No Decision Reached On Publication of KA

No final decision has been reached on KA, the independent student publication financed by the Student Government.

KA had been suspended the last week of the Spring Quarter because of a procedural disagreement with the President's Office.

The weekly had planned to publish during the summer but was halted from doing so until an agreement was reached between the KA Advisory Board and President Delyte W. Morris.

Paul Morrill, special assistant to the President, said that Morris has not yet seen the proposal submitted by the KA Advisory Board, but will do so in the near future.

According to last year's editor of KA, Tom Dawes, the initial disagreement arose over the question of anonymity. Later the question was broadened and Morris asked that a working policy be outlined by the Advisory Board.

Vets Must Verify

Class Schedules

Students wishing to receive benefits for the fall quarter from the Veteran's Administration must take a copy of their official class schedule to the Registrar's Office for verification, according to H. W. Wohlwend, assistant registrar.

Any student failing to do so by the 15th day of the quarter will lose partial benefits. The deadline is Oct. 3.

Lake Remains Open

Lake - on - the - Campus Beach will be open indefinitely as long as the weather permits beach activities, the Student Activities Office announced Tuesday.

Students may swim in the lake only when there is a lifeguard on duty.

This year's editor is Bard Grosse. Members of the staff have met and some plans have been made for publication.

Grad Assistant Stickers on Sale

Vehicle stickers for graduate assistants will be issued for the first time today at the Parking Section. Stickers for all other students, faculty and staff members have been available all week.

Parking Section is open daily from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The office is located on the ground floor of Building D in Washington Square.

Recent Ordinance Amended

City Council Backs Down on Wheel Tax Deal for Non-Resident, SIU Operators

By Mike Killenberg

Carbondale's city council has amended a recently passed ordinance which would have extended the existing city wheel tax to include non-resident student and faculty owned and operated motor vehicles.

The major change in the new wheel tax ordinance is an increase in the annual fees for motor vehicles.

The original ordinance also would have required any person who worked within the Carbondale city limits, including SIU employees, regardless of his place of residence, to purchase a city motor vehicle license.

According to terms of the ordinance, passed by the council and approved by Mayor David Keene on August 22, it would have been illegal for "any person...whose principal place of occupation or offices are in the City of Carbondale,

Construction of the long-delayed footbridge over the IC railroad tracks at Illinois and Harwood Avenues should begin within a few weeks, the University architect's office has announced.

Scheduling of the construction was the latest in a series of such announcements dating to nearly a year ago. Simmons Construction Co. of Decatur was awarded the contract for the $170,000 structure. The firm is also the prime contractor for the University Park residence halls complex.

According to Associate University Architect John Loneragan, a permit by the railroad to build the bridge over the tracks was the critical thing holding up construction.

Loneragan said the construction company should have its equipment moved and ready to begin work within two or three weeks.

"If we have a good winter it shouldn't take over three months to complete the bridge," said Loneragan. "But with all the bad days in the winter months, it will probably be April before the project is completed."

The overpass will cross U.S. 51 and the Illinois Central line at Harwood Avenue. Loneragan said 15,000 student trips are made daily at the crossing and the traffic is expected to rise to 30,000 trips with a few years.

The bridge will be situated on the south side of Harwood Avenue with access points near 17-story Neely Hall on the east and extend 250 feet beyond the highway on the west.

Loneragan said a "wish-bone" connection to Brush Towers, a pair of additional 17-story halls now under construction in University Park, will be added later. Also proposed for the future is a link between the bridge and a new administration building to go in at the north edge of McAndrew Stadium.

Most of the materials for the structure will be precast. According to the Architects Office, the only difficult part of the job will be the construction of the vertical piers, which must be hand-cast on the job.

The bridge will be 25 1/2 feet at its highest point. It will be 850 long and 18 feet wide.

There will be no steps in the structure and the slope will be no more than six degrees, permitting wheelchair use.

Fee Increased for Parking In Lot at University Center

The fee for parking in the University Center lot has been increased this school year, according to Clarence G. Dougherty, Center Director.

Prices are now 10 cents for the first hour and 25 cents for each additional hour.

Last year the first hour's parking was free and each additional hour was 10 cents.

Dougherty said the change was in conjunction with the over-all revision of University parking. He said during the time when the first hour's parking was free, persons were going out of the lot after the end of the first hour. He added some staff persons used the lot for eight-hour periods whereas the lot is intended for short-term parking.

Dougherty said the lot was to be used primarily for visitors and persons on business in the University Center. He added the new price might aid visitor and transient parking.

Free University parking lots constructed this summer are expected to ease staff demand on the University Center lot. New lots and additions to existing lots have added approximately 1,200 parking spaces, a spokesman in the campus architect's office estimates.

Gus Bode

Gus says if he doesn't graduate in the next six or seven years he plans to go into the real estate business and start his own university.

SIU Students' Rights Council Brewing Over Recent Rulings

By Rob Willson

A "Students' Rights Defense Council" is being set up by SIU Student Government to review student complaints arising from housing and motor vehicle rulings.

