To Much On Religion?

Should religion be a basis for the selection of the president of the United States?

This is a question which will be of the utmost importance to a presidential candidate for the next few months. Students should have more than a passing interest in the question, for many college students will be voting in the Nov. election. And the man who is elected will be calling the shots nationwide for the next four years.

Statistics tend to prove that on a comparable basis, more people are attending church today than ever before. This indicates that more people should be familiar with the principles of religion than ever before. Yet many people seem to be making more of an issue over the religion of a man than of the physical, moral and responsible characteristics he must have in order to be leading man of our nation.

We are neither denouncing nor advocating Catholicism. We are not saying that a man whose life should not be shown when he is attempting to guide the outcome of our nation's life, for four years. We are only saying that the American public, more educated now than ever before in our history—should be brought into consideration than his religion. There have been presidents who undoubtedly expressed atheism, though not publicly.

Should one of the presidential qualifications be that the person be anything but Catholic? Religion has become the most compelling issue of the Wisconsin voting next week and if Sen. John F. Kennedy is nominated for president, will undoubtedly be an issue in the election campaign next fall.

The answer is that non-Catholics should take it upon themselves to investigate the principles of Catholicism and learn for themselves the intricacies of the religion. It is somewhat amazing that a progressive, intellectual nation such as the United States still holds to an enigma which hounded Al Smith 30 years ago. Anti-Catholic organizations which are currently denouncing Kennedy fail to realize or dwell upon the fact that the current vice president of the United States is Quaker, considered a minority sect. Yet, no punches have been taken at Nixon for his chosen life.

What all this leads up to is that students should reflect before making bold statements for or against an issue of this proportion. We have been taught in our history—should be brought into consideration than his religion. There have been presidents

Salute To APO

Several organizations on campus perform acts of service to the University. The groups go unheralded for the most part and much of their work is lost in the shuffle.

One such group is Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. It is a group of former Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts, the local fraternity has recently contributed two very definite services to the student body—Four Leds' concert and the Ugly Man Contest and dance last weekend.

The fraternity was almost stricken 10 days before the scheduled Johnny Mathis concert Feb. 13 when Mathis cancelled a tour of college performances. However, the Four Leds were signed on a week's notice, tickets were either refunded or exchanged and the prices lowered.

The fraternity worked for almost two months in promoting, planning and publicizing the Ugly Man Contest and dance. Their efforts were rewarded with a small crowd at Lantz Hall. Publicity by the Shelley Bernan shows accounted for many absences, but at any rate a large amount of planning and work was enjoyed by a few people.

The group presented a check to the Campus Chest for $150, the amount of money collected in the Ugly Man Contest. The fraternity constitutes a very definite asset to Southern.

The Peeping Tom

By Joe Dill

Taking a chance on being accused of blowing our own horn, we're reproducing an article written by the wife of a newswoman, which appeared in a long-past issue of 'American Publisher', a journalistic magazine. "What is a newspaperman?" "He is a cross between a bundle of nerves and a heroic public servant. He is the people's friend whom everybody is mad at; the gatherer of news who hasn't time to read his own mail; the power of the printed word encased in a fallible human frame.

"The habit of the newspaperman is wherever you may find him (and just try that dinner table or typewriter or a telephone. Anatomically he is a unique creature, subsisting almost exclusively on caffeine and nicotine, and well on his way to a fine case of ulcers before he's 30.

"His habits tend to be primarily nocturnal, from temperamentally as much as from necessity. And if by chance he ever does get a quiet evening at home, then without fail the fire sirens blow or the phone rings, and you don't see him again for another five hours.

"He is constantly preoccupied when you try to talk to him about the trivia of his personal life, for his mind is a whirlpool of 35-point headlines, that error in Jones' and Swamy's classified, and where to dig up the dope on that story some local VIP was not authorized to divulge.

"A newspaperman is the crazy fool with the camera, out barreled in on the season's worst storm, or crouching so close to the goal line he's going to get a cleat in his teeth any minute, or trying to herd the Ladies' Literary Circle into order so he can take their picture and get out of there!

"A newspaperman is considered fair game for taking pot shots at by everyone in the community, the irate woman, civic uplift league because he didn't publish every detail of their goings-on, and the wrathful local politicians because he did not publish theirs. And yet he is the guy who is supposed to be nice to everyone from the little old lady who takes half an hour on the day the paper goes to press asking him to change her subscription from $2. Elm Street to 91 Elm Street, to the big advertiser whose special sale price was supposed to read $98 and somehow got in the paper at $18.

