Blueprints Arrive For Landscaping Training School

Blueprints for the site preparation of the new training school at Southern were received this week by the President's office from the State Division of Architecture and Engineering.

The huge roll of blueprints shows a general plan for future development of the campus, including a large area extending from Grand Avenue almost to Mill Street and from University Avenue to Lake Street—site of the new training school and other structures planned for future construction, and another large area south of the present campus, which is the site of the new power plant to be built on an immediate building project.

In the training school area are the training school itself, a small structure for training school for secondary children, a home economics building, a home economics practice house, a museum building, and a community center. The blueprints furnished by the State Division of Architecture and Engineering show details for site-preparation work as grading, fencing plans and steps, walks, storm sewers, drainage, play areas, drinking fountains, lawn irrigation, and other lines.

24 High School Chorus To Be Here February 22 Clinic

Twenty-four directors have accepted invitations to the Choral Clinic to be held on Southern's campus February 22, Floyd V. Turner, director of the University chorus, has announced.

Music Department Offers B.S. Degree

A new professional degree program in music has been set up by Southern Illinois Normal University, Dr. Maurits Kenar, professor and chairman of the music department, has announced.

Proposal to offer the degree, bachelor of science in music in the new College of Vocations and Professions, was made by the music department to the college dean, then submitted to the University curriculum committee, then to the president, and finally to the State Teachers College Board.

Application has also been made to the National Association of School of Music for its approval of the new program, and a representative of the association will visit the Southern campus in April to make an official inspection, Dr. Kenar said.

The degree plan calls for a total of 102 quarter hours of work, including 47 in basic academic subjects, nine in foreign language, 26 in elective subjects (total 82), and 110 hours in music subjects, including 60 in theory, 12 in ensemble, 27 in applied music, and 11 in elective subjects in the music department.

One-half credit each will be given for participation in the band, the chorus and the orchestra. All students musically able to do so will be required to enroll in two of these three ensemble groups.

A total of 44 students are at present majoring in music, and are eligible to take work leading to the new degree.

Rifle Discharge Kills Negro Student In East St. Louis

Miss Hazel Harris, Negro student at Southern at East St. Louis, was accidentally shot and killed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Turner, East St. Louis Saturday, Feb. 8.

Miss Harris, who was visiting the Turner home for the week end was shot in the head by a rifle that was being cleaned by Stanley Turner, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Turner. According to Mr. Turner, Miss Harris was standing in the middle room of their three room house, when a rifle which he was cleaning, was accidentally discharged, killing Miss Harris immediately.

The body was removed to the Crigger Ochs Funeral Home, and young Turner was held by the East St. Louis police for the coroner's investigation.

Speech Students Plan To Attend Convention of Pi Kappa Delta

The WSSSP drive for funds will begin on Southern's campus next Thursday, February 20, according to Elmer Geitmann, student chairman of the WSSSP.

The campaign will be launched at the Student assembly on Thursday morning at 10 a.m. and will continue until February 27.

A 25 cent meal will be served at the cafeteria at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, February 19, to students who can contribute their share to World Student Service Fund by soliciting funds.

Pitkin Addresses Fifth LSU Forum On United Nations

Isolationism is not dead in the Middle West, but isolationism is slowly fading, Dr. W. A. Pitkin, associate professor of social science, as he expressed them in a speech at the Independent Student Union forum in the Little Theatre last Tuesday night.

Dr. Pitkin's subject was "Our Part in the United Nations Program."

Dr. Pitkin decreed the idea of one world in the meaning that all differences should be eradicated, but he does conceive of a world in the sense of the co-operation of all peoples.

Dr. Pitkin said he offered no careful because that is the habit of which Americans frequently seek to work the easy way out. He expressed the view that the aims of the United Nations can be accomplished only through diligent and conscientious effort.

On Tuesday's program, June Falkerson, junior of Carbondale, acted as student chairman.

This was the fifth in a series of programs sponsored by the ISU, Dr. Thibault, Dr. Charles Alexander, professor of government, will speak on "The Outlook for the British Empire." The program will begin at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre with 1947 entertainers as student chairman. The public is invited to attend.

