Soviets tell U.N. they won't be first to use nukes in Europe

UNITED NATIONS AP — The Soviet Union announced Tuesday that it would not be the first to use nuclear weapons in Europe and invited the United States to assume "an equally grave and clear obligation."

"Should a nuclear war start, it could mean the destruction of modern civilization and perhaps the end of life itself on earth," Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said, delivering a dramatic message from Moscow to a special U.N. session on disarmament.

While the Soviet Union previously has proposed a cessation of the first use of nuclear weapons, Gromyko's announcement is the first formally committing the government to the policy, Soviet sources said.

The message, read in Moscow by Gromyko, elicited sustained applause. Gromyko said the Soviet Union was "willing to deliver the people from the threat of nuclear devastation."

President Reagan, who is scheduled to address the special session on Thursday, said at a news conference last month that as "major purpose" served in making such a declaration.

In April, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig, Jr. and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has consistently rejected such Soviet proposals "which are tantamount to making Europe safe for communist aggression," stopping a policy against using nuclear weapons first "which effectively nullifies the American nuclear umbrella over Europe," the State Department said at the time.

But in the message, Gromyko said "the people of the world have the right to expect that the decision of the Soviet Union will be followed by reciprocal steps on the part of the other nuclear states."

The Soviet leader said if other countries took the step "it would be tantamount in practice to a ban on the use of nuclear weapons altogether."

He said the Soviet Union acted first because of its confidence in "its own ability to avoid self-destruction."

Thompson, Byrne discuss ERA's fate

THOUGHT AP — Gov. James B. Thompson, Mayor Jane Byrne and at least five leading lawmakers gathered here Tuesday to decide the fate of the Equal Rights Amendment in Illinois.

The summit meeting was requested last week by Sen. Dick Durbin, a group meeting confirmation of the June 30 deadline.

The meeting comes after a Harris poll of the ERA showed Illinois favored ratification 64-to-35 percent.

Supporters for the ERA organization said 80 Illinois legislators questioned from May 1982, and arguments for and against the ERA, were used in assessing the proposal's support.

Fugitive CIA man arrested in N.Y.

WASHINGTON AP — Edward P. Wilson, a former CIA operative and alleged target of former American agents who trained Libyan terrorists, was arrested in New York Tuesday. A high Justice Department official predicted "that a spate of the CIA will be leading" a wave of the revolution.

Wilson was taken into custody after U.S. marines persuaded the Lebanese Republic to deny them entry and put him in a plane to the United States.

A fugitive since the 1970s, Wilson was in Lebanon since January 1980, Wilson, 33, has been living in Libya under identity protection and making millions of dollars, according to U.S. officials.

Pentagon whistleblower settles suit

WASHINGTON AP — Pentagon whistleblower A. Ernest Fitzgerald, fired from the Air Force for telling Congress about military cost overruns, won a preliminary Tuesday suit for $200,000 in legal fees in a settlement of the suit against the federal government.

U.S. District Judge William B. Bryant approved the settlement, resolving a suit filed in 1979.

After a long delay, Fitzgerald said, "I'm very happy" to be able to go back to the major weapons acquisition matters from which he had been barred "for over 1000 days."

Fitzgerald gets no credit for having the whistle on a $2 billion cost overrun on the main transport plane project.

Court ruling is 'victory' for allies

WASHINGTON AP — States that provide free public education to children of illegal aliens, a federal Supreme Court said Tuesday in a decision that erodes many constitutional rights of families that live illegally in the United States.

By the decision of Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Edouards, the court ruled that in Texas law allowing "educational" children of alien parents, such as the Edouards case, was unconstitutional.

The decision was hailed as a civil rights victory for the millions of people who live and work in this country.

The Texas Supreme Court estimates that between 1 million and 4 million illegal aliens are in the United States. There are 10 million legal aliens in the United States. There are 10 million legal aliens in the United States. There are 10 million legal aliens in the United States.

Beirut on alert for Israeli attack

AP — Israeli-Syrian jet battle flared near Beirut airport Tuesday evening and Lebanese television warned that an Israeli assault on the city was possible.

