Committees Have Career Conference Plans Underway

By BILL YOUNG

With the Career conference just two months off, the various committees are working at top speed to make arrangements for the two-day event, Feb. 10-11.

This second semi-annual conference promises to be one of the biggest events of the School year.

"This conference will help Southern students become better acquainted with the various types of occupations which they are planning to enter, and it will help them to get an inside slant on the careers by talking to recognized authorities already in the field," Barbara von Behren, general co-chairman said.

INVITATIONS have been sent out to more than 50 speakers to appear on campus and discuss the respective professions. Meetings will be held in several buildings on campus and students may attend the conferences of their choice so that they can learn more about their preferred lines of work.

Southern's first career conference was held two years ago. At that time it was decided to make the conference a customary bi-annual event. Sponsors of the conference are Office of Student Affairs, the Placement Service, and the Student Council.

Board Passes Increased Meal Ticket Savings

Southern Illinois University students will now benefit from a long-awaited increase in meal tickets saved at the cafeteria and Canteen which has finally been approved. The 20 per cent discount was passed by the Board of Trustees on the recommendation of the Student Council.

Last year, the meal ticket discount was 33 and one-third per cent, and this fall the discount had been cut to 10 per cent in order to meet a loss suffered by both the cafeteria and Canteen. Such a cut did not meet the approval of the student body. This opinion was voiced by the Student Council, as representatives of the student body.

The Student Council went into action investigating the why and wherefore of the cut in the discount, and a plan was set up whereby the loss suffered last year could be met in some other way.

Three Council members, Jerry Fein, Lewis Wilson, and Barbara Von Behren, met with Dr. George Hand, University vice-president, and Paul Isbell, supervisor of auxiliary enterprises, to work out a system to cut the discount to 20 per cent.

To cite an example of how the loss will be partly compensated, such items as milk, which had originally been eight cents, will now cost the student ten cents. Also the price of sausage will now be raised to the prices of lard.

The plan was accepted and approved by the Board of Trustees, and beginning Thursday, Dec. 11, the price of the meal tickets at the cafeteria and Canteen will be lowered from $5 to $4.50 and will give the student $5.50 worth of Cafeteria and Canteen products.

Floyd's Band To Play at Dance on Friday Night

Students will dance to the music of Carbondale's own Floyd Moorland and his swing band Friday night at the all-school Christmas dance to be held in the women's gym from 9:30 p. m. until 1 a. m. This dance, sponsored jointly by the faculty dance club and the Social Senate, will be the kickoff event of Southern's Christmas Week.

Floyd Moorland is well known around the campus, Carbondale, and vicinity since he is currently playing at the Chateau and has, in the past, furnished dance music for numerous sorority and fraternity functions here on campus.

Moorland is 26 years old, single, and the only child of Dr. and Mrs. W. Floyd Moorland of Carbondale. He started playing the saxophone while in the fourth grade, and in recent years has exhibited his musical versatility by playing classical music in contests through the country. Floyd Moorland had two years of swing experience playing in Navy swing bands. Later, he landed his first job in a swing band—that of Roy Sullinger. He also played with Tommy Lawson's band at one time.

Dance admission is 50 cents per person. All girls will receive automatic late leaves until 1:30 Friday night.

Trustees Change Old Science Name To Altgeld Hall

With the completion of Southern's new Life Science building, the Old Science building will no longer be used for biological science laboratories and science classrooms. Therefore, through the approval of the Board of Trustees, the Old Science building will be renamed Altgeld Hall in memory of the late Governor John Peter Altgeld who designed most of its architectural features while serving his term as governor, 1895-1897.

The distinguished architect of the former Old Science building, the second oldest building at Southern, and a campus landmark since its erection in 1896, is its castle-like exterior appearance.

Governor Altgeld designed number of other buildings in the state during his governorship.

The Trustees also approved a re-naming of the University station with regard to the Alumni Office in accordance with recommendations of the University faculty committee on studies and procedures, the University administration; and the board of directors of Southern's Alumni association.

Everyone Likes a Party

Everyone likes a party, or maybe that should read: Everyone likes a party but SIU students. Anyway, a few incidents happened just one week ago in one town as they say.

