Kappa Delta Alpha Will Become Theta Xi, National Fraternity, Nov. 17

Three years ago this fall Kappa Delta Alpha fraternity began plans to become a local chapter of the national Theta Xi fraternity.

Work and negotiations were continued until the outbreak of the Korean War and the threat of a larger conflict arose as a major obstacle. The draft status of college men remained a question mark. All plans were dropped, and the KDA's concentrated on an effort to keep from disbanding.

LAST JUNE, when the situation seemed reasonably secure again, president Al Trtanj, a senior from Madison, again renewed negotiations with Theta Xi. A formal petition was prepared and submitted. Finally, with all the preliminary work completed, Kappa Delta Alpha was accepted by a vote taken at the Theta Xi National Convention last August.

With all final arrangements completed, the fraternity will be initiated as the Beta Delta chapter of Theta Xi in a ceremony at the Iota Chapter, Washington University, Nov. 17.

THETA XI was founded at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy New York, April 29, 1864. From a charter membership of eight men, the fraternity has expanded to now include 52 chapters across the nation's campuses. Among the 52 schools at which Theta Xi has chapters are Yale, Columbia, Cornell, University of California, University of Michigan, University of Illinois, U.C.L.A., and Northwestern.

Among the ranks of the Theta Xi alumni are such men as B. G. DeSylva, president of Paramount motion pictures, Sir Stephen J.

Total 14
SIU Attended By Foreign Students

Enrolled here at Southern are 14 foreign students from many far-away parts of the world. Einemann Abrahams, a junior majoring in agriculture, comes from as far away as the Gold Coast of Africa.

Representing several of the European countries are John Bremer, London, England, a graduate student majoring in educational administration; Francois Hugonneau-Beaufort, Lille, France, an unclassified student majoring in English; Gunther Muller, Frankfurt, Germany, a graduate student majoring in English; and Raymond Liepens, Latvia, a sophomore majoring in chemistry.

THE MIDDLE-EAST is also well represented here at SIU. Coming from that section of the world are Saad Jaber, Iraq, a senior majoring in government; Mohini Mundkur, Bombay, India, an unclassified student with an undecided major; Dilip K. Biswas, Calcutta, India, a graduate student majoring in education; and Hava Bonne, Jerusalem, Israel, a clinical psychology major in the graduate school.

Not only does Southern have several students from countries over-seas, but the Pan-American countries also have a delegation attending classes here. They are Jaime Davila, Quito, Ecuador, a graduate student majoring in Education; Luis Antonio Serracin, Baquete-chiriqui Panama, a sophomore majoring in English; Louis James Valverde, Quito, Ecuador, a senior majoring in agriculture; Roberto Hernandez, Pueblo, Mexico, a graduate student majoring in chemistry; and Norberto Jose Palleroni, Buenos Aires, Argentine, an unclassified graduate majoring in microbiology.

The Foreign Students club took a special part in Homecoming activities this year by presenting Queen Pat Taylor with a gift, a Better Homes and Gardens cookbook, after her coronation.

Freda Gower.

An Unfortunate Oversight

(Editor's note: The following is a statement by the president of the Foreign Students club concerning the failure of those in charge of Homecoming to announce the presentation of a gift from the foreign students to the Homecoming Queen after her coronation. The gift was presented at the dance Saturday night without any acknowledgement at all from the master of ceremonies. We feel that such treatment served as a distinct rebuff to the overture of friendship made to the Queen so generously by the club.)

"It is not because the Foreign Students club was not identified with the gift when it was presented by the co-captain of the football team, but it sounds even unceremonious to dissociate the gift from the spirit behind it, whatever were the circumstances.

"Voluntary participation in campus activities is a candid demonstration of school spirit. It is therefore very inconsiderate to throw a wet blanket on the endeavors of students."

Einemann Abrahams

Editor's Mailbag
Dance Chairman Thanks Committee, Workers

Dear Editor:

Out of sincere gratitude to all the help on the Homecoming Dance decorations, I would like to have this letter to the students published.

When people work so hard on something, they often wonder, "Is it worth it?" But then when they see how others are enjoying themselves, the verdict is that it WAS worth it.

I don't think that very many students and faculty members realize how much work actually went into Homecoming. They see the big things but they don't realize the little details that have to be ironed out. I'll use my own committee for an example.

WHO WOULD REALIZE that it took six fellows eleven hours to open up the four parachutes we used as a ceiling for decorations for the dance. Those fellows played the part of human flies for 3 days, climbing on a rickety ladder or shinning up whatever was available, up to the riggers to tie all the shrouds on those chutes.

Who would realize that it took four people operating paper cutters all afternoon to cut the crepe paper we used. The Physical plant spent two days setting the bandstand up after they had already worked several days in their own shops preparing the material. Mr. Marberry and his men worked all Saturday morning supplying and arranging flowers, palms, and evergreens for our desired effect.

