UNEXPECTED ENROLLMENT BREAKS ALL PREVIOUS FALL TERM MARKS

1314 LISTED IN ACTUAL COLLEGE ENROLLMENT FIGURES

All former records were broken Monday, September 7 when registration for the Fall term at the College took place.

President H. W. Shryock gave figures in chapel Wednesday which show an increase over last year of 143 college students who were graduated from accredited four-year high schools.

The enrollment figures of Wednesday, September 9, are as follows:

College enrollment proper (graduates of accredited high schools) 1314
 Mature unclassified students carrying college courses 19
 High School 113

Two years ago a slump in enrollment was shown after a record number the previous year. One year ago the enrollment, not counting mature unclassified students carrying college courses, was 1171, while today the total is 1446. A further increase of not fewer than thirty was expected for Monday, September 14, the closing date of registration, but a report of this was unavailable for this issue.

Although this year was slated as the "low" school year, probably because of the general depression of business, enrollment has come to an amazingly high peak at the Teachers College. Part of the increase is certainly due to the admission of the college to full standing in the North Central Association of Colleges. Also, for some time it has been rated as a class A college in the American Association of Teachers Colleges.

These last two achievements have come through a long period of diligent work by President Shryock. Considering the progress which the college has made under his direction, it is not surprising that a great increase of students is present.

The college is at present needing additional appropriations to accommodate the large student body, and in the future a further increase of enrollment will demand that more accommodations be provided.

Last year plans were launched to get appropriations for a larger library, and that has been provided for. Reading room has been inadequate

Officers Plan Year of W. A. A. Meetings

The officers of the W. A. A. met at the gymnasium, Wednesday afternoon, September 9 for the purpose of making plans for the coming year. It was decided to reverse the Constitution, making the requirements for membership such that only girls genuinely interested in the work may join. It was agreed to try to make W. A. A. of greater interest to more girls on the campus.

Students to Compile College Handbook

A student directory is being compiled by Charles Harris, West Frankfort, in conjunction with Richard Watson, Carterville, both students in the college here. The directory will be complete in every detail and will include such vital facts as the school song, school telephone numbers, and addresses of the sororities, and the football schedules.

The basic aim of the publication is to prepare a handbook for the use of the students which will aid them in their activities on or off the campus. The telephone numbers of faculty members, their Carbondale address, and the numbers of their rooms at the college will be included. The home address of the students, their Carbondale address and telephone numbers will appear. Pastors of the various churches in town, the address and telephone number of both parsonage and church are to be given in the directory.

Pledges Eight Delta Sigma Epsilon

Eight girls formally pledged Delta Sigma Epsilon last Thursday evening. The pledging of these girls makes a total of ten pledges, Rhoda Mae Baker and Mary Winks having pledged in June. The new pledges are: Idabel Boyd, Kathryn Sloan, Audrey Roberts, McLeansboro; Rita Braum, Belleville; Carolyn Shoemaker, St. Louis; O'retta Chance, Mounds; Frances Phillips and Marion Dill, Carbondale.

Word has been received of the marriage of Bonnie Ingram, Benton, to Andrew Vansel, also of Benton. Mrs. Vansel is a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon, having been initiated in 1928.

Miss Hilda Stein spent last week end in St. Louis. Miss Stein and Miss Emma Bowyer are the faculty advisors of Delta Sigma Epsilon.

Neva Burnette and Madolyn Bagwell of Chicago, and Doris Day of Athens, Ohio visited at the Delta Sig House last week. Miss Burnette is returning to S. I. N. U. for the winter term; Miss Bagwell has enrolled in Northwestern, and Miss Day will continue her studies at Ohio University.

Helen Crisp, Delta Sig president-visited at the home of her parents, in Princeton, Ky., last week end.

Etta Shanot, Belleville, and Florence Young, Dupo, have accepted teaching positions for the coming year. Miss Shanot is teaching in Stockton, Illinois, and Miss Young is teaching in Dupo.

Idabel Boyd, Audrey Roberts, and Kathryn Sloan spent the week end in McLeansboro.

Maureen Webb visited her parents in West Frankfort last week end.

