'Miss Thompson Point', 'Miss Southern Acres' Are Crowned

Acres Queen is Helen Chapman

Miss Helen Chapman, a brown-haired freshman from Clinton, crowned as "Miss Southern Acres" Friday night at the Southern Acres Men's Residence Halls dance held in the Student Center there.

The new queen was crowned by Miss Bobbie Jones, "Miss Southern Acres" of 1956.

Other finalists in the contest were Don Hamilton, senior, from freshman from Mascoutah, Edith Bankson, freshman from Marion; and Anita Credi, sophomore from Taylorville. All the finalists are enrolled in the College of Education at SIU.

Musical for the dance was furnished by Don Stahlberg and his band. Miss Chapman will now represent the Southern Acres Men's Residence Halls in the Miss Southern beauty contest scheduled as a part of Spring Festival next month.

The five finalists in the contest were picked from a living group on campus was asked to enter a candidate.

Faculty guests at the dance were Miss Mildred Schotberger, dean of women, and Miss Maude Stewart of the guidance department.

Jerry Hess was chairman of the steering committee making arrangements for dance. Other members were Larry Rubin, George Cook, and Harry Seigel. Kent Dawson was in charge of decorations. Rex Thompson and Wynn Couch, house counselors at Southern Acres, aided the committee in making arrangements.

SMILING QUEEN

New Student Week Leader Applications Due Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the deadline for applications to the "New Student Week Leaders," according to Pan Dev, co-chairman.

New Student Week will begin September 18 and run through September 22. Anyone who is a sophomore, junior or senior with a "C" or better average is eligible for the leader positions, and will be selected on the basis of experience, campus activities and grades.

A committee composed of the co-chairman and Dr. Greenleaf will make the selection of the 100 applicants to fill the positions.

Applications are available at the Student Union desk, the Office of Student Affairs or VTL, and must be returned by tomorrow.

Co-chairman Bill Edson said the event this year will include such features as a washroom treat, a dance a movie and mixer, a showcase by the student leaders, a "fun rally" and the traditional football and basketball game. Other plans call for group meetings, tours of the campus, talks by administration representatives concerning policies and future plans for the University, and a freshman talent show.

The new students will be divided into groups of approximately 40, with two leaders for each group. Plans also call for "free shows" at Woody Hall during the event, Edson said.

The co-chairmen said they expect from 500 to 400 applications for the leader spots, and emphasized that most of the leaders last year were so enthusiastic about the event that they have applied again this year.

Helen Smith Crowned 'Miss Thompson Point'

Brown-haired, blue-eyed Miss Helen Smith was crowned the first "Miss Thompson Point" Saturday night at the first annual dance for "Thompson Point residents."

Miss Smith will represent the Point in the Miss Southern contest during Spring Festival next month.

Members of the queen's court were Mary Alice Carnahan, Lois Green, Jane Herr, and Suzanne Kildine.

The queen and her court were chosen from a field of 12 finalists selected from 50 candidates.

Miss Smith was presented with a bouquet of roses and a silver serving platter with "Miss Thompson Point 1957" engraved in the center. Members of the court were given compacts and flowers.

The Coronation Dance was held in the new cafeteria and service building.

Miss Smith, a freshman chemistry major from Chester, lives in Woody Hall.

Crowning the queen was Gary Clark, president of Thompson Point 3.

"This was the first such function for the Thompson Point residents this year," stated Tom Gleason, chairman. "We feel that this was a success and are looking forward to having Helen represent in the Miss Southern contest."

THE FIRST

Miss Helen Smith, who was crowned the first "Miss Thompson Point" Saturday night at the Coronation Dance, is escorted from her throne by Gary Clark, president of Thompson Point 3. Miss Smith will represent the Point in the Miss Southern contest.

Art Classes Call For Male Models

For those males who don't mind close scrutiny, the student employment office has several plucky jobs open.

Male models are needed for art-figure-sketching classes, according to Mrs. Alice Reacor, student employment director.

