Book Damage Policy Told

"Morris Library may need a stronger statement of policy concerning theft and book mutilation," said Ferris S. Randall, librarian for Morris Library.

Randall pointed out that at the University of Illinois a student faces immediate dismissal for book theft or mutilation, for forging their signature or record number of another student.

Although concerned over the problem of book theft, Randall said Morris Library's losses were probably about the same as the losses of any other library.

Randall said book mutilations occur far less frequently than book thefts, but the library is still forced to order new books to replace those with pages removed.

For example, Randall said that last quarter some person or persons cut large sections out of "Groves Dictionary of Music and Musicians." Although only four volumes were damaged, the library had to buy a 10-volume replacement set costing $140. Randall said the books were required reading for a General Studies course.

Randall said the faculty could assist the library by informing them of any expected run on certain books or periodicals. The materials could then be ordered in reserve or perhaps Xeroxed.

Randall said he was deeply concerned over the loss or mutilation of periodicals which cannot be replaced. He urged all students to use the Xerox copying machine service located at the main desk.

Registration Ends

Deadline for registration for this term will be noon today.

Students were also reminded that deferred fees for this quarter must be paid by Tuesday.

Challenge of Communism Outlined

The most serious challenge facing the free world today is international Communism, the closing speaker in a two-week National Security Seminar stressed here Friday.

Col. Charles E. Sullivan Jr., U.S. Air Force, said expansion of the Communist domain must be vigorously opposed—whether by force or threat of force, directly or indirectly.

Col. Sullivan was one of five faculty members from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Washington, D.C., which presented the seminar at SIU.

"To know what the Communists are up to, and to understand their varied techniques, is a major order of business with us," he told the seminar audience, "It is an order of business we cannot neglect."

He said the conflict between the Communists and the free world is as fundamental as any conflict can be and that their "proclaimed objectives and our conception of a decent world order just do not and cannot co-exist."

"As free citizens of this great United States," the speaker said, "we cannot afford complacency. We must face the fact that in order to meet the challenge of the future our country will need men and women of character and determination."

More than 500 civilians and military reservists from throughout the nation attended the seminar, which closed with a brief ceremony after Col. Sullivan's talk.

Zoology Department Receives Snail, Clam Shell Collection

A small and clam shell collection containing more than a thousand specimens has been given the Department of Zoology through the SIU Foundation.

Principally collected by the late Mrs. Frances Lewis, the shells were given to Southern by her sister, Miss Estelle L. Windsor. Miss Windsor, for years a music teacher at Harris Teachers College in St. Louis, also was a shell collector.

These shells were gathered from seashores of Florida, the Caribbean, Hawaii and the Orient. When Mrs. Lewis died, Miss Windsor donated the collection to SIU in the names of Mrs. Lewis' daughter, Mrs. Darrell Snyder, her son, Robert S. Van Meter and Miss Windsor.

George Garoian, associate professor of zoology, said a pair of the collection has been displayed in the Life Science Building. The major part, he said, will be incorporated into an instructional collection room scheduled for a planned new Life Science structure.

Garoian said there was enough material in the collection to provide for both undergraduate and graduate work in zoology.

It Sounde Good But Looked Bad

"I have a check for six thousand dollars here; is it good?" queried a Carbondale clothing merchant of a local bank earlier this month.

The bank noted that the student had $12 in his account and said it could cover "six twenty-sevens." The clothing store then accepted the student's check for $627.

MEXICO CITY—The Mexican government says a high school education will be available to every youngster in Mexico by 1970.

But in 1966, 14 out of every 100 applicants to public secondary schools were rejected.

While the disappointments will be many, they will be fewer this year than in 1965, last year 35,000 boys and girls, half of the total applicants, were rejected.

In 1965 the government set aside $20 million to build more high schools but it takes time.

Youngsters who can't find room in public schools can apply to private schools if their parents can afford it.

Tuition has ranged from $5 to $15 a month, but many private schools recently announced fee increases of up to 40 per cent.

The increase brought fresh attacks on private schools, a favorite target of leftists.

Most operate as businesses and are connected in direct violation of the Mexican constitution.

Although government inspectors visit private schools, it is not known what these rules are followed, they are not altogether strict. Mexico is, frankly, dependent on private institutions.

In this year, this country spends 25 per cent of the national budget on education, leaving 15 per cent for high school students are enrolled and paying their fees.

Education efforts are paying off. The illiteracy is dropped from nearly 90 per cent at the turn of the century to 20 per cent today.

But the ability to read and write is not enough. Mexico needs 500,000 additional jobs a year, the majority of which is the lack of technical training and education.

SULI Gymnasts Should Also Be Recognized

To the editor:

Let's give the gymnastics Salukis their due! A banquet was given the basketball Salukis, who are recognized one of the best in the nation, and SULI college basketball teams in the country.

But, for the gymnastics Salukis, who will probably return from Penn State University as the acknowledged champions in the United States, all that is being readied is a write-up in the Daily Egyptian. Hopefully, a report on WSIU Radio.

Why no banquet for the gymnasts? It certainly sounds fair. Let's get behind our Salukis—any one of our Salukis.

