Collective bargaining revote slated

By Theresa Livingston
Staff Writer

The University's administrative and professional staff members are scheduled to vote Wednesday to vote on collective bargaining.

The vote will be held on the issue of the revote in which the University's chapter of the Illinois Educational Association is involved. The union is negotiating a new contract with the University.

The revote will be held on Wednesday, May 20, at the University Center Ballroom A. The voting hours are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. The vote is scheduled to take place at 9 p.m.

The University announced in a statement that the vote will be held to determine whether or not to accept the new contract negotiations.

Women veterans honored in Illinois

Recognition given for supportive role in service

By Todd Gardner
Staff Writer

Women who served as military personnel during World War II were honored last week in Illinois as part of Women's History Month.

Representatives of the University of Illinois and state officials attended a ceremony at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign to pay tribute to the women's achievements.

Women veterans were honored at the ceremony, which was held in the Alumni Center on the University of Illinois campus.

Jackson County's 911 almost ready to begin

By Jeriannce Kimmel
Staff Writer

The Jackson County 911 emergency service system is almost ready to begin operations.

The system has been in development for several years and is expected to be fully operational by late summer.

The system will provide emergency services for the entire county, including the towns of Jacksonport, Ursa, and Shullsburg.

Supreme Court votes down flag law

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court unanimously struck down the anti-flag burning law during oral arguments at 11 a.m. Thursday. The justices are expected to issue a decision in the case by the end of the month.

A majority of the justices found that the law is unconstitutional and violates the First Amendment rights of individuals.

The law, which prohibits the burning of the American flag, was challenged in a case involving a man who burned a flag in protest of a political speech.

The justices ruled in favor of the defendant, who argued that the law is an unconstitutional restriction on free speech.

The decision was a victory for the American Civil Liberties Union, which had filed a brief on behalf of the defendant.

The law had been challenged by the American Legion, which argued that the law was necessary to protect the flag's historical significance.

The case will be remanded to the lower court for further proceedings.
Salukis’ 49-14 record 2nd best ever

By Kevin Simpson
Staff Writer

Saluki baseball head coach Ron Jones conducted one of the biggest turnarounds ever in Missouri Valley Conference history. After his 1989 squad suffered through a 5-27 season, his 1990 team set a school record for losses in a season and the cellar spot in the Valley’s 16-school conference. Apparently, as his team set several positive records on its way to a 49-14 record, a Valley co-championship and an NCAA regional playoff berth.

After winning the MVC tournament in 1989, the Salukis finished sixth in the West Regional at Stanford, Cal. as the No. 2 seed with a 47-12 record.

The Salukis entered the tournament as a virtually unknown team, but they advanced to the final four with a split before bowing out.

In the opening 6-1 game against Fresno State, the Salukis received a 3-hit pitching performance from reliever Randy Bemergan, but lost a 3-2 decision.

The second game was an offensive display when six different Salukis contributed RBIs in an 8-7 victory over Campbell University.

Game three was a rematch against Fresno State and the Dawgs fared much better. Saluki pitchers Bob Fedor and Alan Levine combined to scatter nine hits in leading the Salukis to a 3-1-5 victory.

After scoring two runs in the ninth inning to tie the score against San Diego State in game four, the Salukis ended the game and their season with a breather.

Levine’s wild pitch allowed the winning run to score from second base in the bottom of the 10th to end the Salukis season.

“It was great to be back in the NCAA’s,” Jones said about the Salukis’ first appearance since 1980. “They were not stymied in any way and were very competitive. They went out and played exceptionally well for four ballgames.”

“They played just like they had all year — very competitive, very strong,” Jones said. “Sometimes the games ended with us in the lead and others ended with us trailing. That’s how the season goes.”

The 1990 Dawgs shattered the school record for most hits in a season (697), and also finished with more runs scored (480) and RBIs (426) than any other Saluki team. The Salukis were not shut out of any games this season.

Hard work, dedication, and a never-say-die attitude laid the foundation for the Dawgs’ success this season.

