HOME COMING IS UNDER WAY

YOUR GUESS IS AS GOOD AS OURS

Top Five Queen Nominees Chosen; Fleming and Tucker Elected Attendants

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

Due to press breakdowns and other mechanical difficulties, the Egyptian, scheduled to appear Thursday at noon, could not make its appearance until today.

In order to place at least a part of the paper in your hands, we issued the feature section, printed earlier this week, late last night.

Because of the difficulties, we could not publish so large and so elaborate a homecoming edition as we had formerly planned. —THE EDITORS.

Top five candidates for the 1948 queenship, as elected by popular student vote, were announced to the student body in an assembly Wednesday morning in Shryock auditorium.

The girls are: Betty Bain of Carbondale, Emma Douglas of Osage, Nada Kaulzlarich of Christopher, Phyllis Johnson of DuQuoin and Patricia Rose of Carbondale.

Also presented were the two queen attendants, Ann Fleming of Johnston City and Charlotte Tucker of East St. Louis.

Betty Bain, a 19-year-old junior, is physical education major, a member of Phi Kappa Sigma and vice-president of the student council. Last year she served as secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class.

The Chairman

EMMA DOUGLAS

Emma Douglas, a senior, is 21, and a kindergarten primary major. She is a senior member of the student council and vice-president of Girls Rally. She lives at Anthony Hall and is also vice-president of the Association of Childhood Education.

Nada Kaulzlarich is a sociology and biology major in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. A senior, she was in the homecoming queen's court last year, was a "Miss Southern" nominee at the Spring Carnival and was runner-up in the "Miss Carbondale" contest last spring.

Phyllis Johnson, a 20-year-old junior, is majoring in speech and English. She is secretary of the debate fraternity and a member of the senior debate team. An active member of the Little Theatre, she has a feature role in the dramatic group's homecoming play, "Kiss and Tell." She is a member of Girls Rally and served as the publicity committee for Spring Carnival last year. She has worked on University radio programs for the past two years and this fall has charge of our "Amateur Chatter" program, writing the script and producing the show with student casts.

Fat Rose, a 21-year-old senior, is majoring in English and is majoring in history. A former vocalist with Tommy Lawson's orchestra, she is active in Little Theatre and received the medal for "Best Actress" in the Little Theatre one-act play contest last year. She is a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon 5509171.

Ann Fleming, queen's attendant, is a cheerleader at Southern. She is a sophomore and is majoring in physical education. A member of the Women's Athletic Association and Girls Rally, she is 19 years old.

Charlotte Tucker, the other queen's attendant, is a freshman majoring in home economics. Fifteen years old, she was selected as "Miss East St. Louis" this year.

"Messiah Rehearsals Good", Says Kesar

"The first rehearsal was excellent," Dr. Mauris Kesar said following chorus rehearsal Monday night for Handel's "The Messiah."

He added that "the quality of singing was surprisingly good," but there was still room for more singers in the chorus—especially in the men's section.

More than 50 persons from surrounding area were present at the first rehearsal. Practice will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Little Theatre.

Theme of his speech will be "Protective Lies on the Speech Scene."

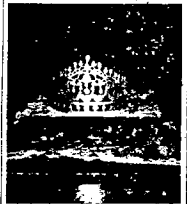

Queen's Crown, of Sterling Silver, Is Designed by Kohler

A new crown will be used for the first time this year in the coronation of the queen.

Made of sterling silver, the crown was fashioned from an original design by Richard Kohler of the industrial education department faculty. All the work done on the crown by Mr. Kohler took place in the school industrial education shop.

According to Mr. Kohler, the crown is so designed that in time precious and semi-precious stones may be set into place about the front arch to add not only value but beauty to the headdress. The stones, however, are merely future planning, he stated. Should the school decide to add stones to the crest, the work will be done on campus, thereby obviating it unnecessary to remove the crown from the campus except for display on similar reasons.

Inside the crown is the inscription: "Southern Illinois University."

FIT FOR A QUEEN

Homecoming, 1948. There is sufficient space, says Kohler, to engrave the name of each queen inside the band as a reminder of the tradition of the coronation.

How's Homecoming, Coming?

By Odaniell and Rossi

For the past few weeks you have read in The Egyptian of the many events and various phases of this year's homecoming—well, guess they become a reality as of this evening.

Everyone is keyed up, and the enthusiasm displayed at the polls during the election of Southern's homecoming queen would probably make President Harry S. Truman and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey envious.

The alumni have all been notified and many of them are already making preparations for what we hope will be a glorious homecoming. More than 9,000 invitations were sent to the alumni by the publicity committee.

The faculty committee and their respective members are backed by capable and enthusiastic members of the faculty and are working hard in hand to inaugurate a flawless program for the weekend. The backyard of nearly every organized house shows the skeletons of what they expect to be a first place float. The houses themselves are undergoing a general face-lifting and the streets of Carbondale have taken on a new look for the gala affair.

At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning a pep rally will be held in Shryock auditorium. A strong voice plus any leftover noise makers from last New Year's party, with a puffing reputation, are the ones who are expected to do the most. Members of the faculty will also be among the audience, and regardless of what Hollywood says about hair styles, they are invited to let their hair down and join in the merrymaking.

Word has been received from Dr. Archibald McLeod, director of the play, "Kiss and Tell," that the cast is razor sharp and dying to go before the footlights.

Tickets for the play, to be held

Friday in the auditorium at 8 p. m., have been on sale for more than a week and sales are exceeding earlier expectations.

The attention of Hollywood has been attracted and the star of the film version, Shirley Temple, has sent her best wishes for a successful presentation.