Departments Report Doings of Initial Week

With the increased enrollment of the fall term the various Departments have created classes and have engaged new help to take care of the overflow in the several courses. News concerning several of the Departments in the college follows:

MATH

The Mathematics Department reports a large increase in enrollment for this term. Mr. Felts, head of the department, has added two Method Arithmetic classes and one Algebra class to accommodate this enlarged enrollment.

The Analytical Geometry and the Calculus classes, generally small classes, are the largest in the history of the college.

Helen Stiff, one of last year's Mathematics majors, is teaching one of the Algebra classes this term.

ART

The Art Department is pleased to announce a sizeable number of Art majors this year. It is the first time that the four-year graduates have had an opportunity to major in this line. To this end, Miss Williams has added two new senior college courses, The History of Sculpturing, and Element of Composition. Oil painting, taught in the Element of Composition, is offered for the first time.

Another course of extreme interest to the Art student is Commercial Art, offered by Miss Roach. The objects of this course are to advertise the beauties of Egypt, and to portray the part Southern Illinois College plays in this part of the state.

HISTORY

Clarence H. Cramer, Doctor of Philosophy, who received his degree from the Ohio State University, is the new instructor in the History Department. Three members of the Department, Messrs. E. G. Lentz, Russell M. Nolen, Troy L. Stearns, have received leave of absences to do graduate work.

The Department received word from Dr. and Mrs. Holt that they have arrived at Omaha after a short visit in Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Edgar A. Holt, member of the History Department at S. I. T. C. for the past three years, will begin his work at the Municipal University of Omaha this week.

Mr. Orville Alexander, graduate of '31, has been added to the Department.

BULLETIN

Due to a misunderstanding Bethel College will not face the Maroons in the season's opener. Instead the Scott Field Aviators are to meet the Maroons on the Normal field, September 25 at 7:30 p. m.

This will be the Maroon's first game of the season, as well as Scott Field's.

ENTIRE LIST OF PLACEMENTS FOR SENIOR COLLEGE IS ANNOUNCED

Wachtel and Cooper Begin Obelisk Work

Active work on the 1932 Obelisk has begun. Last year's Student Council appointed Harold Wachtel of Marion, editor, and Richard Cooper, Carbondale, business manager. Mr. Cooper has already been in touch with various printing and engraving companies in an attempt to award the contract for the publication of the year book.

Last year actual preparation for the Obelisk was held off for several weeks because of the student body's apparent indifference concerning supporting the publication. As a result work was rushed through and only through the tireless efforts of the staff was the Obelisk published on time.

This year the staff will have some four thousand dollars with which to produce the Obelisk. This is a result of the action taken by last year's Student Council. The dummy will be prepared and accurate preparation of each line insured.

The Obelisk is a publication of the Junior class. Considerable interest in it was created when plans were made for to supply each student with a copy in 1932.

Rush Season Nets Tri Sigmas Thirteen

The Alpha Nu Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority held its first rush party Saturday and Sunday, September fifth and sixth. The opening party was a Sing Supper held at the Baptist Annex at six o'clock Saturday night. Appropriate decorations of barred windows and genuine escaped-convict pictures as well as rock-pile and sledge-hammer favors carried out the prison idea. Patrol wagons then transported the guests to Midland Hills Country Club where they enjoyed a slumber party followed by a Gypsy breakfast Sunday morning. The big feature of the week end was a vesper tea, Sunday evening which served as a house warping for the new Sigma Sigma Sigma House.

Formal pledge services were held at the Chapter house Tuesday evening. The pledges of Sigma Sigma Sigma are: Carolyn Granau, N-w Athens; Elizabeth Ann West, Carterville; Kathleen Coffee, Jane Rose Whitley, Harrisburg; Lucille Edgar, Juanita Richardson, Sparta; Zora Mae Locke, N. Dakota; Sarah Dickey, Bess Hallagan, Ella Mae Hallagan, Florence Newman, Viola Shenk, and Dorothy Muzzey, Carbondale.

Nine new pledges during the last week have increased the total membership in the local chapter of Tri Sigma to twenty-two. Many more are expected following the rush activities of the next few weeks.

