Illegal dumping decreases in county

By Curtis Winston
Staff Writer

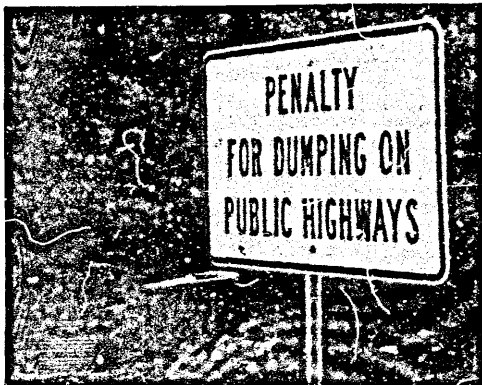

The Jackson County Health Department's ability to curb illegal trash dumping has improved over the past few months but there is still a problem, a department official said.

George Browning, administrator with the Jackson County Health Department, said the department's ability to enforce Illinois Environmental Protection Agency regulations has stopped some illegal dumping in the county.

"We have a big problem with illegal dumping and this problem has been somewhat decreased," Browning told an audience of members from the county's League of Women Voters and its satellite organization, the Citizens' Recycling Coalition, Saturday.

"Even though we have a landfill in Jackson County, people still have a tendency to take their refuse to other places," he said.

Because of the cost of the disposal of trash at a certified landfill, "people are still utilizing the roadside ditch," Browning said. "It's a matter of attitudinal change of how people view their garbage.

This illegal dump site is about three miles west of DeSoto on Rt. 149.

"Just where ever you find a convenient spot just pitch it out there tends to be the general consensus of a lot of people," Browning said. "It's not like the litterbug attitude...people are consciously going out and pitching their week's garbage and saying 'well here's a good place to dump it.'"

Before the EPA regulations were applied last spring, the health

Local landfill conditions show progress after inspections

Conditions at the Jackson County Landfill have improved since the county health department started monthly inspections of the facility in the spring, a department official said.

"We've seen a big turnaround in daily maintenance and upkeep of the facility," George Browning, administrator with the Jackson County Health Department, said Saturday during a presentation prior to a tour of the landfill sponsored by the Jackson County League of Women Voters and the Citizens' Recycling Coalition.

"We have also seen a bit of an attitude change in the people that operate the facility," Browning said.

The health department, operating under a grant from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, has conducted twice-monthly inspections of the landfill each month since May.

The landfill, which is located north of De Soto, is owned by Everett Allen, who was fined $3,500 by the health department last spring for inadequate management.

Most of the offenses were related to the fact that the trash was not being covered with six inches of dirt on a daily basis. Since then, Allen has brought in extra dirt and is negotiating to purchase land adjacent to the site for possible landfill expansion.

John Meister, director of the University's Pollution Control Office and a consultant for Allen Waste Management, said

Senate could pass bill to limit congressional mail privileges

By Jackie Spinner
Staff Writer

Members of the U.S. Congress will have to cut back on the number of newsletters they send to their constituents if the Senate passes a measure limiting congressional mail privileges.

The House voted 274-137 Sept. 28 in favor of the report, which came as a joint chamber report from the Conference Committee on Legislative Branch Appropriations. The Senate is expected to vote this week.

The report prohibits the members from using their printed signature on the outside of a piece of mail to send more than three pieces of postal patron mail.

Postal patron mail is addressed to the "resident" and not a specific person.

Congressman Glenn Poshard, D-Ill., said, "With the drug problem breathing down our necks and budget problems that won't go away, this vote means both a real shift in priorities, and a symbol for the American people that Congress is serious about these problems."

An amendment was struck from the bill that would have transferred the money saved in the postage limitation to a fund for women addicted to drugs and the babies who are born addicted to drugs.

House Chief of Finance Bob McGuire said the amendment was a "nice idea" but did not contain the necessary provisions for using the money for a drug fund.

"The Wilson Amendment didn't give the needed authority for using the money," he said.

David Carle, spokesman for Senator Paul Simon, D-Ill., said he expects Simon to support the measure once it is worked out.

Carle said the original form of the bill was "too extreme" as it also would have abolished all town meeting notices.

Bill Adams, a spokesman for Senator Alan Dixon, D-Ill., said

Gus Bode

Gus says cutting back the number of congressional letters will be less taxing on citizens and the mail carriers.

Dixon has done several statewide newsletters that were sent as patron mail.

Adams said Dixon did support the Wilson Amendment.

Poshard said he has been against franking privileges even before the issue came before Congress.

"In the five and a half years of public service, in the Illinois State Senate and here in Congress, I have yet to send a newsletter. And I don't think that has diminished the service I've attempted to provide," Poshard said.

Industries essential for regional growth

By Lisa Miller
Staff Writer

Products such as shopping bags, gas engines, boat trailers, wholesale meat and fish and paint come from the industries that could lead future economic growth in Southern Illinois, a planning commission study revealed.

The 30-page report on the study from the Greater Egypt Regional Planning and Development Commission said these industries were "prioritized as the first of 92 industries found to provide products and services most used by largest and growth-oriented employers in Southern Illinois," the report said.

Additional industries that would stimulate economic growth included those which manufacture paperboard, corrugated boxes, explosives, high voltage wiring devices and automatic controls for household appliances.

"Industries that use these products are disproportionately important in the economy of this area," Jim Hanson, economic development planner for the Greater Egypt Commission, said. "As far as we could tell, these are products that could be produced in our area."

Hanson said targeting these industries can not only help developers assist existing firms to reach their growth potential, but also help industrial recruiters to concentrate on recruiting the firms in the designated industries.

"Industrial recruiters often want to take the initiative, but do not know where to start," Hanson said. "Target industry analysis can help them begin with industries that will be naturally attracted to Southern Illinois because of the demand for their products from existing industries."

Hanson said the report of the study is being distributed to the local governments and chambers of commerce in the 20-county region of Southern Illinois.

The commission has proposed developing marketing materials based on the findings of the study, Hanson said.