Ray Lenzi, student body president and creator of the council, describes it as "a vehicle to fight students' battles for them."

Lenzi maintains that student counselors who are thoroughly versed in the new rules and experienced in dealing with administrators should be able to obtain significant results for individual students with grievances.

'Postscript', Singers Set for Open House

Southern Players, campus dramatics organization, will hold open house Thursday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m. in the Communications building. Entertainment will consist of the Colin Heath folksingers and a one act play, "Postscript," winner of the 1967 Yale Drama Festival.

Besides free entertainment and refreshments, there will be tours of the theatre. A representative will be on hand to explain how to join Southern Players.

The Players present five main three-act plays during the year as well as children's plays, original one acts, and experimental shows. Casting is open to everyone regardless of major or classification.

"We also need a lot of people for technical work, such as lights, sound, costumes, and stage crews," said Dan Vance, president of Southern Players.

Average Student Resigned to Life Without Vehicles

With the start of this fall quarter it will be easier for some students to have cars and motor vehicles on campus legally. For most students, however, transportation is still a major problem.

A new provision put into effect this term permits juniors with a 3.75 overall grade point average and seniors with a 3.5 overall to have vehicle privileges.

However, only 26 per cent of all upperclassmen, plus those who are married or who are commuting, are eligible to operate a car under this provision.

This rule was put into effect to aid the more "responsible" students who are progressing academically.

But what happens to the lower classmen and the students who aren't "progressing academically?"

To save his shoe leather, the student in this situation can always live recklessly and have a car illegally. But the penalty for getting caught with an illegal motor vehicle is $50 for the first offense, and suspension from the University for the second.

There are still other legal ways to beat the system. The student may commute from home (if he lives in the area); he may have a job off campus which requires transportation; he may have a physical disability; or, he may become a graduate student. Married students are permitted vehicles.

Realistically, the average student with average needs, average grades, living in an average University dormitory—must resign himself to the fact that his undergraduate days at SIU will be motorless.

Multiversity Depends on Technology for Existence

by Robert M. Hutchins

The trouble with the modern multiversity is that it looks on everybody as a technician.

This is why it wastes no time or attention on undergraduates — their technical skills are undeveloped; their technical destination is unclear.

The multiversity lavishes its efforts on the technical training of graduate and professional students.

Such training consists of progressively narrowing the student's mind. The object is to teach him the tricks of the trade. These are so numerous and, sometimes, so complicated that the student must dedicate his full time to learning them.

The result is that the young American emerging from an American graduate or professional school is likely to be more ignorant than when he went in. He may not even be a good technician, because in many occupations the rate of technical change is so fast that no school can keep up with it.

The reason for this melancholy situation can be found in the attitude of employers. They always seem to be saying to the universities, "What have you done for me lately?"

Why the universities should train hands for private businesses has never been clear to me. Why don't they do it themselves? They know better than the universities what their requirements are. In any event, there is no obvious reason why the taxpayers or the philanthropists of the nation should bear the costs of breaking in the neophytes in any occupation.

Many employers do not seem to know what a really well-trained hand is. They confuse one who can be rapidly fitted into a going concern with one who is well trained.

But a university supported by public funds can justify its existence only if its products can make some contribution to the public welfare.

Consider law. The student can never learn in the practice the intellectual history, content and discipline of the law. If it is important for him to learn these things, he must learn them in the university.

On the other hand, he can learn the techniques of legal practice better in the practice, since the actual conditions of practice exist only in the practice.

Suppose we could bring ourselves to look on our universities as a source of light. I think it will not be denied that we need enlightened citizens even more than trained technicians.

Then the multiversity would disappear; an institution bent on enlightenment could not yield to those pressures for training and "service" which have made the multiversity what it is.

The new university would be dedicated to understanding the world, to making it intelligible. Such an institution is vital to the progress, and perhaps even the survival, of a democratic nation.

It All Started With 53 Students, 8 Faculty Members 100 Years Ago

SIU opened its doors nearly 100 years ago with 53 students and a faculty of eight—including the president—whose combined salaries totaled $10,000 a year.

Today, as the state's second largest university, SIU has a student body in excess of 25,000 and a yearly operating budget (exclusive of building construction) up to $50 million.

SIU's growth has been so spectacular in the past few years that the school has become a popular symbol for the post World War II "higher education explosion" in America.

Much of that development has been packed into the past 10 years.

The boom was building in the late 1940s and early 1950s, but the first big reverberation rocked the campus in the fall of 1955. That was when enrollment at the already strained Carbondale Campus jumped 58 per cent over the previous year, to 5,555 students.

It kept zooming each subsequent year: to pass the 10,000 mark in 1958; past 13,000 in 1960, and beyond 18,000 in 1963.

The year after that, SIU climbed into the ranks of the nation's 20,000-plus universities and last fall it reached its zenith to date: a full time resident enrollment of 25,751 students at the Carbondale and Edwardsville Campuses.