200 Israeli jets dropped a few Beirut rocket machines and anti-aircraft fire with American forces were active and fighting with the Israeli invaders.

The Israeli tank with the Syrian was the first in Lebanon since Friday, when Israel and Syria agreed to a cease-fire. The 70-day truce ended the airport battle August 1982.

U.S. intelligence sources in Washington said, however, that Syria's allies in the Beirut would send more troops to the Mediterranean in 1983.

Lebanese state television said the battle over the airport lasted more than four hours. It said Israeli tanks and armored personnel carriers deployed in a sector stretching from the city's southern suburbs to the village overlooking the airport.

The broadcast said the Syrian downed a jet which is the Beirut-Damascus highway and several other aircraft, including one of the Lebanese troops in a crash a Lebanese captain and pilot in the incident were killed, they were the Israeli jet.

WCIL to lobby for nighttime radio

Many daytime only AM radio stations in the United States may have the chance to broadcast 24 hours a day if Wartburg College program director of WCIL-AM has his way.

McLann left for Washington on Monday for a house bill House Resolution 684, that he says will promote the public interest and benefit rural communities throughout this country. The bill was introduced into the House by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill.

If the bill is passed, will allow over 1,500 AM radio stations to remain in the air after sundown. Under current law, these stations must go off the air to protect the signals of "clear channel" stations. The Federal Communications Commission protects the "clear channel" stations such as WGN in St. Louis and WLS in Chicago because their radio signals are strong enough to broadcast almost nationwide. The smaller stations must sign off the air in order to create less interference to the clear-channel stations, most of which are located in major urban areas.

"These clear-channel stations represent 40 million Americans of great AM service at night. These big city monopolies are not serving anyone other than the people who live in their own news areas," McLann said.

McLann will spend four days in Washington and hopes to gain additional support for the bill. He will meet with U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill. and meetings are arranged with Vice President George Bush and a member of his staff, U.S. Senator J. Dixon, D-Ill. and Findley.

According to McLann, local radio stations cannot fully serve their areas if they are forced to sign off at sundown. He said WCIL-AM would continue to provide local news, weather and other local programming. "We have only to look west four or five miles to see how important this is," said McLann in reference to the recent tornado that struck Warsaw.

Purchase of jet to provide increased round trip service

Air Illinois has purchased a BAC-111 jet which will provide service from Evansville and Springfield to Chicago's O'Hare International Airport.

James Street, president of the company, announced that the service would begin July 5.

Street said that the jet, which will be based in Evansville, will make three round trips each weekday and one on Saturday and Sunday. Decatur and Champaign will also receive one round trip, bringing the total number of cities served by the company to 13 in six states. Street said.

The company will also increase the number of seats from Evansville to Memphis with a 4-passenger Hawker Souterley 44, with an intermediate stop in Pompano.

Air Illinois, which has about 30 Carondeal personnel, will establish an 8-man crew in Evansville, transferring eight employees from Carondeal to service the new equipment.

"With the addition, our fleet will number 20 aircraft, with a total of 50 employees," Street said. Air Illinois purchased the 2-passenger jet from USair and made options on additional USair BAC jets, although Street would not detail the agreement.

Street, referring to an agreement between Air Illinois and USair, declined to discuss the terms of the jet, but according to industry reports, the price could be as much as $2.5 million, depending upon the condition of the jet.

Professors help Marion recover

By Mike Nelson Staff Writer

Two Illinois professors were among the volunteers who assisted government and Red Cross relief operations at the tornado site in Marion.

Alan Richardson, faculty member in the Radio-TV Department, and David Christensen, faculty member in the Geography Department, were at the disaster scene providing direction and assistance for victims of the May 29 tornado which killed 11 and injured 28.

In the Monday following the tornado, Richardson began volunteer work at the Red Cross public information office, spending a total of two days in Marion.

"It was some way that I could help the community," he said. "In the end of persons who want to help."

Richardson is no stranger to disasters, having done similar relief work following the 1974 tornado at FEMA, Ill.

While at the Red Cross public information office, Richardson worked at restoring Marion's channels of communication, which had been severed. Using previously established media contacts, Richardson coordinated the distribution of press releases concerning the disaster.

