Four dead in election day violence

Independence vote in Georgia marred by more ethnic unrest

MOSCOW (UPI) — Residents of the southern republic of Georgia voted nearly unanimously for independence from the Soviet Union, the fourth republic to vote for secession this year, preliminary results showed Monday. Sunday's referendum was marred by the continuing ethnic violence in the republic's region of South Ossetia, where four people were killed in election-day gunbattles that have been raging between Georgians and Ossetians for months.

The Soviet Parliament voted Monday to ask President Mikhail Gorbachev to declare a state of emergency in South Ossetia and reinforce the contingent of Interior Ministry troops there in an effort to stop the violence.

Preliminary results from 38 of a total 71 electoral districts in Georgia showed that 99.4 percent of those who cast ballots voted for independence, said Valerian Khukhushvili, spokesman for the Georgian mission in Moscow.

Khukhushvili said that in the 38 districts tallied so far, 95.5 percent of eligible voters took part. The early results did not include areas of the republic heavily populated by non-Georgian ethnic minorities, where the turnout and pro-independence vote was expected to be much lower.

Gorbachev has declared the referendum on independence in Georgia invalid along with similar votes to break from the Soviet Union earlier this year in the Baltic

Communists win in Albanian vote, may seek reform

TIRANA, Albania (UPI) — The ruling Communists of Europe's most hard-line police state claimed a landslide victory Monday in Albania's first democratic elections, and indicated that Marxist President Ramiz Alia would remain party leader despite his humiliating defeat in his assembly race.

Xhelil Gjoni, a central committee secretary of the Albanian Party of Labor, also said the Communists who seized power in 1944 are ready to form a coalition with the Democratic Party, its main rival in Sunday's races for the 250-member National Assembly.

"It was an important victory for the Party of Labor," Gjoni said. He did not have final election results, but said the Communists would secure a majority of "about two-thirds" in the legislature, which will approve a new constitution and elect a new president at an undecided date.

Democratic Party officials said unofficial returns showed they had clinched 70 seats nationwide, including those contested by Alia and 16 other Communists in Tirana, for which ballot counting was complete. They said they expected to take only 10 more.

"Morally we are the winners. That is the real end of Communism in Albania," Sali Berisha, a 46-year-old cardiologist and the leader of the 4-month-old Democratic Party, said in conceding that the Communists would keep control of the Assembly. He won his race in the town of Kavaja.

Gramoz Pashko, 36, a son of committed Marxists and an economist who help found the Democratic Party, said the opposition lost

Case increase strains bankruptcy judge

By John Patterson
Staff Writer

Since taking the bench for bankruptcy court more than four years ago, Judge Kenneth J. Meyers has seen the case load double, while the number of judges has remained the same.

The 38 counties of Southern Illinois currently are covered by Meyers on, although the number of bankruptcy hearings has dramatically increased.

His first year on the bankruptcy bench, Meyers heard 2,000 cases. In 1990 he ruled on nearly 4,000.

Senators Paul Simon and Alan Dixon have presented a bill calling for the appointment of an additional bankruptcy judge for the Southern District of Illinois.

In proposing a bill to allow for additional judgeships to be created in the district, U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, D-Makanda said in a press release the increasing number of cases looks to continue.

Simon said when case hours are combined with the amount of travel done by Meyers it creates a "critical need for an additional bankruptcy judge for the citizens of Southern

No fooling: April Fools Day gives student workers 45-cent-an-hour increase in wages

By Natalie Boehme
Staff Writer

A federal minimum wage increase will enable students to look forward to larger paychecks.

Beginning April 1, the federal minimum wage raised from $3.80 an hour to $4.25 an hour, a 45-cent increase.

Because the University pays workers for the previous pay period, the increase will not show up on paychecks until April 26.

The new minimum wage, which will affect nearly 3 million American workers, will produce an $18-a-week increase and push the weekly minimum wage for 40 hours of work to $170.

Diana King, financial aid coordinator, said the increase will allow students to make more money without working more hours.

"The state hasn't appropriated an increase in the budget so the departments won't receive extra money to meet the pay increase," King said.

William Capie, acting vice president for financial affairs, said it was time for a minimum wage increase.

"An increase of minimum wage was due and the government went about it in a responsible manner," Capie said.

But the increase could be a mixed blessing, Capie said.

Capie said University officials knew about the increase and have appropriated accordingly.

"We've had a year to prepare for this and I think we're ready for it," he said.

All the same, cuts in student workers' positions or hours are possible, Capie said.

Lowell Hall, director for Division of Continuing Education, said his division will not cut back on student jobs, but there is consideration of cutting back on student work hours.

Capie said another repercussion of the minimum wage increase could be increased prices for goods and services in the community.

Businesses are going to have to lower services or increase costs to meet the increased expenses caused by the new minimum wage, he said.

"On the surface it appears that workers will be making more money, but the increases in costs will have a balancing effect," Capie said. "Workers will still come out ahead, but it won't be as much as it looks."

The federal government passed

Treasury names Iraq's support during gulf war

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department Monday accused Saddam Hussein of using a global network of agents and phony companies to funnel arms and cash back to Iraq in defiance of a U.N. embargo.

Named in the Treasury report were 52 companies in 17 countries throughout the Middle East, Europe, and the United States, plus 37 suspected Iraqi agents and 160 cargo vessels.

Together, they formed the backbone of a sophisticated worldwide supply system that procured weapons, spare parts, machine tools and raw materials for Iraq's war machine, said Deputy Treasury Secretary John Robson.

Duke wins NCAA championship

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Christian Laettner scored 18 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Monday night and Duke ended its Final Four hex Monday night with a 72-65 victory over Kansas that gave the Blue Devils their first NCAA championship.

Duke, which had come up empty in Final Four trips four of the last five years, also received 16 points from reserve Bill McCaffrey and another excellent floor game from point guard Bobby Hurley in beating a resilient Kansas team.

The Blue Devils had lost championship games in 1964, 1978, 1986 and 1990, and one of college basketball's more enduring questions was when—or if—Coach Mike Krzyzewski would win a title. The question was answered emphatically Monday night before a Hoosier Dome crowd of 47,185.

"We got it for you," said Duke forward Brian Davis, his arms around Krzyzewski.

The Blue Devils delivered the shocker of the tournament Saturday night in beating Nevada-Las Vegas. This time, they provided no such theatrics, only a steady and poised performance, a long way from last season's title game when UNLV blasted Duke by 30 points.

"I can smile a lot more now," Krzyzewski said. "These kids are a lot more mature than they were last year. We played great through the month of March and it's nice to finally win a game in April."

The No. 6 Blue Devils, 32-7, led by 14 points with 8 1/2 minutes to go. No. 12 Kansas, as it has done all year and all through the tournament, stayed tough. The Jayhawks drew within 5 points before Duke regrouped and put the game out of reach.

Duke had been pegged as the perpetual runner-up. But with Monday night's decision, Kansas now joins North Carolina and Duke as the schools with the most second-place finishes in the tournament (four).

The Blue Devils hit 56 percent from the field, becoming the first team in the tournament to shoot better than 45 percent against Kansas. Hurley, the only player in the game to go all 40 minutes, finished with 12 points and 9 assists while McCaffrey came off the bench to hit 6 of 8 from the floor. Grant Hill added 10 points.

"Bobby played a superb game," said Laettner, named the tournament's outstanding player. "I've got to give all the credit to him."

Hurley was sick with nerves and flu for last season's championship game, and his play reflected his condition that night. Against Kansas, he was in full command.

"I'm just glad to be on this team and be part of Duke basketball," he said. "I owe everything to the guys on this team for helping me out and letting me grow as a player."

Mark Randall led Kansas, 27-8, with 18 points and 10 rebounds. Terry Brown had 16 points and Adonis Jordan 11. The Jayhawks trailed by 8 points at the half, but hit only 38 percent from the field in the last 20 minutes.

