About 160 Frosh To Attend Leaders Camp

About 160 SIU freshmen who have been selected as potential campus leaders will attend the Student Council-sponsored Leadership Camp at Giant City State Park, Saturday.

Buses will leave from the Student Union at 9 a. m. on Oct. 9. In case of rain the leadership meet will get underway in the Play House.

The freshmen made applications for the camp and these were screened by members of the Student Council. A representative group, said Dr. Betty Greenleaf, director of student activities.

Among the things looked for in the in-classroom applications were at least a "C" average in high school, a record in high school activities, and a varied interest in activities at Southern.

"Students from different living groups were also selected," Dr. Greenleaf said. "The main thing we hope to do is to acquaint the freshmen with each other and with the different fields of campus activities."

Holding separate discussion sessions at the camp will be members of the Student Council and presidents of the major campus organizations. These 40 upperclassmen will take up the problem of student council reorganization and also other campus problems, Dr. Greenleaf said.

The camp will open at 10 a. m. with Col. Alexander McMillan, commander of the AF ROTC detachment, as kickoff speaker. A camp fire song session will close the affair.

Lectures, expecting to attend the leadership meet, who have regularly scheduled Saturday classes, are to register at the Student Union by noon today. This will allow late admittance to the camp.

Rehearsals For 'Messiah' To Begin

Choral rehearsals for the 10th annual performance of "The Messiah," directed by Dr. Maurits Kesar, will begin Monday.

Anyone who wishes to sing in the chorus should stop in the Student Union to attend the rehearsal, at 7:30 p. m. in room 202 of Algeid Hall.

No rehearsals will be held for the choral production which Kesar has directed for the past 10 years.

The Messiah will be presented for the public at 7:30 p. m. on Dec. 11, and the Christmas scene of the oratorio will be sung in a student convocation, Dec. 12.

Southern Schedules 'Mapping' Course

The first cartography course at SIU will begin winter quarter, according to Dr. Cunningham, chairman of the Geography Department.

"There is a great demand," said Dr. Cunningham, for University trained cartographers."

Richard Dahlberg, specialist in cartography, will instruct the class. The class will meet four hours a week and four hours of credit are being offered.

Dahlberg worked on the map of Prof. Robinson of the University of Wisconsin. "Prof. Robinson is one of the best known cartographers in the United States," said Dr. Cunningham.

Dahlberg served one and a half years as an Army topographic draftsman in Washington. After year and a half was spent as a cartographer with the Naval Defense Establishment in Washington.

He worked one summer in the map division of the Library of Congress.

Dahlberg expects to complete work on his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin within one year.

University Telephone Operators Have Jargon All Their Own

By Howard Decker

Phrases such as "out of range," "no signal," "Little Audrey," "bank of multiple plugs," "PAB X" and "bunks" are used each day by the operators at the University telephone exchange as it performs its service to students, faculty members, various university officials and others.

The operators working at the university exchange place calls from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. each school day. At the present time there are only two operators on duty at the same time, however another position will be added in the near future.

While on duty, these operators are constantly working with the switchboard. This handle more than 2,000 calls each day.

The monthly bill for the more than four hundred phones on campus totals approximately $5,000.

Unlike the Carbondale City phones, the university exchange employs the dial system. The dial system, for some unknown reason, is referred to by telephone operators throughout the nation as "Little Audrey."

The main part of "Little Audrey" is a large metal cabinet which houses thousands of tiny wires and levers that are continuously buzzing, clicking, and jerking. These intricate pieces of machinery vibrate to help form an operator.

Calls can be made from one campus phone to another, but in order to contact a city operator, one must be assisted in the university exchange unless he is calling from one of the main campus lines.

The telephone office will give out information concerning city services or faculty departments, and after 5 p. m. information about SIU students is available.

The operators have access to information on students' names, colleges, local addresses, and home towns.

The telephone office is in the

'Sands Of Time' Theme Of 1955 SIU Homecoming

Robert Shaw Chorale To Open Concert Series

By Gene Cryer

"Sands of Time" will be the theme of the 1955 Homecoming Nov. 3-5, according to Carl Anderson, homecoming chairman.

Festivities will start with the kickoff assembly at 10 a. m. Nov. 3 in Shrock Auditorium. The Homecoming steering committee and the queen candidates will be introduced at that time.

The Queen's coronation, "Till the End of Time," will be at 7:30 p. m. Nov. 3 in Shrock.

Dr. Robert Famer, SIU English professor of the Carbondale Community Concert Association, will conduct the Robert Shaw Chorale for the first time in their Carbondale appearance in Shrock Auditorium.

