Pianist Fleisher Here Tomorrow

Leon Fleisher, pianist who will perform at the year's last Community Concert tomorrow in Shroyck Auditorium, has been chosen by Pierre Monteux to be soloist with the Boston Symphony at a concert soon celebrating Monteux's 80th birthday.

Monteux himself will conduct. He has been for many years conductor of the San Francisco Symphony, with which Fleisher, then 16, made his debut in 1945. Monteux returned to Fleisher afterward as "the pianistic find of the century."

Earlier Fleisher had also impressed the eminent teacher-pianist Arthur Schnabel — to the point that Schnabel broke for him a long-standing rule against accepting pupils under 16.

Since 1945 Fleisher has appeared with the Philadelphia, Chicago and Cleveland Symphonies, among others in the United States, and with a number of the leading orchestras in Europe.

In 1952, despite the fact he popped a piano string in the middle of his performance, Fleisher triumphed over a field of 70 competitors from 27 countries in an international Music Competition sponsored by Clara Elisabeth of Belgium. The victor won him the title "World's best young pianist." Judges included Arthur Rubinstein, Olin Downes and Robert Casadesu.

Monteux's concert will be at 8 p. m. Admission will be limited to holders of season tickets and students. The latter will be admitted on pre-notation of their activity tickets.

Modern Sculpture Displayed in Allyn

Works of a dozen 20th century sculptors are on display in Allyn Hall through April 27.

Circulated by the New York Museum of Modern Art, the exhibit contains 12 pieces in wood, stone and bronze, selected from the works of American and European sculptors. Also included are photographs of important creations which could not be circulated because of their size.

Among the sculptors whose work is included are Mallarmé, Despiau, Flanagan, Lehmbruck, Chaim Gross and Marcus. All of these established their reputation in the first half of the century, and followed the classical concept of sculpture using solid mass and volume.

Siemone, an assistant professor of English, will discuss Koestler's views on Communism as expressed in his contemporary historical works, such as "Darkness at Noon."

Plans For Cotton Ball Decorations in Final Stages; Vaudeville Show Applicants Are Few

Vaudeville Deadline Changed

Return of Spring Festival Vaudeville applications has been rescheduled for April 14, due to requests of persons unable to apply before the previous deadline.

Entrants are scheduled for April 20 and 21. The chairman of each group applying before the new deadline will receive information by mail concerning the time to perform.

Of the few individual acts which have applied are: Cheryl Brown, vocalist; Jo Ann McIntire, vocalist; the Kappeler's and a quartet under the direction of Joe Milour.

As yet, no comedy troupes have entered, according to Frank Winstinger vaudeville show committee publicity chairman.

To be classified as an individual act, a group must be five or less in number," said Winstinger.

The show will be in Shroyck Auditorium/April 28. Acts will be divided into two shows. The first show will be at 7:00 p. m., and the second at 9:00 p. m.

Presentation of trophies to first and second place group and single act winners will follow the final act of the evening.

Tickets are forty cents for one act.

Persons of seventy-five or more show up.

Along with the vaudeville show, a most will be held to select the most popular faculty member, both organized house and campus organization will be allowed one nomination and letters are being sent to the organizations and houses asking them to nominate a candidate. Letters should be returned by April 22.

5,000 Students Expected Here In September

Southern's enrollment will reach 5,000 on campus and at VU next fall, with another 125 at the Belleville Residence Center, according to Registrar Robert A. McGrath.

It will rise to 6,625 in the fall of 1956. He predicts, and "we may then expect a substantial jump in the fall of 1958, when the 'war babies' of the early 1940s reach university age."

Full term freshmen alone will be 2,390 in 1956, McGrath predicts. There were 1,737 freshmen on campus in September, 1954. The entire student body totaled only 2,734 in September, 1951.

The new increases will follow a record-breaking upsurge in the last two years — During which enrollments at most American universities have been below their post-World War II peaks — that already "has magnified our problems," according to McGrath.