“I’m really pleased with these young men and the success they’ve had,” Jones said, attributing the players’ success to their determination and goals to become a successful bacalball team.

“We got probably the best pitching we’ve had in a long time — up and down the staff,” Jones said. “Sam Riggelman (assistant coach) did an outstanding job.”

Softball moves up conference ladder

31-10 record gains first national ranking

By Todd Gardner
Staff Writer

Batting was the life and eventual death of the Salukis’ softball team during their second season ever.

Strong hitting was the main ingredient for the Salukis’ 31-10 season record and a 5-2 Gateway Conference record, good for second place in the Gateway.

A 36-game winning streak also helped the Dawgs gain their first national ranking and collect second-school records, including most runs and highest batting average and most runs scored.

“Hitting was the thing that carried us,” said coach Ray Brechitsbaueier. “We scored over five runs per game.”

“If one thing characterized this team, it was that it was a true team effort,” she said.

But the Salukis did win their first Gateway Conference tournament championship with a third place finish when they managed over nine runs on 22 hits, 21 of which were singles.

“We were disappointed. I don’t think we played our best record,” Brechitsbaueier said.

The attempts for the Gateway title ended with an 8-2 loss to Western Illinois. In the tournament’s batting average was a meager .231, compared to their .301 average entering the tournament.

“Probably our toughest competitor was the weather,” said Brechitsbaueier, referring to the eight games canceled late April 2.

The Dawgs had only been able to play two doubleheaders during the last three weeks prior to the tournament.

“I can’t help but feel we were at edge at that point,” she said.

The third place finish was the highest finish in a school to date softball team in Gateway play.

“I think they did a great job finishing where they did,” she said. Except for Shelly Gibbs, who graduated, the starting infield returns intact along with the starting outfield and three pitchers, leaving the Dawgs a solid nucleus.

“The team has come a long way,” Brechitsbaueier said.

This season was a major step at the Gateway championship was a new experience for the team and should help them more next year,” she said, optimistically looking forward to next season.

Bad timing costs Salukis in track

Despite two disqualifications in Mississippi Valley Conference outdoor track championships held May 13 at McAndrew Stadium, the Salukis men’s track team still managed a second place finish.

In the 4-100 meter relay, sophomore Cheerek Dugger was too quick off the starting block, threw the baton at the finish. Dugger was ruled late on the start, disqualifying the Salukis and costing them an automatic disqualification, possibly the fourth place finish in the heat and right points.

Bill Connell, Saluki men’s track coach, was a bit disappointed because they were favored to win, but came in second place in the 800, a favorite to win the 1,500-meter run, false started, which also meant an automatic disqualification, possibly costing them the fourth place finish in the heat and right points.

Connell said Saluki men’s track was a bit too eager because they were favored to win, but came in second place in the 800, a favorite to win the 1,500-meter run, false started, which also meant an automatic disqualification, possibly costing them the fourth place finish in the heat and right points.

Connell said the Salukis could have had the championship, but we had some bad breaks in the beginning, Connell said.

Indiana State finished first with 365 points, MVC was second with 143 points, and Wichita State locked down third with 124 points.

We knew it would be close. I’m just excited we held it together to get second after the disqualifications,” Connell said.

Some of the highlights for the Salukis included first place finishes sophomore Cheerek Dugger, triple jump by senior Leonard Vance, 15.12 and 26.72 seconds in the 100 and 200 meter dashes, respectively, and first place finishes in the long jump by junior Alex Morgan, 9.25.

Third place finishers were sophomore’s Darrin Harris in the high jump, freshman Matthew Smith in the 1,500-meter run and sophomore Darnell Simons in the 800-meter run.

Other Saluki top performers at the outdoor GVAC Championships were sophomore Chris Howard in the triple jump, freshman Matthew Smith in the 1,500-meter run and sophomore Darnell Simons in the 800-meter run.

“We also got a lot of work out of the freshmen this year,” Connell said. “They have the potential to be great next year.”