The jobs pay 90 cents an hour, and usually last about two weeks. And for the benefit of the realists, Mrs. Reacor assures that the models must wear swim trunks.

ACE Meeting Next Tuesday

The next meeting of the Association of Childhood Education will be held Tuesday, April 9, at 4 p. m. in the University School Auditorium.

Highlights of the meeting are the election of officers, and discussion of plans to attend the ACE meeting of the Cape Girardeau chapter next month.

'I Really Won' Defeated Student Says He Gained Experience

Although I lost the election," Dave Ennis, SIU junior, exclaimed, "I feel I really came out the winner."

Although Mrs. Renfro won the position of Town Clerk for Carbondale Township in Tuesday's election, Ennis said he feels he has secured a broad education which will help him after graduation.

The 21-year-old psychology major was a candidate for the office of Town Clerk on the Democratic ticket in the township elections.

The stockily-built Ennis seemed rather dispirited with the lack of interest shown by the younger voters in this election and others.

"It is discouraging that young people don't take a more active part in politics," said Ennis, "either as a candidate, party worker or even as a voter."

"It really helps one to understand his community and gives him a rich understanding of the political system on which this country seems to be based."

"But many of the SIU students who were 21 didn't even know they were eligible to vote."

Ennis said his future plans were a little indefinite.

Council Sets Poster Rules For Election

Candidates for office in the spring election April 23 must follow the regulations governing posters set up by the Student Council, according to Lois Kalla, chairman of the election committee.

The regulations are as follows:

1. Posters may be put up one week prior to elections (Starting Tuesday, April 16).
2. During the week preceding the elections, posters need not be approved by the Office of Student Affairs.
3. No party names will be allowed to be connected with any political advertising.
4. Tacks or nails must not be used on any of the trees on campus.
5. If there are any posters put up not meeting the above regulations, they will automatically be taken down.
6. Posters must be removed from the campus within 24 hours after the election.

Spirit Council Prexy Sought

One of SIU's youngest organizations, the Southern Spirit Council, is seeking a president for next year. Applications may be picked up at the Student Union desk any time, but must be returned by April 18.

The appointment of the new president will be made by the Student Council after all applications have been received.

The Southern Spirit Council was organized last year by the Student Council to replace the Old Pep Club. The Southern Spirit Council has charge of pep rallies, game activities, student trips to all of town games and the card social.

This year's president was R. K. Dillinger.

Point Residents Air Gripes To Dean Davis

An appointment is being made for a committee of Thompson Point residents to see President Morris to present grievances aired at a "gripe session" last Wednesday night called at the request of Dean I. Clark Davis, acting director of student affairs.

The purpose of the meeting, according to Davis, was to discuss general problems confronting the residents, and to help clarify university plans and policies regarding the Point.

Following the Wednesday night meeting, a committee of residents called upon Davis Thursday morning, and requested that Davis set up an appointment with President Morris for them to further air their problems.

The grievances are, Dean Davis said, the disregard of the Point, the moving of residents of unit four to allow that unit to be used for housing women in the fall, and the loss of Herman Weimer's driving privileges as the result of a barricade which had been torn down many times before.

The Dean said he had met with a committee from the Point Thursday morning, and that he had requested an audience with President Morris for the committee.

Residents living in unit four of the project will be moved into the unit one and two, in order to allow unit four to be used for women housing this fall, the Dean said. Point residents have repeatedly expressed opposition to the move.

The disparity of the road leading to Thompson Point is due to the fact that the road is being used by contractors' equipment, such as heavy trucks and bulldozers, and the recent wet weather, he said. Residents have complained on several occasions that the road is almost impassable, and that the fastest man alive to scratch his head.

"However, we aren't trying to interpret his intentions," Dean Davis said he didn't know if he will accompany the committee when it talks to President Morris.

A Red Cross "Bloodmobile" will be on the SIU campus April 16 and 17, sponsored by the Student Council, with the assistance of the Residence Halls, D.A.M.E. Club, AFROTC, Home Economics Club and several other campus groups.

