.N. bombs Serbs as deadline passes

Serbs defy NATO:

U.N. to continue firing until Serbs withdraw from Sarajevo, movement seems possible

The Washington Post

PALE, Bosnia-Herzegovina-The Bosnian Serbs, apparently defying NATO and the United heavy weapons from around Sarajevo Monday night as a NATO deadline passed and Western warplanes roared over this Serb stronghold.

Seconds after the 11 p.m. (5 p.m. EDT) deadline passed, NATO warplanes flew low over Pale, the rebel Serb headquarters 10 miles east of Sarajevo, and two explosions rocked the area. The blasts were followed by the wail of Serb air raid sirens. (The Bosnian Serb news agency, in a dispatch filed at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, claimed that NATO warplanes had attacked the Serbheld of Vogosca to the north of Sarajevo. But the one-paragraph report gave no further details.)

NATO's southern headquarters in Naples, which directs Western military action over the Balkans, denied any NATO bombing, suggesting the explosions could have been sonic booms. But in any case, the apparent defiance of an ultimatum on withdrawing the weapons placed the Serbs on another collision course with NATO unless they reverse course quickly and move the artillery and heavy equipment from around the besieged Bosnian

Despite some Western reports to the contrary, several Serb witnesses who drove the length of a strategic road that runs on a Serb-held ridge high above Sarajevo said they saw no movement of Serb weaponry Monday night. In addition, NATO officials said shortly before the deadline expired that they had yet to see any convincing evidence that the Bosnian Serbs intended to move their guns away from Sarajevo.

Nevertheless, a U.N. spokeswoman in Sarajevo reported that Bosnian Serb forces were seen assembling heavy weapons in several Serb-held suburbs of the capital in what could

Saluki Grill now closed during day

Kidnapped girl still missing; father expected to head West

By Julie Rendleman Daily Egyptian Reporter

Eight-year-old Demetria Moro has been missing for eight days, after being abducted from her Giant City Elementary School classroom. But members of a school parent organization say Carbondale citizens cannot give up hope that she will be returned safely to her fami-

GREECE, MACEDONIA RELATIONS STRENGTHENED-

WASHINGTON—After months of pressure from the Clinton administration and the United Nations, Greece and neighboring Macedonia agreed Monday to resolve their differences amicably, defusing a worrisome flashpoint on the margins of the conflict in Bosnia. The dispute-sparked in part by Greek objections to Macedonia's flag and the nation's very name-arose because of Greek fears that Macedonia had territorial ambitions in the northern Greek province also called Macedonia. Simultaneous announcements in Washington, Athens and Skopje, the Macedonian capital, said the Greek and Macedonian foreign ministers will meet in New York next week to take the first steps toward the creation of a basis for friendly relations between the two countries.

'REVOLUTION' BEGINS AS CONFERENCE OPENS

BEIJING—Declaring that women are "no longer guests on this planet."
Tanzanian political leader Gertrude Mongella opened the U.N. Fourth World Conference on Women here Monday amid continuing controversy over pervasive Chinese security and hopes for an international consensus to reduce the specter of domestic and state violence against women. In a lavish welcoming ceremony held in the capital's Great Hall of the People, Mongella, the conference's secretary-general, amounced to cheers and trills from thousands of women: "This planet belongs to them (women) too. A revolution has begun." But despite the enthusiasm, this week's conference heralds less a revolution than a holding pattern. International delegates are digging in to preserve positions on abortion and sex education that were agreed on last year at the U.N. Conference on Population and Development in Cairo, Egypt.

JERUSALEM—The fireworks began long before anyone lit a match.
Mayor Ebud Olmert hoped that a celebration of the 3,000th anniversary of King David's conquest of Jerusalem would help bring more tourists to a peaceful and united Holy City. Instead, it has brought more controversy to the disputed land from those who opposed the predominantly Jewish character of the gala—and others who thought it wasn't Jewish enough.
Still others argued with the choice of birth date. Dodging the political heat, tens of thousands of Israelis turned out Monday night to see the real fireworks and a laser light show in the Valley of the Cross.

OFFICIAL LANGUAGE BECOMES NATIONAL ISSUE — WASHINGTON—The movement to make English the official language of the United States is a byproduct of rising national concern over immigration. Like the term-limits movement, it has been scoring notable successes at the state level and now is emerging as a national issue. Earlier this summer, New Hampshire became the 22nd state to make English its exclusive language for public documents and public proceedings. While that action may have special significance for candidates eyeing its first-in-the-nation presidential primary, it is just one step in what advocates see as an accelerating campaign. When then-Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas signed the Arkansas version of the law in 1987, only eight other states had such statutes. Next month, the first congressional hearings on the issue have been called by Rep. Randy (Duke) Cunningham, R-Calif., whose San Diego district may be as sensitive to the repercussions of illegal immigration as any in the country.