For the past few weeks we have endeavored to answer the question, How's homecoming coming? This was done so that you might become better acquainted with the plans and changes as they occur in your homecoming. To insure its complete success it must receive the wholehearted cooperation of each and every one of you.

To the student who has been too engrossed in your books (which isn't bad idea), let us pass on this bit of vital information: Homecoming is here, man! Turn your fountain pens, fold your blotters, file your books, put your brain in neutral position and finish up. Home isn't the only place to get your kicks; they may be had here at Southern this weekend.

SEEK TO IMPROVE SOCIAL GATHERINGS

In order to improve the social status of the University, the Office of the Personnel Deans has sent forms letter to the faculty with a request for suggestions. They have also requested information concerning the merits of a successful social affair, special formalities to be observed, and responsibilities of organizations on the campus. Form letters were asked if they would be willing to act as a chaperone for campus social affairs.

This information, the student presidents are asked to coordinate with faculty sponsors in compiling this data. The information should be returned to the Dean of Women's office as soon as possible.

Shirley Temple Writes 'Best Wishes' For Homecoming Play

"I am thrilled that you have chosen 'Kiss and Tell' for your homecoming production. I hope it will provide half as much fun for those of you who see it as it did me in making it. The cast was wonderful and making the picture was a riot from the first reel to the last.

My best wishes to all who are gathered at Southern Illinois University for the homecoming celebration. Be good, but have fun!"

Cordially,
Shirley Temple

One of the main attractions of the homecoming activities, the Little Theatre's production, "Kiss and Tell," is not an ordinary stage show.

It first was produced on Broadway, by George Abbott at the Billy Rose theatre in New York City, March 17, 1943.

After having been one of the most popular of the Broadway shows for several months, the play then ran a two-year road tour from the East to the West Coast. Shortly thereafter it was filmed with Shirley Temple in the leading role as Corliss Archer. This picture was an immediate success in the 1944-47 season.

It was Miss Temple's debut as a young lady on the screen. It then was broadcast over Cecil B. DeMille's Lux Radio Theatre. Since that time it has again gone on the road, being played by a professional stock company.

"Kiss and Tell" is a three-act farce-comedy portraying the trials and tribulations of an absentee teenager of today, Corliss, devoted "steadily" involvement in the mix-up marriage of her brother to one of her best friends, and the antics of Corliss' high-strung father kept the audience in the aisles during the movie as well as during the stage show.

Dr. McLeod, director of the Little Theatre, promises that the homecoming production should provide bigger, and even better, laughs for Southern's students.

Certain time is 8 p. m. on the night of Shryock auditorium tomorrow night.

UNIVERSITY BAND TO WELCOME PRESIDENT

President D. W. Morris will receive his official welcome from Southern's band during the half-time period of the homecoming game Saturday.

Honoring the new president, the band will form the initials, D. W. M., and remain in that formation while the president gives a short talk. Other formations by the band will be the word, "alumni," and an outline of Illinois. While in the formation, a song, "Here's to You, Ole Southern," will be played. Harold C. Hines, band director, has urged all students to comment on the song to test whether it has possibilities of becoming a school song. He asked for personal comments either to him or to members of the band.

Plans are being made for any members of the band who are interested to attend a concert by the Marine band of Washington, D. C., which will be given in Central Hall Nov. 5. There will be both a matinee and an evening concert. Mr. Hines asks interested students to see him immediately.

Helen Traubel To Appear October 19

Helen Traubel, talented Metropolitan opera star, will appear as soloist in the first program of the community concert series in Shryock auditorium at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 19.

The Community Concert association and the S. I. U. committee on lectures and entertainment are co-sponsors of the series.

As a part of the program, Mrs. Traubel, who is most noted for her interpretation of Wagnerian opera, will sing selections from "Tannhauser" and "Tristan and Isolde" by Wagner. She will conclude with a group of Negro spirituals and folk songs sung in English.

Her accompanist, Conrad V. Bow, who has been active as a musician since 1895, has accompanied such artists as Soubirick, Gulp, Gadski, Albani, Sasuly, Popper, and Schumann-Heink. He was a professional associate of Clara Schumann, Dvornik, and Joachim.

Miss Traubel is one of the most distinguished artists to appear at Southern. During the past 10 years she has achieved lasting fame in her field.

DAVE BENDLEMAN

Former World Champion To Give Demonstration

George Hofield, former world champion typist, will give a demonstration on Southern's campus Oct. 21. Van A. Bullock, assistant professor of business, has arranged the event.

Mr. Hofield, now associated with the Underwood typewriter company, will include in his demonstration methods of teaching.

The demonstration, to be given from 10-12 a. m. Thursday, will be made on the new Underwood electric typewriter.

Sister Keany Fund Drive To Be Held Oct. 21-22

June, Women's chamber of commerce of Carbondale will sponsor a drive for the Sister Keany fund Oct. 21 and 22, announced Mrs. Marshall Pyhand, Jr., chairman of the committee in charge.

Each organized house will be sent either asking them to contribute to the fund. Milk bottles will be left at various places in town, and also at the Canteen, for donations.

Southern Illinois representative for the fund is the Rev. B. J. Murray, editor of Illinois Baptist, who has asked the Junior Women's group to sponsor the drive.

A committee of Anthony Hall girls, headed by Clara Lewis, is in charge of campus contributions.

University Is Offering 22 Extension Classes

Division of Extension and Adult Education at Southern is offering 22 classes in Southern Illinois towns this fall with a total enrollment of 1,109.
Despite the fact that this is a decrease from last year's enrollment of 1,333, 14 of this year's group are considered overaged in that such has more than 40 students enrolled, according to Raymond H. Dey, director of the extension service.

