Salukis Play Washington U. Bears Tonight

By Bob Reincke

Southern's basketball team will be back in action tonight for its first game in three weeks as it takes on the Bears of Washington University at 8 o'clock in the Arena.

Tonight's game will be the first for the Salukis since they whipped State College of Iowa 67-48 Dec. 12. The idleness has cost the Saluki ranking in the Associated Press small college top ten poll.

Coach Jack Hartman has had his team working out during the vacation on conditioning and fundamentals along with free-throw practice. Hartman says he doesn't think the lay-off will hurt the Salukis. "I feel they can pick up right where they left off," he said.

The Salukis will carry a 4-2 record into tonight's encounter. Their only losses came in road games against a tough Southwest Missouri crew and nationally ranked Kansas State.

At the same time Southern will hope to lengthen its string of four straight victories in the Arena. But Washington has a string of its own it will try to keep alive. The Bears are currently riding the crest of a six-game winning streak after beating Valparaiso 69-68 Monday night.

The Bears have kept their string alive despite the loss of playmaker Ron Jackson. The scrappy guard has missed the last two games with a knee injury, but he may be back in action tonight.

Even without Jackson, the Bears are still a rugged crew. Ed Dancy, a 6-2 guard, is their leading scorer with a 15.3

Registration Starts 3d Day

Marion B. Treece, supervisor of the sectioning center, said registration was "running smoothly" Tuesday. Monday's day-long session for new and re-entry students gave way to "a few registrations and some program changes on Tuesday," Treece said.

New students can register through today and registration for students who did not pre-register begins today. Late fees are to be increased $1 each day to a maximum of $5, Treece said. Program changes are being processed this week.

Athletics Group Sets Policy on Arena Use, Provides Guidelines for Scheduling Events

A policy to make the SIU Arena a facility for all general University purposes and functions, both academic and public, has been adopted by the University Council on Intercollegiate Athletics.

The multi-purpose policy was formulated by a committee named by Elmer J. Clark, dean of the College of Education.

Clarence Dougherty, director of the University Center and chairman of the committee, explained that the action of the council covers needs of the general educational program, the Extension Division, student activities and public gatherings as well as extensive use for intercollegiate and intramural athletics.

Charged with the responsibility of scheduling use of the building is William Dean Justice, Arena manager. He reports that already requests for use of the building exceed the time available.

The Arena, which will seat more than 10,000, serves primarily the 14,000 students of the Carbondale campus. Previously, the largest meeting place was Shryock Auditorium, with a capacity of less than 1,800. The campus has long outgrown its facilities for indoor commencement exercises, large-audience entertainment programs and indoor sports events.

Half a dozen major events were held in the $4.3 million Arena before contractors finished all phases of the project.

The 1964 Christmas festivities in the Arena included an informal reception for students by President Delyte W. Morris and Mrs. Morris. Afterwards the faculty and staff joined students for the annual Christmas convocation, which featured yuletide songs and the reading of The Christmas Story by the President.

The Arena was hurriedly pressed into service in June, 1964, when planned outdoor commencement exercises, facing the threat of rain, were moved under the dome. The August commencement also was staged there, and the fall registration was conducted on the vast concourse around the floor, which also is used by physical education classes.

There followed a political rally featuring a national candidate, the meeting of the Southern Division of the IL-

Edwardsville Campus Is Sixth on Project Priority List

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Board of Higher Education Tuesday approved a budget increase of $23,676,899 for SIU over the figure for the current biennium. University officials had sought a hike of $39,151,194.

The Board approved increases totaling some $100 million for six state universities for the two-year period beginning July 1. The universities had asked increases totaling $127 million.

The Board also announced a list of priorities for improvement projects under the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963. The federal government will share in the costs of the projects, contributing a total of $11,461,804.

Sixth on the list is the SIU campus at Edwardsville, slated to receive $202,465. The Carbondale campus was ranked eighth, with an allocation of $1 million.

The University of Illinois' Chicago campus was placed seventh, to receive $1 million, and the Urbana campus was at the bottom of the list, also granted $1 million.

The increases approved in budgets for the six universities will be sent to the Illinois Legislature for final action. The Legislature meets its current session today.

Presidents and other spokesmen for the school spent hours with board members discussing and haggling over the cuts in their original demands.

But the board held the line except for some relatively small increases.

One tough bone of contention was the board's provision of 97 cents per square foot for operating the new buildings.

The total, in terms of dollars, will be figured out later.

Dr. Browne had been scheduled to report on the master plan for education in Illinois. But, because the meeting ran late, his report will be delayed until the next board session Feb. 2 in Chicago.

Center Is Selling Athletic Tickets

Winter athletic events tickets, which went on sale Tuesday at the athletic ticket office in the SIU Arena, can now be purchased at a desk next to the information desk in the University Center.

Tickets will be sold at the desk from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. during the week, and cost $3.50 each.

Graduate Assistant to Advise Students of Campus Activities

The Student Activities Office has added another graduate assistant to its staff to advise students interested in participating in student activities and special events.