Women win conference golf battle

By Tricia Lynch
Staff Writer

The Saluki women’s golf team wrapped up the 1990-91 Gateway Conference golf season Saturday with a win at the Links Tourney at Tamarac Resort and Golf Club in Orange Beach, Ala.

The Salukis finished with a two-day total of 1,270 strokes. Illinois State was a distant second with 1,279 strokes, while Valparaiso and Missouri State tied for third with 1,281 strokes.

The Salukis were led by senior Laura Whittington, of Kingman, Ind., who leads a call in the Gateway overlook competition at the Williamson Country. Four State Invitational Round on Sunday.

Lakers’ coach resigns; NBC in future plans

In-town golfers Paul Riley, well-known, slick hair and elegant suits epitomized the Eisenhower playing days of Angleside Lakers coach, residential at Monday night’s Angleside Lakers party, resigned as coach Monday after four seasons.

Milwaukee assistant coach Dave Johnson was named to replace Riley.

However, those familiar with the coach could not help but feel the call of the big city as the announcement was made on national television by General Manager Jack Polivka.

Riley, whose motivational speeches and critical comments elicitания many of his players, had two seasons to go on his current contract that paid him $8,000 plus expenses in 1987-88.

He is said to be joining NBC as an NBA analyst.

Opposition protests victory of communists in Bulgaria

SOFTA, Bulgaria (UPI) — Tens of thousands of opposition supporters poured into streets of the capital Monday to protest an apparent communist victory in Bulgaria’s first free elections in 44 years. “New elections” and “The communist party is mafia” were shouted by about 15,000 demonstrators who besieged the sprawling Palace of Culture complex where returns from Sunday’s polls were being processed. Some ripped down banners and inscribed the rating Bulgarian Socialist Party.

Israeli parliament approves Likud coalition

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The Israeli Parliament Monday approved by a vote of 62-57 a Likud-led government of right-wing and religious parties, one of the most hard-line coalitions in the country’s history. The vote, taken after nearly six hours of debate, ended a three-month government crisis and put the Likud Party in power for the first time since 1984 without the center-left Labor Party as a partner.

U.S., Mexico to move toward trade pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Bush and Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari agreed Monday to open preliminary talks on a free-trade agreement that eventually could lead to creation of a North American Common Market. In a joint statement issued after a private meeting Sunday night, Bush and Salinas authorized discussions leading to formal negotiations that presumably could begin after the completion of multilateral trade talks in December.

All-out fight against tanker fire begins

GALVESTON, Texas (UPI) — Two fireboats began an all-out effort to extinguish a raging fire on the tanker Mega Borg at midday Monday, but with uncertain winds to the north and west, the ship could again be delayed as the push. Swift Americas, immediately maneuvered a third fireboat to the site and quickly “knocked back” the new outbreak of fire.

Barry may not seek fourth term, reports say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The drug and jury trial of Mayor Marion Barry ended Monday without a finding that the former Washington mayor tested positive for cocaine use, but it is possible that the drug reports will cause Barry to seek a fourth term.

Governor claims credit for crackdown

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez claimed credit Monday for sparking a crackdown on the rape gang 2 Live Crew, an international issue, after he signed a law that includes provisions to crack down on those who violate the state’s obscenity laws. Broward County Sheriff’s deputies arrested two gang members early Sunday, shortly after the band finished a live performance in Hollywood, Fla.

Poindexter sentenced to 6 months in jail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Poindexter, Ronald Reagan’s national security adviser, was sentenced to six months in jail Monday for masterminding the effort to cover up White House involvement in the Iran-Contra scandal. Poindexter, 53, is the first to receive a prison sentence in the scandal. Poindexter was sentenced to prison on each of five felony counts, but allowed the sentences to run concurrently.

Van plows through picnic; two killed, seven injured

NOKOMIS (UPI) — A van driven by a 75-year-old woman plowed through the middle of a church picnic as a central Illinois picnic Sunday, killing two people and injuring seven others. Authorities said they were not sure of the cause of the accident that happened about 12:30 p.m. as members of the First Baptist Church of Nokomis were picnicking at a park. The driver of the church van, Charlie King, was arrested.