Additional classes cannot be provided at present, Dey said, because of lack of staff. Teachers for extension classes are drawn from the regular University faculty, who are already heavily loaded in their on-campus courses because of the 2,000 enrollment of resident students.

Additional Teachers Needed
It would be desirable, he explains, to add faculty specifically assigned to teach extension courses in certain fields. It is hoped this can be done during the next biennium, if funds are provided in the 1945-46 biennium appropriation. He also hopes that regular University departments will be able to furnish additional extension teachers as additional funds become available.

Most of the present courses now being offered are in the field of elementary education. Mr. Dey explains that this is the most urgent need at the present time because of the great shortage of teachers trained to teach in the elementary grades.

Last fall a course in public speaking for business and professional people was presented in Cairo. The course was so popular that it was repeated in the spring. This same demand exists in other areas as well. Courses in art, home economics, music and business are also in demand and will be offered as soon as possible.

Extension instructors last year travelled 91,000 miles in offering courses in the various towns of Southern Illinois. With more funds, that figure will be increased, says Dey, until courses are offered in every Southern Illinois town where the demand will warrant it.

Communities Named
Following is a list of communities where classes are being held this year: Anna, an education course, enrollment 41; Belleville, education, 11; Cairo, education, 37; Carmi, English, 45; Carmi, education, 11; Centralia, music, 71; Chester, education, 72; E. Vernon, geography, 69; Nashville, education, 39; Pinckneyville, education, 74; Venns, education, 36; Waterloo, geography, 36; West Frankfort, music, 59. The classes at Belleville and Carmi are offered for graduate credit if desired.

for square dancing and group singing. Anyone interested in this type of recreation is invited to attend the meetings and become a member of the club.

Fourteen Bands To Join Parade

An extra flash of color will be added to the homecoming parade Saturday by the 14 bands expected to participate.
The 75-piece University band will head the procession, leaving Carbondale Community high school at noon. Led Gaskins, chairman of the parade committee, said this week that invitations had been sent to 14 bands, but he had not received answers yet. Those invited include Carbondale Community high school, Harrisburg, Murphysboro, West Frankfort, Mt. Vernon, Christopher, DuQuoin, Anna, Benton, Johnston City, Herrin, Zentzler, Pinckneyville, and Marion.

Although no figures were available, Gaskins estimated there would be between 500 and 600 bandmen in the parade.
So far, 30 floats and stunts have been entered by organizations on campus. Also, the George Rogers Clark expedition float, now touring this area, will be included in the parade. The float is scheduled to enter the stadium at 1 p.m.

100 Students Take Private Music Lessons On Campus
Seven persons are now giving private musical instruction to almost 100 students. Dr. Mauris Kesnar, chairman of the music department, announced recently.
Robert E. Mueller, Richard L. Morse and John S. Wharton are piano instructors; Floyd V. Wakefield and Miss Kate Moe, voice; Mr. Wharton and Dr. Kesnar, strings; Harold C. Hines, brass; and Mr. Morse, woodwind.

The music house is open to all students from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Dr. Kesnar added. There are eight pianos on the upstairs floor and six downstairs. He stressed the fact that the pianos are for the use of all students, whether they are studying music here or not.

Maroons Down Indiana State Here Last Saturday

A strong S.I.U. football team put together two fourth period touchdowns Saturday to soundly spank the highly-touted Indiana State Sycamores 20-6. The cheer of victory was drowned somewhat when Bob Colborn fractured a leg and is out for the remainder of the season.

The Martinmen looked like champions for the first time as they had little trouble smothering the Sycamores before crowded McAndrew stadium which included 600 Boy Scouts of Southern Illinois.

Turning Point of Game - Southern scored once in the second quarter, but lost the game with two tallies in the final frame. Turning point of the contest came in the second quarter just before Southern scored. After Fred Dren-

Maroon "Bees" Easy For Cape B's

The Maroons "B" football squad was thumped 20-0 at the hands of the Cape Girardeau eleven Monday. The game was played at Hawk Field in Cape.

The Indians scored their three touchdowns in the following fashion: A sharp thrust through tackle climaxed a sustained drive for the initial marker. A blocked pass set up touchdown number 2. The final score of the game came as the result of a pass interception.

Southern's "B" had several good opportunities to score but their offensive power was thwarted each time. Three of the Maroon linemen blocked a punt on the enemy's 20-yard stripe early in the game, but the attack suddenly broke down.

Bill Wilkinson's boys are evidently suffering from the same malady as the varsity squad, that is ineffective offensive power. On defense the Bees definitely looked good except on that embarrassing interception in which one of its seat backs ran all the way through our eleven men.

'Golden Toe' Converts

The Maroons have just scored and Bret McGinnis of Carbondale kicks the extra point against Cape Girardeau Indians in which game Southern was a 20-13 victor.

Western State Is Homecoming Foe

For its part in the 32nd annual homecoming, Southern Illinois Maroons will meet the Western State college Leathernecks at McAndrew stadium Saturday at 2 p.m.

Riding on the crest of two straight non-conference wins, the Maroons will be engaged in their first conference battle when they play the Westerners.

After losing its opener to Wayne the Maroon team has found its home grounds more to its liking, and has chalked up wins over Cape Girardeau (25-13) and Indiana State (20-6).

Visitors Will Two - The visitors from Macomb have a season record of two wins and one setback. The Leathernecks downed James Millikin university 13-0 and Carthage college 20-6, before dropping a conference decision to Eastern last week, 7-0.

Coach Harold Aves' squad from Macomb is led by the halfback, Ronnie Jackson. Jackson is last year's conference 100-yard dash winner and the IAC's scoring champ in football two seasons back.

