S. I. N. U. FACULTY MEMBER CONTRIBUTES TO ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA

DR. RICHARD L. BEYER HAS ALSO WRITTEN FOR MANY OTHER PUBLICATIONS

A fact of great interest has recently been unearthed. Dr. Richard L. Beyer has been highly honored by being selected to contribute to the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica which is soon to be published. As President Shryock stated in chapel last week this is quite an accomplishment since only the highest authorities are taken for such a publication.

Dr. Beyer is exceedingly modest and would never have revealed anything concerning himself but somehow Dr. Holt found it out. He incidentally mentioned it to President Shryock who cleverly created interest in the affair although he did not announce who was meant.

Dr. Beyer received his A. B. degree from Allegheny College. He then attended the State University of Iowa from which he received the degrees M. A. and Ph. D. His special study was the colonial government of New York State. Three years of intense study and research work in this subject has made him a recognized authority. The sketch he wrote for the Encyclopedia has a biography of Robert Hunter who was a royal

Many Students Apply For Winter Practice

A total of 228 students have made application for practice teaching in one or another of the training schools here.

When one considers that the enrollment of the College is 1028 it will be seen that the students are very enthusiastic about this opportunity to obtain, under expert supervision, actual teaching experience. More and more the school boards are coming to realize the value of the training given here in the practice department. When a superintendent or a board of education comes in search of a teacher and an applicant is found, that person's actual teaching record is examined carefully. It is not infrequent that one applicant is chosen in preference to another because of practice teaching experience.

The numbers signed up in each school for the following term are:

High School	47
All City	78
Brush	46
Rural	57

Never before have the practice teachers had greater opportunity to do excellent work than now. There is a given amount of practice work that must be done by each student before he can be graduated either from the two or four-year course. However, one does not dare to merely make his credits. . . This is the place to distinguish oneself.

Zetetic Program Full of Interest

The Zetetic Society held its first regular meeting of the year last Friday night. A good orchestra under the direction of Howard Thrailkill, played.

Chas. Benson told the society of the contest among the organizations to see which will be the first to go one hundred per cent for the Egyptian. The winner is to receive first page recognition by the paper.

Eva Marie Ash, a new Zetetic, then gave a dramatic reading by Herman Hagelorn. The reading was one that showed much preparation, and we feel that Miss Ash is going to be an enthusiastic member.

In order to give us a better idea of the way to give a book review, Miss Trovillion reviewed the play, The Royal Family. It is to be presented later in the year by Strut and Fret and the interest expressed by Miss Trovillion makes us glad of the opportunity of seeing it on the campus instead of having to go to St. Louis.

The last number was a group of piano selections by Ruth Hunt, who certainly seemed at home at the piano.

At the business meeting nominations to fill the vacant offices were made. The Zetetic officers are: President, Leo Brown; vice president, Hazel Trigg; secretaries, Mary Colombo and Julia Timko; treasurer, Sally Mosely.

SENIOR CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The Senior class, at its meeting last Wednesday for the election of officers, showed its appreciation of the leadership of Andrew McArthy, last year's Junior president, by electing him as Senior president. Andy has made himself well known in extra-curricular activities and in scholarship.

Ray Chambers, a member of Sigma Alpha Pi, was chosen as vice president, and Bernice Meyers, as secretary and treasurer.

It is customary for each class to appoint a boy and girl as representatives to work with the Homecoming committee. Ray Chambers and Bernice Meyers were chosen as the Senior members of this committee.

DR. MERWIN HAVING HOME CONSTRUCTED

Dr. Merwin spent part of his time this summer in planning and starting the construction of a new house which he intends to make his Carbondale home. The new dwelling which is nearing completion is located on West Walnut street about three blocks from the business section. It is a two story building of the Dutch Colonial type. It will contain seven rooms and a built-in garage.

Carman Dickey Is Chosen to be Team Manager

Carman Dickey truly is the most useful man on the campus. There is scarcely an important student position that this illustrious gentleman has not filled or been called upon to help fill. And when he is connected with a work, that work certainly stays connected. He is a genius at filling any position with a high degree of accuracy.

When we see Dickey rushing about the campus supporting the Obelisk with one hand and goading the football team with the other, we must needs stop and wonder if he has time to pull through with some decent grades. Certainly! He has much better grades than you or I.