POLICE INVESTIGATE POSSIBLE SERIAL KILLINGS WASHINGTON—Since 1985, the bodies of at least 20 women—primarily prostitutes, transients and drug addicts—have been found nude or partly clothed in schoolyards and woods throughout the District of Columbia. None of the cases has been closed with an arrest. Now police have assembled a team of detectives to determine if the slavings are the work of a single killer. They are preparing to turn over forensic evidence to the FBI in hopes that science labs can turn up something concrete from the string of deaths. "We don't know how all of them died, who all of them were, if (the deaths) are all connected somehow," said an investigator on the case, "We don't even know if all of them were murkered. But there were too many similarities to not look at them together.

Parking division extends sticker expiration date

By Julie Rendleman Daily Egyptian Reporter

The expiration date of Aug. 30 for SIUC parking stickers has been extended by the parking division until Sept. 30.

Brian Mager, administrative assistant in the parking division, said renewing the date of the parking stickers was necessary. the rush for parking stickers by lengthening the expiration date," Mager said.

The parking division is open Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Students want-ing to renew their stickers are reminded to bring a University I.D., drivers license, liability

Jenny Newman, a junior in education from Peoria, said, "I am so glad they extended the date, because my rent is due pretty soon and I would have been close to broke."

A spokesman for the SIUC police said they have been notified of the change in the date of the parking sticker expiration and will not be giving tickets to students without updated stickers until Sept. 30. Steve Simon, an undeclared sophomore from Chicago, said, "I did not know they extended the date. They should have sent out letters in the mail.

Paul Suchecki, a graduate student in plant biology, said he does more outdoor activities when the weather is cooler.

"Bike riding, hiking, rock climbing, and rappelling are the main things people do here (Giant City Park)," Suchecki said.

Clinton should hear diverse SIUC voices

SO...YOU SAY PRESIDENT CLINTON IS COMING to town? Great! To be sure, this is a rare opportunity for most people in Carbondale to see a presidential speech first hand. But hopefully it will be more than that. Hopefully, some students, faculty, and community members will have the opportunity to actually meet the president and bend his ear about issues that are important to them. And hopefully, those lucky people will be diverse in background as well as interest.

CLINTON'S VISIT IS PART OF HIS PUSH FOR financial aid, and visiting a university is an excellent way to gain momentum for opposition of the proposed cuts in education being debated by the Republican-controlled Congress. But the president would gain even more points, and broaden his support base, by being as accessible as possible to as many interests as possible. Because Carbondale is largely a university community, there is a diverse selection of constituency groups available to him here. He need only take advantage of it. And the University officials who are helping to plan his visit should take steps to increase the accessibility to the president.

While the details of Clinton's visit are the responsibility of the Secret Service, University officials can help increase the accessibility of the president by holding out for as many open events involving Clinton as possible. Not all of these events will meet with the approval of the White House, but the more events Clinton is asked to attend, the more he will probably commit to. The more events the president attends, the more diverse the voice he will hear. It should go without saying that these events should be as public as possible, and held in areas large enough to accommodate large crowds.

THE FINAL DECISIONS ON ACCESSIBILITY OF the president obviously are made by Clinton and his staff. While planning Clinton's visit to Carbondale, we believe the president's staff should make an extra effort to allow time for Clinton to meet with leaders of some key constituency groups, rather than fly in and out of town on the same day. Not only would such meetings make excellent news and photo opportunities, but they would also help broaden the president's contact with his constituents.

Every citizen of Carbondale who is able should attend the president's speech. For many, it will be a once in a lifetime opportunity to witness a presidential address first-hand. But leaders of various constituency groups also should request meetings with the president. Not only would such a meeting be a unique opportunity for those leaders, it would certainly help make the president more aware of the issues they would like to see action on. And it could mean some free publicity on those issues.

IT IS IMPORTANT THAT THIS PRESIDENTIAL visit be more than just a presidential speech. This community offers a rich diversity of opinion and interests. It is the duty of organization leaders to voice those opinions, but it is up to University officials as well as the president's staff to make sure those voices reach the president. While the mere fact that Clinton will speak here honors the University and the community, the president should also stop to listen to the many voices of SIUC.

Headlines upset Native Americans

On Aug. 31, 1995 the DE ran an article by Doug Durso on the DE sports page about the upcoming SIU vs. SEMO football game entitled "Dawgs to circle wagons around Indians." On Sept. 1, the DE sports page read "Dawgs ambush Indians." We found these headlines extremely

We hope it was mere ignorance and not maliciousness that led to these headlines. As a University newspaper, we call on the Daily Egyptian to recognize and practice its responsibility to take an educated stance on issues of racial discrimi-nation and avoid engaging in practices offensive to Native Americans It is outraceous that certain unito engage in the discriminatory pra-ctice of calling their sports teams "Indians." Note that we do not toler-ate names such as the "SIU Orien-tals," the "U of 1 Blacks," nor the "SEMO Hispanics." Would the DE dare print a headline such as "Day plan to chain up the Blacks"? We sincerely hope not!

