Student Council Passes Vending Issue

THE Egyptian

Filibuster Fails To Prevent Centralization

By Bob Post
Egyptian Managing Editor

A desperate, last-ditch filibuster by Earl Walker failed Thursday night to prevent passage of the Student Council record amendment to provide for channeling of on-campus vending machine profits into a New Student Union building fund.

Walker, an ISA sponsored member of the Council, was also chairman of the committee appointed to investigate this matter.

SOME FOR—SOME AGAINST

What happened after this history has been reported in the Egyptian, Mainly, the MHR, "I" Club, WAA and Student Union Board came out against the proposal. Woody Hall gave it a vote of confidence. Walker's committee deliberated for some time, then came up with Thursday's proposal.

It allowed for centralization of all new vending machine profits after Feb. 1, 1955, into the Student Union fund. Walker and his committee decided some organizations could not continue to function properly without their vending machine profits; provided for retention of all present machine profits to the organizations possessing them. The proposal allowed for an increase of tuition fees to fill in the place of vending machine profits in the fund.

BOYCOTT THREATENED

Some Council members did not think the proposal would bring in enough money to give the Student Union fund the boost it needed. After much discussion, during which Walker stated that the MHR and threatened to either boycott or remove the machines if the centralization bill was passed, Wynn Church filed a new motion.

ANOTHER MOTION

Church's motion provided for following the first part of the committee recommendation but a reversal of the second part that would provide for centralization of all machine's profits.

Walker immediately moved the question be tabled till the next meeting. His motive in this was evidently to postpone the issue until there would be more votes on his side. This motion was not carried.

FILIBUSTER STARTS

Walker's motion was his filibuster. He started reading letters, minutes of the committee meetings, and other material at his disposal in a slow, monotonous tone, tiring himself intermittently.

After Walker had read for some time, a motion amendment was carried, to close the meeting. Immediately upon closing four members called for a special meeting. President Edgell opened a new meeting and Church's motion was brought up and carried by a vote of 15 to 10. An amendment was added to Church's motion. The date of centralization of funds was changed from Feb. 1, 1955, to July 1, 1955.

OTHER BUSINESS

In his position Walker had two special assemblies to be held Jan. 4 and 5 in which SIU President Deltae Morris will explain the budget request to students. The Jan. 4 meeting will be for male members and the other for women, faculty and civil service workers. At the men's meeting the ROTC will attend in a body.

The IRC asked for $436.70 to provide funds for expense paid trips to conventions. IRC members of the Council looked into its by-laws and found a rule stating that the Council can not give more than $75 to an organization, on a dollar-for-dollar basis. IRC President John Zeigler stated that his organization needed the largest amount to attend three meetings.

A motion was made and carried to give the IRC $75 on a dollar-for-dollar basis and give it its choice of attending one of the meetings.

APPROVED

Betty Frick, Pat Priest, Norma Prater was present for roll call but left immediately after.

Faculty Meets Tomorrow For Budget Explanation

SIU faculty members will meet at 4 p. m. tomorrow in the University School auditorium to examine various aspects of the university budget.

Pres. D. W. Morris will lead a discussion on general plans for the future concerning SIU's budget and expansion program, according to Mr. Elbert Fullerton, university faculty secretary.

Recovery, Inc., an organization similar to Alcoholics Anonymous, but working among persons with nervous disorders is now active in Southern Illinois.

Recovery meets every Thursday night at 8 p. m. in Main 102. Persons with nervous disorders are invited to attend or to write Recovery, Box 1222, Carbondale. There are no dues to pay, and members are known by first names only.

"Unless the brain or nervous system is damaged physically, health can be restored to almost any mentally disturbed person who is willing to follow the group's principles," is Recovery's belief.

Group therapy is the theme of Recovery's. A post-nominatee's troubles which tend to be chronic can be minimized and eliminated through this method. Members learn through patient-patient discussions what others have experienced and profit by it.

The organization declares that society is wrong to believe any mental disease disgraced.

