Salukis Win NCAA Gymnastic Title

★ Book Damage Policy Told

"Morris Library may need a stronger statement of policy concerning theft and book mutilation," said Ferris S. Randall, librarian for Morris Library.

Randall pointed out that at the University of Illinois a student faces immediate dismissal for book theft or mutilation, or for forging the signature or record number of another student.

Although concerned over the problem of book theft, Randall said Morris Library's losses were probably about the same as the losses of any other library.

Randall said book mutilations occur far less frequently than book thefts, but the library is still forced to buy new books to replace those with pages removed.

For example, Randall said that last quarter some person or persons cut large sections out of "Groves Dictionary of Music and Musicians."

Although only four volumes were damaged, the library had to buy a 10-volume replacement set costing $140. Randall said the books were required reading for a General Studies course.

Randall said the faculty could assist the library by informing them of an expected run on certain books or periodicals. The materials could then be placed on reserve or perhaps Xeroxed.

Randall said he was deeply concerned over the loss or mutilation of periodicals which frequently cannot be replaced. He urged all students to use the Xerox copying machine service located at the main desk.

Registration Ends

Deadline for registration for this term will be noon today.

Students were also reminded that deferred fees for this quarter must be paid by Tuesday.

FLOWERS FOR EVERYONE—When persons attending the National Security Seminar at SIU left the final session they were presented with orchids from Hawaii. The flowers were flown here as a surprise for those attending the two-week program.

Three SIU Units Plan Special Programs For Visiting High School Students Today

High school students will converge on the SIU campus today to participate in the annual high school student guest day.

Three academic units, the School of Agriculture, the School of Technology and the School of Home Economics, have planned programs for the prospective students.

Students interested in the School of Technology program will register from 8:15 to 9:15 a.m. in Davis Auditorium in the Wham Education Building.

From 9:45 to 11:45 p.m., the students will take an organized tour of the technology facilities. Following lunch, an organized tour of the campus will leave from in front of the Wham Building.

Students interested in agriculture will register from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the foyer of the Agriculture Building. Robert W. MacVicar, vice president for academic affairs, will make a "Welcome to Southern" address beginning at 9:50 a.m.

Following the address, a movie, "Food or Famine," will be shown at 10 a.m. Other features of the day-long program include an address by W. E. Keeper, dean of the School of Agriculture, a tour of the departments in agriculture, a barbecue and a tour of the campus.

SIU students in the four departments of the School of Home Economics will serve as hosts for students visiting the Home Economics Building.

The students will present an audience participation program on career opportunities in home economics.

Other highlights include discussions on University life, living facilities and recreation.

A luncheon for home economics teachers and advisers accompanying the high school students is also planned.

The Madrigal Singers, chamber group from the Department of Music, will entertain the visitors from 2:30 to 3 p.m.

A "Know Your University" exhibit will be on display in the University Center for all students visiting the campus.

Southern Beats 12 Other Teams

By Joe Cook

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—The SIU Salukis once again reign as King in the sport of gymnastics.

The Salukis, living up to their role as favorites, brought Southern its second NCAA Gymnastics Championship Friday.

Southern had previously won the title in 1964.

SIU's winning score was 187.2, University of California at Berkeley was second with a score of 185.1, Michigan State was third with 184.75 and Iowa State was fourth with 184.5.

Pennsylvania State the defending champion could place no better than sixth.

Competition for individual titles will continue Saturday.

Friday night Frank Schmitz lead the Salukis by winning first place in three events—free exercise, 9.55 out of a possible 10 points; trampoline with a score of 9.5 and long horse, with a 9.5 score.

He will compete Saturday for individual titles in free exercise and long horse.

Brent Williams scored 8.9 to place sixth in the trampoline event. In free exercise he scored 9.35 to tie for second and on the long horse he received a 9.25 to tie for fourth.

Dale Hardt scored the second highest score on the trampoline right behind Schmitz. He scored 9.45 and tied for second with Dan Millman.

Hutch Dvorak finished fifth with a 9.2 in the trampoline event.

Fred Dennis received a 9.4 on the rings to place second in the event.