Andrews will not resume his classes this term, and will return to the Chicago center soon.

Board Terms Criticism Too Minor To Warrant Presidential Change

Investigation of conditions causing the alleged "adverse publicity" concerning Southern and its administration was concluded last Friday at the Board's second session here, and the State Teachers College Board, while recognizing that it found some "just criticism, minor in character," in general upheld the present administration of President Chester P. Lay. The board did not specify what "just criticism" it found but stated that they were "not of sufficient importance to warrant any drastic consideration in its academic areas and school standards, the quality of the faculty, and the efforts of the school to solve the housing difficulties for which the administration is held responsible. The board also stated that the University is now progressing in its development in a commendable manner and that most of the "adverse publicity" centered around the first month of the present administration following the change of the school administration, and the transition into an accredited university and graduate school have created problems requiring the board's attention in the future. The board upheld the administration of the school, and the board also stated that the University is now progressing in its development in a commendable manner and that most of the "adverse publicity" centered around the first month of the present administration following the change of the school administration, and the transition into an accredited university and graduate school have created problems requiring the board's attention in the future.

Regret Faculty Losses

Comments on Southern's faculty, the statement read. "The board, however, did not overlook the loss of faculty members who have become some very capable faculty members, most of whom went to more promising and remunerative fields and their loss is regrettable."

Science Field Day Here April 19

Southern will sponsor a Science Field day to be held on the campus Saturday, April 19, according to Dr. Walter B. Welch, chairman of the faculty department. Schools in the southern half of the state which have a science department will participate in the day's events. Invitations to these schools are being mailed this week from Southern.

Schools participating will take part in various demonstrations and all projects will be displayed. These schools will be judged on the basis of first, second, and third place by members of Southern's faculty.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, professor emeritus of human physiology at the University of Chicago, will speak at 10:30 a.m. at Carbondale, and at 7:45 p.m. over Station WJPF, Harris. The address, "Southern as the Board Views It," will go more fully into Southern's progress than the board's statement, Mr. Thompson said.

A faculty meeting for 2 p.m. today has also been called by Mr. Thompson and Vernon L. Nickell, secretary of the board.

Greenhouse Grows Shrubs Which Are Used On Campus

By FRED CRIMMER
 The University Greenhouse is like a brilliant old lady who has long been there and has been loved back in the days of the first world war, has since fallen into decay. It is built of wood frames which have rotted under the glass panes to fall. The frames are not able to bear the weight of workmen, so the replacement of panes is virtually impossible. Keeping the building at the right temperature is hard for this reason.

"It seems the greenhouse has a knack for always being erected on a covered spot," smiled Prof. Marberry. The present location of the greenhouse has evolved after many moves. It formerly stood where the chemistry building now stands and was moved once before.

"Students are interested in the greenhouse, especially biology students," Prof. Marberry added. "Many have come down recently to look at the pansies which have been blooming outside all winter."

He pointed to a group of buds directly at his feet which looked a little cold in the chill air of the out-of-doors. "Spring is not far away when the daffodils look that way," he said.

Carbondale Grows To Present Size In Short Period of 100 Years

By Bill Price

The same old faces, the same places—why doesn't this town ever change? This question is asked many times each day. A retrospective glance on Carbondale will show the banality of this question.

One hundred years ago Carbondale was a maze of briars and vines. Shawneetown was the thriving town of Southern Illinois, port-of-call for immigrants into this region and home of the only salt works in Southern Illinois; it challenged the "town on the lake," Chicago, for the position of the most important town in Illinois.

With the advent of the Illinois Central railroad into this region, the prominence of river towns waned; rail transportation surpassed river boats to carry commodities. Land speculation was a natural result of the coming of the railroad. New towns would spring up overnight, their growth dependent on the amount of land their founders and the location of the original sites.