Lost And Found Department In Student Union Overflowing

By Kathy Hooker

Lost your mind? The Student Union Lost and Found Department can't help you there, but it can help you find almost "anything" else.

When an employee was asked about unusual items that were found, he replied, "A purse containing a bra was turned in recently but that was claimed right away." Other items in the department range from a chime transformer to a mattress cover.

The Student Union is the place to look if you're missing money, and purses there. Who knows what that contains? Now is the time to pick up lost money for Christmas.

There are 9 umbrellas, 8 fountain pens, 2 jackets, 5 pairs of gloves, 3 rings and many other items there. If you have lost something, the Student Union Lost and Found Department may be able to help you.

A Good Job

Saturday night saw the end of probably the best student-acted play ever put on at Southern. Probably about one per cent of the students here saw it. The other 99 per cent missed a lot, culturally and entertainingly.

"The Crucible" was not only one of the best, but also one of the most difficult plays ever undertaken by the Little Theater group. A total of 21 players appeared in the play. These actors spent through four nights of not only carrying out the action sensibly but putting across the great emotion expressed in Miller's play excellently.

Every person, from the scene painters to the actors, involved in this play deserve a lot of credit. Space here does not permit a listing of names of all those concerned but we do wish to express a hearty "well done" to all.

For years it has been a tradition of the students at SIU to give a great deal of not-support to student-acted plays and to avoid attendance of them as it they were carriers of bubonic plague.

This time those who didn't attend missed something they would have been privileged to pay $5.50 to see by a professional group.

The Egyptians want to let the persons in "The Crucible" know they did a good job. E.P.

KAPPA PH: DINNER SLATED TOMORROW

Kappa Phi's annual progressive dinner, originally scheduled for Dec. 8, will be at 6 p. m. tomorrow, according to Mrs. Carol McDermott, sponsor.

A gift exchange will follow the affair.

Of the 607 women students, 15 percent — or 91 girls — have hurricane names or their derivatives. There are 15 Carols, 12 Carolyns, 23 Barbaras, 18 Patricia ("Patsy") is the code name for the 16th hurricane in the storm code alphabet beginning with Alice, Barbara, Carol, etc.)

The Carols, representing the most numerous bloc, got together recently and endorsing the code suggested by Dr. John G. Albright, professor of physics. With a faculty associate, Prof. H. M. Hoffer, Dr. Albright devised a simpler, more descriptive hurricane alphabet.

Here is a partial sample of the suggested code, showing the defined terms that could be substituted for the Hurricane Gals: Alice — amok, frenzied; Barbara — balf, a flow; Carol — cark, a worry and Dolly — doxy, a wench, which might seem to bring the Dr. right back to the hurricane gals again.

Wesley Foundation To Hear Mrs. Young Read

Mrs. O. B. Young will read "A Child is Born," a modern morality play, in verse written by Stephen Vincent Benet at the Wesley Foundation meeting tomorrow at the First Methodist Church.

A Good Fight

Thursday's Student Council meeting was probably the most interesting one ever held at SIU. In the past the Council has been called a "do-nothing, lackadaisical bunch." This may have been true — in the past, it certainly isn't now.

It is true it took them some time to decide upon the vending machine problem. In the vend machine case, however, it was a good reflection rather than bad. They investigated every facet of the controversial problem before acting.

On the vending machine question there was no middle road. Every member was decidedly, "for it or agin it." Both sides fought with vigor and determination. One member in particular, Earl Walker, had strong convictions and the courage to uphold them. His side was not the one of Egyptian editorial policy, but never the less it would take a short-sighted person indeed not to admire Walker for his spunk.

But the Council as a whole is displaying a refreshing amount of good old fashioned guts. More than we have ever seen or heard in the past.

Again we want to congratulate it on its sparked up activity.

We have also noticed a definite decrease in absences. Whether this is due to increased publicity about absences or an awakened interest in duties, we don't know, but it is a good sign. Of the two absences Thursday, by the way, one was in the hospital, the other in a night class. B.P.