ONLY TEN UNREPORTED OR UNPLACED TO DATE

The following is the occupational distribution of the class of 1931 as reported to date, September 12:

Four-Year Graduating Class
 Placed in teaching positions 74

Socratic Society Opens New Season

Never before in the history of the Socratic Literary Society has it run a full year without any lapse of time. That in itself is ample proof that the Socratic Literary Society is wide awake and doing really commendable things, for unless it were there would not be enthusiasm enough to carry on in the hot summer months. The year that has just passed has been very noteworthy for the Socratics, but the one now beginning promises to excel what has just gone before.

The hall on the third floor of the new Chemistry and Manual Arts Building has been used only a part of one year. This September will be the second for meetings to be held in the new hall at the beginning of the school year. The spacious room is nicely equipped with comfortable seats, and can be made to seat as many as four hundred. That many have attended meetings here. In the south end of the room there is an elevated stage which makes it convenient for plays to be enacted without any trouble in setting up a stage. And from his pedestal in the new meeting room, the same as from the old, is the bust sacred to every loyal Socratic—the bust of Socrates. From his place he looks down and smiles upon the work of the ardent followers of his principles and doctrines. The new home is really modernly equipped, and ready for the first meeting which will be Wednesday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock.

To those who do not know what the society does, we offer this explanation. The Socratic Literary Society is an organization of Southern Illinois Teachers College students who wish to improve themselves in various ways and to cultivate their talents in the arts of acting, singing, speaking, debating, writing, and playing instrumental music. The society meets weekly and a program is given lasting, usually, about an hour. Aside from the points just mentioned, the society offers an opportunity for students to make the acquaintance of really worth while students here on the campus to cultivate the quality of leadership, and to distinguish one's self in campus work.

The spring plays presented annually by the literary societies are a big feature in the school calendar. The cast of the Socratic play is taken from the active members of the society; so anyone hoping to get a part in the spring play will do well to become affiliated with the organization at an early date. It is necessary, according to the present constitution of the society, that all participants in the spring play be active members of the society at least one term preceding the spring term. Thus, those who have an interest in the work all the year through stand a better chance of getting parts in the play. It is no small honor to be in a spring play.

The record of last year in the Socratic Literary Society will be hard to beat. From the prize-winning stunts in the Homecoming and Hal-lowe'en parades to the spring play, and on down through the summer programs, the organization met with one success after another in rapid succession.

During the school year more than twenty one-act plays were presented at the programs, and literary works were first read in the Socratic hall that afterwards were published in national magazines.

This year offers even greater opportunities. The organization is complete. The first program is planned. Everything is ready. Greater things lie ahead of the Socratics. You are cordially invited to come to the first meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Great things have been done but greater ones lie waiting just ahead of us . . . "Beyond the Alps lies Italy!"

The Tortuous Path of a College Freshman

The life of a college freshman is indeed a crowded, eventful one. The freshman must cast aside many ideas of the past for new ideas of the living. The alterations brought by change of environment are many and varied: Permit me to point out a few of the many things that a freshman is subjected to. While all may not be entirely new, the shift in environment may make them seem entirely so.

Without the slightest pretext of cataloging freshman life in its entirety, but merely to give a more or less incoherent, kaleidoscopic view of it in brief, and that not in entirely logical order, I shall attempt to present a few of the experiences that all freshmen are exposed to.

The first collegiate act, at least the important one from many angles, is the ordeal of Registration. One soon learns to be a stoic, to wait patiently in a long line of humanity that grows more in length as the seconds turn to minutes, and the minutes are transferred into hours. One must fill out cards, stand in line till the distance-dimmed Business Office is reached where your tightly clutched money is relinquished. Here one's card is stamped with a number, Examiner's name written in, and a cute little circular disc is handed to you. That disc is the magic password that permits you to many hours of running, and the inevitable blistered feet, and other pleasant experiences in the gym across the campus.

As one leaves the Business Office then his work really begins. To secure subjects wanted and get the class cards for them is both nerve-racking and time-consuming. Afterward, one is allowed a few hours respite devoted to a search for your evasive class rooms.