In the line the Macomb club features Robert "Red" Miller, the conference's most valuable player, last season. The 190-pound, 6-foot, 7-inch is rated as one of the best linemen to perform for Western in recent years.

Maroons Get Two Jolts In Week

Southern received a second crushing blow within a week yesterday as George Sawyer, stellar halfback from Moro, was declared technically ineligible Saturday. Bob Colborn, all-conference end from Flora, was lost to the Maroons for the entire season when he was doing his failed to pass 12 quarter hours, the minimum set up by the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic conference of which Southern is a member. The oversight was found and Director of Athletics Glenn "Ab" Martin was informed of the mistake immediately, thus causing Sawyer's ineligibility.

A powerfully-built 190-pounder, Sawyer was the spark plug of the Maroon's attack. His absence will leave a big hole in the "none too potent" Southern backfield. He was a regular member of last season's conference championship team and he later starred in the Carn Bowl classic which the Martinmen took from North Central, 21-0.

Ohio State had a law which ignores an orator on Declaration Day to such an extent as to publicly play quiet or pitch horseshoes with in one mile of the speaker's stand, is subject to arrest."

Homecoming Game Makes Southern Favorite Saturday

If the Maroons play their traditional style of homecoming football on Saturday, the betting odds on Southern would be 1 to 2. That is, the Maroons would be heavily favored to capture the twentieth annual homecoming classic.

A check of the records of previous homecoming tilts indicates that the Maroons have been victorious on 12 occasions, have lost six encounters, and one game has ended in a tie.

One record book lists six successive wins for the Maroons whereas another source states that Southern hasn't been beaten on homecoming since 1938. Regardless of which is correct, both are enviable records.

"Since the middle '30's, Southern has had conference opponents for each of the annual affairs and this adds further prestige to the record of six consecutive wins.

McLafferty Again Sets The Pace In Cross Country

Try-outs for Southern's cross-country team were held Tuesday evening with eight boys reporting to Coach Leland P. "Doc" Lingie and then running the grueling distance through hill and through dale.

Three returning letter winners of a year ago made the jaunt with Joe McLafferty of Carbondale setting the pace. Last season, Joe went undefeated during the harrier schedule.

Other lettermen finishing the three-mile jaunt were Ed Miller of Carbondale and Leonard Burden of Herrin. A surprise finisher was Art Menendez of E. St. Louis. Art finished strong to take third place behind McLafferty and Ray Palmer of Belleville.

Phil Coleman of Carbondale judged to finish fourth ahead of Burden and it appears that Menendez and Coleman may be pushing the regulars of last season for positions when the Maroon winter track season opens this season at Eastern Oct. 7.

Other boys coming in for consideration are Lowell O'Donnell of Lane Tech high school at Chicago and Valdean McFarland of Centralia.

Schedule for the remainder of the season is as follows: Oct. 16, Western home; Oct. 23, State Normal there; Nov. 3, Eastern here; Nov. 13, Conference meet at State Normal.

X Country Bows To Eastern 28-27 In Meet Here

Cross-country runner Joe McLafferty again his consecutive undefeated record to seven even though the Maroons lost to Eastern State Teachers 28-27. McLafferty was easily the outstanding runner of the meet, finishing a good 100 yards ahead of second place winner Bob Willis and Larry Barr, of Eastern, who came in second and third.

McLafferty, a Carbondale product, ran the distance in 16:02, good time for the first hit of competition this season. Third place honors went to Phil Coleman of Carbondale with Ray Palmer of Belleville finishing sixth. Art Menendez of East St. Louis and Ed. Miller of Carbondale finished eighth and ninth to tally Southern's 27 points.

Three men, Bahner, Coleman, and Menendez, were running their first race for the Maroons, and with more experience and training, Coach Leland "Doc" Lingie is confident that the trio will give added strength to his squad.

ATTEND PRESS CONFERENCE - Robert A. Steffes, instructor in journalism, and Bill Plater, editor of The Egyptian, will attend a conference of the Southern Illinois high school press association at DuQuoin Oct. 25.

Mr. Steffes will lead a section on newspaper makeup and Plater will lead a discussion section on problems of the editor.

Art Viewpoints

"Indecision" by Ben Watkins

The painter necessarily works from a personal point of view. His work is a presentation of an idea in graphic form. Such ideas are emotional and intellectual reactions which are the result of some visual experience. His responsibility is not always to simply record phenomena as they appear to his eye, but rather to relate this phenomena to his personal environment. He strives to emphasize whatever is unique in his subject.

The painting, "Indecision," is symbolic of a rather general and broad idea concerning the present political status of the world. The figure of Peace reclines among musical instruments in the ruins of buildings.

Concerns State of World
In the background, through a transparent dove of peace, may be seen figures plotting. These figures are symbolic of the forces at work against universal peace.

This explanation of the idea behind the painting must necessarily be supplemented with statements concerning the actual structure of the picture. The composition is held together by means of diagonal lines, angular shapes, and a sequence of red, yellows, and blues. It will be noted that the smaller geometrical shapes are grouped to create larger geometric shapes. These larger shapes in turn are balanced through color tensions in such a way as to give unity to the whole picture.

Interlocking Composition
The choice of the geometric shapes in this painting was prompted by a desire to express a feeling of inner-acting forces. One form projects into the other form to create an interlocking composition. The painter believes this to be a way of showing the close relationships existing in the basic nature of things. He thinks of the structure of the painting in much the same way that an architect thinks of the structure of a building.

The idea to be expressed must be closely united with the media through which it is presented.

Three S. Illinois Stations Carry Radio Programs

Southern opened its 1948 radio season Monday, Oct. 11, beaming six programs each week for the next eight weeks. Information Service announced recently. Three Southern Illinois stations will participate.