Sunset Concert Series sets in Carbondale on June 21

By Rich Cone
Entertainment Editor

A summer without outdoor concerts would be like eating Aunt Jemima pancakes with her syrup—palatable, but not quite as much fun.

To help sweeten summer in Carbondale, the Student Programming Council, the Student Center and Shryock Auditorium Park District will present the Sunset Concert Series for the 12th year in a row.

Beginning on the first day of the season, June 21, and ending July 26, just when the weather is really greening, steams, six bands will perform everything from 50s and 60s rock ‘n roll and blues to Cajun rock, reggae and ska, funk that will shake, rattle and roll the steps of Shryock Auditorium and the Turkey Park lawn Thursday nights.

The concerts begin at 7 p.m. and alternate each week between Turkey and Shryock. The only exception to the regular Thursday schedule is Wednesday, the Fourth of July.

The Student Programming Council and its board are very pleased with the family minded.

An added feature of the Shryock concerts are the free refreshments provided by local vendors, who will be selling hamburgers, hot dogs, snacks and soft drinks beginning at 6 p.m.

According to an SPC release, the concert series itself has been named a City Fair Days designation, meaning alcohol consumption is permitted; however, no glass containers or legs will be allowed. SPC added that under no circumstances will be strictly enforced.

The concert schedule is as follows:

● June 21 on the steps of Shryock Auditorium, The Unconscious will come alive on the steps of Shryock Auditorium with its alternative rock sound.

This St. Louis based six-piece, including horn section, brings to Carbondale that unique combination of rock, funk and psychodelia.

● The Infrared Rockers, a reggae band from St. Louis, will be at Turkey Park on main avenue June 28. The Rockers have been together since 1977 and have performed in fusion of traditional Jamaican rock, funk and reggae sound with a strong island of Caribbean reggae.

● The Chicago Smokers, a combo formed in the summer of 1977, will be performing at Turkey Park July 5. The Smokers will be performing at the Turkey Park on main avenue.

The concert schedule is Secret Agent Band. Described by their fans as the Cult band for the 90s, the four-piece band from Chicago will be at Turkey Park July 26. Secret Agent Band won the award of the 1998 Chicago Bears and a tour of the Snow White Sound Waves tour.

In case of rain, performances will be moved to a selected room in the Student Center.

Christmas cards a waste of state funds

THE NEXT TIME John C. Guyon wants to wish someone a Merry Christmas, he'll have to do it without state funding.

According to a June 4 report from Illinois Auditor General Robert Cronson, the SIU-C president spent $802 in state money to send 350 Christmas cards in 1980.

Cronson's report criticized Guyon's season's greetings, stating that Christmas cards are neither "reasonable" or "necessary" for University operations.

A knee-jerk reaction would be to agree with Cronson that an $802 Christmas card bill is frivolous.

HOWEVER, when you consider that most of the 350 homemade cards were sent to University donors and state legislators who approve Illinois' education budget, it becomes evident that maintaining close contact with potential funding resources is just sound business practice.

This Christmas card tradition proved profitable for Deloye Morris, University president from 1948 to 1970, and the Daily Egyptian sees nothing wrong with spreading a little holiday cheer, especially when it could help bring in more alumni donations.

However, Cronson was right in pointing out that printing and mailing Christmas cards is a misuse of state-appropriated money, especially in light of the fact that SIU-C will see little or no funding increases from the state for fiscal 1991.

THAT $800 would make a nice quartet of $200 scholarships. Maybe it could be used to give se'c' faculty or staff members a raise or even to replace some outdated equipment somewhere on campus.

The point is state money should not be used to solicit other funds. With the SIU Foundation pulling in more than $100,000 a year in unrestricted private donations, there is plenty of money here at home to use for Christmas cards without spending the state's money.

According to the audit, the printing and postage departments within the University Service Enterprises entity produced and mailed the cards. The employees' time spent preparing the cards is included in the $802 total.

President Guyon stated after the report came out that he will continue to deck the halls by extending season's greetings via the mail, but noted that the cards will be paid for using "non-state resources." From now on.