The chorale's performance will consist of five concerts, open to ticket holders in Central and East Carbondale association membership tickets, and SIU students. Famer said students interested in their activity tickets should apply to the concert.

According to Famer, a reciprocal arrangement with Community College ticket holders in Central and East Carbondale, allowing members to attend Carbondale concerts, has been cancelled this year because of SIU's increased enrollment. "It only a fraction of the student body takes advantage of the opportunity, we could easily provide tickets for all our concert," Famer said.

New Course In PE Curriculum

The introduction of a new course of instruction in the physical education at SIU is developing widespread interest on the campus and in the area.

A variety of new material from a student's activities a course of "angling" or more commonly known as fly and bait casting. The introduction of this course was the result of a study of the skills which students would find most satisfying and useful now and in later life.

While generally applicable to all students, this course would seem especially valuable for those who live in Southern Illinois. The presence of Crab Orchard Lake, Little Grass and San Devil's Kitchen offer Southern Illinois a great opportunity to enjoy the pleasure and privileges which this area affords.

Dr. Edward J. Shea, chairman of the department, states that many adults are reluctant to learn new skills or do not receive the full amount of pleasure from many which they have not completely learned. Skill learning in such activities as this one should take place early in life, he states, but not to the extent of neglecting the many other purposes which a well-balanced physical education program can serve.

Organized House Officers Meet At Giant City

Over 50 officers representing 23 organized houses attended the house officers workshop at Giant City Saturday.

These officers represented about 425 students living in organized houses.

Mr. Mabel Pulliam, supervisor of off-campus housing introduced Dr. Willard Schroeder, Dean of Women, and a student panel who got the program underway.

The panel brought out five questions to be further discussed by separate groups for the remainder of the day.

For the discussions the representation was divided into five groups of 10 students and one resource person each.

The resource people were considered to be experts in the fields discussed.

Clyde Reynolds, president of the Student Council, led a group discussion on "Student Government in Relation To Organized Houses."

Richard Wright acted as adviser in the discussion "What Should the Physical Standards Be In Organized Houses?"

Miss Barbara Furst as resource person, a third group discussed "Why Are We Here?" at South Campus.

How Can House Groups Develop Socially? was Jane Currier's discussion problem.

Lenore Merbitz had charge of the fifth group which discussed "Ways of Promoting Study In Organized Houses."

The workshop was such a success that we hope to make it an annual affair," said Mrs. Pulliam.

Off-Campus Housing Officers Meet

A workshop meeting for officers of off-campus organized houses or students, the first of its kind sponsored by SIU was held at Giant City State Park Saturday.

Invitations were sent to 35 or more houses, according to Mrs. Mabel Pulliam, supervisor of off-campus housing, who is general chairman.

Purpose of the meeting was to encourage student living centers off the campus to develop programs similar to those at residence hall on campus, Mrs. Pulliam said.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By Dick Biber

"OUR SORORITY HAS ONLY ONE ENTRANCE REQUIREMENT, ELSE MAN."

The Parking Problem Is Still With Us

This year was supposed to see the alleviation of the parking problem.

First, all students operating vehicles were required to register them. Then, students living in a dormitories close to campus were prohibited in parking on university lots.

room to park for those students in Carbondale who lived a greater distance from school and the out-of-town commuters, each group purchasing a $1 permit to park on their windshields. It looked like a cinch now. All campus parking lots were restricted to these people and last year's permit-holders numbered far less than the spaces available on campus lots.

There were a few catches however. Harwood Ave. and Thompson St. were closed to parking where before they were open. And, the President's lot, pictured above, was now open to visitors to the President's office.

A battery of businessmen, lecturers, and business administrators, including Willard B. White, chief of the managerial assistance division of the Small Business Administration, will be speakers and panelists on the program. White will address the group's opening session on general organization plans of small business, according to Ralph Bedwell, director of the Small Business Institute.

The managerial consultations for manufacturers are first in a series of SIU-sponsored courses planned for small businessmen all over Southern Illinois. The fee for the nine weeks course is $35, which includes all books, supplies, and a graduation dinner, at which businessmen attending all sessions will receive certificates of accomplishment.

The Small Business Institute, one year old Dec. 1 is largely designed to steer business-minded undergraduate students at SIU through a study program geared to their occupational plans, and is dedicated to keeping them in Southern Illinois.

Through the off-campus courses, says Bedwell, "we are trying to carry out a program to help all types of existing small businesses analyze their problems and coming up with the right answers. In other words, we're trying to promote better business."