Southern had the second largest delegation of the 85 schools attending, Oklahoma A&M sent 21 students.

The SIU delegation submitted a two-page recommendation for changes in the national constitution and by-laws. The resolution was approved 53 votes to 8. SIU was also in charge of registration at the convention.

Principal speakers and their topics were:

- Dr. Henry W. Weston, president of Brown University and chairman of the Presidential Committee on State Department Personnel, "USA—Paradox of Power."

SIU Students To See Canada This Summer

The fifth annual SIU geography summer field course, covering scenic and industrial regions of north central United States and south central Canada, was announced last week by Dr. Floyd I. Cunningham, chairman of the SIU Geography and Geology departments and tour director.

Persons participating in the field course will leave the SIU campus August 13 and return September 2, traveling 3,800 miles by chartered bus. Cunningham said the course cost of $170 will include a registration fee, tuition, study materials, transportation, lodging and insurance. Food and other incidentals will be additional.

The itinerary will include visits to Cleveland, O.; Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and Rochester, N. Y.; Ottawa, and Winnipeg, Canada; Duluth and Minneapolis, Minn.; and Chicago.

Those who have had a beginning college course in geography, or its equivalent, may obtain five quarter hours of undergraduate or graduate college credit by fulfilling certain requirements. If the maximum enrollment of 35 has not been reserved by June 1, the tour will be opened to others without credit.

Cunningham has conducted tours to various parts of North America, as well as in Europe, Asia, and Africa. The 1955 summer trip is in lieu of a proposed European tour which has been postponed until the summer of 1956, he said.

Business Chiefs Invited Here As Consultants

Maintaining that universities and big business must work together in training high-caliber school administrators, Dr. Charles O'Connell, corporation public relations man, is inviting corporation leaders to serve on a special advisory committee here.

First to accept the invitation was Gilbert P. O'Connell, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. He will act as consultant for SIU's Graduate Internship program, directed by Dr. Neal.

The internship program, in its new phase of operation, is a new type of training program that gives graduate students a full year of actual administrative experience in area schools.

"We want to profit from big business' experience in training executive apprentices," Dr. Neal says.

"Corporation leaders such as O'Connell will steer us out of our ivory tower so we can discover our weaknesses."

Housework Too Tough?

Agnes Ridley Gives 7-Point Efficiency Guide
By Pitt Files
All our days are "like identical suitcases, but some people can pack more into them than others," says Mrs. Agnes Ridley, food and nutrition lecturer in the Home Ec. Department.
Women can save time and energy on any household task if they take time to analyze and improve their motions, according to Mrs. Ridley.
She suggests seven simple guidelines they can use to improve efficiency at household tasks:
1. Have two hands working instead of one whenever possible.
2. Arrange tools, materials and containers in definite positions near the point of use.
3. Have work well lighted.
4. Sit down to work as much as possible.
5. Use feet and other parts of the body as well as hands.
6. Choose tools designed to fit the hand.
7. Whether making a bed, washing dishes, or sweeping a rug, develop a rhythm — run your hands to make curved instead of straight motions that involve sharp changes in direction.

No Talent

A combination of spring fever and "spectatoritis" apparently is hindering potential participants in this year's Spring Festival Vaudeville Show.
Reports, from the committee in charge of entries, tell of disinterest and little student response. If Southern in the past had produced top-notch stage productions, we wouldn't be concerned with the present situation. We have more students this year than ever before.
An inverse ratio of student talent to a growing enrollment of students is the key to logical stage talent from the student body has been displayed in such outstanding productions as the Theta Xi Variety Show. Southern has the material.
Students putting gaze into the vaudeville show will gain more than the trophies awarded to the winners of the person-to-person contest that comes from participating in a college stage show. The participants will be recognized for contributing toward a successful Spring Festival.
It seems that the majority of students are relying on the initiative of others to keep traditional activities alive.