The Carbondale Campus, with 18,000 is still hard pressed to accommodate its students despite an unremitting construction effort.

Most of the muscle came from a 1961 State Universities Bond Issue, which provided $53 million for new buildings at SIU's two campuses.

For the Carbondale Campus, it meant the 10,000-seat Arena, Wham Education Building, a five-story addition to Morris Library, a Communications Building, an addition to the steam-generating plant, a General Classroom group and a complex of the three buildings for the School of Technology.

At the same time, SIU was pushing ahead at flank speed on other construction projects it could finance through revenue bonds. These included residence halls, staff and married students apartments and a $5 million University Center.

The dust hasn't begun to settle. Going up adjacent to 17-story Neely Hall, in a residence hall project that houses 1,800 students, are two more high rise units just like it.

A Physical Sciences Building is nearing completion and the University has started another $4 million family apartment project.

Other pending projects are a huge Life Sciences Building addition, a General Office Building, an addition to the Physical Sciences Building, completion of the University Center, a major addition to the Communications Building, finishing the interior of Morris Library, and $8.5 million building for the humanities, and a $1 million renovation program at 50-year-old Shryock Auditorium.

While SIU's rocketing enrollment shows signs of slowing down (the jump last fall was only 5 per cent above the previous year), the space race is still on.

The University now has 89 permanent buildings on the Carbondale Campus but it still has to use more than 250 temporary buildings for offices, research laboratories and even classrooms.

Ironically, on the threshold of another construction boom, SIU is acquiring still more temporary space. With bulldozers set to level spaces for new buildings, the University recently leased several off-campus dormitories and an empty factory building to take care of the soon-to-be-displaced.

SIU's abrupt transition from a somewhat provincial, "suitcase college" to a University with links around the world (it has missions or consulting teams in six foreign nations) is no more apparent than in the student body.

It used to be that practically all of SIU's students came from the 31 counties of "Little Egypt," which is what they call southern Illinois. Nowadays, Chicago and its Cook County environs send more students than any other area of Illinois. Most of the other states are represented on the enrollment tables and so are 76 foreign nations (with 600 students).

The faculty and administration (it's about 3,500, counting graduate teaching and research assistants) likewise has become cosmopolitan to a marked degree. Scholars from throughout the world work and teach alongside such all-American luminaries as master designer R. Buckminster Fuller (the geodesic dome) and geneticist Carl Lindegren.

The continuous expansion of the campus itself has led some students to suggest a monorail transit system so they can get to classes on time. The central campus covers some 850 acres. Also considered part of the Carbondale complex is 2,100 acres of agricultural land; the Vocational-Technical Institute (1,300 students) 10 miles east; a 6,000-acre Outdoor Laboratory at Little Grassy Lake; and a 400-acre biological research station in the Pine Hills of Union County.

Students to Present Special Education Program in Chicago

SIU special education faculty members and students will have a prominent part in the convention program of the Illinois Council for Exceptional Children next month in Chicago.

The Department of Special Education will present the full morning session, Oct. 13, when the topic will be "School Services for Emotionally Disturbed Children: Selected Alternates." James Crowner, department chairman, will speak on "The Special Class," Thomas Shea on "The Clinical School," and Jerry Gross on "The Supportive Teacher." Two SIU students in special education, Gayle I. Shapiro of Harvey and Jo Sefried of Chillicothe will be hostesses.

All student division programs at the convention will be sponsored by the SIU student chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children. Carol Verneti, SIU student from Collinsville, is president of the Illinois Student CEC.

Chairman Crowner also will appear on the Oct. 2 program of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare's 67th conference in Kansas City. He will be on a panel that discusses "Community Mental Health: Bold New Approach."

Work to Start on Recreation Area

An outdoor recreation area will be constructed this fall near a newly-opened residence hall at SIU's Vocational-Technical Institute Campus.

The project will mark another in a series of permanent improvements which have been scheduled for the 138-acre VTI campus near Carterville. The government ordinance plant facility had been leased by SIU from 1952 to 1965, when land and buildings were acquired by the University.

Included in the recreation area will be blacktopped and lighted tennis courts, volleyball, badminton and basketball courts, a softball diamond, archery range and horseshoe pits, a car-wash slab and barbecue pits.

Construction bids will be opened October 3 at 2 p.m. in the offices of SIU Campus Architect Willard Hart. Alternate proposals for construction of a frame equipment shed will be included in the bidding.

An appropriation for a general classroom-office building, first permanent instructional facility at the VTI campus, is included in the University's current budget.

Off-Campus Housing Has Fewer Vacancies This Year

According to Dennis E. Balgemann, coordinator of off-campus housing, fewer vacancies exist at this time than in September, 1966.

Listings are now being calculated by capacities rather than vacancies, so the total vacancies was unavailable for the present time. One year ago, 1,800 vacancies were reported in off-campus dormitories.

Some of these vacancies were attributed to the end of the post WWII baby boom.