The Student Council will host the hundreds of high schoolers who will begin registering at the Student Union at 1 p. m. Registration is important because that's when official name tags—good for free admission to the game—will be distributed.

Following an informal banquet show at Shryock Auditorium, the high school apprentices will be guided on tours of the campus by SIU students.

A "chat and snack" hour is scheduled for 3:30 to 5 p. m. on the terrace at Woods Hall. During the dinner hour, free movies will be shown at Shryock Auditorium and facilities at the Student Union will be reserved for visitors.

The students will assemble in a special section at MaAndrew Stadium at 7:30 p. m. for the game.

State Normal School scholarships are available to two of the high ranking graduates from each Illinois high school.

Mail Box

Dear Editors,
I pulled into the University Tuesday night at 7 o'clock to do some work at the radio studio. When I couldn't park directly behind the speech barracks I went over to the parking lot just south of the president's office.

I asked a campus cop if there was open parking in the lot near 5 p. m. The answer—"Visitor parking only!" At the time, there were only two cars parked in the lot legally. There was a third car with a parking ticket on it.

I drove down Grand. There was no parking space available. There was no free space in the lot in the kindergarten, nor in front of the agriculture office.

I had to park in the University lot just north of the ag barn.

Jon Poston

Dear Sir:
I realize the campus parking problem has been given a large amount of coverage in the Egyptian but I think something more needs to be said. Since I have met or before gone to the trouble to compose a letter to a magazine or newspaper, I feel I must have something worthwhile to say.

As most of us know, the parking problem at Southern has been terrible in the past but with the beginning of this term, it has reached the point of being critical. No doubt the great majority of the trouble has stemmed from the large increase in enrollment, but this would unduly jeopardize the safety of pedestrian students.

2. In the future, offering for sale only a limited number of parking permits for restricted lots, over and above the actual number of parking lots in these lots. Eligibility for the permits to be determined by student seniority and distance the student lives from school. All faculty members should be allowed to purchase permits.

So far, it seems that the parking committee has done a remarkably poor job of handling the situation. I don't know what the student council is doing to aid in solving the problem, but it clearly calls for some sort of student leadership and action.

SIU will host the 11th annual conference of the Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association today and tomorrow.

Student personnel workers from throughout the state will attend the meeting, which will open this afternoon with a symposium.

Dr. Ruth O. Walker, Director of Guidance at Lamphier High School, Springfield, is program chairman of this year's conference. Frank L. Stevens, Chief of the Guidance and Student Personnel Section, Office of Education, Washington, D. C., will be the main speaker.

Selections by the SIU AFROT "Singing Squadron" and the SIU Madrigal singers will be included in the entertainment.

Dr. Ernest E. Hanson, Dean of students at Northern Illinois State Teachers College, DeKalb, is president of the organization, which was formed in 1948. More than 400 counselors, guidance directors, teachers and social welfare workers at all levels of education are attending.

Locating the Illinois Horticultural Experiment station at SIU in 1951 in cooperation with the University of Illinois College of Agriculture promises much for the fruit and vegetable industry of the area.

"Blue Plate Special" in the IAC this week will match Michigan Normal with Western Illinois at Alton on Tuesday. In Saturday afternoon, Northern Illinois travels to Central Michigan and Eastern Illinois will be entertained by Illinois Normal.

Coach Al Kaval's young squad will have an open date before they play host to Eastern's Panthers Oct. 15. Southern took the spotlight off of Western's continuing defeat of Bradley 26-6, when the Salukis upset Central Michigan 14-13 last Saturday. It was Central's first win in three years. Southern marked themselves as the team to watch as the title battle progresses.

Last year Coach Wes Stevens' Western eleven was knocked out of a share in the loop title by losing to Michigan Normal 3-19. It was the Leathernecks' only loss last season. Revenge will be the key note for the Leathernecks, who are undefeated in two outings.

After losing to a strong Hillsdale team the Huskies came back last week to defeat Baldwin-Wallace 20-0. Michigan Normal has won two and lost 1 this year. The Huskies recently lost some key reserves but given 11 men Coach Freddie Traska will give anyone a hard time. The game will pit four of the finest tacklers in the league against each other. The Huskies have giants in Carl Elliott and Harry Bass. The Leathernecks' counter with Bob Anderson and Don Valenti.