Colleges Back SIU

(Reprinted from the April 10, 1955 East St. Louis Journal)
Reconsideration by the state administration of the budget recommendations for Southern Illinois University has been asked by the Joint Council on Higher Education in Illinois.
The six tax-supported universities at Champaign-Urbana, Carbondale, Charleston, DeKalb, Macomb and Normal are members of this organization.
The other five schools are going to bat for the Carbondale member.
"That doesn't mean the five are satisfied with what they received in the governor's budget recommendations for the 1955-1957 biennium.
It does mean that the difference between SIU's requested budget and the recommended budget is so wide that it commands attention. Southern asked the state Budgetary Commission for 16 1/2 million dollars for operating expenses for two years. It may get $11,014,000. The school said it needs 36 million dollars for buildings and other capital improvements. It may be granted $6,265,000.
Some of the other colleges were neglected, too. The six schools asked a total of 198 million dollars for the two years. The budgetary commission reduced the total to 128 million dollars—104 millions for operation expenses and 24 million for buildings.
The University of Illinois says its request for 10 million dollars is inadequate for adequate faculty salaries cut in half.
In the case of Southern, the Joint Council on Higher Education says, the requests have been so sharply reduced as to seriously damage that institution in meeting the demands being made of it.
The request by the Joint Council should be given serious consideration by the legislators.
This is one of the few requests available to the tax-supported schools. Their budget requests are pared first by their respective administrative boards, then by the Budgetary Commission and the governor. Finally, the Legislature must approve the budget.
It is within the power of the Legislature to restore budget cuts made by the Budgetary Commission.

On Bermuda Shorts

Even though old Mr. Weatherbird has sometimes been reluctant this year, some sure signs of spring are evident.
The major league baseball season opens today. Our Salukis have already played a goodly portion of their spring slate. The track squad has been practicing diligently and the football players are losing their winter avoirdupois in spring practice.
Tennis courts and golf courses are also busy with activity. Sunbathers are crowded with bachelors and campus beauties in bathing suits.
And the past two weeks has seen caravans of convertibles and hardtops streaming out to Crab Orchard and Giant City.
Most females are dressing for the occasions, Bermuda shorts being a favorite attire. For the men it is a different matter. They usually wear the customary "long trousers." A few brave male souls have ventured forth for comfort's sake however, and have been seen wearing Bermudas.
It's about time all SIU males throw off their prudish ways and conform to "modern thinking" and wear comfortable warm-weather apparel.

He Accentuated The Negative

College Park, Md.—(AP)—Dick Dorman, junior at the University of Maryland, literally shot his way out of traffic court recently.
According to the college paper, The Diamondback, Dorman had received a citation for illegal parking, but before he had anticipated the clutches of the law.
Under a box-type camera, Dorman shot pictures of the parking lot, showing where he had parked, the crowded condition, the absence of "no parking" signs in his choice of locations, and a "sea of mud" surrounding his car.
The traffic appeals board studied the negatives carefully, then dismissed the case without a fine.

Movies Harmful To Synchronized Swimming--Beulah Gundling

By Jim Killpatrick

"The swimming extravaganza type of movies have hurt rather than helped the promotion of synchronized swimming," Mrs. Beulah Gundling, the world's leading practitioner of the art, said Saturday.

Mrs. Gundling, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., gave an exhibition in conjunction with the AAU open swimming and diving meet held in the SIU pool Saturday.

Winner of the national AAU women's solo synchronized swimming crown for the last five years in a row, she recently won a gold medal at the Pan-American games in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Returning to the subject of swimming movies, Mrs. Gundling admitted they have brought attention to the public but "they give anyone who knows anything about swimming a false impression of synchronized swimming."

Synchronized Swimming Clarified

Defining both "water ballet" and "synchronized swimming" to show the difference, she said that the way the music is used is the primary contrast. In water bullet, a routine of surface formations and strokes is devised, and then suitable music is added as a background.

