New Members of the S. I. N. U. Faculty

The year 1923-24 begins under more favorable auspices than ever before in its history. Better equipment and an increase in the faculty serve to remove a serious handicap under which the college has labored for three or four years past. The faculty, with eleven new members added making a total of fifty-four, is now adequate to take care of the large enrollment and makes possible the offering of many new courses.

The following is a brief statement of college training and teaching experience of each of the new members of the faculty:

J. H. Jaquish, Mr. Bainum's successor as head of the Music department, is a graduate of Wisconsin University with the degree B. S. in music. For the past seven years he has been director of music in the Madison, Wisconsin High School.

E. G. Logan, assistant in agriculture, has the B. S. degree from Illinois University. He was for years a specialist in Dr. Hopkin's soil survey of Illinois. He also spent one year in a similar survey of Alabama. He comes to S. I. N. U. from the position of Farm Advisor of Crawford County.

Marjorie Shanks takes Miss Rue's place as assistant in geography. She is a graduate of Valley City Teachers College, A. B. University of North Dakota and A. M. Clark University. She has had experience as grade teacher and high school teacher.

R. A. Scott assistant in chemistry, has B. S. and M. S. degrees from University of Illinois. He is a native of Southern Illinois, his home being Mound City.

Fuller Combs, assistant in Latin, has an A. B. from Wabash College and A. M. from Indiana University. For the past seven years he has been the head of the Latin department of Portland, Oregon high school. He is a native of Gallatin County, Illinois.

Mary Henderson assistant in mathematics is a graduate of Butler College with the A. B. degree. She has spent one year in Washington University, St. Louis.

Sarah Hardin, special critic teacher in nature study and geography, is a graduate of the Western Illinois State Teachers' College and has a Ph. B. degree from Chicago University. She was a teacher in the high school at

GRIDIRON PROSPECTS ARE VERY PROMISING

The flood of experienced material that engulfed the gymnasium in a wild rush for uniforms in response to Coach MacAndrews call for gridiron candidates the opening day of school has sent the Normal 1923 football stock kiteing skyward. Thirty-seven huskies for the most part old and experienced at the game, have been going through the stiff paces Mac set for them for the initial week of training. The knights of the Maroon standard will make their first crusade towards a banner year when they open the season against Sesser on the local field October 19.

Football prospects loom brighter on the horizon of the Normal season this fall than they have in several years. Coach MacAndrews has a wealth of material from which to pick his team and the encouraging fact about the candidates of '23 is that most of them have all played regularly before entering the Normal and are well versed in the fine points of the game.

With such a promising squad in action competition will of course be unusually keen and extraordinary ability will have to be manifested by any one holding a regular position. The abundance of backfield material will probably allow Mac to maintain two separate sets of backs enabling him to conform to his fierce driving offensive tactics by alternating the backfield at intervals.

As a nucleus around which to build his fighting machine Mac has seven of last years regulars back in practice. Captain Fishel, all-star guard will lead the team from his old position on the line. Excaptain Hamilton will be available again for the backfield. Denny Lee, quarterback during the latter part of last season shows promise of landing a job with the backfield force. Both ends of the old squad are back and Hodges and McIlrath will put game fights to retain their old places. Willoughby will be ready to play in his old position at guard. Dunn, center of last year, will probably play the pivot position again.

Of last year's utility men there is Brimm and Patterson who show promise of being available for the first string.

Among the real finds of the early season is the trio of Murphysboro players who are listed among the new men reporting this fall. Anderson considered one of the best high school quarterbacks in the down state section boasts two years experience with the Murphysboro High school team and was the quarter that piloted the Crimson team through the season to the championship last fall. Anderson is an all around man and will be valuable for any backfield position. Johnson another Murphy grad has had three year's experience while in high school and is a valuable man either on end or in the back field. While light, Johnson's speed and aggressiveness favor him to secure a regular berth with the first string. Jenkins, former star full back with the Murphysboro team is a powerful man at full back. He is fast, hits hard and like Anderson is good at punting. It is entirely probable that with the necessary out put of spirit in training the Murphysboro players will all land with the first string players.

Bowker, former quarterback with the fast West Frankfort high school eleven, will make a strong bid for a similar position with the Maroons.

