24-hour access to Morris Library was made official Monday by Library Affairs Dean Carolyn Snyder and several others involved in the project.

"We opened the first floor quietly last night and some students just stayed..." - Carolyn Snyder, Library Affairs Dean

Library users will be able to park in Lot 6 north of the Library during extended hours provided they have a parking decal of any color but green; they have a valid ID card and a valid ID card reader. The library will be closed at 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Most facilities and services of the first floor and the circulation desk will be available to patrons, but those will not include transactions involving money, including paying fines or purchasing materials from the Self Instruction Center.

Access to the library will be restricted to students, faculty and staff and holders of library cards. Valid ID cards will be needed for entry.

"We're pretty excited," Snyder said. "We're pretty excited, we're all happy." The announcement to open the floor at 11 p.m. came after several delays. After proposing this summer to open the first floor: full-time Sundays through Fridays, the plan was postponed in late August to open only during the ordering and installing of security equipment and staffing of additional staff.

The library announced plans this summer to close all floors but the first floor at 11 p.m. Security measures such as special locks, panic bars, key locks, and ID scanners were ordered to ensure the project would be feasible. The library also hired additional staff to work the extra hours on the first floor, providing assistance at the reserve desk and in equipment use. Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Provost John Jackson said he was proud of the effort.

Despite the delays, Jackson said the opening showed how the University "has worked to ensure the project would be feasible." He also expressed his appreciation for the "extra effort" by the staff.

"The winner, I think, is going to be the undergraduate students and the faculty," Snyder said. "People can come here now with work at night, and they have access to as much material as they need. That's why we're all here." The announcement to open the floor at 11 p.m. came after several delays. Police Blotter

CARBONDALE

- A Carbondale resident reported that his vehicle was broken into between 10:45 p.m. Saturday and 10:15 a.m. Sunday in the 1200 block of East Grand Avenue. The victim reported that someone entered his vehicle by breaking the passenger’s side window and took a trunk-type gun and compact disc. Carbondale Police have no suspects in the incident, and loss is estimated at $1,500.

- At 7:19 a.m. Sunday, the owner of Bloomington Auto Body Shop, 710 N. Washington St., reported that the tires were removed from two vehicles, and police said there were no signs of forced entry. Police have no suspects and there is no estimated loss in the incident.

- At 8:10 a.m. Sunday, a 24-year-old withdrawing $1,200 at Bank of America was stopped on Meador Hill Road. Uints passed a cash band and he was released.

UNIVERSITY

- A vehicle was broken into between 11:30 a.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. Saturday while it was parked in the 700 block of East Grand Avenue. The victim reported that someone broke into the truck and removed a book bag, pens and a calculator. Loss in the incident is estimated at $1.50.

- Kevin Davis, 27, of Carbondale was arrested at 12:34 a.m. Friday along Creek Road on a charge of having a concealed gun in his vehicle. University Police were interrogating Davis about another incident when they found the gun. Davis was taken to Johnson County Jail pending an appearance before a judge.

- An SUC faculty member reported that a laptop computer was stolen between Oct. 27 and Wednesday along Century Link, University Police have no suspects in this incident.

Corrections

In the Oct. 14 issue of the Daily Egyptian article titled “Faculty Senate passes raise resolution” a quote which read the administration of raises were “a slap in the face” to the faculty should have been attributed to Assistant Professor Mark Schneider. The Daily Egyptian regrets this error.

Professors\' death a loss to University

DEVOTED: Russian language instructor remembered for dedication to family, students.

Rory Knight

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS (policy)

Molly Edwards never wanted to accept the teaching job at SIU. She wanted a two-year vacation. But her tragic death has left the college community in shock and grief.

Molly was a fixture in the department of foreign languages and literature. Her death is a great loss to the university and to the students who were her students. The university community is struggling to come to terms with her untimely death and the emotional impact it has had on everyone. The university is providing counseling services to help those who are affected.

Molly Edwards received her M.A. in Russian linguistics from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1992. She was known for her passion for the Russian language and her dedication to teaching.

She is survived by her husband, Bob Edwards, who is also a professor at the university, and her two children, a son and a daughter. The family is receiving support from their community and friends.