Area Groups Attempt To Promote New Ag Building

A MODEL of the proposed SIU Agriculture Building which the Southern Illinois Dairy Technology Society and Southern Illinois Incorporated have recommended be constructed. The building is first on the list for which Dr. Morris is asking funds to build the expansion program.

'Present Facilities 'Grossly Inadequate' Says DTS Resolution

Southern Illinois Incorporated, an area organization which seeks to promote better economic conditions for southern Illinois, and the Southern Illinois Dairy Technology Society today joined other groups in calling for construction of a new agriculture building at SIU.

Letters with accompanying resolutions adopted by the organizations today were in the hands of SIU President D. W. Morris from Geoffrey Hughes, SIU executive director, and Carl Marzani, Carbondale, president of the Dairy technology society.

The SIU resolution supporting new construction for agriculture at SIU called attention to the organization's interest in improving the area's agricultural economy and that this economy could be greatly improved by extending the agricultural education program at SIU.

The dairy technology society resolution says that facilities now devoted to agriculture at SIU are "grossly inadequate," calls for a building program needed for sound development of a continued agricultural program, and urges that necessary funds for such construction be appropriated by the state legislature for the 1955-57 biennium.

Among other organizations that during the past two or three years have called for construction of a new agriculture building at SIU are the Illinois Agriculture Association, the Illinois and the Southern Illinois Horticultural Societies, the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Prairie Farms Creamery of Carbondale, the Jackson County Builders and Contractors Trades Council and the Carbondale Kiwanis Club.

Plans for an agriculture building, estimated to cost $2,600,000 for building construction, utilities, equipment, and site development, were completed nearly two years ago, but funds for the building were not available during the current biennium.

Agriculture Club To Meet 'Santa Claus'

The Agriculture Club will meet at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the Ag barracks.

"Santa Claus" will be there to distribute gifts to the members. A movie, "Salem's Harem," will be shown by Salem Al Janan, an Agricultural student from Iran. Slides entitled "The Slick Chick" also will be shown.

Membership cards will be available at this meeting.

U Of Cal Makes Study Of Exam Cheating

(IP)—A report of the University Affairs Council at the University of California on the subject of examinations and how to quell cheating evolved around the following questions: (1) Why should undergraduates be expected to compete for grades with students who are not subjected to the same standards of honesty?

(2a) Is there no uniform standard in which midterms and finals are corrected? (2b) Why do not professors who teach courses throughout the entire semester help correct papers instead of leaving them to teaching assistants who often are not even present at lectures? (2c) Are methods of corrections supervised or enforced?

Regarding the first query, general consensus of faculty members of UAC was that students should report instances of cheating through proper channels — first, to the professor in charge of the course and second, if necessary, to the chairman of the department. Most members felt that any self-respecting faculty member would welcome knowledge of cases of cheating during tests so that he could take immediate steps to curb the practice in future exams.

Regarding question "2a," administrators professed the standardization of the methods used to correct exams would be difficult to set up in the first place, and practically impossible to administer.

A professor of chemistry said he had never been told how to grade his papers and thought the "quality of corrections on exams would vary with the quality of teaching." Most faculty members agreed with him pointing out that the manner of grading papers is a "zealously guarded privilege," almost as dear to the professor as the concept of academic freedom.

As for part "2b," some members pointed out that many professors read a certain percentage of the papers after each test. And many professors, contrary to popular belief, will change grades assigned by their readers if students appeal the grades.

Chancellor Clark Kerr admitted that it is mistakenly felt that such complaints and appeals are held against students but he said he thought this generally was not the situation.

Regarding supervision of correction methods (2c), most faculty members thought best results with teaching assistants and readers were obtained when the professor called regular meetings with his staff to point out to them just what would constitute adequate questions given on exams.

Overseas Jobs Are Available To Teachers

SIU elementary and high school education majors interested in overseas positions should begin thinking about it right now according to Charles Thomas, Overseas Recruiting Representative from Scott Air Force Base.

Throughout the month of February 1955 the Air Force will place strong emphasis on recruitment of teachers for the 150 elementary and secondary schools now operating outside the continental United States. Approximately 700 positions must be filled.