If Germans had named their sports If Cermans the "Jews" after the Holocaust, and claimed that this practice "bonored" Jewish people, it would be analogous to non-Indians calling their teams the "Indians" here in America.

Many prominent Native American leaders such as Tim Giago (editor and publisher of "Indian Country Today") and Clyde Bellecourt (of the American Indian Movement) are working to change the offensive names of sports teams like the Washington "Redskins" and Cleveland "Indians." We hope the DE will cover these legal actions and protests, since such actions are too often ignored by the non-Indian press.

Inter-Greek council has much to offer

On behalf of the Inter-Greek Council, I would like to welcome all students, new and returning, to SIUC. There are many ways to come more involved here at SIUC and I would like to take this oppor-tunity to tell you a little more about one. The Inter-Greek Council represents 27 chapters, both fraternities and soronities. We are one of the five largest organizations on campus with well over 1,000 members.

Being Greek holds many responsi-bilities as well as opportunities. All IGC chapters strive to achieve and maintain a high academic standard. This is done through study programs, study files, tutors, etc. Each chapter also has various philanthropies that they have fund-raisers for throughout the year. All chapters work toge ther on such events as the Red Cross Blood Drive, Multiple Sclerosis Walk-A-Thon and Carbondale Clean and Green to name just a few For those members interested in holding offices, many opportunities are available within the chapters, subcouncils and IGC. Through all of this, you will meet some of the most interesting and caring people, some of which you will stay in contact with your entire life.

Joining a Greek organization is easy. Just come up to the Inter-Greek Council office on the third floor of the Student Center and pick up an application for rush. During this time you will get to visit the chapter houses and meet their members. Interfraternity Council Rush will be held Sept. 5-9. Panhellenic Rush will be held Sept. 6-9. National Panhellenic Smoker/Rush will be held Sept. 25-Oct. I.

For those of you who have already decided to rush, good luck! For those of you who are undecided, give Greek life a chance.

SIU parking hardly worth wait

If the word hassle could be given physical form it would take the shape of an SIUC parking decal. A least, this is what I thought as I stood in line last week for over an hour in ninety degree weather just to find out that the registration and insurance form that I held in my sweating hand, along with a yellow card that contained basic information about myself, were indeed a registration, an insurance form and a yellow card.

Oh, and don't forget proof of cur-rent enrollment. As if any non-stu-dent would want to pay $30.00 to participate in SIUC's daily clamorous competition for dwindling parking spaces.

With that important bit of scrutiny completed, I was then advanced to the second line, whose end was still in the blazing heat of a green-house afternoon, but whose termination would bring me to the air-conditioned heart of SIU's park-

I was overcome by a sense of sat-isfaction as 1 looked at the poor suckers who were at the end of (the) line I had just left.

While I stood in the second line, estimating the number of calories I was losing to the sun, I suddenly wondered to myself, why couldn't all this be done by the mail? Would it not be easier just to mail or fax a copy of my registration and insurance to the parking division? Why the bureaucracy? The answer soon made itself known

Upon entering the parking division building I was met by a work-er who asked me for my SIUC identification card in order to determine whether or not I had any outstanding tickets.

Damn it! They had me right where they wanted me - pay now or come back later to stand in line again. Reluctantly I handed my ID to the

My mind raced as I tried to calculate the number of tickets I had received last semester. There was the ticket I received for parking in a 15-minute loading zone for 17 utes. Then there was the ticket 1 received for inadvertently parking in a blue lot space — my apologies for usurping a faculty member's parking position to an institution that I support financially (via tuition and parking tickets.) And how about the time I backed into a parking space instead of pulling for-ward. And don't forget the ticket. ... Just then the smiling worker handed me my ID and pointed toward the third and final line. I looked at the worker incredulously. How could it be that I had no tickets to pay for? Then I remembered that all my tickets had gone to my bursar bill for my convenience (and the parking division's.) It was almost like not getting the tickets in the first place.

The final line went quickly, and before I knew it, I was walking back out into the heat of the afternoon. Four pounds and $30,00 lighter and with a tan that was three shades darker than when I first started, I graced my vehicle with a red decal.

These are highly unusual movements, and there is a sign the weapons could be readying for a withdrawal," Maj. Myriam Souchaki told the Reuter news agency. The U.N. observations were forwarded to French Lt. Gen. Bernard Janvier, overall U.N. commander in the Balkans, and Adm. Leighton Smith, who heads the Naples-based NATO southern mand, she added.