He is John Ludlem, who graduated from DePauw University and received his M.A. from the University of Texas.

Elizabeth Mullins, coordinator of student activities, said Ludlem will have office hours in the Student Activities Area of the University Center afternoons during the week.

"He will serve as an adviser to students who are interested in exploring the possibility of participating in activities such as department clubs and special interest groups," Miss Mullins said.

She pointed out that many students are not aware of what activities are available nor how to go about getting involved in them. Ludlem's job will be to advise students of the opportunities available to them on campus.

Miss Mullins said that this type of advisement is a new area of activity for the office.

MONA PALTA FROM NEW DELHI, INDIA, INTERVIEWS PHYLLIS E. MYERS

Teachers Need Training

Doctoral Student Here Envisions Better India Through Education

A former high school teacher from New Delhi, India, is working toward a doctor's degree at Southern, hoping to take the American concept of home economics back to her country and its people.

The student, Mona Palta, a graduate of Delhi University, is studying home living, nutrition and child care and development in home economics education.

Miss Palta taught for four years in New Delhi, then went to the University of the Philippines, Manila, where she obtained her first master's degree in education.

Kansas State College of Agriculture was the next stop for Miss Palta, where she completed work for a master's in family and child development. She transferred to SIU in September, 1964, and she is presently working as a graduate teaching assistant in home economics, and is assisting Anna Carol Fuels, chairman of the Department of Home Economics, in research.

Miss Palta's father is a government official in New Delhi, and her mother is a school teacher.

As a college student and teacher in New Delhi, Miss Palta became increasingly aware of the need for home economics training for all high school girls and for strengthened programs of education for future teachers of home economics.

Miss Palta, who will be one of the few women in India with a doctor's degree in home economics, is determined to obtain as broad an education as possible, and to exert as much influence as possible in broadening and strengthening the home economics teacher education system in India.

"There is an acute shortage of home economics teachers in the public schools, and most of the work is restricted to the simple skills of cooking, sewing and laundry," she said.

"There are a few home advisers in certain localities, but seldom are they trained home economists," she added.

"I want to broaden home economics education to include a broad spectrum of home and family life—child care and development, consumer problems and nutrition. But, of course, all these must be adapted to fit the limited resources and facilities of the simple, often primitive, Indian home," she said.

Joost's Book, SIU Press Featured in Chicago News

Van Allen Bradley, book editor for the Chicago Daily News, featured the University Press and one of its books, "Scofield Thayer and the Dial," in the Jan. 2 edition of the Panorama Magazine.

"Scofield Thayer and the Dial," a historical study by Nicholas T. Joost, professor of humanities at SIU, discusses the last years of "The Dial," which Joost calls "the greatest American magazine of arts and letters of our century."

Bradley started his review with "Let us begin the new year with a round of applause for Southern Illinois University Press at Carbondale, which is looking more and more like a major center of scholarly publishing under the vigorous direction of Vernon Sternberg."

Sternberg, director of the University Press, said he was delighted with that kind of notice and pointed out that with more than 2,000 books being published each month in this country, "it is very hard to get reviews."

"Chicago is a good book town, and we're delighted to get good reviews there" he said.

The review is an example of the growing respect for the University Across the country and the Press can only reflect this growing scholarly influence, Sternberg said.

Home Ec Student Wins Fellowship

Mrs. Emma Maxfield, a graduate student majoring in home economics has received a $500 fellowship from the National Demonstration Agents' Association. Mrs. Maxfield, who is from Smithland, Ky., is on a sabbatical leave from the University of Kentucky where she serves as a Livingston County Home Demonstration Extension agent. She is now doing graduate work in food and nutrition at SIU and plans to work toward the doctoral degree in the field. She is currently studying under a $2,000 extension fellowship from the University of Kentucky, granted to her in September. She previously did graduate work at the University of Kentucky and Cornell University as well as at SIU. The NDAA fellowship, presented to her at the annual meeting of the association in Washington D.C., was awarded partly on the basis of a study she conducted on "Eating Habits of Homemakers and of Students in Grades 5-12," which has been used as a guide for educational programs in homemaker and 4-H clubs.

Injustice in Courts Examined—but Superficially

The Innocents, by Edward D. Radin. New York: William Morrow and Company, 1964. 256 pp. $4.50.

The Innocents describes some aspects of the means by which innocent people are convicted of having committed serious crimes. Only felonies are considered: murder, forcible rape and robbery. The severity of the penalties is also shown. Two of the better known works dealing with this subject are E.M. Borchard, Convicting the Innocent, and Jerome Frank, Not Guilty. Each of these is indefinitely superior in scholarship to Radin's book.

"One of the most common of American myths," namely, the belief that innocent people are not convicted, is discussed in the first chapter. The discussion is as anecdotal and as statistically confused as any I have read. He skips from arrests for major crimes to convictions of persons accused of crime. He asserts that three of every four prisoners accused of crime are convicted. More than 20 years ago, however, Carl van Vechten showed that convictions were obtained in only about 5.5 per cent of known serious crimes, and that commitment to prison resulted in only about 3.8 per cent of known serious crimes.

