Tenney Explains Reasons For Not Observing Holiday

Because it is necessary for the University to be in session 180 days of the school year, Southern was not able to observe Armistice Day by dismissing classes today, stated Dr. Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to the president.

Dr. Tenney went on to explain that there are 11 legal holidays in the state, six of which are University holidays. Only six of the 11 can be observed because of the required number of days in the school year. If each holiday were observed it would be necessary to add an extra week to the school year.

Although part of the physical plant employees were dismissed for today, because they are under State Code regulations or other Department, administrative and other Department offices are open.

Marberry Completes Series of Lectures

On Thursday, Nov. 4, William Marberry, assistant professor of botany, completed the last of a series of two lectures on soil gardening. Intended for the benefit of home owners in Southern Illinois, the lectures that were given in the Old Science building were pointed toward planning and planting of flower gardens in new places and the renovating of their old places.

Interested groups from nearby towns of Murphysboro, Herrin, Marsh, Benton, Anna, and Carbondale, attended and formed most of the group that attended a series of three lectures given by Mr. Marberry last year.

Mr. Marberry demonstrated how to make fall cuttings and then turned the lecture into a workshop and supervised the audience as they made cuttings. Material from ten different kinds of plants were used and each member of the audience was given cuttings to take home. Some of the cuttings were yellow Rambler rose, Evergreen Barbary, Winter Blooming Hongkongcreeper, Showy Golden Bell and other plants. Various members of the audience brought cuttings from their own gardens and exchanged with others.

In the first lecture given the week before, Dr. Marberry stressed the fact that the cuttings that fall seeding is far superior to spring seeding. He marked the difference with several exhibits of one and two year old seedlings from fall and spring plantings. He concluded by showing pictures of some of the beautiful lawns in the eastern states.

CPA To Teach Tax Accounting

According to Dr. John W. Scott, Robert Mathies, CPA, will teach a course in tax accounting during the winter term. Dr. Scott informs us this course will be open to persons who have had one year of accounting or the equivalent. It is designed to help people in filling out income tax returns.

TWO MORE FACULTY ARE IN 'WHO'S WHO'

Two more faculty members have been chosen for 'Who's Who in American Universities.' They are: Albert Fulmer, assistant professor in University high school, and Dr. Ernest Marwin, professor of education.

THEY CAN'T COMMUTE

Home is a long way off for these three Southern students. Pointing to their home countries are Tin Po-fu, graduate student from China, and Saad Jabbar from Baghdad, Iraq. The lady looking on is Elizabeth Chang, from Korea.

Quartet Visits Campus Monday

The University of Alabama string quartet paid a brief visit to the campus Monday evening. The quartet, stopping here overnight, practiced on the stage of Shryock auditorium several hours Monday night. They left Tuesday morning for Carville where they played a concert at Blackburn college that night. From there they were scheduled to go to Jacksonville for a concert at Illinois college.

PRE-ADVISEMENT WILL START NOV. 15

Pre-advise ment will start Nov. 15 and continue through Nov. 22, rather than Nov. 12 as was announced in the Egyptian previously.

Fingerprints Play Great Part As Means of Identification

Thousands of years ago the citizens of ancient China certified the authenticity of a document with the impression of a finger. Other and more recent groups have recognized the possibilities in the use of fingerprints for identification, but it has remained for twentieth century man to begin the utilization of fingerprints on a full and scientific scale.

Vets and Civilians

The noncriminal file of the FBI contains the fingerprints of members and veterans of the armed forces, government employees, persons who were fingerprinted while applying for jobs in important national defense plants and persons who voluntarily have their fingerprints

Ten Students Appear In Season's First Recital

Two recitals were given here last week, opening that phase of the music department's schedule of activities for the season.

Robert E. Mueller, a new member of the music faculty, presented a piano recital before approximately 150 persons in the Little Theatre Wednesday evening. His program included numbers by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Scriabin, Brahms and an original composition.