Steve Whitlock tied for sixth in free exercise with a 9.0. Ron Harstad scored 9.2 to tie for sixth in the parallel bars.

Rick Tucker scored a 9.4 in the high bar event to tie for fifth place.

Paul Mayer scored 9.0 in free exercise to tie for sixth with his teammate Whitlock. He also received a 9.2 in the long horse event to place sixth.

Tom Cook placed seventh on the rings with a score of 9.15.

Coach Bill Meade and his champions will fly back to Carbondale, arriving at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Challenge of Communism Outlined

COL. CHARLES E. SULLIVAN

The most serious challenge facing the free world today is international Communism, the closing speaker in atwo-week National Security Seminar stressed here Friday.

Col. Charles E. Sullivan Jr., U.S. Air Force, said expansion of the Communist domain must be vigorously opposed—whether by force or threat of force, directly or indirectly.

Col. Sullivan was one of five faculty members from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Washington, D.C., which presented the seminar at SIU.

"To know what the Communists are up to, and to understand their varied techniques, is a major order of business with us," he told the seminar audience. "It is an order of business we cannot neglect."

He said the conflict between the Communists and the free world is as fundamental as any conflict can be and that "their proclaimed objectives and our conception of a decent world order just do not and cannot fit together."

"As free citizens of this great United States," the speaker said, "we cannot afford complacency. We must face the fact that in order to meet the challenge of the future our country will need men and women of character and determination."

More than 500 civilians and military reservists from throughout the nation attended the seminar, which closed with a brief ceremony after Col. Sullivan's talk.

First Night Is Special

Eugene O'Neill's Play to Mark Opening of Players' New Home

A special presentation of Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" will be performed by the Southern Players at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The performance will be to an invited audience and will formally open the new Southern Players Theater.

The play will open for the public at 8 p.m. Thursday. Sherwin Abrams, associate professor of theater, is directing the five-member cast of the tragedy.

Peter Goetz, a graduate student in theater, will play the role of James Tyrone, the head of the ill-fated Tyrone family. Goetz, who received his bachelor's degree from the State University of New York, has appeared in plays such as "Mr. Roberts," "Taming of the Shrew," and "Tea and Sympathy."

The roles of Mary Tyrone, the mother, and Cathleen, the maid, will be alternated by Marilyn Whitlow and Charlotte Owens.

Miss Whitlow, a senior in theater, has appeared in "Firebugs," "The Boy-friend," "Where's Charlie," and "The Mousetrap." Miss Owens, a freshman in theater,

Student Teachers To Speak to FFA

Eight agriculture students who completed their student-teaching during winter term will relate their experiences and observations to a Collegiate Chapter of the Future Farmers of America meeting Tuesday.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in Room 225 of the Agriculture Building.

FFA is an organization having chapters in high schools as well as colleges. The organization consists of students, generally majoring in agriculture, who promote and forward interest and ideas in agriculture and farming.

played the title in the Southern Players' production of "The Madwoman of Chailott."

Robert Wilde, who portrays James Tyrone Jr., is a graduate student in theater who received his bachelor's degree from Northwestern University. He has worked in several off-Broadway productions.

A junior in speech, Dennis Schlacra, will play the role of the younger Tyrone, Edmund.

He has played roles in "The Crucible," "Pajama Game," "Macbeth," and "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Stage manager for the play will be Al Erickson. Robert Pevitts designed the settings.

Tickets are now on sale at the box office at the south entrance of the Communications Building. Tickets are priced at $1.25 and all seats are reserved.

National Ceramics Displayed at SIU

The 23rd annual National Ceramics Exhibition will be on display here until April 15.

The exhibit, consisting of about 200 pieces of ceramic art, is being held in the Mitchell Gallery of the Home Economics Building.

The Everson Museum of Syracuse, N.Y., sponsors a national contest every three years to select works by professional ceramists from across the country for this exhibition. Winners receive monetary awards and their works are sent on tour.

Nicholas Vergette, associate professor of ceramics, was one of the three jurors who judged this exhibition in 1964. Vergette won first place in the previous exhibition for the use of ceramics in architecture.

