Bangladesh death toll climbs to 6,0

Prime minister appeals for aid in repairing typhoon damage

DHAKA, Bangladesh (UPI) -The death toll from Bangladesh's worst typhoon in 20 years mounted Wednesday to nearly 6,000 and the navy estimated property damage at $1.5 billion as Prime Minister Khaleda Zia appealed for foreign aid to help rebuild the country.

"Hundreds have died and thousands have been made homeless Zia told Bangladesh radio. "Destruction of property and crops have been on a massive scale and it will be impossible for Bangledesh to tackle the situation alone."

Zia appealed for international assistance to help the nation recover from the storm that rolled in from the Bay of Bengal early Tuesday, battering the shore with 146 mph winds and submerging offshore islands under 20-foot tidal

Her remarks were reported early Wednesday as relief efforts intensified, with army helicopters and navy vessels ferrying food and supplies to areas still under water.

The state-owned Bangladesh Sangbad Sangstha news agency quoted officials as saying nearly 6,000 people were killed in the typhoon, including 2,683 in the southern coastal district of Cox's Bazar and another 2,000 in Chittagong.

The news agency also quoted unofficial sources as saying 50,000 people were killed in the Cox's Bazar district alone but it did not

Official reports on the number of deaths have been conservative. with much higher figures being reported in state-owned and private newspapers and news agencies.

The casualty count was expected to continue rising as reports from the stricken areas reach the capital. Communication with the south coast has been largely cut off by the storm.

Dawgs gallop over Thoroughbreds

By Wayne Frazer Staff Writer

The Salukis sent Murray State racing home after they whipped the Thoroughbreds 16-5 Wednesday at Abe Martin Field.

SIUC feasted off Murray State pitching for the second time in a pitching for the second ume in a week, racking up 14 hits off airee Thoroughbred pitchers. Last Thursday the Dawgs ripped 19 hits in an 11-8 victory.

With the Salukis trailing 2-1 in the third and junior Kurt Endebrock on first, right fielder Jeff Nelson launched a two-run homer to dead center field to put the Salukis up 3-2.

The Salukis' main offensive force of late has been Nelson. He went 3-for-5 against the Racers with five RBIs.

Nelson boosted his team-leading batting to .365. The senior's roundwas his tenth of the year. He is the first Saluki to top double digits in that category in five years.

Saluki head coach Riggleman said Nelson is the catalyst for the team's other hitters.

"Jeff's been important to us," Riggleman said. "He hits and then (freshman Jeff) Cwynar and (freshman Jason) Smith follow his lead. Since the Creighton series, he has hit the ball extremely well. Nelson crushed that home run Cwynar also shined, going 4-for-4 with a double, a triple and three RBIs before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth when Riggleman cleared the bench. Every non-pitching Saluki made a trip to the plate.

SEMO stops Saluki softball streak at 23 games

By Cyndi Oberle

The inevitable finally happened Wednesday at Southeast Missouri State. The SIUC softball team lost its first game, breaking a 23-game streak when it split a doubleheader.

Southeast swept the Salukis 7-1 in the first game of the doubleheader, but SIUC came back for a 3-0 win in the second.

The game was a non-conference battle, so the Salukis continue to lead the Gateway Conference. With these games, SIUC's overall record drops to 36-4 and their conference mark remains an unblemished 10-

Southeast didn't give the Salukis any time for thought, taking the lead in the first by one. SIUC's only run came in the fourth when junior shortstop Cheryl Venorsky walked and junior Kim Johannsen be ted a double to score

Southeast scored another run in both the second and the fifth which raised their lead to 3-1

The floodgates opened wide in the sixth when Southeast scored four runs on two hits and two Saluki errors. The Salukis never recovered from that inning, losing to Southeast 7-1.

Sophomore hurler Angie Mick started the game and pitched almost seven full innings. She struck out only one and had no walks. With this loss, Mick's record falls to 16-3.

Senior Lisa Robinson relieved Mick in the seventh and kept them runless for the last 2/3 of the ning. The Salukis came back with vengeance in the second game with junior hurler Dede Darnell pitching her fifth shutout. Darnell's record is upped to 9-1. SIUC scored its only three runs in the fourth on four hits.

