Training Building Opens With 385 Enrollment

Enrollment at the new University Training School, which was opened for use for the first time this fall, has reached the total of 385 including nursery school, kindergarten, and the twelve grades. There was an increase of approximately 55 in the upper grades this year.

Open house and a dedication ceremony for the new training building, which is located on West Grand, is tentatively scheduled to be held on November 16 during National Education Week. Dr. Douglas L. Lawson, dean of the College of Education, is chairman of the committee in charge of making plans for the dedication and open house.

BEING THROUGHOUT modern, the training building has new style observation rooms, university education classes and for non-class members. Green chalk color schemes enhance the interior.

On the ground floor are the art theatre, play rooms, auditorium, and dressing rooms. Dr. Charles Neal, director of teacher training, and Dr. Charles Neal, chairman of the university school, have offices on the first floor. Also on the floor floor are the nursery, kindergarten, first, second, third, and eighth grades.

Registration Difficulties

It becomes more and more difficult to register at Southern each term, or so it seems to us. We thought that, being an upperclassman, registration would be more routine by now. After going to the south door of the gym, to where we always start there before, and finally discovering that Old Main was this term’s starting point, we gave up and asked a freshman who had just been oriented for directions.

It didn’t seem to us that the procedure was simplified in the least by moving the preliminaries, such as the taking of the activity and picture, over to Old Main. It just made one more line to stand in, and there was much less confusion when it was all in one building, the gym.

WE THINK the “ditta” cards are an excellent idea and save much time formerly devoted to filling out long lines of cards. If there could be one line added to the card which says “Please do not fill this card out in ink, use pencil only,” it would keep many students from having to stop in the middle of the line and retrace everything in pencil to make an impression on the carbon. Every time registration is simplified by the elimination of several cards to be filled out, others are introduced to take their place. For instance, there is the card on which one is to indicate if he ever expects to attend any time during the term to drive a car on university property. In many cases it would be impossible to be psychic enough to say one way or the other, and seems a waste of time and ink to fill out the card unless there is some obscure use for it which has eluded both the designer of the gym and finally discovering that Old Main was this term’s starting point, we gave up and asked a freshman who had just been oriented for directions.

Registration is bound to confuse to a certain degree, no matter how many steps are taken to simplify it. To speed up the process it might help a lot if a specific set of instructions on how to register for the term could be sent to all the organized houses the week before registration, so that students could look over the list and know what to expect before they go to register. Of course, this plan wouldn’t help all students, but it might lighten a large number of them.

A Similar Situation

Southern’s new student center, barracks style, has recently been given honorable mention by the student newspaper at Northern Illinois state teachers college at DeKalb.

Lacking adequate funds for a suitable student lounge, the school, like Southern, is trying to make the best of available materials. A suggestion by the paner reads as follows:

“...We feel that there is even more that can be done to improve the recreational program at Northern. It appears obvious that a student commons building in the near future is too much to hope for. So, how about allotting some space in the barracks for a student center—as Southern Illinois University did.”

We think that plans for the student center here have worked out exceedingly well and those who have had a part in it can be justifiably proud of its appearance.

Remember: First name, age, stay up close, o.k., look in the mirror and laugh what’s that? We all heard words to that effect as we were shoved through the identification machine here last week during registration. You can now pick up your activity ticket at the Bursar’s Office and see just how funny the image on the mirror was.

Recreation Center Is Made to Order

Southern’s new Student Center, which is located in barracks on Harwood St., provides cultural as well as recreational facilities for all SIU students from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

For those who prefer Bach or Beethoven, chess or cards, and looking at paintings donated by the W.P.A. and students from the art department, or comic books, the Student Center is the place to visit.

For use during the day are the following: candy, coke, and cigarette machines; a phone, where students can make long distance calls home or to anywhere in town; a music room containing a radio and two phonographs, magazines, and accommodations for cards, chess, and checkers.

Among the many offices located in the Student Center are those of the APO, the ISA, the Oheilis, the Student Council, and the Social Senate. The Foreign Relations Club holds meetings in the Center for discussion of many problems. Parties may be held in the Student Center.

A new fully equipped kitchen is available for preparation of refreshments for such occasions as teas or parties.

In the future the Student Center hopes to add a ping-pong table to its facilities.