Lamer, formerly with Western Military Academy, is a powerful line man and is favored through his size and experience for a regular berth.

J. Blair and K. Blair former Normal stars, are back in school again and will try for the team. McLaughlin, former end with Anna High, is a good man either on end or in the back field. Carrington, beefy guard with the Community High last year is a likely looking candidate for a line position. Gilbride of Assumption was showing well in practice but was forced to leave school temporarily at least by the sudden illness of his mother. Harper, of Metropolis, Rodgers of Corinth, Cox of West Frankfort, and Shannon, of Edwardsville, are all experienced men and will give Mac choice material from which to build his team.

The Maroons will open their season against Sesser here October 19. October 25 they are booked to play Cape Normal at Cape. This game promises to be a feature billing as the 25th is the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Missouri Normal school and the day also has been set aside as home coming for the Cape pedagogs. The South Eastern Missouri teachers are convening in Cape on the same day, so a record crowd may be looked

WE'RE OFF

We're Off in a Cloud of Dust—
And Just Watch Our Smoke!

That's not a mixed metaphor either, for doesn't burning the oil—midnight of course—make smoke? Today marks the second day of the second week of the year and the first publication of the year's Egyptian. Great times ahead for us all and lots of happy memories behind us—and a wonderful present to be living in.

The first Chapel was an interesting place. After the bell was tapped and everything got settled we took an inventory of the bob hair. A lot of new bobs—on the platform and off. Then we looked about us, at our next door neighbors, and at the remote stalls. The whole personnel seems above the usual—a more sophisticated lot maybe, at least they have a different air, less timid, more worldly—more style. We saw some of the same faces, but their names are changed! Cupid stepped lively this summer with a good many students—but they are still loyal to S. I. N. U.

And then there are changes on the platform. We greeted with joy one of the faculty who has been absent a year working on her doctor's degree. We missed her much last year and anxiously awaited her return. Fifty-three members in the faculty! One hundred and six eagle eyes on us! And there are eleven new members all hailing from different parts of the United States. We like their looks—and that's not all, what's still better we like them. They will have several degrees tacked on to their names, but they're not "mossbacks." On the other hand they are delightfully human and real live wires.

Pretty young thing to the football hero.

She: "Are you very strong?"

He: (modestly) "Well, what can I do for you, little girl?"

She: "Oh, I was just wondering if you could break this twenty-dollar bill."

forward to. The Maroons will entertain Shuttleff, here, November 2. Cape plays a return game here on the Maroon home coming day, Nov. 10. The Normal eleven will travel to Charleston November 17 and will wind up their season against McKendree here November 24.

THE RADIATOR

We shall endeavor in the Radiator Column to radiate the wit and wisdom of our faculty members and the students in general. It is hoped that the Egyptian readers will experience real enjoyment in all that finds a place here. Drop all contributions in "Egyptian" Box.

THE PET CITY OF AMERICA

Where did you spend your vacation this summer? Have you anything for next year? If not, think over the following article and maybe it will help you.

Reports that Mrs. Warren G. Harding has leased an apartment in Washington and will make her home there though paying occasional visits to Marion, Ohio, as she is doing at present, and perhaps spending winters in Florida, cannot have surprised many Americans. Mrs. Harding has many devoted friends in the City where she lately lived as the gracious hostess of the White House. She may well choose to spend most of her time among the scenes where her lamented husband rendered his country such distinguished service.

But a fact perhaps more explanatory is that Washington is a most agreeable to live. People who have tried it are likely to stay there, if they can. The country has long been familiar with the tendency of senators, representatives and other office holders to take up their residence in Washington after retiring from office. Many persons of wealth like to live in Washington, though they never had any connection with the federal government and though they might live any place else. Washington is as beautiful as one would expect a city to be when built, maintained, and developed through a century without regard to expense, since a whole nation pays the bills. Parks, monuments, statuary, historic spots, stately buildings, libraries, galleries, pleasant places, varied beauties, and interesting events all help to make life delightful. Absence of industrial events may improve conditions. Weather is ordinarily agreeable, except in midsummer. Little journeys may be made by land or water. Nature has helped government to make a city unique.