Kansas was clearly hurt by the shooting of Alonzo Jamison, who went 1 of 10 from the floor and scored just 2 points. The Jayhawks were also hurt at the foul line, hitting just 4 of 8 free throws to 20 of 28 for Duke. Laettner, the tournament's best foul shooter, led the way by going 12 of 12.

Salukis to attack Evansville

By Eric Bugger
Staff Writer

The Saluki baseball team is down after losing three games this weekend, but by no means is Coach Sam Riggelman's club out.

The Dawgs, trying to defend their Missouri Valley Conference title, lost three of four to Southwest Missouri State in their conference opening series this weekend.

With a 11-10 overall record and 1-3 mark in the Valley, the Salukis have every right to be discouraged, but Riggelman expects his ballclub to bounce back in a doubleheader beginning at 3 p.m. today at the University of Evansville.

"I think there is certainly a degree of disappointment," Riggelman said. "Our guys have some expectations that they feel they haven't been accomplishing and we know we have not played up to our capabilities at this point."

"I think there is a difference in being disappointed and being totally discouraged. We know if we can make some adjustments and do some things better, we still can be a very fine club."

SIUC gave up 26 runs in the four-game series against Southwest and scored just 16 of their own. Today they go up against Evansville, which is averaging almost 7 runs a contest.

The Purple Aces post a 13-7 record and are paced by Pat Shultz. Shultz leads Evansville with a .455 average, 19 RBI and .610 slugging percentage.

"They play us very well," Riggelman said. "I expect two outstanding ballgames there. I'm sure we'll see their top pitching and they always swing the bat well."

Saluki junior Sean Bergman (2-1, 4.32 ERA) is scheduled to start on the mound the first game. Senior Bob Finder (1-2, 9.56 ERA) is expected to go the second half of the doubleheader.

The Saluki pitching staff has been shaky all season. The only mark of consistency has come from seniors Al Levine and Tom Strabavy. Levine, usually the closer out of the bullpen, has been working a lot of innings lately and posts a team-low 0.92 ERA to go along with a 2-1 record.

Strabavy picked up his first win of the season by changing speeds on the Southwest hitters and working ahead in the count in the Salukis' only win of the weekend. Strabavy posts a 1-1 record and 4.20 ERA.

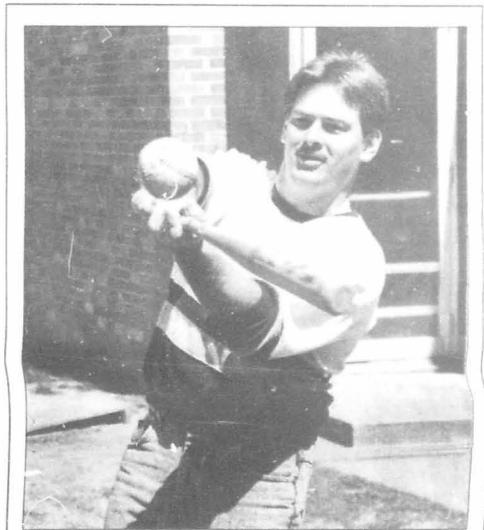

"We are not going to try to accomplish any more than we have in every game" Riggelman said. "We're just trying to play hard and execute. Our game plan is not going to change and I think the important thing is we have to go out and do a better job on the mound. If we do that we'll be in fine shape."

Saluki freshman outfielder Dan Espin continues to lead the SIUC offensive attack with a .397 batting average and 14 RBI.

The absence of injured senior third baseman Mike Kirkpatrick, who is out with a broken hand for four to six weeks, has hampered the Salukis' offensive punch. Kirkpatrick led the team in home runs, doubles and RBI before being knocked out of commission.

Despite the Salukis' problems this weekend against Southwest,

Women's tennis 1-1 in conference opener

By Julie Autor
Sports Editor

The women's tennis team came out of its first Gateway Conference weekend 1-1, but Coach Judy Auld is not discouraged.

"We played tough," Auld said. "The (Wichita State) match could have gone either way. We'll just have to see what happens at conference."

The team defeated Western Illinois Friday 7-2, but lost to Wichita State Saturday.

No. 1 player senior Missy Jeffrey lost to Western Illinois in singles play 6-2, 6-1 but came back to beat Wichita State in No. 1 singles 7-5, 7-6.

No. 2 player sophomore Wendy Varnum was defaulted in her singles match against Western Illinois because of a pulled quad muscle.

In doubles play against Western Illinois, the Salukis won all three matches. The duo of Jeffrey and junior Lori Edwards won 6-1, 6-4. Varnum and partner sophomore Lori Gallagher won 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 and senior Michele Toye and freshman Leesa Joseph won 6-0, 6-0.

Against Wichita, Gallagher won her singles match 6-4, 6-1 and then teamed with Varnum to win the No. 2 doubles 5-7, 6-3, 7-6.

The Salukis also won the No. 3 doubles match against Wichita. Toye and Joseph beat their opponents 6-3, 6-2.

Jeffrey and Edwards lost to Wichita in doubles play 6-3, 6-4.

The Salukis leave for Morgantown, W. Va. Thursday to compete against West Virginia University, Rutgers and Penn State.

The Salukis are 1-1 in the Gateway and 7-4 for the spring season.

Firnbach consistent for Salukis

By Cyndi Oberle
Staff Writer

Senior third baseman Mary Jo Firnbach is what Saluki Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer calls a consistent player.

After starting 137 games in the past three years, Firnbach has made only 10 errors out of a possible 508 chances at third base.

Last season Firnbach went 44 games straight without a single error.

"That was a phenomenal performance for Mary Jo last year," Brechtelsbauer said. "She makes third base look like an easy position to play and it's not. She is so consistent because she is the kind of person who doesn't wait for things to happen. She makes them happen."

"She is the most consistent player I have ever coached. She has a mental toughness day in and day out that keeps her prepared to win."

Many third basemen play the position differently, but Firnbach said she plays up close to better cover bunting.

"Softball is more of a bunting game now," Firnbach said. "So I play real close. Sometimes it is scary, but usually I feel comfortable. Playing third base is a challenge. I take it real seriously because I don't want many errors."

Last season, Firnbach led the team with 26 RBIs and she is currently has 12 triples—two away from Shelly Gibbs' school record.

Firnbach, hailing from Wonder Lake, said she has played third base since her summer coach converted her many years ago.

"My freshman year here at SIUC I played shortstop because the regular player had hurt her arm," Firnbach said. "And when she returned I started playing third."

Brechtelsbauer said Firnbach is a dream to coach because she knows what it takes to win and comes to practice and games ready to play her best to accomplish that.

"Mary Jo is the kind of player a coach would like start a program on," Brechtelsbauer said. "She has such a positive effect on everybody around her, she would be the ideal person to build your program on."

Firnbach, a community health major with a 3.35 grade point average, said she has much confidence in this year's team.

"The fact we were the pre-season top seed in the Gateway Conference poll was surprising," Firnbach said. "We usually are the third or fourth pick. It feels good to know the other coaches feel so highly of our team. This is the best all-around, consistent team I have ever played on."

Firnbach also said the players are close friends and she has no doubts about their ability to get along as well as play.

"My goal is to see the team take the conference title and move on to the NCAA's," Firnbach said. "I am excited for what this year has in store for us. We have so much talent on this team along with many high class personalities. I sure will miss them next year."

After graduation Firnbach plans on obtaining her master's degree in sports psychology and working with high school students.

"I don't know what aspect of counseling I want to go into yet," Firnbach said. "I guess I will see that when the time comes."