PRESENT RECITAL - Herbert Levinson (left), lecturer in music, and Kent W. Werner, instructor of music, will present Sonata in G minor by Tartini, Concerto No. 5 in A major by Mozart, "Sonata for Unaccompanied Violin" by Hindemith and two other works at a faculty recital at 4 p.m. Sunday in Shryock Auditorium. Levinson, violinist, will be accompanied by Werner on the piano.

Zoology Department Receives Snail, Clam Shell Collection

A snail and clam shell collection containing more than a thousand specimens has been given the Department of Zoology through the SIU Foundation.

Principally collected by the late Mrs. Frances Lewis, the shells were given to Southern by her sister, Miss Estelle L. Windhorst. Miss Windhorst, for years a music teacher at Harris Teachers College in St. Louis, also was a shell collector.

These shells were gathered from seashores of Florida, the Caribbean, Hawaii and the Orient. When Mrs. Lewis died, Miss Windhorst was to dispose of the collection as she saw fit. Because she was interested in its being used as an educational facility, Miss Windhorst donated the collection to SIU in the names of Mrs. Lewis' daughter, Mrs. Darrell Snyder, her son, Robert S. Van Meter and Miss Windhorst.

George Garoian, associate professor of zoology, said a part of the collection has been displayed in the Life Science Building. The major part, he said, will be incorporated into an invertebrate collection room scheduled for a planned new Life Science structure. Garoian said there was enough material in the collection to provide for both undergraduate and graduate work in zoology.

Television Coverage Labeled as 'Fiasco'

The recent all-day coverage of the Gemini 8 mission by the three major networks brought a rain of criticism by the TV-viewing public.

Thousands of irate "Batman," "Beverly Hillbillies" and "I Spy," fans flooded the switchboards at ABC, CBS and NBC with complaints that they'd prefer the caped crusader and his video colleagues to the commentary of Huntley, Brinkley, Smith, Cronkite, McGee, et al.

We can't blame the disgruntled viewers a bit.

Although there was a great drama going on miles above the earth, with the lives of the two astronauts in great peril, it hardly justified eight hours of redundant, vague information that the gangle of newsmen dribbled out during the seemingly unending display of TV stupidity.

The networks defended themselves by shifting the blame to the FCC which demands public service air time. Regardless of where the blame

Writer Commends Gators for Win Over SIU Team

What Jimmy Carnes' track team did to Southern Illinois Wednesday was comparable to beating Kentucky in basketball, or Alabama in football, or Lyndon Johnson in politics.

Southern Illinois—a national track power with several Olympic performers—hardly ever loses dual meets. Until Carnes took over Florida's track fortunes, the Gators had trouble winning.

In two years under the former Furman coach, UF has a 9-1 dual meet record.

We're happy to see the Gator track team regaining a prominent place in the Southeastern Conference. But we're even happier to see Jimmy Carnes successful, for the young (29) Mr. Carnes is one of the nicest guys we know, and he's in a business where nice guys are known to finish last.

lies, the fact remains that all the "information" given in that day-long fiasco could have been put out in perhaps one hour with brief reports added as new situations arose.

One can say, "Oh, tch-tch, so the great unwashed missed one night of their favorite TV drive," but this is not the important issue. The issue is whether or not the devotion of all that air time to a subject of national importance is justified.

We feel it is if, and let's emphasize the "if," the information is current, pertinent and relevant. In this case we would hazard to say that at least 75 per cent of the stuff was anything but pertinent.

NBC went to a lot of time and expense to have a mock-up of the Pacific Ocean with models of rescue craft and spacecraft sitting in the ersatz ocean. It looked very impressive with Frank McGee standing on Okinawa directing operations from guess-work and vague reports with David Brinkley recapping and recapping and repeating, "We really don't know for sure what's going on, but we'll let you know as soon as we know."

Thanks a heap, David.

Laugh It Up, Girls

Women, according to a report from the National Laugh Foundation, have a better sense of humor than men and thus are more stable creatures.

The weaker sex enjoys itself more than the stronger, moreover, because men are under pressure to hold a job and support the family.