Not all who might like to live there are at liberty to do so—and that may be well. We wish every American might at least visit Washington before he dies. If the country could afford it, we would go so far as to advocate such a trip for every citizen at public expense. We do not believe that any man or woman could see the sights of Washington and visit Arlington and stand before the tomb at Mt. Vernon and not be a better American.

AN UNUSUAL SIG.

The Sigs this year have a member who is peculiar to the others in many respects, in fact, the differences are greater than the similarities. While he is both the least and youngest of all the members, he is considered as a valuable asset by the entire group. At lunch he is regular, steady and adequate. He is an excellent athlete and holds honors in sprinting, boxing and wrestling. Quite frequently he positions himself contiguous to the influx of Normal students and waits for some rival of canine fame. In short he is a Siamese bulldog, the fraternity mascot—, and his name is Sig.

Friday Night—and the ZETETS

There were quite a few comments made concerning the Zetetic poster which came out Friday, "Come and get punched," "Bluebeard's den", etc. After going to the society hall, one found not a boxing match or a bloody dungeon, but a party in full swing. Busy Zetets had decorated the hall very tastefully.

Booths were arranged around the wall of the hall with such titles as "The Follies," "Holdup," "Punch," "Come and be Favored," "Fortune Telling. The "Follies", booth was for some reason or other, exceedingly popular, it being a collection of modern follies such as a cigarette, rouge, etc.

A short program consisting of music by the Zetetic Four Quartette, a reading by Mrs. Collard, and the "pig tail quartette" was given.

As a souvenir of the evening balloons were distributed at the favor booth. A large number of new students were present—we welcome them and hope they will come again.

ART APPRECIATION CLUB

The Art Appreciation Club will hold its first meeting of the fall term Thursday evening, October 4.

The following members are officers:

Medrith Smith, President.

Irene Almon, Vice-President.

Dorothy Mertz, Secretary.

Aileen Neftzger, Treasurer.

Their motto is taken from the poem by Morris Gray, Director of Boston Museum: "Not by its conquests doth a nation live, but by its Arts—the art that gives its soul embodiment." This motto is significant of the fact that the history of Art is not so much the history of the Arts of design, as it is a history of civilization.

This club is beginning its third year, and is growing in strength and enthusiasm. In addition to interesting programs planned for the fall term, the members are looking forward to wearing an A. A. C. club pin, and to their annual Christmas party.

"Get up, Clara, get up at once! a man has just broken into the home!"

"I'm up, dear, I'm up! But what have you done with the rouge box, I'd like to know."

Little girl to bride at wedding reception:

"You don't look nearly so tired as I should have thought."

Bride: "Don't I, dear? But why did you think I should look tired?"

Little Girl: "Well, I heard Mother say you'd been running —after Mr. Smith for months and months."

ORIGIN OF THE HAWAIIANS

Belief Has Been Held That They Are Descended From the Lost Tribes of Israel.

The origin of the Hawaiian people is still somewhat obscure. Oldest inhabitants of the islands told the earliest missionaries that the largest island was produced from a large egg deposited by an immense bird upon the water, which, bursting, formed the present island. From the first land the other islands of the Hawaiian group developed automatically.

The conservative Hawaiians of early days stoutly held the opinion that the first human inhabitants of the islands descended from the gods, or were created by a miracle upon the islands. Some of the earliest American missionaries found conclusive evidence, to their minds, that the Hawaiians sprang from the lost ten tribes of Israel. The Rev. S. Dibble, in his "History of the American Mission," 1843, gives much space to tracing the parallels between customs and traditions of the Hawaiians and the ceremonies and scripture of the Jews.