Along with playing softball and keeping up her grades, Firnbach had an internship at the Hill House

Thousands of Iraqi refugees cross into Turkey in 24 hours

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — More than 2,000 Iraqi refugees crossed into Turkey in less than 24 hours and officials feared the influx would continue, a spokesman for the U.N. Disaster Relief Organization said Monday. The latest refugee influx from Iraq began late Sunday and till Monday afternoon some 2,300 had crossed over, UNPRO representative Kay Wolff said. The bulk of the new wave of refugees were civilians, but they also included 102 Iraqi army deserters, Wolff said.

45-cent minimum wage increase takes effect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal minimum wage rose 45 cents an hour Monday to $4.25, the second boost in as many years for nearly 3 million American workers. The minimum wage climbed to the current $4.25 from $3.80 per hour, which will produce an $18-a-week increase and push the weekly minimum wage for 40 hours of work to $170. A year ago, in the first increase, the minimum wage also climbed 45 cents per hour to $3.80 from $3.35 as part of 1989 legislation.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. Discovery, mounted atop a squat crawler-transporter, began the 3.5-mile trip to pad 39A at 2:16 a.m. Monday, reaching the seaside firing stand about six hours later. Takeoff on a "Star Wars" research flight is scheduled for around April 25.

Riverboat gambling casts off on Mississippi

BETTENDORF, Iowa (UPI) — With calliopes playing and paddlewheels churning, Iowa joined Nevada and New Jersey Monday as one of the nation's gambling hot spots. For the first time since the 19th century, riverboat gambling graced the Mississippi River. Three plush boats, recreating the largely fictional glamour of the pre-Civil War era, cast off from Iowa moorings with craps, blackjack, roulette, slot machines and other games of chance.

Supreme Court to decide river pollution issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday agreed to decide if states must limit their impact on rivers not only to comply with federal anti-pollution guidelines but also to meet more stringent water quality standards of downstream states. The court will decide if the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals erred when it ruled that a permit was erroneously granted in 1985 to a Fayetteville, Ark., sewage treatment plant to discharge treated effluent into the Illinois River.

Students protest president's 'New World Order'

By Amy Cooper
Staff Writer

The joke was for April Fools' Day but the underlying message was the United States still has problems, even after the war.

About 20 members of the Student Peace Alliance gathered in the Free Forum Area, north of the Student Center Monday, chanting about the "New World Order."

Craig Wilson, sophomore in English from Carbondale, wore a President Bush mask and answered mock questions from the crowd about problems in the United States.

While holding a quart of oil Wilson yelled, "We will crush El-Salvador beneath our thumbs" and "Our bombs are smart."

Wilson said the mock protest was planned several days ago for an April Fools' Day joke.

Protesters proclaimed "Might makes right," and "Hail Bush and the New World Order."

Fliers were passed around and read "America is number one again, crime is down, hungry children are being fed, and racism no longer thrives."

Others yelled "Close your eyes and wave a flag," and "Don't recycle there's plenty of trees."

"There's a definite need for sarcasm when the situation is so bleak," Wilson said. "This is our response to all the ridiculous hype because the world is not getting any better."

"The protest is kind of a fun thing with an underlying serious message. Everything is not OK just because we won a war."

—Craig Wilson

Wilson said the world still is suffering from environmental, racial and financial problems and has government leaders confused about their priorities.

"The protest is kind of a fun thing with an underlying serious message," Wilson said. "Everything is not OK just because we won a war."

Curt Wilson, junior in psychology from Carbondale, said he came to the protest to illustrate that there are problems in the United States that are not being addressed.

"People need to act instead of waving flags," he said.

The Student Peace Alliance, which formed the April Fools' protest, was originally created at the time of the Gulf War, Wilson said. During the war the alliance held street theater skits, food sales and a funeral processions, he said.

The Student Peace Alliance has about 35 members and meets at 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays at the Interfaith Center, 913 S. University, Curt Wilson said.

USG commission allows party, 3 students to run

By Doug Toole
Staff Writer

Student elections are here for the second time this year.

Election commissioner Rochelle Goree officially opened the campaigning period for Undergraduate Student Government and Student Trustee candidates at a pre-election meeting Monday night.

The commission decided to allow a political party and three senators who turned in petitions late to run on the ballot.

The United Party said their petition was locked in the Black Affairs Council office, causing them to miss the deadline to turn in petitions by a few minutes.

Election rule violations caused the spring 1990 results to be rejected. A temporary senate was selected until an official election in October 1990.

Karen Mullarkey, senior in speech communications; Christian Matheny, senior in mechanical engineering; and Maurice Bisailon, sophomore in cinema and photography, also were allowed to run on the ballot.

Goree said the circumstances in each case were different, so the commission decided to make an all-or-nothing decision to be fair to everyone.

Cynthia Snair, commission member, said they decided to accept all exceptions at this point, but now that everyone knows the rules of the election, they will be enforced.

Write-in candidates will be allowed in the April 18 election.

Michael Parker, senior in political science and West Side senator, will run for president and April Ronchetti, junior in economics, will run for vice president on the Reform Party ticket.

SIUC needs money to keep campus cool

THE HEAT IS ON AT SIUC—literally.

Although sunny days have put students in shorts and shades since spring break, the Physical Plant won't be able to turn on the air conditioning until early this month.

It's common sense that when the weather gets nice, the heat should be turned off and the air should be turned on. This year, it's going to take more than the flip of a switch.

In February, two of the plant's four boilers broke down. Because Gov. Jim Edgar froze $27 million in educational funds, repairing the boilers has been delayed.

WITHOUT THE TWO BOILERS, the plant doesn't have enough steam to start the air conditioning.

The governor has appointed a spending control committee to release funds to projects that have high health and maintenance priority.

This committee already has given the Physical Plant $400,000 for repairs. But an additional $300,000 is needed to fix the boilers.

University officials met with state budget officials last week in Springfield about thawing a portion of the frozen budget to cover repair expenses of the boilers.

IT WILL BE AT least two weeks before a decision is reached on the request for $2.5 million to restore the entire steam plant. Normally, the air conditioning is turned on when Physical Plant officials decide it's warm enough.

And the University will have to sweat it out until the boilers are fixed and the air is turned on.

In the meantime, SIUC will pick up the $300,000 tab of repairing the boilers. While the University can afford that, it can't afford the $2.5 million it will take to do the job right.

It's important that the committee in Springfield realize how important it is to grant the funds to restore the University's steam plant.

Price of Gulf War camouflaged

It was a surreal war. Months of mounting apprehension ended near-total victory—a military triumph for the Pentagon and a political windfall for George Bush.

The long, arduous fight Washington warned of and the staggering American casualties predicted by critics never materialized. The ground assault crumpled Saddam Hussein's supposedly fearsome military in 100 hours, and allied losses were miraculously light.

Instead of horrific chemical-weapons attacks, allied troops on the ground met with lines of Iraqi soldiers, stretching to the horizon, giving up without a fight. War wasn't so bad after all. It hurt only a little bit.

Aided by the public's desire to revivify Vietnam, Bush and a compliant press have given America a war it can stomach, one it can savor and even celebrate. A war without tears, without dire consequences.

Far from the sanitized war Americans saw on TV, the conflict decimated the economics and infrastructures of two countries, ripped apart the lives of untold Arab civilians and killed tens of thousands of Iraqis. To celebrate the war is to spit on the graves of fellow human beings.

America's moral certitude is hollow.

This war did not free Kuwait; it only returned it to a previous oppressor, the dictatorial emir. And winning a war doesn't mean it was right to begin with.

A nation high on victory is swaggering with pride as the United States reaffirmed military power and cooing over the Pentagon's new heroes. Armed conflict will no longer be the last resort, and war will require little hand-wringing, with the quick success of the Persian Gulf War eclipsing the humiliating traumatic memory of Vietnam.

But military might is a white elephant in the new order world, where economic power is what counts. In that arena, America continues to wither.