Daily programs will be broadcast Monday through Friday, 3:15 to 3:30 p.m., and a round table series, Southern Illinois "Awake!" will be carried each Monday night from 7:30 to 7:45. All programs will have student announcers from the University's radio classes.

Afternoon
The afternoon series will include the following: Monday, "The Teacher Speaks," featuring new faculty members. Over WCIL, Carbondale. On Monday, Oct. 11, the speaker was Miss Ruth Haddock, new assistant dean of women, who discussed "College and Counseling," offering tips for mothers, teachers and others engaged in counseling girls.

Tuesday, "Campus Chatter," a student life program, arranged by Phyllis Johnson, student from DuQuoin. Over WCIL.

Wednesday, music by students and faculty from the music department. Over WCIL, and over WJFF, Herrin.

Thursday, a program featuring students of speech and drama. Over WCIL.

Friday, newscast. WCIL and WJFF.

Evening
The Monday evening series, "Southern Illinois Awake!" will be devoted to exploring Southern Illinois resources. It will be carried by two stations simultaneously—WCIL and WJFF. Station WJFF, Harrisburg, will re-broadcast at 7:45 p.m. on Wednesday. The eight-week program will feature in order historical resources, geographical resources, wild life resources, vegetation resources, agricultural resources, industrial and commercial resources, recreational resources, and educational resources.

University faculty members and Southern Illinois specialists in each field will serve as members of each panel.

First Was Monday
First broadcast of this series, Monday, presented a panel composed of Dr. Henry J. Rehn, dean of the College of Vocations and Professions; J. Ward Barnes of Raleigh, past president of the Southern Illinois Historical Society; Dean E. G. Lentz, professor of education and curator of the University's Tilton Library of Lincoln materials; Miss Tina Goodwin, assistant professor in Southern's Allyn Training school and an officer of the new Illinois Folklore Society; and Carbondale's mayor, John T. Wright, who is also a member of Southern's history faculty.

Service Fund Is Recognized

Recognition of Southern Illinois University's contribution to the World Student Service Fund has just been received by university officials.

The report, which came from R. J. Fairgrave, assistant general secretary, states that the contributions were spent for the distribution of a number of small libraries in the various university centers of Germany. These libraries contain books of a reference type which would have been almost impossible to find in that country.

A program of collecting money for the students in war-wrecked sections of Europe is conducted on Southern's campus each year. Contributions are made by the students, faculty, and organizations and sent to the WSSF central office in Geneva, Switzerland.

BRIGGS HAS BOOK REVIEW

Prof. Harold E. Briggs, chairman of the history department, has a book review in the September number of the Mississippi Valley Historical Review. The volume reviewed is "The Grasslands of North America," written by Prof. James C. Malin of the University of Kansas.

It is a major historical work emphasizing Regionalism and Heterogeneity. The magazine in which the review appears is the standard journal for the nation dealing only with American history.

'Ringer Writer' Offers Tips On Outside Class Methods

By Harry Dell

Any person who has ever been in a college classroom knows that, as soon as class is over, there is a stampede of eager students to the professor's desk. It can also be noticed that the same students do so every day. These are the ringers! They have one thing in common, they are getting a well-rounded social education as well as staying off probation.

The best method of post-class ringing is to charge to the professor's desk from your seat, in the first row, in the aisle, or in an equally prominent position, ask a leading question, and then stand around being fascinated by the discussion, and zipping in at the statements of the other ringers.

Drop Notes

This is an excellent time to drop notes, pertaining to the subject, on the floor. (Spread them out neatly, so the professor will see them.) Mention articles you have read pertaining to the course, request advice on additional references, and if the professor hasn't written a book, say that you feel a man of his mental capacity should make this great contribution to the world.

Lastly, never forget the good-bye statement, which has the important effect of leaving a lasting impression on the professor. After holding the door for him, say, "I have to leave you now, Dr. I'm going over to the library and do some more research in OCLC course."

Other Meetings

As has been said before, a ringer does not confine his operations to the classroom. This fact cannot be stressed too strongly. A good ringer makes it a point to see his professor often, although it sometimes may appear to be an accidental meeting of the campus. On such occasions, one should work doubly hard to make a favorable impression. Extra-curricular ringing (or Love Thy Professor) is the most difficult to understand of the several to appreciate. To better understand this phase we shall give a few examples.

A good tactic which is often

Very effective is to "accidentally meet" your instructor in a local store. Of course, you have been following him all afternoon waiting for a good opportunity to impress him with your interest in his course. This is an excellent chance to tell him that joke you heard last night out at the Jabberbox. This makes the professor think that he is "one of the boys." Naturally, you will not tell the professor where you heard the joke, but will laugh heartily when the prof tells that one he has told for the past six years in every classroom. (Instructions for laughing were given in a previous article.)

It is occasionally wise not to even mention the subject of your course at these "chance" meetings. At times he likes to "get away from it all." If the subject is mentioned at all, it must be brought into the conversation with tact and finesse. On these occasions, it is advisable to ask the professor for "off-the-cuff" ideas on the course.

When leaving the professor, always remember to make a witty statement. A good ringer never says half-way on these goodbye statements. They have the effect of leaving a lasting impression on the professor.

Martin Speaks At Engineers' Banquet

Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin was the principal speaker at the Illinois State Engineers' banquet in Christopher last week.

Martin's topic was "The Trend in Football." He discussed the number of participants of the game down through the years, the various formations used since the beginning of the game, the changes in equipment since football's origin, and in general, summarized the progress of the game in the past decade.

He followed this with a brief analysis of his 1948 Maroon 11, pointing out the strong and weak points of his squad and how this year's edition would stack up against Southern standouts of yesterday.