EDITORIAL

THIS YEAR'S EGYPTIAN

Immediately after the death of President Harding, the inquiring reporter of the Chicago Tribune asked a question similar to this one: "What do you consider the greatest single event of Harding's administration?" Of the five different answers given, the one with which I was the most impressed was, "The selection of his cabinet and other co-workers." Harding was not a super-man and he knew it. From the very day that I learned that I had been made editor of this paper until now, I have tried to figure just how it could be made as successful as in previous years or even more so if possible, and when I read the above question and answer, I immediately saw one of the things I must do. With this idea of picking a strong staff in mind, I began to make observations and to hold consultations with various members of this school who were able to tell me just where certain characters were best suited. That has been taken care of and it is with pleasure that I present to you the staff for THE EGYPTIAN as listed on this page. It is my belief that every member will do his best to make the paper a success and that will be a very great factor in making our paper what we want it to be, but it requires more than that. To all of you who are not directly associated with the paper, I want you to continuously keep in mind that this — YOUR SCHOOL, that it is your business to boost your school, and the best way to boost your school is through the school paper. We want you to help us make this a representative school paper, one that will give your organization of your society or your class as much space as I give mine. That is exactly what we want to do and we can do a much better job of it, if you will help. Did you say "How can I help?" By your subscription and giving us the news. Let's work together and we can make it go.

"HE DID IT."

Somebody said that it couldn't be done,
But he, with a chuckle, replied,
That "maybe it couldn't but he would be one
Who wouldn't say so till he tried."
So he buckled right in with the trace of a grin
On his face. If he worried he hid it.
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done, and he did it.

Somebody scoffed, "Oh, you'll never do that,
At least no one ever has done it,"
But he took off his coat and he took off his hat,
And the first thing he knew he'd begun it.
With a lift of his chin and a bit of a grin
If any doubt rose he forbid it;
He started to sing as he tackled the thing,
That couldn't be done and he did it.

There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done;
There are thousands to prophesy failure.
There are thousands to point out to you one by one
The dangers that wait to assail you.
But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,
Then take off your coat and go to it.
Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing
That "cannot be done," and you'll do it.

STICKERS FOR YOUR LETTERS

HOW TO USE THE LIBRARY

Library Hours

School days—8:00 a. m. 4:30 p. m.

Saturdays—9:00 a. m. 12 a. m.

1. Never hold a conversation in the library. Absolute silence must be the rule or no studying can be accomplished.

2. Reserve books may be taken out at 3:30 p. m., but must be returned by 9:00 the next day.

3. All other books may be kept two weeks and then be renewed for another two weeks if necessary.

4.—A fine of 5 cents an hour for reserve books and 1 cent a day for all others is charged for keeping books over time.

5. All books must be charged at the desk before taking them out of the Library.

6. Books taken from the stacks to be read in the reading room are also to be charged at the desk.

7. When books are returned to the library they should be placed on desk to be discharged.

8. When reserve books are read in the library please return them to the reserve shelves or put them on the truck. Never put books back on the shelves in the stacks for the chances are ten to one you will not put them in the right place, and thus cause endless trouble.

9. The magazines are to be read only in the library. Do not cut or deface them in anyway.

10. Do not leave the library in the middle of a study period, without permission. This is to avoid unnecessary noise and confusion.

11. No one is allowed on second floor of stacks except with special permission.

12. Do not use the telephone without permission and then only when absolutely necessary.

13. These few rules are absolutely necessary. In addition to these rules we ask when you are reading Magazines and Newspapers please return them to their proper places. Nearly all the cubby holes are labeled so this should not be a burden on any one. This is for the students convenience for no one who wants to read the American Magazine enjoys looking all over the library for it. If the last student using it had put it back in its compartment there would be no trouble. The newspapers are very often torn past reading when left lying on the table.

The Catalog

An index to all books in the library. Cards are arranged alphabetically by the first word at the top of the card. Use as you would use a dictionary or an encyclopedia. There are cards under author, subject, and title if distinctive.

To learn whether the library has a book by Ida M. Tarbell, look for "Tarbell" in drawer containing that section of the alphabet, as shown by label.

To learn whether the library has a book called "The Business of Being Woman," look for the word "Business" in drawer containing that section of the B's.

To learn what the Library has on "Woman," look for "woman" in proper drawer.

Every book is represented in the catalog by two or more cards.

How to Find a Book

The catalogue tells not only that the library has a book, but where it may be found it is in.

When you find the card for the book you wish, note the number or letter in upper left corner. This indicates the book's place on the shelves

Books are classified and arranged on the shelves by numbers, 000, 100, 200, 300, etc.

With the number of a particular book in mind, go to the shelves anywhere and follow the numbers on or back until you locate your book. Do not overlook the decimal point; 622 comes after 621.9.

Several books may have the same number if they are on the same subject. In that case they are arranged alphabetically by author under the number.

