SOUTHERN'S VICTORY BELLE

GUS FROST, campus policeman, points to the frame which held the victory bell, belonging to the Keepers of the Belle, before the bell was stolen Monday night. The bell was recovered Wednesday morning.

Victory Bell Returned After Mysterious Theft

After a two-day disappearance, the victory bell which is supposedly owned by the new order which has named themselves the Keepers of the Belle has been returned to its former resting place in the campus police office.

The bell was being kept in the campus police headquarters near the stadium entrance. It was there Sunday evening about 5 p. m. when several policemen ate dinner there, but it had disappeared when they returned to the building at 11 o'clock that night.

ACCORDING to the police, the person or persons taking the bell probably forced the window of the station open and by reaching through it were able to unlock the door. The headquarters had been kept locked at all times since the bell had been placed there.

Immediately, the fraternities were named as the probable suspects, and so each was visited Monday evening and told that they would have 24 hours to return the bell or else police action would be taken.

LATER THAT EVENING, each fraternity received a call from some person claiming he was Captain Peterson of the Carbondale police department. The voice told each of the fraternity presidents that he had received direct information about their house having the bell, and that they were to appear at the police station in 15 minutes.

When they arrived, they were told that Captain Peterson was not in. He was contacted and said he had made no calls of any kind that night.

TUESDAY, campus police chief Joe Montgomery received an anonymous letter stating that the bell was in safe hands and that it would not be destroyed.

Then Wednesday morning Chief Montgomery spotted the bell in the unused ticket office to the east of the stadium ticket booth. Evidently the victory bell had not been taken any further than 20 or 40 feet from the police station at any time.

The victory bell was purchased with money from the student welfare fund, and it is hoped that through the years a school tradition may be built around it.

The bell itself is already rich in tradition and history. The members of the Keepers of the Belle are to appear with the bell at all Southern football and all the things one doesn't want to see on Friday the 13th. Such things as black cats, mirrors, and ladders will bring the gym; so everyone is advised to brace with their right feet, four leaf clovers, and all other good luck charms. Each person entering the gym will be asked to throw salt over his left shoulder to ward off bad luck.

This dance is for the entire student body as are all Southern Semifunctions. Everyone is invited to attend this dance either stay or drag. Only requirements for entry will be 13-cents. Refreshments will be served.

Kenneth Brown To Address SIU Students Nov. 12

Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, well known religious educator, will speak at the freshman assembly Nov. 12, in Shroyck auditorium, according to Dr. C. Horton Talley, speech department chairman. His speech will follow the general topic for Religious Emphasis Week, "The Student and Religion."

He has also served two years as president of the Ohio College Association and two years as president of the Association of American Colleges, a national organization.

In addition to his work as an educator, Brown has written a book, "A Campus Decade," which reviews his years as president of Hiram College, and has edited two others: "Character: Bad" a collection of war-letters of a conscientious objector, and "Marge," a compilation of letters of a college student.

SIU Libraries Place Books In Men's Halls

Libraries have been established in Anthony Hall and the Men's Residence Hall by the University Libraries in co-operation with the Office of Student Affairs, according to an announcement by Mr. Robert H. Mueller, Director of SIU Libraries. Woody Hall also has a new library.

"The libraries were provided in order to accustom students to the idea that books should form an integral part of every home. To students, residence halls are their homes," Dr. Mueller says.

About 450 different titles have been selected for the three collections which will reside among the three halls. New books will be added to these libraries as additional funds become available.

The libraries include contemporary fiction, poetry, drama, biography, and popular nonfiction as well as material on religion, careers, marriage and sex education, psychology, art and homemaking.

Books were selected on the basis of student interest and will provide primarily recreational and inspirational reading, although popular educational books have not been ruled out. Most of the books have been purchased in inexpensive editions.

The libraries will be supervised by student attendants appointed by the residence counselors and serving on a voluntary basis without pay.