"In synchronized swimming, the music comes first," Using herself as an example, she stated that she finds the music she works out a routine and costume appropriate to the mood of the music. "It's actually interpretative dancing done in the water."

A speed swimmer and diver before she started synchronized swimming, Mrs. Gundling won the Iowa AAU breaststroke championship in 1948. Her first synchronized swimming crown was the Canadian, which she won in 1949, a year before the solo event was added to the AAU program in this country.

Plans Are Being Made To Get The Sport In The Olympics

Mrs. Gundling, and her husband, Henry, who serves as her manager and coach, are in the midst of a project to get the sport on the Olympic Games program. She gave an exhibit at the 1952 Games in Helsinki, and as a result a set of international rules for competition in the sport were formulated.

She hopes to give another exhibition at the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, and believes that the fate of synchronized swimming as an Olympic sport will be decided before the 1960 Games.

The international rules are set up on the basis of 160 points. This is broken down into 40 for execution, and 20 each for synchronization, composition, and showmanship. The routines used are designed by the swimmer, with routines limited to five minutes in length and only 20 seconds allowed for work on the pool edge before the water.

There are 90 catalogued stars in the sport, and many more which are combinations of the listed routines, giving the swimmer a wide choice in the selection of material.

Archaeological Survey Begun By 2 SIU Men

With plans underway for a dam near Reids City to form a new lake in Franklin County, Levin Peithman of the SIU Museum and Elmo Heaton, senior geology student, have initiated a preliminary survey to determine whether important archaeological sites would be flooded.

Peithman and Heaton on March 21, went through the area on an aerial and field trip looking for signs of Indian habitation. They were hampered by flood waters that prevented them from investigating lowland areas, but in surrounding hills they found flint chips and other artifacts indicating Indian village, camp and mound sites worth investigating may be in the area.

"I've heard from some people in Benton, my home town, who've found Indian artifacts around that area, but haven't had a chance to look into it yet," Heaton said. "When the Big Muddy goes down, I'm going back to look around some more."

If enough indications of past Indian occupation are found, a summer camp will be held to excavate the area.

"I doubt that we'll do anything about it this year, though," Peithman said. "We're all tied up with Dr. Kelly's field school this summer."

8 SIU Students Tour TV Studios

Eight members of the Southern Broadcasters Guild and sponsor Buren C. Robbins on April 3-4 Monday, the group traveled on WTVF, Decatur, and the studios of the University of Illinois which telecasts over WCIA, Champaign.

The group left Carbondale Sunday morning and spent the day in the Decatur studios watching live programs being televised and inspected the equipment used.

Monday, the group traveled on to Champaign to study the University of Illinois TV set-up which is located in the Memorial Stadium building. The students watched "Sports for the Home" which is telecast over WCIA. The program is directed, telecast and presented entirely by students of the University.

After the program, the visitors from Southern were allowed to work with the various types of equipment to gain knowledge of their operation.

"The facilities at the U. of I. are very good and the practical experience we gained by using the equipment just for that short time was of great help," said Ralph Becker, president of the group.

"The hospitality shown us by the students and faculty at Champaign and the employees at Decatur was most gracious."

The eight students who made the trip with Mr. Robbins were: Stephanie Kelsey, Jim McKinstry, Bill McKinstry, Jon Poston, and LaDonna MacMurray.

This was the second tour taken by members of the Guild. The first was taken during fall term to St. Louis where the group visited KMOX and KWK.

Tentative plans are being made for another trip to St. Louis this year, according to Becker.

The student editors, who will arrive in New York April 19 on the Queen Elizabeth, are coming to the United States to acquaint themselves with American student life. They have been granted entry into the United States by the Department of State and Justice "in the national interest." Their tour is being made at the expense of the Soviets.

Forum discussions with American students and faculty will be one of the principal features of the campus visits. It is hoped that the universities and colleges designated will invite student editors and other representatives from nearby campuses to participate in the reception of the Russian student editors.