The foundation thinks, therefore, that the wife should be the smiling, happy strand in the marriage knot, a stimulant to relaxation and pleasure.

Of course, that's the way it already is around our house. But the foundation certainly has a point there.

Courts Clarify Obscenity, New Task-What Smut Isn't

By Arthur Hoppe (San Francisco Chronicle)

The public outcry against the Supreme Court's recent attempt to clarify obscenity is now reaching a crescendo. And no one is more outraged than Mr. Homer T. Pettibone, one of the most widely read writers of our times. (Under various noms de plume.)

"Confusing! Obfuscating! Unworkable!" cried Mr. Pettibone, a look of pain on his finely chiseled features.

"It couldn't be as bad as all that," I said.

"I am seriously considering laying aside my pen forever," he said, adjusting his paisley Ascot with his long, tapered fingers. "For it has become all but impossible for a modern author, even one of my caliber, to write smut."

"Good Heavens!" I couldn't help but exclaim.

"Take my latest work, 'Playthings of Lust,'" said

Mr. Pettibone, staring moodily into his brandy snifter. "The reviews were marvelous. 'Hard core pornography,' 'Absolutely vile,' 'Pure slime.' Those are only some of the phrases lavished on it. And not one found an iota of literary merit."

"That's important?" "Crucial. It must be totally without literary merit to qualify as smut. Never had I written more poorly. And then this idiotic critic from the Baptist Seminary Bulletin had to call it, 'A perfect example of the filth contaminating our society.'"

"What's wrong with that?" "Redeeming social importance," said Mr. Pettibone gloomily. "You see, the court lifted the ban on 'Fanny Hill' solely because it was a perfect example of 18th century pornography. And here, all unknowing, I'd written a perfect modern example of pornography. How can society ban smut if it has no examples of what smut is? Thus my socially important work was no longer smut."

"Most unfair. Was there nothing you could do?"

"I tried. I went to my publisher, 'Dirty, Inc.,' and demanded a hard-hitting titillating advertising campaign. This would redeem it under Justice Brennan's opinion that a work promoted by titillating advertisements is obviously smut."

"Ingenious."

"Yes. The blurb on the jacket said: 'The dominant theme of this material taken as a whole will appeal to your prurient interest!' But was anybody titillated? No. In the end, not a single book dealer would sell it under the counter. It was a complete flop."

"A tragedy," I said. "And now, thanks to the Supreme Court, you have renounced pornography and I assume you will turn to writing good, clean, socially acceptable novels?"

Mr. Pettibone looked aghast. "God gracious," he said, "I just explained how difficult it is to guess what the Supreme Court thinks smut is. I couldn't even begin to guess what they think it isn't."

Education Hindered In Mexico

By James Budd Copy News Service

MEXICO CITY—The Mexican government says a high school education will be available to every youngster in Mexico by 1970.

But in 1966, 14 out of every 100 applicants to public secondary schools will be turned away.

While the disappointments will be many, they will be fewer this year than in 1965. Last year 30,000 boys and girls, half of the total applicants, were rejected.

In 1965 the government set aside $20 million to build more high schools but it takes time.

Youngsters who can't find room in public schools can apply to private schools if their parents can afford it. Tuition has ranged from $5 to $15 a month, however, many private schools recently announced fee increases of up to 40 per cent.

The increase brought fresh attacks on private schools, a favorite target of leftists. Most operate as businesses and are naturally interested in showing a profit. Many others are church-connected in direct violation of the Mexican constitution.

Although government inspectors visit private schools partly to see that these rules are followed, they are not overly strict. Mexico is, frankly, dependent on private institutions.

Although this country spends 25 per cent of the national budget on education, more than a third of its high school students are enrolled in private schools.

Education efforts are paying off. The illiteracy rate dropped from nearly 90 per cent at the turn of the century to less than 30 per cent today.

But the ability to read and write is not enough. Mexico needs to give its workers 400,000 additional jobs a year, yet cannot. One reason is the lack of technical training and education.