The materials will appeal to the targeted industries by describing the existing industries that use their products, he said.

ATO pledge injured during initiation

By Theresa Livingston and Douglas Powell
Staff Writers

A University student was listed in stable condition Sunday at Carbondale Memorial Hospital after suffering lacerations to his hand Friday evening during an Alpha Tau Omega fraternity initiation ceremony

Lt. Andrew Smith of the University Police said James Friel, 20, 600 E. Campus Dr., was taking part in an initiation ceremony in which he ran into a window, breaking the window and cutting his right hand.

"Friel was running outside wearing a blindfold while fraternity member Michael Cababe yelled 'left and right' to direct him," Smith said. "Cababe yelled at Friel to stop, but he didn't hear him and slammed into the Sigma Kappa sorority kitchen window."

The University's chapter of Alpha Tau Omega refused to comment on the matter.

The University's chapter of Sigma Kappa also refused to comment on the matter.

University Police officer Phillip Saupe said a finger on Friel's right hand was mangled and the bone was exposed.

Despite the incident, Friel said he was "pretty sure" he would stay in the fraternities program.

Friel said he had no further comment on the matter in a telephone interview from the hospital.

Lt. Ralph Pearce of the University Police said no charges have been filed, but the matter probably will be investigated further.

"In view of the publicity hazing has received on this and other college campuses around the nation, I'm sure the matter will be investi-

Demonstrators seek return of former ruler Marcos' body

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — About 4,000 supporters of Ferdinand Marcos massed outside a military camp Sunday night in the biggest demonstration so far demanding the burial of the former ruler in his homeland. President Corazon Aquino, in her weekly call-in radio show Sunday night, reiterated her determination not to allow Marcos' body to be buried in the Philippines, but she said that at some time in the future — when the country was politically and economically stable — his remains would be allowed back, much in the way Napoleon Bonaparte's remains were returned to France 19 years after he died in exile.

Thousands of Nicaraguans register to vote

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — President Daniel Ortega and thousands of other Nicaraguans registered Sunday to vote in national elections that could decide the future of the Sandinista government. Officials of the United Nations and the Organization of American States, diplomats and four U.S. congressmen visiting Nicaragua observed the voter registration process. Election officials set up tables at schools and government buildings around the country early Sunday. By mid-morning, lines had begun to form at some registration tables in the capital.

Security tight as China celebrates birthday

BEIJING (UPI) — China celebrated its 40th year of communist rule Sunday with a fireworks spectacular that drew large crowds onto Beijing streets, but the tightly controlled birthday party was subdued by heavy security and the recent crackdown on dissent. Up to one million people took part in the capital's carefully orchestrated festivities, and tens of thousands of others took to the streets to watch as barrages of multi-colored fireworks lit up the night sky and cannon salutes thundered through the city. But the city center was largely deserted as armed troops and police sealed off the area near central Tiananmen Square.

Majority leader predicts rejection of tax cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, predicted Sunday that the Senate will reject a capital gains tax cut approved last week by the House, but acknowledged its political allure may prove too strong to fully thwart a victory for President Bush. In an interview with NBC's "Meet the Press," Mitchell sounded confident that Senate Democratic leaders would succeed where their House counterparts failed by blocking the capital gains tax cut advocated by the Bush administration. "For the sake of country, we have to change it, we have to prevent it," Mitchell said. "I'm positive we can prevent that plan."

FBI agent shoots gun-wielding firefighter

NEW YORK (UPI) — An on-duty FBI agent Sunday shot and killed a firefighter who aimed a loaded AK-47 assault rifle at an off-duty agent and then struggled with a third agent, police said. The off-duty firefighter, Steven Lopez, 38, knew one of the agents — a scuba diving instructor who was going diving with two fellow agents — because the two men belonged to the same diving club, said Sgt. Peter Berry, police spokesman.

Tentative agreement averts strike at Decatur company

DECATUR (UPI) — Union workers and A.E. Staley Manufacturing Co. Sunday reached a tentative three-year agreement, averting a possible strike by some 800 union employees in Decatur. A.E. Staley officials would not comment on the deal, but Allied Industrial Workers Union Local 837 Vice President Dave Watts said the tentative agreement was reached about 5 a.m.

Bike-a-thon is a big success

Annual Cancer Society ride nets more than $3,600

By Carrie Pomeroy
Entertainment Editor

The American Cancer Society's annual bike-a-thon on Sept. 30 was a success despite being plagued by rain, organizer Carol Eaton said.

The bike-a-thon, held from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Campus Lake, attracted 49 participants and raised $3,663.95 in pledges, Eaton said. Last year's bike-a-thon had 40 participants and netted $1,899.59 for the Cancer Society.

Eaton said 28 percent of bike-a-thon funds go to cancer research, 19 percent to publication, 10 percent to professional education, 19 percent to patient and community service, 15 percent to public education and 9 percent to management.

In 1989, $90 million has been spent on cancer research, she said.

Chad Rose, 13, racked up the largest number of laps, with a total of 100 miles. Eaton collected $1,058.75 in pledges, the highest amount of the bike-a-thon.

The bike-a-thon attracted a wide variety of age groups and experience levels. Participants ranged from a 4-year-old Carbondale resident who rode 10 miles to Bill Eaton, 64, who also rode 10 miles.

Experience levels ranged from SIU-C Cycling Team members Sean Culliney, Tom Justice, Craig McCullom and Joe Rowe to SIU-C sophomore Sally Haley, who called herself "not too athletic."

Participants said they managed to enjoy themselves despite Saturday's inclement weather.

"It was something to do on a Saturday," Haley said.

Jesse Rothemeyer, an 11-year-old Carbondale resident, said "it was fun" to ride in the rain and said he plans on riding in next year's bike-a-thon.

Brad Hinchcliff, the father of Six-year-old Leah Hinchcliff, niece of bike-a-thon organizer Carol Eaton from Carbondale, rode 15 miles during Saturday's event. This year's 49 participants raised $3663.95 in pledges as compared to $1,899.59 raised by 40 participants in last year's event.