Pre-registration for giving blood will be conducted in the Student Union today through Friday.

Any student wanting to give blood should register in the Union, indicating his address, age, and a choice of two times when he could give blood. An hour should be allowed for the process.

Any female may be a donor without parental consent if she has reached the age of 18. Any male may donate only if he is 21 years old, but if he is between the ages of 18 and 21, he must have a parental consent card, unless he is married. In that case, his wife may give written permission for him to donate.

The "Blood Bank" will be located in the "C" recreation room at Woody Hall, and will be open on April 16 from 12 noon until 6 p. m. and on April 17 from 9 a. m. until 12 noon and again from 1 p. m. until 4 p. m.

Donating through this program will mean each blood donor and his immediate dependent family will be eligible to receive blood through the St. Louis Regional Blood Program should the need arise without cost for the blood itself, for a period of one year, from the date of the blood donation.

Blood will be replaced for the eligible patient through the Red Cross Blood Program on the basis of one pint for each pint used, in any hospital willing to accept blood through the Red Cross Blood program.

Students and faculty will be divided into eight groups for competition in blood-giving. The groups are: Woody Hall, Men's Residence Hall, ROTC, Married Couples, Inter-Creek Council, Off-Campus Dwellers, Commuters, and Faculty.

Anyone participating in more than one of these groups may have his donation counted in favor of more than one of them.

Class Election Petitions Due By April 16

Candidates' petitions for spring elections must be turned in to the Student Union desk by April 16, according to Lois Kalla, chairman of the Student Council election committee. A Homecoming Chairman and 12 Student Council representatives will be chosen at the all-school elections April 23.

Petitions must have 50 signatures of students in the class the applicant is seeking to represent.

Two boys and two girls from each of the classes — sophomore, junior, and senior — will be elected to the Homecoming Board, Homecoming Chairman for the coming year.

Students filing petitions must have an overall grade point average of 3.0 or better, and credit as follows: Sophomores must have at least 30 hours and less than 60 hours; juniors must have from 10 to 133 hours; and seniors will be required to have 144 to 155 hours credit. The Homecoming Chairman candidates must have 48 or more hours credit of quality.

SIU to Offer BS in Nursing Next Fall

Southern Illinois University will offer a new 15-quarter program leading to a bachelor of science degree in nursing beginning this fall, according to Miss Virginia Harrison, chairman of the department of nursing. The program is being offered in conjunction with the University of Illinois.

Students enrolled in the program will pay general fees and be required to attend three summer sessions in order to complete the program within four years. The first six quarters will be spent at SIU education courses, and then will be transferred to the U of I school of nursing, where they will receive five quarters of education and public health agencies will be utilized in the curriculum.

The first six quarters will be spent at SIU education courses, and then will be transferred to the U of I school of nursing, where they will receive five quarters of education and public health agencies will be utilized in the curriculum.

The students will then complete the program by returning to SIU for their final residence for senior nursing practice.

Applications are now being received for the first class, and will be admitted in the beginning of the fall quarter, and will graduate in 1961. Further information may be obtained by writing to Miss Harrison.

High School Press Group Meets Here

Nearly 30 young journalists will attend the seventh annual High School Press Conference Saturday, April 13 at SIU, according to Dr. Donald R. Grubb, association director.

Purposes of the meeting is to provide suggestions for improving high school newspapers, and yearbooks, and to describe career opportunities in journalism. The Southern Illinois High School Press Assn., and Southern's Department of Journalism are co-sponsoring the event.

Council Resolution Will Permit Unauthorized Political Posters

The Student Council passed a resolution concerning posters for the all-school spring election this month at their first meeting of the quarter Thursday night.

According to the Council's resolution, political posters may go up during election week without authorization from the Office of Student Affairs.

Inappropriate posters will be taken down, according to the resolution, which passed by a unanimous vote. The resolution did not specify who would be responsible for taking down the posters.