Josef L. Ihiten

DAILY EAGLE REPORTER

Now Black Fire Dancers member Toni Nelson will perform for the first time at this week's Black Affairs Council Leadership Conference, scheduled from Nov. 5 to Nov. 7.

Nelson, who has not danced in the past, is excited about moving the crowd and hopes to help them experience the energy of the dancers. The Black Fire Dancers are known for their unique style and have been invited to perform at many events. Their performances are a source of entertainment for SIUC students and they participate in numerous radio and television programs.

Inspiring tomorrow's leaders

MOTIVATION: Black Leadership Conference prepares students for future.

Joseph T. Runey

DAILY EAGLE REPORTER

The Ninth Annual Black Leadership Conference is scheduled for Nov. 5 and 6, with sessions focusing on leadership development, social justice, and community service.

The conference is open to all students and aims to provide students with the essential tools to become leaders in the rapidly changing world of the new millennium.

The conference features several keynote speakers, including the President of Logan University, who will speak on the theme of "Leadership in the 21st Century." The keynote speakers will cover various topics, including leadership, social justice, and community service.

The conference also includes workshops and seminars on topics such as leadership development, social justice, and community service.

The conference has been well-received in the past, with attendees reporting that the sessions were informative and inspiring.

Carbondale man arrested after firing shots into forest

Randy Fritts

Carbondale Police arrested an armed man Saturday evening after he was seen firing a gun into a forest near Overton Street.

Brock Calhoun, 17, of Carbondale was charged with reckless discharge of a firearm at 6:15 p.m. after the man reported that he was firing shots into a forest near the Carbondale Middle School.

Calhoun was at a party near to his residence when a Carbondale Police officer said. Residents reported he fired between six and nine shots.

Calhoun was taken to Jackson County Jail Saturday evening.

Get out and punch a ballot today.

Voting gives citizens a way to be part of the political process and is the easiest and most effective way to influence public policy. Sadly, it is a gift that too many of us take for granted. Overall, as a society, we trust and assume that government will work efficiently and effectively, but we do very little to ensure that it properly addresses our needs and demands.

The DAILY EGYPTIAN encourages all registered voters to go to the polls and vote today. As U.S. citizens, we are not only our privilege to vote, but also our patriotic duty.

On this election day, our votes can make a difference and bring real change to the University and Southern Illinois. Students concerned about issues such as technology and financial aid should make their voices heard at the polls.

The only problem is that a majority of college students do not participate in the political process. Studies have shown that older voters turn out in election day. They are going to vote for their issues — usually ignoring the needs and demands of students. Why? Because they are more concerned with issues that hit close to home, such as health-care and taxes.

Students already have witnessed that their vote can make a difference. In the 1997 City Council election, students showed up to the polls and voted for candidates that they thought would best represent them.

Changes in the bureaucracy and taxing fees were results of student participation in the political process.

Southern Illinois students also can use this election to give their region a voice in Springfield. Key victories could change the leadership within the General Assembly and provide Southern Illinois representatives a chance to stay from trimming the party line.

Imagine that — the democratic process serving its intended purpose of working for constituents instead of party leaders...

Students and citizens alike should study the campaign platforms of the candidates and consider the issues that affect them. If you are unsure about where a candidate stands on issues, you can refer to recent issues of the EGYPTIAN. Our election graphics for the gubernatorial and local races will help you understand the issues on these candidates.

Read, study and analyze this election. Make informed decisions and vote for what you believe in. Ignorance and apathy are not synonyms for excuse and fail.

Kudos for the story on Shepard vigil

Dear Editor,

Kudos to Angie Royer for her coverage of the vigil for Matthew Shepard Tuesday, October 21. I wasn’t able to attend, but someone told me that Kendra Sweeney said truth be told is one aspect in the victim’s life which they have to accept and give up.

It made me think how when an alcoholic is present over alcoholic takes a family of six, we don’t even want to think it up. It’s my opinion that Matthew Shepard probably tried to be “normal” it one way or another. Another reason I wanted to write and thank the EGYPTIAN.