Leah, a 6-year-old who rode 15 miles on training wheels, said his daughter was "very excited about riding" in the bike-a-thon.

Cycling team member Rowe, a senior in computer science, said he had been participating in bike-a-thons since he was 12.

"That's how I got into biking,"

he said.

Rowe had the only reported injury in the bike-a-thon. He said he hit a wet spot going around a corner and fell, sustaining a few scrapes.

Eaton said she received a great deal of help from bike-a-thon volunteers.

Civil service, faculty get added parking spaces

By Douglas Powell
Staff Writer

The Parking and Traffic Committee, acting on a petition from civil service employees and faculty working in the Greek Row area, have added more blue sticker parking spaces, Marilyn Hogan, campus parking manager, said.

The southeast corner of Parking Lot 109, behind the Health Service, will be changed from red sticker to blue sticker parking, effective when the signs are installed, Hogan said.

Sixty-five employees signed the petition from the Greek Row offices and the change will add 19 additional blue sticker spaces, Hogan said.

In addition to the change in Lot 109, Hogan said there will be two more handicapped spaces placed in Lot 22, behind Lindgren Hall.

"When you add two handicapped spaces you are removing three regular spaces," Hogan said.

At the committee's Sept. 20 meeting, an additional 68 spaces were approved for Lot 106 on Wall Street, across from Meadowridge Apartments.

"Sixty-eight spaces is an additional row and the spaces will be red and green sticker parking," she said.

"Also, 38 green sticker spaces will be added to Parking Lot 59 between Health Service and the tennis courts," she said. "That's an additional row."

Rotten apples could spoil all, or worse

IT WAS a case where one bad apple could have spoiled the whole bunch.

Four of the 12 cold food machines on campus had rotten apples in the machines on campus.

The oversight wasn't really a cause for great concern considering the rotten apples didn't pose an immediate health risk.

Hea-Ran Ashraf, a food sanitation instructor in the department of animal industries, food and nutrition, said she didn't see a health risk related to the rotten apples, though, she said, there could be cause for alarm if molded apples were eaten. She said one apple had a small spot of mold on it, and that the mold, having airborne spores, could contaminate other products in the machine.

She also said that her main concern was that serving food in the condition the apples were in is a violation of Illinois Department of Public Health regulations.

REGARDLESS OF the degree of health risk the rotten apples posed, there stands a regulation that was made for a reason by the Illinois Department of Public Health. The reason being the protection of the consumers.

The responsibility ultimately falls on the shoulders of Canteen Corp., which is in charge of servicing the machines.

The primary neglect lies with the employee or employees who service the machines at least every other day. But management should be aware of the performance of its employees and the condition of the machines at the University and elsewhere.

Stewart Gilmore, district manager for the Canteen Corp. in Carbondale, said the company gets its apples from a distributor in Washington, and that the company has had problems during this time of the year with rotten apples upon receipt from the distributor.

ONE SUGGESTION that may cure the rotten apple dilemma for the company would be to purchase that apples from growers in the Southern Illinois area. The cost could be cut for shipping and it would help the local economy as well.

Complaints about the machines go to University Enterprises, which has its telephone number posted on the vending machines. Then Canteen Corp. is called to handle the problem by dispatching an employee to the machine.

It is to the credit of the company that the rotten apples were removed from the machines within an hour of the matter being brought to the attention of Gilmore.

It is to be expected that there will be some problems with the machines every now and again, but hopefully the problems won't become any larger or more health hazardous than this one.

IT COULD serve as a warning to the University which contracts the company to service the machines and to the company itself.

This time it was just a few rotten apples that didn't harm anyone, but the consequences could be different the next time.

Chicago fan 'embittered' rather than Cards fans

In the September 28 issue of the DE, Darren Richardson had the audacity to call Cardinal fans "embittered." The Cardinals last won the pennant in 1987, their third of the decade. Let me just remind you, even though the Cubs won the division in '84, they haven't won a pennant since 1945. Calling Cardinal fans embittered was going just a bit too far. We Cub fans are the one that are embittered.

Secondly, most of the fans going to Busch Stadium are going to cheer for their team, the Cubs, not to gloat (even though we deserve to) and hassle Cards fans.

Finally, the Cubs certainly don't have the talent the Giants have, but they do have a lot of heart and I honestly think that the Cubs and Giants will go seven games, and it will be close. It won't be the five blowouts that Darren Richardson suggested in his "let's put down Cubs and Cub fans article." — Dennis Casey, junior, journalism.

Letters neglect to address evidence disclaiming live POWs in Vietnam

Professor Terry Bowman's reply to my letter concerning POWs in Vietnam (Daily Egyptian, Sept. 27) is a triumph of passion over reason.

It attacks arguments that I did not make, it quotes out of context, it accepts insubstantial evidence as established fact and it makes statements that are patently false. In a community of informed and educated people, there is no need to make a detailed response to such unreason.

Suffice it to point out that Professor Bowman disagrees not with me, but with Ronald Reagan. When Reagan took office, he made an accounting of the Vietnam War MIAs the highest priority of his administration. My letter cited the administration's finding that conclusive evidence of live American POWs in Vietnam could not be found. It also quoted the Reagan administration's acknowledgement of "unprecedented cooperation" from the Vietnamese and Laotian governments. Is Professor Bowman suggesting Reagan deceived the American people on this issue? Why does his letter not once mention Reagan or the Reagan administration's final report? Is the truth according to an ardently anti-communist administration now just an inconvenient fact?

In contrast to Bowman, law student Joseph Miller (Sept. 28) is at least candid about his doubts concerning the Reagan administration's trustworthiness. However, Miller cites the off-hand remarks of high-ranking appointees to support his argument while totally ignoring the report carefully drawn up by individuals and agencies at the working level. Unable to decide which Reagan wants to believe, he believes the ones he wants to believe. It is quite plain that for Miller, as for Bowman, no evidence would ever be sufficient to prove that live POWs do not exist. But then nor can prove conclusively that there is not a man on the moon.