Exceptions. Fiction has no classification number. It is arranged alphabetically by author on special shelves. Biography follows history. Collective biography classifies 920; individual biography classifies in B and is arranged alphabetically by biography.

Classification

Numbers are subdivided indefinitely by use of the decimal point. For example, a book on electric cooking, heating and cleaning is given the number 621.346.

When looking up a subject of minor importance, or any subject thoroughly, note classification number assigned to the book you want, and then go to the shelves and examine all the books which stand near it on the shelves. It is only in this way that you can find, for example, that a general history of American Literature has a chapter of criticism on Longfellow which is as good as a small book on the same subject.

Reference Room

The Reference Collection contains encyclopedias, general and special, year books, like the World's Almanac and American Year book, collections of the World's best literature, books of quotations, dictionaries, and biographical dictionaries.

Periodicals and Periodical Indexes

Most magazines are indexed in "Poole's Index," 1902-1906, and "Readers' Guide," 1910 to date. These indexes are kept on the table at the left of the Librarian's desk, the magazines are arranged alphabetically by title on the north side of the second floor book stacks.

Pamphlets and Pictures

Pamphlets often contain the latest material on many subjects. These are filed in a vertical file behind the Librarian's desk in the outer office. Pictures on various subjects have been mounted and arranged by subject in another file. Ask the Librarian to help you use these files.

Stag Social Given by the Y. M. C. A., 's First Regular Collegiate Meeting of the Year.

The first official meeting for any organization of the year took place last Tuesday when the Y. M. C. A. gave a stag social in the gym for all the boys. Many students availed themselves of this chance to get acquainted.

The music of the evening was given by Ella Hall with the faint but refreshing assistance of Armentrout. John Keith, chairman of the social committee, had charge of the games for the evening. The new contests which were introduced furnished rare amusement and insured the crowd that something was doing all the time.

In the candle race Stewart forgot to light the candle because he thought it was time to leave after the second tip. In Swat Bag, which proved to be a "man's game," "Stumbling" was without doubt the hardest hitter. The pole jump was captured by Virgil Brattle. The Stepoover and Stealing the Flag were all new games around which great interest centered.

After the contests Professor Warren spoke for a few minutes on "The Attitude of the Faculty Toward the Y. M. C. A." He emphasized the fact to the new students and reassured the old ones that the members of the Faculty are ready to help and urged that they become acquainted with them.

William Keith, president of the Y. M. C. A., next introduced Mr. Bunce, who is a state Y. M. C. A. worker for this district. He gave a splendid talk on the physical, mental and spiritual side of the Triangle. All of his points were well illustrated which helped to drive them home.

The fact that Crandle and Sherretz were "chief custodians of the cone container" shows the "fellows" did not leave unprovided for.

The Editor wishes to take this method of showing his appreciation to the former editor, D. Ransom Sherretz, for his valuable assistance in getting the paper started. He has played a large part in making this issue possible.

Good resolutions are often like loosely tied cords—on the first strain of temptation they slip. They should be tied in a hard knot of prayer, and they should be kept tight, tight, and firm by constance stretching GODWARD. If they slip, or break, tie them again.

"Your goat gloves, what do you mean?"

"Well, I used to call them kid gloves until they got so old."

FORMER TEACHERS NOT WITH US THIS YEAR

Ellen Dearthmount
Junior High Critic

Mrs. Dearthmount, the popular critic of the Junior High School, accepted a position as teacher of English in the Junior High School of Cleveland, O. Although she was only with us one year, she made a host of friends during her short stay.

Sarah Mitchell,
Junior High Critic

Miss Mitchell, critic of Junior High for the last three years, resigned and is teaching in a girl's private school at Evanston. Miss Mitchell was also a member of the Faculty Social Committee and helper to the Senior Class Advisor.

Harold Pritchard
Band and Orchestra

Harold Pritchard, who took over the Band and Orchestra when Mr. Bainum left and instructor in wind instruments the year before, will not be with us this year. Pritchard is attending the University of Illinois at Champaign.

Julia Rue,
Geography

Miss Rue, instructor of geography and matron of Anthony Hall, is continuing her studies in the University of Christiana after a summer's tour of Europe. Miss Rue took part in all social activities of the students and was faculty advisor for the Obelisk last year.