NATO last week carried out three days of intensive airstrikes against Šerb radar sites, ammunition dumps and antiaircraft batteries in Bosnia. If new airstrikes come in full, as NATO governments have warned, the targets this time are likely to include the Serbs' heavy weapons, an estimated 300 of which are hidden in the thick forests around Sarajevo.
One NATO official said NATO and U.N. staff officers spent the day refining target lists, although resumption of attacks would depend on the weather over Sarajevo as well as a desire by commanders to keep the Serbs off balance and achieve some measure of tactical surprise.

In a last-ditch attempt to avoid renewed NATO air attacks. Bosnian Serb military leader Gen. Ratko Mladic said he would pull back his guns if the United Nations guarantees that the 25,000 mostly Muslim government troops in Sarajevo would not take advantage of the withdrawal. One U.N. official said Mladic's offer, which came only hours before the ultima-"wasn't serious."

For his part, Bosnian Serb political leader Radovan Karadzic made a last-minute offer through the auspices of Jimmy Carter. The former U.S. president arranged a cease-fire between Serbs and Muslims earlier this year, and is seen by the Bosnian Serb leadership as a powerful American who understands their

But U.N. spokesmen said that at least Monday night words and promises did not interest them. "If he doesn't play ball, he's going to be hit very hard," U.N. spokesman Alexander Ivanko said of the Serb general.

The Bosnian Serbs fought the NATO-U.N. ultimatum because any change in the balance of forces around Sarajevo will hurt their position in upcoming peace talks. The Serb leadership has demanded part of Sarajevo in any peace deal. But any weakening by the Serbs of their siege of the city will severely hurt their claims to a part of Sarajevo.

It was clear Monday night that the sudden switch in tactics by NATO and the United Nations has thrown the Serb leadership into disarray. Last week, the international organizations, under intense pressure from the Clinton administration, embraced a tough new policy of dealing with the Serbs after more than three years of shying away from confrontation. The new policy, while in the making for some time, was catalyzed by the killing of 37 people in a Serb mortar attack on a Sarajevo marketplace Aug. 28.

Last week's NATO attacks were accompanied by a joint ultimatum, which ordered the Serbs to pull their heavy weapons 12{ miles from Sarajevo's city center, reopen Sarajevo's airport for aid flights and allow civilian traffic to enter and leave Sarajevo-steps that would effectively break the Serbs' 3{-year siege of the capital.

New timber law affects U.S. forests

The Los Angeles Times

High in the El Dorado National Forest in California, overlooking Lake Tahoe, lumberman Cecil Wetzel eyed an 80-foot-high pon-derosa pine that the federal government won't let him cut down.

"I'll be honest with you. I lust after a tree like that," Wetzel said, estimating its market value at around $7,000.

For three years, Wetzel's compa-ny and the rest of California's timber industry have been shut out of much of the Sierra Nevada as a result of environmental pressures. Wetzel said he had to lay off 45 percent of his work force and across the Sierra 10 sawmills have shut

But the balance of power in the nation's forests is shifting. Congress has passed a law allow-ing the Forest Service to sidestep environmental regulations, barring review of logging decisions and sharply limiting the ability of oppo-nents to block tree cutting in the

"I'm not worried. My money is fine," he replied without hesita-tion. Oe said he was confident even though his savings exceed the approximately $100,000 cov-ered by deposit insurance in Japan.

Librarian Etsuko Kotake, taking a slightly different view, confided that she was "30 percent worried"—a 3 on a worry scale of 10—about the stability of the major banks where she keeps her savings. But her money is spread among four banks, with no Mary Mary

Mergers leave American workers on shaky ground

The Los Angeles Times

As major U.S. companies rush to merge in a record flurry of multibillion-dollar transactions, the justification for each deal is virtually identical: a desire for new synergies, a need to cut costs, a rush to reach a size that begets a greater sense of market control.

But where does this leave the average American? Probably suffering an acute case of job insecu-rity, after already enduring five years of paltry salary increases and other painful sacrifices in the name of corporate profitability, some economists argue.

The 1995 merger boom, which at the current pace will result in worth a record $411 billion for the full year, is reheating the debate over the allegedly growing gap between rich and poor in America and the serving of share-holders' interests over workers'.

Critics say the trend toward cor-porate gigantism in media, banking, telecommunications and other key industries essentially helps transfer wealth and power from the mass of workers to a relatively small group of top executives nd to major investors.
As evidence, some economists cite the surge in corporate profits over the past five years—which has fueled Wall Street's stock bull market-while in the same period worker pay has stagnated overall.

On Thursday, Labor Secretary
Robert Reich declared that a "silent majority" of American workers is failing to keep pace with the country's advancing economy, and is threatened anew by merger-related job cuts.

"Millions of white-collar super-visors and mid-level managers are joining blue-collar production workers in a common category, 'frayed-collar workers'—frayedcollar workers in gold-plated times," Reich said.

For their part, business leaders contend that the ongoing cost-cut-ting and consolidation are being forced by the increasingly competitive global market and by dra-matic technological changes that have allowed suppliers of goods and services to produce much more with less. That, in turn, can quickly create excess production capacity world-wide, forcing a redoubling of efforts to lower costs, executives say. Without strong finances and critical mass, many American risk a fast demise, taking every ob with them, some economists argue.