Bush was able to use the war as a distraction from America's true, pressing needs—the S&Ls, the banks, education, health care, poverty, urban decay, race relations—and the American attention span show no sign of returning to those needs anytime soon.

Returning American soldiers will get the parades and appreciation they deserve. Too bad they have to come home to a decaying country whose country whose problems didn't get any better while they were gone.

Racism very much alive today

Mr. Simmons and others seem to think racism no longer exists unless practiced against white males. This belief is patently false. White males overwhelmingly control the banking industry, "free" enterprise system, the government and the trades as well.

The idea of a helpless white minority is a fallacy; whites still dominate and control this country. Many people, including George Bush, have no idea what affirmative action entails.

Affirmative action doesn't require hiring based on color; companies must provide how many women and ethnic minorities have been interviewed for positions.

The EEOC "enforces" affirmative action but cannot punish nor bring cases before Congress as can the FCC or SEC.

Racism is alive today, not just in the past 150 years; some evidently believe this because no overt symbol of racial injustice exists (until the L.A.P.D. beating, that is.)

So racism must no longer exist. As to your definition of equal, I agree. But let me ask you this: in a country where black unemployment and poverty rates are two and three times that of whites consistently throughout history; where 15 percent of the population hold 85 percent of the wealth; where only a white male has had a guiding hand at the ship of state, can you really say equality exists? I cannot.

If you have two buckets, one empty and one full, by placing a crop in the empty bucket it is more full than it was previously, but still not as full as the other.

In this manner, affirmative action functions—it is nothing but a small drop in a very empty bucket.—Jason Catlin, sophomore, cinematography.

Party Patrol waste of student fees

We are responding to the March 22 editorial concerning the Party Patrol. It is indeed fortunate that USG defeated that proposed bill.

The Patrol needed $1,500, from an already strapped student activity fund, to implement the program.

The money would pay for equipment, student workers and University vehicles and gas. Student police officers would also need health insurance.

When the proposal was brought before the senate, the bill contained no information explaining how the money was to be spent. Obtaining the equipment, insurance, cars and students was just being studied.

With this lack of information, with a little over one month left to plan, how could the senate approve $1,500 for this program?

The Senate can only give money to RSOs when a program exists. When the bill was presented to the senate, the program did not exist.

Also, annual student fees that are used to help fund RSOs would pay the student police officers to patrol off-campus student parties.

In addition, the $1,500 only covers a one-month period. Car, equipment repairs, insurance and gas expenses would be needed for a nine-month period.

That money could be spent on an escort service. The service could employ students to walk other students, teachers and administrators to their cars at night.

The money could also be spent on a driving service that would involve students providing rides home from bars and parties.

Let the Carbondale police patrol Carbondale, not the student government of this University.

It would be interesting to see what the city and University thinks about the proposed Party Patrol.

If the Party Patrol bill had passed, we would have had experienced it firsthand. Then we would have understood how stupid the program really is.

Yes, DE editorial staff, there should be a referendum this election concerning the Party Patrol.—Brian Spinner, Micheal Parker, West Side Senators.

PLO needed to resolve Arab conflict

The PLO has received a barrage of bad publicity for siding with Iraq in the Gulf conflict.

President Bush went as far as excluding the PLO from peace talks because it had "bet on the wrong horse."

Although the U.S. media failed to take note, the Palestinians had opposed Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, and the Palestinian leadership had pushed for a peaceful intra-Arab solution of the conflict.

Saddam Hussein offered to withdraw from Kuwait if Israel ended its occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Bush's rejection of this reasonable offer exposed the hypocrisy and double-standard of the American position, which opposed the occupation of one country while supporting the occupation of another. The Palestinian leadership was thus pushed into a pro-Baghdad tilt.

Now that the U.N. resolutions concerning Iraq's invasion of Kuwait have been rightfully implemented, the Palestinians expect equal justice in their plight.

Several U.N. resolutions had been passed calling for Israel's withdrawal from the occupied territories, but U.S. support for Israel has enabled the latter to ignore these resolutions.

To avoid criticism on this stand, Bush said a few nice words about Palestinian rights. However, the Bush-Baker team still refuses to deal with the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people—the PLO.

The United States has more than once attempted to seek alternative leadership for the Palestinians. Baker's recent visit to the occupied territories was one more such attempt.

However, the Palestinians who met with Baker reaffirmed their unequivocal support for the PLO.

To get the peace process moving, the United States needs to realize that it has no right to impose the leadership of its choice on the Palestinians, and a resolution of the Palestinian-Israeli conflict cannot succeed without the involvement of the PLO.—Sufyan Al-Sharbat, sophomore, marketing; Omar Bishtawi, senior, engineering; Wael Gharbiyeh, junior, accounting; Imad Samarah, graduate, business.

Illinois."
Meyers said the number actually is higher because husband and wife cases are considered to be one. The total number of individual bankruptcy cases was closer to 6,000, he said.

Meyers, who served as United States Magistrate for 11 years before tackling the bankruptcy judgeship, is the leading judiciary official for the only bankruptcy court in Southern Illinois, but holds court in East St. Louis, Alton, Mount Vernon and Effingham.

Covering the area keeps Meyers on the road two to three days a week.

"I'm very appreciative both senators have taken an interest," Meyers said.

A judges work load is measured in the hours spent on cases, which are weighted according to how complex the case is.

In 1990 Meyers had 1,655 weighted case hours while handling 4,000 cases. The average number of hours for bankruptcy judges is 1,200 and the ideal level is 1,000.

Meyers already has handled 200 cases in the first two months of 1991.

U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Bellefonte, argued strongly in the bill presentation for immediate and permanent relief for Meyers.

"The burden of Judge Meyers must be alleviated. The band-aid solutions employed to date will not solve the problem. An additional judgeship is needed in short order for justice to be served, and served well," Dixon said in the press release.

To help with his work, two retired judges sometimes hear some of the cases.

Judge Bale Ihenfeldt and Judge Basil Coutrakon provide a temporary break from Meyers' busy schedule.

"Without them I would be in serious trouble," Meyers said.

However, the problems of only having one judge for Southern Illinois remain.

"There is no way one judge can give personal attention to every case," Meyers said.

because it was given only 3 1/2 months to organize its campaign and could not penetrate the ruling party's traditional base in rural areas, where more than 60 percent of Albania's 3.2 million people live.

"We lost mostly in the countryside and we won in the biggest towns," said Gramoz, who won a seat in the town of Vlora.

For decades isolated from the rest of the world by a hard-line Stalinist regime that led the tiny Balkan state into abject poverty, Albania was the last nation in Eastern Europe to hold multi-party elections after the pro-democracy wave that swept the region in 1989. Gjoni said the Communists would press reforms, including opening the country to foreign investment and private property, to improve the economy. He said the party would seek the "cooperation and collaboration" of the opposition and was prepared to form a coalition "for the main interest of the country."

There was no official word on the turnout among the more than 1.8 million voters choosing candidates of 11 parties, some of them Communist fronts. But attendance was called massive, in some places recorded at over 90 percent as Albanians embraced democratic rights the country has not know since its independence from Turkey in 1912.

Gjoni, the Communist spokesman, said that in the areas that Communist candidates lost, democrats won by an average of 60 percent "and this proves that the party of labor with Ramiz Alia at the head is the main party in Albania and enjoys the support of the people."

This indicated that Alia, who lost in a central Tirana district by an estimated 2,000 votes, would remain head of the party.

republics of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

Georgians, who elected a militant nationalist government late last year, were asked Sunday whether they wanted "the independence of Georgia to be restored on the basis of the independence act of May 26, 1918." The republic was one of six that boycotted a March 17 national referendum on keeping the Soviet Union intact.