Ten soloists appeared in the student recitals given on the stage of Shryock auditorium Thursday afternoon. Pianist on the program being Betty McHenry, who played Liszt's "G" by Bach; Jack Bidley, first movement of "Sonata" in D by Mozart; Ruth McClure, "Nocturne" by Chopin; Nancy Gillespie, "Etude No. 28" in G-sharp by Chopin; and Rose Price played "Praeludium" by MacDowell.

Betty McHenry also played a violin solo, "Andante" by Kreisler. Flautist Bill Montgomery played the "Adagio" movement from Mozart's G major concerto, and Roy Barth, trombonist, played "Concert Piece" by Mulford. Three vocalists appeared, including Carolyn Miller, who sang "Yes, the Sapsucker" from the "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart; Stefania Biondi, "Do Not Go My Love" by Hagenauer; and Bob Dinkler sang "Now Sleeps the Beauty" by Quilter.

Second Student Recital Will Be Held Wednesday

Wanted: One Refrigerator

How much does a hundred pounds of ice cost—about 50 cents, doesn't it? Then, for a penny, you could buy two pounds of ice, couldn't you?

On the other hand, how much does an ice cube weigh? Wouldn't you say about four ounces at the most? But the question is, how much does an ice cube cost? The answer is one cent. One ice cube for one cent.

I'm not talking about the price of ice in the tropics or some other far away place, but right here in Carbondale. You don't believe it? It is true this is the fantastic price actually charged at the house in which students live.

But ice isn't the only thing with which the householders of Carbondale tam the poor students. The extra charges, made for use of gas, iron, radio, etc. far exceed the actual cost plus a neat profit for themselves.

Perhaps the householders don't realize it, but they are very dependent upon the students of this University. One would think that they would be a little more considerate if they would realize that students of Southern really make Carbondale what it is today.

We all realize that almighty dollar is a very convenient thing to have, but couldn't some arrangement be made with the householder to pay a flat rate and thus eliminate all of these "extras."

But back to the case of the ice cube. Let's see, the householder told them that about eight times the retail price—right? Does anyone know where I can buy a refrigerator, cheap?—M.L.L.

Do Movie Ads Pay?

The motion picture owners, discontinue motion picture advertisements, their trade will increase. How many times have you heard people criticize the different advertisements put forth to theatre audiences? It is a question almost impossible to answer.

What are the causes of disgruntlement in regard to these advertising shorts? In our opinion, and we are not alone, this is the "corniest" and the poorest form of advertising. Getting back to the question asked about the causes for dislike of moving picture advertisements, we find that the most significant is that of having no choice but to sit through the torture of them. The movie-giver pays hard-earned cash to find that he has no choice but to sit through a boring advertisement. After all, the movie-giver paid for an evening of entertainment—he did not pay for such wastes of time. Why should the public have to pay for these advertisements which they despise to see? It is not necessary to do so if the public will stick together. If the movie audiences would sound of disapproval when these advertisements appear on the screen, they would cause the theatre owners to give the subject considerable thought. Another way for the public to fight these "picture pests" is to form an organization which would agree to buy none of the products of those companies who have advertised on the screen.

There is no reason why anyone should have to put up with this poor brand of advertising. The proceeds from the paid advertising is only a drop in the bucket when compared with ticket sales. Therefore, if the public would stick together, it would not take much persuasion to get the theatre owners lined up with them, for without an audience, the theatre owner has nothing to look forward to.—W.P.

"Don't Shoot"

November is here. The interest in the elections will soon be dwindling and while sports-minded men will turn to hunting. Last year, 2,047 persons were injured, some fatally, in hunting accidents. Will you, the prospective hunter, be one of the people on the list in 1948? Probably the surest way to escape injury while hunting, is to stay away from field and wood. However, if you are one of those who have the "fever"—be careful. Let us say that you are careful. Pretty soon someone comes along and admires your careful method of handling firearms and hunting. He gets the idea. Then, there are two of you. As the number of responsible hunters grows, your chances of being injured fall less. If you and your comrades carry out this safety program to the largest possible degree, you may someday find hunting to be one of the safer sports.—M.P.