Furthermore, not all persons convicted in any given willing to accept their responsibility in nullifying the Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the United States Constitution.

The dust jacket of The Innocents describes it as "a chilling study of American citizens convicted of major crimes they never committed." It can also be described as a "horror" story: examples of what can happen when the judicial process fails.

Radin quotes an anonymous judge who defended American courts by stating that they are correct in 95 per cent of their decisions in criminal cases. That estimate is useless as an estimate of the efficiency of the American system, from arrest to execution. Specific studies are needed but are conspicuously absent. For years more than one-half of the people arrested in this country have been released without a charge being placed against them.

Many lawyers regard those arrests as being illegal. The Detroit police in years past have released, without charge, as high as 85 per cent of those they arrested. In "drag-net" operations, they have released more than 97 per cent. More cogent than the guess of an anonymous judge is Warden Lewis E. Lawes' estimate that there was an error of more than 12 per cent in the 406 death sentences imposed in the state of New York between 1889-1927. I estimated, in 1951, that juries and judges in Michigan erred in about 11 per cent of the original 759 convictions for murder in the first degree, in the period ending Jan. 1, 1951.

One cannot, however, generalize from the study of convictions for murder to convictions for all other serious crimes. And there are differences between the states in the administration of justice. One dramatic example will do here, namely the United States Supreme Court decision in Gideon vs. Wainwright. Only from one to six men of Michigan's more than 10,000 prisoners were affected. Hundreds of Florida's prisoners were affected. In the Gideon case, the court held that the state must provide counsel for the indigent accused in a state criminal trial.

Radin has omitted one of the greatest of all horrors in American justice: the fate of young people in the juvenile court. The constitutional guarantees of civil rights apply in the criminal courts to traitors, murderers, armed robbers, prostitutes, pimps and petty thieves but not to children in a proceeding in juvenile court. Some states have begun to change that situation.

Equally horrible and monstrous is the increasing tendency to commit nonpsychotic delinquent children to state mental hospitals. One study in 1959 found that 46 per cent of the inmates of 17 mental hospitals in the north-eastern United States were nonpsychotic juvenile delinquents. They could not have been committed without the signatures of the juvenile court judge and the attending psychiatrist. In 1956 Frederic Wertham, himself a psychiatrist, protested against the committing of nonpsychotic delinquent Puerto Ricans to hospitals for the criminally insane and to institutions for the mentally defective. He encountered discrimination against Puerto Ricans "again and again among professional workers: doctors, psychiatrists, psychologists, psychoanalysts, lawyers, clergymen, social workers, teachers." Psychiatric journals have published a number of other similar studies.

One can conclude that Radin's work, admittedly incomplete, hardly scratches the surface of an important problem. A deep vein of injustice still to be mined is that which has resulted from the "psychiatrization" of social problems. One hopes that such a task would be undertaken in a more analytical and less anecdotal manner than Radin's book. Anyone undertaking the task would have to expect various attacks from determined humanitarians who know what is best for other people, especially if they are of the lower class.

year of committing felonies are given prison sentences. A major proportion receives a suspended sentence, a fine, probation or some combination of these. Thus Radin's guess of the "astounding total" of more than 14,000 innocent persons annually convicted of serious crimes cannot be held to show that 14,000 innocent people are imprisoned each year. There may be that many, but Radin's thesis is not cogent.

The chapters in The Innocents serve to classify the various means of convicting the innocent. They include the police, the prosecutor, eyewitnesses, bad luck, children's fantasies, the frame-up, confession and "sna.u." Radin's 70-odd cases are drawn from 25 states (including several from Illinois), the District of Columbia, and the United States Air Force. Also included are cases of "hue and cry." That term is an euphemism for "an aroused public opinion," Radin cites two types: that formed by gossip, and that formed and determined by the media of mass communication. The prime contemporary example of the latter is the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald (accused of murdering President Kennedy) by Jack Rubenstein on Nov. 23, 1963. The stupidity of the Dallas police, exceeded only by the cupidity of the communications industry, combined to render a fair trial for Rubenstein probably impossible in the United States. The executives of the foremost newspaper publishers' association are, as of the date of this review, un-

A Kind of Anger, by Eric Ambler. New York: Atheneum, 1964. $4.95.

Of the four Eric Ambler stories I have read, A Kind of Anger is far and away the best. The reader becomes so engrossed in the action of this fast-moving story that he may not recognize the great skill with which the characters have been drawn until he lays the book down and begins to reflect about it.

The hero, Piet Maas, has none of the swashbuckling athleticism of James Bond, and Lucia Bernardi, charming and cunning and greedy, has more credible, earthy realism than Ian Fleming's sexy females. The reader falls into a trap. He finds himself in hearty approval of the blackmailing schemes of this intensely human pair, Piet and Lucia.