As an historian of the Vietnam War, I am disturbed to see intelligent people, among them my students, gradually come to accept as true an untruth spread by the simple device of repetition in such letters as Bowman's and Miller's.

I hope DE readers and the veterans for whom Bowman is a faculty advisor will not be taken in. — William S. Turley, professor, political science.

SIU-C doesn't need more places to socialize, it needs places to study, later closing times

We would like to take time to address a point which has received much less attention than it deserves. Right now, a big issue on campus is the lack of entertainment for students during their off hours; i.e. after their last class of the day. With the end of Halloween, and the threat of raising the bar entry age, we can see panic coming in the pages of the editorials.

However, there are those of us who feel that at night, after class (and after work) there is something more important than socializing and meeting new people, and that is schoolwork, the issue at hand, the reason we are at SIU. For a lot of us, this can be an eleven- to fifteen-hour-a-day project, everyday.

So, some of us who get out of class in the late afternoon or early evening are not worried about whether or not we can get into a bar, but more so that we need to study.

We urge the administration to extend the hours of Morris Library and, or, the Student Center so those who study during the late hours, may do so (and may feel encouraged to do so by SIU) without bothering or being distracted by people we live with.

Hours at Morris and the Student Center at this time are extended only during finals week (and the week before?), which seems to suggest that we cram before finals, a style of studying which is not recommended by any instructor that we know of.

Most people are well-aware of the party image associated with SIU. We certainly are not surprised or even willing to deny that this image is appropriate when everything is done by so many students to save the parties, and nothing is done to advance the issue at hand — academics.

So, yes, places to go and socialize and have a good time are becoming rare to some of us, but more importantly, places to go and study are rare for all of us.

Most people, right now, can socialize at the bars until 2 a.m. No one can study at Morris past 11 p.m. — Glen Meinhardt, junior, mechanical engineering,

Arena concerts lame; find out students' picks

I am writing this letter in response to Doug Toole's article on the arena schedule in the Sept. 28 Daily Egyptian.

Halloween has been cancelled. That's fine for most, but you would think the school would give students alternative activities other than a family-oriented carnival. Unfortunately, no, concerts at SIU are not likely this year thanks to Michelle Suarez, promotions director of the SIU arena. All we get from the arena is a country show that was here two years ago, and perhaps another country show, and, yes, professional wrestling — again.

What about all of the people, not only at SIU, but in the community as well, who do not like country? It's sort of like last year when nothing but metal bands played the arena. Even that was better than this year. Suarez says that she is reluctant to get a Bob Dylan concert because she feels "Dylan appeals to an over-25 age group." Just exactly what age group do Hank and Waylon appeal to? She also states that she would like to bring more "college-oriented" groups to SIU. Hey, there's an idea! But she says she isn't sure what kind of draw they would get. "It's hard to figure out what students want to see."

Well, why don't you take a survey or poll and find out instead of sitting around the office thinking about it. Do something! It would be a nice change. — Richard J. Bowden, junior, radio and television.

Police in three states continue search for kidnapper, hostage

EFFINGHAM (UPI) — Police in three states were on the lookout Sunday for a Fort Wayne, Ind., man who allegedly kidnapped a Sullivan, Ind., woman and eluded a dragnet set up by Illinois authorities.

Jody Lamont James, 25, was last seen Sunday morning driving a stolen pickup truck south on Illinois 1 in Lawrence County with Dorothy L. Quillen, 19, still in tow, said Sgt. Mike Bianchi of the Illinois State Police at Effingham.

James allegedly abducted Quillen Saturday afternoon at her Sullivan home while holding her family at gunpoint, police said, adding that Quillen, had been trying to break off a relationship with James, who was not liked by her family.

James' car was spotted by police in Robinson at 5:01 p.m. Saturday, 35 minutes after the kidnapping. Robinson police began a high-speed chase that ended about 12 minutes later when James and Quillen were involved in an accident 12 miles south of Robinson in Crawford County, police said.

Authorities sealed off an area at the Lawrence-Crawford county line in southeast Illinois after James fled from his wrecked car with Quillen, but the couple eluded police, Bianchi said.

About two-tenths of a mile south of the sealed-off area, James allegedly held a family at gunpoint in their trailer and stole their pickup truck, police said.

Authorities discontinued their manhunt after James and Quillen were spotted at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in the stolen vehicle and instead alerted police in Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana to be on the lookout for the couple, Bianchi said.

No one has spotted James and Quillen since Sunday morning, Bianchi said.

Six remain in hospital after car-bus accident

DUBUQUE, Iowa (UPI) — Six people remained hospitalized Sunday following a car-bus accident that sent 47 children and adults to area hospitals a day earlier.

Dubuque County authorities said a car struck a bus carrying 41 junior high school band members from Cuba City, Wis., Saturday morning causing the bus to roll over one-and-a-half times. The bus also carried adult chaperones and the band director.

The driver of the car, Robert Johnson, 71, of Moline, was listed in serious condition at Mercy Health Center in Dubuque Sunday. There were no serious injuries among the students.

The students were on their way from Cuba City to the annual Octoberfest of Bands in Maquoketa. Johnson was driving northbound and the bus was southbound on Highway 61 about five miles south of Dubuque when Johnson crossed the center line, struck the bus and caused it to drive into a ditch, authorities said.

Johnson then hit a pickup truck that was following the bus and his car burst into flames.

A spokeswoman for Mercy Health Center said 30 patients were taken to her hospital and eight were admitted, including Johnson. Of that number, two students, Wendy VanNatta, 13, and Adam Drossler, 12, were in satisfactory condition.

Another 17 people were taken to The Finley Hospital in Dubuque following the accident.

Four patients were admitted to Finley Saturday, including the driver of the bus, Marcella Loeffelholz, 40, of Cuba City. Loeffelholz was released Saturday night and three patients, 12-year-old Debbie Nolan, band director Marilee Lonsberg, and an adult chaperone remained hospitalized in good condition Sunday.