"It's wrong to only look at temporary job losses" caused by the latest merger binge, says Michael Boskin, professor of economics at Stanford University. "Most of these mergers will produce companies that have much greater prospects for surviving and pros-pering in the future," he says.

Still, as the focus shifts to questioning the merits of accelerating corporate consolidation, some economists are intrigued with comparisons between this merger wave and the one that swept America 100 years ago. There were tremendous benefits to the consumers of the day, as product prices fell. For example, new machinery reduced the labor costs of cigarette production by 98.5 percent and the cost of steel rails by 88 percent, according to a study by Michael Jensen, a Harvard University economist.

But that technological progress also disenfranchised large numbers of workers, Jensen says. As corporate bigness reached epic proportions—symbolized by the Standard Oil Trust—so too did public outrage over the perceived dangers of business concentration and wealth concentration.

To those who feel Gelirig and those whose records have been broken are forgotten men, let's take a look at the facts: Hank Aaron broke some guy named Babe Ruth's home run record ... who's Babe Ruth? Greg Maddux may win his fourth Cy Young Award, breaking the record of three set by Sandy Koufax . Sandy Koufax — never heard of him. Cobb and Brock? Who are these guys?

I know it's obvious to most who these people are, but that's exactly my point. When Ripken breaks Gehrig's record, the "Iron Horse" will be anything but forgotten, and the purists will move on to someone else about to break another record.

It also seems obvious that those trying to rain on Ripken's parade are in it only for publicity and to be recognized as a rebel. As much as I believe in being different, it seems silly to be selfish.

So I say play on, Cal, and I hope you play 3,000 in a row. Chris Clark is a senior in jour-

Saluki Cross Country

Dawgs run to victory

Daily Egyptian Reporter

The SIUC men's crosscountry team made tracks this weekend as the Saluki's defeated Kansas University and Southern Indiana in the first meet of the season.

In dual meet scoring, SIUC outpaced Kansas 17-38, and outran Southern Indiana 23-

Five of the tcp ten finishers were from SIUC. Defending MVC champion, Stelios Marneros finished first in a field of 27, posting a time of 19:30.6. Marneros said this meet felt more like a practice run than an actual competition.

"The race was like a time trial for me. This race was easier because it was only four miles and it is usually five or

The course was shortened because the amount of humidity present.

Freshmen Jeremy Parks, Andrew Fooks and Joseph Parks finished fourth, fifth and seventh respectively.

Pre-race nerves did not affect the performances of the Parks twins. Jeremy Parks ran the course in 19:50.3, while his brother, Joseph, ran the course in a time of 19:54.7.

Jeremy Parks was pleased with his race. "I'm really surprised and happy with my

Injury-depleted Salukis struggle in opening meet

By Melanie Gray Daily Egyptian Reporter

The SIUC women's cross-country team chased the University of Kansas and Southern Indiana but came up short last Saturday.

In the first meet of the season, Kansas outran the Salukis 24-36 and Southern Indiana defeated SIUC 25-30.

SIUC was without several runners in the contest. The loss of sophomore Kelly French, due to bronchitis especially hurt the squad.

"We were certainly affected with Kelly (our number two runner) out. We would have had three people in the top five" head coach Don DeNoon said.

Other missing runners included Beth Bayser and Mary Tucker.

There were good performances by several Saluki runners. Junior Kim Koerner placed second with a time of 18:28.4. Colleen Bouck, a freshman, ran a 18:49.8 earning a fourth place Southern Indiana runner Amy Roll won the race posting a 18:15.1. Coleen McClimon, the highest placing Kansas runner, finished third at Koerner was extremely pleased with her performance, considering the amount of time she has been able to condition due to injury.

"I'm happy. I ran the fastest time I've had on this course with limited practice time and training and still performed my best," she said. Bouck expressed surprise at her time,

Spikers go 1-2 on Indiana road trip

By Michael DeFord
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Following a demanding road trip to Indiana, the SIUC women's volleyball team returned to Carbondale on Sunday with a 1-2 road record.

The netters opened the '95 season on Friday by squaring off against the University of Southern California at the Notre Dame Invitational in South Bend, Ind.

The Trojans, ranked 12th in the nation, swept the Salukis in three straight matches, 15-7, 15-7 and 15-12, despite an impressive performance from senior setter Kim Golebiewski. Golebiewski led SIUC against the Trojans with 11 digs, four kills, 28 assists and a .571 hitting percentage. On Saturday, the netters clawed their way back to victory with a win over the Wildcats of Northwestern University. SIUC beat the Wildcats in five matches. The Wildcats won the first riatch 16-14 while SIUC took the next two and posting scores of 15-11 and 15-5. SIUC gave up the fourth match 16-14 before ng the final one with a score of 15-12

Senior outside hitter Heather Herdes led the Saluki netters against the Wildcats with 18 kills, 3 service aces and 21 digs. Hardes finished the match with a team high hitting percentage of .298.