Inevitably, before the intrigue and danger end, they fall in love, but the reader does not have to endure the sexy bedroom scenes that so commonly attend the James Bond stories. Far from being a sexual athlete, Piet Maas, when we first meet him, has grave doubts about his own abilities, has even attempted suicide at one point in his life because of his failures, and is constantly involved in disagreements and bickerings with his employers. So the reader has the added enjoyment of seeing him grow under the stimulation of danger.

The sustaining characters, all of them rascals, have been drawn with the same deft touches. Sanger, slick and greasy and not to be trusted, could hardly have been more skillfully managed. Skurlet and Brigadier Farisi stand out clearly. Two unnamed murderers lurk, sinistinely, in the background.

There is not much gore. No one gets beaten to a bloody pulp. The action moves rapidly from Switzerland to Paris to Nice and Marseilles and three or four little towns in southern France, all with nice attention to geography. We have enough moving about on back roads and through alleys and side streets, enough entries into dark untenanted houses, enough planning of mysterious, furtive assignments to satisfy the most avid fan.

HARRY T. MOORE

Howard W. Webb of the SIU English Department. They have already put their mark on even the most recent of our novelists, including Rechy who has written only one book.

Mailer and Aldridge, whose essays open the discussion, range widely over the contemporary literary scene; the others limit themselves to one or two authors. In this way they examine the entire works, not only the novels, of 20 writers -- Welty, McCullers, McCarthy, Malamud, Bellow, Salinger, Jones, Mailer, Kerouac, Heller, Purdy, Donlevy, Baldwin, Gold, Swados, Hawkes, Updike, Styron, Gower, and the one already mentioned.

While the method of these critics is more or less alike, their essays vary in value, from the agreeable competence of Prof. Webb to the annoying flashiness of Prof. O'Connor, who does not scruple to sum up the themes of six novels (with asides on Hawthorne, Hardy, and Conrad) in 16 lines.

Apart from its general usefulness, this anthology makes clear that modern American fiction is in a state of crisis. At one extreme there is a powerful, but still frustrated, thrust to break into some kind of transcendental experience or vision. Often, as with Mailer and Baldwin, Sex seems to be the new Oversoul, or at least the way to the Oversoul.

At the other extreme, represented by Mary McCarthy, Salinger, and Burroughs, there is the feeling that no breakthrough is possible, and cynicism, disgust, and self-destruction are the result.

The first view, in my opinion, seems far more promising for fiction than the second. But on the whole I feel that it is somewhere in the middle, where authors like Bellow and Malamud are at work, that the real possibilities for American fiction exist.

Early Consideration of Medicare Takes Spotlight on Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A revival — and possible early decision — of the titanic struggle over hospital care for the aged under Social Security took top billing Tuesday in the new 89th Congress.

Backers of the so-called "medicare" bill figured their chances of putting it across this year were excellent in view of the Lyndon B. Johnson landslide.

There was gloom among foes of the administration bill. One said his side lost 38 House votes, Republican and Democratic, in the November election, and thereby lost a "sure majority."

President Johnson, pressing for a big package of measures he said would lead eventually to "the Great Society," is planning to send the first of his special, detailed messages to Congress on Thursday.

This will deal with health, and officials said it probably would include a health care plan, the beginning of a "massive attack" on such killer diseases as cancer, heart attacks and strokes, and steps to deal with mental ailments.

Organized "senior citizens" were rallying their lobbying forces for the health care bill. But the American Medical Association, which regards the administration bill as socialist interference with the doctor-patient relationship, was not giving up its opposition. It plans a last-ditch struggle.

In rapid-fire order, Johnson will send to the Capitol next Tuesday his aid-to-education program; two days later his plan for a new immigration law "based on the work a man can do and not where he was born or how he spells his name" and then, before the inauguration Jan. 20, messages on space and foreign aid.

Doubt arose, however, as to how soon the Senate would be able to get down to legislative business. At a strategy meeting Tuesday, Southerners decided on an all-out struggle against a proposal to make it easier to choke off filibusters. Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-

Ga., said the fight "could last a couple of months."

As for "medicare," the term is somewhat of a misnomer, because the proposal does not provide for payment of the doctor's bill, except for such diagnostic services as laboratory tests and X-rays. The emphasis would be on hospital care, post-hospital care in an approved establishment, and such home care as visiting nurses.

The insurance would apply to those over 65 who are under Social Security or the railroad retirement system. These now total 16.67 million.

Illinois Legislators Caucus To Fill Senate, House Posts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Republican and Democratic legislators were set to select leaders in caucuses Tuesday night on the eve of the opening of the 74th Illinois General Assembly.

The biggest question was whether Republicans would choose Rep. Albert W. Hachmeister or Rep. William E. Pollack as minority leader. Both are from Chicago.

Rep. John P. Touhy, Chicago Democrat, appeared certain to be chosen speaker of the House, which Democrats control by a 118-59 margin.

Rep. Clyde Choate of Anna, protégé of Secretary of State-elect Paul Powell, was in line for the majority leadership post, second in importance to the speakership.

The only announced candidate for Democratic whip was Rep. Paul Elward, Chicago Democrat.

