education," he said.

But Dyer said convincing a potential employer who only has seen the coverage of parties at SIUC of the quality of education the University offers could be difficult.

ongoing, but we're honoring this delay," Schultz said.

Oaks, elms, maples and poplar trees are a few of the many types of trees considered hardwoods.

The three areas involved are North Cadiz, Clayton Hollow and Blue Mine, all of which are in the Elizabethtown ranger district, said Shawnee spokesman Tom Hagerty.

The proposals are ongoing projects included in the 1991 Forest Service budget, but they have been delayed in order for an evaluation to be conducted.

U.S. Rep. Glenn Poshard, D-Carterville, an Illinois Congressional Committee and environmental groups have called for a delay in hardwood sales in order for public comments to be heard on the issue.

Schultz said scoping letters were sent to about 70 citizens asking for their opinions on the effects of the timber harvest and sales.

The results will influence what action the Forest Service will take with the hardwood sales, he said.

"At this point they aren't put together," Schultz said. "We're evaluating the environmental effects of the three proposals."

Although the timber sales receive the most attention, Schultz said they are only one part of the proposals which include recreation, wildlife and wildlife management.

The proposals call for timber harvesting and sales on a combined 1,150 acres and reconstructing roads within the areas, Hagerty said.

When the roads are finished,

Hagerty said they will provide improved access into the forest for tourists and forest rangers.

North Cadiz will involve 550 acres and two miles of road reconstruction.

Clayton Hollow will involve nearly 200 acres and two miles of road reconstruction.

Blue Mine will involve 400 acres and 1.7 miles of roadway reconstruction.

Hagerty said no clear-cutting would be involved if the proposals are approved.

Group selection cutting would be used, with the six months of an acre being the biggest area cleared.

Schultz said there are no plans to break any agreements made with legislative members.

commission decided that flyers are party distributed were inaccurate and misleading. The party reprinted a Satyagraha article about the party and gave its account of the Reform and Student Party responses to the Carbondale City Council's spring 1990 keg registration proposal.

Parker said he was not given a chance to cross-examine his accusers and was denied his right to freedom of expression without having the commission prove his guilt by clear and convincing evidence, as required in USG Constitution and bylaws.

He also said the decision was made the day before the election, and the Daily Egyptian ran a story about the decision on election day.

"I don't know how to assess the damage that decision caused the party," Parker said.

Parker said he requested an appeal before the Judicial Board of Governance, who declined to hear the case. The appeal was sent Monday to Welch.

The election commission used its authority arbitrarily and owes the Reform Party an apology and a new election, Parker said.

Welch was not available for comment, but Jean Paratore, associate vice president of student affairs, said the office would not comment on the appeal until it received the written decision of the Judicial Board.

Even if Welch does not reach a decision on the appeal before the USG meeting, the election results could be rejected by the election commission or tabled for a future meeting by a majority vote of the senate. If the election results are not ratified by May 10, there will be no replacement USG officers or senators.

In spring 1990, when the USG election was declared invalid, an interim government was appointed by Welch until an official election could be held in fall 1990.

Amy Taylor, election commission member, said a bill to ratify the election results is on the agenda for the meeting and that no commission members plan to remove the bill.

approved capital funding projects.

The money allotted to the fish hatchery is the projected cost of the building, said Carol Knowles, director of Public Information for the Department of Conservation.

Knowles said $350,000 should be adequate to complete the construction of the building.

The building will be a large warehouse and will store chemicals, such as EPA-approved therapeutic drugs and herbicides that are used in fish cultures, she said.

Alan Brandenburg, manager of Little Grassy Fish Hatchery, said the therapeutics are used to treat bacterial diseases and parasites on fish.

Brandenburg said the building is very important to the hatchery because it not only will store chemicals, but also will store the hatchery's vehicles and fish tanks.

Indoor storage will increase the life of the equipment used at the hatchery, he said. The equipment is temporarily stored under a tarp, and the weather already has taken a toll.

He said the building also will increase the hatchery's ability to store fish food, for which little space exists at present.

Knowles said the Hurst and Rosche Company of Hillsboro have been hired to construct the building.