Debra Gustafson, a Finley Hospital spokeswoman, said Lonsberg, 30, of Platteville, Wis., and Nolan would likely be released Monday, but the other adult, Eunice Harke, 40, of Cuba City may remain in the hospital until later this week.

Charges are pending investigation of the accident.

gated," Pearce said.

Harriet Wilson-Barlow, coordinator of undergraduate academic services, said the matter currently is being investigated by the Office of Student Development.

"Hazing is illegal at the state and University level and is not sanctioned or ordained on this campus," Wilson-Barlow said.

However, Wilson-Barlow stressed the matter has not been defined as hazing and she would reserve any further comments on the matter pending the investigation.

"I don't know if it's hazing. They (Alpha Tau Omega) haven't been involved in any past hazing as long as I've been here," Wilson-Barlow said.

department did not have the power to enforce dumping laws, Browning said.

"Now, however, if we find an illegal dump, you are looking at $500 to $1,500 in fines instantly on the spot...no questions," Browning said. Under the regulations, the landowner of the illegal dump would be held liable and fined, he said.

"When people find out about the fines, I think we are going to have a major reduction in these illegal dump sites," Browning said.

During his presentation, which was held in conjunction with a tour of the Jackson County Landfill sponsored by the League of Women Voters, Browning showed a map of several illegal sites throughout the county. Many of the sites have been cleaned up, but new sites are always being discovered, he said.

Jackson County Landfill takes in trash from most of southwestern Southern Illinois. It is one of only 146 permitted sites in the state.

Meister said the present site would be full in about 12 to 13 years, depending on the amount of trash it takes in. He said another Allen-owned site in Perry County could ease the load for Jackson County.

The lifespan of the landfill "could be stretched out to 40 years" if some of the trash could be diverted to other locations, Meister said.

Recycling also could help keep the landfill from filling up, but with current technology, recycling would save only about 15 percent of the space, Meister said.

"We're going to be into alternative technology," Meister said. "I think recycling is going to be established enough, whereas our attitude today is wad it up and throw it away. Our attitude in 10 years is not going to be that way."

"I think we are going to change so much between now and the time that we're actually filled up that, with the space that we've got plus the available expansion areas, it's going to take us a long, long time to be filled up," Meister said.

ered, he said.

During the landfill tour, it was shown that much roadside dumping is occurring on the roads leading to the landfill site, mostly furniture and automobile tires, items which cost extra to be disposed of.

"People find out that these items cost extra so they just dump them outside our gate," a spokeswoman for the landfill said.

Meister also explained that he is in favor of recycling, saying: "We have no qualms at all about recycling to the maximum degree of removing the volume that's coming in here."

"You say 'Yeah, why would a landfill be in favor of recycling while we're getting paid on the volume that's coming in here?' Well, because of the volume coming through, we've got to keep expanding and that's a pretty expensive cost," Meister said.

Meister said landfills try to encourage recycling by raising the rates for the disposal of such items as cardboard and tires. However, he said he hasn't seen a big decrease because of the raised rates.

"What a person puts in a dumpster is still what's going on in the psychology of the person that owns that dumpster," Meister said. "That's where your role is," he told the group. "To educate and change the way people think about their trash."

Carbondale Clean and Green receives national recognition

By Dale Walker
Staff Writer

Carbondale Clean and Green Inc., a local affiliate of Keep America Beautiful Inc., recently took second place in a national competition judging community involvement during Keep America Beautiful month, according to the program coordinator.

"Each community was judged on the involvement of the entire community in its varied programs to increase community pride through ongoing litter prevention, recycling and neighborhood involvement for the month of April," Roger Powers, president of Keep America Beautiful, said. "We feel we were very successful this year in reaching the youthful population through the R.E.M. (musical group) video public service announcements, the elementary school program, the STU Overpass Clean Up and the tremendous participation in Spring Clean Up by the entire community," Jeanne Foster, program coordinator for Carbondale Clean and Green said.

"We lost count of the number of volunteers after about 500 who showed up to help pick up litter (on Cleanup day)," Foster said. Students from Carbondale, Giant City, Unity Park, De Soto and New School participated in the elementary schools' program.

"Every school kid in the area knows what Clean and Green is,"

she said.

Carbondale Clean and Green Inc. was certified as a Keep America Beautiful system in July 1987. Since then, the community has achieved a 76-percent reduction in litter, she said.

Four first-place winners, four second-place winners and seven certificates of achievement were awarded, Foster said.

Foster will travel to Washington to accept the award at the 36th Annual Meeting of Keep America Beautiful Dec. 7.

The award is not monetary, Foster said. "However, being a nationally recognized program certainly does not hurt when one applies for grants," she said.

Chinese students organize rally to back pro-Democracy movement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chinese student demonstrators were expected to rally Sunday, the 40th anniversary of the founding of the People's Republic of China, to support the pro-Democracy movement in their homeland and return world attention to the June massacre in Beijing.

The Independent Federation of Chinese Students and Scholars said it expected 3,000 supporters to meet at the Lincoln Memorial for a concert and rally before walking 20 blocks to the Chinese Embassy. The city's park police had no early estimate on the size of the crowd expected.

"We don't want this issue to die," Gang Li, 29, a volunteer and a May graduate of the University of Michigan, said of the massacre of pro-Democracy students at Tiananmen Square in Beijing on June 4.

"We want to do as much as we can to change the current situation, the repression that is going on now in China. We want a China with more freedom and democracy and more human rights," Li said.

The student demonstrators, hope to recall the spirit of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.'s emotional "I Have a Dream" speech.

In announcing the rally, one press release said: "The Chinese regime's bloody crackdown appears to have temporarily suppressed the Democratic Movement, but the Movement retains its underlying momentum and support of the people."

Red Cross chapter asks public for donations to help community

By Dale Walker
Staff Writer

The Jackson County Chapter of the American Red Cross needs donations to provide services to the community besides the blood drives that it is recognized for, Jeanne Foster, chapter chair, said. "We are now accepting donations for the disaster victims of Hugo," Foster said, but this year's budget for local disaster victims has been already spent.