The EGYPTIAN is wrong about Rainbow

Dear Editor,

The Current section of the Oct. 21 DAILY EGYPTIAN regarding the Rainbow Gathering (“Welcome Home”) was seriously misquoted. The article depicted the Rainbow Gathering as a positive, healthy event.

This is WRONG, people.

The Rainbow Gathering is in no way a positive event for anyone. Allow me to explain exactly what is wrong with Rainbow.

For all of the very times that people are hit, this is the logical place to put those hit. They are not there for the love of anyone. They are not there to fight for their lives, but to fight for their lives. People who are productive members of society fight for those people. The world of the working people is a world of the working people, who are not there to fight for their lives, but to fight for their lives. The world of the working people is a world of the working people, who are not there to fight for their lives, but to fight for their lives.

Lastly, these people are DOPE. A lot of waste, above, rich kids join Rainbow because they get high, hard when they smoke the marijuana. We need to go to drug counseling. These criminals need to get law enforcement before they de-yaye taxes and have no place of residence.

DO NOT under any circumstances, give Rainbow taxes, money or attention, or do not encourage people to join Rainbow. The only way to get high is to get some of their brains on drugs and put them in a taller place. The world of the working people is a world of the working people, who are not there to fight for their lives, but to fight for their lives.

Brief letters to the editor are accepted. Letters must be two typed, double-spaced or handwritten pages. Please include a phone number for verification. Members of student organizations may submit letters together, with the group backing their position. All members must include position and department. All letters must include author’s name. All letters are limited to 150 words and must be signed. The Daily Egyptian reserves the right to edit letters.

ATTENTION

We have changed our letters to the editor policy. The EGYPTIAN now accepts letters by fax (453-8244) and e-mail (editor@siu.edu). All letters must include a phone number.

EGYPTIAN endorses incumbent sheriff

The DAILY EGYPTIAN would like to endorse Democrat Bill Kilquist for sheriff of Jackson County. We appreciate his no-nonsense approach to law enforcement. He is not afraid to take a risk to do what he can to protect citizens and punish criminals. For example, he has stopped Jackson County funded medical visits for prisoners and requires prisoners to spend their own money for medical trips.

Kilquist has the necessary experience in dealing with students and the community. The EGYPTIAN also appreciates Kilquist’s unique perspective on the Southern Illinois prison industry and the problems that accompany it. He takes the concerns of the citizens very seriously and has a proven record in investigations and resolving conflicts. He is the right man for the job.

The Edwards family was deeply affected by the passing of their beloved Bob, and the University community has come together to honor his memory in a variety of ways. The Edwards family, led by Joan O'Brien, has been a pillar of support for the family during this difficult time.

The family has established a memorial fund to support the University Core Curriculum, and the University has created a scholarship in Bob's name to help students continue their education. The family has also worked with neighbors, church members, and local community groups to provide support and comfort during this time.

The Edwards family has been involved with the community for many years, and they have always been a team. They have supported each other through thick and thin, and they have always been there for each other. The Edwards family is a true example of what it means to be a close-knit family.

Workshop a no show

Although racism, sexism and alienism are issues which need to be confronted by students at SIUC, workshops discussing these problems are often ignored.

Don Mullison and Roy Joy, staff psychologists at the Counseling Center, said students who were supposed to be filled by participants from both sides, were low. Mullison canceled when no SIUC students attended.

"All These laptops," was designed to make students aware of the different perspectives from people with various backgrounds and give them tips on cross-group communication.

Poshard factor could help democrats

COATTAILS:

Democratic candidates count on Chicago and Southern Illinois voters.

SARA BEAM

Democratic candidates in Southern Illinois could count on today, a local political analyst says, thanks to strong support for Democratic gubernatorial candidates Glenn Poshard.

"There is a lot of enthusiasm in Southern Illinois for Glenn Poshard," said Mike Lawrence, associate director of the SIU Public Policy Institute. "His supporters will turn out regardless of the weather, and many of those people were only voting Democracy. If forecasts of rain throughout much of the state may dampen voter participation at the polls.

"Lawrence said the challenge for Republican candidates in Southern Illinois is to counteract the strong Democratic support with solid turnout from their own supporters. Poshard is pit against Republican George Ryan in the race for governor of Illinois.