At the present time Carman's official title is Football Manager, which means that he works hard every night and no one realizes it. People wonder what the Obelisk did before Dickey came, and at the present moment there is a movement on to keep him in school for the next century.

Carman Dickey is also a notable dramatic figure, having written and produced "The Maid of Boskydell" which was presented in conjunction with last year's home-coming play.

In this mad rush to tell all of his good points, we failed to realize I might have said all we have said in one sentence—Carman Dickey is versatile.

Official Figures For Enrollment

Last week's Egyptian contained an error in the matter of enrollment, and in order that there may be no misunderstanding the following figures have been compiled from the office records:

	High School	College
Fall term 1927	190	1010
Fall term 1928	142	1132
Fall term 1929	129	1028

Much Talent Shown In Strut and Fret

The Strut and Fret Society is planning for a big Homecoming this year. Last Thursday Miss Trovillion opened the meeting of the society with a description of the skits which have been written, every one of which was very enthusiastically approved, from the first to the last.

Of course planning for Homecoming was the main interest of the evening, but a short, delightful, and interesting program was also given. The program was as follows:
Reading, Mary Hampton.
Reading, Hazel Towery.
Reading, Marjorie Leach.
Stunts—All.

The stunts were imitations of well known characters, such as Lindbergh, the politician, and the Prince of Wales. Besides the entertainment they afforded, these stunts told Miss Trovillion much about the prospective material in the Strut and Fret.

MAROONS WIN FIRST CONFERENCE ENCOUNTER UNDER FLOOD LIGHTS

Socratic Society Holds First Meeting

The opening number on the program at the first meeting of the Socratic literary society was Evening Star by Wagner, rendered by the orchestra. Blanche Moye then played a violin solo.

Mr. Boomer talked on the subject, If I Were a Freshman Again. In this he pointed out the better way, and gave sensible, convincing answers. Some of the ideas presented were:

Four years of opportunity are opening. These are to be used in getting ready for a really worth while life. They should be rich in experience.

The value of association is greater than ambitious students sometimes realize. In order to live fully one must have a certain intimacy with his fellows, a polish that comes only from mingling with others.

One should strive to make an honor letter for excellence in studies, but this effort should not exclude all else. Activities must not be ignored. A truly normal person is developed mentally, physically, and morally. Church service should be regularly attended.

Then, in his own sincere manner, Mr. Boomer declared, "And I'd get a girl." His angle of looking at the question gave the subject a sacredness that otherwise it would not have had.

Ray Chambers sang Why Should I Feel Discouraged, and Eva Marie Ash gave a dramatic reading entitled Laddie.

SOUTH SIDE CLUB MET AT MR. PETERSEN'S HOME

The South Side Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. Petersen. The program consisted of a travelogue given by Mr. Petersen in which he told of an interesting automobile trip made by him and his family during the summer vacation. On this trip the Petersens visited the University of Illinois, the University of Chicago, and Northwestern University. They also visited the Ford airport and the Ford automobile shops at Dearborn, Michigan, as well as the rolling mills and the Ford blast furnace at River Rouge, Michigan, and the Zoological gardens at Belle Isle in the Michigan river.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO BE ESTABLISHED

Something new in the way of an organization is being planned for all those interested in commercial work. An S. I. N. U. Chamber of Commerce is to be created for the purpose of promoting interest along this line. Instructive programs furnished mainly by school talent combined with annual trips to the St. Louis manufacturing district or to other places of interest will serve to make it a real live organization.

ST. VIATOR ELEVEN WEAKENS IN HARD FOUGHT CONTEST DURING LAST QUARTER

A revamped Maroon football team won its first game of the season last Friday night when it defeated St. Viator College 6-0 in the first football game ever played at night between two Little Nineteen schools.

The two teams averaged about the same in weight, and the advantage swung back and forth with the Irish looking the better in the first half. During the last half the teachers gradually wore down the Green defense and with three minutes to go in the last quarter a pass from the fifteen yard line, G. Martin to Capt. Newton, scored six points. Co-Capt. Lutz failed to annex the extra point by an attempted drop kick.