Tom Baker, design engineer with Hurst and Rosche, said the company does not have a contract yet because the hatchery has not received the official release of the freeze on the project.

He said the design phase of the project will take about six to eight weeks, and construction will be completed in about three months.

Islamic treatment of Jews, Christians topic of seminars

By Jefferson Robbins
Staff Writer

The treatment of Jews and Christians in Islamic nations is the focus of a panel discussion at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Newman Catholic Student Center.

The fourth session of the "Understanding Islam" seminars, a series of discussions sponsored by the SIUC and Carbondale religious communities, will address the history of and reasons behind supposed Moslem intolerance toward other faiths.

The panel will be moderated by Dale Bengtson, chairman of the SIUC Religious Studies department and will include panelists Riazuddin Zobiairi, adjunct associate professor of religious studies; Roger Karban, a priest with the Roman Catholic Diocese of Belleville; Zahid Sagib, an Indiana physician and Moslem scholar; Leonard Gross, associate professor of law; and Rex Ball, a congregation member of the First Presbyterian Church of Carbondale.

Aside from the history of intolerance, the session also will examine the teachings of the Koran, the Moslem holy book, regarding the treatment of other faiths.

Gross, who is Jewish, said mistreatment of non-Moslems in predominantly Moslem nations has been known to occur.

"Historically, if you look back to earlier this century there was some clear hostility toward Jews in Arab countries," Gross said.

"They were being kicked out and were losing their land."

Gross also pointed toward restrictions imposed on United States troops stationed in Saudi Arabia before the Persian Gulf War. The Saudi government denied the troops permission to hold an open celebration of Christmas in 1990.

"Maybe that's an act of the state rather than a religious issue," Gross said.

Zobiairi, a Moslem, said the topic of religious intolerance is important to everyone.

"This is a matter of concern for all peoples — how minorities are treated," Zobiairi said.

He said the accusation of Moslem intolerance toward other religions has both supporters and detractors.

"There have been writings both for and against," Zobiairi said. "There have been some writings accusing Moslems of treating Jews and Christians very unfairly, and there have been some writings saying their treatment has been very fair."

Zobiairi said the writings in the Koran, which regard Christ as a prophet of God and call Jews and Christians "the People of the Book," support the tolerance of non-Islamic religions.

"(The Koran's teaching) is very positive," he said. "Islam is the first religion to recognize the difference between faiths."

Tough Christian troops to help end militia rule

BEIRUT, Lebanon UPI) — The hard-line Christian Lebanese Forces militia was ready to turn in its weapons to the army Tuesday and stop appearing armed in public as government efforts to end militia rule moved ahead.

Officials said Samir Geagea's estimated 10,000-strong militia was scheduled to deliver a huge stockpile of medium- and large-caliber weapons to the army later Tuesday and vacate barracks, positions and roadblocks.

Geagea's gunmen were expected to deliver at least 20 tanks, 200 artillery batteries, 35 armored personnel carriers and five helicopters to army officers at a barracks in the port city of Jounieh, 12 miles north of Beirut, officials said.

Christian militia sources said Geagea's group would deliver all the weapons it had received from Iraq or seized during confrontations with the regular force during the rule of deposed Gen. Michel Aoun.

Geagea's group, the strongest militia in the country, declared Monday that it would give up arms and hand over its strongholds in the Christians' heartland to the army.

The announcement came at the end of a meeting between Geagea and army officers at a hilltop village in the Kesrouan mountains some 18 miles north of Beirut.

"As of this moment, we are turning over weapons to the army and paving the way for the deployment of the regular forces in the districts of Kesrouan and Byblos," Fouad Malek, the LF chief of staff said.

When asked whether the 16-year-old civil war that had taken the lives of 135,000 people has ended, the bearded militia commander replied, "We have already said that the war is over."

The crucial LF-army meeting took place in the village of Ghedras, which has been serving as the headquarters of Geagea since the disbanding of Christian and Muslim militia operations in Beirut last December.

The LF announcement, regarded as a dramatic breakthrough in efforts to end 16 years of militia rule in Lebanon, came on the eve of the April 30 deadline fixed by the government for all militias to disarm and disband.

"The era of the militias is over," said the private Voice of the Nation radio station, starting a news broadcast Tuesday.