Democratic senators were expected to nominate Sen. Thomas A. McGloin, Chicago attorney, for minority leader. Sen. Alan J. Dixon of Belleville was the likely choice for minority whip.

The Senate Republican caucus was to be of a perfunctory nature. Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston was chosen at a meeting last month as president pro tem.

Opening day of the legislature will be spent on organization of the two houses.

University of California Demonstrators Given Three-Week Court Delay of Pleas

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A three-week delay was ordered today in the court pleas of 768 demonstrators arrested during the Dec. 2-3 sit-in occupation of Sproul Hall on the University of California's Berkeley campus.

The demonstration climaxed a bitter student protest against new modified regulations on student political action, including support of civil rights causes.

Municipal Judge Rupert Crittenden granted a defense requested postponement until Jan. 26 on entering pleas to charges of disturbing the peace, refusing to disperse, and resisting arrest.

Student leaders said Monday they were "cautiously optimistic" about settlement of the political freedom battle which has spanned four restless months.

Southern Senators Gird for Row Over Bill to Curtail Filibusters

WHO'S NEXT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the Senate's new majority whip, lined up with his Southern colleagues Tuesday to battle against changing the rules so choking off filibusters would be easier.

The move for a new rule that would permit debate to be limited by a three-fifths majority of senators voting is being spear-headed by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M. He was the senator who placed Long in nomination for whip, or assistant Democratic leader.

At a meeting Tuesday in the office of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., 15 Southern senators decided to wage an all-out fight to preserve the present rule under which a two-thirds majority of senators voting is required to cut off debate.

Long told a reporter he realizes he might be criticized for attending the meeting, following his election to a leadership post, but he said that if he did not go, he could not "be a moderating influence."

He said that, if he had been invited, he also would have attended a meeting Sunday in Anderson's office of a small, bipartisan band of senators pressing to tighten the present antifilibuster rule.

"I don't think it is a civil rights question anymore," Long said, adding it now has been established that debate-limitations can be obtained on a civil rights bill.

Last year's comprehensive civil rights measure was passed after a 15-week Senate battle in which the two-thirds rule was successfully invoked for the first time to break a Southern filibuster.

Russell also emphasized this point in calling it "unfortunate that Southern senators have had to take the initiative in preserving the rule of the Senate" and preventing what he called the imposition of "gag rule."

What the Dixie forces are fighting for, he said, it "to preserve the integrity of the Senate as a deliberative body and to protect the rights of Senate minorities whatever the issue involved."

"I don't regard it as a Southern fight at all," Russell added.

Viet Cong Guerrillas Disappear

DAT DO, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong vanished from the Binh Gia area again as government forces, rebounding from their worst mauling of the war, formed up Tuesday for a counter-offensive. Patrols hunted vainly for the Reds.

"They are like ghosts," complained Brig. Gen. Cao Van Vien, commander of the Vietnamese 3rd Corps. "They disappear when you go after them."

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of the armed forces, took a hand in preparations for a further engagement that killed at least 121 Vietnamese and six Americans over the last nine days.

The Georgian, long a leader of the Southern senators, said the forthcoming battle "could last a couple of months." Anderson plans to touch it off with introduction Wednesday of his proposed three-fifths rule. Some of the senators associated with him will seek adoption of a rule that would permit debate to be cut off by a majority.

Jury Selected in Tax Trial Of Former-Governor Stratton

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury of six men and six women was selected late Tuesday to hear the tax evasion trial of former Gov. William G. Stratton.

Four alternates also were chosen in the U.S. District Court of Judge Hubert L. Will. Judge Will dismissed the first 64 prospects for various reasons. Most veniremen dismissed said business or personal affairs would be harmed by a long absence on jury duty. The trial is expected to last two or three weeks, and possibly into February.

Other prospective jurors said they had formed opinions and some were excused because of political connections.

The first day of the trial was taken up with instructions to lawyers. Judge Will issued a stern rebuke to Stratton when he noticed the defendant whispering with Chester A. Emanuelson, one of Stratton's three attorneys.

"I will not tolerate any theatrics in this courtroom," Judge Will said. He said he would not tolerate "grimaces, gestures, head-shaking, laughter or other expressions of opinion, either before the court or before the jury."

Stratton, 50, is accused of failure to report $93,596 in income earned from 1957-60. The indictment alleges he failed to pay $46,676 in income taxes for the four years.

Stratton was governor from 1952-60, when he was defeated by Democrat Gov. Otto Kerner. He has been retired to his Morris farm since the defeat.

Pope Paul VI Sets Ecumenical Session For Sept. 14; Heated Issues Scheduled

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has set Sept. 14 for the start of the fourth and final session of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council.

The decision, announced Tuesday, indicated that the pontiff was determined to bring the last half-dozen controversial issues before the council to solution this year, perhaps by Christmas. When the third session ended last Nov. 21 there still was wide disagreement on issues such as religious liberty, the Jews, birth control, atomic disarmament and reform of the Roman Curia.