Applications are now being accepted from teachers who hold a bachelor's degree, two years of satisfactory public school teaching experience, and a valid state teaching certificate.

Female applicants must be between the ages of 23 and 40, males between 23 and 50. Salaries average $350 per month plus living quarters or a housing allowance, and in some cases, a foreign post pay differential. Selection will be made during April and May 1955 and overseas departures will be scheduled for late July or August.

To receive consideration, applications (Standard Form 37) should be submitted in duplicate to the Civilian Personnel Division, Scott Air Force Base, Ill. These forms are available at most first and second class post offices.

Positions are located in the Azores, England, France, French Morocco, Germany, Iceland, Japan, Newfoundland, Philippine Islands, Spain and Tripoli.

Placement Service Report

82 Per Cent More Teaching Vacancies This Year

Roy R. Bryant, SIU placement director, has reported 82 percent more vacancies in education and 23 percent more in business, industry, and social work listed during the year ending October 1 than in the previous year.

Vacancies in education listed with the SIU Placement Service last year numbered 8,170. The demand for teachers will exceed the number of available high school teachers but is more in balance with the demand than is the number of available elementary teachers.

IN HIS ANNUAL report, Bryant pointed out that the SIU graduates this year accepted positions in four foreign countries, 16 states, and 61 Illinois counties. More than half of the 1954 graduates who took jobs with business or industry went to St. Louis or Chicago areas. Of those who stayed in Illinois, one-third were employed in Cook County.

The current average beginners' elementary teaching salary for SIU graduates with bachelor's degrees is $3,268, he reported. The beginning salary for secondary school teachers averages $3,367. Inexperienced teachers with master's degrees receive at least $200 more annually. The average salary of 1954 SIU graduates working in technical fields is $3,810 as compared to $3,619 for non-technical work.

BECAUSE MANY business and industrial firms have training programs at a lower salary scale for new employees, a number because of commissions, expense accounts and other benefits, the average figure listed may not give a true salary picture for graduates going into business and industry, he said.

The 11,182 vacancies listed with the SIU placement office last year came from 28 foreign countries and outlying territories, 36 states, and every county in Illinois. More than 300 employers called at the placement office to personally interview job candidates.

BRYANT SAID the 503 persons graduating from SIU in 1954 with bachelor's or master's degrees were occupied as follows on October 1: 288 are school teachers or administrators; 82 are continuing in graduate school at SIU or elsewhere; 68 are employed in business, industry, or social work; 51 are in the armed services; 13 do not desire employment; and one is unemployed.

Placement is a year-round program, he pointed out. Heaviest listings last year started in December and continued through August, reaching a peak in April. The services of the office are open without charge to SIU undergraduates, degree candidates, and alumni, and to employers seeking qualified candidates.

By Jack Hess

Coch Holder tried a new quarter on the hardwood last Friday night only to find the same results as in the two previous attempts.

Takes Hold Top Rung in Hellenic Bowling Loop

The status of the tight race for leadership in the SIU Hellenic bowling league did not change as the league leading Tau Kappa Epsilon crew and the runner-up Delta Zeta five tangled in a crucial victory and rolled to a draw with two victories each. Ron Wilson and Ken Black did the heavy peeling for the leaders with 518 and 503 respective efforts. Hellenic individual honors for the fans went to Sis Cunningham of Delta Zeta with a 472 series.

Sigma Tau Gamma quietly swung into a tie for third place by making a 3-1 decision from Sigma Pi with Jim Carlyle and Tom Holobowski doing the most damage for the winners with their respective totals of 507 and 471. Eldon Klein of the victors was the brightest individual of the season with a 552 set.

Theta Xi after dropping the opener by two pins failed to collect enough pinage on 2485 to gain the high scoring honors and a 3-1 decision at the expense of Sigma Sigma Sigma. Bob Morgan and Jack Dixon collaborated their efforts of 487 and 483 to spark the attack. Barbara Peterson's 514 topped the losers' efforts.

The cellar-dwelling Pi Kappa Sigma quintette took a split decision from Delta Sigma Epsilon to round out the results.