Victor Vaughn, manager of the Pyramids, said his facilities are full, adding that present regulations help direct students into the proper housing.

Wilson Hall manager Donald Clucas reported that the 460-capacity Wilson Hall has only 200 residents. The facility opened for the summer quarter, and Clucas added many students are not yet aware of the new dorm's existence.

University City manager

James Johnston reported that four out of six dormitories are in operation. Around 320 openings have been filled out of the available 600. Last September 334 were filled out of the 940-bed capacity.

Campus housing is filled to capacity, said Samuel Rinella, coordinator of Housing Business Services. He added that the 158-capacity VTI Residence Hall is filled while the two smaller Southern Acre Residence Halls with a combined capacity of 270 have 90 vacancies.

Off-campus coordinator Balgemann said through more effective advertising students are becoming aware of the acceptable off-campus living centers. He added that since housing now is a part of registration more students are being guided into acceptable on and off-campus living centers.

Campus Doubled

Northwestern University nearly doubled the size of its campus by filling in 74 acres of Lake Michigan.

SIU Adult Education to Offer Photography to Inmates, Staff

Inmates and staff members at the Illinois State Penitentiary at Vienna are enrolling in a photography course to be conducted by Southern Illinois University's Division of Technical and Adult Education.

The class is unusual because prisoners usually are not permitted to use cameras and because inmates and staff will be participating together, says SIU Adult Education Director Glenn E. Willis.

Warden Stanley A. Maciejewski of the Vienna institution, the state's minimum security prison opened only two years ago, requested the class for 29 prisoners and three staff members. The prison has a current population of 182.

Virtually all Vienna inmates are enrolled in education programs on their own time during the evening hours, according to Maciejewski. SIU is participating with credit courses through the University Extension Services and non-credit vocational classes offered by the Division of Technical and Adult Education. High school review courses are conducted by the Johnson County school system.

Bids Taken Today for New SIU TV Station

Bids are being taken today at Olney High School for construction of SIU's educational television station near Olney. Completion of the building has been set for early 1968, according to William E. Dixon, chief engineer of SIU broadcasting.

Last year SIU purchased 40 acres of land in Preston Township, Richland County, near Olney for erection of a 1,000-foot tower, a building to house the transmitting equipment and a small studio.

The station's call letters have been designated as WUSI-TV. It will operate on UHF channel 16.

The station's power to transmit will be about the same as WSIU-TV (Channel 8), the University station which has its tower near Tamaroa and which covers a radius of approximately 55 to 60 miles.

Programming hours will be about the same as WSIU-TV. Practically all the programming, at least in the early stages, will be duplications of programs from the Carbondale campus VHF station.

WUSI-TV will relay educational TV to school classrooms and homes on the fringe and outside the existing coverage area.

The U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare last year released a grant of $400,381 to help finance construction of the station. A matching amount has been appropriated to SIU from state funds.

Dixon said that workmen have already started to secure anchors for the tower. Construction of the tower will be completed in mid-November, he said.

Faner Lists Faculty Changes

In English Department

Robert D. Faner, chairman of the Department of English, has listed faculty changes and additions in his department for fall.

Thomas Kinsella, now artist-in-residence at SIU, will be a professor. Kinsella's specialty is teaching the writing and theory of poetry.

Howard Schultz, who received his Ph.D. from Harvard and was a professor at the University of New Hampshire, is a new faculty addition. His specialty is Milton and the Renaissance.

James E. Redden, from the American University in Beirut, Lebanon, will be an associate professor in the English as a Foreign Language program. Redden received his Ph.D. from Indiana University. His specialty is linguistics.

Aristotle (Aris) Katranidas will be an assistant professor in the EFL program. He also received his Ph.D. from Indiana University and specializes in linguistics.

Another new assistant professor will be Bruce Appleby, who received his Ph.D. from the State University of Iowa and has been at Ohio University.

William Chertak will be an instructor in the EFL program. He specializes in linguistics. Chertak recently completed his Ph.D. at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

Job Retraining Program Begun

The first part-time job retraining program conducted in downstate Illinois under the federal Manpower Development and Training Act has started at SIU.

Conducted by the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education, the course has 19 men enrolled in training as machine operators. Classes meeting Tuesday and Thursday evenings for 26 weeks will provide instruction in milling machines, multiple and radial drills and other equipment.

"This program is designed to permit persons who are already employed to upgrade their skills to qualify for better jobs," said Assistant Dean William E. Nagel. Trainees are from Franklin, Williamson, Jackson and Randolph counties.

The class is held in facilities at the Manpower Training Center in the Ordill Area of the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge. Cost of the project is $2,928, Nagel said.

Director Named To Alumni Group

A. Gordon Dodds, superintendent of Edwardsville Community Unit School District 7, has been named to the board of directors of the SIU Alumni Association.

He will fill a vacancy created when Dr. Jack Barrow, St. Louis physician, resigned a board position with a year of his term remaining. Dr. Barrow said increasing demands on his professional time made it impossible for him to continue to serve effectively.

