SOCIETY SPRING PLAYS SELECTED.

"Nothing But the Truth" and "Daddy Longlegs" have been chosen for the society plays to be given June 15th and 16th respectively, from a large assortment of modern and popular comedies.

The Socratic Society will present "Nothing But the Truth." It is one of the most sparkling, amusing, and popular dramas of the country, and is built upon the simple idea of a hero speaking truth to a state period. It was written by John Ten thousand dollars that he can do it, and boldly tackles truth to win the money.

For a very short time the task is plainly one, but truth routes out the trouble and then things begin to hum. It is a novel idea and so well worked out that an audience is kept in throes of laughter at the seemingly impossible task of untangle snarls into which the hero has involved himself and makes him have to eat. Miss Provillon will announce the cast later. Try outs are now held in the auditorium.

The Zetaic play: "Daddy Longlegs" needs no introduction. Those who have read Jean Webster's book know the possibilities of the play that has come out of the dramatization of her wonderful and appealing hero. The New York Times, in the morning following the Broadway production write: "if you will take your pencil and write down, one below the other, the words delightful, charming, sweet, beautiful and entertaining and then draw a line and add them up, the answer will be: "Daddy Longlegs.""

Dolly Hall and Ethel Parr will have the leading roles in this play.

Work will start in earnest on both plays immediately, and the coach and committee are confident that these will surpass all former productions.

OUR ENROLLMENT

The first part of the Spring Term, which usually has the smallest enrollment, has made a record this year with 222 registered last Friday. Of this number 556 are college students with 310 taking their Junior College Diploma and 14 the Senior College Diploma. Arrendale 1400 will be here for the mid-spring term.

The enrollment at the other State schools are: Charleston 469, Mount 465, Defe6ain 530, and Old Normal, over 800.

STAG SOCIAL

The stag social given by the Y. M. C. A., while not so well attended as usual, was a success in every respect. The arrangement of contests between Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and a Columbia left no doubt as to the effort put forth by the entertainment committee. And the hearty cooperation of those present showed that their efforts were appreciated. The success of Yale in these contests was partly due to reputation—or maybe repetition—as well as skill and wisdom.

Then there were the impromptu comic dances by Beare and Sherrard with accompanying music, which everyone enjoyed. Also the music by Mr. Beasley and readings by Mr. Hall were received with welcome. Then the whole affair would not have been complete but for Waller, Miller and Zeller gave their share of vocal music.

Another very interesting feature of the evening was the talk given by Mr. Lentz and one by Mr. Rainey. Mr. Lentz's remarks were given with the idea of welcome to Non-Y. M. C. A. fellows while Mr. Rainey's remarks confirmed the minds of the need and usefulness of the Association.

When time to come all were in proper spirit to participate. As a whole the evening was well spent. The spirit of helpfulness and sociability was evident among those present, and it is hoped that we may have other such gatherings, as well as large membership in the Y. During the present term.

UMBRELLA SOCIAL

Did you go to the umbrella social last Tuesday? If you didn't you are the loser for every one had a fine time.

During the days of registration quaint umbrella invitations were given the girls and at the designated time we gathered at the Gym for a lot of fun. Various games were played. Then a crowd of the girls, under the leadership of one Sue Ellen Lay, began singing:

When do we eat? When do we eat? I like my ham nice and brown. And your eggs turned upside down.

When do we eat? When do we eat? When do we eat?

Honest, I'm almost starved.

When do we eat?

HAVE YOU AN OVER-DUE BOOK?

Mylene Dollin made in basket ball the other day. She went to a two years ago and now you refuse to go.

Thru town and country side, You were my joy and pride; Ah, happy days, I love thy gaudy hue, hy nice tires so new, But now you are down and out for true, in many ways.

To thee, old rattle-box, Came many bumps and knocks; For thee I grieve, sadly thy top is worn, and gone the blare horn. The engine sings a whooshy song, I do believe, ye perfume swells the breeze While good folks choke and sneeze, As we pass by, paid for thee a price, 'Twould buy a mansion twice. Now everybody's yelling "ICE," I wonder why? Thy motor has the grip, Thy spark plugs have the pip. And woe is mine.