"April 30 marks the decline of militias and the expansion of the state," the pro-Syrian As-Safir newspaper headlined its front page.

The independent An-Nahar newspaper said "the countdown for (ending) factional and sectarian struggles has begun."

"Lebanon is on its way of shaking off the evils and misery of war."

"This is the era of hope," wrote Ghassan Tuani, An-Nahar's editor-publisher, and veteran expert on Lebanon and the Middle East.

Roger Dib, the LF representative in the pro-Syrian Cabinet, was quoted as saying in a statement, "For the first time, there is today a genuine chance for peace."

Political sources reported Tuesday that the Christian militia has decided to facilitate the government efforts to re-establish its authority as an agreement stipulating that up to 7,000 Christian gunmen could be absorbed in public military and civil services.

A special government committee has been formed to study the mechanism of enrolling more than 20,000 Muslim and Christian militiamen in government-run institutions.

Christian group takes Revelations very seriously

By Jefferson Robbins
Staff Writer

The Book of Revelations, the last chapter of the Bible, tells of wars between heaven and hell that will devastate the earth, leaving humanity to face the judgment of God.

A group of Carbondale Christians takes the prophecies of Revelations and the countless other predictions in the Bible very seriously.

The Apologia Society of Southern Illinois University sponsored a seminar on biblical prophecies Tuesday night in the Student Center Auditorium.

The society, which began in 1990 as a local Bible study group, has evolved into a group for the defense of Christianity in academics, said society president Mark Glyshaw.

Dale Crall, pastor of Calvary Campus Church in Carbondale offered his interpretation of the Bible's predictions and fielded questions from a student audience.

"I think one interesting thing is that the Bible said Babylon would never be rebuilt," said Crall, who has done independent study of Bible prophecies for about 15 years.

Crall said that Iraqi president Saddam Hussein channeled at least $28 million in government funds toward rebuilding features of the city of Babylon, which once stood in present-day Iraq.

"Now with the (Iraqi) economy in total shambles, it may be at least 10 years before anything can be started again," he said.

Crall acknowledged that religious texts such as the Bible can be interpreted in different ways, but he said his approach is a literal, face-value one.

"Everyone has different views of it (the Bible)," but Crall said he tries to make his interpretations open-mindedly.

He noted the 1948 foundation of the state of Israel as one of the many biblical signs pointing toward Judgment Day.

Tsongas launches presidential bid

BOSTON (UPI) — Former Sen. Paul Tsongas officially announced Tuesday that he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, confronted with the question that will certainly hound him throughout his campaign.

"How are you going to deal with being another liberal Greek from Massachusetts?" he was asked by a skeptical Boston reporter, referring to the disastrous legacy of Michael S. Dukakis' failed 1988 presidential campaign.

"Well," Tsongas deadpanned, "I applied to be Norwegian, but"

The incident partially defines the difference between Tsongas, who left the Senate in 1984 to successfully battle cancer, and Dukakis, a man who was at best uncomfortable with humor, especially the self-deprecating sort.

Tsongas is the first person of either party to officially announce his candidacy.

Tsongas, 50, formally announced his campaign in his hometown of Lowell.

Disney, Henson settle rights over Muppets out of court

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Walt Disney Co. and Henson Associates ended Tuesday a potentially messy dispute over the use of Kermit the Frog and other "Muppets" characters as both sides agreed to an out-of-court settlement.

Disney expressed "deep regret" and apologies for what it described as a "serious misunderstanding" in what had become an acrimonious disagreement between the entertainment giant and the heirs of the late Jim Henson.

"Our copyright and trademark rights have now been acknowledged," said Brian Henson, president of Henson Associates, the company set up by his puppeteer father.

"This licensing agreement protects the integrity of the Muppet characters and assures that Jim Henson's last work will be enjoyed by millions of people," he added.

The license agreement allows Disney, for the next 18 months, to operate two Muppet attractions — "Kermit the Frog Presents: MuppetVision 3-D" at Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla., and the "Here Come The Muppets" stage show at its Disney-MGM Studios theme park.

Disney also has an option to extend the license by another three-and-a-half years.

The stage show debuted last year, while the movie will open by Memorial Day.