Many prelates had predicted it would take until 1966 to prepare for the fourth session. At least one conservative prelate said three to four years might be needed to work out compromises.

SIU PHYSICAL POWER PLANT TO BE EXPANDED

Bids Being Sought

New Steam Boilers Require More Space in Power Plant

SIU has advertised for bids on power plant alterations required by two new boilers and on installation of a large water main under U.S. Highway 51 and the Illinois Central Railroad tracks.

The power plant project will consist of general construction, piping, plumbing and ventilation and electrical work. The construction will complement the installation of two steam generation units of an 80,000-pound steam capacity.

The water main project is to include installation of 560 feet of 16-inch cast iron main, to be enclosed in steel casing under the highway and railroad.

Carl E. Bretscher, planning supervisor in the associate University architect's office, said bids on the power plant work will be opened Feb. 2. Deadline for bids on the water line project is Jan. 28.

SIU's power plant is one of the few operations on campus that functions 24 hours a day with no shut-down or vacation. Three work shifts maintain the operation which provides steam for all heating and air-conditioning on the campus.

Steam, at a pressure of 125 pounds per square inch, is constantly being produced and distributed through steam tunnels to all parts of the campus, according to G.D. Shepherd, chief engineer of the power plant.

Two men on each shift operate the whole facility. They handle the coal, fire the boilers, do the lubricating, keep records and clean up.

About 100 tons of coal is required daily to feed the boilers in cold weather, Shepherd said. Coal is brought in by truck in amounts of 12 to 15 tons for each load. About 3,000 tons of coal is stored in a coal storage yard adjacent to the power plant.

Conveyors move the coal into the plant and begin the operation which produces 80,000 pounds of steam each hour.

The original building housing the boilers was built in 1949, when three boilers were installed with a total capacity of 33,000 pounds. Two of the original boilers are still in operation. The building was enlarged in 1962. One of the older boilers was removed to allow for installation of two newer and larger ones.

The two smaller boilers which remain will be removed and replaced with the construction work to hike the power capacity

This new acquisition will bring the total capacity up to a point sufficient to carry steam through the present construction on campus.

Anthropologist Planning Trek Over Mexican Mountain Path

Carroll L. Riley, associate professor of anthropology, is preparing to retrace the route taken by a 19th century Highlander, Ill., scientist, Adolphe Bandelier, 80 years ago in the mountains of Sonora and Chihuahua, Mexico.

The trip, which will cover over 400 miles during next summer, will be financed by a grant-in-aid from the American Council of Learned Societies.

Riley will restudy the archaeology, geography and history of the remote area. It is part of a larger project of editing and annotating Bandelier's field journals on the Southwest undertaken several years ago by Riley and Charles H. Lange, professor of anthropology.

Bandelier, born in Switzerland in 1840, moved to Southern Illinois in his early childhood. He returned to Bern to study geology then came back to Highland where he wrote a number of articles on the local climate and its effect on life in Central Illinois.

During the 1880s Bandelier spent much of his time in archaeological and incidental ethnological research in the Greater Southwest, then he moved to South America to continue his research.

Bandelier's main contribution to archaeology was his understanding of the necessity of reconstructing cultures and his willingness to utilize and integrate data from many sources, said Riley.

The Southwestern Journals are being published in four volumes by the University of New Mexico Press and the Museum of New Mexico. They will appear this year.

Pekin's Chinks Named No. 1 In AP Poll of High Schools

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Pekin's high-flying Chinks were the unanimous choice for first place today in The Associated Press third weekly poll of Illinois high school basketball teams.

The Chinks, who won their own tournament and the Pontiac tournament over the holidays, received all 16 first-place votes to tighten their hold on the No. 1 position for the third consecutive week.

The defending state champions have averaged 79 points per game to their opponents' 55 in rolling up a 12-0 record.

Galesburg's unbeaten Silver Streaks replaced Quincy in the runner-up spot. Quincy, which dropped two of its last three starts, fell to 10th.

Centralia and Danville, winners of their own holiday tournaments, scored big gains in the standings. Centralia advanced from 10th to third and Danville climbed from seventh to fourth.

Newcomers to the top 16 were Jacksonville, Peoria Central, Mount Vernon and Collinsville. They replaced Streator, Fairfield, Decatur Eisenhower and Belleville.

The top 16 teams with worst records and poll points:

1. Pekin 12-0 256
2. Galesburg 6-0 210
3. Centralia 9-1 205

BILL CORNELL

Carr 4th in 400-Meter

Bill Cornell's 3:53.4 Wins In 1,500-Meter in Louisiana

Four SIU trackmen competed in the Sugar Bowl Holiday Track Classic in New Orleans over the holiday break, with one, senior distance runner Bill Cornell, bringing home a blue ribbon for his effort.

Cornell topped the hand-selected field in the 1,500-meter run with a fine time of 3:53.4. The Chelmsford, England veteran was well pleased with his time for this early in the season, which is equivalent to a 4:10 mile.