Despite their first loss in 23 games, the Salukis continue to rank high in NCAA Division 1 Softball Statistics.

SIUC is ranked No. 3 nationally in win-loss percentage (31-3-912), No. 4 in scoring (221 R), No. 5 in batting (.328) and No. 17 in fielding (.962).

NCAA says 3-point line stays at 19-9

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The NCAA basketball rules committee voted to keep its three-point line at 19 feet and 9 inches from the basket, rules secretary-editor Hank Nichols said Wednesday.

The annual survey of coaches indicated support for keeping the three-point line at its present distance instead of moving it out to international rules distance of 20-6.

There was stronger vote to keep the lane at its present width, although the committee is seeking data on how widening the lane — perhaps by 4 feet to NBA lane

Dead-ball fouls, which have been charged as technical fouls, will count against a player's personal foul total and the team's total toward a bonus situation. The foul will still be enforced as a technical, with one foul shot and possession of the ball going to the fouled player's team.

The men's committee voted to require that uniform shirts be tucked in and uniforms purchased designed to be tucked in.

The women's rules committee will allow players to wear tights, which previously had to be beige in color, the same color as the uniform. Both committees, which met together for the first time, asked that greater emphasis be placed on the enforcement against rough play in the middle.

While the changes are relatively minor, the fact that some teams could repaint their three-point lines and lanes to larger dimensions could start a movement in that direction.

Building owners break address display codes

About 40 percent of Carbondale building owners may be violating a city code requiring address numbers to be displayed, but chances are they are not aware of it, a city official said.

Community Development Director Donald Monty said about 2,000 of the 5,000 businesses, homes and other buildings in Carbondale have the wrong address on the building, display the number improperly or do not have a number at all. This is not only a violation of the city code, but is a safety hazard.

These violations were brought to the attention of the city staff during a January meeting, Monty said. The police officers were having problems responding emergencies because they could not find the correct address. Firefighters also indicated they were having the same problem, he

"If you're in a fire truck coming down the road (and cannot find a house number), you've got a big problem," he said.

Since January, the Community Development Department had been conducting a survey to discover what buildings were in violation.

Monty said he does not know when the survey will be completed, but he said he would like to see it finished by the end of the year. Then, the owners of buildings in violation of the code will be notified so they can correct the problem.

If the owner does not comply with the code, fines could be

According to the city code, a fine can be from $5 to $100.

"I hope we don't have to do it," Monty said. "Once people are aware of the situation, they will probably take care of it."

Monty said in addition to aiding emergency personnel, having proper house numbers will help such services as food, flower and newspaper deliveries.

"If you buy a newspaper subscription, they might know which driveway to throw it in," he Said

According to city code, address

- Be conspicuously placed immediately above, on or at the side of the proper door so that the number can be seen plainly from the street
- Be placed on any roadside mail boxes required by the United States Postal Service;
- And not be less than three inches in height and must be of durable and clearly visible materials

Monty said one of the biggest problems the staff found was that the numbers assigned by the city did not match the numbers on the houses and businesses. Some of the numbers are out of sequence.

"Some places look like they assigned their own numbers," he

SIUC needs more environmental funds

UNLESS GOV. JIM EDGAR allocates more funding to the University, the environmental concerns of SIUC will remain on hold indefinitely.

The General Assembly appropriated $29 million for boiler repairs, but Edgar froze funding while determining which projects in the state have precedence.

The Governor lifted the freeze a little this week by allowing the University $2.55 million for repairs to the boiler system.

As recent reports have found, however, other parts of the Physical Plant need repair.

The smokestack, for instance, has been falling apart for years and contributing to clean air violations.

Electrostatic precipitators, designed to remove more than 95 percent of the fly ash particles emitted after coal is burned in the Plant's boilers, are not working because of corrosion damage.

FULL REPAIRS ARE IMPOSSIBLE without funding. But the Physical Plant is not the only concern on campus that needs attention-and money-from the state.

Budget restrictions also have put on hold the removal of three toxic transformers on campus.

The $95,000 removal of two transformers from the Student Center by mid-May is made available through the Student Center budget. The holdup lies in the removal of three other transformers, which will cost the state $67,000.

The University and Illinois may have allocated nearly $1 million through the years to getting rid of the transformers. But if a transformer happens to catch fire, damage costs from fire and toxins could hit and exceed the million-dollar mark.