Carbondale was born as a result of one of these land speculation schemes. Col. D. H. Brush and

The Southern Parade

A new sport appeared upon the Southern scene this week as the thermometer wavered near the freezing point, and Lake Ridgeway decided it had seen enough of it all. Ridgeway retired to sleep out the remainder of the cold snap and left a coating of ice, which was soon dotted with the graceful figures of skaters in various vertical and horizontal positions. Among the more dashing skaters were to be seen Julius Swayne and Fred Armstrong, well known Southerners who have recently garnered more than local notice for their daring curling on the ice rink at Swayne Look-out. The ice appeared to "get Armstrong," as he put it, in return for a sprained ankle suffered at Fred's hands in a street hockey game last fall. The box score: Armstrong, one bruised knee, one achin' back. Swayne, one triumphant grin.

NOTE TO THE STUDENT COUNCIL

There can be no doubt that the student body should possess a number of inherent rights, rights recognized by the faculty and administration alike. The Independent Student Union made a slip in the right direction in presenting a "Bill of Rights" to you last week. However, isn't it obvious that any such Bill, if it is to be what its name implies, should come from ALL the students and not just from the ISU? It is entirely possible, you know, that the views and aims of the ISU are not representative of the student body as a whole. If you are what you should be, Student Council, you will return that "Bill of Rights" to the ISU with the recommendation that it be made the voice of all the students instead of just few of them. If other organizations are allowed to suggest points which the "Bill" should include, it is to be hoped that they can contribute something less empty of significance than those concerned with drinking fountains, street-lights, and sidewalks, which added exactly nothing to the original "Bill."

ABOUT THE "WHITE WASH" MESSAGE

The State Teachers College Board made known the results of its investigation here at Southern in a message released last Saturday—a message which fortunately was brief and to the point. No criticism of their decision is intended here. However, it seems unfortunate that the board saw fit to include in its message the paragraph which was concerned with the replacement of instructors with persons of higher rank and of the right direction? Was it the board's way of saying to the faculty, "we've decided in favor of the administration; back us up or get out!"? We sincerely hope not.

BACK TO THE "BURD"

Although the Mile or More hasn't been in the news recently, a considerable amount of activity has been going steadily on in spite of the extreme cold of late, which has prevented field research. From St. Louis comes a note from John Whiteside who has been burning the midnight blubber in that city's public library, poring over various dusty old manuscripts in an effort to learn something of MOM origins. He tells us that "... however documented, the treatise traces its first ... of music back to the Balkans in the thirteenth century. It is said that a certain submeral boy flushed a covey of MOMs in a pasture one day. It was in the springtime, and one of the birds emitted the song. The inspired boy put the song on paper, and the piece, played by a quartet consisting of a lute, zither, sargore, and two harp on the immediate favor of the Sultan of Turkey. The young idiot was appointed professor of music in the Lycee at Constantinople. Whiteside should be commended for that bit of knowledge, a really worthwhile addition to "burd" lore. Remember the Mallard Duck, Harry? Next week's MOM feature will be result of an interview with Bob Pulliam concerning his research upon the subject of the venerable Monk Shrangus and of Colonel Burd, two men who figured prominently in our prototype, given the name it bears. Don't miss it.

....Looking Elsewhere....

LOTS OF PEOPLE were disappointed by lots of hot ball games last season, but we bet the biggest disappointment of all was over the game scheduled between Drexel Tech and Hickland. Over 20,000 fans were gathered in the stadium anxiously awaiting the delayed appearance of the two teams. Finally they were told that the game would have to be cancelled. The name of the visiting team had been sent to the wrong city.

AND FROM THE COLUMN. "The Dope Sheet," in Charleston's Eastern Teachers News, we quoted a letter from an old-timer that Ned Hudson wants a return game with Carbondale at Carbondale. Could it be the feminine angle?

Well, could it? And if so, further information concerning the identity of the person who gained the interest of Hudson, Eastern star, will be appreciated.