The freshman is allowed the privilege of the "cut system" if his grades average C- after the first four-week period. This, combined with the freedom to roam the campus between classes, are new and pleasant liberties afforded to the frosh.

Too, the freshman is introduced to chapel services. Here he is confronted with directory cards which he must fill out. Chapel soon becomes endeared to every freshman heart as it does to upper classmen. Freshman programs throughout the year enhances the pleasures of attending chapel.

Eventually, sooner or later, every freshman wanders per chance, or follows the footsteps of the initiated, to the University Cafe. Here he finds a perfect haven for study, and resolves to use it as such between "coke" sips.

In college the freshman again dons knee-pants, and wears with pride dilapidated head-gear that he should throw away were he forced to wear due to circumstance.

Too, the freshman makes many friends, especially if he is "quick on the draw" when a jaded upper classman languidly inquires, "who's gotta cigarette?"

One thing that invariably strikes joy to every true freshman heart is the freshman and sophomore tea dances. Here one meets many girls and boys. Fun and good fellowship are the order of the day. Too, when a now sophisticated frosh dreamily waltzes with a new found friend, it is hard indeed to remember those moonlight promises made to the "girl back home."

Basketball and football are never to be forgotten diversions of every student. Track meets under an azure sky in spring are sure to become pleasant memories of the freshman for many years after graduation.

Yet among all the roscate activities on and off the' campus, a warning must be issued to all freshmen. One must be very careful not to fall in Lake Ridgeway, our abbreviated lake. Even more important, one must bear a grin when the Sphinx, in stentorian tones, admits it knows where you were on a certain night at a certain time, and even more appalling, it knows where you were on a certain night at a certain time, and even more appalling, discloses the name of your fair companion. Oh! Indeed, one must beware of the all-seeing, all-knowing Sphinx.

Many other pleasant experiences, including term examinations, are crowded into freshman life, but because of their very exuberance cannot be mentioned. The least of these is not the ten-thirty P. M. restriction, nor the reading of one thousand pages of American History Collateral readings.

Not even having succeeded in presenting a bird-eye-view of freshman life, but merely attempting to portray a few incidents, I shall seek my departure, but only after making one request. Please, dear freshmen, forgive me of my guilt of pleonasm.

TOMORROW

This year's horoscope foretells a progressive year for S. I. N. U. The fate of the future is not to be found in the signs of zodiac, but it is to be determined by the 1446 students enrolled in the school. It is up to you to shape the destiny of our progress.

What we want is cooperation. Freshmen need not feel timid about coming forward. You constitute the largest class in school, and you can make your class a real "live-wire" by cooperating en masse. We are glad to welcome you and all the other old and new students in school. Let's all get together and make this a memorable year in the history of S. I. N. U.

The campus organizations are looking forward to a great year. Their success lies in the cooperation of the student body, and the success of the student body lies in its interest in school affairs.

How about it?

LOITERERS

(Reprinted by request.)

Offices in the Main Building have in the past been considered sacred stamping grounds only for those who are directly connected with those offices. Other members of the faculty and all students are particularly careful not to invade an office except at the invitation of an instructor. Apparently the assumed right of loafing is manifested by both orders only in the room occupied by the Egyptian staff. Practically all hours of the day, staff writers are busy producing copy. The mental stress accompanying such production requires a certain degree of quietude. It is therefore evident that the editor must request those who have heretofore loitered with regularity in the Egyptian office to refrain from further idling.

HELP! HELP!

Perhaps students having classes on the first or third floors of the Chemistry Building have been victims of the pungent odor escaping from chemistry laboratories on the second floor. There is surely some means of remedying this unpleasant condition. The building is one of the most modern of its type. Four hoods for carrying off dangerous or nauseating gases are to be found in each laboratory. There is only one explanation, then—carelessness on the part of the students performing experiments. Such carelessness is unpardonable. The chemistry student owes it to his fellow students to see that it is stopped. These gas attacks were not suffered in the old chemistry structure. Why should we suffer when the new "labs" are such an advancement over the old?

Miss Williams returned last week from Pennsylvania Academy at Gloucester, Massachusetts, where she studied under the head-master. She also visited museums in Worcester, Boston, New York City, and Philadelphia.