It's nice to see that the Grinches of the world have failed to dampen our president's Yuletide spirit, especially in the middle of June.

‘Storm trooper’ comparison off-base

I was appalled and astonished when I read the following statement by City Manager Steve Hoffner in the May 8 issue of the Daily Egyptian: “Sending in police like storm troopers creates negative feelings toward the city, one that doesn’t have to be here.”

The Random House Dictionary of the English Language defines a storm trooper as “a member of the Nazi paramilitary organization, or S.S. Uniforms, noted especially for their brutality.” Does this definition apply to Carbondale’s highly professional police force? I think not. I’ve seen our police force function for the past 42 years and have nothing but praise for their integrity.

In my opinion, comparing storm troopers to Carbondale’s police is like comparing Ivan the Terrible of Russia with Abraham Lincoln. Neither comparison makes any sense at all.

I trust that Chief Ed Hogan will support his men completely whenever they make necessary arrests, including those arrests made in bars.

I have nothing but the highest regard for all of our city employees, including Mr. Hoffner. They have always cooperated with their city managers, and I truly hope this cooperation can continue without a hitch.

Perhaps City Manager Steve Hoffner didn't realize the result he bestowed on our police force when he used the term "storm troopers." Also, it is possible that he was misquoted. At any rate, he should send an apology to the police department post haste. It would do much to boost their morale as well as have them regain confidence in his integrity. — Charles D. Neal, retired professor of education.

Cuomo dropping hints on run for presidency

By Phil Galley
St. Petersburg Times

Mario Cuomo, that old tracer, is at it again.

On the recent occasion of announcing his bid for a third term as governor of New York—and two days later, in a speech accepting his party’s unanimous nomination—Cuomo hinted speculation that he is finally poised to run for president in 1992.

First, Cuomo refused to commit himself to seeking a full four-year term. Then came his tepid-voting acceptance speech to the state Democratic convention. It sounded like a warm-up for taking on President Bush.

He blamed New York’s problems such as its crime, drug and cancer and its slipping economy, on the policies of the Reagan-Bush administrations. "The stagnation of the national economy has dragged down the state economy," he said. "This is not some falling of New York State."

Cuomo insisted he was not engaging in "Washington bashing." He just had some things he wanted to get off his chest.

Although the last election was invalided, Perkovich was not unhappy with any aspect of it that might

The ILR Union decided some voting procedures and circumstances surrounding the election had pleased them as an overall development, Dale Dillard, University labor relations director, said.

"There were some very close vote tallies and some of the procedures and balloting were challenged," Dillard said.

Don Castle, an assistant program coordinator for the University and spokesman for the University chapter of the IEA-NEA, agreed with Dillard, but maintained his organization is "very positive" about the outcome of the second election.

"We hope that people who are members of the University's AP staff realize that this is an excellent opportunity to influence the decisions made about their workplace," Castle said.

"This time around, I think that we speak more clearly by decrying to each individual member of the (AP) staff unit," Castle had said.

IEA-NEA had discovered through surveying that the majority of AP staff members regard race as a "hot button" issue from the University administration and to have more of a voice in campus policy and decision making, Castle said.

Charlotte West, 1990-1991

cardholder of the AP staff council also had thrown in her support for collective bargaining.

However, many AP staff members have disagreed with

Castle and West, coming out against collective bargaining. While the official University affirmative action statement was neutral on the issue, two individual administrators issued statements dated June 4, 1990, in which they advised AP staff members to just say no to union representation.

AP President for Financial Affair Chuck Hacking and Cape have both condemned unionization on the "car side" campus.

Cape advised AP staff members to "refer to your personalized benefit package" in making the determination.

An IEA-NEA source had been quoted in the Daily Egyptian as saying that the SIU-C benefit package "ranks near the bottom of state universities in respect to benefits.

The SIU-C benefit package, as a percent of average salary, was 11 percent for 1984-1989. Average benefits packages for universities was 20 percent, the DE reported.