Georgia, which is nestled in the Caucasus Mountains alongside the republics of Christian Armenia and Moslem Azerbaijan, was independent from 1918 until Red Army troops took over in 1921. A year later Georgia was "united" with Armenia and Azerbaijan as the Transcaucasian Soviet Federal Socialist Republic. Each became a separate Soviet republic in 1936.

There was no voting Sunday in most of the troubled South Ossetia region, where the official news agency Tass said three Georgians were killed and one wounded in an attack on their car in the settlement of Nuli on election day and one resident of the village of Nikozi was killed and two wounded by mortar fire aimed at a Georgian militia post.

Deep-seated enmity between the Georgians and Ossetians flared into the open when Georgia's non-Communist, nationalist Parliament, elected last year, abolished the autonomy of South Ossetia. Skirmishes broke out that have since escalated into what is becoming a major confrontation.

Tass said the capital of the region, Tskhinvali, was surrounded on the eve of the vote by armed Georgian vigilantes, but the independent news agency Interfax said aerial reconnaissance found no armed groups within 19 miles of the city.

Derrick Faulkner, senior in advertising, will run for president and Dwight Gunn, junior in finance, will run for vice president on the United Party ticket.

Candidates for student trustee include:

■ Incumbent Bill Hall, unclassified graduate student;

■ Richard Fasano, graduate student in health education and Graduate and Professional Student Government representative;

■ Darnell Wheeler, senior in biology.

USG elections are open only to undergraduates, but the student trustee election and referenda are open to all students.

Students with their Validine identification cards will be able to vote 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. April 18 in the Student Center, Lentz Hall, Grinnell Hall and Trueblood Hall. Goree said the use of the Validine cards to keep track of voters will speed up the vote counting process and reduce the chances of multiple voting.

Debates will take place this year at 7 p.m. April 15. Debate teams will include the party president, vice president, one senator and the expected chief of staff or another senator.

USG will decide Wednesday whether to place the party patrol or any other referenda on the ballot and whether to use the Arena and the Recreation Center as polling places.

legislation in 1990 instituting a two-step plan to increase the minimum wage, calling for 45-cent increases April 1, 1990 and April 1, 1991, said Pamela Brandt, acting executive director of personnel services.

Minimum wage had not increased since 1981, when it rose from $3.10 to $3.35, Brandt said.

Capie said although no other increases are scheduled there already is a bill being introduced to Congress by Sen. Edward Kennedy proposing another minimum wage increase.

Kennedy, D-Mass., in a statement said, "This is an April Fool's increase, well below what low wage workers deserve."

Kennedy, chairman of the Senate Labor and Human Services Committee, said the minimum wage should be $5.15 an hour just to make up for ground lost in the Reagan years.

Mobile home destroyed in blaze; faulty heating wire blamed for fire

By Gregory Norfleet
Staff Writer

Flames completely consumed a mobile home by the time firefighters arrived Sunday night, a Carbondale Township Fire Department official said.

At 10:50 p.m. the fire department received a call that trailer 365 at Carbondale Mobile Homes was burning. Firefighters were on the scene by 10:55 p.m. It took until 12:30 a.m. Monday to extinguish the fire.

One tanker truck arrived and had the fire under control, but the tanker ran out of water. The second tanker truck rolled in and had enough water to douse the remaining flames.

No injuries resulted from the fire, officials said.

The trailer was rented by Diane

Wright and her grandmother. Wright was in town at the time the fire began and her grandmother was visiting a friend in another trailer, firefighters said.

Property Manager Willis Durbin said the 12- by 60-foot trailer was destroyed along with all the residents' belongings.

The blaze started when a thermal disk stuck and would not turn down the temperature in the heat tape, the firefighters said. Heat tape is like electrical tape but with wires and is used to keep water pipes from freezing. When the temperature drops to a certain level, the heat tape automatically warms up.

The pipes were under the center of the trailer and the fire came up under the floor, firefighters said.

Brian McGuire, firefighter with the Carbondale Township Fire Department, said heat tape is the leading cause of trailer fires. "I would estimate seven to nine of 10 trailer fires are heat tape related," he said.

"Heat tape acts as a 'electric blanket' to water pipes but is exposed to the elements under the trailer," McGuire said. "The tape is insulated with rubber and this will become hard and brittle with the changes in the weather — that is when it burns most easily."

Durbin said Wright and her grandmother stayed with Wright's sister Sunday night, but moved into another trailer Monday night.

He said the three-bedroom trailer will cost about $3,000 to $5,000 to replace, but the park will wait to buy many homes at once instead of one at a time.

Gay Awareness Week aimed at homosexuality education

By Omonpee O. Whitfield
Staff Writer

Gay and Lesbian People's Union Adviser Paulette Curkin said the 1991 Gay Awareness Week festivities are geared to educating the masses about homosexuality.

This year's celebrations will take place April 7 to 14. Curkin said the week marks the 20th Gay Awareness Week and April 14 marks the 20th anniversary of SIUC's GLPU.

Curkin said, "The events are designed to enlighten both homosexuals and heterosexuals and to celebrate gay culture."

"It (Gay Awareness Week) is specifically designed to make people aware of gay and lesbian people and their concerns," she said. "It also celebrates gay culture."

Events scheduled for the week begin Sunday night with a Gay Awareness Week show at Graffiti bar, 210 N. Illinois.

Monday is designated "Coming Out Day," and events for the day begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Student Center Mississippi Room with a press conference with Joanne Trapani of the Illinois Gay and Lesbian Task Force and Coming Out Day keynote speaker Benjamin Schatz.

Following Schatz's speech, a rally and demonstration are scheduled to take place in the Free Forum Area, followed by a presentation titled "Gay — Coming Out" in the Student Center auditorium. At 7:30 p.m. Monday gay comedian Rick Burd of New York will perform in the Student Center Auditorium.

There are numerous workshops, seminars, lectures and displays scheduled for Tuesday. Sponsors include Jackson County Health Department, Southern Illinois AIDS Task Force, Health Advocates, Wellness Center, Department of Women's Studies, Women's Services, Clinical Center, Counseling Center, Bethany Place from St. Louis and the GLPU speaker's bureau.

Tuesday evening Rod Scofield of the Illinois chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union is scheduled to speak.

Wednesday, "National Protest ROTC Day," will consist of a rally and demonstration to protest the ROTC's policy concerning admitting homosexuals into the program. Wednesday evening, the film "Longtime Companion" will be shown in the Student Center Auditorium.

Thursday has been designated "Blue Jeans Day," and Curkin said in addition to attending the workshops, seminars, and lectures, students are encouraged to show their support for gays and lesbians by wearing blue jeans.

Curkin said although Blue Jeans Day has caused controversy during past Gay Awareness Weeks, she still feels that designating a day for people to show support by doing something as common as wearing blue jeans is a good idea.

"This is a way of showing people that you can't tell who's gay and who isn't simply by looking at people," Curkin said.

Events for "Pride Day," Friday, include a rally and march at noon in the Free Forum Area, and the "Alternative Dance," a social event at the Holiday Inn from 8 p.m. to 12 a.m.

The week-long events conclude Saturday with a panel presentation at 11 a.m. by the Illinois Gay and Lesbian Task Force and a showcase at 7:30 p.m. at Quigley Hall featuring music, drama and art.

Gay relations focus of comedian's program

By Omonpee O. Whitfield
Staff Writer

Gay comedian Rick Burd says more than anything in the world he wanted to make people laugh.

Burd, who will perform at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Student Center Auditorium as part of the Gay Awareness Week festivities, said because both being gay and being a comedian came naturally for him, he meshed the two in 1985 when he began performing comedy geared to gay audiences.

Burd said that in the early '70s, he wrote as part of the writing team for the television show Happy Days. After leaving the show in 1974, he met writer Ron Carver who taught him "everything he knows" about writing stand-up comedy.