"Our disaster budget for the fiscal year is only about $3,000," Foster said. "We have already spent that assisting five victims in Jackson County and our fiscal year began on July 1," she said.

If there are more fires in Jackson County, the funds will be advanced from the operating budget and reimbursement will be requested from the national organization, she said. "Last year we spent over $10,000 on Jackson County fire victims alone," she said.

The Red Cross also provides a service to military families, such as notifying the family if an enlisted member has been injured or killed on duty. The federal government mandates that the Red Cross must provide this service, even though it receives no support from the government, she said. "We are a small chapter," Foster said, "but if you count all the volunteers, there are hundreds of people who donate their time to the Red Cross for its various programs."

An AIDS Awareness program and a disaster awareness program are among the many other programs provided, Foster said.

Although the Red Cross does a lot of programs and teaches swimming and CPR, it is best at handling disasters, she said.

"When there was a tornado in Marion, the Red Cross came in and set up to provide some immediate assistance, like setting up shelters and providing mass feedings, whatever is necessary on a very immediate basis," she said.

Foster said Marion was hit by a tornado in 1982.

"We are mostly supported by donations from the American public," she said. The Carbondale and Murphysboro United Way groups provide about a third of the support.

Wal-Marts in Murphysboro, Carbondale and Du Quoin are raising funds for disaster victims of Hugo, Foster said.

October is United Way month and Red Cross volunteers are helping them because of the amount of support they receive from the United Way.

6,200 East German refugees pour into West

HOF, West Germany (UPI) — More than 6,200 exhausted but jubilant East Germans broke into cheers of "freedom" as they rolled into West Germany Sunday aboard refugee trains out of Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Many had tears in their eyes as they stepped off trains from Prague in the small West German town of Hof, where they were met by about 350 medical workers and dozens of government officials, including a cabinet minister.

Cries of "freedom" and "Germany, Germany" echoed through the station when the first train arrived at 6:15 a.m. at the Bavarian border town near the point where the two Germans and Czechoslovakia meet. Many refugees flashed the V-for-victory sign out of train windows as loud-speakers blasted words of welcome from West German government.

Hundreds of residents of Hof, many clutching toys and dolls for the children of the refugees, gath-

"Welcome to the free part of Germany," Development Minister Juergen Wamke said.

By nightfall a total of 5,490 East Germans arrived aboard trains that left the Czechoslovakian capital at two-hour intervals for a tension-filled journey through East Germany.

Another 809 refugees arrived in the northern West German town of Helmstedt, bringing the official total of refugees to 6,299.

The University of Illinois rugby squad used two quick scores near the end of the first half to eliminate an early SIU-C lead and went on to win 19-13.

The SIU-C rugby club (5-3) went out to an early lead on the strength of a "try" (four points) by senior Bob Schramm. SIU-C added a penalty kick (three points) by junior Dave Cone and led 7-3 when the Illini scored two quick tries to take a 15-7 lead into the half.

Schramm added another try in the second half while Cone had the two-point conversion to conclude the scoring for SIU-C.

Junior Norm Smyth said the key to the game was the quick scores for the Illini.

"Their two quick scores probably cost us the game," Smyth said. "We were down by eight points at the half. If we would have scored quickly, we could have changed things around. They had a little more experience on their team.

Hopefully we'll get to play them again next year.

"Hopefully we'll keep trying," Smyth said. "We won't let the loss get us down. We had a pretty nice crowd show up for the game and that really helped us. If we could have beaten them in front of the home crowd it would have been great."

Graduate Student Nick Golden, coach and captain for the Illini, said both teams played a fair game. "All credit goes to SIU," Golden said. "They played a superb game."

"Very rarely do we get pushed back on our own ball," Golden said. "SIU did it to us five or six times throughout the game. It hasn't happened to us that many times in all of our games so far this year."

"Both teams had a couple of silly penalties," Golden said. "We started slowly, but then we had back to back scores at the end of the first half. It disheartened them a little."

"It was an enjoyable game for everyone," Golden said. I hope we will play them as a fixture in the future."

last. "In the Eastern game earlier we lost but we were down 3-0. We came back one at a time. They are very patient. We can't back (with single runs) three different times and we came up short eventually. We needed one more run before they scored.

"In this game we had to come from behind again. That's good experience too. I'm glad we ended up winning (the tournament). Sometimes (struggling from behind) is good so that we are ready for that kind of game in the spring. We are going to fall behind in the spring too. I'm pleased with the way they came back," Brechtelsbauer said.

Bradley seeded third coming into the touney, won a tough game over second-seeded Eastern to make it into the final game.

"Bradley was kind of flat. They were kind of down going into that game but they got fired up. Eastern is kind of short on pitching, Bradley has a little bit more on pitching. You get to this stage and it's pitching that sort of carries you.

"If our pitchers can keep us in the ball game we can win most of our games. They are going to have to keep it close. We're not so overpowering in any area that we can give up two or three runs and win very often," Brechtelsbauer said.

At the beginning of the season Brechtelsbauer said that she didn't think her team would get as far as they did.

the week. A few of the other Saluki runners also were bothered by minor injuries, but it didn't stop them from winning their second team championship of the fall.

"We have a tough group here," DeNoon said.

Conway's time of 18:11 Saturday beat her personal best of 18:15 in the Midwest Collegiates Sep. 16.

"I wanted to improve and I just try to win," Conway said. "There were some major breakthroughs and everyone on the team improved."

Three other Saluki runners finished in the top 10. Sophomore Amie Padgett finished sixth in a time of 18:28. Senior Roseanne Vincent finished ninth in 18:35 and junior Dona Griffin finished tenth in 18:39.

Dawn Barefoot, another Saluki freshman, just missed finishing in the top 10. Barefoot finished 11th with a time of 18:44.