SIU Gymnasts Should Also Be Recognized

To the editor: Let's give the gymnastics Salukis their due! A banquet was given for the basketball Salukis, who are recognized as one of the best small college basketball teams in the country.

But, for the gymnastics Salukis, who will probably return from Penn State University as the acknowledged champions in the United States, all that is being readied is a write-up in the Daily Egyptian, and hopefully, a report on WSIU Radio.

Why not a banquet for the gymnasts? It certainly sounds fair. Let's get behind our Salukis—all of our Salukis.

Public Appeal Made For Return of Youth

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The father of Daniel Goldman — worn from lack of sleep — broadcast a dramatic appeal Friday for the return of his only child, kidnaped five days ago.

"Please, please, make contact immediately," he implored.

Aaron Goldman, his eyes red-rimmed but his voice strong and steady, went before radio microphones and television cameras in the studio of a Miami television station to make his second public appeal for his 18-year-old son's safe return.

"Danny's mother and I have been in a state of shock since our son was forcibly taken from our home last Monday morning," he said.

"We have raised the required $25,000, expecting the kidnapers call between 6 and 7 Monday evening. Since, in the words of the abductor, all he wants is the money, and all we want is our son Danny back safely, we will immediately turn over the money in return for the safe delivery of our son."

Goldman, who two days ago issued an open letter to the kidnaper, made a stipulation in the broadcast that the earlier appeal did not contain.

"We will not turn over any money to anyone unless we either speak to our son or assure ourselves of his unharmed condition," the father said.

The open letter had not made the boy's safety a condition.

"Please, please, make contact immediately by any means of your own choosing," the father said. "By phone, by mail, through a clergyman, attorney or through any third party — please help us."

Goldman, neatly dressed in brown slacks and a mustard-colored sports jacket, was brought to the station by detectives and returned to his nearby home immediately after making the broadcast.

Newsmen were not permitted to question the father. Daniel was abducted from the fashionable suburban home of his wealthy parents by a husky, middle-aged man police have described as extremely dangerous.

The kidnaper demanded $25,000 ransom and said he would call the parents later that day to arrange a method of payment. He never did.

100-Foot Flames Devour Colp Club

COLP (AP) — Wind-whipped flames that rose 100 feet high destroyed two unoccupied buildings Friday and threatened to spread to several dwellings before being brought under control.

The fire broke out in a two-story building, destroyed it and spread to the adjacent New Orleans Club, a well-known night spot closed in August, 1964, after a gambling raid.

Strike Seems to Be Nearing End; Judge Orders Men Back to Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-day railroad firemen's strike, which disrupted segments of the nation's economy, appeared to be nearing an end Friday night under the gun of a judge's back-to-work order.

H.E. Gilbert, firemen's president, said he would call off the walkout if certain conditions were met by the railroads. They included: no reprisals against the strikers, no damage suits against the union.

J.E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, pledged there would be no reprisals against individual workers.

"We feel that these men were misled by the union officers," he told newsmen in Chicago.

He added that the question of filing damage suits, or of seeking contempt action against union leaders, would be up to each railroad president.

Earlier in the day, a federal appeals court declined, two to one, to stay a restraining order issued against the strike by U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff in Washington.

The strike, conducted by 8,000 firemen against eight railroads in 38 states, disrupted service on 43,000 miles of line, with these results: — Layoffs or shortened work-time for some 100,000 workers including 65,000 auto workers, highway traffic jams, tie-ups in freight movements, stranded passengers, delays in the mails.

Proposed Facilities Will Be Restudied

CARLYLE, ILL. (AP) — Army engineers are already altering tourist accommodations at Carlyle Reservoir although visitors have not had a chance to try them.

Engineers advertised March 1 for bids to operate boating, camping and other concessions at the lake's major recreation site.

The invitation was cancelled Friday to permit a study of alternate facilities.

Filling of the lake is to begin next year. It will be Illinois' largest reservoir.

Railroad Strike Affects Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Three railroads which normally serve thousands of persons a day in the Chicago area remained idle Friday.

It was the second day of a strike directed at eight major carriers in the country, three of which serve the Chicago area.

The Chicago-based railroads are the Illinois Central, the Pennsylvania and the Grand Trunk Western.