The following students have agreed to serve as library attendants during fall term: Laura Sinsley of Carterville, for Woody Hall, Willard Parley of Marion, for Anthony Hall, and Joe Smith of Edwardsville, for Men's Residence Hall.

Broadway Play On Campus Tomorrow Evening

"Lo and Behold," the first of three Broadway plays to be sponsored by Carbondale Kiwanis will be presented Saturday night in Shroyck auditorium, according to Dr.

William E. Shelton of the Education Department.

Written by the author of "South-Central's Homecoming play," "The Court-ous Savage," the play offers Wendell Hayes, best known for his performance of "Elywood P. Dowd in 'Harvey'" in one of the most delightful comic roles of his career. Hayes portrays an eminent, well-patched author who, tired of his enforced diet of lemon juice and toast, deliberately commits suicide by getting a rich dinner, in order that he may return and enjoy his comfortable home-a-a ghastly.

The title is derived from the password the fussy and imperious old writer means to use when he returns as a spirit to this world. When, as per schedule, he comes to haunt his old home, he is dismayed to find that a trio of other inhabitants of the spirit world have latched on to him and insist on coming along.

One is an acid-tongued Indian princess who was pushed off a cliff 70 years ago, and claims that she didn't jump at all, as claimed by the legend for tourists at that particular Lover's Leap. Another is a southern belle who dared, a jilted lover to shoot her on her wedding day, and was astounded when the cad took her date.

The plot derives from the fact that the invisible ghosts try to foster a romance between two attractive young people living in his home. They've attached themselves to a writer the old curmudgeon of a white tried to frustrate this "heaven-made" romance.

"The situation leads to many hilarious complications, due to the fact that the living characters, while influenced by the ghosts, cannot see or hear them. When it was first shown in New York it was described as whimsical, endearing and comic.

In addition to Wendell Hayes as the misanthropic author, Phyllis Manning and Phillip Morehead will be seen in New York in a young pair whose romance is the central interest of the play.

"Tickets for 'Lo and Behold' may be purchased at the Bursar's Office on campus. The price for reserved tickets is $2.40.

Single admission tickets will be $1.80.

Nuclear Scientist Gives Views On Atomic Warfare

The only way to survive an A-Bomb is not to be there when it goes off," Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, the freshest in assembly Wednesday, Dr. Lapp, well-known atom scientist, author, and lecturer gave an informative talk on atomic science.

Lapp told a little about his experiences, during the time he headed both the scientific groups at the atomic test at Bikini in 1946, and he also mentioned some of his books: "The New Fire," "Atom, War, Hide," and "Nuclear Radiation Physics." Speaking of the war years, Lapp told the audience that he had been at Oakridge and other plants at that time.

He discussed the military development in warfare, and he mentioned the fact that he was having a book published on that subject titled "Revolution in Warfare." Lapp told the history of development of atomic power and mentioned many scientists who had contributed to its development.

Lapp stated that the U. S. had been making not only bigger bombs, but also smaller ones that could be carried by both aircraft and missile. "Atom Bombs can now be made in size up to 10 times more powerful than the bombs of 1946," he said.

Concerning Russia and the A-Bomb the atom scientist said that it was very difficult to find out exactly how far along Russia was, but that he believed they had around 200 bombs. He said the United States stockpile was going up into the thousands at a rapid rate.

He ended his talk on the subject of defense, and he stated that our Civil Defense was "in a pretty sad shape," but he predicted that this would change shortly. Lapp also told the group that if the Soviets were to strike it was the conclusion of many who had studied the problem that only one out of six bombs would be shot down, and those who would be shot down, and those who would be shot down, and those who would be shot down.

Our Opinions

A Tradition Is Born

Those who saw the ceremony last week which introduced the new group, "The Keepers of the Belle," were curious, if not mystified. They were curious about who the Keepers were, and they wondered what all this ceremony meant.

Whether the onlookers realized it or not, they were witnessing the birth of a tradition. The tradition was to be based on a historic school bell and a secret organization of students who were to be the "Keepers."