During this time, Burd said he became disgusted with writing jokes about male-female relationships, because, as a gay person, they did not pertain to him.

"After a while, I realized that it was silly to get up and do comedy about dating women and I didn't date women," he said.

After leaving stand-up comedy for a short while, Burd wrote scripts for various shows. He soon returned to stand-up comedy, and in 1985 he began to write and perform jokes that would appeal to gay people.

"I usually try to tailor my act to the audience," he said. "Most of my act has been written for a gay audience, per se. My act mostly deals with all aspects of being gay in a straight world, and I've got two routines — one for a gay audience and one for straight people who are familiar with the gay territory."

Burd said although he admits his style of comedy is a novelty, he knows that other comedians are known to be gay, but do not incorporate gay-oriented comedy into their routines. He said he does not agree with this.

Burd said he became disgusted with writing jokes about male-female relationships, because, as a gay person, they did not pertain to him.

"My act centers around being gay, whereas most gay comedians' acts do not," Burd said.

"There are some people who we (other gay comedians) know are gay comedians. People like to say that certain comics are gay, but those comics, although they may be gay, don't necessarily perform gay comedy. That doesn't cut it with me," he said.

Aside from wanting to make people laugh, Burd said gay comedians interested in performing gay-oriented comedy must know themselves well and be confident with who they are.

He said most of all gay comedians must be honest with themselves to be successful comedians. Although he realized he was gay in the third grade, he said he still had problems adjusting to reactions his comedy received.

"For me it was like coming out all over again. I had to relive the most painful moments of my life all over gain," he said. "Maybe for some of the younger people today, it's not as painful."

Burd said he also encourages new comedians, gay and straight, to study comedy and learn everything there is to know about the art of performing jokes.

"Learn the craft," Burd said. "Be honest about who you are. If you're not curious about life, don't be a comic. There really has to be nothing in the world you want to do more than stand in front of the world and make people laugh."

Race exclusion unconstitutional Court mandates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court said Monday the Constitution bars the use of race to exclude anyone from a criminal jury, and agreed to decide if a suspect found not guilty by reason of insanity can be institutionalized even after overcoming his mental illness.

The court also announced it will decide next term if the federal government can bar aliens from working while they await the outcome of often lengthy deportation hearings.

The court awarded a new trial to a white man who complained that blacks were illegally excluded from the Ohio jury that convicted him of double murder.

In a major ruling five years ago, the court said prosecutors could no longer use peremptory strikes during jury selection to exclude blacks from a jury deciding the fate of a black suspect.

Last term, the court said the Sixth Amendment right to trial by an "impartial jury" is not violated when blacks are stricken from a white person's jury.

But Monday, in a 7-2 ruling, the court said while the Sixth Amendment might not apply, the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment extends across racial lines to prohibit any race-based reason for influencing the makeup of a jury.

"The jury acts as a vital check against wrongful exercise of power by the state and its prosecutors," Justice Anthony Kennedy wrote for the majority.

SIUC program gives students opportunity to study in Greece

By Tiffany Youther
Staff Writer

Students interested in studying ancient Greek religion, philosophy and the sciences can get hands-on experience this summer in a study tour of the Greek Islands and the West Coast of Turkey.

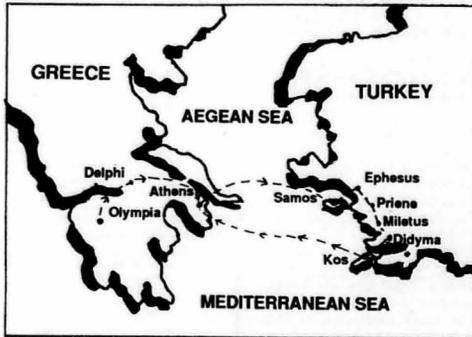

The eighth annual Ecstasy, Honor and Reason program provides students with up to six credit hours, as well as an opportunity to participate in activities such as model reconstruction of ancient temples, exploration of ancient medical practices, scuba diving and a performance of a Euripides play at an ancient theater.

The program, which lasts from May 21 to June 11, begins in Athens, Greece in a hotel overlooking the Acropolis, a hill with architectural monuments, such as the Parthenon and the Propylaea, on top.

There will be an informational meeting and slide show at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Morris Library Auditorium.

Robert Hahn, program director and associate professor of philosophy, said the University gave special support, including faculty salaries, to the program this year. This aid has helped to lower the cost for participants.

He said the program gives students a chance to have fun and do something serious at the same time. Students can get first-hand experience in several areas of study, rather than reading textbooks and going to lectures.

Many people have been reluctant to even think about travelling because they feel the world is in a state of chaos, Hahn said.

He said he has been involved with the program since its onset in 1984 and feels completely safe going even now.

"If I feel I'm not endangered, why would I avoid the opportunity to continue the project?" Hahn asked.

He said faculty and students from several countries will participate in the program.

Larry Busch, associate professor of design, will produce a video documenting the group's travel in Greece.

He said he feels traveling abroad and learning about another culture is an important part of a person's education.

"No matter how good your grades are, no matter how many courses you've had, there's just something about leaving your own culture in order to experience another," Busch said. "You can't know only your own culture. You have to know something about another culture in order to compare

Council to decide depot's destiny, while judges count election ballots

By Leslie Colp
Staff Writer

WHILE ELECTION judges are counting ballots for city elections tonight, the Carbondale City Council will decide if the former Railroad Passenger Depot should become a museum.

Carbondale Mayor Neil Dillard is running unopposed and Kyle Engert is challenging incumbents Richard Morris and John Mills for one of two positions on the council.

Sandra Henry Bartelsmeyer also is running against Carbondale Park Commissioner Michael Curtis for his position.

While election results are being tallied, the council will consider a proposal by the Station Carbondale Restoration Committee for the museum.

THE PROPOSAL also includes a visitors' center and tourism bureau.

Gilbert Bolen, chairman of the committee, said the cost of the project could exceed $300,000, which includes a structure analysis by an engineer, an architect's plan and the addition of a new slate roof.

"It's an ugly green building," Bolen said. "But that's not what it will look like when we're done."

BOLEN SAID he would like to have a gift shop in the museum and a steam locomotive and train cars outside near the depot.

"There's no limit to what we can do," he said.

Bolen said most of the work will be done by volunteers to make it a community project and will take about two to three years to complete.

"We want everybody in Carbondale to say they had a part in this," he said.

THE DEPOT is located at the intersection of Main Street and Illinois Avenue.

The council also will decide if a committee should be appointed to study options for funding the operation and maintenance of Town Square parking lots.

OPTIONS TO BE considered include installing parking meters, leasing spaces, selling parking permits and special assessment financing.

If special assessment financing is chosen, the properties determined to benefit from the improvements will pay for them.

The town square is bordered by Jackson Street, Monroe Street and Illinois Avenue.

THE COUNCIL also is expected to vote on approving plans for the Grand Place Condominiums.

Grand Place, which will be located between Lewis Park Apartments and Georgetown Apartments, will include five, three-story 12-unit buildings.

Kurdish rebels flee as Saddam gains control

United Press International

Troops loyal to Iraq President Saddam Hussein tightened their grip on the northern areas of the country Monday, sending thousands of Kurdish rebels and civilians into the hills where they planned to regroup to fight again.

Both Kurdish rebel leaders and U.S. officials acknowledged that Saddam's troops had control of most of Kirkuk.

U.S. officials said they plan to meet this week with Kurdish opposition figures at their request. State Department spokesman Richard Boucher said the meeting does not signal a departure from U.S. policy of staying away from Iraq's internal affairs.

Group puts breaks on plans to sell blue parking stickers

By Doug Toole
Staff Writer

PLANS TO PROVIDE part-time staff and graduate students who teach with faculty parking stickers were tabled indefinitely by the Traffic and Parking Committee.