"Underneath his traditionally hard exterior, the newspaperman is human and as sensitive as any craftsman about his work. If you want to make him insanely angry, give him a lead in an important story and then say, 'but don't print that, we don't think people should know about it yet.' If you want to make him utterly miserable, point out four errors in the front page after he has read

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

FLOSSY CALLED OFF THEIR MARRIAGE AND WRECKED HIS ENTIRE FUTURE—SHE WAS GOING TO GET A JOB IN PA FOR HIS NEXT 3 YEARS OF COLLEGE!

Writer Changes Mind

Dear Sir: Recently I was on the SIU campus as a prospective transfer student from the University of Illinois. After visiting your campus, however, I went home and mailed my application to Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

In the center of your campus, near the end of a closed street called Harwood, there is an old sign on it proclaiming "SIU POLICE." Was this immediately confused. Was this particular agency attempting to exemplify "The Status Seekers" or "The Hidden Persuaders?"

Throughout the evolution of mankind, and indeed, all Christendom, neon signs have ordinarily been identified as a form of advertising. It seems to me that a neon sign is deliberate decapitation of the dignity of an agency whose prime reason for existence is service to the University.

Yours is the first campus I've seen where the police station is called to the attention of visitors; rather than some other ivy and tradition covered building, I didn't know your discipline problem was so severe down there.

I've noticed also how thoughtful and considerate you are of others. This is suffering

"NO PARKING"

As everyone knows, the most serious problem facing American colleges today is the shortage of parking space for students' cars. Many remedies have been offered to solve this vexing dilemma. For instance, it has been suggested that all students be required to drive small foreign sports cars which can be carried in the purse or pocket. This would, of course, solve the parking problem but it would make double dating impossible—unless, that is, the boys make the girls run along behind the car. But that is no solution either because by the time they talk to the prom the girls will be panting so hard that they will writhe their corseages. Another suggested cure for our parking woes is that all students smoke Marlboro cigarettes. At first glance this seems an excellent solution because we all know Marlboro is the cigarette which proved that favor did not go out when filters came in—and when we sit around and smoke good Marlboro we are so possessed by sweet contentment that none of us wishes ever to leave, which means no gadding about which means no driving, which means no parking problem. But the argument in favor of Marlboro overlooks one important fact: when you run out of Marlboro you must go get some more, which means driving, which means parking, which means you're right back where you started. Probably the most practical suggestion to alleviate the campus parking situation is to tear down every school of dentistry in the country and turn it into a parking lot. This is not to say that dentistry is unimportant. Gracious, no! Dentistry is important and vital and a shining part of our American heritage. But the fact is there is no real need for separate schools of dentistry. Dentistry could easily be moved to the school of mining engineering. Surely anyone who can drill a thousand feet for oil can fill a simple little cavity.

This experiment—combining dentistry with mining engineering—has already been tried at several colleges—and with some very interesting results. Take, for instance, the case of a dental student named Fred C. Sigfoos. One day recently Fred was out practicing with his drilling rig in a vacant lot just off campus. He sank a shaft two hundred feet deep and, to his surprise and delight, he struck a detergent mine. For a while Fred thought his fortune was made but he soon learned that he had drilled into the storage tank of the Eagle Laundry. Walter P. Eagle, president of the laundry, was mad as all get-out and things looked mighty bleak for Fred. But it all ended well. When Mr. Eagle called Fred into his office to chew him out, it so happened that Mr. Eagle's beautiful daughter, Patient Griselda, was present. For years Patient Griselda had been patiently waiting for the right man. "That's him!" she cried upon spying Fred—and today Fred is a full partner in the Eagle Laundry in charge of plants and rollers.

Specialty of handkerchiefs reminds us of chambray which is worn worldwide as of Alton Marlboro and universal Philip Morris both clean and fresh to the taste—both available in soft pink and slip-top blue.

Survey Shows Higher Salary For Grads

Fewer calls for teachers, higher salaries and more demand for personnel in business and industry are significant in the annual report just released by SIU's Placement Service.

The report on 1959 graduates who tried for jobs through SIU's Placement Service, also revealed that requests for engineers leads the industrial outlook, and that needs are great for secretaries, physicists, mathematicians and statisticians.

Dr. Roy Bryant, director, said in comparing 1959 figures with statistics since 1952, "a smaller percent of graduates took positions in the lower 31 counties of Illinois." He also found 22 percent fewer calls for teachers for both elementary and secondary positions, and that the average salary percent of increase in teaching is "much smaller" than the percent of increase in the average salary for non-teachers.

Southern Edges S.E. Missouri In Opener

By Tom McNamara Sports Reporter

Coach Glenn 'Abe' Martin's Saluki nine open their home season Thursday afternoon against Wheaton College, after beating Southeast Missouri 4-8 Saturday at Cape Girardeau, Mo. in their regular season opener.

