Greeks Move Into New Quarters

By Harry Thirl

Four Greek organizations at Southern, thus far, have moved their headquarters into new quarters for the fall term.

The men's Greek house, Delos Zeta, Pi Kappa Sigma, and Omega Chi, have moved into the upper floor of the new, although unfinished, building.

These members are accustomed to living in unfinished rooms, not only because of the much needed and desired quarters for the fall term.

Delos Zeta, Pi Kappa Sigma and Omega Chi were housed in separate quarters, but have now combined as a single house. The new quarters have been built on the top floor of the new, almost finished building.

A few words about the Greek house, which will be finished soon, and will be located on the top floor of the new, almost finished building.

The Greek house will have a large living room, a study area, a kitchen, and a private room for each member.

The new quarters are spacious and comfortable, and will provide a perfect place for the Greek organizations to live and conduct their business.

The move into the new quarters is a big step forward for the Greek organizations at Southern, and it is sure to bring many new opportunities for their members.

Thanks to the hard work of the Greek organizations, the new quarters are now ready for their members to move in. It is a proud moment for all of us to see the Greek organizations at Southern thrive in their new quarters.

ID Cards Both Headache, Blessing

By Dan Hakes
ID cards: a headache for students and photographers. For a year to campus activities—Have you

Thousands of students already have been possessed, single life, in time for the identification phase of the university's Photographic Service. During Student Week enrollment pictures were taken by the photographers, with the exception of all students who were freshermen at the time the photographs were made.

"Now," according to Dr. C.
William Holler, director of the university's Photographic Service, "identification photos will be made in our studio on South Thompson Street. Students will be allowed three weeks 'make up' time to have pictures taken below a time limit, five cents into effect."

The ID cards were to be issued students and admit them to various university activities.

Before being photographed, each

When the student's photo
is ready, it is in card form in ball point ink.
Engraved above the name, "student," the

The long list of acceptable photos is processed. The actual card is sized according to the student's identification photos, a negative a card which the student designs the card. The cards are photographic printed in the darkness of the instamatic camera. The activity cards are seven, and the student's picture is done, the activity card is taken over to the Laboratory.

D Camera Confiscates Freshmen Photographers, or at least the Photographic Service, take activity

Husking Speaks On Freshman Four Rs Dr. Fred Husking, president of the "Four Rs of Freshman Promise" list of series of Student Union functions during the freshman year. The "Four Rs" are:
Revel: when the student
enjoy himself.
Note: when the student
write well in his written work.
Opportunity: when the student find opportunity to improve himself through his work.
Relate: when the student connect with others.

Teacher, Robert S. Stiles, left his students with one advice: "If you do not like college, leave it.
But do not blame yourself, the college, or the rest of the world."