Miss Ethridge vacationed between terms at resorts in Chicago and Wisconsin.

Mr. Faner has recently returned from a seven-week visit at his home in Erie, Pennsylvania, and in Flint, Michigan.

Dr. Steagall and Miss Zimmerschied returned on the S. S. Leviathan from a three month's trip abroad. They visited Germany, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, France, Scotland, Austria, and England, finding many things of particular scientific interest to them.

Miss Roach of the Art Department traveled in the East this summer, visiting the galleries in New York City, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Washington.

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Cramer, recently of Columbus, Ohio, have taken up residence at 310 South Forest. Dr. Cramer, who is with the History Department here, was formerly connected with Ohio State University.

Miss Crawford traveled extensively in Canada this summer, where she visited Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, the Thousand Islands and Baggettville.

Miss Mary Louise Fry, formerly of the Home Economics Department of this college, was married recently at Ames, Iowa, to Edward Barnes. Mr. Barnes is employed at the Illinois Central division office.

Miss Sarah Mitchell, formerly of the S. I. N. U. faculty and at present teaching in Chicago, is to be a guest of friends here this week. Miss Mitchell preceded Miss Mae Trovillion as director of dramatics at S. I. N. U.

Mrs. Ida Peacock of Ithica, New York, has been spending the week with her daughter, Dr. Vera Louise Peacock, who is head of the French Department.

Anthony Hall News

Miss Crawford was hostess to the girls Tuesday night, at the first of a series of fall and winter parties. The contests and games were given as college entrance examinations and as courses of study. Prizes were won by Hazel Payne and Winona Haynes. Refreshments were served in the main dining room.

Frances Raney was called to Nevada, Mo. last week because of the death of her grandfather.

Helen Pillow had as her guests her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pillow of Marion, Monday night.

At a house meeting Wednesday, Miss Crawford explained the new rules regarding high scholastic privileges. Because of the excellent record last year, when forty per cent of the girls had B averages or above, special privileges have been increased.

Thais Suprnoski entertained her uncle and grandmother, Mr. R. Suprnoski and Mrs. G. G. Suprnoski of East St. Louis, Tuesday.

The upperclassmen entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon, in honor of girls who have recently moved to the Hall. Mary Rose Colombo and Georgia Hankla were co-hostesses.

Zetetic Society

The Zetetic Literary Society was organized in September, 1874—the first literary society of its kind on the campus—with the aim, "To promote the growth and development of mind, readiness and fluency of speech, and a more perfect knowledge of parliamentary law, in all of which we desire to show due consideration for the opinions and feelings of others."

The organization for the coming year while basically the same as formerly, takes into consideration the truly social side of the college with the intent to give it something of a club atmosphere. The frequency and success of social parties and balls depends largely upon the enthusiasm of the student body in attending regularly the Zetetic meetings.

The programs for the Zetetic meetings will be arranged to emphasize the development of their individual powers of "readiness and fluency of speech"—elocution. The reason for this is of vital interest to the prospective teacher. The person who can stand before a group and speak in an entertaining manner is much more in demand by school boards than the one who is reduced to a trembling, perspiring wreck by the mere thought of appearing before an audience.

The first Zetetic meeting of the fall term will be held Wednesday, September 16, at seven o'clock in the Zetetic hall located in the west end on the third floor of the new Chemistry Building. The program for the meeting will be posted on the north bulletin board.

All students of the college who are literary minded and socially inclined, are invited to attend the meetings.

for the past year or two, and a remedy for this would certainly insure better scholarship.

With a similar increase of the college enrollment next year, the Shryock Auditorium will be inadequate for seating the student body. Even now the orchestra space is limited, and probable talent is unused because of this inadequacy.

ment as graduate assistant.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Mr. Pierce reports that this year witnesses the largest first year German class S. I. N. U. has ever had. There are seventy pupils in the two divisions of the class. Before the war there were more students of German than of French, but during the war German was discontinued for patriotic reasons and consequently French became more popular. Now it seems that German is gradually coming into its rightful place.