WE WERENT TOO PLEASED about a feature we finished reading in Normal's Vitette. A columnist, advocating for the absence of the back page pictures and explaining her own space-filling blurb in their stead, writes, "I rejected the idea of printing excerpts from the Southern Illinois Normal University's news or the Board of Temperance (BPSheet)." Do you really think the two rank in the same category, Vitette? CASTING A GLANCE at the Sphinx University High's newspaper, we read that, according to a high school student, Rob Goddard, Southern senior, is "medium height, dark handsome, with an arist's quality, and sort of dreamy." Such success with the younger fens, Bob. THE GOOD OLD DAYS These ads intrigue us. Our all-time favorite is the one that says "Take Her Out to Dinner—AT LEAST ONCE A WEEK—After Her You'll Take Her Home Specialize in pasta lunches—25¢. May we comment—if there were more plate lunches at 25¢, there would be more weekly dinner dates." A June 1931, Egyptian editorializes on the fact that over 200 colleges are teaching courses in marriage. Could it be said that our married vets are taking the lab course?

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS TO STUDENTS FOR PRE-REGISTRATION

1—Counselors will meet with their consultees on Thursday, February 20 (during the ninth week) for the purpose of group instructions and for arranging a pre-registration schedule with their consultees. (a) Department chairmen will meet with seniors and juniors at 10 a. m. on Thursday (assembly hour). (b) Counselors of freshmen and sophomores will meet with their consultees at 3 p. m. Thursday. (c) Lists of counselors' meetings mentioned in (a) and (b) are listed below. (d) During the days immediately following (until February 25) counselor of department advisor and student will make out their work-sheets and a class card for each course (in ink). The counselor will retain one work-sheet for himself and temporarily a second work-sheet and the class cards. The second work-sheet and the class cards of each student will be brought to the CENTRAL PRE-REGISTRATION OFFICE, ROOM 102, OLD SCIENCE BUILDING, at the end of each day, by the counselor. All cards and work-sheets must be in by Tuesday noon, February 25. 2—Names on the class cards and the work-sheets must be printed in ink. All blanks that require filling in will be filled in by the student and checked by the counselor (such as address and telephone number, etc.). If a student cannot find his pre-registration schedule changed for some reason such as work or commuting, this may be noted in the space provided on the work-sheets. 3—The classes on the class cards will be listed as follows: Course and No. Section Term Eng 101 R 2 Spr 47 Under the heading "Course and Number" the course should be entered by name of department and course number, except foreign language which should be entered by the language and number, such as Fr. 101 or Esp. 102. 4—All freshmen (with less than 45 hours) must be assigned to Assembly, Thursday, at 10 o'clock and this should be indicated on the work-sheets and final programs. 5—On Thursday the 27th, each academic dean will call the department chairmen to meet with him in or near the Central Pre-Registration Office, 102 Old Science Building. Final arrangements will be made regarding the enlarging of classes, opening of new sections, etc. Corrections to the schedule will be printed and distributed. 6—For classes with too many student cards, selections will be made among the students in the alphabetical order in which they are later to be given preference in registering. This spring, for example, the first group (the favored group) will be Public Law 16 students and those whose names begin with C, D, and E. The cards of the rejected students will be returned to the counselors on Monday morning, March 3 (of the 11th week) along with the old work-sheets and new work-sheets on which changes may be made. 7—Counselors will be asked to post on March 3, Monday, alphabetical lists of the students whose programs need to be rearranged. The counselors may hold group meetings if they wish. THE POSTED LISTS WILL BE THE ONLY NOTICE THAT THE STUDENT WILL GET ABOUT HIS PROGRAM NEEDS PRIOR TO... 8—During this second period of the Central Pre-Registration office will publish bulletins on sections that have been closed, and on other changes. The office will record and file the changed programs and cards as they are received. 9—In this second period, a student whose cards have been accepted may NOT at his own initiative make changes in his program. He must wait until actual registration to make changes. 10—The second period of adjustment will end on Thursday, March 6. Counselors will on that day return all cards and work-sheets. 11—On the morning of registration, Monday, March 24, the Central Pre-Registration office will deliver all class cards to the departments. 12—Since Public Law 16 students will be allowed to register with the first alphabetic group, it will be necessary that this information (Public Law 16) be noted on the work-sheets and on all class cards. 13—The alphabetical order for registration of students this spring is as follows: Monday, March 24, 1947—9:00 C through E, and Public Law 16; 11:00 F through H; 1:00 through M; 1:30 M through P. Tuesday, March 25, 1947—9:00 A through S; 10:00 T through Z; 11:00 A through B; 1:00 Completion. The same precedence will be followed in reserving places in classes during pre-registration. 14—New students and old students who have not been assigned counselors must see the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women before pre-registration for assignment to counselors. 15—Counselors will receive work-sheets, class cards, and schedules from the Registrar. List of Counselors For Pre-Registration and Registration Freshmen and sophomores will meet with their counselors on Thursday, February 20, at 3 p. m. in the rooms listed below. If a student misses the group meeting he may find his counselor in the departmental office. Students should clip this and save it for reference during registration. FRESHMAN AND SOPHOMORE COUNSELORS