A great rush of social activities was seen at the end of the term. For all these social events there is a great deal of preparation on the part of the host and hostess. In order to have a successful party or dinner, the person giving the party must have an idea of how many people will be present. For this reason the letters R.S.V.P. appear on all invitations.

President and Mrs. Morris were gracious enough last week to invite a group of students to their home for dinner as they do quite frequently. Many of the students sent no reply, but most of them showed up on time for the dinner. Because the R.S.V.P. was ignored, so many, the cooks had no idea of how much food to prepare. A very ticklish and embarrassing situation might have arisen had there not been enough food prepared. But, fortunately, this did not occur.

It is very unusual for a university president to invite students into his home, and we on the campus of SIU have no idea of how fortunate we are in this respect. In order that the President and his wife know their efforts are not in vain, the first step a student should take upon receiving an invitation is to respond promptly.

Sororities and fraternities also, held rush parties last week for prospective pledges. A certain amount of money is provided through a budget for these parties, and a certain number of guests are expected according to the number of pledges received. Many students promised to attend these parties only to disappoint their hosts by not showing up. Such a practice as this makes for waste within the organization, as food and favors are prepared for an exact number.

Why are so many people thoughtless of those who are only trying to be nice to them?

Yes, everyone likes a party; but there are a few people who should not be invited to any more!

Bookstore Bottleneck

(Editor's Note: The following editorial was written by a reporter on the Egyptian staff and since it provides suggestions for improving the bookstore situation which the editorial on the subject that appeared in Friday's Egyptian was not, we are printing it although the subject was covered in the previous editorial.)

Many students are complaining this term that the time which they saved in the new registration procedure was lost in the campus bookstores line. Although lines have been eliminated somewhat from registration, getting one's books still requires the ordeal of the line.

Idea for pneumatic tubes between the bookstore and the bookstore, or for push-button devices, probably were imagined by many as they waited in the line which snaked all the way to the end of Packison Hall, and all the way back. Others thought that some practical changes should be made in the procedure of getting books.

Four basic changes in procedure would be brought about by one or more of the students who were caught in the bookstore bottleneck. They felt that no individual was to blame for the situation, but that something could be done to make it a little less of an ordeal.

1. Permit students to check out their texts at least one day before each term starts.
2. Shorten class periods to 30 minutes each on the first two days of the term. This alternative would give students more time in the forenoon, and would leave the afternoon free for checking out books.

3. Have two "servicing lines." Continue to shelve the books much as they are shelved now, but have counters at opposite ends of the storage space, and permit students to check out books from either counter.
4. Allow each student to pick up books for one person only. This would make the lines move faster, since it would eliminate the slow-down caused by students who turn in book cards for any number of their friends.

Not in change, allow the solution to the bookstore problem, but rather, in the thoughtful consideration of the alternatives for registration alternatives, followed by change in procedure, it is hoped that the same careful attention is being given to the bookstore bottleneck.

The Typical Joe College Looks To Another Term

By LARRY CONNER

The winter quarter is upon us, and it brings with it the usual changes in the student's mode of existence. After the grades for the fall term are posted, and his fond hopes for a 3.0 average are ruthlessly shattered, Joe College writes a letter to his parents which goes something like this: "Dear folks, I think that my grades mixed up with someone else's so don't be alarmed when you get them in the mail. (P.S. Send me some money. I need a pair of white bucks; everyone's wearing them this winter.")

WITH THAT out of the way, he decides to formulate a plan for experimenting with theories of the type. One reason is that, due to the many extra-curricular activities during the fall term, one should carry a relatively light scholastic load; this is counterbalanced by an accordingly heavier winter quarter. It is an admirable objective; however, it has many pitfalls. Taking this as his major premise, Joe sets out to make a tentative schedule. After deciding to carry the maximum load of 18 hours, he proceeds to pick his class for registration. Having made his selection, he finds himself somewhat fatigued by his exertion and sets off in quest of the customary refreshments.