Mrs. L. J. Hills
Chorus

Mrs. Hills was just with us one year but her work with the chorus showed remarkable skill and aided the school to a great degree. Mrs. Hill's home duties forced her to resign.

Alberta Gibbons
Mathematics

Miss Gibbons, who assisted in Mathematics, remains at her home in Metropolis this year.

Julia Rue

Miss Clark is in receipt of a letter from Miss Julia Rue, one of the faculty last year and who is in Havin Telemark Norway this year. We regret that we are unable to print the entire letter. She and her mother will spend the year in Norway with her relatives and Miss Rue plans to take some work in Stockholm with Dr. DeGeer. She says that since she arrived there she has learned to ride a bicycle which is as common as the Ford is here, and has taken some long trips on it.

All of Miss Rue's friends are glad to hear of her pleasant trip over and hope that this year will not make her forget she is the AMERICAN which she says her friends over there call her.

Anthony Hall

Anthony Hall is now pretty well acquainted with its seventy-one girls and is initiating them into the mysteries of the dips, gongs, and meetings. Miss Hickson and the girls look forward to a pleasant year together indeed, a few were so anxious to return that they arrived early Monday morning and were seated on the porch eagerly awaiting the opening of the doors. Anthony Hall is one hundred per cent for the Egyptian and is always ready to help in the school enterprises.

Zetetic Program

October 5th

Play—"The Garroters"—Agnis Lentz.
Dance—Dorothy Meffert-Jane Motchan.

"ALWAYS IN TROUBLE"

Socratic Society invites everyone who can enjoy a laugh to see the play, "ALWAYS IN TROUBLE" Friday night, October 5th. It is the first play of the season and is an example of the many enjoyments the Society affords. "ALWAYS IN TROUBLE" is a lively farce full of laugh-provoking situations and witticisms. Gidion Blair, aged 93, and a multi-millionaire, has determined to marry his grandchild, Rosebud, to the son of his old friend. If either of the people refuse to marry the other, the one refusing loses a million dollars.

Tom, who has never seen Rosebud, mistakes an old maid for the heiress and hires Tutt to impersonate himself, thinking that the heiress will marry him. Rosebud tries to persuade Tutt not to marry her by feigning insanity, but when she learns that Tutt is merely masquerading as Tom, she nearly scares the life out of him.

The comedy scenes are furnished by Misery Moon, a hoodooed colored boy, always in trouble:

Lulu Pearl, whose every move and speech is rag-time;

Paula Maleek, who is after Tutt with a dynamite bomb;

Samantha, the funny old maid;

Patrick, the bewildered ticket-seller.

It starts with a laugh

And ends with a roar;

And when its all over

You'll want some more.

So don't be grumpy

And don't be glum,

And wish by heck;

You hadn't come.

We'll do our best

To give a good show,

But we need some help

From you, you know!

So laugh out loud—

Applaud and grin,

And a Hoodooed Coon

Can't help but win.

We wish to extend a hearty welcome to everyone to enjoy our program, and invite you to become a member of the Socratic Society.

Y. W. C. A. SOCIAL

"What we want is Sociability."

"Get Acquainted" was the watchword at the Y. W. C. A. Social which was held Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in Association Hall. Approximately one hundred thirty girls were present, the majority of which were new students.

The ice was broken by a hand shaking game, then in rapid succession followed stunts representing months of the year, and a "spelling match." Some were greatly astonished at their seeming inability to spell words such as "receive" and "believe."

The Cabinet members were introduced and each said a few words describing her particular duty as Cabinet member. After the refreshments and music, "Good Night, Ladies" signalled dismissal, everyone feeling that she was better acquainted now with school life.

The Y. W. C. A. will meet next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. The subject of the meeting is "The Friendly Road." All girls of S. I. N. U. are cordially invited to be present.

 "What do you mean religious?"
 "Those kind that make you feel as if you were in heaven all the time you are near them."

Why the dinner bucket—working?
 Gosh no! I'm merely on my way to register.

"Our party would have been a great success," said the temperance leader, "if only our leading speaker had not forgotten himself."

"Why, what did he do?"
 "Well, before he drank the glass of water, he tried to blow the foam off the top."