Dodds, a 1938 SIU graduate, holds a master's degree from the University of Illinois. He received the specialist certificate, representing work beyond the master's degree, from SIU at Edwardsville this summer.

Instructor to Serve On State Council

Robert Buser, an assistant professor at SIU, has been appointed to the Illinois Council for Educational Research and Development by Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction.

Buser is one of six new members appointed to the Council. The 11-member Council advises the state office on matters pertaining to state-level educational research problems and programs.

Illinois Central's new math "multiplies" freight cars

BRAINFARE has the formula

Working toward the day shippers can have all the cars they want when they want them is something that's getting the undivided attention of BRAINFARE. And we've found the formula! Add, then multiply! First, we're adding $52 million in new cars. Then BRAINFARE will multiply the work they do by targeting cars where they're needed most, reducing wasted car time and tightening delivery schedules. BRAINFARE's mainspring is our new computer-communications network headed by VP Richard de Camera. Shippers will find our new math adds up to more profitable distribution than ever before.

BRAINFARE is Illinois Central's new total warfare program against outmoded concepts of transportation. We've marshaled our best human and electronic brains into problem-solving task forces to zero in on your total distribution and marketing needs.

AAUP Distributes Statements About Staughton Lynd Issue

A statement is currently being circulated among the SIU faculty asking support of the appointment of Staughton Lynd to Chicago State College in Chicago.

Lynd is a Yale history professor whose appointment was rejected by the Illinois Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities.

The Board of Governors rejected Lynd because of a trip he took to North Vietnam and his stand on civil disobedience.

Mrs. Jo Ann Boydston, president of the SIU chapter of the American Association of University Professors, said that statements are being distributed and asked interested faculty members to sign.

The statements were printed and sent to Mrs. Boydston by the Committee for Academic Freedom in Illinois. This committee was formed following Lynd's rejection by the board.

Lynd had been assured a Tryouts Scheduled For Tolkien Play

Interpreters Theater will hold open tryouts for Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings" at 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday in the Calpre Stage on the second floor of the Communications Building.

The production will be presented in the form of a trilogy, with a different section of the trilogy performed on three successive nights.

The production will be presented from Nov. 2-4 and 9-11.

Three reading hours will be presented by Interpreters Theater on Oct. 6, 17 and Dec. 1. They are open to the public.

Student Explains Absence to Police

An SIU student from Jonesboro who was reported missing in August has returned home and the Security Office file has been officially closed.

A spokesman for the Security Office said Warren E. Racker, 18, was last seen August 15 and was not heard from by his parents or officials until Sept. 3.

Racker told SIU officials that he had hitched a ride to Hammond, Ind., to get a job and returned to his parents' home Sept. 18.

SIU Sophomore Killed In Summer Accident

Jack L. Stevens, a sophomore from Monmouth, was killed in a car-truck accident this summer. The accident occurred between Galesburg and Monmouth.

position as associate professor of history at Chicago State College by the chairman of the department and the president of the college. He is presently bringing suit against the Board of Governors on the grounds that this assurance constituted a valid contract.

The Board's statement said it "does not question Dr. Lynd's ability as a scholar and as a teacher of history" but "his public activities... go beyond mere dissent."

Richard J. Nelson, chairman of the board and the only one who voted in favor of Lynd's appointment, pointed out that Lynd was a Quaker and a pacifist. Nelson said that he thought the appointment of Lynd "would bring a challenging personality to the campus and stimulate healthy discussion."

Holding the opposite view, William Allen, a member of the Board voting for rejection, said "We in no way quarreled with Dr. Lynd's right to dissent. But he went beyond dissent--engaging in and supporting unlawful activity. And right is right, and law is law. It is as simple as that."

Mrs. Boydston said she hopes to have all the statements by the Oct. 2 meeting of the local AAUP.

Medical Self-Help Course Offered In Adult Program

A seven-week course in medical self-help will be offered as part of the fall schedule of adult evening courses conducted by the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education.

The course covers material not included in standard first aid training, according to Adult Education Supervisor Tom Dardis. Subjects will include infant care and childbirth, heart attacks, how to transport and handle the injured, radiation from fallout, control of hemorrhage, artificial respiration, and treatment of burns, poisons and miscellaneous everyday injuries.

Meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays from October 5 to November 16, the class will be taught by Frank Little, executive deputy director of Jackson County Civil Defense and disaster chairman of Jackson County Red Cross. He will be assisted in several sessions by a local physician. Red Cross and Civil Defense training films will be used.

Tuition is $5.60 plus 75 cents for textbook. Those completing the course will receive certificates from SIU, the American Red Cross, and Civil Defense.

Persons interested may register in advance at the SIU Adult Education office, 908 S. Wall St., Carbondale, or at the first class session in Room 144 of the Agriculture Building on October 5.

Convocation Ranges From Singers to Saucers

A series of 10 programs ranging from a flying saucer expert to a French singer and composer will be featured in the convocation series.