I too have suffered chills, And its kindred ills, Since thou went mine.

MY AUTO, 'TIS OF THEE

My auto, 'tis of thee,

Short cut to poverty.

Of thee I chant,

I blew a pile of dough

On you two years ago,

And now you refuse to go,

Or won't or can't.

Thru town and country side,

You were my joy and pride;

Ah, happy days,

I love thy gaudy hue,

by nice tires so new,

But now you are down and out for true,

in many ways.

To thee, old rattle-box,

Came many bumps and knocks;

For thee I grieve,

sadly thy top is worn,

and gone the blare horn.

The engine sings a whooshy song,

I do believe,

ye perfume swells the breeze

While good folks choke and sneeze,

As we pass by,

paid for thee a price,

'Twould buy a mansion twice.

Now everybody's yelling "ICE."

I wonder why?

Thy motor has the grip,

Thy spark plugs have the pip.

And woe is mine.

I too have suffered chills,

And its kindred ills,

Since thou went mine.

THE PARRABLE OF THE GOOD SAMARITAN IN COLLEGE

(By Charles W. Gilkey, The Woman's Press.)

Did you ever hear the parable of the Good Samaritan at an American college? A certain Freshman came down from home unto college, and she fell among critics who said that her clothes didn't fit and she hadn't got style and her personality was unfortunate and they robbed her of her self-confidence and her enthusiasm, and departed, leaving her sick and sore at heart and half dead. And by chance a certain Junior passed that way, and when she saw her, she said, "What a good job those sophomore critics did, and she passed by on the other side. And a certain Senior came that way, and she said, "Yea, verily, for she didn't the making of a good sorority girl," and she passed by on the other side.

But a certain special student as she journeyed that way, came where she was, and she had compassion on her and took her to her room and bound up her wounds, pouring in understanding and sympathy and friendship, and friendliness. And she put her on her feet again and introduced her to her own friends and was a friend to her.

Which of these three thinkest thou proved neighbor to the freshman that fell among the critics?

GO THOU AND DO THOU LIKEWISE.

MISS CLARA PRATT

Last week occurred the death of Mrs. Clara Pratt of the class of 1902. Mrs. Pratt was one of the leading women of the community. At the time of her death she was working in the office of Attorney Forich where she was studying law. She was so admitted to the bar this fall. Last spring Mrs. Pratt was elected to our College Faculty but later declined, preferring to continue her work in law.

Mrs. Pratt always had a great interest in our school and was well known by a large group of students. The following article written for the EGYPTIAN last year shows us her philosophy of education:

"Anything worth doing at all is worth doing well." Small tasks well done is the foundation for the great opportunities of life. Each task well learned is a firm step upon the road to success. Most of you may become teachers. They of all people, need to have learned the lesson well. Many of you who will take up some occupation, but whatever it happens to be, there will be one fundamental requirement to perform your work successfully, and that is a GOOD EDUCATION. True, some of our great men had not the opportunity to go to the public schools, but in all cases you will find, they achieved their success by acquiring an education thru experience and hard, earnest study whenever they could spare the time. As a business woman and one who has had experience in placing stenographers, bookkeepers, salesmen, managers, etc., thru an employment bureau of a large city, I would like to say to all young people, those of you who are going to be able to fill life's biggest places are those who have learned to do each day's task to the best of your ability for when the golden opportunity of each life comes, no amount of "cramping" will avail. The daily task well done is what counts.

-Clara Pratt, Class '02.

If you get your income tax coupons you go to fall. If you get it right you go to the pursehouse.

If you keep your money, you're a fool. If you own a car, you're extravagant. If you don't, you're a hick.

If you walk fast you get blood pressure.

BUY CAREFULLY

We respectfully put before you the advisability of anticipating your requirements, and of buying now most of the things you will need in the near future.