Neither side would disclose how much Disney will pay Henson Associates for the use of its characters.

If the option is exercised, Disney's rights to the attractions and the Muppet characters in them will be exclusive in theme parks east of the Mississippi for the first three years of the extension.

Band merges modern rock, psychedelic garage music

By William Ragan
Staff Writer

Burning Giraffes should name its band after a smaller flaming zoo animal, because it stuck its neck out too many times on its latest release.

THE THREE-MEMBER group, originally from Carbondale, is one of many 1990s bands which is attempting to revive garage music.

The garage music of the late 1960s was loud, primitive, and danceable.

The band is composed of Brian on guitars and vocals, John on bass and keyboards, and Dan on drums.

Burning Giraffes relocated to Chicago three years ago. The band recently released a four-song album on E Ticket Records called "Smattering."

THE BAND CALLS its sound "Garage-edelic," and merges modern rock with '60s psychedelic garage rock.

The first song on the album, "Crippled Inside," is fairly common college rock. The music is repetitive, and the vocals are nasal and whiny.

The next song, "Dream Time," is much more interesting. It begins with a guitar solo, and fades into an ethereal, yet danceable song. The vocals are heavily echoed and

Third annual Final Meltdown festival provides free food, entertainment

By William Ragan
Staff Writer

Students can get free food and free entertainment just before finals week.

Dawne Cahry, Center Programming chairwoman for Student Programming Council, said there's no catch. SPC has enough money to entertain the students free.

"The only cost we lose is for the food, and we didn't feel it was worth charging the students," Cahry said.

The Third Annual Final Meltdown is from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in the Free Forum Area. SPC Consorts is bringing in live entertainment for the event, and Marriott Catering is providing free barbecue pork sandwiches, chips, and soda.

Cahry said the Meltdown provides an opportunity for students to unwind from the pressures of finals.

"It's becoming pretty popular," she said. "We plan on doing it every year."

Three bands will play at the Meltdown this year. Burning Giraffes, formerly from Carbondale, will take the stage at 11 a.m. with their brand of psychedelic garage rock.

Local band 3-Man will play at 1 p.m., followed at 3 p.m. by Blind Venetians, an alternative band from Chicago.

pushed back in the mix to create a dreamy effect.

"WILL U" IS GARAGE pop, dominated by a cheesy Farfisa organ. The song sounds similar to the danceable '60s rock that Manchester bands such as Happy Mondays and Charlatans U.K. play.

The album closes with "Prettiest Things," another weak college rock song that is made to sound vaguely psychedelic through the use of backward tape looping.

Burning Giraffes, although self-billed as a garage rock band, falls short of its expectations. If the group would concentrate more on song writing than on the addition of cliché gimmicks, it truly would be "Garage edelic."

Burning Giraffes should go back to the garage.

Survey plumbs deep, secret lives of American wives

NEW YORK (UPI)—A survey answered by 50,000 American wives shows that many fake orgasms, lie to avoid seeing their in-laws, and leave dirty dishes in the sink, it was reported Tuesday.

However, 37 percent revealed they are still old fashioned in identifying the birth of a first child as the happiest moment of their lives, compared with 21 percent who picked their wedding day, and 18 percent the day they discovered they were in love.

Based on the questionnaire responses of readers of Woman's Day, the survey in the May issue of the magazine said 48 percent confessed they faked orgasms with their husbands some of the time, and 37 percent who fantasize about another man while making love.

Sixty percent of the fantasizers say they think about someone they know, not a movie star or a mysterious stranger. Twenty percent admit to having had a crush on someone at work.

But only 21 percent admit to committing adultery and only 31 percent of these women say they had told their husbands about it.

American wives do not feel guilty about working outside the home.

Extended exposure to sun can trigger skin problems

By Chris Labyk
Wellness Center

Prolonged frequent exposure to the sun not only causes sunburn, but other health problems.

Some people may actually develop allergic reactions to the sun, such as bumps, hives or red blotchy areas that may reoccur each time on the same area.

Often these are due to previous sensitizations to sunlight or by sun contact with lotions or perfumes that are on the skin.