SIU broke a 3-3 tie in the ninth inning to narrowly slip past the Indians for a 4-3 win. Solid singles by second baseman 'Icky' Jones and 'Rocky' Bridges, Saluki outfielder, accounted for the winning run.

Jones led off the inning with a sharp single and advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by Warren Barty and came home on Bridges' base hit. Southeast Missouri went down in order in its half of the ninth.

The Salukis made seven hits to carry them to victory. Bridges and infielder Bob Hardcastle each collected two hits. The Salukis made seven hits to carry them to victory.

Southeast Missouri got to Larry Tucker, starting pitcher for the Salukis, for two runs in the fourth inning and sent the Saluki scoremountain to the showers early. He had allowed a lone hit in the second inning for the only base runner until the roof caved in.

Gary Williams relieved Tucker in the fourth but didn't last long, giving way to Roger McKnight who went the rest of the way and cop the pitching win in relief.

Both teams used three pitchers with the Indians getting six hits off the Saluki moundmen. South had only two extra base hits in the game with Bridges and Hardcastle each getting one double of two safeties.

SIU left eight runners on base while Southeast Missouri stranded eight runners as both teams missed numerous scoring opportunities.

Southeast Missouri had three men on base in the fourth frame before McKnight squelched the Indians rally. Southeast had pushed two runs across to knot the score at 2-2.

Southern went ahead 2-0 in the third frame on a walk to Tucker, an Indian error and Hardcastle's double that scored both runners.

The Salukis added a lone tally in the sixth on Bridges' single and two errors by the host team. Southeast Missouri tied the score at 3-3 in the eighth to set up the Salukis win in the ninth.

PREPARES FOR OPENER

Coach Andy Vaughan, right, watches Ray Horcher give the Saluki practice tons in preparation for the Saluki 'c' team's season opener with Southeast Missouri Friday at Cape Girardeau. Horcher is a transfer from North Central College in Naperville. Vaughan has temporarily taken over coaching of the track team for Leland 'Doc' Lingle, who is home from the hospital recovering from a recent illness. (Staff Photo)

Area Coaches Attend Clinic

Some 65 area high school coaches learned the "inside dope" on baseball and track Friday at Southern's 12th annual spring coaching clinic.

George L. Rider, head track coach at Miami (O) University, Reid Martin, head baseball coach at Carbondale Community High School, and James Smilgoff of Taft High School in Chicago headed the day-long discussions.

Martin, former SIU player, spoke on "Baseball Strategy." His Terrier teams, have never had a losing season in seven years under Martin's direction. Last year, they won the Southeast Egyptian Conference with an overall 14-3 record.

Rider, now in his 38th year at Miami, has one of the outstanding track and field reputations in the nation. His Miami teams have won the Mid-American Conference championship in 10 of the last 12 years, and his individual performers have placed in many national meets.

"Middle Distance Events," "The Hurdles" and "The Weight Events" were the topics of Rider's talks.

Smilgoff, former baseball coach at Taft and now a member of the school's administrative staff, discussed pre-season training and defensive baseball.

Massive Survey Health Ed Asks Dentists

A lot of American dentists are saying, "But individually, they don't prescribing fluoride supplements for their patients, but few of them are following recommended dosages."

That's one of the conclusions reached following what is probably the most massive survey ever attempted on U. S. dentists as a group. Two members of SIU's health education department, Sheldon Steinberg and Edward Grissom, mailed postcard questionnaires to every civilian dentist in the nation—97,728.

Object of the saturation survey, financed by the Lorvic Pharmaceutical Co. of St. Louis, was to see how many U. S. school children are getting fluorides in some form. Water fluoridation is solidly endorsed by the American Dental Assn., as a tooth decay preventative and dozens of studies have proved its effectiveness.

The survey results and its implications were described by Steinberg and Grissom recently at a meeting of the American Assn. of Public Health Dentists in Chicago. The Assn. devoted its entire scientific meeting to the Steinberg-Grissom survey.

Of the more than 12,000 dentists responding, 31 percent prescribed fluoride tablets or solutions for patients living outside water-fluoridated areas. But of that group, more than 80 percent are not following the dose schedule approved by the ADA, the survey showed.

Grissom told the group that public health dentists should be taking the lead in pushing for wider use of systemic fluorides. At the same time, he said, they should be "highly concerned" over dosage uniformity.

Steinberg says the survey points up a paradoxical situation in the face of the nation's greatest public health problem—tooth decay. "On the basis of previous studies and the ADA's recommendations, it would seem that American dentists as a group are agreed on the value of fluoride pills," he said.