Christensen initially went to Marion Sunday to look at the tornado damage. He later volunteered to help with Red Cross relief efforts. Christensen said that he was involved in two kinds of volunteer work.

First, he helped a map damage assessments and second, he assisted the Red Cross by interviewing families to determine their relief needs.

Christensen was in Marion for two days, working from the Disaster Assistance Office located in the Second Baptist Church.

City Manager Carroll Fry said Carondeal can begin installing its own lines immediately without tapping the Wartburg lines. He said the city would save over water service any within the corporate boundaries of Car ondeal.

Mayor James Fischer said the two sides, which have been battling over water service rights for seven years, now agree it is preferable to have "water" of the takeover. He suggested the city present a contract to Wartburg, wait for their response, then discuss any differences in future council meetings. A contract is scheduled to be ready for approval next week's regular meeting.

Shore and a wide "Nuclear-Options" program. The "Nuclear-Options" program is a part of the University's curriculum. It is a program that is designed to provide students with a broad understanding of the nuclear energy industry. The program includes courses in nuclear physics, nuclear engineering, and nuclear safety. It also includes a field study component where students spend time working in the nuclear energy industry. The program is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to enter the nuclear energy industry. It is a program that is highly respected and is a valuable part of the University's curriculum.

City Council passes nuke freeze resolution

Nuclear is the old word. Now is the new word. In common parlance we become a clear sign that nuclear affairs have captured industry's human consciousness. The fear of nuclear war has become a major concern of the world over and a common conversation topic for the mass in the street.

Large organizations and civic groups are sponsoring resolutions, petitions and other expressions of that common concern of nuclear prohibition must become the serious concern of decision makers, not only at all levels, from world government to city council.

With these sentiments nuclear freeze resolution recently, the Madison City Council set a shining example for government bodies everywhere. Their unanimous resolution, among the first for a city council in the nation, is an example of a well-thought-out and responsible action. It is a sign of the times and a sign of the people's concern for the future of the world.

The resolution calls for a moratorium on the production of nuclear weapons. It also calls for a ban on the sale and transfer of nuclear weapons. The resolution is a clear statement of the city's opposition to nuclear war and its support for nuclear disarmament.

The resolution is a significant step towards achieving a world without nuclear weapons. It is a sign of the times and a sign of the people's concern for the future of the world.

Lew Hartzog gets well-deserved honor

Excitement is sports, like excitement is anything, something that makes us strive for. Even those athletes with an abundance of talent and skill must be honored. Lew Hartzog is a man who has earned that honor. He is a man who has dedicated his life to the service of his country and his people. He is a man who has shown us what it means to be a leader and a servant.

Hartzog was named "Track Coach of the Year" by the NCAA National Track and Field Board in 1970. He is a man who has inspired generations of athletes and coaches. He is a man who has shown us that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

Hartzog's success as a coach is a testament to his leadership and his ability to inspire his athletes. He is a man who has shown us that a coach is not just a teacher of technique, but a mentor and a friend. He is a man who has shown us that a coach is someone who cares about his athletes and who is willing to sacrifice for their success.

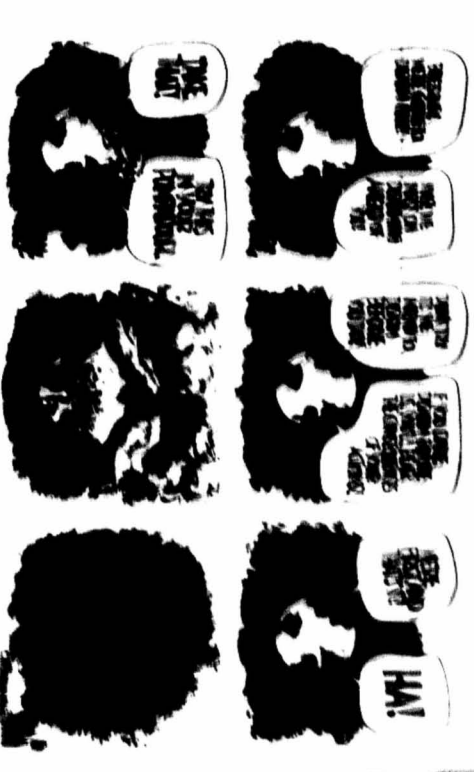

Hartzog's honor is well-deserved. He is a man who has made a significant contribution to the world of track and field. He is a man who has shown us what it means to be a leader and a servant. He is a man who has inspired generations of athletes and coaches. He is a man who has shown us that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