The Council recommended that the $475 request for the debate team to go to the West Point tournament be taken from the Contingency Fund, to which they recommended the request.

The only other request, $75 for the Accounting Club, to be used for a trip to Louisville, Ky., was granted.

A problem concerning parking in the Chautauque Street Housing project was brought up. Discussion of that project was in Chautauque residents are using the parking facilities there, which are only adequate for resident use.

"This means that residents are sometimes deprived of parking facilities near their apartments," said Dick Hunsaker, who introduced the resolution.

"The Chautauque Council referred the problem to the University Parking Committee," said Hunsaker, "and the Parking Committee would take no action on the case."

Hunsaker was appointed to look into the situation.

The possibility of a health insurance program for single students was mentioned, and is to be discussed at the next meeting, April 11.

Absent from the meeting was Jerry Feazel.

The Editors' Opinions

No Boards for Bulletins

Of all the buildings and space occupied by the University, there is only one place for its 6,000 collegians to post a bulletin without going through red tape.

The Student Union houses the one bulletin board for those who want to announce or request a ride, a sale, lost or found or what have you, without having to obtain written clearance from the Office of Student Affairs.

Aside from the one board in the Union, all announcements concerning students and student activities must first be approved and signed before they can be placed anywhere on campus.

By having all posters signed, bulletin boards can be, presumably, kept clear of all material that does not concern the student, as well as making sure that all money-making projects have been approved by the Social Service. This may well be so.

One fact, however, remains. There are not enough bulletin boards on campus.

The Student Council has continually requested that the University put up more bulletin boards for student use. According to the Council, several such requests were made in 1955-56 and again in 1956-57. Replies to the Council from the administration stated action was being taken. To date, no action has been taken, at least in the form of the bulletin boards the Council requested.

The Egyptian commends the Council for its diligence in trying to secure bulletin boards for the students. The Egyptian recommends, however, that when and if the requested bulletin boards are put up, the council request that they be free boards, to be used without need of authorization.

Signs of the times: a very pretty girl, in a very pretty dress—using language a Marine would use under ether—describing the driver who had just splattered her with mud from a puddle as he roared by.

What would happen to Carbondale if the 6,000 collegians, 500 faculty and the mass of civil service employees were to subscribing their driver who had just splattered her with mud from a puddle as he roared by.

Register and Give

An excellent opportunity for SIU students to aid both others and themselves presents itself next week.

Through the efforts of the Student Council, Interfraternity Council, and several other organizations, a "bloodmobile" will be on campus for two days.

The opportunity to aid others by giving a pint of blood is readily apparent, but the fact that you might be saving yourself or your family some money in the future is one that many may not realize.

Donating through this program entitles the donor and his immediate family to receive blood through the St. Louis Regional Blood Program without cost for the blood itself, for a period of one year from the date of donation.

Any 18-year-old female may donate without parental consent, but males between 18 and 21 must have the consent of their parents.

Those of you not yet 21 should obtain permission immediately in order to be eligible to give.

Pre-registration for the giving of blood will be conducted in the Student Union, starting today and running through Friday.

We strongly urge you to sign up today.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Biber

By DON HECKE

Somewhere I read that someone else said that if you haven't anything else to write about, you can always write about the weather. The bad thing about this is that when the weather is nasty enough to deserve writing about, people are so fed up with it that they'd just as soon forget about it—much less be reminded of it in writing.

It's good that we have weather (including rain), people admit, but why in nature do we get so much at once. We don't, often.

But we had it last week. The rainiest day at Southern in ten years, according to the 10 o'clock coffee scribbles. Teasing mother nature bled everyone last Thursday with the first sunshine in a week. No sooner were the hunk haired—everyone feeling good again, without raincoats, hats, boots and umbrellas—than the clouds came, bringing more rain.

Someone else recently wrote about the weather, saying that we need more rain in Southern Illinois, to get the water table up to normal.