Leslie Tynes finished 22nd for the Salukis with a time of 19:24. Cathy Brown was 24th in a time of 19:28 and Laura Batsie finished 31st overall in a time of 20:10. Tara Zeitzer was 35th overall in a time of 20:30.6, Liz Davidson was 40th in 21:02.5 and Christina Gabler was 41st in a time of 21:29.2.

"I think their preparation has been exceptional," DeNoon said. "They have been giving positive re-enforcement to team members. They really pull for each other."

The Salukis next meet will be Saturday at Terre Haute, Ind. in the Indiana State Invitational.

Tennis coach pleased with weekend play

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

SIU-C men's tennis coach Dick LeFevre said he was encouraged by his team's performance in the Notre Dame Invitational this weekend.

"There were some really good players in this Invitational," LeFevre said. "Our players won some tough matches."

The Invitational was divided into two divisions: an A flight and a B flight. The A flight was composed of the No. 1, 2 and 3 players from each team and the B flight consisted of No. 4, 5 and 6 players.

Salukis No. 1 player, Mickey Maule, defeated David Hall of Minnesota 1-6, 6-1 and 6-2 in the first round. Maule defeated Walter Dolhare of Notre Dame 5-7, 6-4 and 6-3 in the second round.

Maule was defeated in the third round by James Dwer of Wisconsin, 2-6, 6-3 and 6-4.

Joe Demeterco, SIU-C's No. 2 player, was defeated in his first round match, but he came back to win three matches in the consolation bracket.

"Maule and Demeterco had a rough time getting started," LeFevre said. "But they came back to win some tough matches."

Beauchem's return fails to provide much spark

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

The SIU-C men's cross country team was hoping to receive a spark from the return of senior captain David Beauchem. But the Illinois State Redbirds dampened Beauchem's return.

With Beauchem struggling in his first race, Illinois State ran away with the 1989 Country Fair-Saluki Invitational Saturday with 41 team points. The Salukis finished a distant second in the 8,000-meter race with 77 team points.

David Wilson of Illinois State won the individual title with a time of 24:31. Wilson's teammate Tony Daniel finished second in 24:35.

SEMO finished third with 90 points, Southwest Missouri fourth with 93, Indiana State fifth with 122, Missouri sixth with 139, Mississippi seventh with 148, Memphis State eighth with 190 and Arkansas State ninth with 241.

Beauchem wasn't expecting too much in his first race of the season. But he was hoping to be a spark for his teammates. Beauchem finished 49th overall in a time of 27:26.

"I let my teammates down," Beauchem said. "I've never ran well in my first race but I expected to do a little better. I'm going to train harder this week."

On Friday night, Beauchem had his eligibility restored by the NCAA after having to sit out the first two meets.

On Sept. 8, Beauchem was declared ineligible after it was discovered that he ran in two "unattached" (not affiliated with the school) races during his red-shirt year in 1985.

"The whole thing has been draining for David," Saluki coach Bill Cornell said. "He had two races taken away that he can never get back. The team just needs to put this thing behind them now."

Beauchem is confident that he can return to his old form.

"I know what I'm capable of doing," Beauchem said. "I just never felt comfortable in this race. Over the next four weeks I'll improve. I'm not worried about that."

Arkansas State squeaks by Salukis

QB Gabbert's airshow falls 5 points short

By Daniel Wallenberg
Staff Writer

JONESBORO, Ark. — Head coach Bob Smith said throwing the football 50 times was the game plan against the 12th-ranked Indians of Arkansas State University. The plan almost worked.

The Salukis lost 28-23 in the final minute of the game despite the aerial attack of quarterback Scott Gabbert, who threw for 343 yards, setting school records for completions (28) and attempts (55). Gabbert started in place of the injured Fred Gibson. It was Gabbert's first start of the season.

The Salukis led 23-21 with 2:40 to play in the fourth quarter when the Indians began the drive that ended the Salukis' second half comeback attempt.

ASU began the winning drive at its own 31-yard line. ASU quarterback Roy Johnson was tackled for no gain on the first play of the seven-play, 69-yard drive, and the Indians called a time out.

On the first play following the time out the Salukis, 1-4, were caught off guard on a trick play that gave the Indians a first down deep in Saluki territory.

The Indians, 2-2, lined up with their usual left offensive tackle Kenneth Nelson move to the left guard position. While many in the press box were saying: "Here it comes," Johnson took the ball from center, placed the ball on the ground and continued, along with the flow of the offense, to the right of the field. Nelson, 6-2, 230, picked the ball up and rambled for a 33-yard gain down the left sideline.

"We saw (the play) on film," Smith said. "There is no real way to coach against it. You just have to keep talking about it."

The drive culminated on a 4-yard touchdown run by Johnson with 47 seconds to play. It was the Indians only score of the second half. Johnson was the Indians leading rusher for 176 yards on 22 carries and three touchdowns in a wishbone attack that finished with 308 yards on 53 attempts.

kid's fault."

ASU Coach Larry Laceywell said the Indians were not able to put the Salukis away before allowing them to come back.

"We're not as good as some teams we've had in the past," Laceywell said. "We have to fight to win games."

"I said SIU was pretty good coming in," Laceywell said. "They Oliver ending a 12-play, 72-yard drive.

The Salukis next scored with 5:58 to play in the third on a 35-yard Steve Wedemeier field goal to bring the Salukis to within four, 21-17.

The Salukis took the lead 23-21 with 2:40 to play in the game on a 19-yard Gabbert to Wesley Yates touchdown pass. Gabbert, holding for the extra point, mishandled the snap and was tackled trying for the endzone and a two-point conversion.

Yates, one of 12 Salukis to catch a pass, led the Salukis in receiving yards with 117 yards on seven receptions and one touchdown.

The Salukis, who rushed on only 20 of 75 total offensive plays, were led by Antonio Moore with 52 yards on six carries and one touchdown.

Senior linebacker Brian Miller led the Salukis defense with 15 tackles. Kevin Kilgallon had 14 tackles to raise his team-leading total to 60. Kilgallon also had one interception.

"I'm taking the blame for this one... When a team loses like this, it's the coach's fault because he didn't put proper emphasis on the right areas."

