Dr. Kesar to Present 'The Messiah'

Forty-seven students are enrolled in the graduate school this fall and 21 of this number are Carbondale residents, the Registrar's office announces this week.

Members of the graduate committee, which heads the graduate school, include President Chester P. Lay, Dr. Eugene R. Fair, Dr. Henry C. Rehn, Dr. Willis G. Stearns, Dr. William Schneider, Dr. Thomas F. Barton, Dr. Harold Briggs, Dr. William M. Gorsbach, Dr. John R. Mayard, Dr. Bruce W. Newlin, Dr. J. W. Neckers, Dr. Vera M. Pasceck, and Dr. Fred R. Ragdale.

The graduate faculty included 21 other instructors who have earned doctor's degrees.

First student over to graduate from this new school at Southern was Arthur Madison Smith, who attained his master of science in education degree at commencement exercises in 1945.

Dr. Mauritz Kesar, chairman of music department, has announced that plans are now underway for a huge all-Southern Illinois presentation of the oratorio, "The Messiah".

The production, to be presented early in December, will be under the direction of Dr. Kesar and will be given with the hope that it will be the first of an annual series of like musical performances.

The mixed choir and orchestra will be made up of musicians from all over Southern Illinois. The first choir practice will be held on Wednesday evening, October 16, in the Little Theatre, and the first mixed orchestra rehearsal will be held October 24, in Shroyek Auditorium.

All musicians interested in performing in the "Messiah" are urged to attend the meetings. Several organized musical groups in Southern Illinois have been invited to participate in this production, and Dr. Kesar announced that the Egyptian Orchestra of West Frankfort has already accepted.

Also engaged for the performance will be outstanding soloists chosen from the concert series. Dr. Kesar himself will direct the orchestra, while the choir will be under the direction of Floyd V. Wakeland, associate professor of voice. Rehearsals will be held every Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

MISSING: SOUTHERN KNIGHTS

By Richard Jackson. "Just where are the Southern Knights?" I heard that question recently, and became very much interested in this old Southern organization, I would like to present some enlightening details about it.

The Southern Knights were founded three or four years prior to world war II by two former faculty members, Dr. Louis C. Gledhill of the education department, and Mr. Allan Bone of the art department. Dr. Gledhill was the first sponsor, while Mr. Bone was the second and last sponsor of the colorful organization.

Yes, the Southern Knights were colorful, but they were not in the light of the many jobs they did. As some of their duties, they met trains of incoming celebrities to Southern, ushered at school functions, were in charge of entertainments, and homecoming hosts. Their motto was "Service to Southern."

Although the Knights were shrouded in semi-darkness, they had an informal relation to the Sphinx Club, according to Dr. Charles Tenney, administrative assistant to the president.

MUSEUM STAFF PRINTS PAMPHLET

As an experiment the University museum staff has published a new pamphlet entitled Our Museum, which is designed to assist those students and faculty members who go to see the many valuable collections which the museum has on display.

Editor and artist of the publication is Loraine Waters, with Doris Moran, assistant artist, and Verma Lee Shannon, assistant editor. Curator of history is the museum's director, John W. Allan.

In the pamphlet are several interesting articles which analyze the different collections and tell the story of the history connected with them. The articles tell of Southern Illinois' scenic beauty or explain some pioneer craft, such as candle-making.

The number of pamphlets is limited to 500 copies. They have, however, been distributed throughout different buildings in the school, and anyone who wishes to receive one should be able to find a copy.

CAT SOLVES MEAT SHORTAGE

By Paul Williams and Rod Kraatz

A very excited young lady bounded into the Carbondale dining hall yesterday with a mouse for the benefit of all. "Here's a cat having kittens in front of Old Science!" A pre-med jumped up, grabbed a coke glass of hot water and a paper napkin, and ran madly in the direction of Old Science.

We arrived all out of breath only to be faced by bitter disappointment. The cat wasn't having kittens; she was merely having a mouse.

As I looked at the people around us my disappointment faded. Here was drama, here was tragedy, here was excitement, here was a solution to the meat shortage for a Carbondale resident, and here was Bob Friedman selling chairs on the outcome. (Will the person who had the cat in the third place please contact Mr. Friedman.)