UNFORTUNATELY, THE UNIVERSITY (as well as the area and state) is facing more stringent financial times. Large repairs and treatments of toxic transformers, hazardous waste and chemical spills cannot be expected when funding simply does not exist.

But money is needed both for protection of the environment and prevention of further damage by system breakdowns.

If campus issues such as the aging smokestack and hazardous toxic transformers are not addressed soon, the harm suffered later from neglect may cost the University—financially and environmentally.

Children are educated to not discriminate against homosexuals.

They are certainly not encouraged

This anti-discrimination attitude should please Dr. Helmer, as it goes nicely with Jesus Christ's command to "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Also, there is no prerequisite for health instructors to be homosexuals, as Dr. Helmer instructors

Talk of subverting "parental authority" is nonsense. Teachers don't tell parents how to raise their children. If anything, teachers don't interfere enough.

As a result, child abuse and drug addiction tend to be ignored until it's too late.

As for evolution, being an engineering professor, I would hope Dr. Helmer would support it.

Because evolution is supported by the scientific method,unlike creationist, this is how we keep our modern society going. Ethics are not a subject taught until college. Like "parental authority" the teaching of ethics is left to the parents.

Public schools can provide a good education to your children. They do not represent a "harmful environment" in regards to one's beliefs.—Tom Giesler, freshman, mechanical engineering.

Bush's 1992 budget, which will be passed by June 30, did not contain provisions for the continued prohibition of clearcutting in the Shawnee, something that Poshard had fought hard to obtain in the 1991 budget.

The bill Poshard is co-sponsoring would keep the Shawnee safe from clear-cutting and expand the protection to all federal land, said spokesman Dave Stricklin

This bill is more in response to the growing national concern over clear-cutting," Stricklin said.

Since taking office in January 1989, Poshard has been active in calling for an end to clear-cutting and other forest related activities, such as public sales of hardwoods in the Shawnee National Forests.

Clear-cutting involves marking plots of land where all trees will be removed. The process is criticized for destroying trees that still are healthy and thereby creating an

The bill probably would not immediately affect the lumber companies around Southern Illinois because the Forest Service already has agreed not to clear-cut in the Shawnee, said Marland Throgmorton, procurement forester for WestVaco Lumber Co. in Wickliffe, Ky.

He said he did think the hill would affect the timber industry in the western states because it is harder to select-cut on steep embankments, which are common logging sites in the more western

"I think clear-cutting in some instances is a good tool. We could probably do without it on the Shawnee, but not in the west," Throgmorton said.

"As it gets down to this time of the fiscal year, we just have to look at the funds we have left and hire the amount of workers we can afford," Brown said.

Brown said administrators at the plant knew the money shortage was coming, because minimum wage has increased the past two years and the budget for the plant has remained the same.

Minimum wage, which is now at $4.25 an hour, increased by 45 cents April 1, 1990 and April 1, 1991, said Pamela Brandt, acting executive director of personnel services. The increases were based on legislation in 1990 instituting a two-step plan to raise the federal minimum wage.

Brandt said before the increases. minimum wage had not changed since 1981. when it rose from $3.10 to $3.35.

The Physical Plant employed between 100 and 120 student workers during summer 1990, but only has funds for about 80 positions this summer, Brown said.

During the fall and spring semester between 200 and 220 students are employed at the sical Plant, she said.

Other University areas do not seem to face the same problem.

Terry Engel, accountant for the College of Technical Careers, said CTC will employ the same number of student workers this summer as last summer.

James A. Tweedy, dean for the College of Agriculture, said the college does not plan to cut back student workers

The college usually has a shortage of workers in the summer Carbondale area, Tweedy said.

Dianna King, coordinator of the Financial Aid Office, said the University employed about 2,000 students in summer 1990.

The financial aid office does not have figures for student workers for this summer because the office is not informed until after departments hire workers, she said. SIUC has one of the largest student work programs in the world, with a quarter of the 6,000 on-campus jobs designated as work-study, King said.

Springfest patrons at the Holiday Inn, 800 E. Main St., did about $3,000 worth of damage to the hotel, she said.