—Saluki football coach Bob Smith

"I'm taking the blame for this one (the loss)," Smith said. "We had too many opportunities to win it. We played hard enough to win, and we deserved to win."

"When a team loses like this, it's the coach's fault because he didn't put proper emphasis on the right areas," Smith said. "It's not the did a great job, offensively. What can I say? It was our time to win."

The Salukis began a second-half comeback trailing 21-7.

Gabbert led the Salukis to two straight scoring drives to start the second half. The first was on a 7-yard touchdown pass from Gabbert to sophomore wide receiver Ian

Brechtelsbauer's squad finishes fall exhibition season at 18-3

By Tracy Sargeant
Staff Writer

The law of averages was on the Saluki softball team's side this weekend as it defeated Bradley 3-2 in the bottom of the seventh inning to capture the first place title at the Saluki Invitational. The Salukis finished the fall exhibition season at 18-3.

"It gets harder and harder when you play someone six times," SIU-C softball coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said. "The law of averages is bound to catch up with you."

"It is hard to beat any team and they (Bradley) are a good team. You can see today that they were close to winning. One hit here, one play there. (The Salukis) never gave up at the plate, they never gave up in the field. There was some very aggressive base running, which is what we wanted to do."

"All three of our runs were aggressive. We had Kim go in on that infield out and we had Mary Jo come all the way around on a hit and Shelly went all the way to third on a wild pitch and that set things up. Even though we still needed a hit to score, it just really puts the pressure on the defense and pitching," Brechtelsbauer said.

Mary Jo Firnbach scored the first run for the Salukis in the fourth inning. Winning pitcher Traci Furlow gave up two runs and four hits for the game. Colleen Holloway and Kim Johannsen went 2-4. Billie Ramsey hit Kim Johannsen in for the game winning run.

First-ranked SIU-C played the fourth-seeded team, the Southeast Missouri Otahkians, to determine who would play in the championship game. The Salukis blanked SEMO 8-0 in six innings, when play was halted because of the eight-run rule.

Senior Jennifer Brown pitched a no-hitter for SIU-C against the Otahkians. She faced the minimum of 18 hitters in the six innings. Shannon Taylor went 2-3, Ramsey 2-2, Kim Tummins 1-1 and Cheryl Venosky batted in two runs.

The Salukis only loss of the tournament came at the hands of Eastern, 4-3, earlier in the day. The game struggled on for nine innings. The Salukis came from behind more than once to win their games but they couldn't pull out a win against Eastern, even though they came close.

"When we came back 10-0, I wasn't looking for a record so much. I wanted them to get better and better and the worst thing that could have happened in my mind is that we start off like a bang and falter in this tournament because that is the last thing we do. We didn't. We struggled at times but we came up when we had to. We finished strong. We won the tournament."

"That's what I wanted to do the most. I didn't care if it was a one run ball game or five run. I wanted to finish on that high note. Otherwise the first streak of 10 wins is questionable. Are we that good or are we not? We still have many things to improve on. I thought we came back well. It's important to finish on a high note. That makes everything more meaningful. We did persist, we didn't let up when they tied us, got ahead of us and tied us again. We stayed with it."

"It means a lot to finish with a win," Brechtelsbauer said.

Overall the Salukis placed first, Bradley second, Southeast Missouri and Eastern Illinois tied for third and Meramec finished

Conway paces women harriers

By Greg Scott

SIU-C women's cross country coach Don DeNoon already is saying that his 1989 team is the best one he's had during his seven-year tenure here.

DeNoon's Salukis did a lot to support that claim Saturday. The Salukis finished in a first place tie with Southeast Missouri State University Saturday in the 5,000-meter women's Country Fair-Saluki Invitational. SIU-C and SEMO both finished with 37 team points in the meet.

"We have had some fine individual performances in the past as well," DeNoon said. "But this is the best team I've had here. This is a real team effort."

DeNoon was happy with the fact that his team, loaded with freshmen and sophomores, stayed with Southeast.

"Southeast was ranked seventh in the nation in Division II coming into this meet," DeNoon said. "I think that is a real tribute to us running right with them."

Men's results

Other teams in the Invitational included Indiana State finishing third with 65, Murray State fourth with 89, Mississippi fifth with 131, Arkansas State sixth with 175 and Memphis State seventh with 187.

In a gutty performance on what began as a rainy day, freshman Leann Conway won her second individual championship of the season in a time of 18:11.

"I don't pay any attention to the rain because everyone has to run in it," Conway said. "I just concentrate on the race and the finish line."

Conway led the race from start to finish but was forced to contend with the interesting race strategy of Murray State's top runner Kathy Mueller.

"She would run hard and I would have to catch up with her," Conway said.

Conway ran away from Mueller and the rest of the pack down the stretch. Mueller ended up finishing fifth in a time of 18:25. Luice Mays, a freshman from SEMO, finished second with a time of 18:19.

The SIU-C women's tennis team was able to win despite its top two players losing their singles matches.

The Salukis defeated Austin Peay State 6-3 Friday in Evansville, Ind., to raise their fall record to 5-2.

SIU-C's No. 1 player, Beth Boardman, lost to Shannon Reters 6-4, 6-2. The Salukis No. 2 player, Michele Jeffrey, was defeated by Asa Helmersson 7-5, 6-7 and 7-5 in the tie-breaker.

"Beth and Michele both played good matches," Saluki coach Judy Auld said. "Beth was up against a really good player and Michele has really had a good, consistent fall season."

Wendy Varnum, a freshman, picked up a victory for the Salukis in the No. 3 position. Varnum defeated Cindy Seymour 6-3 and 6-1.

Lori Edwards, a sophomore, defeated Page Atkins 6-0, 6-1 in the No. 4 position and Michele Toye defeated Laura Helms 6-0, 6-1 in No. 5 singles.

Nancy Mullins, a freshman, won by default in the No. 6 position. Austin Peay didn't have a No. 6 position player.

Helmersson and Seymour defeated Boardman and