ABOUT EIGHT people on our committee worked approximately three nights each week for three weeks making three-dimensional and flat stars. Our committee worked all day Friday till 5 a.m. Saturday decorating and then came back at 9 a.m. Saturday and worked all day. They missed the play, the game, and most of all, sleep. The committee worked well together and I'm certainly proud of them.

There is no way to begin to thank Miss Farnham for her cooperation, her ideas, and her patience. Certainly the physical plant gave us wonderful cooperation in

Newman Club Invites Bishop To Offer Mass

In accordance with Religious Emphasis week, The Newman Club has invited Bishop Albert R. Buroweste of the Belleville diocese to offer 8 o'clock mass, Sunday Nov. 4, at the St. Francis Xavier Church. Members of the club will receive communion in a body.

On Nov. 7, Father J. R. McCormick will speak on "The Key to Happy Living." Students of all denominations are invited to this meeting to be held in the Little Theatre at 7 p.m. constructing such a beautiful bandstand, and they deserve recognition for their help. Mr. Marberry's arrangement of flowers and his cooperation should certainly be lauded. To all who helped, I want to extend my personal thanks and the thanks of the committee.

Certainly our labor was not in vain. We enjoyed it, and we hope you appreciated our efforts.

There is only one more thing I would like to add. Many faculty members are not very considerate at this particular time of the year. They gripe all year about lack of student participation in school affairs. Then when the students do get enthusiastic about something, what do they do but throw tests all day Thursday and Friday when students are too tired to think,

AFROTC Students For Deferment Exams

To: All Air Force ROTC students participating in the 1951 Homecoming celebration.

In appreciation for the outstanding performance at the Homecoming parade and flag-raising ceremony, I wish to thank each Air Force ROTC student who participated.

Your splendid showing has caused many favorable comments by faculty members and townspeople. The enthusiasm you displayed is very gratifying to me and the members of my staff. With your future wholehearted cooperation and support we will have one of the finest Air Force ROTC units in the country.

Thanks again for your help.

Sincerely,

Oliver K. Halderon
 Lt. Colonel, USAF
 P. A. S. & T.

As a reminder to all draft eligible students, Robert Etheridge, campus military service information counselor, has announced that applications for the first of a new series of Selective Service draft deferment tests must be filed by midnight Monday, Nov. 5. Application blanks may be obtained at any local draft board office. The nearest such office is in Murphysboro.

The first of the new series of deferment tests will be given Thursday, Dec. 13, at more than 1,000 different centers throughout the United States. Southern will be one of those testing centers and will administer the test in the men's gym at 8 p.m. on that date.

ACCORDING TO Etheridge, the general classification tests given by the Air Force ROTC unit will not meet deferment requirements if the person taking the test is not accepted for advanced AF ROTC duty. Thus, students taking the AF ROTC test should also take the Selective Service test.

Second in the new series of tests will be given April 24, 1952. Deadline for applications for this test has been set for March 10.

A red billfold containing $90.00 was lost at 405 West Grand Friday, October 26, about 9:15 a.m. About 9:25 a.m. several men working nearby saw someone pick up the billfold and hurry away. The billfold was later found in the blue parking lot containing only $1.31. Will you please place $75.00 of the money in an envelope and mail it to "Gerry Jones, Anthony Hall, Carbondale." If you will send me that much of the money, I can meet my obligations without too much difficulty. Otherwise, this will be a very serious blow to my future plans.

Need Stressed For Nurses in Illinois

Southern Illinois University this fall initiated a nursing education program for the first time in an effort toward reducing the estimated shortage of 7,500 professional nurses in the state.

The need for more nurses to serve the armed forces and the growing hospital facilities of Illinois is stressed in Governor Stevenson's announcement proclaiming Oct. 28 to Nov. 3, this week, as Illinois Nursing Week.

Students enrolled in the SIU program are spending 36 weeks on the campus in pre-clinical training which includes instruction in the physical, biological, and social sciences as well as the nursing arts.

THE NEXT 48 WEEKS will be spent in clinical training at Memorial hospital, Springfield. Here they will receive instruction and experience in medical, surgical, operating room, diet kitchen, and obstetrical nursing.

by Don Duffy

Although this year's Homecoming game gave Southern rooters little cause for joy, it did have its amusing incidents. Things that usually only happen to the Brooklyn Dodgers seemed common.

Things started off on the zany side right from the start. Southern received the kick-off. Bob Ems took the ball, then lateraled to Bob Kendrick. Kendrick started off down the western side-line, and in the process of being tackled almost knocked out the Eastern coach, who was steam-rolled by three or four players on the tackle.

Things ran smoothly (though not for the Salukis) until early in the second quarter. At that time referee Paul McKinnis of Eldorado called time out and cleared the Eastern bench. Banned from the game? No, he just wanted someone to help look for his wrist watch. They didn't lose the ball—yet—that came later. McKinnis found the missing watch, miraculously still intact and untouched by human feet!