"I don't ever want to see them back again," Reighard said. Springfest guests broke into the kitchen and stole food, damaged the Jacuzzi, ran down the halls knocking on doors of other patrons and tried to sell alcohol to high school students at the hotel for a prom, she said.

"They carried on all night so drunk that they didn't know if they

University President John C Guyon said that along with the initial costs of event such as Springfest, SIUC pays a heavy price for the attention it attracts as a party school.

"Part of the damage has got to be the impression people have of us as a university," he said. "It can damage us and has damaged us."

Rollins said Springfest itself is not the problem.
"I don't think Springfest is costing SIU an image," he said. "Springfest is a quality event, a chance for some of the students to blow of steam."

But when some students blow of steam by throwing beer cans, drinking alcohol excessively and taking over a street, Rex Ball,

Legal clinic director to leave SIUC, take dean position at Little Rock and University News Service

The director of the legal clinic at SIUC will become the dean of the law school at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock starting Aug. 1

Howard B. Eisenberg said UA was looking for someone with his skills and experience and going to Little Rock was a good move for his family.

"As much as I hate to leave SIU, this is basically an offer I can't refuse," said Eisenberg.

"Primarily, the opportunity in Little Rock is an unique situation," he said.

"I have been here under four deans, two presidents and two chancellors and everyone up and down the line has been supportive -- that's what will make this so hard to leave," Eisenberg said.

Associate Dean of the Law School R. J. Robertson said the school will hire one of the clinic's staff attorneys to be an interim director while a national search for a replacement is conducted.

UA Chancellor James Young said Eisenberg was "an unusually strong fund raise and grants man."

In addition to being clinic director, Eisenberg teaches two classes a semester and sponsors the advanced moot court team.

Soviets donate fur to Illinois museum

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — It may look like something off your local barber's floor, but Illinois State Museum officials say a swatch of 10,000-year-old mammoth fur they received Wednesday from the Soviet Union represents a major step in cooperative research between Illinois and Soviet scientists

A representative from the U.S.S.R's Academy of Sciences presented the handful of fur to authorities at the museum in Springfield, where it will become a permanent part of the museum's collections

The museum is now only the second research institution in the Western Hemisphere to receive a sample of hair from the elephantlike creatures that roamed much of the world — including Illinois — during the last Ice Age.

"The material ... comes from an animal which is 10,000 years old but (is) preserved as if it was collected from the animal only yesterday," said state museum Director Bruce McMillan. "The research potential is limitless and I think the exhibit potential you can see for yourself.

McMillan said the state museum received the fur because of its outstanding collection of Ice Age mammal bones. The samples will go on display this summer. He said scientists may also test the genetic material within the hair to learn more about the animals.

Mammoths, one of the ancient ancestors of elephants, grazed in herds on the lush grasslands of Europe, Asia and North America almost 2 million years ago.

Armed with long tusks to fight predators and thick coats of hair to fend off the cold, the peaceful creatures ranged as far south as Mexico. They were up to 14-feet-tall and weighed more than 5 tons, larger than even the biggest elephants today.

Soviet scientist Gennady Baryshnikov of the Zoological Institute in Leningrad presented strands of long, stringy hair and several swatches of soft underfur to museum officials in his second visit to Springfield in as many years.

Illinois researchers gave Barysh nikov a tooth from a mastodon, a prehistoric animal similar to the mammoth, and a replica of a jawbone from an ancient bear during his first visit to the museum

McMillan said the mammoth's fur is valuable because such wellpreserved mammoth specimens are virtually impossible to find in the United States. He said the trade demonstrates how scientists of the two nations can work together to discover what killed mammoths.

Baroque music highlights concert

By Annette Holder Staff Writer

Music from the Baroque Period and the present is being played tonight at Shryock Auditorium.

A chamber quartet with SIUC music professors' Robert Roubos, Michael Barta and George Hussey and mathematics professor John Hooker, will play three Baroque songs by Monteverdi Purcell Blow.

A choir will sing acappella
"Trilogy on Wisdom," written by John V. Mochnick, associate professor for the School of Music.

Tonight will be the second time the piece has been performed for the piece has been performed for the public.

Mochnick said the idea for "Trilogy on Wisdom" came from the book of proverbs in the Bible. Some of the songs include "Wisdom Hath Builded Her House" and "All Wisdom is From the Lord."