Poets' Corner

The Hurt
The hurt. Oh the hurt.
Through the afternoon, the covering night.
Lower I cower.
My substance atrophies, and the scattered soul-lumps sink down.
Earlier flown from passion's pinnacle as the firm-lassed enigmas of faith.
As smaller microoliths that clubbed the cozened-born,
Little love-animals in ancient caves,
So comes chaos in my inner rooms.
Chaos riddles chaos.
Down these corridors, this maze,
Wonders begins the search for his beleaguered children.
He will find you hair, Iris eyes, and human wit.
But they have all died,
Alpine beast!
Slit the skins, baste them on a stick.
Slimy, gray, sheets by fevering blue rise.
They dance in metamorphosis.
Wonders' needs flee, and certain Night reclines.

Grotto of the Mind
Sometimes I live in a world all my own,
A place which exists in my mind,
Set apart alone,

Goal
I have no definite thought of prose
That which I seek is but to give
Meaning to man, that heal, that hurt.
O those that heal, I do feel good
Of those that hurt, also.
One must give the same for all
For what is good is good as good
A good for one is good for all.

Then there was the girl who soaked her strapping evening gown in coffee so it would stay up all night.

Sally: "I don't like some of these modern dances. They're nothing but hugging set to music."

Nancy: "Well, what do you object to about that?"

Sally: "The music."

Imagine taking a trip of nearly two thousand miles, not in a custom built Cadillac, but in a sturdy but bumpy jeep. Louis Gaskins of

LOUIS GASKINS

Harrisburg does not have to imagine. For this summer he and two buddies packed their camping equipment and departed for the kit (tents) up north. This sixteen hundred mile trip to Wisconsin and Minnesota represents one of the many things which Louis particularly enjoys.

Louis, who will be a senior next term, quit school in 1944 to enlist in the Navy. He served for eighteen months, and then returned to Southern to complete his education. Since returning to the campus, this tall fellow with curly brown hair has been busy working on his double major in history and English.

Extra-curricular activities also receive a great amount of Louis's time. He is an active member of the Kappa Delta Alpha Fraternity. Last year he was vice-president of that organization, and this year he is alumni chairman and is on the governing committee. Louis served for two years on both the spring prom and homecoming committees. He has been chairman of the parade committee and decorated the committee for homecoming. He is also vice president of Alpha Phi Omega, Boy Scout fraternity, and is a member of Southern Knights and the Spanish Club. Besides his desire to travel extensively, Louis likes to dance and also likes to see the latest and best musical comedies. In addition to all this, he also has a deep interest in Boy Scout work.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where the parents of the woman identified the body as being that of their daughter. Fifteen days later the witnesses saw the "corpse" walk into a Chicago tavern. They advised her of their mistake and suggested that she notify her parents, which she did immediately. Examination of the body in order to obtain fingerprints resulted in the securing of the impressions of the right hand only, which were sent to the FBI. Search of the files resulted in the identification of the fingerprints as those of an individual for whom three cards were in the noncriminal file.

Missing Person
This noncriminal file also plays an important part in one of the service functions performed by the FBI and made possible only through fingerprints. This has to do with assisting parents and other relatives in locating members of their families who are listed as missing persons.
In one instance, a girl boarded a bus in Norfolk, Va., and several hours later the driver noticed that she had not rather than. He questioned her as to her identity and destination with negative results. He stopped at a hospital in Arlington, Va., where a doctor examined her and decided her to be an amnesia victim. She was fingerprinted and the bus driver carried the prints to the Washington field office of the FBI. Four hours after the fingerprinting had been fingerprinted at her own in the noncriminal file. This girl

The place of the civil identification file in case of fire, floods, plane crashes, tornadoes, and disasters such as the Texas City disaster cannot be overestimated. Fingerprints, as a means of identification, are used constantly.

On the program for the evening were Louis Rowell, who spoke on "The Life of Pascal," and Joseph Bezetka, who had as his topic "The Life of L'Grance."

RUSSIAN CLUB MEETING CALLED FOR NOVEMBER 11

Michael Derbok, president of the Russian club of Southern, announces that there will be a meeting Thursday, Nov. 11, at 3 p.m. in the Foreign Language building.

All members are requested to be present. All persons interested in studying Russian language and culture are welcome to attend the meeting.

women and wives interested in getting together periodically for social purposes.