Quotable Quotes

President Reagan is a man of great vision. He is a man who has shown us what it means to be a leader and a servant. He is a man who has inspired generations of Americans and has shown us that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

Senator Dole is a man who has shown us what it means to be a leader and a servant. He is a man who has inspired generations of Americans and has shown us that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

Senator Hatch is a man who has shown us what it means to be a leader and a servant. He is a man who has inspired generations of Americans and has shown us that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

Where are you now, Harry Truman?

Legislators and courts everywhere are asking one question: Where are you now, Harry Truman? The question is a fair one. Truman was a man who led the nation through some of its darkest hours. He was a man who showed us what it means to be a leader and a servant. He was a man who inspired generations of Americans and showed us that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

Truman's legacy is a legacy of leadership and service. He is a man who has shown us what it means to be a leader and a servant. He is a man who has inspired generations of Americans and has shown us that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

The student workers deemed people, too?

As a student worker, I am often asked the question: "Are you a person?" The answer is a simple one: Yes, I am a person. I am a human being with feelings, thoughts, and dreams. I am a person who deserves the same respect and dignity as anyone else.

Student workers are an important part of our society. They are the ones who keep our schools and universities running. They are the ones who provide us with the education and training that we need to succeed in life. They are the ones who deserve our respect and appreciation.

It is time to recognize student workers as people, too. They are not just workers; they are human beings. They are the ones who deserve the same respect and dignity as anyone else.

Buzbee fights for state employees

A recent proposal in the Illinois State Senate to cut back on state employees' salaries and benefits has generated considerable controversy. Senator Buzbee is fighting to protect the interests of state employees and to ensure that they are paid a fair wage for their work.

Buzbee's fight is a fight for justice. State employees are the backbone of our government. They are the ones who provide us with the services that we need to live and work. They are the ones who deserve a fair wage and a fair benefit package.

Former VP Mace returning in fall

By Steve Mesner Staff Writer

Steve Mace, who resigned as vice president of university relations last May, will return to SUI-1, 0 East Hills, all of Mace's left SUI-1, 0 service in executive consultant for the American Council of Education in Washington, D.C. His one-year professional development leave expired Tuesday.

Mace was unavailable for comment. Mace left SUI-1 in the midst of a controversy over whether he should receive his $20,146 vice presidential salary while on leave. The Board of Trustees approved the paid leave.

John Ahoyon, vice president of academic affairs and research, said Mace's associate professor's salary hasn't been determined. He said Mace's salary will be adjusted to be commensurate with faculty members with similar rank and experience.

Ahoyon plans to discuss the salary with President Albert Smith. He noted that the decision "leaves it in his office."

The salary "range is quite wide," said Ahoyon. It depends on the department, market demand, and experience.

John Foster, political science department chairperson, is looking forward to Mace's return.

Tuck Tape gets $3.5 million job

By Andrew Zimmer Staff Writer

Three Industries, a 17.7-million-acre landowner, has a $3.5 million contract to provide tape for the federal government, according to Rep. Paul Simon's office.

The city's largest private employer was chosen by the Veterans Services Administration, the federal government's purchasing agent, to provide various types of "pressure sensitive" tape, according to David Jarbo, a Simon aide. Tuck will manufacture, ship and maintain tape as well as specialized tape for Post Offices, he said. The announcement of the new pact was made earlier this month by Simon's office.

Mont Major, plant manager at Tuck, said the contract, which has not yet been officially signed, will eliminate the possibility of "unintended" layoffs after this year. He said the contract "could result in some new ones in the future."

array of environments, both here and in Washington, D.C. Foster said.

"His year in Washington isn't much different than a substitute, most of our regular faculty take off a year for a substantial assignment or to improve their skills," said Foster. "We're glad to have him back."