Quarter miler Gary Carr also ran well, finishing 4th in a 7-man 400-meter field topped by Olympian Don Lewis of Southern University. Carr's time of 47.6 seconds was his career's best but wasn't enough to match Lewis's 46.9 seconds.

Southern's one-mile relay team was 4th in the 1,600-meter race behind Oklahoma State, Lamar Tech of Beaumont, Tex., and Oklahoma, with a time of 3:15.4. The quartet of Robin Coventry, Cornell, Jerry Fendrich and Carr finished ahead of Texas A&M, Baylor, Northeast Louisiana and Houston.

Individually Coventry was clocked in 48.8 seconds, Cornell in 50.4, Jerry Fendrich in 48.0 and Carr in 48.2.

The group traveled to the warm southland a week before the meet at its own expense to be able to better train for the races, since SIU has no indoor track facilities.

Basketball for Coeds to Open Winter Schedule This Week

The Women's Recreational Association will begin its winter basketball schedule next week. The organization sponsors meets among women's housing units, classes and women's varsity basketball.

SIU Frosh Cagers Seek 1st Season Victory Tonight

Southern's freshman basketball team will be looking for its first victory of the season tonight when it faces the Washington University frosh at 5:45 in the Arena.

The frosh are 0-3 now after losing both games in the Paducah tournament during the Christmas break. Paducah Junior College overpowered the Salukis in the first game of the tourney 73-43. The loss was the second of the season; the Salukis dropped the season opener to the Indians 63-59.

Cold-shooting and an inability to defend Paducah center Eugene Jones led to the Salukis' downfall. Southern made less than 20 per cent of its field goal attempts, and two men did most of the scoring. Jay Westcott led the scorers with 19 points and Larry Underwood added 12. Paducah's 6-foot-8 Eugene Jones led all scorers with 32. The Salukis' lack of height made the towering pivot man a tough one to defend.

In the second game of the tourney, Vincennes topped the frosh 97-71. The Salukis played a good game, but the defense collapsed due to the players' tiring. Only seven men made the trip, and both games were played in the same day. Southern had a balanced attack in the game with three men scoring in double figures. Bobby Jackson led the pack with 19 points, and he was followed by Westcott with 17 and Larry Underwood's 15.

The Salukis will be handicapped tonight by the loss of their two tallest men, Kenny Smith and Floss Mathis. The pair will be out of action for the remainder of the season due to scholastic ineligibility. The frosh may also be without the services of Bill Dial, the No. 6 man, who has the flu.

Coaches Fred Golub and Tom McLaughlin plan to go with Bobby Jackson, Jay Westcott, Bill Blanchard, Ivan Cravens, and Larry Underwood tonight with Rich Maloney and possibly Dial filling in as reserves.

average, followed by 6-foot-5 forward Wayne Williams at 13.7. Jackson is next in the scoring with a 12.9 average followed by 6-5 center George Kramer with 9.9 and guard George Spencer with 9.2.

Coach Hartman will have one new man back in the starting lineup for tonight. Dave Lee will be back at his guard post after giving way to Bill Lacy in the last two games. Other than that Hartman has made no changes. Joe Ramsey and Walt Frazier will be at the forwards with Ralph Johnson at the pivot, and George McNeill will team with Lee in the backcourt.

McNeill holds down the top spot in scoring, going into the game with a 15.5 average. The 6-2 junior is followed by veteran Joe Ramsey who is being pushed for the second spot by sophomore Walt Frazier. Ramsey has a 12-point average and Frazier 11.3, but the 6-4 rookie has started only in the last three games. Frazier is also tied for the team lead in rebounds with Johnson. The sophomores have each pulled down 46 so far.

The other starter, Dave Lee, has only a 6.5 average per game, but he is a scrappy ballhawk on defense. Lacy, who will probably see action as a reserve, is fourth in scoring with a seven-point average.

Also back in action will be 6-foot-6 Boyd O'Neal who missed the last couple games with the flu. The big center has recovered from the flu, but has lost his starting spot to Johnson.

New Term Starts

On Balmy Note of January Weather

The winter term at SIU has started on a balmy note, weather-wise.

Records at the SIU Climatology Laboratory show that Carbondale has an average maximum temperature of 44.1 degrees in January, and the average minimum temperature for the month is 25.4 degrees.

The warmest January day on record is Jan. 24, 1943, when the thermometer reading was 76 degrees. The coldest January day on record is the 13th, in 1912, when the mercury skidded to 24 below zero.

The average January precipitation in Carbondale is 3.66 inches; the record for the month is 17.13 inches in 1950, and the least January precipitation is 0.10 inch in 1943.

The record high temperature for Jan. 6 is 63 degrees, set in 1953; the record low for the date is four below zero set in 1924.

Swimmers to Enter Big 10 Relays Saturday After Record-Setting Victory Over Holiday

With two dual meet successes tucked under its belt, including a 62-30 holiday victory over Mankato State, Coach Ralph Casey's SIU swimmers enter their first big competition of the season Saturday when they travel to the Big Ten Relays at Ann Arbor, Mich.