First: tea, which was held in October, was open to all members and non-members who desired to join. All members are required to pay their dues by the November meeting. Mrs. Shelby Shaks, president, wishes to re-appoint members that the tea will be held on the third Wednesday of each month.

THE EGYPTIAN Thursday, November 11, 1948

Members of the campus women's music club will have a food sale next Monday, Nov. 15, from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Stands will be set up on the lawn of the Price residence, across the street from the Canteen on University. Various kinds of candy, cookies and other foods will be sold.

The club met in the Music House Monday evening following "The Messiah" rehearsal: A letter stating the requirements for entering Mu Pi Epsilon sorority was read to the group. A fine will be placed on members for each unexcused absence, and three unexcused absences will cause a member to be dropped from the roll.

The next meeting of the club will be held in the Music house after "The Messiah" rehearsal on Nov. 22.

The Morning After

by John DeLeonardo

It's getting so nowadays that basketball season starts in September since that's the time to start worrying what a coach is going to end up with after football takes the toll of injuries. We saw Coach Lynn Holder the other day and it seemed rather apparent he is minus a bit more than the last time. It isn't a joking matter, however, from any standpoint. Losing two key players on a football team that are just as valuable to the basketball team can ruin a school's entire season. We shake our heads in wonder at the odds of two players getting hurt the same way, and shield our collective heads from what the repercussions may result in basketball.

We've knocked this theory of ours back and forth about the lack of pep - at Southern - sports - problem, but until now, haven't said much about it. It's already too late for football, but with basketball creeping up how about having two organized groups on the campus attack one game enemies? It goes like this: pay we play Indiana on Tuesday. Have a schedule for the whole season on home games, that way it would be evenly distributed throughout the year. Let the Tri Sigs, say, and the Chi Deltis go to the Tuesday night game in a body and sit in a body, and really make a lot of noise. Then if we have a home game on Thursday, have the Delta Sigs and the Delta Chis go in a

Maroons Limp To Charleston Saturday

The injury-riddled Southern Illinois Maroons will close the curtain of the 1948 season when they journey to Charleston this weekend for a tilt with the conference leaders, the Eastern State Panthers. Joe (Abe) Martin can well be glad that this one will be the final and no more certain calls (Cora Bowl bids) will be expected.

If Abe lost any more of his key men through injuries he would have to stand on his own feet. The Joe Hughes' name going down on the casualty list, the hopes of a surprise victory seem more and more remote. He joins the other Franklin Bob Colborn and a flock of other disabled which reads like a casualty list at Farawa. It is no wonder, that groans can be heard from the die-hardest fans.

WAA NEWS

W. A. A. hockey season is drawing to a close. The Illinois team is now being played. The three teams competing in this tournament are, "Deacon's Beacons," captained by Dorothy Mitchell; "The Pills," captained by Mary Steiner; and "The Brufers," captained by Helen Gresham.

First game of the tournament was played Nov. 4 between the "Deacon's Beacons" and "The Pills." The latter won by a score of 3-0. The second game the "Pills" then defeated "Deacon's Beacons" by the same score.

These games are being played on the lower hockey field every afternoon at 4 o'clock. Everyone is welcome to come and watch.

'Off Sides' with Bob Brayfield

The University of Oklahoma as proved last Saturday is next to impossible to beat on their own field. The Sooners have not been down on their home grounds since the Oklahoma Aggies beat them there in 1945. They have not lost a home game at home since Nebraska defeated them in 1942.

When Steve O'Neil was fired by the Detroit Tigers a few days ago, he became the seventh big league manager to lose his job this year.

coming out to practice every afternoon. Anyone who wishes to participate in this sport is invited to come out any afternoon.

Cage Maroons Card 21 Game Schedule

Beloit College of Beloit, Wis., will be the opener for the Southern Illinois University cage team. The 21 game schedule will include several newcomers to the Maroon card. In addition to Beloit, who missed honors at Kansas City last spring, are Colver-Stouton, of Missouri, Mississippi Delta, Illinois Wesleyan, and Kirkville, Mo. Nebraska defeated them in 1942.