Beginning at SUI-2 in 1982, Mace taught in the department of government and public affairs and became chairman of the department in 1978. He was named director of advanced programs in urban fields in 1970.

Mace came to SUI-1 in 1971 as assistant to the president and was appointed dean of students and acting vice president of student affairs in 1972. In the next two years, he held two other vice presidencies and, in 1975, was appointed vice president of university relations.

Theater becomes reality;

first production this weekend

By David Kennedy
 Entertainment Editor

Community theater is an idea that has been talked about for years. Now that idea has become reality. In the form of the long-running American Stage Company.

For the last six or seven years, people have been waiting for one thing. Why don't we get some kind of community theater over here? Joseph Miller, president of the CGS, said. "I finally decided to make them small and to start up, so I put a small ad in the newspaper asking for people interested in starting a theater group."

"The first seven people responded," he said. "Small ad or not, more than 100 people turned up. Miller and seven others, and the CGS was born."

Because of his experience in theater and his time in forming the company, Miller was chosen as the group's first president. His "presidential" message "community theater" works with the Harvard House Theater in Manhattan, N.Y., which he managed and directing experience at several productions at Huntington High School.

Miller is also directing the CGS's first production, "The Merchant of Venice." He says he is "proving a wrong and showing that the play is a dramatized version of the famous Shoggo's Monkey." "It will be presented at the Newentrance Center, 725 Washington Ave., N.W., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

These are at the time prohibited such teaching. "Two of the greatest creations of the life observed in the weather, mechanical, ornamental, which also covered the validity of the theory of evolution. Henry-longed politician William Jennings Bryan, popular here and three-time losing candidate for U.S. president, represented Biblical fundamentalism in proceeding Soper."

Lawrence Darwin, the nation's leading criminal lawyer — and an agnostic — asked Soper's advice.

Miller said there were several reasons for the selection of the play as the group's initial production.

"The great interest in evolution, like the Adamson resolution trial, was part of the reason," Miller said. "And the fact that we had a beautiful caricature in Jackson County, which was built right about the time the trial originally took place, was also part of it. We had a formal trial performance here last Saturday, and the show was perfect for us."

Miller said the switch from the courthouse to the Newentrance Center called for the building of new sets, and will not change the basic structure of the play.

"The dramatic lawrence and Robert E. Lee play does not follow the history of the trial exactly. Names of participants in the trial are slightly altered, the names of the community have the action takes place in a stage set introduced into a stage set introduced into the play in the form of a sweatshirt, for the Soper's character. But the arguments, trial scenes, and many of the events surrounding the trial are historically accurate."

Miller believes the play will be an auspicious beginning for the new company, and he hopes it will stimulate a growth in membership.

He said actresses in all the actors' productions are the company's production are drawn from the company's membership. Members pay yearly dues of $20, which pay them to a seat at all productions and the right to audition and propose new productions.

"Members can suggest a show, and the company doesn't say it, we just look at it and say 'Can we do it?'" Miller said. "The positive response the 35-member group has received thus far is part of a nationwide trend, according to Miller."

Nora S. Post turns down research job

By Michele Inman
Staff Writer

A decision by Nora Somit-Post to decline appointment as research specialist for the arts in the University's Office of Research Development and Administration has left Michael Dingerson, director, undecided on how to fill the position.

"I haven't decided whether to go through the search process," Dingerson said Tuesday. "Either I'll go to a list of the other two candidates who were interviewed or go through the search process again."

Dingerson said the two candidates are Carbondale residents but he declined to disclose their names.

Dingerson said he is undecided whether the search process, if implemented again, will be national or local.

Dingerson said he will meet with the research development staff Friday to discuss the research specialist position.

Ms. Post, wife of President Albert Somit, was selected from five finalists in a national search. The position was advertised in two issues of "The Chronicle of Higher Education" in the spring. John C. Guyon, vice president for academic affairs and research, said. The research development staff served as a search committee, according to news reports.

The number of applicants has not been disclosed.

Dingerson said that in the opinion of the search committee, Ms. Post was the best candidate for the job. Ms. Post, an accomplished oboist, would have been paid $30,000 a year to find grants to fund performing and applied arts at the University. She would have begun the job in August.