This introductory ceremony looked relatively simple, but it had its complications from the beginning. Several ROTC members had the bitter experience, for the first time, of standing guard over the bell, in one-hour hitches, in the Student Union. The Keepers of the Belle made their appearance the following day at McAndrew Stadium, and range the bell for the benefit of all alumni, students and guests as Southern defeated Eastern in our Homecoming game. This appearance, like the first, seemed to go without difficulty.

The Keepers bore the bell off the football field after the game and left it in the Campus Police office, nearby. This seemed to take care of the problem of storing the bell safely until the next all-school affair. "But it didn't."

On Monday night, someone broke into the Campus Police office, removed the bell from its resting place, and carried it away, over the bell, in one-hour hitches, Anonymous phone calls were later received by both the Campus police and Carbondale police, offering "clues" about the disappearance of the bell. All of this caused a furor, as harsh words were exchanged and accusations were hurled in regard to who had taken the bell.

Finally, Campus Police Chief Joe Montgomery solved the mystery Wednesday when he located the bell in the McAndrew Stadium ticket booth, about 50 feet from the Campus Police office.

Who had taken the bell? Why had it been put there? Had it been "returned" or simply hidden there? Had the Keepers stolen it themselves? What did the anonymous note which was sent to Chief Montgomery mean? Nobody offered an answer to these questions, and the bell was quiet, too, as it was returned to Campus Police headquarters.

Mutual agreement seemed to have been reached, however, on the fact that it isn't easy to stay a tradition.

WOODY HALL promised to give a victory for Southern. The Shanghai Eastern and thus proved a victory for Southern. The Woody Hall float pictured above won first place in the women's division of the float competition.

SIG PI FRATERNITY, with a dead partner, won first place in men's float competition. Saturday.

St. Louis Symphony Gives Concert Tuesday

The St. Louis Symphony orchestra, one of the oldest and the finest in the U. S., will appear in a concert Nov. 10, in Shrock auditorium. The orchestra will appear at Southern under the auspices of the Carbondale Community Center organization; admission will be by season ticket or activity tickets.

The program will include "Chaconne" by Alvin, "Symphony No. 28" by Schu, the "Chour" (Bullfinch) by Prokofiev, "The Quiet City" by Aaron Copland, and "Dances from The Three-Cornered Hat" by de Falla. The orchestra will be under the direction of Vladimir Goldschman, Washington University in recognition of his contributions to culture in the St. Louis area. Deems Taylor, in ranking the orchestra among the top 10 nationally, attributed much of the group's success to the leadership of Goldschman.

Dick Hudson Trains and Grooms Southern's Mascot

Students can expect to see more of King Tut, Southern's Saluki mascot, this year. King Tut who is in his "junior year" at Carbondale, is now being groomed for public appearance by Dick Hudson, Southeastern freshman.

According to Glenn "Abn" Martin, Hudson came to him first of this term and volunteered his services to train and take care of the dog.

King Tut is three years old and was purchased when he was a pup from Mrs. Beulah Treavor of Farmington.

The saluki is "the royal dog of Egypt" it is bred that undoubtedly was known many decades before the birth of Christ. It is likely that whenever one reads the word "dog" in the Bible it refers to this remarkable creature.

"I'm training him for control and I've got to get the dog's confidence, which I haven't completely gotten yet," Hudson said, "So far the dog has

In point of academic service, Old Main is the oldest building on Southern Campus. In that noble edifice many enterprising, if not too bright, young aspirants for a B.S. or B. A. have tasted the bitter dregs of an E or D. But Old Main is not really Old Main and is not Southern's first academic building.

Hudson raises field trial champion English Setters, and also trains dogs for show, field and obedience. Hudson said, "I raise all my dogs without ever striking them. All my dogs obey me merely out of affection."

Hudson is a member of the American Kennel Club, and is taking subjects to become a veterinarian. He takes the dog to all the games and walks him around campus quite often.

"I'll be here for two years," Dick said, but I will train someone to take care of the Saluki when I leave. The only thing that bothers me is that I may become too attached to King Tut and not want to leave. He's getting to be like a personal friend."