The program will begin Thursday with an address by President Delyte W. Morris at 10 a.m. in the Arena.

Paul Hibbs, coordinator of special events, said the convocations this year will include appearances by columnist Drew Pearson, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana and comedian Henry Morgan.

As in past years, SIU students must attend six programs per quarter for three quarters in order to complete the requirements for graduation. Most of the programs will be held at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Thursdays in Shryock Auditorium.

Following President Morris, the next program will feature pianist Henry L. Scott on Sept. 21.

This is the tenth time that Scott has presented a program at Southern.

The nationally syndicated columnist Drew Pearson will begin the October programs on Oct. 5. On Oct. 12, Pearl Buck, author and humanitarian, will present a lecture.

Ronal Rogers' "A Cavalcade of Musical Comedy" will be the Oct. 19 show. Jean Shepherd, winner of Playboy's Satire/Humor award, will present the last program of the month on Oct. 26.

The Gregg Smith Singers will perform on Nov. 2. Bill Sands, a leader for prison reform who has been featured on several TV shows recently, will lecture on Nov. 9.

French singer and composer Charles Aznavour will present a program in both English and French Nov. 16. He will be followed by Irv Wermont, a memory expert, Nov. 30. Wermont will also present a seminar at 7:30 p.m. in Lawson 161.

The Holiday Assembly will be held Dec. 7 at 10 a.m. at the Arena.

The Winter Quarter convocation program begins with "Come Dance With Us" on Jan. 4. On Jan. 11 the author of "Prospects of Immortality," Robert Ettinger, will lecture.

On Jan. 18 The Southern Players will give a theatrical presentation. The Rev. William Coffin, Jr., chaplain at Yale University, will present a program on Jan. 25 in conjunction with Religion-in-Life Week.

The SIU Symphonic Band will give a concert at the first convocation in February. It will be followed on Feb. 8 by Henry Morgan, humorist, author and television personality. On Feb. 15 Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana will lecture.

A former Metropolitan Opera star, Eleanor Steber, will give the Feb. 22 program. She will be followed by a flying saucer expert, James Moseley, on Feb. 29. On March 7 the University Choir will be featured at the convocation program.

The Spring Quarter begins with Richard Armour, who is the author of the successful "It all started with..." books.

April 4 the Paul Winter Jazz Ensemble will present a concert. He will be followed April 11 by the SIU Interpreters Theater.

On April 18 Miquel Rubio will give a classical guitar concert. The last program for April will feature Agnes Morehead, actress and television personality.

Southern to Offer 40 Adult Courses

Southern Illinois University's Division of Technical and Adult Education will offer 40 adult evening courses on the Carbondale and Vocational-Technical Institute Campuses during the fall term.

Registration for 29 courses scheduled on the Carbondale Campus will be at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 25, in Room 41 of University School. Persons wishing to enroll in one or more of the 11 courses offered on the VTI Campus may register at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 26, in Building F-1, formerly called the Classroom Building.

Classes will begin on their respective evenings the week of October 2, according to Adult Education Director Glenn E. Wills. He emphasized that it is important to register in advance or at the scheduled time because no class will begin with fewer than 12 students.

Advance registration is underway during regular office hours at the Adult Education office, 908 S. Wall St., Carbondale.

The Eva Jessye Choir will present a concert on May 2. The next Thursday, at 10 a.m., in the Arena only, the convocation will be turned over to the SIU Spring Festival.

The final concert of the year in the convocation series will be May 16 by the SIU Orchestra. And the last convocation of the year will be May 23. This is Activities Day at SIU and the program will be held at 10 a.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Adult Education Offers Short Course On United Nations

A six-session short course on the United Nations is being offered this fall at SIU by the Division of Technical and Adult Education.

"Great Decisions Facing the United Nations in 1967" will be conducted in cooperation with the Southern Illinois chapter of the United Nations Association of the United States and the United Church Women of Carbondale, according to SIU Adult Education Coordinator Harold Engkeling.

Meetings will be held in Davis Auditorium from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays for three weeks beginning September 26. Fee for the entire course is $1.

"This course is designed to provide participants with a better understanding of the United Nations. Each program will start with a short lecture, followed by a small group discussion period," says Engkeling.

Lecturers will include George Axtelle, A. W. Bork, Louis Hahn, Wayne Leys and Frank Klingberg of the SIU faculty, and Dorothy Cox of Carbondale and Mrs. Wayne Leys of Makanda.

Persons wishing to participate in the short course should register in advance at the SIU adult education office or telephone 453-2202.

New Motor Vehicle Rules Introduced

SIU's revised motor vehicle regulations went into effect last week with two major changes involved. Both revisions concern student eligibility to operate motor vehicles while attending SIU.

Under the new regulations, seniors with a 3.5 grade average or better and juniors with a 3.75 average or higher are eligible to register and operate motor vehicles.

Approximately 1,200 SIU upperclassmen meet the grade requirements, according to Dean of Students Wilbur Moulton.