Dingerson said he is undecided whether the search process, if implemented again, will be national or local.

Ms. Post declined the position because of personal reasons after accepting it in May, Dingerson said. She and Somit are legally separated, and she spent most of the past academic year in the East.

According to news reports, Ms. Post said negative reaction in the community to her appointment contributed to her decision to decline the appointment.

The position formerly was held by Sonya Eveslage, who resigned in the fall, Guyon said.

"The job has been in place for many years," he said.

Tom Busch, assistant to President Somit, said the position should be filled as soon as possible. "We need to get moving in this area," Busch said. "It has been neglected."

Hawks ready to name new coach

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks have called a news conference for Wednesday at which they are expected to name Orval Tessier, coach of the team's minor league affiliate in New Brunswick, as the head coach of the parent club.

"The negotiations have been completed," Tessier said last Friday from his Cornwall, Ontario home. "I'll be in Chicago next week for the official announcement."

His family confirmed in a telephone interview Tuesday that he had arrived in Chicago, but Tessier could not be reached for comment.

Tessier, 48, has been a consistent winner during 16 seasons as a junior coach and won the American Hockey League's regular season and playoff titles in his rookie outing as a professional coach last year. General Manager Bob Pulford coached the Black Hawks for 27 of their last 28 regular-season National Hockey League games last year, taking over after the resignation of Keith Magnuson. After a fourth-place finish in the Norris Division, Pulford guided Chicago to the Stanley Cup semifinals before being eliminated by Vancouver.

"After Bob took over the team, he called me to say he wasn't neglecting me," said Tessier. "He said he didn't want to disrupt things in Montreal (New Brunswick) because the team was going well and he didn't want to bring me into a new situation in Chicago."

"I don't really know what to expect next year," he continued. "I'll be going to Chicago in August to evaluate the team and we'll go from there. I think we'll have to give some of the Montreal kids a chance because I know them personally and we've got some good ones down there."

Last week, owner Bill Wirtz said that Pulford would not return behind the bench and maintained that an organization should promote from within, which made Tessier a logical candidate for the job.

Tessier, a career minor league player who spent two seasons trying to crack the lineups of the Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins, retired in the old Western Hockey League in the 1963-64 season.

"I wasn't a very good skater," he recalled. "I could shoot and I could put the puck in the net, but you have to get there to put it in the net."

After retiring from hockey, he went to work for Molson's Breweries in Canada, then joined the junior coaching ranks at Cornwall, Ontario in the 1971-72 season.

He stayed there through the 1978 season, winning the Memorial Cup once and coaching present Hawk players Bob Murray and Rick Paterson, before moving on to coach Chicoutimi.

He began the 1981-82 season behind the bench at New Brunswick, earning the championship and AHL coach of the year honors last season.

"I don't think I have to prove anything anymore," Tessier said last week. "When you win in junior, they say you can do it in the pros."

play a very high-level schedule at KU, so she played against some of the toughest teams in the country last year. She's an extremely talented and versatile player, and above all, she's a very classy lady."

Scott hopes a pair of rookies will learn from Carr and Peoples. Petra Jackson, a 5-9 guard from University City, Mo. brings the long-range jump shot the Salukis sorely needed last year. Her senior year, Jackson averaged over 25 points per game while leading her University City High School team to a 2-0 record. Scott believes the freshman has all the tools to develop into a strong collegiate player.

"She has a very consistent jump shot, something we really need," the Saluki coach said. "She has so much raw talent that needs to be developed. She's going to be a good one." Ellen O'Brien rounds out the newcomers. According to Scott, the 6-0 power forward from Downers Grove South will win playing time not only with her abilities, but with her desire as well.

"She has a very good attitude and a lot of desire," Scott explained. "She wants to win. She's a big girl who has a nice shot, but also drives very well."

O'Brien averaged 11.5 points and 12 rebounds while earning all-state honorable mention her senior year.

Scott said the arrival of such top talent give her the most talented Saluki squad in her six years as head coach.

"Position by position, right down the line we are a very deep and strong team," she said. "No one will be guaranteed a position next year. They will just have to fight it out among each other. I'm excited about the talent, and I think watching the fight for positions will be fun."