One would think that the rain would have rid the campus of dogs, or at least kept them out of sight until the rain receded. But no, the muddy mongrels seemed to enjoy it all tremendously. They not only ran and romped in the rain, but added to the mayhem of the downpour by slapping their tails at passersby, not to mention shaking themselves off in the halls of Old Main.

The rain did not, however, keep the mice from squeaking and scurrying across the well-worn floors of the Egyptian Office. I think perhaps some of their feline friends have been added to our household. At any rate, they seemed to gain in number and squeaks as the rain increased.

Which is all very good. There is nothing I could think of that could be of greater comfort during rainy days than slogging dogs and mice to be around to comfort me.

The only trouble is, that I fear that even if the rain stops, my friends will not. Is that bad?

Unique Musician Began Career at Age of 13 Goldsky Plays Here Tonight

Boris Goldsky, Master of Ceremonies for the Metropolitan Opera and News of the Air, Broadway and piano virtuoso, will present a lecture-recital "Piano Portraits" tonight in Shryock Auditorium.

The program, a feature portion of the Festival of Fine Arts, will begin at 8:15, and all students will be admitted free.

Goldsky was born in Moscow, and became interested in piano at the age of eight. He made his first professional debut with the Berlin vedt's "Coronation of Poppea," Philharmonic in 1921 at the age of Mazart's "La Finta Gianduja." After touring extensively era.

Across The Desk . . . All-Student Opera Workshop Friday

By Bill Epperheimer

The All-Student Opera Workshop company of SIU will present "Riders to the Sea" and "Gianni Schicchi," two short opera classics, in the Fine Arts Festival attraction here Friday night. The musical double feature, free to the public, will begin at 8:15 p. m. in Shryock Auditorium.

"Riders to the Sea," musically adapted from J. M. Synge's bleak Irish tragedy by the American contemporary, Ralph Vaughn Williams, will feature Priscilla Metcalf and Lewis Senger in the lead roles. The opera is under the direction of Donald Murray, SIU music instructor.

Freshman June Nightingale, a promising soprano from Granite City, will make her campus stage debut playing the female lead in "Gianni Schicchi," a comic production by Giacomo Puccini. Music instructor William Taylor will direct the production.

The two operas were given their premiere March 5 in Cairo, Ill.

The complete cast for "Riders to the Sea," is as follows: Priscilla Metcalf, Donald Bailey, Lewis Senger, Marcia Rhode, Carole Et-

Gus Bode, Southern's own dapper style setter, came out with a frogman suit, including flappers and goggles. He claims no-one paid a bit of attention to him, which doesn't do Gus justice: Not even the rain.

An interesting speculation, Gus says, is just how many night and Saturday classes could be done away with if classes were scheduled for 10 in the morning. Could that the coffee sales would go down, but one might it be possible to get a cup without standing 30 minutes in line.

Gus says that walking between the business barracks (Little Niagara) can be a problem on a rainy day, but once inside the view of the falls is wonderful.

A full day's activity is planned for the Department of Journalism's annual Journalism Day activities. A large gathering of journalism students and faculty members is shown at a social hour.

The cost of the tickets to the dinner will be $2.00 for non-journalism majors, and $1.50 for journalism students.

Arthur D. Jenkins

Lindsay, editor of Lindsey-Schaub's Newspapers, and publisher of the Southern Illinoisan, is president of the American Council on Education for Journalism, and a vice president of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. His speech at convocation will follow...
 At 6:30 p. m. journalism students, faculty and guests will attend the annual dinner at the Carbonade Elks Club.

The main speaker, Arthur D. Jenkins, of Macouba, Ill. and publisher of four Illinois weekly newspapers, has chosen an interesting subject—"How to get rich in journalism."
 Jenkins began his career as a lawyer and later became associated with the National City Bank of New York. In 1933, he entered the newspaper business in Illinois, the third generation of his family to become a journalist.
 The four newspapers he publishes are the Macouba Herald, the New Baden News-Sun, the Union Banner, and the Clinton County News at Trenton.