The second change involves the "two-mile limit" concept, under which students were granted vehicle privileges if they lived beyond the two-mile radius from the campus, which was considered too distant to walk.

The revised motor vehicle rules now state that "no student will be granted an exception to the motor vehicle policy solely on the basis of the remoteness of his housing from campus, so long as housing is available in accepted living centers located where use of a private motor vehicle is not required."

Dean Moulton explained that the "two mile limit" was abolished because there is now a surplus of accepted housing within walking distance of the campus.

Wesley Foundation Forum Planned

The Sunday Evening Forum at the Wesley Foundation will be "Imperatives for a Revolutionary Age." It will be held after a light dinner at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Foundation.

The program will be presented by students on the topic of the campus ministry in higher education.

The Wesley Foundation Well Coffee House hours are 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. daily. This weekend an experimental Film, "It's About This Carpenter," will be featured.

The Well is open to all members of the University community.

Hartzog Predicts Best Year Yet For '67-68 Saluki Track Squad

SIU's Saluki mascots may find they're no longer the swiftest things around this winter when Lew Hartzog's track squad hits the boards for the 1967-68 indoor season.

Hartzog doesn't need a crystal ball to predict the best year yet for Saluki track. The cream of the veteran crop returns, in addition to two choice recruits and some promising underclassmen.

Hartzog said he has hopes of placing as many as 11 men in the finals of the NCAA Track and Field Championships next June and he feels a fourth place team finish wouldn't be an unreasonable goal.

Heading the list of returning veterans is Oscar Moore. The 29-year old ex-Olympian holds school records in the three and six-mile events and finished second and fourth in these events at the 1967 NCAA meet.

Possibly the athlete with the most potential at SIU is junior Chuck Benson. The 6-4 basketball star grabbed fourth place in the NCAA's 440-yard dash. Benson's 46.2 time shouldn't stand long as a record at SIU this year.

"Chuck could do 45 flat out of the blocks in my opinion," Hartzog said. "He has tremendous pain toleration and perfect build for this race."

Triple jumper John Vernon was another Saluki scorer in the collegiate championships, finishing third.

Sprinter Ross MacKenzie was a qualifier in the 440 along with Benson. He was a member of the Canadian Pan American Games team this summer.

Also back are half-miler Jeff Duxbury, who was a NCAA semi-finalist; high jumper Mitch Livingston, who holds the school standard at 6-9 1/4; dashmen Al-Deppe and Thel Jeffries, and hurdler Jim Thomas.

Sophomore Mark Cox could be one of the top collegiate hammer throwers in the nation at season's end. Cox, who had never touched a hammer prior to last year, threw the 16-pound ball 185 feet during the summer. This would have been good enough to score in last year's championships.

Two prized newcomers are Jim Stewart and Herman Gary, whom Hartzog re-recruited in late August. Both are SIU record holders, who have been in the service and will start school again winter quarter.

Gary, a Vietnam veteran, is a high hurdler whose best time in the 120-yard hurdles is 14.4. He holds SIU's 60-yard high and low hurdles records at 7.4 and 6.9.

Stewart is a sprinter whose best times are 6.2, 9.4, 20.6 and 46.6 for the 60, 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes.

In addition to these individuals Hartzog feels the 440 and mile-relay teams have a good chance of qualifying for this year's championships.

"Barring injuries this should be a very successful track season," Hartzog said, "I can hardly wait for it to begin."

The highest SIU finish in the NCAA championships was the 1962 squad's fourth place. Hartzog feels he has the material to repeat that with a few points more than the 1962 team's 26.

Track and Field News, the trackman's bi-weekly Who's Who, picked the Salukis to finish seventh in the nation prior to last season.

"They hit it right on the nose," Hartzog said. "It will be interesting to see where they pick us this season."

'Playful' Karras Nabs Top NFL Defensive Player Award

NEW YORK (AP) --Alex Karras has this thing about quarterbacks, Bart Starr in particular. There is nothing personal about it. Playful

Alex just likes to flatten quarterbacks and Starr is supposed to be Mr. Super Bowl after last season.

If Karras missed his old pass rushing partner, Roger Brown, who has been traded to Los Angeles, he didn't show it Sunday when the Detroit Lions fought Green Bay to a 17-17 tie.

Karras personally threw Starr four times and the Lion's defensive unit dropped the Packer ace seven times for losses of 59 yards. In addition, they intercepted Starr four times. As he had only three interceptions all last year, the performance was a shocker.

Because Karras led the Lions' pass rush and kept constant pressure on Starr, the Associated Press has named the 6-foot-2, 245-pound veteran the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Even Vince Lombardi, the Packer coach, called Karras' play sensational.

Jerry Kramer, the Packer guard who played opposite Karras, commented, "Karras had a lovely game." All of which should make their Oct. 8 rematch at Detroit a day to remember.

It was difficult to separate any of the Dallas Cowboys' front four in their superior effort at Cleveland. George Andrie, Willie Townes, Jethro Pugh and Bob Lilly all did their part in a 21-14 victory over the Browns. Linebacker Chuck Howley ran back an interception for the winning score.