The Southerners were kept in the hole throughout most of the first half by the excellent kicking of Evard and the same boy's fine exhibition of running back punts. One one exchange of kicks the upstaters gained thirty yards. This advantage was offset in the second half by some good booting which Lutz did—and then the ends solved Evards' style of returning kicks and stopped him dead where he caught the punts.

Capt. Newton won the toss and chose to defend the north goal. Viator kicked off to McArthy and the ball was down on the Maroon forty yard line. Hudgens fumbled but recovered and then G. Martin hit center for five yards. G. Martin then kicked to Viator's thirty-five yard line and Evard returned ten yards. (Continued on Page Four.)

Every Organization Entering Contest

The Egyptian is backing every organization on the campus. Each week it contains news of the various clubs and societies. If one wants to see who the leaders are or find out what is going on about the campus just read the Egyptian. We feel that the organizations in turn owe it to the Egyptian to support it.

There is to be a contest among the organizations for subscriptions. The organization or organizations subscribing one hundred per cent will be rewarded. For the nature of your reward see your representative.

Every organization on the campus has entered the contest. In order to win, your organization will probably have to subscribe one hundred per cent. Should no organization subscribe one hundred per cent, the one having the largest per cent of subscribers will be acclaimed the winner. A prominent member from each organization is acting as subscription solicitor.

Here is a chance for the students to demonstrate their loyalty to their organization. Watch this space each week for developments.

LIBRARY RULES

The library is a place to work and not to visit, so silence is requested at all times since those who really want to work are annoyed by continued conversations.

Students are not allowed to enter the book stacks and must ask at the desk for books they wish to use. Ask the librarians for help if you have difficulty in finding what you want.

The card catalog at the left of the charging desk contains cards representing all the books in the library. These cards are arranged alphabetically, and information may be found by looking for author, title, or subject desired. The numbers in the upper left hand corner of the cards should be given to the attendant at the desk when asking for books, since all volumes are shelved according to these numbers which correspond to those on the backs of the books.

Reserve books are those set aside for use in certain courses so that as many students as possible may have access to them. They are recognized by a tag pasted in the back marked "Reserve" and may be called for by author and title. A book with that tag in it must be used in the library and is not to be taken out before 8:30 in the evening, except on Friday when the book may go out at 3:30 if it is returned Saturday at 9 a. m. All reserves are due by 9 a. m. the following morning and a fine of 5c an hour is charged for the time they are overdue.

Books which have not been placed on reserve for special courses may be taken for two weeks, and if not returned on or before the date stamped in the book, a fine of 1c a day must be paid when the book is returned.

When books are taken from the library, the student signs his name and address on the book card which is kept at the desk as a record to show who is responsible for each book in circulation.

Students are at liberty to use current magazines and bound periodicals in the library, but they cannot be taken away from the reading room.

The library is open on school days from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7-9. Saturday mornings the hours are 9-12.

ILLINEA DEBATING CLUB HAS MANY NEW MEMBERS

The Illine Debate Club held its second meeting Monday evening, September 23 with an attendance of 23, eight old girls and 15 new girls. The following officers were elected: President, Margaret McBlaster. Vice President, Florence Shifferlecker. Secretary and Treasurer, Georgia Hankla. Sergeant-at-Arms, Ruth Noel. Those on the program committee are: Bernice Myers, chairman; Olif Wells and Ruby Harrington. With Miss Julia Jonah and Dr. Edgar A. Holt as sponsors, the club work promises to be very helpful indeed.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL ELECTS OFFICERS

A frenzied campaign was held the 23rd and 24th of September, it being the election of officers of the third year J. H. S. Nominations were made for all three offices on Monday and on Tuesday the votes were cast. Electioneering was done as if the electioneers were experienced politicians. It was perfectly natural for the boys to want boys in all the positions but they had not had much experience in promising future officers and bribing, so only one boy received a position. The first and second year pupils also had an exciting election. The results are as follows:
First Year—Seventh Grade.
 President, Jimmie Curtis, Secretary, Edison Hall. Treasurer, Jack Cox.
Second Year—Eighth Grade.
 President, George Arnold. Secretary, Joe Dillingner. Treasurer, Lowell Hill.
Third Year—Ninth Grade.
 President, Mary Ellen Woods. Secretary, Mary Ellen Curd. Treasurer, Joe Phemister.

"How do you like your new French music teacher, Helen?"