However, Cape took issue with these facts, stating that "the figures reported were inaccurate" because certain pertinent facts were not included in figuring the IEA-NEA's benefits.

Hindesman in turn urged AP staff members to "separate facts from promises."

Castle said union representation would not necessarily effect current benefits for the AP staff.

Castle also pointed to union representation at SIU-Edwardsville as a model for the Carbondale campus. The professional staff at Edwardsville has bargained collectively since a successful campaign by the IEA-NEA in early 1989.

"While we have very separate needs as two distinctly different campuses, we do find with the same administration and the structure of the staff is very similar," Castle said.

Malka and Yahia were the first of eight young men to be tried in the slaying of Hawkins, who had entered into the predominantly white Bentonhurst neighborhood of Evanston, Ill., late one night.

The gang of baseball bat wielding white youths attacked the four, allegedly because they apparently thought they were among a group of blacks and Hispanics invited to a party in the neighborhood.

If the systems were merged, calls would come through a central dispatcher who would decide which campus, depending on which campus, campus was closest to the emergency, that campus would handle the call by hand and campus emergency personnel, who communicate with several cars that constantly monitor the

"Our training is in, hay, we know the

"It is not the idea to have a 911 system that will do it. It is the idea to have a 911 system that will do it right."

"A 911 call rings in every hour in the school," Harris said.

New filter to clean C&P's muddy water

By Amy Cooper
Staff Writer

Clean water is finally in store for SIU-C's Cinema and Photography students. A new filter, valued at approximately $17,000, is scheduled to be installed Wednesday in the Cinema and Photography Building. According to laboratory manager Lyke Fuchs, the sediment and the water's murky quality caused stains on prints and print washers, forcing students and faculty to move the laboratory and the darkrooms to the basement of the Communications building.

"We were able to operate, but with some inconvenience," Fuchs said.

The dirty water has been attributed to the fact that the building is 25 years old and in need of replacement. "It (the filter) just got worn out and we needed a new one," said Dave Gunner, chairperson of the Cinema and Photography department.

Scott Miller, Construction Project Coordinator at the University, said that the new filter is to be installed by mechanical engineer Jim Calhoun and his SIU Mechanical Contractors of Carbondale.

Touch of Nature set to host U.S.-Soviet seminar

By Christen Coriscasso
Staff Writer

A four-day American-Soviet business seminar is set for June 11 to 14 at SIU-C's Touch of Nature Environmental Center.

This seminar, "Understanding the Soviet Way," is aimed at helping American businesspeople become acquainted with the Soviet culture and business procedures in the Soviet Union.

Eugene F. Timpe, co-director of SIU-C's Center for International Business and Culture, as well as the seminar's organizer, said the seminar will begin at 8 a.m. and run until 5 p.m. each day. Evening sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. everyday except Thursday, when a special luncheon will mark the end of the seminar.

Timpe said the cost of the entire seminar is $400. It is open to the public and some scholarships are available for faculty or graduate students who have an interest in the subject.

Soviet men and women, language, family life, and everyday life are just some of the topics to be covered, Timpe said. One of the major items on the agenda is learning to do business with the Soviet Union.

"If you understand the Soviets and their mentality you're going to be more effective in relating to the new trade," Timpe said.

Timpe said the Soviet Union is now expanding its trade agreements with Americans it is more important to understand the people.

"The Soviet Union is opening up more and more all the time for American business and we have a number of joint venture agreements with them. They would be pleased to have more," he said.

Timpe also commented that American businessmen are now realizing it is going to take a fair amount of time and effort before their investments pay off in the Soviet Union, but he said they will pay off.

"The businessmen think it's one of the most enormous possible potential markets in the world and therefore it's worth trying to develop a position in," Timpe added.

The key to being successful in the business world of the Soviet Union, Timpe said, is joint venture.

"We have to work up a joint venture agreement with the Russians where they provide something and we provide something in return."

The seminar will be highlighted by six guest speakers. One of the speakers is Pradeep Patnaik, who, through a joint venture with the Soviets, is opening up a hotel in Vladivostok, close to Moscow.