On Sunday, SIUC fell victim to Loyola University. The Ramblers swept SIUC in three matches, 15-10, 15-11 and 15-6.

Senior middle blocker Kelly Parke led the Saluki attack against the Ramblers with eight kills and

This week, the netters travel to Evansville on Wednesday before returning home on Friday when the Salukis will play host to Indiana State and Austin Peay at the Saluki Invitational.

media forgotten that Mr. Gehrig is already enshrined in the Baseball

From the Pressbox

Hall of Fame? A man who collected 2,721 hits, hit 493 home runs and finished with a lifetime batting average of .340 will not be forgotten. Besides, with Ripken closing in on the record, Gehrig's name has been batted around more now than it has been in years.

Let's put this in perspective. If Ripken sits out Wednesday night's game? does that mean Eddie Murray has to stand and look at every pitch thrown to him between now and the end of his career, as not to offend the purists and become a member of the '500home run club?

Maybe Pete Rose should have saved the name of Ty Cobb and stopped at 4,190 hits or Rickey Henderson should have stayed planted to the bases after tying Lou Brock at 118 stolen bases. Pretty ridiculous, isn't it?

The 2nd Annual Cascade of Colors Hot Air Balloon Festival is coming to Carbondale on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 8, 9 and 10. This event has already grown into one of the largest in the country with 58 balloons registered to compete at the Southern Illinois Airport, located north of Route 13 west of Carbondale.

Route 13 west of Carbondale.

Spectators will love the colorful balloons as they launch each morning and evening to compete for $15,000 in prize money. Music, food, arts and crafts, a carnival, airplane and helicopter rides will be a part of the event. Of special significance is the wheelchair accessible balloon which will be available for children on Saturday and Sunday. And of course, the weekend would not be complete without the balloon glow and fireworks show on Saturday night. Be sure to be in attendance Saturday morning when spectators will have the chance to win $5,000 if a pilot can fly into the airport and grab a 10° ring from atop a 25° pole. This is an exciting part of balloon races which will be added to the Cascade of Colors event this year.

For more information on the first year call the Southern Illinois Airport at

For more information on the festival call the Southern Illinois Airport at 529-1721 or the Carbondale Convention and Tourism Bureau at 529-4451.

— COMMUNITY SERVICES — Citizens Advisory Committee to Meet With Northeast CarbondaleResidents

On Thursday, September 14, at 7:00 p.m. the Citizen Advisory Committee (C.A.C.) will meet with the residents of Northeast Carbondale to get their views, concerns and hopes for the northeast and for the entire Carbondale community. The meeting will be held at Thomas School.

This is the first of a number of community meetings planned for each area of the city. The main purpose of the meeting on September 14 is to hear from residents about their views of the northeast, their needs, views of the northeast, their needs views of the northeast, their needs, suggestions for making the northeast a better place to live and a more closely integrated city as a whole with a responsible voice in city af-

The C.A.C. will be looking for thoughts on ways to make the entire city a stronger, more closely-knit community. Carbondale is a unique community in Southern Illinois whose residents include a wide diversity of ethnic and cultural back-grounds, different age groups each with its own concerns, and people with a syning income levels. The Citizens Advisory Committee is concerned with making recommendations that can help improve the lives of all residents of Carbondale and making this a better place for all to live. place for all to live.

Carbondale is different, a blend of many cultures, more urban than most of the surrounding areas, but more rural and compact than many of you are accustomed to.

The City has excellent schools, parks, churches, medical facilities, retail and service businesses, civic organizations, and service clubs. Southern Illinois University, one of the nation's great universities, provides many added cultural, social and athletic activities that help provide a very high quality of life.

The City Council and Administration strives to be an "open" City government. Our Council Meetings are on Channel 16 and are open for public participation. Your ideas and suggestions are invited. You may volunteer to serve on one of several Advisory Boards and Commissions. SIUC students serve on several of these.

Welcome to Carbondale!

Saluki Express bus operations begin

For many years, SIU students and administrators, City officials and residents of the community have been working on a mass transit system. The Illinois Department of Transportation provided funds that were matched by City and SIU funds for a transit feasibility study. SIU students approved two advisory referendums to impose a transit fee upon themselves. This spring the SIU Board of Trustees took action to impose the fee and SIU took bids on a mass transit bus system. The buses are here and running.

The bus system goes by the name of Saluki Express. The buses have room for 35 seated passengers and two people in wheel chairs. Each bus has a wheel chair fift. The buses have air conditioning, something that has been welcome in recent weeks.