Downstate Illinois began to feel a tight pinch because the IC's trains had stopped rolling.

Friday April 1, was a miner's holiday and all mines were closed, but one mine, short of coal cars, closed operations Thursday, idling some 500 men.

The Borg-Warner Corp. and Allen Industries Corp., which employ a total of some 2,800 persons in Herrin, said they might have to reduce or halt production because of a shortage of railroad cars.

Picket lines at the IC's car repair shop in Centralia were honored by more than 800 other workers and the shop was shut Friday. An IC shop at Paducah, Ky., where there are many Illinoisans among the 1,100 workers, also was shut because picket lines were honored.

Soviets Claim New System Of Defense

MOSCOW (AP) — Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the Soviet defense minister, said Friday all achievements of Soviet science are going into new weaponry and that establishment of a "blue belt" defense system has been completed.

The implication of a mysterious new defense system was made without official explanation.

Malinovsky told a Communist party congress the Soviet Union had "considerably increased" its stockpile of nuclear weapons and delivery systems over the past 4 1/2 years and can defeat any aggressor.

The marshal did not explain the "blue belt" system in remarks released by official Soviet news media. Non-Communist correspondents have been barred from the congress. An editor at the Soviet news agency said only that the mention of the "blue belt" system came after a discussion of rockets.

This was interpreted in some quarters here as meaning the system involved a line of rocket defenses. But a Communist source who heard Malinovsky speak said he understood the term "blue belt" applied to a recently completed training exercise that sent Soviet nuclear submarines on a "round - the - world cruise under water."

This source also said it was his understanding that Malinovsky's remarks on scientific advances and weaponry applied to many weapons rather than to one new weapon.

Medicare Abuse Prevention Asked

CHICAGO (AP) — The president of the American Medical Association urged business executives Friday to help prevent abuse of the hospital and other benefits of the Medicare program.

Dr. James Z. Appel of Lancaster, Pa., addressing the Executives Club of Chicago, said that whatever the impact of Medicare after July 1 this year and Jan. 1, 1967, two things are certain:

"First, there is need for a public information program to reduce the amount of anger, frustration and disappointment among Social Security beneficiaries."

"As a corollary, there should be vigorous programs to publicize the various voluntary health insurance plans being developed by private insurance companies to supplement the limited benefits of Medicare."

"Second, there will be a continuing need for effective educational programs to prevent or minimize abuse and over-utilization of the Medicare benefits."

Judge Denies Evolution Theory Defense

LITTLE ROCK, Ark (AP) — Judge Murray O. Reed refused Friday to allow Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett to attack the theory of evolution during trial of a suit challenging the Arkansas law against teaching the theory in public schools.

Reed's attitude blocked Bennett's strategy of defending the law by disproving the theory, and the hearing ended quietly after 21 1/2 hours of testimony.

The judge gave opposing attorneys 30 days to file briefs. His ruling will come after that period.

The suit was filed by a biology teacher at Little Rock Central High.

The teacher's attorney, Eugene Warren, attacked the law in his opening statement as a vague, indefinite, arbitrary and capricious interference with academic freedom.

Johnson Asks $1.1 Billion Cut Before Fiscal Year Closes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, the White House said Friday, has asked his Cabinet to pitch in on an anti-inflation drive to cut $1.1 billion from federal spending in the next three months if possible.

That is the difference between latest estimate of a federal budget deficit of $6.4 billion and the original estimate of $5.3 billion.

Administration officials said Johnson is figuring on cutting back some of the new "Great Society" programs if Congress insists on upping funds for old programs the administration thinks should be trimmed.

Inflation, economizing and trimming spending apparently were the major items of attention at the Cabinet meeting.

Tighter Regulation On Driving Sought

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Secretary of State Paul Powell said Friday he will ask the legislature next year to make high school driver education a requirement for 16 and 17 year old driver license applicants.

Powell told a meeting of driver education instructors that the program is the reason why Illinois youngsters account for a lower percentage of accidents than teen-agers nationwide.