ARISING the next morning, he straggles his way to the registration center, delaying long on the phone in connection of levis, blue suede jacket, and white bucks and to slick down his duck tail with a towel. Upon his arrival at the center, he finds his program somewhat impeded by a note from the dean, requesting his presence. After returning from his chat, Joe concludes that maybe he was a bit hasty in attempting to carry 18 hours and that 16 hours would allow him more time for the individual course. No

Donors Give SIU Poultry Building

A new, 28-by-64-foot prefabricated poultry house, costing nearly $2,000 without foundation or erection costs, has been presented to Southern Illinois University by six donors, according to Dr. W. E. Kieper, chairman of the SIU agricultural department. The building will assist the department in expanding its present poultry activities.

The new poultry building is being placed in a 16-acre tract of the University Experimental Farm just south of the Illinois Horticultural Experiment Station. Other SIU poultry facilities will be moved to the site to centralize activities.

Giftsmen of the University's physical plant gave, but the foundation and assembled the new poultry house.

Donors of the building are: Honeggers and Company, Inc., Thur-Bilt (manufacturers of prefabricated buildings), Fairbury, Benton; Illinois Hatchery, South; Nashville Hatchery, Nashville; Eckstein Orchard Association, Eckstein; and C. W. Kieper, Hoffmann. All are Illinois residents.

Alums Give $460 To SIU Loan Fund

The student loan fund has just recently received $460 from the alumni of Harvard Hall, a former rooming house for boys on the SIU campus before World War II.

The alumni of Harvard Hall, former resources, rented a house with an option to buy and started a cooperative dormitory in 1937. The dormitory provided a home for 60 boys for five years. Their board and payments cost them only $16 per month.

In 1942 the dormitory was forced to close when the men went to war leaving a $400 surplus in their household account. Sixty dollars has been added to the surplus by the 38 alumni (two of the men were killed in service) for the loan fund.

Harvard Hall, now housing the Health Education department, provoked a comment from one of the alumni during his visit to the campus. He said, "It sure doesn't look like the same place," is so clean!

There are at present five buildings undergoing construction at Southern, at a cost of $4,500,000.

Mexican Student Here On Crusade Scholarship

An SIU student, Roberto Hernandez, has been named as one of thirteen students from a foreign country who is studying at an institution in Illinois during 1952-53 on a "Crusade Scholarship" of the Methodist Church. The other 12 alumni (two of the men were killed in service) for the loan fund.

The funds will be used on the project, "A Study of Electrical Effects at the Surface of Semiconductors." It involves work on non-metallic materials whose properties have not been fully explored. The grant will also provide for the employment of a graduate assistant.

PERMISSION has been received from Springfield, Illinois, for the AF ROTC Precision Drill Team to use the Carbondale Army for drill practice.

In a letter from the capital of Illinois through the President's office, the AF ROTC was notified last Thursday that the Army Colonel would be available on Tuesday and Thursday from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. of each week for training the Drill Team.

Until now there has been no formal drill practice for the team of 75 cadets since no space has been available. Skill or blackboard sessions have taken the place of actual foot work the past two weeks.

WITH the closing of the part of the old route 51 between Hawthorn Street and Chautauque Street the AF ROTC now has the sorely needed drill area for its lab periods.

A great deal of discussion and study took place before the final site was agreed upon. Col. O. K. Halderon, PAST, suggested the area sometime ago since it is the only level paved section on the campus which is suitable for marching.

Now that the new highway has caused lessening of traffic on the old road, Pres. Morris agreed to the plans for using the road for drill.

NOTICE TO ALL CADETS: The Air Force Blue Raincoat which was issued to each Cadet WILL NOT be worn with civilian clothing.

The club will have a Christmas new home at Sunset Haven, 3 p. m. in the foods laboratory. A wrapped gift is to be brought by each member to the party.

Saluki Cagers Whip Evansville Aces 66-60

SIU Gets 34 Points on Free Shots In Rough-and-Tumble Contest

By Jim Kahnmann

Historians and fiction writers who stamped the Old West as wild and woolly, but even the most extravagantly-penned epics would get rough competition if last Saturday's basketball game were inked in the text books. Southern came out on top, 66-60, but only after a rough-house roundball rondo in their first game of the season that saw 50 fouls called, 32 of these on the Evansville Aces.