The bus system is almost entirely funded with SIU student fees. Consequently, the bus system is designed primarily to meet student needs. All For many years, SIU students and Community Dispute Resolution Center

A new program is now available through the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Clinical Pro-gram which provides for trained members of the community to act members of the community to act as mediators during a dispute resolution mediation session. The new program is called "Community Dispute Resolution Center," (CDRC) and is run through the ADR Clinic at the Southern Illimois University School of Law on campus. The purpose of the CDRC is to give people, who are involved in legal or non-legal disputes, a chance to work the problem out among themselves, with the help of a mediator.

The CDRC offers training to anyone in the community interested in becoming a mediator.

To become a mediator, a person must complete a 20-hour intense training session, tead the training manual, observe a mediation and co-mediate at least one.

The CDRC is available to any one who has a dispute with neigh-bors, family, friends, or businesses in the community. The CDRC gladly accepts referrals from indi-viduals or agencies to mediate a problem. However, the parties to the dispute must be voluntarily willing to mediate the dispute and reach an agreement.

More information about the Community Dispute Resolution center can be obtained by calling Cleveland Matthews, Community Relations Officer, at 549-5302.

Whetstone Reception

Whetstone Reception
The Carbondale Business Development Corporation hosted a reception on August 15 for Dennis Whetstone, Director of the State's Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA). Mr. Whetstone heads the State's economic development efforts and was in Carbondale for the dedication of the new tesa tape, inc. plant. Based on comments by Mr. Whetstone, we can expect Illinois to become more visible in economic development efforts than in recent years. The Director is very familiar with Southern Illinois and Carbondale as he is a native of Carmi and dale as he is a native of Carmi and a 1975 graduate of SIUC.

With the dedication of the new tesa tape, inc. facility in the City's Bicentennial Industrial Park, attention will now be given to the reuse of tti's old facility on North Illinois Avenue.

The City will acquire the The City will acquire the 350,000 square foot property in early 1996. The Carbondale Business Development Corporation has engaged a consultant that will present alternative approaches to utilizing the buildings to attract, create and retain jobs in the community.

Officials of tesa tape, inc. are pleased with their decision to build their new plant in Carbondale and spoke optimistically of expanding their Carbondale operations in the future. The tti facility provides an excellent anchor in the industrial park and will be beneficial in at-tracting future tenants to the park.

What Carbondale Needs Is...
Whether you have lived in Carbondale all of your life or just moved here recently, you have probably thought at least once about something needed in this community. We are all interested in making Carbondale a better place to live so next time you have that thought, please call or send it to the City Manager's Office. You never know, your idea may become reality!

City Violation Pay-By-Mail Program

The pay-by-mail program for pay-ing fines for City ordinance viola-tions is now in operation. One comment received from citizens over the year was the inconvenience to pay fines for violating various City laws. Persons would have to miss work or school in order to appear at the Court, even if they wanted to plead guilty and pay the fine. In re-sponse to these concerns the City Council adopted an amendment to the City Code which will allow per-sons to pay fines for certain City ordinance/code violations by mail. comment received from citizens over

The pay-by-mail system operates in the following manner:

1. The City employee (Police Officer, Building Inspector, Fire Inspector, etc.) who observes the violation will give a Notice to Appear in Court (rich). In the violation and at the (ticket) to the violator and at the same time give the violator a written pay-by-mail instructions and a fine

No personal checks will be accepted. Do not mail cash, Persons who pay in person at the Police Department can pay by cash, cashier's check, certified check, money order or (in the near future) by MasterCard or VISA.

Included in the pay-by-mail program are violations of a wide range of City Code provisions such as possession/consumption of alcoholic liquor on public property, underage possession of alcohol. Letting dogs run at large, unlicensed dogs, building related permits, standards for maintenance of dwellings and exterior property areas, littering, tall grass and weeds, improper storage of refuse, fights by agreement, public indecency, public urination, damage to property, trespass, curfew, using false identification, noise, and nitrous oxide. It is already possible to pay tickets for motor vehicle traffic violations by mail. The person issuing the ticket has the discretion as to whether to allow the violation to be handled through the pay-by-mail system. The severity of the offense and any prior violations will be considered. If two or more offenses occur at the same time and one is not eligible for pay-by-mail, then none of the offenses will be allowed to be paid by Included in the pay-by-mail proble for pay-by-mail, then none of the offenses will be allowed to be paid by

Housing Rehabilitation Program Continues

The City is moving forward with naking housing rehabilitation grants to low and moderate income owner/ to low and moderate income owner/occupants of homes in northeast Carbondale. These grants are made possible as a result of grants to the City from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and the Illinois Louisies Duples and the Illinois Housing Develop-ment Authority. Sufficient funds were available from the State to rehabilitate about 28 homes. Currently over 60 applications have been re-ceived. The City staff is busy verify-ing the applicants eligibility and inspecting the homes.