This will be the second year Saluki swimmers have competed in the meet after a fourth-place finish in their first try in 1963. That year the Salukis bettered two American records only to have them disallowed because of technicality in rules.

One new record that won't be scratched from the record book, though, is the SIU pool 400-yard freestyle relay standard set against Mankato State. The Saluki quartet of Tom Hutton, Don Shaffer, Darrell Green and Thomson McAneney cut nearly a second-and-a-half off the old mark as they splashed the distance in 3:18.7.

The four weren't the only Saluki tankman having a field day against the Minnesotans, as SIU swept all 10 swimming events, losing only in the diving.

Double winners were Mike Roberts, a senior from North Miami, Fla., Rich Evertz, a sophomore from St. Louis and Kimo Miles, a sophomore from Honolulu, Hawaii.

Roberts took both short freestyle events winning the 50-yard in 23.2 and the 100 in 51.6, while Evertz made a sweep of the longer distances. The sophomore won the 200 in a time of 1:59.7 and took the 500 with a 5:30.8 clocking.

Miles easily won the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:08.4 and took the 200 butterfly in 2:06.3.

Other Saluki winners were Gerald Pearson in the 200-yard breaststroke (2:21.8), Andy Stody in the 200 backstroke (2:07), and the 400-yard medley relay team composed of Shaffer, Ted Petras, Green and Ray Sickler (3:48.5).

UCLA Takes No. 1 Place As Michigan Falls to Illini

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA's red-hot Bruins, the 1964 NCAA champions, have replaced Michigan as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team and figure to enjoy their status a bit longer than Indiana did.

The Hoosiers, who surged into second place on the poll, suffered their first setback of the season Monday night, losing their Big Ten opener to Illinois 86-81. UCLA doesn't play until Friday so the Bruins are safe until then.

The defending champions, upset in their season opener by the same Illini which scalped Indiana, knocked off Arizona, Minnesota and Utah last week to extend their winning streak to nine straight.

UCLA received 26 first-place votes from the panel of 41 experts and advanced from fourth place to the top with a total of 379 points. Indiana,

NEW YORK (AP) — East Coach Red Auerbach of Boston and West Coach Alex Hannum of San Francisco have named Willis Reed, Larry Costello, Nate Thurmond and Don Ohl to round out the squads for the National Basketball Association All-Star game in St. Louis Jan. 15.

Auerbach picked Reed of the New York Knicks and Costello of Philadelphia for the East team Monday. Hannum selected Thurmond of San Francisco and Ohl of Baltimore to supplement the eight-man squads previously selected.

Previously named to the East team were Bill Russell, Sam Jones and Tom Heinsohn of Boston, Oscar Robertson, Wayne Embry and Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati, and Luscious Jackson and Hal Greer of Philadelphia.

Named to the West team earlier were Bob Pettit and Len Wilkens of St. Louis, Jerry West and Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, Terry Dischinger of Detroit, Walt Bellamy and Gus Johnson of Baltimore and Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco.

Six More Sign Cubs Contracts

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs announced the signing of six players Tuesday and now have 12 under 1965 contract out of a 37-man roster.

The Wolverines, upset by St. John's of New York in the finals of the Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden, dropped to third and did not receive a single first-place vote.

Three teams — Minnesota, Illinois and St. Louis — were ousted from the top ten. The Gophers, who began the week in third place with a 6-0 record, split four games during the week, losing to UCLA and Iowa. Illinois lost to St. Joseph's and St. Louis was beaten by Indiana and Southern Methodist.

'If Namath's Worth $400,000, I'm Worth Million,' Ryan Says

HOUSTON (AP)—Quarterback Frank Ryan of the champion Cleveland Browns of the National Football League says if Joe Namath is "worth $400,000, I'm worth a million."

Ryan made the comment after watching Namath, the star Alabama quarterback, perform against Texas in the Orange Bowl at Miami Friday night.

"Namath is the best college quarterback I've seen this year," said Ryan. "He has all the tools. It's a big hop, though, and he'll have to keep all those tools."

"But, if he's worth $400,000, I'm worth a million."

The 28-year-old passing star of the Browns' upset victory over the Baltimore Colts in the NFL championship game is a veteran of seven NFL seasons.

Asked if the price tag on Namath bothered him, Ryan said, "Certainly it does. I think I'm worth more than any rookie, and that includes my future value to any club." Ryan earns about $25,000 a year.

Namath was signed by the

New York Jets of the American Football League for a total of about $400,000 for three years, including various fringe benefits.

Frick Isn't Worried Over Baseball Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick says he's not "running scared" over a proposal to strip the game of its partial antitrust law exemptions.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., offered a bill during the first day of the new session of Congress Monday that would end the partial exemption.

Under the exemption, which has been upheld by the Supreme Court, professional baseball teams may engage in such practices as agreeing on exclusive territorial rights and holding players through reserve clause contracts.

Frick, commenting in New York, said "Zablocki's bill doesn't upset me. I'm not running scared."
