ROAD TO OPEN INVESTIGATION TUESDAY

Propose $4,516,880 Budget For SNU -- 125 Additional Faculty Members Planned

University President Chester P. Lay and Business Manager Edward V. Miles, Jr., appeared before the General Assembly's Budgetary Committee on Tuesday to "argue the case" for the new four- and one-half million dollar proposed budget for Southern.

The new $4,516,880 proposed budget, which has been approved by the State Teachers College Board, would provide $913,322 for the addition of 23 full professors, 34 associate professors, 33 assistant professors, 13 instructors and 16 faculty assistants.

Among these new appointments would be specialists who would develop training programs in such fields as anthropology, folklore, forestry, geology, photography, recreation, social service work, visual education, clinical psychology, art in elementary schools, bacteriology, dairying, dietetics, farm management, finance, horticulture, institutional management, marketing, mining and mine operations, philosophy, psychology, vocational drawing and vocational machine shop.

Some work in many of these subjects has been available, but it is proposed to bring in at least one expert in each of these particular subjects, and in some cases several.

Since the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the College of Vocations and Professions are Southern's newest branches, the new teaching positions will be in these colleges.

The College of Education, however, is also slated for considerable expansion, with the proposed addition of 17 new staff members.

Expansion is also contemplated for existing departments such as art, English, foreign language, journalism, economics, home economics, sociology, Latin-American Studies, and others.

Music Students Well Received At Recital

The Student Recital presented January 15 in the Little Theatre, well received by those present. The entire program was well done and Thomas Parks who sang "Sea Fever" by Ireland was outstanding.

The Madrigal Singers, directed by Mr. F. V. Wakeland, associate professor of music, also deserve special praise. These singers, dressed in their traditional Elizabethan costume sang "In These Delightful Groves" by Purcell, "Oh Eyes of My Beloved" by de Lasso, "The Little White Hen" by Schendelero and as an encore, "Oh Can You See Cuckoos" by Bantock.

Others on the program in order of their appearance were as follows: "May Night" by Palmron as a piano solo by Patricia Field.

"Lore" by J. S. Bach as a violin number by Harold Gray.

"Soliloquy" by C. P. E. Bach as a piano number by Fred Lee Probst.

"Du bist die Ruh" by Schubert as a vocal solo by Carol Lee Werner.

MAVERICK SPEAKS ON RUSSIAN IMPERIALISM

Dr. Lewis A. Maverick, professor of economics, emphasized the international complications resulting from the Russian movements toward raising outlets to the sea in his discussion on "The Russian Imperialist Program" last night at the first of the series of forum meetings dealing with international problems currently being sponsored by the Independent Student Union.

Dr. Maverick pointed out that Russia's plans for control of the Danish peninsula, the port city of Trieste, the Dardanelles Straits, Aegean Sea, and other strategic approaches to "warm waters" will bring about problems and conflicts of world wide significance.

Lewis Watts, freshman from East St. Louis, served as student chairman of the forum.

Next Thursday in the second of the series, Dr. Frank Klineberg, associate professor of government, will speak on "The Denazification of Germany" in the Little Theatre at 8 p. m. Julius Swayne will be student chairman.

Marion Thornsbury of Christopher, was elected president; Bob Lanier, of Anna, is vice president; J. W. Elliott, of Metropolis, is secretary; and Bob Kirkpatrick, of Sesser, is treasurer.

The club was organized in conjunction with the Carbondale airport which the flying club will use and will use a Piper Cub, formerly an army trainer, which has recently been completely overhauled.

Meetings of the organization will be on Wednesday night, until such time as a flying schedule is formulated and the plane turned over to the club.

Paul Swearingen Tells of Radio 'Hams' Who Operate Stations In Carbondale

By Fred O. Crommer

One of the six "ham" operators located in Carbondale is Southern student, Paul Swearingen, who stated that these operators possess sets capable of contacting any part of the United States and a few outside the continental limits of the states.

Some of these sets are so constructed that their nearest point of communications would be as distant as California. Stations in South America are contacted regularly. During a recent flood in this area, "ham" stations at Carbondale, Harrisburg, and Metropolis, relayed emergency messages to the Red Cross and were instrumental in helping with rescue work.