UPI all-conference pick, came to SIU-C as a guard, but moved to the center position the latter part of his freshman year. After that, he made it his home.

"He's got an advantage," said Dempsey. "Has a very accurate long range snap from the center. That will be an asset."

Poole, who signed with the St. Louis Cardinals, is up against an array of good running backs. The 5-11, 190 pounder from Hubbard, OH, finished as the fourth leading rusher in SIU-C history. He gained 1,092 yards last year despite an injury that sidelined him the final two games.

Poole, who was known for his quick spurts and sizzling moves, was also a first team all-conference pick by UPI and AP.

"He has an outside chance," Dempsey said. "In mini-camp, I learned he had a little trouble catching the ball, but they were pretty impressed with his running."

"He's an outstanding athlete," Dempsey said. "But there are so many good backs with the Cardinals."

They were picked on hunches from a Division IAA school with little fanfare and virtually no popularity. But for three former Saluki gridgers, Tom Striegel, Darren Davis, and Walter Poole, they have all passed round one as free agents of the National Football League.

The trio signed free agent contracts last month, and have completed rookie camp and now await training camp, where, according to former Saluki standout Kevin House, the men will be separated from the boys.

"They'll find out soon enough if they can make it as a professional athlete," said House, who is a wide receiver with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"All I can say is that they should do what got them there, and work extra hard."

Dempsey nodded in agreement. "They're guess work," he said. "They came in at the bottom line as free agents and it's going to take a lot of hard work to make it. But statistically speaking, all three have a shot. Free agents in the past have made the team. Some have even started." Former Saluki punter Tom Striegel, who signed with Dallas, and former center Darren Davis, picked up by Atlanta, have a "good" chance in making their respective squads, according to Dempsey. The former NFL defensive coach said that Dallas is in need of a punter who could kick well enough to keep Danny White as quarterback full-time. Dempsey said Striegel could be that punter. "If he can punt well while he is at training camp, he'll make it," said Dempsey. "As long as he punts steady and with accuracy as he did here, he'll have a very good chance.

He'd have an excellent chance. The Carbondale native ended a fabulous senior season averaging 45.9 yards a punt. He was named first team all conference by the Associated Press and United Press International, and at one time was number two in the nation in punting percentage.

Striegel was the main reason SIU-C finished second overall in the MVC in punting. An average of 41.2.

For Davis, signing with Atlanta was a surprise. But to Dempsey, it was expected.

"He has really come along," Dempsey said of the Chicago native. "He is an excellent blocker and is quick. That will help a lot. He could be the dark horse and come through for them."

Football Salukis hire defensive coordinator

Men's Athletic Director Lew Hartzog announced Tuesday that Carl Angelo will be the defensive coordinator of the SIU-C football team.

Angelo, former defensive coordinator at Howard University for the past three years, will replace Bob Shaw, who accepted an assistant's position with the University of Arkansas.

Angelo, who is a graduate of Bowling Green University, coached five seasons at Warren G. Harding High School in Warren, Ohio, before moving on to Denison University in Granville, Ohio, as defensive coordinator in 1975. He had been at Howard University since 1979.

"We are excited to have a person with Angelo's expertise joining our staff."

said head football coach Rey Dempsey. "He definitely will play a major role in our program."

Dempsey said the change in coaches will not mean sweeping changes in the Saluki defense, which is a 5-2 alignment.

Howard's Bisons were 17-12-2 during Angelo's three years as defensive coordinator. They posted records of 5-6, 6-2-2 and 6-4. The last two years marked the first back-to-back winning seasons in 12 years. His defensive unit ranked first in the nation in pass defense and 18th overall defensively in 1980.

Angelo has the experience. The 32-year-old was a four year letterman in football at Bowling Green and while serving as varsity assistant coach for Harding high school's Class AAA state champions in 1971 and 1974.

Various Saluki sports camps offered at SIU-C this summer

A number of instructional camps in various sports are being offered at SIU-C for area youths this summer.

The second annual Rey Dempsey football camp, for boys age 13-17, began Monday and will continue through Thursday.