ASTRONOMY

The members of the Astronomy class spent some enjoyable evenings last week at the observatory near the water tower. Away from the lights of the campus and minus the old man moon, the celestial bodies, including the planet Saturne, were readily observed.

Quite a large number of the constellations and stars of the first magnitude can be seen with the naked eye at this time of the year. However, if the class insists, Mr. Boomer, the instructor, has promised the telescope some evening soon for the benefit of the would-be astronomers.

Alibis

Now that all textbooks are in at the book store, all class rooms located, and changes in assignment cards completed, the Normal student finds it very hard to supply a logical excuse for not having his assignments in classes completed on the day that they are due. Alas, were all students normal, this article need not be written.

In the midst of every student body there are invariably abnormal or supernormal students. Some excel in athletics, others in scholarship, and still others in different lines adapted to their own personal, mental and physical equipment. It is one phase of the latter class that I shall elucidate. I speak of alibis.

Alibis are these time-worn explanations created for the express purpose of extricating one from a rather embarrassing situation, if it is convenient to light up a Murad. If any soul is so brave as to admit he has never used one (alibi or Murad), I'll reward him with a prize for uniqueness, for indeed he stands alone. Ere I forget, the prize will be a big metal tag, which when deposited with a nickel on any soda fountain in the country will be worth the price of a "coke."

There are students who spend all of their time in perfecting an alibi for not having work for the following day. It's much more pleasant to sit and think about alibis than to try to absorb the intricacies of balancing chemistry equations, or endeavoring to translate three pages of German.

Owing to the fact that there are "alibiers" already in school, it would be most foolish to attempt to bar them from entering now. The one logical thing to do is to assist them in their "favorite indoor sport." That fellow, cohorts, is my self-elected junction at the present. I shall try to assist all who wish to know the legal rules of alibing.

To get a genuine start in the profession, one must first choose a subject which he cares nothing for. The second step is to find a seat and wait patiently until the prof assigns the lesson for the following day, which you must not copy. By failing to copy down the assignment you have an alibi for not having to study the subject at night. Starting with this easily acquired alibi others come naturally and gracefully as opportunities for their use are presented.

For the benefit of beginners in what promises to become a lost art, I'll list a few infallible alibis: 1. Fuse blown out, no light to study by. 2. House caught fire just as you started to study. 3. Barking dog annoyed you. 4. You couldn't think of missing that dance the night before. 5. Had to write girl friend a letter. 6. Head ached terribly, but don't tell why. 7. Too busy, too tired, misunderstood assignment, mislaid text book, needed a holiday, etc. The eighth alibi, and a special favorite of mine, is one I found quite by chance. It is an ancient Hindoo proverb that reads something like this: "Ali Baba, where's my hat? Hot Dogs 5 cents, Shoot a quarter, you're faded, Mike," and several more phrases I haven't retained. Translated literally this means, "Teacher, I spend hours writing out the required work, but the funniest thing happened—I lost it." This never fails, dear student, as an excellent alibi—for bringing about your ejection from the class.

I must request the reader to keep the above list of alibis from the eyes of all faculty members. The list would become null and void should the faculty ever peruse it, and new list would need be compiled.

Yours for bigger and better alibis.
(Signed) ALI BIER.

RECORD SQUAD REPORTS FOR COACH M'ANDREW'S VARSITY ELEVEN

ONE HUNDRED AN ONE MEN ARE CANDIDATES FOR THIS SEASON'S MAROONS

The largest squad ever to report for football answered the first call of Coach McAndrew last week when 101 men donned the moleskins in preparation to gain berths on the 1931 varsity eleven. Sixteen lettermen were included in this record mob of aspirants. Of these veterans twelve were members of last season's Little Nineteen champions. The remaining four have won major letters in football in previous years and are returning to competition.

Anxiety as to the nature of the new material marked pre-season consideration, but with the unexpected enrollment and the record squad the outlook appears much more promising. A great portion of the number out are freshmen, and not a few of them are plenty hefty. This factor insures Capt. McAndrew of a reserve power for the season, a factor which has been essential to great Maroon teams of seasons past.