"Amateur radio forms a large reserve of well-trained communications men who would be useful if war should ever come again," Swearingen said. "I believe any person of average intelligence should include the role of radio," he added.

Southern is well represented among camps that communicate daily. Other universities participating are Purdue, Kansas, Wisconsin, Ohio, and Eastern Illinois State Teachers at Charleston. The information exchanged between these operators is instructive to students and helps spread the names and attributes of the var-

Legislation to change the name of Southern Illinois Normal University to Southern Illinois University was filed by Sen. R. C. Cravenberry (R) Murphysboro, Monday.

Cravenberry said the bill would not give Southern any more authority than it now has and would not change the present governing board. No action was taken on the measures pending assignment to a committee later.

His topic of discussion will be "Problems of School Reorganization in Illinois."

Mr. Hughes has been selected as speaker because of the active part he has taken in the current school reorganization program in the state and because of the consolidation experiment he is conducting this year in his county.

This chapter of the Future Teachers of America is sponsoring a series of informal discussions on the problems of students and faculty members for the purpose of studying major school needs in Illinois. The meetings are to be held Monday evenings at the third-floor level of the Main building, to determine whether a member of the

All students and faculty members, PTA or not, are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Hearing Will Be Held Behind Closed Doors

Investigation of Southern's administration by the State Teachers College Board will be carried on behind closed doors according to a statement made by Chairman Frank Thompson last Tuesday. Members of the press in addition to the general public will be excluded from the hearing which is to be held at the Roberts hotel on January 21 following the regular business session of the Board on Southern's campus, January 20.

According to Mr. Thompson, the closed door policy was to be adopted to protect those persons who may appear before the Board to testify in the hearing which is intended to determine the efficiency of President Chester P. Lay.

Asked if members of the faculty and others who appear before the Board will be protected from future reprisals, Mr. Thompson also stated that "anyone who comes into the hearing will be protected."

Richard Duden of Bloomington, an attorney and Board member, will be in charge of the investigation.

Considerable criticism of the closed door policy has been heard from various persons interested in the investigation of the "situation," according to newspaper reports of the announcement. Times who contended that the meeting of the Board would be merely a whitewash session are said to argue that this action is conclusive proof that such was the actual purpose of the Board. Others have been quoted as saying that they would refuse to present testimony if they were deprived of the protection of a public hearing.

The investigation by the Board is the result of a request by the Southern Alumni Association for an impartial investigation of the "situation" by the Teachers College Board. Previous to the Board's Assembly of the Southern Division, Illinois Education Association, had voted to appoint a committee to confer with Dr. Lay on the "adverse publicity" which the Southern Division said was prevalent throughout the area. In addition, 500 veterans had signed a petition requesting Gov. Glenn to remove Dr. Lay from office by changing the president with ineffective. The editor of the Egyptian Key had also printed an editorial strongly urging Dr. Lay's resignation.

The press release from Springfield which announced the hearing was that the Board would be held behind closed doors.

"The State Teachers College Board announced today the special hearing on 'unfavorable publicity' about Southern Illinois Normal University at Carbondale which will be held on January 21 at the Roberts Hotel in Carbondale.

"The Board will meet Monday, January 20, on the campus at Southern but the regular business session of the Board will occupy the next day. It was previously announced the special hearing would begin on Monday.

"All those who desire to be heard, in the manner set forth by the Board in its original announcement of the special investigation, are requested to appear at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning or as soon thereafter as possible to avoid delay in the hearing."

According to an alumni officer, Dr. Bailey is not authorized to speak before the Board for that association or its directorate.

DR. VAN LENTE UNDERGOES MAJOR OPERATION

Dr. Kenneth Van Lente, professor of chemistry, yesterday underwent a major operation at St. Mary's hospital in Rochester, Minnesota. According to a telegram from the hospital received here by Mrs. Van Lente, the operation was successful.

PRES. RENDLEMAN CRITICIZES CLOSED DOOR POLICY

Disapproval of the State Teachers College Board's closed door policy, which that body has announced will be effective at its investigation of the "situation" on January 22, was voiced yesterday by Mr. Russell Rendleman, president of the Southern Division, Illinois Education Association. Mr. Rendleman stated, "The hearing should be open to the public and anything that is said or done should be released to the public. There is no way the situation at SIUC can be better or more truthfully clarified than to have the hearing open to the public."