Had it not been for the accuracy of the Salukis from the free throw line, where they hit 34 out of 51 for a 66.66 percent, the epic would easily have been different. Evansville hit 22 field goals to 16 for Southern, but the SIU boys out-shot them from the circle line, said 34 to 16.

That was the difference, the free throw shooting. That, and the fact that Evansville seemed to think they were in a wrestling match rather than a basketball game. Tangled arms and legs were the rule rather than the exception, and the two free throw rings, which all lost the fouled team to shoot two charity tosses instead of one in most cases, really paid off for Lynn Holder's cagers.

Kurtz and Welch Hot

Gib Kurtz, hard-playing, loud-shouting forward, was particularly effective against the tactics of the Aces. It was perhaps Kurtz's performance, if an individual's efforts were to be named, which spelled the real difference. Gib sank 12 free throws in 16 attempts, and added 2 field goals for 16 points, less than linkey Harvey Welch, who was high point man for Southern with 17.

Welch's long pot-shots were out of this world, for the most part. He hit three long kiss shots, all Canisius fashion, that had the Evansville fans shivering in excitement.

Southern trailed in the ball game only a few times during the first quarter. After that, they usually had two or three points on the Purple Aces all the way through. They led by 14 at the end of the first, 31-29 at the half, and 47-45 going into the finale.

The last quarter was the gem of them all, however, four of the five men who fouled out of the ball game fouled out in this period, and it was slow-burner than on out. Burch, Combs, Grumbaker, and Walker went out for Evansville. Walker was out of a flagrant, double-kick foul, which was more than the referees could take. Captain Chuck Thate and John Cherry fouled out for Southern.

With two minutes left, Southern had the ball game pretty well stowed away, nevertheless. They had a seven-point lead at the time, and they lost it in the final minute. The refs had a misunderstanding that had everyone scratching their heads.

Confusion Reigns

Louis (Pick) Dehner, the crowd-pleasing ref from East St. Louis, and the Rhine of Beahato both called foul during the last minute. Dehner called a foul on the technical foul of Welch, but the rule book says that the personal foul must be shot first. In this case, Welch was admonished to shoot first anyway, which he did. But then, after an extraordinary discussion period for a basketball game, Rhine proposed that Pete Baggett, who was fouled personally, shot his free throws. Baggett hit one-for-two, and then Welch shot again and missed. In all, the Salukis got five three throws for two fouls. Everyone, particularly Evansville Coach Arad McCutchan, was quite puzzled.

The Salukis then took the ball out-of-bounds, and proceeded to sail down the victory, with Kurtz hitting four free throws in the waning seconds.

Welch and Ripplenever did most of the rebounding for Southern, in the absence of Captain Chuck Thate, who saw only limited action due to a strained ankle. Ripplenever also added 12 points in addition to his fine defensive play.

Gene Wilm, a driving, dribbling guard, led Evansville with 22 points, although he played only in the second half. He hit 7 out of 12 from the field, and 8 out of 19 free throws.

IIAC Members Meet in Chicago

The Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference of which Southern is one of seven member schools, voted to favor any 1953 football television policy adopted by the National Collegiate Athletic Association in the annual meeting held in Chicago last Friday.

Representative members of the seven conference schools named Howard Hancock, Illinois Normal athletic director, as president for the forthcoming year, Hancock succeeds William Harrison of Northern Illinois.

Other newly elected officers are Ralph F. Golden of Michigan Normal, vice-president; J. P. Carey of Central Michigan, secretary; and Dempsey Reid, Western Illinois, treasurer.

Representatives also clarified the conference one-year transfer rule for athletes. The rule states that if a student participates in one intercollegiate sport during the first year, he still is ineligible for one year. This rule applies whether the student transferred within the conference, or whether he transferred to a conference school from a non-conference school.

However, the IIAC members agreed on two exceptions to the above rule. One states that a high school graduate may attend summer school at one college while being considered a transfer student at another college in the fall.

The other exception allows servicemen to be eligible immediately upon their return to school, providing their grades previous to induction are on a par with conference scholarship requirements.

Twenty Men Begin Practice For SIU Varsity Wrestling Squad

Twenty men began practicing last week for the coming wrestling season, according to Jim Wilkinson, head coach. Among the twenty are our letter winners from previous seasons.