Letters to the Editor

Through this column we invite students, faculty, and friends of Southern to express your ideas. We must know the source of our article, but we will withhold your name if you wish. We are certain the right to withhold any material that would violate the ethics of journalism and freedom of the press.

Dear Editor: I would like to differ with you, Dick Bailey, and think Harnum's members of last year's team, was slated to play the basketball game played between the intra-mural All-Stars and the Southern "B" team. It was noted in the sports column of that issue that the above called for another matching of the two teams on February 27th when Southern engages Illinois Normal.

May I suggest, however, that the cause of any undue roughness in the game came as a result of faculty coaching. Mr. Fredzer, Mr. Martin, and Mr. Heiler, let's have another fine ball game but get another coach for the All-Stars.

Table with columns: Name, Dept., Room No., Department. Lists names like Barton, Bicknell, Bicknell, Caswell, White, Gersbacher, Kennar, Mott, Petroff, Harlan, Swartz, Welch, Marberry, Woody.

A number of department chairmen had major advisers but have not been advised some freshmen and sophomores. They are as follows:

University Print Shop Handles Many Campus Pamphlets and Publications

By Bill Plater

Perhaps after laboriously filling out a number of long printed forms, required by a certain class or department, one would like to find the source of the forms and proceed in a prompt and efficient way to destroy the whole works.

However, the exaltation of one so inclined would be very short-lived, on being presented with a neatly printed statement for $11,700 to cover the cost of an ingenious little machine which handles the bulk of Southern's printing needs.

Located on the first floor of Parkinson Lab., the University print shop is headed by an ex-party printer, Warren Adams, assisted by a student artist, George Russell of Alto Pass, and two student typists, Jane Cunningham of Pinckneyville, and Elizabeth Mc Kee of Herrin. The machine, known as Davidson, looks like an oversize mimeograph and can turn out 150 printed sheets a minute.

Although sheet size is limited to 14x14, this large duplicator handles color jobs with the ease and accuracy of a larger press. It prints in both the offset and relief process; that is, the copy can either be typed on a special sheet to be inked and transferred to another sheet by means of a series of rollers, or copy can be printed directly from a cylinder set with raised type.

All standard school forms, other than examinations, are printed on this machine. When the textbook storage was at its height, many lessons and book illustrations were printed by the duplication department. In addition, maps, sport and theatre programs, and form letters are turned out efficiently by the shop.

Recently the department printed the booklet titled "Our Museum," which was compiled by the museum staff. This booklet, complete with an attractive cover and inside illustrations, is representative of the work from the duplication department.

When shortages in machinery cause the department to expand to larger quarters, with additional duplicators and photographic printing needs as well as larger size jobs, which, at the present, have to be filled on the outside.

Religious Activities Review

By MARYLENE PROVART

STUDENT CHRISTIAN FOUNDATION

Rev. Eugene Durham, Methodist Student Foundation director at Northwestern University and director of the Illinois Methodist student movement, met with the council of the Student Christian Foundation at the home of Rev. Douglas Mac Naughton last night for supper. Nationally known for his recreational work, Rev. Durham was present on the Southern campus to direct the inter-annual party last night.

Student, Beatha Veatch was chairman of the party.

The World's Student Christian Federation day of Prayer will be observed in a ceremony by the Student Christian Foundation Sunday, February 16 at 9 p. m.

Mary Ruth Coffman will have a talent talk. Everyone is invited to attend.