The Cowboy front four threw Frank Ryan four times, deflecting four more passes and hit the passer seven times as he was about to throw. There were three interceptions.

Saluki Mentor Disappointed With Passing Game, Fumbles

A bad case of first game jitters, a slick playing field and "just plain bad ball-handling" resulted in a high number of turnovers in SIU's football opener with Northeast Missouri here Saturday.

The stat sheets of the SIU 18-7 win revealed that the Salukis fumbled on six occasions, losing possession three times, and had one pass intercepted.

"That type of ball handling would have gotten us beat if we had been playing later in the season," coach Dick Towers said. "We were fortunate Northeast Missouri was having the same problem holding on to the ball."

The visiting Bulldogs fumbled five times, losing possession twice, and had three passes intercepted. Towers also expressed disappointment in his team's passing game:

"Most of the passes were thrown well. We'll have to brush up quite a bit on the receiving end of the line."

Quarterbacks Tim Kelley and Barry Stine completed 7 of 15 attempts.

Towers indicated that if the Salukis had been able to hang onto the ball better, the score could have been more impressive.

A case in point was when Kelley fumbled on the opponents' three yard line on a third and goal situation. The Salukis recovered but on the next play were thrown for a five yard loss.

SIU may have muffed another chance when Barry Stine lost possession on the Northeast 14 with a first and ten situation existing.

An early fumble in the first quarter on their own nine might have meant early disaster had not SIU linebacker Bob Roberts intercepted a Bulldog pass two plays later. He returned the ball to his own 38.

When they were able to hang onto the ball however, the Salukis ground out a total of 269 net yards rushing as compared to only 34 for the visitors. In the air, the winners held an 80-52 edge.

ONE OF MANY INJURIES—Gene Pace, split end for the Salukis, is having his knee worked on by one of the trainers during Saturday's game. Also injured were Tom Wirth and Terry Cotham. These injuries will cause lineup changes for the upcoming game with Louisville.

Injuries a Factor

Towers Shuffles Lineup For Louisville Contest

Several injuries in Saturday's football game against Northeast Missouri State will cause a change in some key positions in the Saluki lineup for the game with Louisville Saturday, Coach Dick Towers reports.

The dislocated elbow incurred by Tom Wirth will cause Doug Hollinger, normally a halfback, to move to the fullback spot. When situations call for stronger blocking, Ron Morse may move to fullback. Morse weighs 202 pounds, while Hollinger is only 166.

Morse has been suffering from bleeding ulcers, and lost five pints of blood during the training camp. He has been on medication since the training camp started.

The other offensive changes involve the end positions.

Split end Gene Pace suffered a wrenched knee and Terry Cotham, the starting tight end, has been sick since training camp and those two will definitely be out of action against Louisville.

John Ference will move to tight end to replace Cotham and Tom Massey will move to split end in place of Ference, who started there last week.

Towers said that with this change "there will be better receiving at both the tight end and the split end spot. I was very disappointed with the receiving in Saturday's game."

Several of quarterback Barry Stine's passes were on target but were dropped by the receivers.

"If we don't catch the ball in a crucial game," Towers said, "we're dead."

Quarterback Stine, who was alternated with Tim Kelley and John McKay last week, will probably go all the way in the Louisville game.

On defense, Larry Cox, who was out with a shoulder injury, will return to the defensive secondary. This should help because Louisville is expected to throw the ball about 35 times, according to Towers.

The two defensive guards, Bill Patrick and Dale Dickhut, will start but Bob Morwitz, a 240-pound freshman, may see plenty of action. Offensive tackle Bob Hudspeth may see action on defense as well, if the defensive middle has trouble containing the Louisville rushing game.

Levias Named Back-of-the-Week

By the Associated Press

Jerry Levias, who showed how he earned his nickname of Big Play by scoring the winning touchdown in Southern Methodist's 20-17 victory last Saturday, was named Wednesday as The Associated Press' college football Back of the Week.

There was just four seconds left in the game against Texas A&M at College Station when the junior flanker back made a twisting, leaping catch of Ines Perez' six-yard pass for the Mustangs' opening victory.

Favored Texas A&M had taken a 17-13 lead when Edd Hargett hit Bob Long on a 29-yard touchdown pass with just 43 seconds remaining.

Then Big Play Jerry went to work. He returned the ensuing kickoff 24 yards and caught a 29-yard pass to put SMU on the Aggie 29. Perez then moved SMU to the six, and, as a national television audience watched, threw the clincher to Levias.

Levias, the first Negro to receive an athletic scholarship in the Southwest Conference, didn't wait until the waning seconds to make his presence felt. He returned an earlier kickoff 46 yards and got SMU moving toward a first-period field goal. He also caught a 12-yard run for five and caught another pass for 20 to set up a second-quarter TD.

For the day, he caught seven passes for 80 yards and returned three kickoffs for 87 more.