In starting his third year, Holder will be defending his Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic basketball crown which he has coached winners in Colver-Stouton, at least past three seasons. Southern has participated in the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball playoffs in Kansas City, Mo.

OHIO STATE AT ILLINOIS

This will be a very close contest. On the basis that the Illini are really moving, we will bring down with them still lower. Here are this week's predictions: NOTRE DAME AT NORTHWESTERN.

The game of the week in the mid-west. Northwestern is always at a high pitch for the Irish. The Maroons are in for a run, but should win by one touchdown.

MINNESOTA AT IOWA.

Minnesota is still in the running for a possible Rose Bowl bid, and should add an easy victory in this contest.

PITTSBURGH AND PURDUE.

This is due to be a close match. Pittsburg has already beat one Big 10 opponent, Indiana. But the Boilermakers will not rest for their Hoosier friends, and should have a victory after the smoke clears away Saturday.

GEORGIA TECH AND ALABAMA.

This is usually a real tussle, but "Bama" has the weakest team they have fielded in many a moon, and should give a great Georgia Tech transfer a trouble.

CALIFORNIA AND WASH. STATE.

Washington State has a good squad, but not good enough to down the Golden Bears.

MICHIGAN AND INDIANA.

Michigan by thirty points.

CORNELL AND DARTMOUTH.

A top game is the one. We will take Dartmouth on a hunch.

Missouri easy over Colorado; Wisconsin will beat Marquette; North Carolina in a close one will down Maryland; Clemson will beat Wake Forest; Oklahoma to top Nebraska; Princeton will beat Yale.

Hughes Joins Injured List as Maroons Lose to Normal

Southern suffered its second most humiliating defeat in the history of the school as the Illinois State Normal Redbirds crushed the Maroons 48-0, here Saturday afternoon.

Southern's biggest blow, however, was not in the score itself, but in the loss of Joe Hughes, first string end from West Frankfort, who received a compound fracture of the right leg midway in the final quarter.

Highlights of Prep Sports

Benton will play at Harrisburg and Murphysboro will play at Carbondale this afternoon (Thursday) in feature games on the abundant Southern Illinois prep grid platter.

By beating Harrisburg and then downing West Frankfort on Thanksgiving day, the Benton Rangers came in for the University Six Championship. Otherwise, Harrisburg will wind up in full control of the championship.

Carbondale is in a similar situation. By defeating the Murphysboro Red Devils—winner of 24 straight games—Carbondale will tie for the championship. If the Terriers lose, the Red Devils will win the Southern Illinois prep grid by two full games.

In two other outstanding games scheduled for today, Centuria will play at West Frankfort and Danville will play at Pinesville.

Other games scheduled for today include Salem at Mt. Vernon, Sparta at Chester, Bridgeport at Lawrenceville, Mt. Carmel at Olney, Evansville at Danado, and Johnston City at Zeigler.

After playing West Frankfort today, Centuria will play an "iron trial" role by traveling to Wheaton to meet of Heavy Twenty; Southern's rugged and football captain of the 1944 Maroons.

Thirst for Refreshment Relishes Ice-Cold Coke

Now Lynn Holder has but one returning starter to his first five in which he originally had a solid three. The load will fall on the capable and basketball talented Jack Eadie, around which the team must be rebuilt. It is not a black picture at all, Jack (Lucey) Long, Charlie Goss, Galen Davis, Bob Kiskaak, Don Glover, and Eric Bozarth all show promises of being strong competitors. The only thing that is dark about the situation is that no All Conference men will be in there and possibly never will show the talent they have been of worth here. Also it is shaming because of the fine schedule that has been selected for a possible NAIB participant in which three returning stars made this the fifth consecutive year in which we could compete possible.

All is not lost, we will keep our hopes high and give Lynn and the boys our support.

It was pretty evident that the sore spot has not healed from the basketball incident with Normal last winter. Some of the players sensed that Hughes was the target of some outlandish football and wanted him to retire to the bench. With the score 42 to 52 at that point the reserves certainly should have been resting and the reserves getting some experience.

Questions of the week . . .
Wonder how Charlie Hein would look at that?
Could Howard call himself?