FORUM PROSPECTS FOR YEAR ARE GOOD

The Forum Debating Club had an interesting and successful meeting on Monday, September 23 in the Zetetic Hall.

Devotional exercises conducted by W. W. Meyers began the meeting. Following this an extemporaneous debate took place; the question was: Resolved, That the forced condescension which confronts the freshmen on the campus, is of value to him in later life. The affirmative side of the question was ably debated by Ellis Hanna and W. W. Meyers; the negative side was learnedly handled by Arthur Trammel and Ray Chambers. The judges reported their votes as follows: 1 negative, 1 affirmative, and 1 tie.

The faculty advisors, Miss Barbour and Mr. Beyers expressed their pleasure at being present and promised their assistance at any time.

The Forum expressed itself as being in favor of more debates and work of real value. It is hoped that the near future will show a marked improvement in technique and forcefulness. There is a plentiful supply of timber for debate, and the club hopes to have a successful year.

The Irish failed to gain and Eward kicked to the Teachers fifteen yard line. G. Martin kicked on the first down and the Catholics promptly returned the kick—the ball rolling to the two-yard line.

The high spots of the first half were Bradham's twenty-five yard run around end and two nine-yard romps by Hudgens.

The break which the Maroons took advantage of and which won the game came late in the fourth quarter. Eward attempted a punt from his own twenty-five yard line just after Lutz had gotten away a sixty yard boot. Hughes broke through and partially blocked the effort. The ball bounded away to one side and Bradham grabbed the leather and set sail for the goal line. He was forced out on the twelve yard line. The Maroons possessed one play and fumbled and Viator recovered. Eward's kick was hurried and short.

The Maroons completed a pass for a first down. They then ranned the end and the line to the fifteen yard mark. From there G. Martin tossed a pass to Capt. Newton for a touchdown.

Choice Song Hit In Clever Skit

These words are rarer than that June day that somebody (must have been a poet) once wrote about. In fact never have these words decorated the pages of a play book. Play directions are fairly bristling with "Enter the heroine," "Enter Madama," "Enter the bold, bad villain," but never "Enter the property man." It is true, in Chinese plays he walks about on the stage, carries in a chair, moves the grand piano, places the pistol in the table drawer; but the tradition goes that he is really not visible on the stage. The Chinese act on the supposition that you do not see anybody you are not supposed to see. So this man with the hammer and nails walks in on the stage but the Chinese audience just does not see him.

We think it is time for the audience to appreciate the property men. So one of the skits in the Homecoming entertainment is Enter the Property Man with the song hit of the evening, I've Got the Property Man Blues. Every dog has his day and this will be the day of the patient and long suffering man behind the scenes. The skit is dedicated to all former property men who have pushed props these many years on the auditorium stage.

Misses Mildred Kohlsted and Minna Fox, and Mrs. Ora Rogers drove to St. Louis, September 21 to do some fall shopping.

Miss Grace Jones, who was an instructor in the Household Arts Department, is not teaching this year. She is living at her old home in New Jersey.

University Chorus Plans Great Things

The chorus this year is to be better than ever. What it lacks in size it will more than make up in quality. For several years the chorus has been on a more or less hap-hazard basis. It was the policy to take in almost anyone who applied. Meetings were irregular and not well attended. There was very little incentive to attend the meetings and the director never knew what he could depend on. The system adopted for this year is expected to remedy the defects. In the first place, the membership has a definite limit. It is to consist of twenty-four voices, six for each part. This insures a balanced chorus of students who are especially interested and of course will accommodate only the best talent the school affords. Perhaps the most radical change from the policy of former years lies in the fact that the tuition of members of the chorus will be refunded. This will place them under obligation to attend rehearsals regularly and insure work of the highest excellence. Great things are expected from this organization. It consists of the following students: (Sopranos) Morine Aiken, Grace Rawson, Mary Carolyn Marberry, Ruth Millen, Florence Neumann, Gertrude Hickman. (Altos) Mildred Frey, Vivian Wakefield, Marie Taylor, Ethel Trout, Mabel Whitesides, Genevieve Davis. (Tenors) Lawrence Benedict, Jean Nor-

EXCHANGE

The presidents of several colleges delivered to their students opening addresses which contained helpful suggestions for the coming year.

