Tunnel collapses in Mecca, 1,426 die

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) - Saudi Arabian emergency officials said Tuesday a total of 1,426 Muslims on a pilgrimage to the holy city of Mecca were killed when thousands crowd into a pedestrian tunnel near the Saudi Arabian city.

In a statement broadcast by Riyadh Radio and monitored in Cairo, Prince Nayef bin Abdul Aziz said 5,000 pilgrims collided inside the pedestrian tunnel that leads to Mount Arafat near Mecca.

The tragedy was triggered Monday afternoon when seven pilgrims on a packed bridge near one end of the tunnel lost their footing and fell. The accident caused panic as some pilgrims retreated into the air-conditioned tunnel and collided with waves of others pushing their way through the other end.

As a result of this painful situation, 1,426 pilgrims were killed, according to the Health Ministry reports, and a number of other pilgrims fainted but were treated in time, Nayef said.

Nayef said Saudi Arabia, which reserves its role as guardians of Islam's holiest city, deeply regrets the tragedy and expressed condolences to the families.

Doctors speaking on the conditions of survivors said many of the dead were Egyptians and Pakistanis making the Hajj, or pilgrimage to Mecca. Indonesia and Malaysia also lost citizens in the tragedy, which came at the end of the Feast of Sacrifice, marking when the Prophet Mohammed was said to have descended from heaven to Mount Aarat near Mecca.

Millions of faithful make the Hajj to Mecca every year in a trip every Muslim is expected to make at least once in his or her lifetime. Mecca is the birthplace of the Prophet Mohammed and Muslims throughout the world pray facing in the direction of the Saudi city.

Pilgrims must pass through the Mountain tunnel on their way to Mount Arafat, about eight miles from Mecca, where Mohammed, the founder of Islam, is said to have delivered his last sermon 14 centuries ago. The tunnel runs under the highway to Mecca known as the Mecca High Road.

An unidentified Saudi official was quoted by Riyadh radio as saying the tunnel is 600 yards long and 10 yards wide.

The official said many pilgrims were moving toward the entrance of the tunnel as they headed back to a tent city on the other side. In the crash, seven of the Montains fell from an elevated bridge leading to the tunnel, trapping the pilgrims.

Waves of pilgrims from either end collided toward the middle and hundreds were trampled under the mower, the official said.

Nearly half Soviet politburo will not run for re-election

MOSCOW (UPI) - Nearly half the Soviet Communist Party Politburo, including Premier Minister Edward Shchekotov, will not seek re-election, officials at the current party Congress said Tuesday, demonstrating the diminishing importance of the once-supreme ruling body.

Shchekotov announced Tuesday he would not run again for the party post, saying he no longer thought Politburo membership was necessary for a premier also serving on the Presidium and other government bodies.

Plea made for release of Corps volunteer

BAUDELO, Philippines (UPI) - The wife of a kidnapped Peace Corps volunteer tearfully appealed Tuesday to the government to release her husband and denied claims he went voluntarily with the insurgents. "You said after you talked to him, you will let him go," the wife said.

BACOLOD, Philippines (UPI) - A woman charged with beating a jogger and leaving her for dead in Central Park admitted she had been part of a gang of youths that stalked through the park on the night of the attack, a police officer testified Tuesday. Officer Robert Powers said Anton McGay told him at the Central Park police precinct he had been with the group of youths, whose presence in the park on April 19, 1989, had sparked a strong police presence. But Powers said in state Supreme Court in Manhasset that McGay told him he never attacked anyone that night.

Santa Barbara fire out, others dwindling

United Press International - Firefighters declared full control Tuesday of a 500-acre brush blaze in the canyons above Santa Barbara, Calif., while improving weather conditions heightened firefighting prospects throughout the West. A 1,300-acre blaze on an Indian reservation in Arizona has the only major fire still burning out of control a week after the first of a dozen fires fueled by a heat wave, lightning and anemones erupted in several states.

Princeton men's clubs ruled discriminatory

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) - Men's-only membership policies at two Princeton University eating clubs violate state anti-discrimination laws, the state Supreme Court said Tuesday, in a setback for fraternities and sororities.

In a 7-0 ruling, the state's highest court ordered the Ivy Club and Tiger Inn clubs to admit women, reversing more than two dozen years of court rulings. The clubs are private institutions exempt from discrimination laws. "There is no question that the clubs discriminated against women," Justice Marie Garibaldi, the only woman on the court, wrote in a 46-page opinion.