Mr. Rendleman also expressed the opinion that the public has little faith in the State Teachers College Board and that it will give very little consideration to the Board's recommendations and investigatory activities if its work is to be done behind closed doors.

The Daily Independent also quoted an unnamed former faculty member as terming the policy ridiculous and saying that university officials should have the right to attend the hearing.

Meanwhile it has been heard from unofficial sources that the Board recently sent out a number of letters to members of the Board, Nekel, state director of education, and secretary of the Board, to several former faculty members and others asking them to submit any data or information they had for transmission to the Board. Deadline for receipt of these communications was set for today.

Evidence of the importance of the meeting is the fact that there are 22 reservations on file at the Roberts Hotel for those attending the hearing. The editor of the Egyptian Key had also printed an editorial strongly urging Dr. Lay's resignation.

The press release from Springfield which announced the hearing was that the Board would be held behind closed doors.

The Southern Parade
By DAVE KENNEY

Let's all hope the Illinois General Assembly sees fit to approve the four and one-half million dollar budget which has been proposed for Southern. If she is to adequately serve the area in which she is located, a budget of those proportions is not only desirable, it is vitally necessary. If there is to be any great amount of educational expansion here at Carbondale, the way will have to be paved with dollars, and many of them. The addition to the faculty of 125 new members, and the expansion of a number of fields which have in the past been able to offer only a limited amount of instruction, both which would be made possible by the new budget, would go a long way toward making Southern into the type of university she should be—that she must be if educational justice is done.

Selfishness is not a pretty word. It is something an educated person should be rid of. In the pages of last week's Egyptian there was a selfish thought. The column, And So the Story Goes, proposed that all complimentary passes be revoked, and expressed a considerable amount of concern over the crowded condition of the gymnasium during a recent basketball game. Why shouldn't it be crowded? With a team of the calibre of Southern's crowd gym it to be expected. Surely an enthusiastic support of the townspeople is better than their indifference.

According to And So the Story Goes, "Tickets were sold to outsiders while students were still standing." What is so very wrong with that? If students were standing at the time, surely the outsiders were forced to stand too. Seems fair enough.

And as for those "very dangerous spots under the goals," that description of them hardly seems justified since there have been no serious, nor even minor, injuries to spectators sitting in those spots reported for some time.

So far this season, any student arriving at the gymnasium at a reasonable time has been able to find a seat easily enough. It's hardly right for one, who, because of his job or some other personal reason can't get there until game time to expect the athletic department to change its policies for his benefit by cancelling complimentary tickets. A better approach to the problem would be for each of us to recognize that the enrollment here at Southern has outgrown her gymnasium and to try to make the best of it in a cooperative spirit rather than in a selfish one.

And So the Story Goes
By CURTIS HISE and CLETIS HISE

THE CRAB ORCHARD MONOPOLY: It seems that two Carbondale citizens by the name of Cecil Davis and Walker Schwartz have been given a 10-year contract by the U. S. Division of Soil Conservation to hold a concessionary monopoly on a major part of Crab Orchard Lake.

Last week two outstanding Southern Illinois organizations, the Southern zone of the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's clubs and the Crab Orchard Lake Advisory committee recommended that the Crab Orchard area be returned to the Soil Conservation Service to the National Park Service in a move to cancel the contract which Davis and Schwartz hold and which becomes effective February 1 of this year.

According to various Southern Illinois presses the contract has raised quite a "stink" down here in Egypt. "The Harrisburg Register had this to say—"They'll have exclusive rights to establish, with federal approval, any type of money-making project on the shores of the lake in addition to projects which now exist. They also will collect for their own benefit the fee levied on all who maintain boats on the lake as well as operate dock facilities and maintain boats for hire.

And listen to this: By the terms of the contract no person, club or civic organization may conduct any affair at the lake from which revenue is derived. This includes such things as church picnics at which the sale of soft drinks would help pay expenses. And the Crab Orchard Boat club is prohibited from conducting any affair at its quarters on the lake for which admission would be charged. Neither can the club sell refreshments."