Woody Hall Dedication Draws Many Visitors

Woody Hall, SIU's new women's dorm, was crowded with guests Sunday afternoon attending the first official open house.

This open house served as a dedication for the building. Named after Miss Lucy K. Woody, former Dean of Women, the dorm houses 422 girls.

Visitors were conducted through the building on tours to see individual rooms and lounges. Entertainment was provided in the lounges by residents of the hall.

The dedication of Woody Hall is an important event in the life of Southern Illinois University. It is the realization of the first step in a long range program for the improvement of physical facilities for student living and recreation for students of Southern," says the program printed for the dedication.

Said Dr. D. W. Morris, "In the pleasant and comfortable surroundings of Woody Hall where friendly counsel is offered by qualified personnel, we hope to provide a happy home for the largest group in Southern's rapidly growing family."

Two Brothers Come Half-Way Around The World To Attend SIU

By Richard Lee
Usually, one doesn't consider it strange that two members of a family are attending school at SIU; however, when one considers that two brothers have come almost half way around the world to school at Southern, it is thought of as something a little out of the ordinary. So it is with Fahmi and Farid Dabbah from Jordan. Fahmi who has been on the SIU campus for two years now, is majoring in chemical engineering. His younger brother, Farid, who joined him here this year, is planning to take a degree in mechanical engineering.

Farid has spent the past two years at the University of Cairo in Egypt, studying engineering. He received a scholarship to attend junior college in California this year, and had intended to do such, but he decided that it was too late to start class there. This, coupled with the fact that his brother was here, led him to pick Southern as his new school in America.

According to Farid, one of the strangest things in the United States is the long distance one may travel without leaving the country. In Jordan, he points out, if one travels over a few hundred miles he finds himself in another country and a few more hundred in still a different land.

Commenting upon some of the strange things a foreigner has to become accustomed to, Fahmi mentioned the custom which his people have of not drinking anything cold during the winter or during the rainy weather. He admits that he has not yet told his mother he now

Salukis To Tangle With Rolla Miners

Southern's Salukis, with the Eastern bacon safety, will try for their third victory of the season against the Miners from Missouri School of Mines.

Coach Bill O'Brien's Maroon and White team will be making their last home appearance of 1953 and they will be playing the Shriners benefit game.

THE INJURY-RIDDLED squad that took the field homecoming, will be in better shape this weekend as various battle scars have responded to treatment. Big Hank Warfield, who is coming along much better than expected and he should return to his earlier form. End Wayne Williams is still nursing some badly bruised ribs, but he will probably be in the starting lineup. Williams is the Salukis leading pass receiver, snagging 20 passes for 221 yards. He is also the team's leading scorer with 14 points.

Much of the Salukis success will depend upon the strong right arm of Quarterback Joe Huske. The Chicago senior has completed 40 of 89 attempts for 492 yards. He is presently leading the IAC in total offense with 524 yards in 105 tries. Huske hit 8 of 14 attempts in last week's homecoming contest with the Panthers.

SO FAR THIS SEASON Southern has been keeping stride with 1952 as they have won 2 and lost 4 games. Their record was 2-6 last year. The Salukis are holding fifth place in the IAC, having dropped three conference battles: 19-6 to Central Michigan, the league leader; 17-0 to Michigan Normal, number two IAC team; and a 27-20 decision to Illinois Normal. They have beaten Northern's Huskies 27-14 and Eastern 6-0. Their other loss was a 32-6 powdering at the hands of arch rivals, the Cape Indians.

After this final home game Friday Southern will take to the road for the two remaining contests with Washington University in St. Louis Nov. 14 and with the Leathernecks of Western at Macomb Ngr. 19 in the IAC finale.

Besides Huskie's performance in total offense Jack Schneider is the number three man in the IAC in rushing with 273 yards gained in 56 carries. Wayne Williams is second in pass receiving catching 20 heaves for 221 yards and two touchdowns.