Birth control pills, tranquilizers and certain antibiotics, as well as some other drugs, can cause you to be more sun sensitive. Soaps and creams that have antibacterial ingredients contribute to possible allergic reactions.

Some diseases can be triggered by exposure to sunlight, such as herpes simplex. Persons with lupus and chicken pox also should avoid sunlight.

Chronic exposure to the sun leads to premature wrinkling and loss of skin elasticity. These effects may not be evident for years, the sun's effects are cumulative.

Other effects on the skin are an increase in moles, liver spots and grayish scaly areas called actinic keratoses, which some doctors believe are precursors to skin cancer.

Cancer is the most serious condition caused by the sun. More than 90 percent of all skin cancers occur on parts of the body exposed to the sun's radiations. The face, neck and forearms are the most common sites.

Persons most at risk are those with a fair complexion, light or red hair and those who usually burn when tanning. A family history of skin cancer also increases one's risks.

Along with monthly breast self-exams or testicular self-exams, it is important that everyone practice monthly total body skin self-exam. First of all, it's important that you get to know your skin so you will notice changes when they occur.

The best method of skin self-exam is to stand naked in front of a full length mirror and use a hand mirror to examine your entire body front and back, including the soles of your feet and between toes.

If you have long hair, be sure to lift it off your neck and shoulders to examine those areas. A thorough skin exam also should be part of every physical.

Signs to look for when examining yourself are small shiny fleshy nodules, red scaly patches or nodules, sores that don't heal and moles that change shape, color, consistency or bleed.

Melanoma, the most serious form of skin cancer, may show up as a dark brown or black mole-like lesion with irregular edges. These can also itch, be a different color or change color.

They are most common on the upper back of men and on the chest and lower legs of women.

If you find any of these or something else unusual, see your doctor.

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe.
You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

runs, going into extra innings and not scoring until then.

The Panther's pitcher Chris Koehl had control of the game, only allowing two hits in the first seven innings of play.

"I knew we would have our hands full with Koehl," Bretchelsbauer said. "She is an outstanding pitcher and she kept us struggling for seven innings."

"Any way we could win the game we would. The whole game we struggled to get someone across the plate."

Senior Lisa Robinson started the game and pitched almost six full innings before being replaced by Mick, who finished the game and took the win. Mick's record is now 16-2.

In the eighth, Taylor started the action with a single and stole both second and third. Holloway walked and Fimbach belted out a game-winning triple to plate Taylor and Holloway.

"Shannon wanted to win the game and even if she had to steal home to do it, I was ready for it," Bretchelsbauer said.

Taylor said her steal of third was not planned and she was unaware the third baseman had the ball in her glove long before she reached base.

"I didn't see the ball in her glove and when I did, I panicked," Taylor said. "If I had seen it, I never would have attempted the steal."

Bretchelsbauer said Taylor steals beautifully and in practice, the players have been working on sliding away from the base and swinging their hand in to touch it. Taylor attempted and succeeded with that kind of steal on both second and third.

"After seven scoreless innings I knew we would have to take the halgame to them and that is what we did in the eighth," Bretchelsbauer said.

Fimbach said she was ready for a hit after striking out in the sixth.

"I normally hit outside pitches and that was exactly what the pitch was," Fimbach said. "It felt good to help the team win at my last home game. I think it says a lot to come from behind and win. It is a positive aspect for the team that I have never seen before."

Bretchelsbauer said the win was again a team effort and could not have been won without every single player.

"We are a balanced team," Bretchelsbauer said. "Shannon and Mary Jo helped us win the game in the eighth, but Kim kept us alive. Her throw saved us from losing 1-0."

This game ended the Saluki's home games for the season. SIUC will travel to Southeast Missouri to face them in a doubleheader at 3 p.m. today. Friday and Saturday the Salukis will play two conference doubleheaders against Southwest Missouri and Wichita State.

consistently. We're proud she made the All-Conference Team. She didn't play poorly but she knows she could have done better."

Others who competed in the championships for the Salukis were freshman Leslie Brunk (90-88-87—265, tied for 17th), sophomore Kim Haywood (89-89-87—265, tied for 17th), and juniors Deborah Minter (94-87-86—267, 20th) and Gina Giaccone (96-91-86—275, 27th).