University Students Tour East and Canada

UT. COL. OLIVER K. HALDERSON, Chicago, has arrived to direct the Air Force ROTC staff at Southern Illinois University. As professor of air science and tactics, his position here will be similar to the one he has held for the past two years at the University of Missouri.

A graduate of Augusta State, Colonel Halderson is a regular air force officer with more than 10 years of active military service, including five years of foreign duty.

He is a graduate of the Air Force Flying school, the Air Command and Staff School, and the European Staff Officers course. He has had extensive experience as a squadron and group commanding officer.

Colonel Halderson is married and has two children.

Approximately 800 Students Take Part In New Student Week Program

Approximately 800 new students registered for the New Student Week orientation program held on the campus Sept. 6-9, according to Miss Leah Farr, acting dean of women.

The program was initiated by Clark Davis, dean of men, when he delivered a welcoming address to the freshmen in Shriver auditorium.

Parties, mid-morning snacks, campus tours, and other recreational activities relieved the program of attitude and achievement testing.

Members of the Girls' Rally and Alpha Phi Omega fraternities conducted tours of the campus.

Open houses at the sorority fraternities and religious foundations were held for benefit of the new students.

A part of the Student Center highlighted Saturday's schedule of activities, a physical examination, dean's panel, opportunities, home, and picture making.

On Sunday 4,000 parents and new students were guests at a basket dinner held on the Wheeler Library lawn. A procession followed in Shriver auditorium. President Delbert W. Morris welcomed the group and Dr. Hume, assistant professor of speech, delivered the closing address.

Salukis Start Fall Baseball Practice

Fall baseball practice for the Southern Salukis started last Tuesday. Coach “Abe” Martin’s call was answered by 87 men, only four of whom are letterman from last year.

Ed Coleman and Chuck Valter returned to their positions at second and third in the infield. Captain Jim Schmidtch is the only veteran in the outfield and Tom Millikin is the one returning pitcher. Bob Ems and Reid Martin are busy on the gridiron, and Wayne Grandclaus is slated to join the team after returning from a Canadian Industrial League Sept. 25.

Despite the lack of experienced veterans, Coach Martin is highly optimistic. Of the 87 candidates, 10 are catchers, and 11 are first basiners. Assuming Martin is two lettermen of last season, Art Mendez and Matt Weisbecker. Both are ineligible for competition because of graduation, but are aiding in the coaching duties. Weisbecker is working with the catchers, and Mendez with the infielders.

Charles Weiss is a class “A” ballplayer in the New York Yankee farm system, he is also on the coaching staff. Charlie is enrolled as a student at Southern, but is ineligible to play under I. A. C. rules. Bob Pranks is also back in uniform.

Four more games are scheduled for the fall season. This Wednesday, the Salukis will travel to Cape Girardeau for a game with the Indians. The remainder of the schedule is: Sept. 29—Chester Prison (there), Oct. 4—Tamaroa (there), and a game to be played at Metropolis at an indefinite date.

Fall Football Schedule

Southern’s grid schedule for this fall will include four home games. The first home game will be played Sept. 22 against Central Michigan, also the first I. A. C. game of the 1951 season. This game will be played under the lights, newly installed last year for the Shrine game. The following game with Northern Illinois State Normal on Oct. 6 also will be played at night, starting time, 8:00. Homecoming is scheduled for Oct. 27 when the Salukis will clash with Eastern Illinois. The home season will close with a game against Arkansas State Nov. 24.

Five road games are scheduled, the first against Northern on Sept. 29. A new opponent in the form of Washington U. will play host to the Salukis on Oct. 13. On Oct. 19 Southern will travel to Macomb for a game against Western. After a game at Michigan State Normal on Nov. 10, the Salukis will close their road schedule at Cape Girardeau on Nov. 17.

Two former grid stars of Southern, Jim Lovin and Chuck Mathieu, have returned to aid in coaching the last on which they once made football history. Jim Wilkinson, former SIU wrestling coach, has also returned after a year's stay at Oregon State and is now handling the "B" squad.

Both Lovin and Mathieu were linemen on the 1947 team which met North Central in a postseason "Corn Bowl" game. Lovin was elected to the all-conference team for four straight seasons from 1946 to 1949. His jersey number 78, was officially retired in a ceremony last season and is now on display in the trophy case in the men's gym.

Mathieu and Lovin replace Clarence Bradley and John Corn of last year's staff. Corn, also a member of the "Corn Bowl" squad, is now working with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Bradley is now coaching at the Christopher high school.