Many P.E. Grads Now Serving In Southern Illinois High Schools

The following information concerning graduates in physical education in St. Louis and Aveux is from the Placements office, Raymond H. Day, director.

George Baysinger, Carbondale, is coach and physical education teacher at Sossor high school. He recently married Marie Robertson who is teaching home economics at Marion high school. Mrs. Baysinger graduated from Southern this year.

Leodio Cabutti is assistant coach in all sports at Herrin high school. Cabutti is from Johnston City.

Ray D. Ewener is teaching and coaching in the junior high school at Waukegan, Ill., whose home is in Carbondale, married Gwen Lambert, a Carbondale girl, last spring.

John Buckner, who earned his master's degree here last summer, and who has been active in high school refereeing in Southern Illinois, is the new assistant superintendent of schools at Livingston. John formerly taught at Carrier Mills.

Charles Crouch is assistant coach at McLeansboro. "Shag" will be a 1st and football coach next year when the sport will be inaugurated there. Shag married Betty Adams, a physical education major who was also in this year's graduating class.

Kifton Dillow is physical education instructor in the Dunlap YMCA in Chicago. Itamar reports that Kifton is to marry Kathryn Bell sometime this fall.

Lawrence Green is in charge of physical education and basketball coaching at Salem junior high school. Knowles at Cines

Howard Erickson is sixth grade teacher and coach at the Douglas Elementary school at Pekin. Howard was anxious to get back to northern Illinois as both he and his wife are from that area.

Ernest Knowles is coach and physical education instructor at Cines, working for a man who was his former high school principal. Ernest married Jean Harbison, a physical education major of 1947 who taught at the Decatur senior high school last year. Mrs. Knowles is teaching girls' physical education in the Cines high school.

Clarence Logan is physical education instructor and guidance director at Sparta high school. Clarence has the task of developing the guidance program.

William Malinsky is coaching and teaching mathematics at Olney high school. Bill graduated in December and finished the school year teaching in the junior high school at Danville, then decided he preferred the high school field.

Charles Mathew is assistant coach and mathematics and science teacher at Morris.

Paul Smith, who graduated in December, 1947, has been appointed instructor of athletics at Hannibal-LaGrange college, at Hannibal, Mo. Paul teaches physical education class and coaches basketball, track, and tennis.

Stinson at DuQuoin

Roger Spear is physical education instructor, assistant coach, and theory teacher at Anna-Jones-buxa high school.

Quentin Stinson is head basketball and assistant football coach at DuQuoin township high school. DuQuoin married Barbara Melvin, a physical education major of 1947 who is continuing in her position as girls' physical education instructor at DuQuoin.

Louis Violett is Rehabilitation counselor of the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. He is working with people who are physically handicapped as far as vocational work is concerned. He is working out of Carbondale.

William Wilkinson is head coach at Sioux Falls college, Sioux Falls, S. Dak. He handles basketball, football, and track.

Jack Horse is physical education instructor and teacher at Gilson City junior high school. Mrs. Horse, who taught home economics at Carbondale high school, is home economics instructor at the high school there. Jack is planning to complete his master's degree by commuting to the University of Illinois.

Willis Lloyd Anderson is high school coach at Equality high school. Andy married Ruth Pugh this summer. She also teaches in Equality.

Joe Spagnoli has accepted the principalship of Hans-Bush elementary school. Joe had planned to do graduate work here but decided to get some practical experience. Hurst-Bush is his home town.

George Fuley, who was graduated in December, has accepted a position with an insurance firm at Evansville, Ind.

Birth-Rate Makes Increase In Small School Enrollment

Survey of recent birth-rate statistics for Illinois indicates that at least a 25 per cent enrollment increase may be expected within the next 10-15 years in elementary schools of the state, according to Dr. Theodor E. Foster, chairman of Southern's committee of consultants on school reorganization.

Increase in school enrollment throughout the state is already occurring, and follows a period of relative stable enrollment during the years 1937-45, when approximately 1,500,000 children entered the elementary schools of Illinois each year, he said.

Comparative increases in first grade enrollments have been observed for 1947 and 1948 because of the birth rate increases during 1942 and 1943, he added.

More In 1949

Additional increases may be expected in 1949 in most areas.

Of these, the 1942 children born in Illinois in 1946, who will reach the first grade by 1952, and the 192,257 children born in 1947 who will reach school age by 1953, will each lower grade enrollments by almost 10 per cent over 1957. 25 figures will represent approximately a 25 per cent increase over the fall of 1948," he said.

Figures now available indicate no marked increases in the number of children expected to enter school during 1950 and 1951, but school systems will need to prepare additional space, buildings, and employed teaching staffs to meet the enrollment crisis immediately after 1952.

"This is especially true in those areas in which schools are already crowded for space, and where teacher shortages exist."

Schools Overcrowded

"Some schools, he pointed out, already have more than 45 pupils per room. Such schools can hardly stand a further increase of some 25 per cent.

"The high post-war birth rate may be expected to subside after a period of time," Dr. Foster said, "and will result in enrollment reductions some six years after the peak is reached."

"However, an abnormally high elementary school enrollment of some 25 per cent over 1948 figures seems certain for 1952 to 1956, and in high schools from 1956 to 1964."

Birth rate data which were analyzed by Dr. Foster were supplied by Illinois State Department of Public Health.

Quarterly Clinic for Child Guidance To Be Conducted Here October 20-21

Next quarterly clinic under the direction of the Child Guidance Clinic of the University will be conducted here Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 20 and 21.

Cases will be brought here from various communities and will be studied by members of the local staff and by staff members who come here from the Illinois Institute for Juvenile Research.