Issued an open letter to the kidnapper, made a stipulation in the broadcast that the earlier appeal did not contain.

"We will not turn over any money to anyone unless we either speak to our son or assure ourselves of his unharmed condition," the father said.

The open letter had not made the boy's safety a condition.

"Please, please, make contact immediately," he implor ed.

Aaron Goldman, his eyes red-rimmed but his voice strong and steady, was before radio microphones and television cameras in the studio of a Miami television station to make his second public appeal for his 11-year-old son's safe return.

"Danny's mother and I have been in a state of shock as our son was forcibly taken from our home last Monday morning," he said.

"We have raised the required $25,000, expecting the kidnappers call between 6 and 7 Monday evening. Since, in the words of the abductor, all he wants is the money, we want is our son Danny back safely, we will immediately turn over the money in return for the safe delivery of our son,"

Goldman, who two days ago issued an open letter to the kidnapper, made a stipulation in the broadcast that the earlier appeal did not contain.

"We will not turn over any money to anyone unless we either speak to our son or assure ourselves of his unharmed condition," the father said.

The open letter had not made the boy's safety a condition.

"Please, please, make contact immediately" by any means they have chosen, the father said. "By phone, by mail, through a clergyman or attorney or through any third party — please help us."

Goldman, nearly dressed in brown slacks and a mustard-colored sports jacket, was brought to the station by detectives and returned to his nearby home immediately after making the broadcast.

Newsmen were not permitted to question the father. Daniel was abducted from the fashionable suburban home of his wealthy parents by a boy, middle-aged man police have described as extremely dangerous.

The kidnapper demanded $25,000 ransom and said he would strike the parents that day to arrange a method of payment. He never did.

100-Foot Flames Decour Club
COLP (AP) — Wind-whipped flames that rose 100 feet high destroyed two unoccupied buildings Friday and threatened to spread to several dwellings before being brought under control.

The fire broke out in a two-story building, destroyed it and spread to the adjacent New Orleans Club, a well-known speakeasy opened in April 1964, after a gambling raid.

Strike Seems to Be Nearing End; Judge Orders Men Back to Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-day railroad firemen's strike, which disrupted argument of the nation's economy, appeared to be nearing an end Friday night under the gun of a judge's back-to-work order.

H.E. Gilbert, firemen's president, said he would call off the walkout if certain conditions were met by the railroads. They included: no reprisals against the strikers, no damage suits against the union.

J.E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, pledged there would be no reprisals against individual workers.

"We feel that these men were misled by the union officers," he told newsmen in Chicago.

He added that the question of filling damage suits, or of seeking commensurate action against union leaders, would be up to each railroad president.

Earlier in the day, a federal appeals court declined, two to one, to stay a restraining order issued against the strike by U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff in Washington.

The strike, conducted by 8,000 firemen against eight railroads in 38 states, disrupted service on 43,000 miles with these results:

— Layoffs or shortened work-time for some 100,000 workers including 65,000 auto workers, highway traffic jams, tie-ups in freight movements, stranded passengers, delays in the mails.

Rialroad Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Three railroad executives offered to serve thousands of persons a day in the Chicago area by the end of the strike.

It was the second day of a strike directed at eight major carriers in the country, three of which serve the Chicago area.

The Chicago-based railroads are the Illinois Central, the Pennsylvania and the Grand Trunk Western.

Downstate Illinois began to feel a tight pinch because the IC's trains had stopped running.

Friday April 1, was a miner's holiday and all mines were closed, but one mine, short of coal cars, closed operations Thursday, idling some 500 men.

The Borg-Warner Corn, and Allen Industries Corp., which employ a total of some 2,000 persons in Herrin, said they might have to reduce or halt production because of a shortage of railroad cars.

Pickers lines at the IC's car repair shop in Centralia were honored by more than 800 workers and the shop was shut Friday. An IC shop at Picher, K., where there are many Illinoisans among the 1,100 workers, also was shut because picket lines were honored.

Soviets Claim New System of Defense

MOSCOW (AP) - Marshal Rodion V. Malinovsky, the Soviet defense minister, said Friday the country is creating a "blue belt" system as part of its overall defense system has been completed.

The implication of a mysterious new defense system was made, but without an official explanation. Malinovsky said a Communist party congress created a new "blue belt" system as part of its overall defense system has been completed.

This was interpreted in some quarters as a move to develop a new type of defense system or to involve the Soviet Union in a system involving a line of rocket defenses.

But a State Department official reported that Malinovsky's statement may refer to a new scheme for training tank crews that was reminiscent of the "blue belt" system.

Salukis to Play Doubleheader Against Memphis State Today

Regular season play for Southern's baseball squad begins today with a 1:30 p.m. doubleheader at the SIU diamond south of the Arena.

The Salukis will be facing unbeaten Memphis State in which should be a rugged test for the inexperienced SIU team. Memphis State has a 5-0 mark. Southern's spring trip record is 5-8.

"Pitching and defense will have to pull us through the year," says Coach Joe Lutz.

"We have a definite lack of power, so we'll have to keep the other team's scoring down to stay in the games."