President Davis of Mount Morris College, Mount Morris, Illinois, gave "A Message of Responsibility" to his students. His theme was "to whom much has been given much is required," and he colored his speech with frequent illustrations.

Another address which was given for the benefit of college students by Mr. Hamilton, president of Bradley College, Peoria, Illinois. His subject was "College Thinking" and he explained why "many people think College students don't think."

Still another help to students was in the form of a letter. It was written by President A. Linchick of East Central College, Ada, Oklahoma. "This list of suggestions," he says, "are submitted to you so that if you follow them you will have no vain regrets after your career as a student is finished."

He (rapturously): "I never knew love was like this."
She: "Neither did I. I thought there were more flowers and chocolates in it."

ARE WE GOING TO HAVE A STUDENT COUNCIL?

The Student Council is supposed to be an established organization at this school. Last year its functions were famous because of their absence. It finally got organized about the last week of the Spring term and eventually did elect the staff for the two school publications. I suppose the school got along just as well without it. But why pretend that we have student government when such is not the case?

The past is past and the future is before us. We have permission from the school authorities to form such a council. Let us avail ourselves of all the opportunities we have. If we procrastinate this year and fail to have a council of students who have authority to decide questions of school government, we have only ourselves to blame. The term is now well started; classes are organizing; officers are being chosen. Let's have some loyal member of each class bring the question up and see that the proper number of representatives are elected; that they are of the right sort, and most important of all, that they will work. Of course if we aren't interested in what happens; if we are perfectly content to be governed by the faculty absolutely, such action is unnecessary. But with all respect to the judgment of a faculty that is as excellent as ours (and we have as good as the country affords), any school will operate with more harmony if the students are consulted occasionally. Whether or not their advice is followed is another proposition.

WAKE UP, SOPHOMORES!

It's high time for the sophomores to have another party. Last Monday afternoon the freshmen had a dance at the Elks. Those freshmen who attended are much better acquainted now than they were before. There was a good crowd and a jolly crowd. In fact the crowd was too good. The freshmen were crowded off of the floor by the many upperclassmen who were there. The sophomore class is large enough to throw its own parties instead of depending on the freshmen for its social life. There are many sophomores for whom this is their first year here, and they need to get acquainted with each other and with the old-timers just as much as the freshmen do. Unless our class has some kind of get-togethers, we never have any real class spirit. All the college students should be admitted, but the sophomores should feel that it is their own party. Many who have attended other colleges miss the class parties which they had there. This college is way behind the other teachers' colleges of the state in this respect. It is a wise policy for the school to give its students just as good a time here as they had in any other school. Then they will be more apt to go on and get their degrees here.

The sophomores should have meetings occasionally at chapel hour to give the class a chance to know its talented members. Many of the artists who made the freshmen programs a success last year are back again this year, and there surely must be new talent in the class which we have no chance to know about as yet.

First of all the sophomores must organize and elect officers who know the members of the class and who will work effectively to give the sophomores a successful year, both intellectually and socially.

Style Review
Given by Y. W. C. A.

Do you know just what dress to wear and when to wear it? If not hunt up some of the Y. W. C. A. girls and ask them.

This year the Y. W. is attempting an entirely new type of program. Last spring at retreat the cabinet and advisory board discovered that the girls on the campus were interested in knowing how to develop personality. So this term the association is having a series of meetings on this subject. Last Wednesday evening the Y. W. program was, "How Clothes Help to Develop Personality." Miss Fry had charge of the program which was put on in the form of a style show. The many different types of girls appeared on the stage dressed in the correct style and color as they should be for the different occasions.

Some were dressed for school, for church, for tea or for a bridge party, others for the street, for sport, and for formal occasions. Then out came the little housewife dressed in a dainty wash dress ready to prepare a delicious meal.

Miss Jean Dayton, traveling student secretary from New York, gave an interesting talk on personality. Miss Dayton said, "Any girl can make herself attractive by wearing the type and color of clothes suited to her and by keeping herself neat."

The one hundred girls who attended the meeting last Wednesday evening are sure they know how they should dress, but they do not want to stop at that. Now they are wanting to know, "What to Do and How." Blanche Moye, chairman of the program committee, has been very busy preparing a program on this subject. Come out this evening, Wednesday, at 6:30 and learn what to do and how to be at ease with other people and at different social functions.