Coach Bill Kelly's Chippewas were stannied by Southern Illinois in opposition holds a slight edge. SIU will be hoping to get back in to loop contention when they host Illinois' heavily laden Fullback Hank Warfield leads the SIU rushing with 165 yards in 28 tries for a 5.9 average. Next are Rich Krieschak with 50 yards Sprint and Jack Schneider

Hart, Warfield Lead Saluki Ground Gainers

The SIU gridlers may not be ahead in the win or scoring columns so far this year, but they lead in most of the other columns of the statistical record.

Quarterback Jerry Hart, Ed Wayne Williams and the other receivers have provided three gainers. Wayne Williams and the other receivers have provided SIU with a potent passing attack. In the first three games, Hart has completed on 16 out of 39 tries for 233 yards. Opponents have completed 11 of 30 for 37 yards and two touchdowns.

In the rushing department the SIU ballcarriers have ground out 414 yards to their 469.

The Campus Cryer

By Gene Cryer

In Tuesday's edition Harry Thiel wrote and editorial on the spirit at SIU this fall. He advocated transportation to out-of-town games for students who wanted to make the trips to see the Salukis play.

I'm wholeheartedly in favor of this suggestion and would like to add my two cents worth on this subject.

The university says it is trying to build a top-notch athletic program. Coach Al Kaval says that student support is a big lift to his boys. Why, then, aren't there means of taking the fans with the team? How about some help from the student body? Let's sort the ball rolling and travel with the Salukis.

Wednesday I received a letter from Dr. Carl Erickson, Director of Athletics. Here is the letter:

Dear Gene:

Thank you very much for your letter of the 27th. I received it on the Friday, September 30 edition. I wish to express my sincere thanks to you and to the student body for their excellent support in backing our football team during the present school year. I am sure

Intramurals

By Bill Rupp

Games played in the Intramural League were the season by forfeit. There are three football fields now located there while another is situated in the field near the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity nine winning its first game of the season by forfeit. A total of four fields are used in the program which has been somewhat delayed because of the difficulty of organization. This also will enable the schedule to run more quickly and smoothly fields necessitated by the entry of more teams in the intramural program have been made. A group of student workers under the direction of Glenn "Abc" Martin have staked out and lined the new football playing fields on the baseball field just west of the Chautauque number 4 as its name. Further information on the fields is available in the Intramural office.

Only two organized houses of ball games will now be played on the site of the intramural football field to a place more suitable for football games while moving the corral games to a more convenient site. Corral will now be played where the old football fields are located while the football games will now be played on the

Co-Rec Arrangements

Arrangements have been made whereby students and faculty may use the tennis courts, gymnasium, and playing fields on Friday afternoons from 3:00 to 6:00 Saturdays from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. and on Sundays from 1:30 p. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Athletic equipment may be checked out by students or faculty members at the Intramural office in the Men's Gym. All students and faculty members are invited to participate in the recreation program.

Individual winners in individual sports also will be awarded prizes for their championship performances. Incentive enough for any individual who feels he needs the award to participate in intramurals. Attention is called to the Intramural Handbook which will serve as a guide to interested participants at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. Handbooks are available for all in the Intramural office.

Deadline for tennis entries was yesterday. Thirteen students had entered up to Tuesday with several more expected to sign between that day and the deadline date.

A misunderstanding has arisen out of one of the games that is to have been played on Monday, Section 6A of the Intramural Handbook reads: "No team contest may be postponed without the mutual agreement of both team managers and the Intramural. This agreement must have been reached at least 24 hours before the contest was originally scheduled to be played." The agreement must be reached between the managers and the Intramural Office MUST be in agreement before the game may be postponed.

Brigham Named To Northern Grid Staff

Bob Brigham, former Tuscola High School football coach, has been named assistant grid coach at Northern Illinois State College. He will serve as varsity line coach for Bob Kahler in his first year at the helm at Northern.

Brigham is a former Northern star halfback and was an All-City fullback at Chicago's Bowen High School 1941. He played for the Huskies from 1947-49, learning a reputation as one of the best running backs in the history of the school.

In 1948, his best season at Northern, Brigham led the team in rushing, piling up 786 yards in 138 rushes. He established a new Northern single game mark for rushing against Washburn University that year by gaining 242 yards in 26 rushes.

Brigham received his B. S. degree from Northern in 1950 and his master's degree from the University of Illinois. He served as head football coach at Tuscola High School for two years and had an undefeated season in 1953.

Capt. Wayne Williams and Al Kaval talk strategy for the coming game with the Eastern Panthers. Williams is the leading pass receiver for the Salukis and does all the punting. He is a senior from Du Quoin.