Illinois State captured its fourth Gateway title. The Redbirds also had three of the tournament's five low scorers, including tournament medalist Jan Cully.

Cully blistered the course, shooting 80-82-75 to post a tournament-low 237.

Daugherty said the team will recover from the setback to be a contender next season.

"I feel good about next year," Daugherty said. "We're not hanging our heads. We've learned from this tournament and we'll be a good team next year."

Still, the Oilers say they have a lot of respect for the North Stars' playoff accomplishments.

"They've been exceptional, I think they were one of the best teams at the end of the regular season and they've carried on right through the playoffs," Edmonton winger Craig Simpson said.

Edmonton's veteran defenseman Kevin Lowe said he hasn't been surprised by the North Stars postseason run.

"No, I'm certainly not. We saw them play at the end of the year three times and we only managed one tie and lost twice to them. They're a big, fast skating team."

leads the team with nine home runs and 37 RBI.

Other leading hitters for the Dawgs are senior designated hitter Bob Geary at .324 and freshman Dan Esplin with a mark of .319.

Senior Mike Kirkpatrick is returning from an injury and has played well in the last two games. He is hitting .371 in 20 games for the Dawgs.

The pitching has been shaky for the Salukis, but looked better against Missouri Monday. Starters senior Tom Strabavy and freshman Bob Richardson both threw well for SIUC, but the relief failed to hold in the second game.

The Salukis dropped two games to the 12th-ranked Tigers Monday 4-3 and 8-5. SIUC was in both contests in the late innings, but couldn't hold on.

Saluki head coach Sam Riggelman the Salukis can't continue to play the way they did against Missouri.

"We had a two-run lead," he said. "We were in a commanding position and then we give up five runs in the seventh. That's unacceptable with the experience our pitchers have."

Hansel leaves trail on way to Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Hansel, a top 2-year-old last year, spent the first three months of 1991 playing his own personal game of "To Tell The Truth" and driving his trainer just a little crazy.

In the mornings in Florida, Hansel trained like the same colt who determinedly dug himself out of trouble to win the 1990 Arlington Washington Futurity and establish himself as a potential 1991 Kentucky Derby contender.

In the afternoons, he raced more like a handsome pretender, finishing a badly beaten fifth in the Fountain of Youth Stakes and a so-so third behind Fly So Free and Strike the Gold in the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Who was the real Hansel?

Frank Brothers, Hansel's trainer,

Bob-tailed Sea Cadet latest oddball to enter Run for Roses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Trainer Ron McAnally gave Sea Cadet a reassuring pat on the hindquarters and gently backed up the bay colt from the corner of his stall to its open door.

"You get the bird's-eye view," McAnally said of Sea Cadet's tail, actually a six-inch growth that borders on indecent.

Sea Cadet joins the one-eyed Cassalena and the silver-tailed Silver Ending as the latest cosmetically impaired Derby entrant from the Hall of Fame trainer.

Cassalena, owned by the 20/20 Stable, finished 13th in the 1562 Derby, and Silver Ending was a fifth-place finisher last year.

McAnally is pleased with Sea Cadet, but he's not banking on gaining his first Derby winner in five tries Saturday.

"You've got to come in here with a fresh horse, and that's why we're here with Sea Cadet," McAnally said. "After the San Felipe, he's gotten better and better."

In the March 17 San Felipe at Santa Anita Park in Arcadia, Calif., Sea Cadet started awkwardly, but led the whole way to win by three lengths.

thought it was the a.m. edition, but he wasn't sure until the colt signed in with a track record-setting victory in Turfway Park's Jim Beam Stakes on March 30.

A 9-length triumph in Keeneland's Lexington Stakes April 21 convinced the panel of turf writers and handicappers who help establish the early Derby betting line that Brothers was right. Hansel left Keeneland as one of the early favorites for Saturday's 117th Derby, and in the six days he's been at Churchill Downs he's done nothing to change anyone's mind. The five-eighths mile work he clocked in 1:00 4-5 under jockey Jerry Bailey Tuesday was just good enough to confirm the plans of oddsmaker Mike Battaglia to post Hansel second choice to Fly So Free on the Derby morning line.