SENIORS WHO WILL be playing their last game in McAndrew stadium are Leroy "Moose" Siville, widehead guard from Highland, who at 26 is the oldest runner in the squad. Leo Wilson, sticky-fingered end from Blue Island, would certainly like to get into the game but it is doubtful whether or not the team lineups in his ankle will be healed enough to go the entire game. Joe Wilson, speedy fullback, has fingered six passes this season for 105 yards.

JOE HUSKE will also make his last appearance before a home audience. Huske led the Salukis last year as captain and he has been the field general for the past three seasons.

Capt. Charlie Parker, the smallest lineman on the squad, will call the last flip of the coin as home captain Friday night. The Salem guard is turning his second varsity football letter this fall.

COACH O'BRIEN will probably start the following men: Williams and Smith at ends; Kalla and Johnson at tackles; Parker and Siville at guards; Bowers at center; Huske at quarterback; Schneider and Ernest at halfbacks; and Warfield, at fullback.

Game time is at 8 p. m.

CLIFF JOHNSON, South- has played in every game this year and is still going strong.

Conference Statistics

Quarterback Joe Huske, of SIU, is leading the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletes Conference in total offense with 524 yards gained in 105 plays.

Closely following Huske in the total offense department is Mighty Milt Kadlec of the Illinois Normal Redbirds with 487 yards in 76 plays. Number three is Chuck Miller of the league-leading Chipewas of Central Michigan who has gained 389 yards in 52 moves at the line.

Huske is also leading in the passing department with 46 passes complete out of 89 attempts for 492 yards and two touchdowns. West Bair of Illinois with 355 yards gained on 28 completions for 56 attempts, all good for six touchdowns. Bob Middlekauff is third with 20 completions in 42 tries for four touchdowns and 293 yards.

Kadlec and Miller are one-two in the rushing race and Southern's Jack Schneider has moved into the number three spot, picking up 273 and two TDs yards in 36 carries.

Nick Manych of Michigan Normal is the top passes receiver, grabbing off 11 aerials good for 258 yards and four touchdowns. Manych is closely followed by Wayne Williams of the Salukis with 20 catches, good for 221 yards and two TDs. Mike Reynolds of the Western Leathernecks, number three team in the IAC, is third in pass catching, spearing 10 for 176 yards and four touchdowns.

Reynolds is also the top scorer in the conference. He has punched over the enemy goal line four times in four games and added two extra points for 26 points. Manych and Bill Williams of Michigan Normal are next with 24 points a piece. Close on their heels are Jim York and Bob Rippenback of Illinois Normal with 18 points.

The Michigan Normal Huskies are the top defensive team. They have allowed opposing teams to gain 773 yards against them in four games, an average of 193.3 yards per game. The Huskies are also tops in the offense department, rolling up 1222 yards in four games for an average of 305.5 yards per game.

Many of the French settlers in Illinois left the region after it was occupied by the British in 1765 and settled in Missouri.

BIG HANK WARFIELD, field returned to school after a starting fullback for SIU. Warfield is a hitch in the army.

Sport Spiel

By Bob Poes

Glancing back over some former columns of this football year, I find that at first I was lamenting the fact that the SIU defense looked weak. It now looks like I'll have to reverse my field. The Saluki "hold that line" boys have tightened up considerably. Both on pass and running defense. In the past couple of games, they have done well on keeping the enemy outside the twenty. To a reasonable degree anyhow.

IN ORDER TO defeat the Rolla miners, the Southern team is going to have to sharpen up considerably. To say the least, they are going to have to be better than they were against Eastern. The Miners are going to give a lot of sharp team than Eastern did. A flurry of SIU punts against Rolla may well prove disastrous.

Let's take a look at the Saluki backfield. Huske is a good passer. He's fair on ball handling, although it is sometimes scarce to be a little off. His main problem, seems to me, to be lack of speed. His alternate, Gene Tahachi has speed but is a little small.