The final part of the concert includes a combination of the choral union and orchestra. The choral union and orchestra consist of local residents, SIUC professors Handel and "Te Deum in C Major," by Franz Joseph Haydn.

Both of the songs are about women, Mochnick said. "The Ways of Zion Do Mourn" also is known as "Funeral Anthem for Queen Caroline," and "Te Deum in C Major" is about Maria Therese, an empress of Austria.

Carbondale resident Marilyn Juhlin said she is excited about performing tonight.

"Sometimes it's a let down because after you've practiced so many times you want to perform more than the one night," Juhlin

Juhlin said "Te Deum in C Major" is challenging because of the very long lines of notes.

"Te Deum in C Major" is a fugue, a type of music typical of the Baroque era. Fugues will have four choir performers singing individually. One voice will be singing independently and the others will join in randomly.

"It's interesting to hear how all of these are written together, Juhlin said.

She said she learns a lot from performing. She has learned the The choir and orchestra will history the of music and perform "The Ways of Zion Do Mount," by George Frederic include Ranning how to said.

Juhlin has been singing in the University Choir since 1976.

A.B. Mifflin, who sings tenor, first started singing with the University Choir in 1948 as a student.

He said he likes "Te Deum in C Major" most because it is a spirited song that is typical of Haydn's Carbondale resident Tom Purcell said about 70 rehearsals have been held since the beginning of the semester in preparation for the concert. He is singing with the chorus for the first time.

Purcell, who sings bass, said the most difficult song for him to sing is "Te Deum in C Major" because it has a lot of repetition of notes and uses Latin phraseology.

Juhlin said she would like to see more local people attend the concert and join the chorus.

The concert, which is presented by the School of Music, will begin at 8 p.m. and is $1 for students and $2 for the public

Ragu agrees to take 'fresh' off of misleading food labels

Food and Drug Administration Wednesday continued its crackdown on misleading food labels, reaching an agreement with the maker of Ragu pasta sauces to remove the word "fresh" from a

The FDA had asserted the use of the word "fresh" was "false and misleading" because the sauce is made with heat-processed tomato paste instead of fresh tomatoes. FDA spokesman Jeffrey Nesbit.

The agreement by Arthur Gonis, president and chief executive president and chief executive officer of Ragu Foods Co. of Trumbull, Conn., does not admit any wrongdoing, Nesbit said.

But the company will stop by June 13 using word "fresh" on its line of what had been called "fresh Italian pasta sauces," he said.

"It will stop using the word fresh or any other language that represents or suggests that the products are fresh and not heatrocessed," Nesbit said.

The company plans to call the sauces "Fino Italian" instead of "Fresh Italian," he said.

The company also will change the list of ingredients on the sauces to include the information that the sauce is made from tomato paste and not fresh tomatoes, he said.

The agreement follows a similar ct between the FDA and Procter & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati, which agreed Friday to stop using the word "fresh" for its Citrus Hill orange juice.

Federal authorities seized more than 12,000 gallons of the juice, claiming the use of the word was misleading because the juice is made from concentrat

The action "is part of an effort to make sure there's a level playing field in terms of using the term fresh," Nesbit said. "If a product is not fresh it shouldn't be called

The FDA "has also had discussion with several other manufacturers about the use of fresh as well," he said

He would not identify the companies or speculate about whe other such agreements might be

Bruce Silverglade of the Center for Science in the Public Interest in Washington said misuse of the term fresh posed a significant problem for consumers and called the FDA's recent action "a positive step."

Study: Phone regulation plan to raise rates by 12 percent

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) legislative plan to change the way telephone companies are regulated in Illinois would raise monthly phone bills for consumers at a time when companies like Illinois Bell are saving money, a consumer group charged Wednesday.

Three citizens' groups, led by the Citizens Utility Board, unveiled a study that said an alternative regulation plan under consideration in the General Assembly would force phone bills to increase 12 percent over the next four years.

"There's a very serious threat to your pocketbook taking place in Springfield this session," said igfield this session

A spokesman for Illinois Bell, however, said CUB was making a "knee-jerk reaction" and he said the proposal is only designed to give Bell the same opportunities afforded phone npanies in other states

The legislation (S1176) will be introduced Thursday in the state Senate Energy and Environment Committee, which oversees telecommunications. However, it is likely to be altered because Illinois Bell has yet to sign off on the plan and a committee vote is not expected until next week.