Jenkins is a past president of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association, a former chairman of the legislative committee of the Illinois members of the National Education Association's legislative department.
 Jenkins was the only weekly newspaper publisher who toured the Midwest farm belt with a Russian delegation two years ago. He is the author of "Illinois Newspaper Law," and a member of the National Press Club in Washington.

Another feature of the evening will be the presentation of a faculty service award to Dr. T. W. Abbott, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Sponsored by the Egyptian, the award was presented last year to Dr. Robert F. Faner, English professor. Students who have done outstanding work as staff members on campus publications will be honored. Dr. Howard B. Long, chairman of the journalism department will be the toastmaster.
 The Journalism Students Association plans a social hour to follow the dinner, with "live" music.

Dr. L. Clark Davis, dean of men at Southern, and George Haffner, graduate student from Germany, will be the speakers at a April 11 meeting of the Pope County Alumni Club, according to Dewey Millard Farmer, Colcolata, club president.

Dr. Julius Paul, assistant professor of government, is the author of a number of articles that have been accepted for publication in professional journals.
 Two of the articles are portions of a recently completed book dealing with the legal philosophy of Chief Justice N. Frank of the U.S. Court of Appeals in the second volume.

Dr. Harvey Babe and Miss Viola Darnell, associate professors of business administration at SIU; Harry Baerenfeld, supervisor of Technical and Adult Education, and Eugene Wylie, University School instructor, attended the 25th annual convention of the Illinois Vocational Association in Chicago Thursday through Saturday.

Dr. Dale is vice-president of the Illinois Business Education Association, an affiliate of the IVA.

NO SWIMMING

Hundreds of students took a jog to the lake over the weekend, but instead of an inviting sunbathing area, they found a turbulent and foaming river of water. The overflow, highest since 1947, also caused an overflow of errant humanity. People took pictures, fished, speared fish, and got as close to the water as possible. Others picnicked, played games, and of all things, washed cars on the hill overlooking the roaring water.

8 Zoo Majors Approved for Aid

Eight Southern Illinois University pre-medical students — all majors in zoology — are among 10 Illinois recipients of the Illinois Medical Society and the Illinois Agricultural Association for assistance under a joint program of the two organizations for promoting better health.

Under the program accepted students must receive recommendations for admission to the University of Illinois College of Medicine, loans to help finance their education, or both. Loans are available from a revolving fund set up by the two agencies. Those selected agree to practice medicine in doctor-short rural communities after they have completed their internship. The program was established 10 years ago and already has provided 11 young doctors for Illinois communities. A list is available from the office by mail, or by personal visit.

The cooperative wildlife research laboratory was recently presented with a garden tractor plus attachments by Lou Wiley and A. J. Christiansen of the Illinois Coal Stripper Association.

Dr. Ralph A. Benton, associate professor of agricultural economics and superintendent of Test Farms in the SIU College of Agriculture, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the National Association of College Teachers of Agriculture for the third successive year.

Eugene Bunker, SIU pottery instructor, is one of 124 of the nation's leading ceramists and enamellists represented in the 14th annual invitational ceramic exhibition at Scripps College, California.

Three pieces of stoneware by Bunker have been accepted for the show, the theme of which is "Color in Ceramics."

SPORTS VIEWS FROM A DIFFERENT ANGLE

OUT ON A LIMB
On a Monday afternoon, May 21, five years ago, Ron Hagler stepped to the baseball mound for St. Louis and pitched a no-hit game against Eastern Illinois. Southern won that game 4-1, as Hagler allowed the only tally in the ninth on four walks. SIU also won to the opener that day behind Wayne Grandcolas pitching 3-4.

That double-victory in 1952 gave SIU a conference record of 8-1, good enough to win the IAC championship. Since then, Coach Martin has had some fine ball clubs and some great individual players... but each year his clubs have just missed the mark.

In 1953, the Salukis finished with a 7-3 mark, but in second place. In 1954, they tied with Eastern for second with a 7-5 record. In 1955, they once again finished second, with a 6-4 record.