BAPTIST FOUNDATION

Approximately 225 attended the Sweethearts' Ball at the Baptist Foundation last Thursday night.

The foundation chapel choir presented two concert numbers.

One of the outstanding events in youth work this year will be the inter-denominational youth service at the First Methodist church on February 23. Each youth organization of the city is taking part in planning the service.

Following a light supper and group singing, Dr. Carl C. Brady, president of McKendree College, will speak to the group on the subject, "Now That's An Idea."

All students who wish to take a course in scientific German this summer are requested to see Miss Anna K. Neufeld before February 24. Miss Neufeld will be found in her office, Main 205.

Illinois College Enrollment Contains 53 Per Cent Veterans

A census of Illinois' institutions of higher learning has revealed that over 53 percent of the total enrollment are veterans of the second world war.

A survey conducted by the student advisement section of the Illinois Veterans commission, the first since the end of the war, disclosed that 116,000 students have enrolled in the state universities, colleges and undergraduate schools. Of this figure, 61,100 are veterans. The majority of them are using their GI Bill of Rights benefits.

Western, Millikin Entertain Maroons Tonight and Saturday

By FENTON HARRIS

Two road games face the Maroons this week as they invade Macomb to play a conference tilt with Western tonight and follow with James Millikin in Decatur Saturday night.

Coach Lynn Holder and his men expect both teams to furnish tough opposition as they are riding on top of long winning streaks. However, there is a bright outlook in facing such teams since the Maroons are rounding into shape for the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament at Kansas City, Mo., next month. A formal invitation to this tournament was received this week by the Athletic department.

The fact that Western will be seeking to keep their Illinois Intercollegiate title hopes alive Friday and will also be playing on their home court promises a good game. The Leathernecks have rounded into a formidable five after looking weak during the early part of the season.

As the present they have won eight straight games, having notched their eighth Tuesday night by defeating Eastern in a close one by a score of 56-54.

Southern was able to defeat

SINU Opponents

By DAVE KENNEY

This week's offensive ratings of the five teams which make up the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (according to the Kenney system) are as follows: Charleston, 2.2; Carbondale, 1.9; DeKalb minus 6.1; Macomb minus 11.1 and Normal minus 11.6.

In last week's ratings Coach Lynn Holder's Southern Maroons headed the list with a point advantage over Charleston. However, the Maroons have been idle, as far as loop activity is concerned, since then, while Charleston has won decisive victories from DeKalb and Normal, victories which pushed her into top spot on the offensive rating list.

Carbondale, still well out in front of the pack in the conference race with a perfect record, rates second offensively, a fraction of a point below Charleston, and a good eight points out in front of DeKalb, which is firmly established in third place in the ratings.

The Charleston Panthers appear to be the only team which is in a position to seriously challenge the Maroons for the circuit crown. Since appearing upon the Carbondale court last month to lose to the Holdersmen 56 to 54, they have been picking up momentum with every game.

The Panthers, always hard to beat at home, will entertain the Maroons upon the Eastern floor next Friday evening. It now appears to be a pivotal conference game. If Coach Holder's men win, they will be practically assured of the championship; however, if they lose, Charleston will still be very much in the race. Keep your eyes on this game.

The Maroons are doing a lot of traveling this month, for in addition to the Normal and Indiana State journeys, which are history, they are touring the western side of the state this week end. Tonight will see them at Macomb, and tomorrow evening they will stop off at Decatur to average the only defeat they have suffered at home this year, a five point loss to James Millikin University.

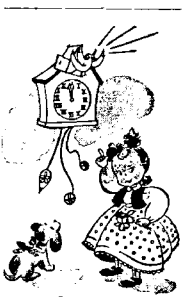

Next week end, after the crucial Charleston game, they will go on north for a Saturday night breaker at the University of Chicago. Let's hope they give the fans up there as good a show as the Chicago game here in Carbondale proved to be.

Carbondale	4	0	1000
Charleston	4	2	666
Macomb	2	2	500
DeKalb	2	3	400

Does not include last Tuesday's Charleston-Macomb game. According to the offensive rating system, Charleston should have won by 13 points.