That pretty well sums up the situation in regards to the contract.

We support the move to nullify the Davis-Schwartz contract under the terms as they now exist. And we ask you, as a citizen of Southern Illinois voiced your opinion on this important issue?

TRUMAN CHALKS UP ANOTHER ONE: What kind of a Secretary of State will General George C. Marshall make? That was the sixty-four dollar question today.

Having noticed quite thoroughly General Marshall's work in China, we are not certain whether he has the potential leadership which this country needs at this time in foreign affairs. We are aware that he has the leadership of the highest caliber, but is that the leadership we need in the Department of State?

While he has reported there will be little change in the actual foreign policy, he is nevertheless, making a complete "shakedown" of the Department of State—a shakedown which will probably see many old Army colonels take over high diplomatic posts.

The Republican congress could hardly wait to confirm the new conservative secretary. It seems again that the Republican congress and the Republican press has thrown its whole-hearted support behind a military man.

But the Republicans were not alone. Senator Edwin C. Johnson, (D) Colorado, even went so far as to support Mr. Truman as president in 1948 if Truman declines to run. Johnson as you may remember was formerly the ranking member of the Senate Military Affairs committee.

Mr. Truman has chalked up another one on his growing list of military men in diplomatic posts.

SHORT SNORTS: A virtual gold mine of opportunity is awaiting some industrious Southern student. In a letter to this column we have been informed of what may turn out to be one of the busiest transportation services in Carbondale—a three point ferry service from Carters-Library-Old Main.

The young man who sent us this letter suggested that it might be possible for a group of students to form a corporation and each work an hour per day. We think, however, that the franchise should be given to some fraternity which can let their pledges operate the ferry.

Just think how many Southern students have waited through this sea of opportunity without ever realizing the possibilities.

Question Box for Vets

Vets Welcome
It is evident that the veterans on Southern's campus either have not heard of the American Legion recreation center or else they do not care to take advantage of the opportunities offered them for the past two months.

The Carbondale branch of the American Legion is located at 400 W. Main. The recreation center under the direction of Bill Gooch, contains a club room with recreation facilities in the basement and a lounge in the second floor. Refreshments can be obtained. On week days the center is open from 4 p. m. to 11:30 p. m., on Saturdays 10 a. m. to 11:30 p. m., on Sunday 12 noon to 6 p. m.

A CLOSED DOOR POLICY

Chairman Frank Thompson's statement to the Munsboro Daily Independent Tuesday night that the press, including the press, will be barred from the Board's session of the Southern administration next week, called the question which has been in the minds of many people these past few weeks.

Thompson stated that the hearing session would be held behind closed doors to protect those persons who appear to submit pertinent information. This means that the Board, and no other group, will hear the information of which it will base its decision.

Although some persons planning to testify may feel that they will be protected with the closed door policy, others might take the attitude that protection by the public is essential, and thus hesitate to reveal any information.

Through this column we invite students, faculty, and friends of Southern to express your ideas. We must know the source of any article, but we will withhold your name if you wish it, and we retain the right to withhold any material that would violate the ethics of journalism and freedom of the press.

MOM NEWS

Rex Baker, Southern alumnus and celebrated author of the Moron News, a column which appeared in the Egyptian in pre-war days, and now one of the consultants of the SPPMOM, paid a flying visit to our campus early this week in behalf of the "burd." He, it seems, is making things ready here for an intensive drive aimed at increased membership, complete with sound truck and free ice cream.

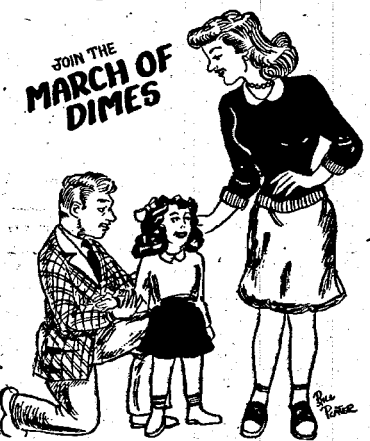

Baker asked to be remembered to all his old friends and seemed elated over the reception that MOM ideals have received here.