Participating in the diagnosis of these cases and also in the special seminars will be Dr. Harry Sezenreich, psychiatrist, and Miss Mary Sullivan, psychiatric social worker.

Only those who have already been notified will be brought to the clinic. Others who are interested should contact the director and a later date will be set for the study of such cases.

Parents Recommended
An increasingly larger number of parents and physicians are making requests for study of the child or adolescent. Up to a few years ago, practically all cases which were brought came as a result of the recommendation of the child's teacher.

Now schools, parents, teachers, and physicians are calling upon these more than 1,000 psychologists as they are established throughout the country at large to solve the solution of various cases.

The clinic is interested in finding out why the child has developed a wrong behavior pattern or why he is not getting along in his school work. Any misbehavior is looked upon as a symptom of misconduct. It is suggested that every child would profit from a careful examination, but at the present time facilities are not so arranged as to make this possible.

Various Reasons

Some of the reasons for bringing the child to the clinic are stubbornness, nervousness, temper, truancy from home or school, lying, retardation in school, emotional disturbance and having some attitude toward life. There are also many cases of very high intelligence in which the child is not stimulated sufficiently to accomplish on his particular level.

It is only occasionally that children of low intelligence are accepted for study because very commonly there is not too much that can be done for such children.

Not only are cases studied during the clinics, but the clinic examines and works with many cases throughout 11 months of the year.

Many Features

Another important feature of the clinic is the conducting of interviews with college students who are coping with some problem. In certain instances the student has had some difficulty in adjusting himself, on other occasions he had developed certain attitudes which need to be changed, and in still other situations, it is found there are social problems which need consideration. These interviews may be held with members of the local staff and at all times the student has the assurance that these problems will be treated confidentially.

At the time of the October clinic some time has been set aside for conferences between college students and members of the Chicago staff. Students desiring appointments should immediately contact the director of the clinic.

All examining, testing and interviewing of the various cases brought to the clinic is done during the morning sessions but this is private.

Two Seminars

Two seminars will be held, on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at 3 o'clock. Wednesday Dr. Sezenreich will discuss "The Qualifications and Functions of the Psychiatrist." Thursday the speaker will deal with "The Qualifications of the Psychologist."

Wilson of Columbia Is Choral Clinic Director

Dr. Harry Roberts Wilson of Columbia University will be guest conductor at the Southern Illinois choral clinic festival in Shryock auditorium, Oct. 23.

Dr. Wilson is professor of music education at the teacher's college of Columbia, and is in charge of all choral and vocal groups at the university. He has two degrees from Columbia university and two fellowships at the Juillard School of Music.

He has an arrangement of a series of American folk songs as well as several other selections for his concert. His creative writings are devoted to the music in the schools and colleges of America. Several of his works were selected for this year's clinic.

Chorus Is Host

Final tabulations have not been completed, but it is believed the attendance at this year's clinic festival will be more than 600 students. Members of Southern's chorus will be hosts for the event.

Starting at 9:15 a.m., rehearsals will be held throughout the day. A concert of the combined choruses in the evening will climax the affair. The concert will be held in Shryock auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free and all students and the public are urged by the music department to attend.

Seven numbers will be sung by the mixed chorus and two each by the men's and women's sections.

Cunningham To Give Illustrated Lectures

Dr. Floyd Cunningham, chairman of the geography department, will give a public illustrated lecture, sponsored by Gamma Theta Upsilon, geography fraternity, in the Little Theatre, Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p.m. Topics to be discussed and illustrated in natural color are as follows: Recreational life of American military personnel in Germany, The Ruins of German cities, The Nuernberg War Crime Trials, The Dachau Concentration camp, Hitler's Retreat and the Eagle's Nest at Berchtesgaden, My Contacts with the Russians, Germany Under the Rule of Four Major Powers, Agricultural and Village Life in Present-Day Vienna Under Four-Power Rule, and some American Problems in Germany and Austria.

Illinois has always been especially convenient for commerce because nearly three-fourths of its boundaries are navigable rivers.

Queen Elected Differently 20 Years Ago

"Glorifying the S.L.N.U. Girl" was the theme at the crowning of the first football queen in 1926. The queen, Miss Lydia Davis, was crowned after the homecoming play Friday night at Shryock auditorium, and was attended by two handmaids representing Knowledge and Sportsmanship.

Election of the football queen by ballot has not been a standard procedure down through the years. The '27 queen, Miss Edna Hampton, was elected by a standing vote in the auditorium. Nor has there been any regular coronation site. The auditorium, stadium, and dance at the gym have all been sites for the crowning of the queen.

The football queens from the year 1928 to 1946 were as follows: 1928 Dorothy Benner, 1929 Alice Hill Crowell, 1930 Jane Federer, 1931 Maxine Winchester, 1932 Ann Louise Jaberwood, 1933 Mary Isabelle Martin, 1934 Jane Federer, 1935 Jane Burns, 1936 Berty Vick, 1937 Edith Hudeens, 1938 Gunn Carter, 1939 Dorothy Lee Mitchell, 1940 Orvaloe Hubbard, 1941 Pat Mercer, 1942 Sarah Lay Cooper, 1943 Dee Hayer, 1944 June Ottich, 1945 Gloria Barzer, 1946 Allene Kourlarich.

In the immediate past before last year, the queen was only reigned during the short time between the coronation at the dance Saturday night and its conclusion. It was decided last year that the queen would be crowned Thursday evening, so she could reign over the three-day festivities.

Miss Joan Fairbairn was crowned Thursday evening of last year's homecoming, and the highlight of the alumni dance was the presentation of the queen and her court. This year, it was decided to return to the traditional procedure of crowning the queen at 11 p.m. on Saturday night, as the climax of the dance. Her identity will not be known until the moment of her coronation.