Dempsey, who is entering his seventh year as head football coach at SIU-C, said, "We have a great staff of instructors, including people who have experience at junior high, high school, college and professional levels."

Among the instructors will be former SIU-C football standouts Kevin House and Tom Striegel.

House, who is preparing for his third season with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the National Football League, will coach receivers and offensive backs. Striegel, who finished third in the nation in punting last season and recently signed as a free agent with the Dallas Cowboys, will coach punters and kickers.

Other instructors included in the daily workouts at McAndrew Stadium are Saluki coaches Alex Wood, Mike Wallace, Dave McMichael and Warren Anderson. Former SIU-C assistant coach and newly named University of Arkansas defensive coordinator Bob Shaw will handle the defensive backfield, and area high school coaches Gary Glenzy of Pinckneyville, Don Hawkins of Nashville, Bob Karnes of DonQuinn, Jim Lovin of Carbondale and Rodney Sherrill of Perryville, Mo. will also give instruction.

Some 300 campers, ages 11-18, have joined baseball Coach Itchy Jones for his 10th annual Saluki Baseball Camp, pegged as the largest in the Midwest. The camp, which began on Monday, will continue through June 25. Campers will workout daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., except for Saturday and Sunday, at Abe Martin Field.

Assisting Jones, who has the third best winning percentage (.761) of major college coaches, are SIU-C assistant coach Jerry Green, high school coaches Jack Fletcher of Marion, Ron Gauganti of Rich East High School, Dave Karaff of Hickman Mills High School in Kansas City, Mo. and Rusty Newman of Shawnee Mission (Kan.) East. Junior college coaches are Dave Montfort of Southeastern Illinois College and Bert Newman of John A. Logan College. Jim Kindt, coach of the Cincinnati Storm Club Babe Ruth team, also giving instruction.

Former Saluki wrestling Coach Linn Long is conducting his annual Summer Wrestling Camp through Thursday at the SIU-C Arena.

According to Long, the camp will give area youngsters a chance to solidify their background in wrestling. "We have always had pretty good success with the camp in the past," he said.

Daily sessions for the camp, which is for boys age 10-17, will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Long also said that wrestling enthusiasts will get a chance to workout daily at the Arena from 4 to 6 p.m. up until mid-July.

Other camps are being offered throughout the summer by the Division of Continuing Education. Women's volleyball

Scott signs 4 recruits

By Jackie Rodgers

Saluki women's basketball coach Cindy Scott leaves her office everyday around 2 p.m. to make the 100-mile drive to St. Louis to work a girl's basketball camp. At the end of the camp, she makes the 100-mile trip back to Carbondale so she can be at work in the morning. She will keep this up for one month.

Why does she do it? "It's good exposure, good publicity for our program," she says, with a tired sigh. "It will help out with our recruiting."

The Salukis must have had some good publicity last year, as Scott and assistant coach Julie Beck were able to lure four top-notch newcomers to SIU-C.

Heading the list are a pair of transfers, Eleanor Carr and Rose Peoples. Carr is a 5-foot 6-inch point guard who led Moberly Junior College team to a 35-3 record and the Junior College Championship. Carr was also selected MVP of the JUCO All-Star game, which featured the top 20 JUCO players.

Scott believes Carr can add what the Salukis have been missing the past few years:

"She's used to playing the point, and she likes telling people what to do," Scott said. "She'll allow us to use D.D. Plab in the off guard position, where she will be able to do more things and be more productive."

Carr, who averaged 9.0 points, 4.0 rebounds, 4.2 assists, and 2.1 steals per game with less than three turnovers, chose SIU over Northern Illinois, Lamar, Vanderbilt, and Kansas.

Rose Peoples was described by Scott as an "early Christmas present." Scott recruited Peoples last year when she was finished at Illinois Central College, where she had earned JUCO All-American honors, but the 5-8 guard-forward chose Kansas over SIU-C. She started for the Jayhawks last season, averaging 3.5 points per game. She was not happy there, however, and transferred to SIU-C.

Because of NCAA guidelines, Peoples will be able to play next season, but will not be eligible for any post-season play.

"Rose, along with Eleanor, comes to us with quite a bit of experience," Scott said. "They