IN THE HALFBACK department, Schneider looms as one of the brightest spots in the entire Saluki backbench. He's a hard runner, fairly fast, and very shifty. Ernest, shows flashes of brilliance, but lacks the experience. Arrondelli does very well on defense but usually can't seem to click on offensively.

Warfield has had some fine days at full, but due to a sore leg is sometimes slowed down a lot. His alternate, Pitts, is another freshman who lacks the necessary experience.

As for offensive line work—they run hot and cold. Sometimes huge holes are torn in the other line. Sometimes, they let the other team in like a sieve. The SIU line, all in all, looks a lot better on defense than they do on offense.

IN MERLE JONES' column in the Southern Illinesian the other day I noticed he brought out the fact that SIU usually fields a far smaller squad than do their opponents. The first 14 or 15 men on the Maroon squad are pretty good sized. But from there on down there's a dearth of beef. What's the reason for this lack of depth? Well, as you probably know, there's no such thing as a football (or any other) scholarship at SIU. As long as this situation prevails, Southern will probably have a few good players. They'll also have a lot of no-hows ones.

IT'S BEEN ARGUED that some of the schools that usually beat SIU (Washington U. is the one usually mentioned) don't pay their players either. The answer to this is that the other schools are either located in a metropolitan area where they have a large group of athletes to draw from, or, they offer higher educational opportunities. Law degrees, Med. degrees, etc.

It's nice to say that our boys play for fun and the joy of it only. As long as it's cricket this the we'll probably have teams that aren't as good as they could be. I've got no axe to grind for the athletes, but I would like to see SIU field some championship teams.

IF YOU'VE BEEN going to SIU very long, you'll see a familiar face on the football field Friday night. He won't be an SIU player either. Val Gribble, star end for the Miners, is an old Saluki alum. He transferred to Rolla and is finishing out there. He is supposed to be the best wingman the Miners have.

Primas At Large

By Don Primas

The Crimson Tide of USC—University of Southern California—rolls on, undefeated, unscathed, and unscorched upon. They open the season tomorrow against the Peam Street Corncopticks.

Mike Hachett, the pessimistic mentor of the Crimson Tide, declares his team hasn't got one chance in a million of winning. As he says, "Yeah, we got lots of good material this year—new shirts, patched pants, and retarded socks."

Hachett has 11 lettermen returning from last year, and three more are up for parole. He was counting heavily on Sam Goop, all conference water boy last year, but Goop is now in the county jail, waiting to be hanged.

The starting line up will probably show Mike Trachid and Phil Phlozet at the ends. Both boys have sticky fingers; in fact, they shared the same cell during a recent sojourn.

Intramural Sport Dope

By Bob Smith

In last week's article, I mentioned that basketball season for the Intramurals is coming up soon. If any of you have your teams lined out and are looking for some place to practice, it would be a good idea to see Mr. Wilkerson and schedule a practice time for your team. These practice sessions will be held in the gym. He is the one to see for all your problems concerning this season's scheduling.

Practices will begin Dec. 7. However, it would be a wise idea to see him before this time and be sure of getting a regularly scheduled practice period.

Intramural wrestling squads are also being formed. The 163-pound class. Lou in Old Main. Return to Janet Cook, junior. Woody Hall, room C-227, Ph. 1650.

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN

We're not so formal any more. We're casual as can be. But we know, just like everyone else, that L.S.M.F.T.!

Mary Ann Schaeferman, Colorado State College

Joe grumbled, "Guess I'll never find this cigarette I like." Till he found me and good taste combined. Sold him on Lucky Strike!

Philip Angus Cutting, Tufts College

I can't rate like Cicero... My salesmanship lacks pressure. But Luckies sell themselves because they're cleaner, smoother, fresher!

Sandra Moshman, Columbia University

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey—based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges—shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason? Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better—for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

Where's your jingle? It's easier than you think to make $25 by writing a Lucky Strike jingle like those you see in this ad. Yes, we need jingles—and we pay $25 for every one we use! So send as many as you like to: Happy-Glad, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y.