Members of the committee said the plans were tabled because the sale of 2,584 blue faculty parking stickers would not help reduce parking problems at SIUC.

Richard Fasano, Graduate and Professional Student Council representative to the committee, said he proposed a resolution allowing graduate students with teaching responsibilities to purchase blue stickers to block a similar suggestion by part-time civil service workers and staff.

AT THE MARCH 28 meeting 587 part-time faculty and administrative staff and part-time civil service workers requested blue stickers instead of red so they could park closer to buildings and avoid competing for student parking spaces.

Fasano proposed a GPS-C sponsored resolution at the meeting requesting blue faculty parking stickers for the 1,997 graduate assistants who teach, instead of making them buy red student stickers.

"Graduate students are considered staff when it benefits the University, and students when that benefits the University," he said.

Without changing the number of blue parking spaces available, the resolutions would have changed the ratio of blue stickers sold to blue spaces available from 2.3 to 1 to 3.8 to 1.

THE INCREASED competition for blue parking places would have caused some spaces from red student parking to be changed to blue faculty parking, which the committee is reluctant to do, Fasano said.

Committee Chairman Clarence Dougherty said the plans would not have reduced parking problems.

"All it would do is dump a lot of blue parking decals onto the parking lots," said Dougherty, who also is Vice President for Campus Services.

Ken Carr, Civil Service Employees Council representative, said he feels part-time employees should get the same parking privileges as full-time employees, but he voted to table the proposals because they don't offer a solution.

"BEFORE WE START selling blue decals, we need to look at parking problems as a whole," Carr said.

Dougherty said the lack of parking places in the middle of campus, where people want to park, is the main problem facing the committee.

He said the committee is sensitive to the problems of people who cannot find a convenient parking place, but big parking changes are usually met with great resistance.

People who drive to campus should plan to take whatever parking places are available and expect to spend a few minutes walking to class, Dougherty said.

FASANO AND CARR both said they hear little about parking problems from constituency groups, and invite them to give feedback to parking committee members.

Radio-TV Week exposes students to professionals

By Kylie Robertson
Staff Writer

Professionals in radio and television are visiting SIUC this week to talk about the future of broadcasting.

Events throughout Radio and Television Week will expose students to the people and forces they will face in their employment, said Michael Murrie, assistant professor of radio-television.

The week began Monday and will run through Friday.

One of the key events is a presentation by Ed Turner, executive vice president of the Cable News Network.

Murrie said Turner, who helped students Monday night on production and writing of the WSIU nightly news report, will describe the impact of global television at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the University Museum Auditorium in Faner Hall.

"Many countries were watching CNN for coverage of the war," Murrie said. "It has become an international news network."

Gary Chapman, representative from LIN Broadcasting and SIUC alumnus, will talk about communication technology for the future on Thursday at 3 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom A, Murrie said.

He said Chapman, and representatives from NAB Television, Southwestern Bell Technology Resources and TCI cable, will discuss the possibility of video telephones.

It seems it may be possible in the future to see someone as you talk to them, Murrie said. This will be useful for households and small businesses.

A talk by Alfred Sikes, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission was cancelled because of his work.

Most events this week are open to the public, Murrie said. Anyone is welcome to stop by the radio and television office and get a schedule.

Other events include lectures on news writing, television news and on the audience.

Radio and television students will be ending the week on Friday with a banquet at the Student Center.

Women's track brings home wins

By Wayne Frazer
Staff Writer

SIUC women's track and field coach Don DeNoon said he was pleased with his team's performance at the Vanderbilt Invitational in Nashville, Tenn., during the weekend.

The Salukis won 11 of 16 events at the meet, which was unscored. SIUC head coach Don DeNoon said he was pleased even though the competition was below average.

"It was a good meet even though the competition wasn't that strong," DeNoon said. "We had some really good performances."

Junior Theresa Lyles turned in an impressive day, winning the 100-meter and 200-meters dashes and running on the winning 4x100-meter and 4x400-meter relays.

Lyles was the anchor for the 4x100, and led off the 4x400 team. Her times of 12.3 seconds in the 100 and 25.1 in the 200 were season-best showing for Lyles.

Sophomore Nacolia Moore almost matched Lyles, winning the triple jump, long jump and leading off the 4x100 relay. Moore finished second to Lyles in the 100-meters by .04 seconds.

Freshman Jennifer Bozue and junior Luba Soto distinguished themselves in the throwing events.

Bozue won the discus and the shot put. Soto won the javelin and finished second in the discus and fourth in the shot put.

Coach DeNoon said the team could have competed even better.

"We left several athletes at home," DeNoon said. "Jaime Dasher stayed home to rest before competing in the heptathlon this weekend. Cheryl Evers and Cynthia Grammer both stayed home and we still finished one-two in the discus."

This weekend the team travels to Cape Girardeau, Mo., for the SEMotion Relays at Southeast Missouri State University. DeNoon said the Salukis will be ready for the tougher competition.

"The SEMotion Relays always give us a good meet year after year," DeNoon said. "But our team produces quality performances week after week. We'll attack this meet head-on just like all the rest."

South Florida hopes weekend turnout helps expansion bid

MIAMI (UPI) — Ticket sales totaling 125,013 for two weekend exhibition games between the New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles buoyed hopes of organizers and fans seeking a National League Expansion team.

A sellout crowd of 67,654 was announced for a Saturday night game and 57,359 for the Easter Sunday afternoon game.

Although there was no turnstile count, estimates of no-shows ranged up to 12,000 for the two games—leaving a total of 113,000 fans in the stadium.

"We think this is a big deal. I think this is a big deal," said H. Wayne Huizenga, the Blockbuster video chairman who is seeking an NL expansion franchise for south Florida.

Huizenga said he does not know how much the expansion committee will take the crowds into account when they make their recommendations for two new franchises at the June major league owners meetings in Los Angeles.

South Florida is among six locations which are finalists for two expansion franchises to begin play in 1993. The others are St. Petersburg, Fla., Orlando, Fla., Washington, Buffalo, N.Y. and Denver.

"This has to be a positive. How much? I don't know," Huizenga said of the weekend turnout.

The two games served as an unveiling for Joe Robbie Stadium in its new baseball configuration. The changes cost $5.2 million so far.

The football stands in left field were torn down, providing measurements of 335 to left field, 345 to right, 410 to center and 380 in the power alleys.

The stands now will be replaced as Huizenga and the Miami Dolphins family, the other 50-percent owners, get ready for football season. After football, retractable stands will be built.

Most of the players were pleased with the park but had some suggestions. When Orioles Manager Frank Robinson was asked what need to be done, he said: "It's not what has to be done. It's what has been done."

Most players said the lighting would have to be improved, and the bullpens moved. Huizenga said plans for both were in the works.

Huizenga hinted that if no expansion franchise is granted for south Florida, he would seek a team that wants to move.

"The opportunity will present itself. We will have baseball in south Florida," Huizenga said.

He said if a new franchise is awarded, a contest would be held to name the team. However, he might already know the winning entry.

Huizenga said he has purchased legal rights to the name "Florida Panthers." He said that was his high school's nickname when he went to Pinecrest School in Fort Lauderdale.

The Florida panther is an endangered species. There are an estimated 30 of them left, most of them in the Everglades west of Miami.

He also said the colors would be the Dolphins' aqua and orange, because those are the colors of the stadium.

Sox trade with Padres

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox Sunday traded pitchers Adam Peterson and Steve Rosenberg to San Diego for infielders Joey Cora and Kevin Garner and outfielder Warren Newson. Sox officials said Monday.

"Cora gives us insurance at all infield positions and adds to our overall team speed," said General Manager Ron Scheuler. "Garner is a young prospect with well-above-average potential power and Newson is a hitting machine who has put up numbers at every level he's played."