These are original prints and are educational because they explain various processes used in arts, such as wood cut, wood engraving, etching, dry point, aquatint, and linocut.

This exhibit is supplemented by two groups of wood cuts circulated by the Pan American union and consists of 23 prints by Eduardo Kingham of Ecuador and 10 woodcuts by Francisco Amighetti of Guatemala. These two men often create in style of composition and subject matter. Kingham places emphasis on the dramatic qualities of subject. He has a very vigorous style, which is especially well suited to the wood cutting technique.

Francisco Amighetti is attracted by the decorative quality of his subject. His work is composition is more subtle in effect than that of Kingham.

Letters to the Editor

Through this column we invite students, faculty, and friends of Southern to express your ideas. We must know the source of any article, but we will withhold your name if you wish it, and we retain the right to withhold any material that would violate the ethics of journalism and freedom of the press.

And of course, the whole question of campus elections brings out that old semi-annual complaint, why don't more of the students vote? In the past, it was quite possible to become a student president or one of the student council representatives on the vote of considerably less than 10 per cent of one's classmates.

Fortunately, the condition of unequal educational opportunities is no confined solely to the South. It exists in a marked degree in other regions of our country as well. One may confirm this fact by even most casual inspection of the high school systems provided for the white and colored students here in Carbondale.

Love, Hopeless Love by JOE MCGOVERN

The American woman is the most spoiled person on earth. She holds an invisible rod which makes any success of her husband waver. Her husband is indeed her vessel, and she includes among her God-given rights her spouse's labors to lavish luxuries upon her mortal stature.

To Which We Answer by JELLY LARSON and GERRY EDMISON

Our faith in American men will not allow us to believe that the previously expressed attitude is foreign among them. If it is, they deserve to marry dummies or foreign automatons. The average man has modern ideas and is willing to recognize his wife's intelligence and ability.

Dear Editor: There were several misleading statements in The Southern's Parades last week which I think need clarifying.

Love, Hopeless Love by JOE MCGOVERN

The American woman has desecrated the institution of marriage and she has done so by doing. She is the author's most zealous proponent of the theory that as a woman's privileges are increased, society is automatically bettered. Her views of marriage illustrate this theory most aptly.

Why, the American man may even settle down with the Inters of Bikini. But, you needn't be surprised, you lovable American girls, for after all the American man would be better off if he married a dummy.

LEARN TO FLY! YOUR FRIENDS ARE LEARNING TO FLY—WHY DON'T YOU?

There is a lot of good flying weather during the fall months. Come out and let us show you how easy it is to learn. Each of our instructors are fully licensed and each has thousands of hours of safe instruction to their credit.

The Lynxes have shown considerable improvement since their tilt with Gorham, which has one of the best high school teams in the state. The Lynxes' fielding was poor in this game, but Coach Bridges reports that this department of the team's play has sharpened up considerably. The difficulty of scheduling games has hampered the U. High boys' host of the high schools playing baseball this fall have their schedules filled with league games.

SINU Opponents

The result of last Saturday's game with Cape Girardeau is significant considering the fact that Cape has already met two of the teams which appear on Southern's schedule later in the season, in her first two contests of the year. The Evansville Aces, who lost to the Southern Indians to a scoreless tie in mid-September, entertain the Martinian November 9. The fact that they held Cape's strong running attack in check indicated that the Aces have defense of a superior quality; however, since they scored no points themselves, their offensive attack can perhaps be rated as being slightly weaker than that of the Southerner's, who counted two touchdowns against Cape.

A few conclusions can also be drawn about Arkansas State, which fell before Cape's attack on September 27, 8 to 0. Like Evansville College, the Arkansas defense can be rated above their offense. It should be noted that when Southern shock GENE STOTLAR loose last Saturday's game, Cape's goal line was crossed for the first time this season. On the basis of comparative scores, which are of questionable value in forecasting future games, Southern state stronger than both Evansville and Arkansas.