End position seems the most likely post to be filled with new talent. The loss of Bob Doty leaves the running mate of the diminutive Swofford still to be selected. At present little can be told of the probable successful candidates for that position because to date no scrimmage has been held. However, capable scholastic ends who are bidding for end jobs are Fegley of Hurst; Minton, Murphysboro; Paterson, Harrisburg; and Moorman of Christopher. Against these men will be pitted the veteran Herbie Bricker. The position at tackle is well fortified with veteran men. "Hippo" Brown, Clarence Stephens, and Ellsworth Robinson, all received letters at that post last season. Cannon Stormont and Lindal Rockwell are expected to carry the guard position well. James Johnston and Archie Wright, Paul Sisney, veterans of previous seasons' play are expected to up a great fight for these two places on the team.

At center, the captain, Blackie Canada, will perform. Emil Wiggins and Richard Watson of last year's squad will doubtless see action. Thomas of Murphy, Atkinson of Carbondale, Castleton of Elkville, are newcomers.

In the backfield are Clarence Hodge and Jimmie Lauder at quarter. Holder of Carbondale, Davison of Johnston City, and Wimberly of Marion promise the regulars a hot time in competing for the place.

Albert Patton is expected to fill the shoes left vacant by Dago Eovaldi. Patton is captain of this year's backfield and is considerable of a triple threat man. Glenn Martin is the lone backfield letterman at half. "Two-Ton" Willis, a letterman of four years ago, will attempt to hold down one half.

Scrimmage is booked for this week. It is expected that the material for the varsity will then be weeded out. With the initial game of the season only nine days distant, preparations for conditioning the athletes is on at full speed.

Good-Bye, Vacation

(With apologies to H. W. Nevenson)

In clouds and heavy smoke the "hills of home" fade from view. The hot engine shrieks and jerks forward. Already the hundred miles of rail narrow before it. Good-bye, most pleasant of all seasons. Good-bye to leisure, to frigid movie palaces equipped with prodigious organs, to out-road operas! Good-bye, vacation! I'm going to school. I am going back to a "show" which is frigid only in the dead of winter. I am going where the only Thespians appear in tent shows and occasional dime circuses. Good-bye, vacation! I'm going to school.

Good-bye to late morning risings and late retiring. Good-bye to copious meals, and well-stocked refrigerators. Good-bye to iced tea with ice in it. I am going back to seven o'clock breakfasts and ten o'clock bed-times. I am going to the land where meals consist of beans and beans, where ice boxes (if any) wear padlocks, and where ice is seen only in magazine ads. Good-bye, vacation! I'm going to school.

Good-bye to the paradise, where authority takes the mild form of parents also vacationing, where one enjoys freedom as none but the Swiss know it. I am going to the land where authority is vested in the house-mothers, college professors, and deans for both sexes. Good-bye, vacation, I'm going to school.

Good-bye to daily newspaper, to my favorite radio crooner, to mail boxes at which the mail is collected. I am going where newspapers appear weekly, where music reaches me only at chapel, where mail boxes mean nothing. Good-bye, vacation! These thirteen weeks have bored me.

Thirty Students Make McDowell Chorus

Sixty-two persons tried out for the McDowell Club on Tuesday, but the number retained was slashed to thirty, including six members of the orchestra.

The prospects for both MacDowell and the Roland Hayes Club, which had tryouts Wednesday evening, are very good. Those making the Club are:

Soprano—Ruby C. Jones, Annika Johnson, Mable McGowan, Essie Mae Robinson, Pauline Gore, Ruby Mae Carter.

Alto—Virginia Draper, Marie Taylor, Allene McCord, Genevieve Atwood, Jane Rose Whitley, Louise Soathall, Lucille Schlesinger, Ethel Trout.

Tenor—Walter Syphert, Jay Friedline, Carroll Rowe, Nathan Ferrine, John Martini, Seybert Phillips, Pat Randall.

Bass—Harold Bailey, George Porter, Bill Hill, Allen Graves, Marc Green, Denis Clinton, George Sinks.

Social Worker: Shall I bring your wife to console you, poor man?

Convict: Whoa. Not so fast. I'm in here for bigamy.