The Institute of International Education was asked by the State Department to administer the tour. In conversations at the Soviet Embassy in Washington the Institute proposed a number of schools to be visited by the student editors. This choice was based on an itinerary submitted by the Russians. The trip is planned to show a cross-section of American higher education.

They are opposed by their parents, who don't think a dog belongs in the city. Bridget, the maid, who doesn't want to get stuck with the extra work of keeping a dog, and a "Mrs. Mean," who objects on general principles.

Two University School students, Karl Meyer and Tommy Goetz, are cast in leading roles as the children. SIU speech students make up the rest of the cast and backstage crew.

Salukis Blast Taylor Twice

Southern combined smooth pitching with extra base hits to smash out a 15-4 victory over Taylor University Wednesday and give the Salukis a clean sweep of the two game series.

The pitchers continued to hurt in fine fashion, giving up no earned runs for the second consecutive game, in a contest marked by 14 errors.

The Salukis jumped into a first inning 4-0 lead on two walks and two errors and a line drive single by Bob Ems.

Taylor retaliated with a run on a single, one error and two walks.

In the fourth, singles by Wells, Williams and Vogel sandwiched with two walks drove right-hander Lew Leitchy of Taylor from the mound.

The Hoosiers scored two unearned runs in the fifth frame on base hits by Price and Day and when West let the latter's drive go by him, both runners scored.

The Marintun put the icing on the cake in the seventh when three singles, a double and a tremendous triple and two walks sent six Southerners across the plate.

The winning pitcher was starter Don Eckelberry and the loser was Lickew.

Lingle Begins 29th Year As Track Mentor

Leland "Doc" Lingle, dean of the SIU coaching staff, is starting his 29th season as head track coach.

Thirty-five candidates are working out under Lingle's supervision with the first meet slated for today. The Southern runners will meet Southeastern Missouri State College in a dual meet at Cape Girardeau today, and then travel to Bolla to meet Missouri School of Mines Saturday.

Capt. Vernon Sprehe, Nashville senior, leads the nine returning lettermen. Sprehe tied the SIU record for the 100-yard dash in 1953 with a 9.9 clocking. The other returnees are spread over the various events, but strong performances by several promising freshmen could give the squad the depth it needs for a winning season.

A native of Carbondale, Lingle was graduated from Southern in 1921. He coached four years at Sikeston, Mo., high school, before returning to SIU in 1926 as head track coach and assistant football coach. He retired from football in 1950 but continues as cross country coach.

Fifteen Beers Aid Research

Troy, N. Y. — (ACP) — Larry Edwards, a junior here at Rensselaer Polytechnic, probably wound up the other day as the guest, if not the most scientific, "guinea pig" on the school's campus.

As part of the Interfraternity Council-sponsored Safety Week, Edwards volunteered to drink a can of beer every 20 minutes from 1 to 5 p. m. in the student lounge.

Purpose of the experiment was to study "reaction time, depth perception, peripheral and night vision and steadiness under the increasing effect of alcohol." Data was recorded throughout the test, designed to show by actual demonstration the detrimental effect of alcohol on the sensory perception of drivers.

SIU Tops St. Louis For 4th Straight

By Gene Croy

The Saluki baseballers won their fourth straight game and their sixth in nine starts as they set down the St. Louis Billikens, 3-2, Saturday.

Senior right-hander Bob Meyers went all the way to post the win for the Salukis. He gave up 8 hits and no walks and struck out 10.

The Salukis started out as if they had everything their own way by pushing across one run in the first and two in the second. From there on out, however, they were unable to scratch the scoring column.

The Billikens made a valiant effort to salvage the contest in the late innings as they came up with single tallies in the seventh and eighth innings.

Doubles by Williams and Sandrin aided the Saluki cause.

Schemer of St. Louis, who also went all the way, was the losing pitcher.