According to Whiteside's latest report plans are being currently made for the national SPPMOM convention which is to be held in St. Louis this summer. He promised that the Carbondale chapter, if it continues the fine work it has begun this winter, will be allotted a large number of delegates.

Maroons Top Western 48-42; Drop Cape Girardeau 42-39

By Bob McDowell

Continuing a successful home stand, the "Junior Whiz Kids" have marked up two home games during the past week as they downed Western Teachers 48-42 last Saturday night and dropped Cape Girardeau 42-39 in a thriller the following Tuesday.

The Western affair, first conference meeting of the season for either squad, was one of the roughest affairs ever to be witnessed in the local gym, although the number of fouls called was not great.

Quentin Stinson was high point man in this contest with 11 points, followed by Johnny Sebastian, who had eight. Bill Will, lanky forward with a deformed arm, was the big gun for Western with nine points.

The Leathernecks, who had not been too impressive on paper, threw the local fans into panic when they took the lead, but the Maroons' second team took over the chores late in the period and fought down to the final gun.

Cape Contest
The Cape Indians really threw a scare into the fans as they used a slot machine type of basketball, shooting only when they were sure of their shots, to build up a 20-14 lead in the first half, but the Maroons' pressing man-to-man defense soon broke this up. However, when at the 10-minute mark of the last half, the Indians had a 28-20 lead, the Southern's cause seemed lost. Then Johnny Ruzich, substitute guard, put on a one-man show by scoring nine straight points to tie the score. Oliver Shoaff, Stinson and Sebastian put on a rally that gave the Maroons the lead, which they never relinquished.

The Indians threatened in the final minute as Merrick flipped in a desperation shot from mid-floor that brought the score to 41-39, but once again Ruzich stepped in to stem the tide with a free throw just before the whistle blew.

Everything Wrong
Everything seemed to go wrong in this game. First the clock stuck, then the referee's whistle wouldn't blow. The fans were exasperated by Herb T. Ball handler and free throw foul disputes, who led

GRADE SCHOOL KIDS?
Every time we see another of our instructors start checking roll in order to make those reports of our attendance or lack of it in their classes, we wonder what would happen to Southern if we students acted like the grade school kids that the faculty, or who ever was responsible for that innovation, seems to think we are.

SINU Opponents

The Oklahoma Aggies have been recognized in basketball circles as the country's number one cage team. They have gained an impressive record this season. However, that record suffered a blow last Friday when the St. Louis University Billikens took them into camp by a 38-20 score. Southern fans will be interested in comparing the Aggies' performance against the Billikens with that of Coach Lynn Holder's Maroons. In early season play, the Maroons dropped a very close decision to St. Louis by six points, 63 to 57. While this doesn't mean, of course, that Southern has a better team than Oklahoma, it does mean she can hold her own in any competition in which she happens to find herself this season.

The Bill' Ed McCauley was their key man as they trounced back the Aggies. This six-foot eight inch shotmaker will be remembered as the man who poured 29 points through the hoop when his team topped Southern last month. McCauley is evidently a valuable man to have around.

Hank Ha, well-known Oklahoma coach, decided at St. Louis was the best defensive team he has seen all season, and he's seen the nation's best. And against that defense the Maroons tallied 27 points.

When the Maroons visit the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference lead on the line tomorrow night, they will be pitted against the up-and-coming Charleston Panthers whose record includes recent wins over Indiana State, Millikin of Decatur, and Illinois Normal. Charleston topped Indiana by nine points, 51 to 42, when the Maroons were hard pressed to take out a 57-54 triumph over the same team. On the basis of those scores, Charleston appears to be a dangerous opponent. She took the measure of Illinois Normal in a game of last week, a clear cut decision which will rate the Maroons as superior to Normal in the event they turn back the Panthers tomorrow night. Carbondale is to meet Normal February 1. Charleston won by a bare two points over the Millikin five, which is scheduled to put in its appearance Monday night.

The DeKalb Huskies went into a three way tie for the league lead with Carbondale and Charleston last Tuesday night as they defeated Macomb 35 to 29. Since the Maroons won out over Macomb by a margin of six points, the Huskies appear to be powerful. Coach Holder's men are scheduled to meet the DeKalb squad here next Saturday night.