For 1964, the latest year for which figures are available, Illinois teen-agers were involved in 10.76 percent of the accidents reported. The national percentage was 14.9, Powell said.

MAYOR D. BLANEY MILLER AND DONNA SCHAENZER

Week-Long Promotion Set

Rally Scheduled for Sunday to Honor SIU Women's, Men's Gymnastic Teams

A campus-city rally honoring Southern's men's and women's gymnastics teams will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, launching a week-long promotion of the squads now competing for national championships.

Mayor D. Blaney Miller opened the festivities Friday by proclaiming the week of April 3-9 as "Gymnastics Championship Week" in Carbondale.

The campaign is in honor of the men's team, which is now competing in the NCAA championships at Penn State University, and the women's team, which plays host to the Women's Collegiate Open next weekend.

The rally will start at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the University Center with a city police car and fire truck and from 40 to 200 motorcycles escorting the women's team in convertibles to the Southern Illinois Airport.

Activities will pick up at the airport, where the men's team is due to arrive from Pennsylvania about 4 p.m. John Rush, better known as "Pharaoh," will lead the reception party for Coach Bill Meade's team. He will be joined by the SIU cheerleaders and pep band.

While waiting for the plane to arrive, two members of the women's team, Judy Willis and Nancy Smith, will give a trampoline exhibition.

After a short reception for the men at the airport, the teams will be escorted back to campus where the rally will disperse.

SIU's and Carbondale's claim to being the gymnastics capital of the country can hardly be disputed with both teams being rated as favorites in their respective national meets. The men's team won the NCAA team title in 1964 and finished as semifinalists last year, while the women won the AAU and U.S. Gymnastics Federation team titles last year.

No university has ever claimed both titles in the same year as Southern has a chance to this year.

Track, Tennis Teams to See Competition This Weekend

Two SIU outdoor sports teams will be competing today at schools south of here.

The track squad will be in Austin, Tex., to face the University of Texas and other tough squads in the Texas Relays.

The trackmen will probably not have as easy a time as they did last weekend when they swept the Florida Relays with six victories.

The Saluki runners were led by Oscar Moore, who is now eligible for varsity competition, and will compete as a distance man.

Coach Lew Hartzog is banking on the distance medley relay, with Moore, Gary Carr, Jerry Fendrich and Al Ackman competing, to run for the top position.

Regular season play for the tennis team will be getting under way today at Murray, Ky., when the Salukis face Purdue University and Murray State.

Salukis to Play Doubleheader Against Memphis State Today

Regular season play for Southern's baseball squad begins today with a 1 p.m. doubleheader at the SIU diamond south of the Arena.

The Salukis will be facing unbeaten Memphis State in what should be a rugged test for the inexperienced SIU team. Memphis State has a 6-0 mark. Southern's spring trip record is 5-8.

"Pitching and defense will have to pull us through the year," says Coach Joe Lutz. "We have a definite lack of power, so we'll have to keep the other team's scoring down to stay in the games."

Extra attractions will begin at 12:45 p.m. when three skydivers will try to hit home plate after jumping from 12,500 feet, 10,000 feet of which will be free-fall. The diver closest to the umpire will hand him the game ball.

In addition, the batgirls will make their first appearance. Lutz also has a Honda on hand to save his relievers the walk from the bullpen and onto the mound if necessary.

Another twin-bill is scheduled for Monday when the Salukis will be host to Central Michigan.

Softball Refs Sought

By Intramural Office

Officials are needed to referee the forthcoming intramural softball games.

Students wanting to officiate should sign a list at the Intramural Office in the Arena. The first softball games will begin April 14.

Sunday Autocross Planned by Club

The Grand Touring Auto Club will hold Slalom I, an autocross, Sunday at the Murdale Shopping Center parking lot.

Event chairman Terry Block has scheduled registration between noon and 2 p.m. and a drivers' meeting at 1 p.m.

The first car should get under way at 1:30 p.m.

Only one car will be on the course at a time, and will compete against the clock.

Students May Use Athletic Equipment

Students wanting to use athletic equipment may do so by presenting their ID cards at the Intramural Office, Room 128 in the Arena.