Prices are continually advancing. There is no prospect of an early decline. Later on you will have to pay more for the same goods—or even for merchandise not so good.

It is unwise to buy more than you need, or to buy with the purpose of hoarding. But it is the height of wisdom to take advantage of prevailing prices, and buy your present need now, as well as to anticipate those of the early future.

JOHNSON, VANCIL, TAYLOR CO.

OUTSIDE OF THAT, HE IS ALL RIGHT

Man comes into this world without his consent and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continued round of contraries and misunderstandings by his fellow beings. In his infancy he is an angel; in his boyhood he is a devil; in his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; in his old age he is a fool; if he raises a small check, he's a thief and then the law raises hell with him; if he is a poor man he is a bad manager and has no sense; if he is rich he is dishonest but considered smart; if he is in politics you can't place him, as he is an undesirable citizen; if he goes to church he is a hypocrite; if he stays away he is a sinner and damned; if he donates to a foreign mission he does it for show; if he doesn't he is a stingy and a tightwad. When he first comes into the world everybody wants to kiss him; before he goes out they all want to kick him; if he dies young, there was a bright future before him; if he lives to a ripe old age, he is in the way and living to save funeral expenses.

This is a funny road, but we will like to travel it just the same, so join the line of the cheerful.

Alice Kalusy wrote the following letter to Searc and Roebuck, ordering a box of rouge:

"Dear Sirs: Please find enclosed 50c for a box of rouge as advertised and oblige, Alice Kalusy."

"P. S.: I forgot to enclose the 50c but no doubt a firm of your standing will send the box of rouge anyway."

The firm addressed the letter and replied as follows:

"Dear Madam: Your most valued order received the other day, and will say in reply that we are sending the box of rouge as per request and hope that it will prove satisfactory.

"P. S.: We forgot to enclose the rouge, but no doubt a person with your cheek will have no need of it."
"HENRY, WHERE ARE YOU?"

On Friday evening the Zetetic Society presented a one-act comedy entitled, "Henry, Where Are You?" The scene of the comedy was the veranda of Uncle Henry's country home at Grasmere. Glenn Fiehle took the part of Uncle Henry, a bachelor of forty-five, who lived alone at Grasmere. Uncle Henry's sister Mrs. Maria Pratt (Merdith Smith) heard that Uncle Henry was in love with the charming Widow Le Sturm (Maudie Smith), May Moore (Edith Mears), and Frances Fenton (Leone Smith), all come to visit their uncle. They all come for the same reason to see their friend John. When they learn of Uncle Henry's affair they all endeavor to assist him in meeting the widow. They endeavor to get rid of Aunt Maria, who is always in the way. When the tea party is at its height, Aunt Maria returns to the house. The girls hide the widow behind the high backed chair. Aunt Maria and the maid (Marie Wailer), have a conversation in which the widow is frightened and screams, "Henry, where are you?" Henry appears and all is well, because the widow calls him Henry, thus scaring Aunt Maria away.

What Happened To Dad

My Dad tells college tales galore.
That happened back in days of yore,
How when the football score was tied,
He won the game, then almost died.

He gets along O. K. awhile
Until his memory fails a mile,
Then Dad's tale is ruined right here
'Cause he fails to remember back twenty years.

But when I become a dad you see
I'll bet the kids don't corner me,
For I'll prove my tale with an Obelisk,
And with the kids I'll make a hit.

The exchange columns this week: New of course there are some students who will agree with the above. But do we have too much of this "fun and frivolity"? After three years of experience the Editor feels that the paper is not so overbalanced. We see in the above paper columns that the "Revival meetings begin a Mystery Grove," "College Church takes step toward providing larger place of worship," "Volunteer Band," "Ministerial Association," "Missionary Conference will convene next month," "Ministerial," "Religious Reflections." All of these are in the same paper. Which paper is overbalanced?

The following is also from the same paper:

"We note in many of the college papers that the exchange columns are not always fulfilling its purpose..."