So in IAC play over the last five years, Southern has compiled a 27-17 record, and never finished below a tie for second place. We don't need superlative adjectives to tell you that's a pretty fair record.

What kind of ball club did SIU have in 1952 when they had the extra go to win the title? Let's take a look.

They had a short stacked outfield named Verlan (Zip) Zapotki, who led the league with a .449 batting average. They had another small man, a second sacker from Du Quoin, Ill., named Eddie Coleman. Eddie hit .350 that year and turned in some sparkling play around second. Just one point below Coleman at .349 was clean-up hitter Bob Ems, who also led the club in home runs.

Charlie Valera, now head coach at Gotham, played third base for SIU that year, and batted .305, just ahead of Captain Jim Schumblack, who hit .293. These men, with shortstop Burns' West of Belleville, Larry Jurek, Madison first baseman, and catcher Jack Gnor, composed a 9-1 record.

They had a well-balanced squad, headed by the excellent pitching of Grandcolas and Hagler.

It's our feeling that 1957 may be the season for the SIU baseball team to find that same combination that was present in the 1952 squad.

On paper, this year's squad looks both good and bad. They have an infield that can field with high major league ball clubs, but may lack depth in the shortstop position. The combination of Jones and Monschein, Roger Buvan at third, has had a little stick trouble in the past, but can cover third excellently.

In the outfield, things may be a little slower going. Vogel, the veteran of the crew, has hit a high average for the past 100 years, but is probably the slowest runner on the squad. Although we definitely cannot tell how the hitting will be the averages from the past 100 years are relatively low, with Monschein's .333 leading the team.

Martin experimented throughout the year, however, and his bringing back a 4-4 record gives nothing but good indications.

All Weekend Events Rained Out; Salukis Travel For Action Today

Baseball Squad Plays Evansville

Southern's spring sports season opened with a "squish" rather than the anticipated "bang" last weekend, as all four varsity teams were rained out. The rains had subsided by Saturday and the sun shone brightly, but the damage had been done. Both the McAdams Stadium track and the Chautauque diamond were too soggy underfoot for competition.

Whether the cancelled single game with St. Louis University and the doubleheader with the University of Illinois will be rescheduled is unknown.

NOTICE
Today's scheduled game with Evansville College at Evansville, Ind., has been rained out. The Salukis have rescheduled the game to be played at Evansville April 16. Although still waiting to play their first regular season game, the baseballers will travel to DeKalb this weekend for an IAC doubleheader with Northern Ill.

Glenn "Ab" Martin's baseball squad, rightfully disappointed because of their last opportunity to play two big name schools like St. Louis and Illinois, will take a break at Evansville College at Evansville, Ind., this afternoon.

The Salukis finished their exhibition tour through the South last month with four wins and four losses, but the totals will not be counted on the overall SIU record book.

With seven lettermen back plus several key newcomers, SIU has looked good in all departments except the outfield. The catching and pitching staff features five of the seven returning lettermen, making the battery combination one of the strongest ever.

Infield Looks Good
The infield is younger and more inexperienced than last year, but has looked good in spring training, not only defensively but at the plate. Leading Southern's hit parade is Ken Monschein, second baseman from Stanton, who batted out a .373 average in the eight spring games.

After meeting Evansville today, SIU prepares for an IAC doubleheader against Northern Illinois at DeKalb Saturday.

Today's probable lineup will be Richard Dillinger, Jr., "Iceman" Jones, Ken Monschein, Walter Westbrook, at North Varsity, and Don Taylor, Roger Buvan, and John Orlando.

Probable pitcher is a big, stout right-hander, Bill Avers, Southern's best last season, Gordon Lambert, or Don Gibbs, being the most likely candidates.

Speedy halfback Carver Shannon is also bypassing the football practices in favor of running for Lingle's squad.

The Embassy players Dovie Dorn, Phi Kappa Tau plays Sigma Tau Gamma, "B" plays Tau Kappa Ipsilon "B" and Barracks 8 goes against Chautauque Papposes.