Games this week end: Carbondale at Macomb tonight (Southern by 15 points). DeKalb at Normal tomorrow night. (DeKalb by six points).

Indiana State Runs Roughshod Over Maroons

By BOB CURTIS

Indiana State Teachers College dealt the Southern Maroons their worst defeat of the season last Saturday night at Terre Haute, Ind., by a 73 to 46 margin.

It was sweet revenge for the Terre Haute Sycamores, being the first time in seven contests that they have defeated the Maroons. This includes a loss to Southern last March at Kansas City in the final game of the National Intercollegiate Tournament, and a 57 to 54 defeat at Carbondale last December at Carbondale last December.

There was little hope for the Maroons from the first, as the highly keyed Indiana men made an amazingly high percentage of their shots, including the first five that they threw at the basket, to pile up their best offensive record of the season.

Maroon scoring efforts were unimpressive, even divided with John Sebastian leading the first five with 10 points, closely followed by Oliver Shoaff with eight points, Bob Colborn with seven, and Quentin Stinson with six.

Indiana's forward, Klush, led the scoring for both teams with 14 points, but little Bobby Royer, intercollegiate All-American star from last year, provided the thrills as he tallied 18 points to take the runner-up spot.

As a result of the red-hot Indiana State start, the half-time score was 39 to 20 with the hosts leading. In the second half the Maroons showed up better by scoring 28 points, while holding the Sycamores to 34 points, as both coaches substituted liberally.

At the free throw line, the Maroons were below par, hitting only four out of 11 free tosses for a 39 percent record, while Indiana was cashing in on 15 out of 21 charity tosses for a 61 percent.

The Maroons were unfortunate in having a bad night at the same time that the Sycamores were turning in their best performance of the year. Part of the improvement in the Indiana State team can be attributed to the return of Royer, a great shot maker, who was sidelined for the majority of the time in the December encounter with a severe charity-hour.

NCAA Play-Offs To Be Held in March

Southern's athletic director, Glenn Martin, will meet with other members of the Illinois Basketball committee in Bloomington on February 28 to choose the site of the play-offs which will determine the second Illinois representative to the NCAA basketball tournament in Kansas City, the athletic department has announced.

Playoffs will be held during the first week in March. Southern automatically will go to Kansas City in order to defend the championship of the first year.

Conference which will be represented in the playoffs are IAC, College Conference of Illinois, Pioneer Conference, and one independent college team.

W.A.A.

Women's Inter-Collegiate basketball tournament ended this week with the advanced senior and junior teams tying for first place. Final game of the series played between these two teams resulted in a 37-37 score. Date for a decisive game, point scoring brand of basketball will be played next Monday, February 17, to start the house basketball tournament.

Anthony Hall has won the trophy two years in succession and have their caps set for another victory, which would mean final possession of the trophy.

Everyone is invited to come and boost his team. The following games are scheduled for next week:

Monday, February 17, 4 p.m. Delta Sigma Epsilon vs Normandy; Tamarack vs Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Tuesday, February 18, 4 p.m. Tamarack vs Normandy; Anthony Hall I vs Delta Sigma Epsilon; Evening, Anthony Hall II vs Sigma Sigma Sigma.

INTRA-MURAL

By Fenton Harris

Sigma Beta Mu five remains the only team unbeaten in the intra-mural basketball tournament. They are on top in the National league with a record of nine wins and no losses.

Close behind are the Arch Angels, who have won eight and lost none.

American league competition finds the Gillespie Miners, who have won nine games and lost one, in the top spot. Following the Gillespie Miners are the Kappa Delta Alpha five and Aces with seven wins, one loss, and seven wins, two losses, respectively.

The Bear Cats join the first three in producing a real scramble by holding a record of seven wins and three losses and holding fourth place.

Individual scoring finds Williams of the Red Hats holding a 23 point advantage over his nearest competitor with a total of 130 points.

Following Williams are Stuart, Bear Cats, 107; Kiosack, Sigma Beta Mu, 100; Sexton, Gillespie Miners, 99; Vogt, St. Clair Blues.