Timpe said Vladivostok is the city where SIU-C has been developing a joint agreement. He said a delegation went to Vladivostok last December and began making arrangements for students and faculty exchange.

Other speakers include: Marevi Finkel, a Russian-born professor currently at Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., and former consultant for CBS News; Shelley M. Zeiger, an American importer who established a pizza parlor in Moscow in the first Soviet U.S.-Soviet joint venture.

USG slates October for new election

By Christina Hall
Staff Writer

New Undergraduate Student Government elections, organized and monitored by a temporary USG leadership, will be held in early October.

The elections will have two weeks in petition, two weeks in campaigning, and the following week elections will be held, according to Cheryl Satter, former USG president.

The events surrounding the last USG election in April, required Vice President for Student Affairs Harvey Welch, to elect a temporary USG leadership. Welch appointed Satter, former USG office secretary, to direct the entire election process.

Welch made her (Satter) president, because she is unbiased, was not involved in the last election, and has been working with the USG for over two years.

Charles Raney, president of the Graduate and Professional Student Council, appointed Satter.

Satter appointed Michelle Center as vice president and Ed Wolkoff, as chief of staff to serve until the elections are completed in October. Satter and her staff will try to improve the standard of the USG after the elections in the last USG elections, she said.

In the April election the Student Party, headed by presidential candidate Laura Kline, acquired the Trojan Party, headed by presidential candidate Michael Costello, of numerous campaign expenses. The Trojan Party then filed communications against the Progress Party and the Student Party.

Welch called for new elections to be held again in the fall semester of 1990 to resolve the matter.

My decision is to accept the fact that our student governance bodies have not approved, accepted or sanctioned our USG elections," Welch said, as an official letter.

To ensure that the fall elections are fair and organized, Satter will appoint an election committee.

The commission will monitor the elections and review the election regulations to make them clearer to future candidates.

We (the current leadership) hope to avoid the problems of the previous campaign by making the elections regulations clear and making sure there is no lack of communication," Timpe said.

"The elections should be clean so the USG can get along with good people," Kline said.

"We want to have an on-campus site with a driving range and a green we can hit into and out of," Daugherty said. She said she is grateful to be able to play at Jackson County Club, but they are only allowed to play on certain days. Daugherty said not being able to practice and play every day hurt the team’s performance.
"You practice like you play and you play like you practice. If you can’t practice, you can’t produce a quality team," Daugherty said.
Daugherty said her highlights for the summer will be playing in the LPGA championship tournament in Washington in July. She said she is not out to beat the professionals, just have a good time.
"I’ll probably be the only player on the field wearing my caddie’s name on the back of my shirt," Daugherty said. Jim Hart, SICC’s athletics director, will be her caddie.

Cornell said his main goal for next year is to win the conference championship in indoor and outdoor cross-country track.
"I’d also like to see some people qualify for nationals," Cornell said. To qualify, an athlete must be in the top 20 in the nation in his event. He said a couple of freshmen and sophomores came close this year and he hopes they improve to the level where they can qualify.
Cornell said his team holds like to have someone make the All-America team.

An all-weather pitch staff and they responded exceptionally well on the pitchers.

The Dawgs’ 49 wins were the second-most ever, barely missing the school’s record 50 wins. The squad’s .328 batting average was also second-best—a distant second to the 1976 record of .345.

"Defensively we were in the top eight in the country. Hitting we were in the top eight in the country. When you put the hitting in with solid defense (.971 fielding percentage) along with good pitching (3.71 earned runs per game), you’ll be successful," he concluded.

Leading the senior assault were Dave Wozniak and Doug Shields, who re-wrote the SICC baseball record book. Between them, they did finish first or second in seven statistical record categories.

Jennifer made his career playing in more games than any Saluki (241), and also first in career at bats (846), total bases (398), doubles (50), and most hits in a season (90).

Among Shield’s career contributions to the Saluki record book are: games (296, 2nd), at bats (781, 2nd), runs scored (169, 2nd) and their total bases (373, 2nd).