Further Intramural information will be posted on the bulletin board in the men's gym.

Question-Mark Cinder Team Competes Today

SIU track fans lost their last chance for a month to see their Saluki cindermen in action last Saturday, when the scheduled dual meet with Western was postponed because of bad weather conditions.

The Salukis, however, will be in action tonight when they travel to Cape Girardeau, Mo., to compete against the Southeastern Missouri Indians.

What Southern has and what Southern doesn't have still poses a question, but one that may soon be answered. Cape has come up with another strong track organization that has already participated in several indoor meets.

Lingle will be taking several newcomers to the first meet, along with eight letter winners from last year's squad.

Newly-elected captain Ron Hays, 440 runner, and sprinter Sam DeNail will pace the SIU speedsters. Marion Buehling, one line thrower, Roger Council and Marshall Hill, pole vaulters, and Don Lucas, high jumper and sprinter, will round out the remaining veteran strength.

Hays is Out
Another letterman, E. H. Hays, suffers a dislocated right shoulder in the NCA's wrestling championships, and will miss part of the season because of the injury. Hays set the all-time record in the 100 yard race at Southern in 1953 with a time of 47.76 seconds.

Outstanding new men in Lingle's squad include senior high school track star of last year, Among them are sprinters Warren Bateau, Elvillo, Don McCarr, Paul Hess, Palatine, and Bob Seger. La Grange diver Robert (Santa) Claus, too.

Gymnasts Begin Exhibition Tour

Coach Bill Meade and his gymnastic team will embark on a good-will exhibition tour of Southern Illinois high schools this week.

The SIU gymnasts, who will be providing laughs as well as stunts on the tour, will open an appearance at the Harrisburg Junior High School this Thursday.

Featured with the Saluki performers will be bantamweight Sugar Bennett. "Sugar" toured with the team last spring and was named the first female letter winner in Southern's history.

Other performances slated for April include: April 15 — night show at Dahlgren High School; April 18 — Nashville High School (1 p. m.); April 24 — Patoka High School (7 p. m.); and April 26 — Cairo Junior High School (8 p. m.).

The exhibitions will include the side horse, parallel bars, free exercise, trampolining, tumbling, long horse, clowning, and "Sugar's" fire-baton twirling.

Scheduled to appear in the shows are gymnasts Jerry Oettle, Gene Salomon, Bill Ballester, Roger Council, Bob Hauser, Kelly Smith, Julius Johnson, Carl Eiteldeer, Bill Francoeur, Jim Haas, and Gregg Dickey.

It may be the men who will have their faces on our money, but you'll notice the girls' names who get their hands on it.

Netmen and Golfers Due Friday

Tennis Team Away
With fingers crossed and eyes turned to the sky, Tennis coach Dick LeFevre and his charges will head for Eastern Illinois and Indiana State this weekend.

The netters have yet to play a regular season match, and counting their spring tour, four of their scheduled seven matches have been rained out. Last weekend, their opponents from Rolla, Mo., were ready to crack rackets at promptly 1 p. m., but the weather had different ideas.

The Salukis will meet the Eastern Panthers at Charleston on Friday afternoon, before traveling on to Terra Haute, Ind., to meet the Hoosier state squad.

LeFevre has indicated that either Jim Jarrett or newcomer Ron Underwood will take the court as Southern's No. 1 man. Jim Shanklin, Jerry Gruen, Al Rowden, and Don McQueen will probably round out the seven-man squad, unless some other members break into the lineup through Coach LeFevre's challenging process.

Another top candidate, Merrill Tom Jackson of the Collinsville Kahoks was an all-state football player, all state basketball player, and now a candidate for the state championship in the discus. Tom throws it 165 feet in practice, three throws at the state record.

To combat the loss of two of his top men, Coach Lynn Holder will be forced to rely on freshmen newcomers. He will have veteran Captain Andy Barnett and Bill Malinski, along with John Winn, Jim Whittenburg, and Loren Trout fighting for the top positions.