At a typical appearance, Sloninsky demonstrated his skill at composition by taking a word containing only letters between A and G ("cabbage") and made it the resultant tune into a piece of music.

Poly-rhythm was demonstrated by playing Gershwin's "I Got Rhythm" in the composer's own manner, then beating two different times with right and left hand. Sloninsky's own "Suite in Black and White" found the left hand playing only on the black keys, the right on the white.

Henry Cowell's "Amiable Conversation," played with the aid of fists and forearms, was sandwiched between two gentler works—a "Prelude" for left hand alone by Scriabin, Liadov's "Music Box," and others.

A Glance At The Greeks

By Mickey Sparks

Last weekend found the pledges of Theta Xi at the University of Missouri in Columbia. Active Ray Caruso and Ralph Green, pledge master, unvoluntarily accompanied the group on the skip-out.

The wayward pledges also "kidnapped" the actives' Saturday night meal, leaving them to scrounge up cheese and crackers. After visiting the Theta Xi chapter at Missouri, the group traveled up the line to Washington University in St. Louis. They were welcomed home Sunday night by a lineup.

Other weekend events at the house included an exchange party with the women of Sigma Sigma Sigma. Decorations for the party centered around a Florida theme.

A coffee hour was given at the house Saturday night before the Shelley Berman Show. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kaplan were faculty guests at the first dinner served in the new house last week. Alums Sam Meyer and Brian Merriman visited the chapter house over the weekend. Alumna

Dick South has returned to Southern to resume his studies.

The Theta Xi band has received quite a bit of publicity lately. Five of the band members were in Florida during spring break and were interviewed by the Miami Herald and one of the leading Ft. Lauderdale newspapers. The Herald ran a story and carried pictures of the band playing for vacationing students. Life magazine also took pictures and may run a story later.

Bill Bert, Tom Lynch, and Stu Switzer were initiated into Tau Kappa Epsilon Sunday afternoon. The brothers are planning an exchange party with the Sig Kaps. The party is to be held at the Teko house Sunday.

The Tekes have been busy rehearsing for Greek Sing. The fraternities and Sigma Kappa sorority will work together in building a booth for the Spring Festival Midway.

PARIS BOUND PRINT

Paris Accepts West's Prints

A young graduate art student at Southern has ample proof that it pays to "Think Big."

For the mere price of postage, he's had his work added to the collection of two of the world's leading art museums.

Tim West of Carbondale, who says he'd rather have his original prints on display in the big leas than on the market but out of sight, sent two of them to the Louvre in Paris and one to New York's Museum of Modern Art. All three were accepted.

Jean Vallery-Radot, head of the "Cabinet des Estampes" for the National Library in Paris, said he had added West's prints to the Library's collection for the Louvre. The Museum of Modern Art also notified him that his single work was being retained in the archives.

West, who received a bachelor's degree in fine arts from SIU last June, is studying for a master's and specializing in printmaking. He is the son of Muriel West, lecturer in English at Southern.

VTI Graduates Seven Nurses

Seven women will graduate from the Vocational Technical Institute program in practical nursing Sunday.

The women have completed a course making them eligible to take state board examinations for a licensed practical nurse.

The graduates are Mrs. Kathleen Rea, Benton; Mrs. Myrna Barnett, Benton; Mrs. Yvonne Collins, Carbondale; Mrs. Genevieve Woolard, Marion; and Mrs. Mettie Crews, Mrs. Olive O'Brien and Mrs. Johnny Benestosal, all of Valer.

Graduation ceremonies will be held in Morris Library Auditorium at 2:30 Sunday when the nurses will receive diplomas and pins.

Girls' Rally May Join With Gamma Sigs

Plans for becoming affiliated with Gamma Sigma Sigma, a national service sorority, were outlined at the Spring term open meeting of Girls' Rally Thursday.

The meeting, open to all undergraduate women, was held in the Home Economics Lounge.

President Fay Peterson welcomed the group and introduced the officers. Jackie Bound gave a brief summary of the organization's activities in the past 20 years and its plans for the future.

The Alpha Pi Omega service fraternity entertained the women by presenting a comic quartet with accordion accompaniment. The men of APO also served refreshments to the women after the meeting.

Eighteen women will be pledged into Girls' Rally Monday. Pledging ceremonies will be held in the Library Lounge at 9 p. m. Women who did not attend the open meeting, but who wish to pledge, should contact Jackie Bound, Woody Hall, or leave a message at the Girls' Rally office in the Student Union.

Girls' Rally assisted APO in making dance decorations for Saturday night's Ugly Man Dance. Members of the two groups also acted as guides for high school students attending the School Fair Saturday.

There are five national sororities and nine national fraternities on campus.