Barry offered 'lover' a government contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The woman who married Mayor Marion Barry into a drug sting试验ed Tuesday the mayor personally assured her of a government contract in 1986, but threatened to terminate the contract after she broke off their sexual relationship two years later.

Ramathree Brown said Tuesday she was instructed in a drug and prison trial that she will use a contract for non-profit programs and in the drug project a woman ran for city mayor called Project 456. Graduate student's art exhibit to present expressionist work

By Rob Cone

A thesis exhibit of expressionist paintings by Rhea McLean, master of fine arts candidate, opens Thursday and continues through July 11 at the University Museum's south exhibit gallery.

McLean used watercolor and oil on various surfaces, including canvas, and chose works that are not representational. She painted a series of papers with brush and scraper tools such as brush, plastic scraper, and ink. The creative process of the exhibit is spontaneous and begins with a feeling that is expressed through a particular color. It's only after she is well underway that she begins to work on the paintings and makes final decisions about the image. The paintings are abstract and direct to the point. Throughout her work, McLean said she also incorporates what she likes about the past and her family, as well as what she likes about the past and her family's traditions.

Prospect of firework injuries puts Illinois officials on alert

United Press International

At least 14 people were injured in fireworks-related accidents in Illinois last year and the state fire marshal is worried about what this year's Independence Day celebration may bring, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Fireworks, with some exceptions, are illegal in Illinois and Iowa. However, in some surrounding states like Missouri, where fireworks are legal, annual displays cause thousands of injuries, he said.

For example, in Indiana, Kentucky, Wisconsin and other states that allow their sale, there is no record of what happens in Missouri, where fireworks are legal, according to the spokesman.

So far this year there have been no major incidents of illegal fireworks in Illinois.

Although Madison County sheriff's officials admitted they had no statistics about illegal fireworks near Godfrey, Bob Hertz, a captain in the fire department, said no charges were brought against the most reported Illinois county, which voluntarily closed its stand this month.

The city expects to see few complaints, he said, but it will still enforce its fire marshals laws.

In other areas, there have been several reports of illegal fireworks in Illinois during the weekend.

Ruling on patronage sends positive signal

HAPPY DAYS may not be here again with the recent Supreme Court ruling that some say has signaled an end to political patronage. But the decision shows that employment, even in government, should not be tainted by qualities that do not hinge on success in the job.

While political patronage is a time-worn practice with its roots historically thriving during the Jacksonian era of cronyism, the Court's ruling sends a signal to politicians that tradition may not be justified after all.

In a 5-4 ruling written by Justice William Brennan, the Court said that a person's First Amendment rights are infringed upon when promotions, transfers and firings are based on political affiliations or support.

"The First Amendment protects the government, except in the most compelling circumstances, from wielding its power to interfere with its employees' freedom to believe and associate, or not to believe and associate," Brennan wrote.

Stepping from the employment policies of Gov. Jim Thompson, who in 1980 proscribed a hiring freeze in all state departments under his control, the case involved five professors who sued in federal court, stating patronage allowances to Thompson to limit employment to those in the Republican Party.

COMPETENCY in a job has more value than does the perceived partisan affiliations to which one may ass the employment avenues at a government should not be a reward for support of a political belief. Completing a task or demonstrating competency on the job can be rewarded in several ways, whether it be a promotion, a raise or an encouraging word,"" the belief that employment is a reward in and of itself can lead to complacency. Once we reward someone for not having to take it away,"" Additional X-party loyalty is ephemeral in itself. Parties tend to change over years and decades. There is no guarantee that there will be that one smart people align themselves with a particular party that they must remain with the party. Above all, in point, it is one of the most notable political flip flops.

Ronald Reagan, who during his early political career professed to be a Democrat, have been noted for their loyalty to each other, qualifications mean more than political party loyalty.

Good people who favor independent statehood for West Bank Jordanians, which will permit the Arabs of PLO, Syria, Libya and any other nation of Israel, are invariably working toward the goal of another attempt to establish a state.

In 1967, the Arab nations made a massive attempt to use the war in their favor. The Arab armies were victorious in Jordan. The Jordanian government's surrender to the West Bank in the East Bank. The combination of the Jordanian River and Jordan's gaining control of it.