Any home rehabilitated must be brought up to housing code stan-dards. A set of criteria has been es-tablished to provide grants first to the persons and homes most in need of assistance. Persons who may not of assistance. Persons who may not have applied yet may do so by contacting the Development Services Department at 549-5302, ext. 248. Those applications may be considered later in the year if funds are still available then. The City intends to apply to the State for additional funds to continue the housing rehabilitation program next year.

routes serve the campus (including the on campus residences), Down-town, and student residential areas near campus. Route 8 runs Monday through Thursday from 9:00 p.m. until 11:58 p.m. Route 8W runs Friday and Saturday nights only from 9:00 p.m. until 2:31 a.m. The weekend late night route (8W) does not include Evergreen Terrace.

Maps and timetables for all the routes are available at the Student Center, City Hall, and various places around the City. Except where noted above, the buses run once per hour on each route. Riders should try to on each fouter. Anders should try to get to bus stops a few minutes ahead of the scheduled time just in case their watches are not set precisely to the right time. Missing a bus could mean an hour's wait until the next bus. Also, riders should be aware bus. Also, noers snould be aware that buses may run late some times due to weather conditions, traffic conditions, trains holding up traffic, and the extra time it takes to load persons in wheel chairs onto and off the bus.

As noted above, the transit system is primarily paid for by student fees. Each student pays $25 per semester for the transit system. As a result, SIU students can ride any time for o additional fee by running their student identification cards through a card reader on each bus. Other passengers must pay a $.50 fee each time they enter the bus or show a bus pass.

Bus passes are issued by the semester at the Student Center ticket mester at the Student Center ticket office. Faculty, staff and the general public can purchase passes for a fee of $30.00 per semester. CESL stu-dents can purchase a pass for $25.00 per semester, and the spouse and de-pendents of SIU students can purchase a pass for $20.00 per semester. There are no "bus transfer slips available.

That means if your trip entails starting out on one bus and then transferring to another to reach your destination, you will have to pay 5.50 each time you step on a bus. People planning to take many trips that will require transferring buses will ease undestability to produce the start of the product of th will save substantially by purchasing a semester pass.

This project is an excellent example of cooperation between the City, SIU students and the SIU administration. The students did not have to let the general public ride the buses.

They could have restricted bus ridership to students only. The City appreciates the good-will shown by the students in making their bus sys-tem available to the general public.

Fire Prevention Week

National Fire Prevention Week is October 8 -14. "Watch What You Heat, Prevent Home Fires" is the theme for this year. The Carbondale Fire Department will "Kick-Off Fire Prevention Week at the "Fit for Life" Run/Walk on October 7 and end Fire Prevention Week with an Open House at Fire Station #2, 300 S. Oakland Street from 12 -4 p.m. on October 14. Sparks will be present S. Oakana Street from 12 4 p.m. on October 14. Sparky will be present for pictures with the children. Free picture buttons with Sparky will be provided during the open house. During the week we will have additional activities and be very visible with the Fig. Scher Hand. with the Fire Safety House.
As usual, the Carbondale Fire Department will be stressing the impor-tance of smoke detectors. Although smoke detectors are in 88 percent of American homes, nearly one third do not work because of weak or missing batteries. Non-working smoke detectors are a factor in many of the thousands of deaths and injuries caused by home fires each year. During calendar year 1994, approximately 3,500 deaths, and close to 100,000 injuries were recorded from fires occurring in the United States.

The Carbondale Fire Department will provide and install free, a smoke detector for any disadvantaged persons' home in Carbondale. Our department will also provide a free battery to our citizens that cannot afford to purchase one. We encourage our citizens to take advantage of this program. Households with incomes of less than $15,000 account for 33 percent of homes without at least one working smoke detector. Our department would like to attain a 100% smoke detector rating in Carbondale. With your help we can.

The peak time for home fire fatality.

If You Need Some "Bunny" To Love...

The popularity of rabbits as pets has increased immensely over the last few years. Their value as com-panion animals has burgeoned for several reasons. Rabbits make relatively few demands on an individual's or a family's lifestyle. They are quiet and peaceful animals by na-ture: they do not bark, they do not disturb neighbors, and they easily get along with other small pets if introduced with care. Their exercise re-quirements are few, and they respond beautifully to attention and affection if they are handled frequently with gentleness and love. Rabbits are very intelligent, and can Rabbits are very intelligent, and can be house trained very easily. Grooming: Your bunny should be brushed on a daily basis, particularly during the periods of molt. This will prevent your rabbit from ingesting this fur which could develop into in-testinal "hair balls." Because rabbits nnot vomit, fur that lodges in th intestinal tract can cause a fatal blockage. Your rabbits' nails should be routinely trimmed with a small dog nail clipper. Check your bunny for fleas and utilize a cat flea powder if necessary. Cat flea products are generally safe to use on rabbits, espe-cially if the active ingredients are py-rethrin. Check bunny's ears for cleanliness and mites.