Illinois' Telecommunications

Act expires this year and lawmakers must rewrite it.

Mick pitched the entire first game against the Redbirds and came in to capture the save in the second. She pitched the first game against Indiana for the win and relieved in the second to take yet another win.

Mick's record for the season is 16-2. She posts a .57 ERA, has four saves and five shutouts. Batters have only hit .170 against her overall for the season. In conference games, her record is unbeaten at 8-0 and she has a .29 ERA, two saves, three shutouts and batters have hit .176 against her.

Pitching coach Gary Buckles said Mick's statistics speak for themselves

"If she did not get named pitcher of the week, I would think something was wrong," Buckles said. "It is hard for me to magine anyone could have done any better.

Buckles said he is very hard to please when it comes to pitching.
"Angie threw 12 strikeouts and of course I though she could and should have had 15," Buckles said. "If the game would have been closer I think she would have had more. It is hard not to relax when you are winning by a large margin, but Angie never relaxes to where she gets herself in trouble. She never her guard all the way down.

Mick is very deserving of this award, Buckles said.

"Angie has proved what I have said all along," Buckles said. "She is a stopper. I put her in the game to get the strike-out because she can at any time. I do not doubt her ability because it is hard to argue against the fact she has always come

lenderson sets steal record

Rickey Henderson of the Oakland Athletics broke Lou Brock's alltime career steal record Wednesday. swiping his 939th base in a game against the New York Yankees

Henderson, 32, broke the record in his 12th major-league baseball season. Brock took 18 years to set his record.

Honderson, who had been thrown out by New York catcher Matt Nokes attempting to steal second in the first inning, reached base in the fourth when shortstop Alvaro Espinoza let a grounder roll between his legs.

He moved to second on a Dave Henderson single and, one out later, broke for third on a 1-0 count from starter Tim Leary to Harold He was safe by a large margin, bringing the 30,000-plus fans to their feet and his mother, Bobbie, and Brock out of the stands

To the roar of the crowd, the base was removed and Brock said, Today, you are the greatest competitor that has ever run the bases in the big leagues.'

Then it was Henderson's turn to take the microphone. With his arm draped around his mother, Henderson thanked the fans and his

'I'd like to thank my mother, my family, my friends for all their support," said Henderson. "I want to give my appreciation to Tom Trebelhom (Henderson's first minor league manager) and Billy Martin. Billy was a good manager. I love you Billy and wish you were here to

Henderson tied Hall of Famer Brock's record by stealing his 938th career base in Sunday's 7-3 victory over the California Angels. He was hit by a Jeff Robinson pitch with one out in the sixth inning and stole second on a 1-2 pitch to Lance Blankenship, easily beating the throw by catcher Lance

The new stolen-base king had been bothered by a strained left calf muscle and was placed on the 15-day disabled list earlier this month

Henderson set a major-league season record with 130 stolen bases in 1982. He broke Ty Cobb's AL record for career steals last season and has led the league in steals in 10 of the last 11 seasons

Jordan to make summer golf debut

CHICAGO (UPI) - Whether the Chicago Bulls make it to the NBA Finals or not this year, Michael Jordan will shift his athletic prowess to another arena this summer by trying his hand for the first time at competitive amateur golf.

Jordan has agreed to make his competitive amateur golf debut July 31 in the 89th Western Amateur Golf Championship at the Point O'Woods Golf & Country Club near Benton Harbor, Mich.

Jordan is well known for sneaking out with his golf clubs at every opportunity. He has even suggested he might try his hand at the PGA Tour once his basketball days are over.

But his entry in the Western

Amateur will mark the first time

Jordan will compete in an actual tournament, a coup for which also puts on the Western Open PGA event Jordan the Western Golf Association Open PGA event. Jordan was named a WGA director in

"Michael and I have talked about his game and his skill level throughout the years, and obviously he loves the game," WGA tournament director Peter de Young told UPI Wednesday. "I said, 'If you really want to find out where your skill level's at, you ought to keep trying to go up in competition, like you have in other

Jordan, 28, wrapped up his fifth straight NBA scoring title this season with a 31.5 point average. On the golf course, he is listed as a 3-handicap at Wynstone Golf Club in suburban North Barrington.