Last Friday night the Northern Teachers of DeKalb settled an old score with the Eastern Teachers of Charleston by tying them back decisively, 26 to 0, in the first round of IUAC play. Last year Eastern knocked DeKalb out of the conference championship in a late season contest with a surprise 19 to 14 victory. Evidently the Northerners are all geared up to get Eastern in a big way this season and in doing so they stepped into the conference lead and established themselves as a strong contender for the title this year. Their total of 75 points marked up in two tilts indicates a very strong running and passing attack. COACH MARTIN'S Southerners will be faced with the problem of stopping that attack in their last game this season, on November 16, at Carbondale.

Southern In Quest of First IIAC Victory at Normal; Red Birds 1945 Champs

By JOHN S. HENDLEMAN

With one win and one loss the Maroon and White Martinmen travel to Normal, Illinois, this week for their annual conference contest with the highly-touted State Normal Red Birds, Saturday, October 10.

Southern takes the field with a win over Kirksville, 6-0, and a loss to Cape Girardeau, 20-13. State Normal has two victories and one loss. They opened their season with a loss to Indiana State and then bounced back with a 10-0 win over Michigan State and last Saturday won on the heavy end of a 38-0 score in their game with the DePaul Tigers of Graceland, Illinois.

Normal took the conference championship last year, although they suffered a defeat at the hands of Southern, 33-19. Their team this year is studied with class from last year's squad, along with gridlers of past years. A total of 29 lettermen took the field for pre-season practice.

Line Play Highlighted
The line has been highlighted by Aldo Sebina, senior center, and Walt Lillis, junior tackle. Dick Bairdin, freshman, and Louie Baker, rifle-passing sophomore, have been pacing the line.

Normal will take the field to avenge their last year's defeat at the hands of Southern, and Southern will be pointing for the conference crown, which the Red Birds gained by a small margin over the Maroons last year.

Southern came out of the clash with Cape in good physical shape. "Cotton" Cosgrove suffered a so-

Maroons Drop 20-13 Tilt To Cape Girardeau

By BOB CURTIS

Southern's Maroons went down in defeat before the powerful Indians from Southeast Missouri State College of Cape Girardeau last Saturday at MacArthur Stadium by a score of 20 to 13. Cape scored their first touchdown late in the first quarter, added two more early in the third, and then fought off Southern's last minute bid for victory.

Cape's ground offense was too strong for the Maroons, and the vicious Illinois line continually putting Southern backs before the ball had a chance to break out. Cape's defensive gains. For almost three quarters the Cape Girardeau line held the Maroons completely in check and much of the time the Southerners were backed up near their own goal line. So completely did the visitor's line dominate play in the first half that Southern lost more yards from scrimmage than they gained on running plays.

Cape scored first in the initial quarter when Herb Halbert went over from the nine yard line on an off tackle smash. This was all the scoring in the first half, but the second half had hardly started when Halbert scored twice more, once from the one foot line and once from the five yard line. Soon after Cape had forced over their touchdown, the score was 12-0. Don Greath, Southern quarterback, started from his own 25, cut off right tackle, reversed his field, and raced all the way for a touchdown.

The final score of the game came late in the fourth quarter, when Southern started a deadly passing offensive from their own 14 yard line that scored six straight points from Bill Malinsky's placement in the end zone.

However, too much time had passed and before the Maroons gained control of the ball again the game was over.

Halbert Receives
Halbert's brilliant halfback, back, received the opening kick-off. But on the next play he fumbled and Southern recovered on Cape Girardeau's 35.

Southern was unable to advance the ball and Cape took over on downs. They started a march down field which reeled off three consecutive first downs before the Southern line stiffened and held the ball on their own 31. Two tries at the line by Malinsky and Beltz netted only two yards. Malinsky then fudged to pass but could not find a receiver and was thrown for a 10 yard loss to the 20 yard line.

On the next play Malinsky stepped back to kick, but the pass from center was bad, and before he could get it away he was swarmed under on the nine yard line. That was the fourth down, so Cape Girardeau gained possession of the ball.

After the first two plays had netted nothing, Halbert drove through the line for the touch down. Brudabaker, the visitor's right guard, tried for the extra point, but his kick was wide of the goal posts.

Stollar Returns Kickoff
Stollar returned Brudabaker's kickoff 11 yards to Southern's 25. George Beltz picked up two yards, and then Caluffetti added ten more for the first down. The quarter ended as Bill Malinsky picked up one yard on an off tackle effort.