The teamers are Jack Fodora (145 pound class) recently returned from military service, Joe Stouffer (137 pound class), Nick Veremis (167) and Bob Whelan (123), also returned from the service.

Bill Barnhardt (Hyvve), Dave Bove (Hyvve), Earl Coe (177), Danony Cox (157), John Grimes (167), Dan Holloran (177), Mike McCary (177), Bill Mavr (147), Don Duffy (157), Gale Patterson (Hyvve), Marshall Biggan (130), Don Smallwood (177), Dale Vogt (167), Kent Werner (Hyvve), Jim Williams (167), and Bob Zdenek (157) complete the roster.

In Jim Wilkinson and Assistant Coach Russ Bush the Salukis have what many consider to be one of the most competent wrestling staffs in the country. It is unusual for a college to have two wrestling coaches who were both former National Collegiate champions.

According to Bush, who has been handling the team while Wilkinson has been off-campus, the Saluki grapplers form one of the best wrestling squads in the conference. Bush is inaugurating a new technique called chain wrestling, whereby the participant works on a series of possible take-downs and escapes rather than practice the maneuvers singly. Thus, the wrestler plans his moves ahead similar to the way a football quarterback calls a series of plays.

Looking ahead to the first meet Jan. 10 against Illinois Normal and the first home meet against Eastern Jan. 23, Bush stated, "I promise that the boys will be aggressive from the beginning to the end of the six-minute bouts. They'll always be working for either a take-down or an escape. By doing this, they'll always keep the matches moving as fast as possible. This will add much to the meet from the spectator stand-point."

Anyone interested in competing in wrestling should report to either Bush or Wilkinson immediately.

Southern's Gib Kurtz takes a fall in Saturday night's rough-and-tumble cage contest against the Evansville Purple Aces. Kurtz, who dropped in 12 free throws in 16 attempts, led the Salukis to a 66-60 victory in the season's opener. Harvey Welch (crouched to right of Kurtz) was high point man for Coach Lynn Holder's victors with 18 points. Saluki captain Chuck Thate (39) saw only limited action because of a strained ankle.

Fullback Bob Ems and Tackle Cliff Johnson of Southern were named to the IIAC football team.

Ems, who was lost to the draft before the season was finished, was named to the offensive unit. Johnson was picked on the defensive team.

Central Michigan, the conference champion, placed five men on the offensive team and three on the defensive squad. Michigan Normal dominated the defensive selections with five men.

The team was picked on the basis of all-opponent selections made by each school.

Welch led the Salukis scorers with six field goals and six free-throws, totaling 18 points. (see story above).

For the Women

Girls' schools and co-ed colleges were urged to cooperate in the development of more girls athletes in track and field events so that Uncle Sam's chances in the 1956 Olympic Games will be strengthened.

The plea came from Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union. Ferris has been at his post for forty years and has seen the sons and daughters of the Uncle take a lot of hurdles in this time.

"We have to build up our strength in the women's events and encourage women's track and field athletics like the Russians, the French and the English do. Everywhere in Europe and elsewhere over the map, women may race up to half a mile and even beyond. We limit ours to 220 yards," Ferris states.

"The prowess of the Russian women athletes gave the Soviets a big lead in the recent Olympic Games at Helsinki," a lead that the American men barely managed to overcome in the eleventh hour.

Ferris said that the 1952 Olympics convinced him that women's sports, properly selected, do not produce mannish women. "Participation in track and field events will enhance rather than dilute femininity," Ferris contends.

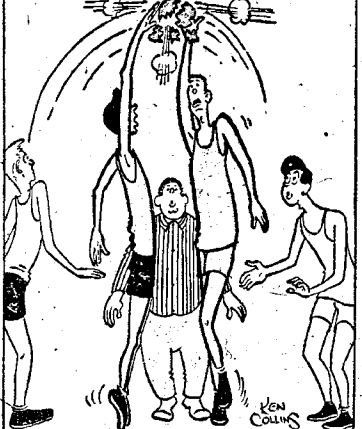

"It is not that our girl athletes are failing us," Ferris opines; "it is we who are failing them by not giving the same opportunities and training for track and field that we give in swimming and golf and tennis where our women athletes bow to nobody."