The Western Amateur, as it has for the past 20 years, will be contested at Point O'Woods, a Robert Trent Jones-designed course about 90 miles northeast of Chicago. Jordan received a special sponsor's exemption.

Heading the field beside Jordan will be U.S. Amateur Champion Phil Mickelson.

"I talked to Phil about Micnael coming," deYoung said," and he said, 'Great.' We're in the preliminary stages now of having Phil and Michael play a practice round together. Both of them expressed a great interest to me of playing with each other, so there's al admiration of each other's McEnroe defeated by 17-year-old

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) John McEnroe was booed off center court Wednesday after losing his first round match to 17-year-old qualifier Dino Pescariu of Romania in the $250,000

BMW Bavarian Open. McEnroe, the No. 4 seed made 27 unforced backhand errors in his 6-2, 6-2 loss to a youngster ranked No. 240 in the world.

"I would have lost today against my mother."
McEnroe said following his first outing on clay in three years. "I played terribly. If I play as badly as I did today any more then I'd better give up soon.

The match had been postponed after 10 minutes Tuesday when heavy rain brought play to a close with Pescariu leading 2-1.

Within 17 minutes of the restart Wednesday, McEnroe was a set behind and struggling to compete with the aggressive style of

Braves break streak, win against Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - The Atlanta Braves had to stay on the road a little longer than expected, but they returned home with a victory after three straight losses.

The Braves snapped their losing streak with a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in 10 innings Wednesday. After an off-day Thursday, they begin a five-game home stand Friday. The Braves had blown leads in losses Monday and Tuesday, and watched a 4-0 lead slip away Wednesday before winning in extra

"It's May now and this is nice," Cox said. "It's going to be good to get back home."

Dave Justice's groundout with the bases loaded scored Otis Nixon from third base with one out in the 10th inning for the game-winning

Cardinals reliever Mike Perez, 0who came on in the 10th, walked

Nixon with one out and Jeff Treadway singled him to third.
Ron Gant walked to load the bases before Justice greeted reliever Scott Terry with a grounder to an Geronimo Per who had no play anywhere but first

"That was a helluva play by Pena," Cardinals Manager Joe

Torre said.
"I wish that ball would have gotten through," Cox said. " could have used the extra runs."

The Cardinals bullpen, which has been solid all season, failed to keep the Cards in the game.

"Our bullpen has really been the reason we've stayed in so many games," Torre said.

The Cardinals dropped to a game behind the Pirates in the NL East before Pittsburgh's against Cincinnati Wedne

Kent Mercker, 1-1, pitched 1 2-3 innings of one-hit relief for the

"It's a big win for us because these guys (St. Louis) are playing good baseball," Nixon said.

'It wouldn't have been the end of the world if we hadn't won but it would have hurt. This will make the trip home a lot easier."
The Cardinals had tied it 4-4 with four runs in the fifth inning.

Tom Pagnozzi's three-run homer off Steve Avery following a Todd Zeile double and Pena single made it 4-3, and consecutive one-out doubles by Ozzie Smith and Bernard Gilkey tied the

Rothstein resigns as Heat coach MIAMI (UPI) - Miami Heat

Coach Ron Rothstein resigned under pressure Wednesday after leading the expansion franchise to a 57-189 record over its first three years and posting the NBA's second worst record this season.

Wearing sunglasses and fighting back tears, Rothstein made the announcement at a news

He cited the emotional drain of coaching an expansion team in the NBA as a factor in his departure.

"I'm not going to put my family through that anymore," he said.
"This is best for me, for my family and best for the Miami Heat."
Rothstein met with Heat general managei Lewis Shaffel and co-owner Billy Cunningham earlier the day. He said they discussed "the personal relationships, the personnel and the emotional side of coaching the Miami

We never got to the business side of it because it became apparent how draining this is for myself and for my family," he said. Although Rothstein had compiled only a .302 percentage over the three years, the Heat's record had improved and this season was 24-58, six games better than last year

Over the three years, the Heat front office depended almost exclusively on the draft for its players and the team became younger with every year.