"Statewide polls have shown that a mix of Democratic and Republican voters across the country, and the fact that Poshard is running against Republican George Ryan in the race for governor of Illinois.

"Statewide polls have shown that a mix of Democrats and Republicans are split on the candidates, and believe their grassroots efforts will prove successful. Republican Peter Fitzgerald is the challenger likely to win the seat.

the injury in October, but did not return to practice until late in the season. He had been penciled in as the starting center for the 1998 season.

"I'm not supposed to get caught up in this game," Murphy said. "I'm just going to try to get a lot of respect for me after the game." So if he reaches 2,000, will Carpenter's 1998 campaign be the best in conference history?"Form a union to compete itself with the other guys," Carpenter said. "But mentally, to be a running back, you've got to think you're the best to be a good back anyway."

Carpenter was named the All-American Game MVP in 1996. Carpenter also has 389 yards shy of Western Illinois University's 1997 Gateway last total of 1,597 yards. And 43 more carries will break Illinois State's Tombo Davis' conference record for attempts (341) in a season.

"But nothing would please another in the magical feast of 2,000 yards in a season," Carpenter said. "I'm definitely going to try to."

So if he reaches 2,000, will Carpenter's 1998 campaign be the best ever in conference history?"For me, I'm just trying to get out on the field and run the ball," Carpenter said. "But mentally, to be a running back, you've got to think you're the best to be a good back anyway."

CROSS COUNTRY: Men finish fourth, women eighth at MVC Championships.

RON ALLIN
DAILY ELEUTHERAN REPORTER

The Missouri Valley Conference Cross Country Championships are history.
But that does not mean MVC teams can stop worrying about SIUC runners. The Saluki men's team gave it their all but came up just 10 points shy of winning the MVC Championship, finishing fourth at the Championships in Forts Saturday.
Coach Bill Cornell knew the meet would be tightly contested.
Before the race, he said he felt his team could finish anywhere from fifth to sixth. This was certainly the case. Indiana State University won the MVC title with a score of 68, while three teams - Illinois State University (71), Drake University (72), and SIUC (78) - were in contention the entire race.

Cornell was corrected in his prediction of a tight race, but that did not erase the bitterness of disappointment of coming so close.
"I'm never encouraged unless we win the championship," he said. "We didn't even think about breaking 25th, but the MVC title with a score of 68, while three teams - Illinois State University (71), Drake University (72), and SIUC (78) - were in contention the entire race.

The Salukis surprised Smith's immediate worry about SIUC's runners.
Cross Country Championships are, according to Smith, "the worst news I've heard all season, according to Smith. And the SIUC said before the MRI results?"

Junior running back Karlton Carpenter (33), breaks through the opposition for a few of his 2,859 yards this season.
Carpenter is now the all-time leader at SIUC in rushing yards, surpassing Burum Gods's 1,197-year-old mark.

INJURY: Courtney Smith's immediate future lies in result of Monday's MRI test.

PAUL WALKLING
DAILY ELEUTHERAN REPORTER

SIUC Women's Basketball Guard Courtney Smith underwent magnetic resonance imaging Monday night after suffering a torn anterior cruciate ligament to her right knee in practice last Wednesday.

Smith's status for the remainder of the season was unknown as of press time and will be released today. First-year coach Julie Beck's anxious to see if Smith will need surgery.
"I don't have any information right now," Beck said Monday before the MRI. "Of course, I'm extremely upset whenever any of my players goes down with an injury." Smith, a sophomore, was injured during an attempt to steal the ball from senior guard Jessie Phillips during a scrimmage. Phillips drove for the loose ball and landed on Smith's right ankle.
"My ankle went one way, and my knee went out the other way," Smith said. "My ankle hit first, and that's what I thought it was when I went down. Then I felt my knee, and that's not my ankle. Then I knew that my knee was a little more serious."

Everything happened in slow motion, according to Smith, and the pain was sharp and excruciating. Her knee is immobilized and she has been on crutches since Thursday.
"From behind, it looked like she was fighting through a serious and life-threatening case scenario," Beck said. "I don't have any information right now." Beck added Monday before the MRI.