"Iceland," said teacher in the geography class, "is about as large as Siam."

"Iceland," wrote John at examination time, "is about as large as teacher."

Dear Katie:

I knew you'd be crazy to hear from me; so I'll write you a line or two. Of course you can't expect very much, because we college fellows are awfully busy guys, what with all the teachers so anxious to make our acquaintance. Miss Bowyer wants to see me tomorrow because I didn't give her a little old card I was supposed to. I guess she's kind of interested in meeting a fellow like me, that's too busy for such details as that.

Well, Katie, I'm getting along fine in football. Those upperclassmen are terribly rusty. You know they're sort of old for something strenuous like football. Of course I'll make the team, and then won't you be glad I'm letting you be my girl? You'll have to come up to Carbondale and watch me win the games.

Say Katie, these girls up here sure have class. There are some awfully cute blondes. You ought to have curly blonde hair, because everybody likes blonde hair. You'd better be glad I don't have red hair and freckles like some fellows do. You know I'm a college man now, and I'm putting away childish things, like President Shryock said to do. So I've got to be mighty particular.

Did you know that this teachers college is one of the best in the country? They've given it better standing already on account of me being here. I thought about going to the university, but they need fellows like me here awfully bad so I decided to come here and help them along.

How're you getting along in high school, Katie? Well, you don't know what study is yet. College isn't so hard for us fellows but its awfully hard for girls. You ought to be glad you're still in high school where it's easy. Say, in Chemistry I have to help some of those girls all the time. They can't even get their lockers open, and they don't know a thing about working experiments. Well, course they can't help that, but it makes it hard on fellows like me to have to explain everything to them when we're so busy anyway.

Well Katie, I'm going to have to quit. I've got an important engagement down town with some fellows. Don't take my being gone too hard. I'm coming home in a couple of weeks. I know you'll want me to take you riding, so file your application early—

Hastily,
JIM.

The archbishop had preached a splendid sermon on the beauties and joys of married life. Two old Bridgets wobbled slowly out at the close of the service.

"Ah, 'twas a fine sermon his riv-rince was after tellin' us."

"Indeed it was, An' I wished I knew as little about it as he does."

Churches Have Open House for Students

A number of the enterprising churches of Carbondale have combined efforts in an attempt to give the various young peoples' groups of the city something a little out of the ordinary in the way of entertainments. Weekly socials are being given.

The purpose of these meetings is to get away from the feeling that one church and only one is worth attending or is the only one to which you are welcome and to give something of definite value to those who attend. It distinctly is not a membership campaign.

Last Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, a hundred and twenty-five or more young people of the different denominations gathered at the First Baptist Annex and spent two hours in a very delightful manner. There were games that were really enjoyed. There were laughable contests and competitions that made tears stream down over one's cheeks. Near 9:30 refreshments were served.

It does not matter which church you attend, or if you have not been in the habit of going any, you are cordially invited to these meetings. They are for you. Once you have been a guest, from that time on you will be a regular attendant. These are not just usual young peoples' church parties—they are unique. Come and receive your share of the enthusiasm and joy which they impart.

The next meeting will be at the Presbyterian church on the corner of Normal and Elm streets. The date is October 12 at 7:30.

governor of New York. He has also written a similar article for the New Dictionary of American Biography and an article on "British Protection and American Colonial Commerce" for the Journal of American History. The last named article will appear in the next issue of the Journal.

This incident is merely another example of the high class of scholarship that characterizes the faculty of our school. Since our attention has been called to Dr. Beyer is has been discovered that there are several other instructors who have done really worth while things. Articles concerning these persons will appear in early issues of the Egyptian.

Miss Dora Bevis entertained Misses Charlotte Zimmerschied, Sara Baker, and Madge Trout at her cabin on Thompson's Lake, Saturday, September 21. The evening proved so enjoyable they made a week end party.

The girls find that they are not the only ones who are interested in archery. Last week Misses Shank, Baker, Carpenter and Irwin tried their skill at this sport. According to all reports, the girls will need to practice faithfully to compete with such marksmen.

Misses Van Trump, Kellogg, and Cox spent the week end with Dr. and Mrs. Moss in Cape Girardeau, Mo. Miss Bowyer spent a very enjoyable week end with her sister at Charleston, Ill.