At basketball games this season, it has been the rule rather than the exception to have the visiting coaches violent and exorbitant, which by the way, is their own business, and we certainly have no idea of reforming them. However, when the coaches verbally abuse the officials, it seems as though the time had come to mention it.

The official at any sporting game is a trained man who does not have any interest in the event, except that the rules be followed and obeyed. We have heard many officials at basketball games come to the scorer's bench after a close game and ask who was responsible. In many parts of the country, such abuse is not allowed by the officials, and a technical foul is called on the team whose mentor keeps after them.

Looking at the thing, it does not seem logical that anything is to be gained by berating the officials. The officials rarely change their decisions, and a coach that keeps after them will, whether the official realizes it or not, temporarily prejudice the decisions against himself. For example, when there is a close decision of whether a man was "charging" or whether he was "over-guarded," in the heat of the moment the official will be tempted to rule against the team whose coach has been "riding" him.

Of course, we don't mean that this is the rule, but rather we cited the example to show that the belligerent coach really has nothing to gain.

However, we suppose that there will always be plenty of men and official realizers to give the fans a thrill. At Southern, neither former coach, Glenn "Abbe" Martin, who led his team to a national intercollegiate championship, or present coach, Lynn Holder, whose team has won nearly twice as many as they have lost, fall into the above category, and they seem to have done some playing competitive sports.

Our pet "hate of the week" is the clock in the men's gym. It seems to out-do itself in not working. Recently, it stopped during the game, and in the last home game, one of the numbers stuck, and the public address announcer had to keep the fans informed about the score. Finally, seeming to realize that it had caused enough trouble, it worked faithfully during the rest of the game.

Women interested in bowling and table tennis should sign their names on the bulletin board in the women's gym. A tournament event will be drawn up, and the games will be played whenever basketball does not interfere.

Ninety women are out for basketball this season. Forty of these are freshmen: Margaret Kinsman, manager, has as her two freshmen assistants, Pat Patterson and Marie Kern. The freshmen will meet on Tuesday and Thursday, leaving Monday and Wednesday for the upperclassmen.

Eastern Here For Loop Lead Clash Saturday; Play Host To Millikin Monday Night

By Lewis Waters

Saturday night's basketball game between Eastern and Southern will decide who is to be the top team in the I.I.A.C. conference, at least for the present, as both teams have one victory and no defeats in league play. In comparison, Southern has defeated both Indiana State and Washington University, while Charleston has also played these two schools and has also beaten both of them. This game should be a high scoring match because both teams play the "fast break" type of basketball.

On Monday night, January 20, the Maroons are host to Millikin University here at Southern. Millikin was defeated by Charleston last week by only three points, thus, after Saturday night's game, fans can get some idea as to how the Maroons and the Big Blue compare.

The probable starting lineup in these games will be Oliver Shoaff and Johnny Sebastian at forward, Quentin Stinson at center, and Gene Hall and Bob Colborn, or Jimmie Martin, at guard. The woman who is an active member of this organization is indeed a busy one most of her school year.

This year the group is under the leadership of Evelyn Parker. President: Dolores Langdon, secretary.

Johnny Ruzich at guard. Eastern has the squad built around Elmo Hildebrand, star guard who can sink baskets from any place on the floor.

If you are interested in figures, then here are a few facts. In 13 games, the Maroons have won nine and lost four. They have averaged approximately 34 points a game. Their opponents have averaged almost 47 points a game. The Maroons now have only five more home games. After Eastern and Millikin, they will play host to Northern on January 25, Chicago on February 5, and State Normal on February 21. According to Glenn "Abbe" Martin, director of athletics, the schedule was averaged in this manner in order to work in the games with the larger schools. A preliminary game will get under way at 7 o'clock nights when the "B" squads will meet.

Excellent rebounding by Stinson and fancy passing attack gave Southern a 26-15 advantage at the half, but the Aces tied the score with a minute left in the game. Two free throws by Sebastian decided the tilt.

One of the most attractive aspects of the women's physical education department is the W.A.A. organization. This group was formed on Southern's campus for the furthering of women's sports. Organizations of this same kind are in action on other campuses of our neighboring colleges. It has been the practice of the Southern group to act as host to women from these other schools once every year when the day is spent in playing competitive sports.