It should be added that the beauties of today are well matched for their loveliness when compared to those of yesterday. The smiles of the former queens as viewed in the old Obelisks would still your heart away.

University Has Featured Many Prominent Speakers

If a university's importance can be measured by the prominence of its guest speakers, then Southern should be listed among the best. When President Harry Truman spoke in Shryock auditorium recently, he was only one of a long list of celebrities who have honored this school with their presence. Way back in the spring of 1935 Alton E. Stevenson, then serving as vice-president under Grover Cleveland, gave the commencement address. In 1910 William Jennings Bryan, "the silver-tongued orator of the Plains," spoke at the commencement exercises. Taft Here in 1918. President Truman is the first president in office who has spoken first speaker to appear in Shryock auditorium, although he was not in office at that time. His speech was delivered in April, 1938, in support of the war effort. Candidates for president who have spoken at Southern include Sen. William Edward Borah in 1936, Sen. Arthur A. Vandenberg in 1940, and Norman Thomas, also in 1940. Famous non-political persons who have spoken at Southern are: Stephen Leacock, well-known humorist; Edwin Markham, famous poet; Hugh Walpole, an English novelist; Hamlin Garland, American novelist; and Carl Sandburg, historian and poet. THAT NEVER-ENDING LINE

Lines to the vets are symbolic of the service, but lines on Southern's campus are not evidence of a crowded campus and insufficient buildings.

The bookstore line, shown above, isn't a bad one you're on the inside. It's the waiting in the hall, shown at left, that tests your patience and your arches.

NEW BOOKS ARRIVE
Carl C. Trubshaw, manager of the bookstore, announced that books have arrived within the past week for the following courses: Education 215, and 321 (Camberly text for Mr. Warren's classes), and physics 303.

BABCOCK TO SPEAK AT WOMAN'S CLUB
Miss Gladys Babcock will speak Thursday afternoon, Oct. 14, to American home department of the Women's Federated club. Her subject will be "Better Living through Better Management of Time and Energy." Miss Babcock is a member of the home economics department faculty.

Old Songs Were Hits at Early Homecoming Dance

Twenty homecomings ago at Southern, Joe College and his date danced to the music of Dick Ciani and his orchestra which played such numbers as, "You're the Cream in My Coffee," "Let's Do It," "Sweethearts on Parade," or "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby." The dance was held at the Elks Club, 220 W. Jackson St. in Carbondale, and the price of admission was $2.

The first homecoming dance to be held on the campus was in the year 1934, and on the autumn evening of Oct. 26, 1935, the 14th annual homecoming dance took place in both the men's and women's gymnasiums. Dick Ciani's band journeyed down from Campaign to play such favorites as "Red Sails in the Sunset," "In a Little Gypsy Tea Room," and "Lullaby of Broadway," as the couples danced and whirled. Later Came Uniforms

Soft Lights, the Swish of Silks, Satins, and Taffeta, Accompanied the Sweet and Melodious Music of Jimmy Dorsey at the Homecoming Dance of 1938.

Many of the alumni and some of the older students should recall the favorites of that year: "Thanks for the Memories," "You Go to My Head," "Where or When," and "Bei Mir Dis Du Bichon."

There existed a predominance of uniforms at the 1938 dance as Jay McShann's orchestra played "You'd Be So Nice to Come Home To," "You'll Never Know," "For Me and My Gal," "The danciest band in the land" under the baton of Orvin Tucker will supply the music for Southern's alumni dance to be held this Saturday night. The orchestra will feature vocalists Art Hay comes to Southern after a successful tour of the country.

Campaigning Has Clever Touches

Posters, posters, everywhere they invade the solitude of your sleep, marching across your mind in an endless procession. It's impossible to turn a corner without seeing dozens of banners and signs, each announcing their favorite candidates with the bold, black words, vote, vote, VOTE! You think you can enjoy a nice football game in peace. But alas, campaign leaflets shower down upon your head like confetti.

No, the campaigning is not for the forthcoming presidential election, although had Mr. Truman come a few weeks later, he could have picked up some good pointers. This is merely homecoming, Southern style!

Thriller Movie
To most people, homecoming probably brings to mind the thrill-criller movie featuring Tarzan and Gable. But to the thousands of colleges all over the 48 states,

It's the signal for a bang-up week of reunion and celebration. Homecoming is also a battle of wit and originality, each beachhead being represented by house decorations, parade floats, and the ultimate encounter, the contest for the queen.

The latter accounts for Southern's new fall ensemble of slogans; and also for some of the zaniest publicity stunts the "Future publicity agents of Hollywood" can dream up. These junior propagandists are doing everything in their power to make the voting public conscious of their favorite candidate.

One of the more clever stunts was the parading of tiny tele- around Old Main Monday afternoon, chanting a candidate's name in their high, childish tones. They're never too young!

In a few more days, homecoming will be just another past date on the calendar, with all the shouting and merry-making over. But which Betty Go-ed will reign as Southern's newest queen? Your guess is as good as ours!

and Functions of the Psychiatric Social Worker," and will be in charge of Miss Sullivan. Staffings are scheduled for 1 and 2 o'clock each afternoon. All staffings and seminars will be open to students and faculty and will be held in Room 101, Main building. Special courses (including laboratory work) are being conducted on campus in which students are given training in clinical psychology and these are offered throughout the year.

PERSONNEL DEANS HOLD OPEN HOUSE

The personnel deans held open house for students and faculty in their new home at 305 Harwood ave. Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 5. Refreshments were served and the occasion provided an opportunity for the students and faculty to become better acquainted.