To open the second quarter, Malinsky ran across the midfield stripe to the Cape 48 on a 14-yard gain. Stollar flipped a short pass to Sam Milosevich for six yards, but here the Maroon offense bogged down, and Stollar kicked out of bounds at the Cape 17. On the next play Anderson, the Cape Girardeau fullback, quick-kicked to the Maroon 36 where the ball rolled down.

Dick Seelman fumbled for Southern, and Cape recovered on the 40. A pass by Anderson was incomplete, but two efforts by Halbert netted a first down on the 44. A nine yard gain by Griffith was nullified by a fumble, and two plays later Halbert again broke loose. This time he fought his way to the Maroon six yard line where he fumbled and

It looked as though last Saturday afternoon was going to be another of THOSE afternoons when Southern fans have very little to cheer about. In fact, for just about three-fourths of the contest, it was just that. Then suddenly the Maroons seemed to get a shot by the arm. The line began to drive; the pass started to click, and the running attack gained momentum. Up to that time, the game had been a dismal affair for local rooters, with Cape generally able to go down the field at will. However, the Southerners put on the steam and stopped Cape's attack "colder than a night watchman's lunch."

On the prep front—Champaign and East St. Louis still remain undefeated. This week Champaign tangles with Danville, while East St. Louis opens conference play with Collinsville.

On the local front—Carbondale Community at Chester, Murphboro at Herrin, Da Quoin at Anna-Jonesboro, Elkhive at Pincinyville.

On the professional front—Chicago's Football Bears entertain Los Angeles' Champion Rams on Sunday in what should be one of the top games of the pre-season. It will pit such Bear stars as George McPhee against Ram's stalwart, Bob Waterfield.

On the Collegiate Front—After our success last week in picking a football winner, we are encouraged enough to make two choices

Other pass, Stollar to Greath, was incomplete for no gain. Malinsky then faked back and threw a long pass to Sam Milosevich which was good for 29 yards to the Cape 15. On the next play, another pass by Malinsky was complete in the end zone to Don Greath. O'Brien's kick was good for the extra point. The game ended with Cape in possession of the ball at midfield.

The right tackle on Southern's football team this year is a gentleman named Jeff Mitchell. He was born in Christopher, Illinois, and is 25 years old. If you are interested in figures, he is five feet, 11 inches in height, and weighs in at 190 pounds, which the way is very evenly distributed.

He attended school at Zeigler, Illinois, for 12 years, prior to his entrance here at Southern. While in high school, he played football for three years and was also member of the track team as a javelin thrower. In his senior year, 1939, he was chosen for the right tackle position on the Central Egyptian Conference team.

This is his seventh year of competitive football. The three years at Zeigler plus four here at Carbondale account for the seven years of football he has played in physical education but is uncertain about teaching after graduation. Mitchell saw service with the United States marines for three years, two of which were spent overseas.

Jim Lovin is the other tackle on the Maroon squad, and he is from Benton, Illinois. He stands five feet, ten inches and weighs 190 pounds. "Baldie," as he was known in high school, went to school all 12 years in Benton. In 1943, his senior year, a very high honor was bestowed upon him. He was chosen as one of the tackle on the All-State football team.

During his last two years at Benton high school, he was picked for the Big Seven Conference team. A bright future in football is this one, who is a freshman and only 20 years old. His major is physical education, and he plans to coach after graduation. Jim is single and a navy reserve veteran of two years with service in both theaters of warfare.

Myron Schuster is the third and last player to be introduced this week. He is from Murphboro, Illinois, and like the other two is also a lineman on the football squad. Myron is 25 years old, stands five feet, ten inches and weighs the scale at 190 pounds.

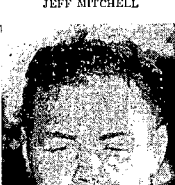

All his previous high school football was at Murphboro. He played football in high school for four years and is in his third year of football here, making one major letter for 1942. In high school he also played on the basketball team for three years, and was picked for a tackle position on the first team of the Big Eleven Conference in 1938.

Mr. "Knobby" is a junior and is majoring in physical education, and like Jim, plans to coach after graduation. The army air force took up four years of his time, a year and a half of this being spent in over-seas duty.