Scheuler said both Peterson, a right-hander, and Rosenberg, a lefty, "are major-league pitchers but pitching is our strength."

"I would like to give the opportunity to pitch in the major leagues with another club."

Men's tennis team wins two

By Wayne Frazer
Staff Writer

The SIUC men's tennis team came in out of the cold this weekend.

The Salukis took matches this weekend from Austin Peay and Murray State in a triangular contest at Murray State University in Murray, Ky. Head coach Dick LeFevre said the weather was a definite factor against Austin Peay. "We played at 9:00 in the morning Saturday and it was 31 degrees," LeFevre said. "The key players for Austin Peay were not very adaptable. We hung in there and played tough."

The team defeated Austin Peay 5-1. Since the Dawgs had already won the match, the doubles were not played.

In the afternoon, the Salukis played Murray State. By then the weather had warmed up to the upper 40s. It didn't make things any easier for the Salukis, LeFevre said. "We had some unbelievable battles against Murray State," he said. "That match I thought we had lost maybe half a dozen times."

Sophomore Rikard Stenstrom and freshman Tim Derouin were both down 4-1 and freshman Kai Kramer was down 5-2 in the first set, but the Dawgs rallied to even the score at 3-3 at the conclusion of singles play.

Doubles proved to be no easier for the Salukis, with the No. 3 doubles team of Kramer and freshman Danny Gonzalez dropping the first match. Then both other doubles teams dropped the first set.

However, both the No. 1 team of Derouin and senior Joe Demeterco and the No. 2 team of Stenstrom and sophomore Jay Merchant rallied to win their matches and the meet 5-4. LeFevre said it was closer than he expected.

"Their No. 1 player was a freshman and he gave Demeterco a run," LeFevre said. "It was hairy. The coach at Murray State has been there about 20 years and they always play us tough."

Undefeated during the meet was No. 1 singles player Demeterco, who bested APSU's Rodney Way 6-0, 7-5 and MSU's Paolo Casanova 6-3, 6-4. Demeterco also went undefeated in doubles with his doubles partner Derouin. Kai Kramer also won both of his matches.

The team takes its four-game winning streak into a match against Evansville Wednesday at the Arena tennis courts at 2 p.m. The team is 8-9 and trying to even up its record. The Salukis have already defeated the Purple Aces once this year 9-0, but LeFevre said it could still go either way.

"They have a scholarship program and some pretty good players," he said. "When you don't expect trouble is when you usually get it. We've struggled a couple of places we shouldn't have."

Barkley out at least two weeks

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Tests on Charles Barkley's knee Monday confirmed the original diagnosis that the Philadelphia 76ers forward will be sidelined for two weeks.

Barkley suffered a second-degree sprain of the medial collateral ligament of his left knee when he tripped over teammate Rick Mahorn Sunday against Cleveland, team physician Dr. Jack McPhillemy said.

A second-degree sprain was McPhillemy's initial diagnosis and that did not change after a magnetic resonance imaging test conducted Monday. There were fears the injury would be serious enough to end Barkley's season.

Barkley is Philadelphia's leading scorer and rebounder. His condition will be re-evaluated in two weeks and he will be on a day-to-day basis after that, McPhillemy said.

The NBA regular season ends in three weeks and the 76ers have already clinched a playoff spot.

Their efforts to earn the home-court advantage for the first round of the playoffs will be hurt by Barkley's injury, however.

Philadelphia trails Milwaukee by three games in the race for the fourth playoff spot in the Eastern Conference. The top four teams receive the home-court advantage in the first round. The 76ers will try to pick up a game on the Bucks when they play home against Milwaukee Tuesday night.

The 76ers were 2-5 earlier this season when Barkley was out with a foot injury.

"We're looking at at least two weeks (without Barkley) and we need some other people to step up," 76ers Coach Jim Lynam said. "Charles not being there will offer 38 minutes of playing opportunity to one or more people."

Lynam said either sixth-man Ron Anderson or Kenny Payne would replace Barkley in the starting lineup, with Payne and rookie Jayson Williams getting the bulk of the minutes usually logged by Barkley.

"Kenny and Jayson will get more time in Charles' absence and hopefully they will make the most of the opportunity," Lynam said.

Philadelphia owner Harold Katz said it was unlikely the 76ers would sign another player to replace Barkley since the newcomer would get at least two weeks to get settled.

Barkley's injury came less than one week after he spit on an 8-year-old girl while aiming at a heckler at the Meadowlands Arena. He was suspended for one game and fined $10,000 and publicly apologized during a network television interview Sunday.

Chicago enters Stanley Cup playoffs

United Press International

Thirty years since Chicago won the Stanley Cup and 10 since the championship series was played entirely in the United States, the Blackhawks enter the playoffs intent on recapturing success they last enjoyed when the NHL had six teams.

The playoffs start Wednesday night in the Wales Conference and Thursday night in the Campbell, with all eight best-of-seven, first-round series being played every other night.

The Blackhawks finished the regular season with the most points in the league. The other three division winners—the Los Angeles Kings, Pittsburgh Penguins and Boston Bruins—are also U.S.-based teams. With the NHL set to expand next season, a shot in the arm to American interest in hockey couldn't come at a better time.

"In the (14) years I've been here, this is probably the high point," Chicago defenseman Doug Wilson said on winning the regular-season trophy. "It's not the one we're looking for."

Acclaimed as the most vocal crowd in the NHL, the Chicago Stadium faithful had been considered a factor at playoff time even when the team had less promise.

"The expectations have grown," Chicago Coach Mike Keenan said. "I hope the fans stay supportive and stay with us. It's a long grind."

Of course, before the Cup can return for the first time since the era of Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, the Blackhawks must endure the drawn-out and usually upset-filled postseason.

Fifteen teams stand in their way, although the playoff field includes the likes of Vancouver, 28-43-9, and a defending champion that played .500 in the 37-37-6 Edmonton Oilers.

After winning their fifth Cup in seven years last spring, the Oilers may be in for a shakeup—or laying in wait for this time of year. When Edmonton went through its growing pains in the 1980s, the Oilers took cues from the New York Islanders, who had a dynasty going. Regular-season blahs seem to be part of the legacy and having Mark Messier out half of the season had the Oilers as low as fifth in the Smythe Division.

Mets make Gooden highest paid pitcher

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (UPI) — Pitcher Dwight Gooden of the New York Mets Monday became baseball's highest paid player by signing a three-year, $16.2 million contract extension.

Gooden's contract puts him slightly ahead of Boston pitcher Roger Clemens as the highest paid player on an annual basis. Clemens signed a four-year, $21.4 million contract earlier this year.

"It was a tough and frustrating negotiation," Gooden said. "But above everything else I wish to play. The fans are the big reason I am coming back. They have always been behind me, even in the tough times."

Last week, Gooden's agent, Jim Neader, rejected the Mets' proposal of a three-year, $13.8 million pact.

Gooden, entering his eighth season with the Mets, was 19-7 last year and has a lifetime record of 119-46 for a .721 winning percentage — best in baseball history for pitchers with 100 or more victories. He has also averaged 199 strikeouts per season and has a lifetime ERA of 2.82.

Included in the agreement are signing bonuses and a video promotion deal in which the Mets and Gooden are partners. Gooden had been seeking a deal that would equal to that of Clemens.

"Neither side got everything they wanted, but we are both happy it's done," Mets vice president Al Harazin said. "We have gone as far as we can go and we wanted it over with before the season started. He is the heart and soul of the ballclub since he joined us. Gooden is a unique player, the centerpiece of the franchise. There is no question that Roger Clemens' pact complicated this negotiation tremendously."

Gooden will make $2.25 million this season, the final year of a 3-year contract.

Gooden, entering his eighth season with the Mets, had a 3.83 ERA and 233 strikeouts last season.