CROSS-COUNTRY WENT TO THE DOGS

When the runners started on the first leg of their three mile run in the cross-country meet between halves, they found an unlisted dark horse leading the pack. Or maybe it would be more correct to say an unlisted white dog. The galloping canine kept one tail length ahead of Phil Coleman for nearly a quarter-mile. He then decided that it may be better to run between the runners instead of in front of them—probably saving himself for a strong finish. So he dropped behind, almost upsetting Phil and several of the other runners in the process. He was disqualified, however, because he cut a corner on the far turn of the track. Comment heard during the meet, "What do those guys do when they leave the stadium, sit down and shoot craps to see who wins?" Well, it would save a lot of exercise!

A HOME RUN WITH THE PIGSKIN

The straw that broke the Saluki's back came when the teams were lining up after changing directions at the start of the fourth quarter. With both teams in position, a boy stepped out from the side-line, spoke a few words to the referee, picked up the football, and ran!

Ran over 40 yards down the field, crossed Southern's goal-line, something Eastern had little trouble doing all afternoon, and scooted out the gate to be immortalized in the St. Louis Globe Democrat, the Post-Dispatch, and in an Associated Press news story which appeared in several local papers. This could become a tradition! Some schools have a tradition of tearing down the goal posts when the home team wins. We wouldn't go so far to say that Southern is pessimistic about the whole thing, but we often wondered why our goal posts were made of steel imbedded in concrete blocks.

All in all, these incidents added up to a rare day. All that was lacking was a Southern victory. BUT THEN IT WOULD HAVE BEEN A RARE DAY INDEED!

Bob Ems is hit hard by two Eastern tacklers as he receives a forward pass. Southern players in the picture are Joe Huske (no. 15), Stout (no. 30), Bob Kendrick (no. 14), and Bill Wangelin (no. 20.)

Lingle Named to NAIB National Track Committee

Leland P. (Doc) Lingle, Southern Illinois University track coach, has been named to the track advisory committee of the NAIB which next year will sponsor for the first time a national track meet.

Lingle also has been appointed chairman of Area 5 which includes Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Illinois. The appointment was made by William Harrington, athletic director of Culver-Stockton and president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball.

The NAIB, made up of colleges outside the major conferences, will hold its national track meet June 6-7 at a place to be announced later, Lingle reported. The Illinois district representative will be decided at a meet at Western Illinois State, Macomb, the latter part of May.

Water Boy! Football Manager Jack of all Trades

The successful football manager at Southern should be water boy, intern, maintenance man, and dog handler. His activities make a knowledge of all of these skills a useful necessity.

BILL MILLER, sophomore from Bunker Hill, is Southern's present football manager. He estimates that his duties keep him occupied, on an average day, for about three hours. During the daily scrimmages he is responsible for the footballs, tees, and practice vests. He is also the fellow to see in the event of any minor cuts, bruises, or sprains.

BILL MUST BE in attendance at all games, both home and away. During the game he is in charge of stretchers, first aid kits, jerseys, parkas, towels, water, and, at times, KING TUT?

All of this keeps Bill pretty busy. The games and scrimmages have prohibited any trips home. But apparently he likes it for he continues to lug his mountains of equipment.

Hunting Season Open On Waterfowl 45 Days, 450,000 Ducks Counted

"A hunting we will go" was the call of the day last Friday in Illinois, when the 1951 waterfowl season officially opened.

According to conservation experts, this season may turn out to be the best in the past decade. The season opened at noon last Friday, and will run for 44 more days from sunrise to sunset.

State conservation reports of targets of over a half-million ducks and "enormous concentrations" of geese indicate that the prey will outnumber the stalkers, but only by a slim margin.

CONSERVATION DIRECTOR LEONARD SCHWARTZ said a survey revealed at least 450,000 ducks in the Illinois and Mississippi river valleys. He added that large flights of ducks and geese were "jarred loose" by a snowstorm which swept across Canada last week, and are now winging their way southward.

Mallards, the main target of Illinois hunters, are slow in arriving. But Schwartz said a snowstorm in Iowa started a heavy migration in-

Martin Plans 'I Club' Of Past SIU Athletes

Plans are underway for formation of a letterman's club, Athletic Director Glen "Abe" Martin reported today.

The purpose, Martin explained, is to organize all former Southern Illinois University athletes, so that members can keep in touch with one another and the university athletic department can keep up to date records on the activities of former athletes.

"So far," Martin pointed out, "it's still in the planning stage. We hope in the future to hold some sort of organizational meeting."

Martin also reported the athletic department is planning to send out special Christmas cards—bearing a winter scene of the gymnasium—to former lettermen.

A newly enacted state law which prohibits blinds more than 50 yards off the shore-line is expected to hold the ducks in Illinois longer than their usual stay.

The limit this year is four ducks daily, with 10 in possession; and five geese daily, with five in possession.