Although Arab politics was asked to demonstrate the May 30, 1990 Arab, the demonstration is not a protest. It has a real meaning. It has been a demonstration for some time, and now it is abundantly clear that Arab politics is not a protest. It is because Arab politics is not a protest. It is because Arab politics is not a protest.

For Israel to allow the West Bank to be an independent state, it will be a massive step for its own people and the future of the PLO. May X, 1990 ended all doubt. On that day, Israel captured two speed boats filled with Arab fighters near Tel Aviv.

West Bank statehood "suicide" for Israel

Not everyone agrees with the idea of statehood for the West Bank. Some argue that it would be a mistake for Israel to accept this idea.

The idea of a separate state for the West Bank has been a contentious issue for many years. While some proponents argue that it would provide a viable alternative to the current status quo, others warn of the potential risks involved in such an arrangement.

One of the main arguments against statehood for the West Bank is the potential for conflict and instability. Many fear that a separate state would lead to increased tensions and violence between the two communities. Additionally, there are concerns about the practicality of establishing a separate state, including issues related to borders, security, and the legal and administrative frameworks.

On the other hand, advocates of statehood point to the potential benefits of a separate state, such as greater self-determination for the West Bank residents and a reduction in the pressure to accommodate them within Israel's borders. They argue that a statehood solution could provide a pathway to peace and stability in the region.
Pre-trial set for Marion man charged under new AIDS law

A judge Tuesday found sufficient evidence to try a 44-year-old Marion man with knowingly transmitting the virus that causes AIDS to an 8-year-old boy, identified in court Tuesday as the 44-year-old man’s brother.

The case is believed to be one of the first brought under the AIDS law which went into effect last year in Illinois.

The man, who pleaded not guilty Tuesday, was charged June 1 on criminal transmission of HIV, human immunodeficiency virus and aggravated criminal sexual assault. The incident is alleged to have taken place May 27 to 28.

The mother of the 8-year-old boy said Tuesday in a preliminary hearing that her victim and the 44-year-old man are brothers, but did not specify whether they are full brothers, half brothers or step brothers.

She and her lawyer said they will conduct an investigation with the state’s Department of Children and Family Services, but acknowledged the two have not had any contact with the defendant.

Radio stations quoted Maj. Gen. Mubarak al-Kandari, the Saudi Defense Ministry’s chief of staff, as saying that the pilgrimage this year would be limited to the families of those killed in the stampede.

In Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, officials said eight Indians were also among the dead.

In another incident reported Tuesday, an Indian foreign minister spokesman said a fire on Monday destroyed about 23,000 tons of Indian Holy Pilgrim Pilgrims in Mecca, but there were no casualties.

The spokesman said the Indians were visiting Mount Arafat at the time of the fire which apparently was caused by a leak in a gas tank.

Go SALUKIS
All-Star format in need of changes

Commentary

In the AL, first-base features Gehrig, Lee, Musial, McCarthy, Mark McGwire, George Brett, Fred McGriff, Wells, Jeter and Kent Henn.

An expanded roster would take some of the pressure off the managing of the National League, which has more depth than the American League.

How do you get them in the game? Well, for starters, pitchers could be prohibited from batting. Make the use of a pinch hitter mandatory every time a pitcher is due to appear at the plate.

Pitchers can only go three innings at the most anyway, so only one or two per side ever bat in full Star game any more.

An expanded roster would mean at least one backup position. Nobody would have to play a full Star game.

Let's say you go down to the end of the game and it is tied. Of somebody gets hurt and the manager is out of subs on his roster. The second baseman, the catcher, somebody else in the game but not out of defensive replacements

Permit a player who is out of the game to return in lieu of a pinch runner or pinch hitter but not as a pinch hitter.

This would offer protection against players being traded and ending up in the National League. And get more players an All-Star game.

“Let it be what it is all about, anyway.”

Canseco sets contract standards

San Francisco Giants

After Jose Canseco could make and miss All-Star Games all through his career, one would think the A's would know better.

Canseco had signed for $23.5 million over five years and Strawberries were set to go off the market.

But the financials of the market were much too high for Strawberries. Strawberries was the team's No. 2 draft pick. Canseco was a first rounder.

After accepting a three-deal deal, said Strawberries who had more time left to go to New York. But Strawberries was not sure what it was good for.