"I told Jerry to go a minute, a little either way," Brothers said. "He didn't need to go in :58. He's going to run back in 13 days, he didn't need anything else."

The time of the work was not particularly impressive but the colt is the picture of good health and physical and mental conditioning.

"He's kept his flesh and color through his races. He eats good. He's sharp," Brothers said.

"He's a major contender, what they call a 'now' horse."

Retired players suing NHL for $21 million

TORONTO (UPI) — A group of retired NHL players Tuesday announced details of their lawsuit seeking over $21 million in surplus pension funds.

The suit, filed Friday in the province of Ontario and served Monday, names as respondents the Montreal-based NHL Pension Society, the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company, NHL president John Ziegler and all 21 NHL teams.

The group, which includes former NHL stars Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull, Andy Bathgate, Allan Stanley, Eddie Shack and Leo Reisse, alleges the league in 1986 used the surplus in part, to make the pension contributions for current players.

"We've never been able to get answers (about pension funds) and now we're going to get the answers through court," group spokesman Carl Brewer, a former Toronto Maple Leaf and Detroit Red Wing, told reporters.

Former Toronto Maple Leaf Billy Harris said that in 1986, the NHL owners allocated a portion of the pension surplus to retired players and another portion to a "new" plan that featured a lump sum payment of $250,000 at age 55 to any current NHL players appearing in 400 games.

"In essence Brett Hull and Mark Howe will receive one quarter of a million dollars at age 55, because of money contributed by their respective fathers Robert and Gordon," Harris said.

Graf beats 15-year-old in second-round play

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Steffi Graf needed only 55 minutes to defeat fellow German Marketa Kochta, 6-1, 6-3, Tuesday in the second round of the $350,000 Citizen Cup tennis tournament.

Kochta, 15 years old and ranked 149th in the world, lost the first set in merely 22 minutes.

Graf, the world's No. 2 player who had entered the tournament with a wildcard, lost her concentration in the second set and produced a series of unforced errors. After winning the first two games, Graf allowed Kochta to draw even at 3-3.

But Graf recovered to win the next three games, wrapping up the contest on her first match point.

In the third round Graf faces Julie Halard of France, who ousted Canadian Rene Simpson-Alter, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2, in the only other second round match played Tuesday.

"Up to my 2-0 lead in the second set I played well, then I became a little unconcentrated, but the last games were fine again," Graf said.

A small crowd of about 2,000 people watched the match, and Kochta said she enjoyed the experience despite the loss.

"I didn't want to go down 0-6, 0-6. The match was fun," Kochta said.

Another German, Silke Frankl, defeated Luciana Corsato of Brazil, 6-2, 6-4, in the first round. Frankl, 20, made it into the tournament when Magdalena Maleeva of Bulgaria withdrew.

Frankl earned $2,125 for the first round win, but faces likely elimination in the second round against Magdalena's sister, Katarina Maleeva, the No. 5 seed.

Seeded players knocked out of Bavarian tennis tourney

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Seeded players Thomas Muster of Austria, Michael Stich of Germany and Soviet Alexander Volkov Tuesday were eliminated in three sets in the first round of the $250,000 Bavarian Open before heavy rain made further action impossible.

Fifth-seeded Muster lost to Christian Bergstrom, 1-6, 6-2, 4-6 before American Todd Witsken ousted Volkov, the eighth seed, 1-6, 7-5, 6-1. Stich, the No. 6 seed, had lost to Magnus Gustafsson, 7-5, 4-6, 3-6.

"I changed my game completely after the first set. In the second and third I tried to hit as many balls as possible on his forehand," Gustafsson said.

Stich, who had won the first set 7-5 in 45 minutes, then blew a 40-0 lead in the ninth game of the second set.

The Swedish No. 32 in the ATP-rankings made five unanswered points to break through Stich's serve and deadlock the sets at 1-1 in the following game.

Stich seemed to recover quickly in the final set. The German, who Tuesday climbed to a personal best No. 15 in the world rankings, took a quick 3-1 lead.

Gustafsson, with his new tactics, soon came back against his increasingly frustrated opponent. He won five unanswered games to take the match in 2 hours, 13 minutes.
