NEWS SCOUT

by Tichenor

Was the night before Christmas, and then the house, not a creature was stirring save only your News Scout, and he was hunting news.

After that feeble attempt at poetry we shall scud down to facts, as gleaned from the news of the week from far and near.

Any idea you think that I should shut-up, or you think of this following... W. A. Mann, University of Texas law student, is even sick of hearing his own voice.

Who worried his roommates that he "loster the late H. P. Long's filibuster record of 19 hours. When they took him up on his hoist, he launched into a diatribe monologue (true and again longer than any that Carolin Oth Skinner has ever seen)... Talking on astronomy, religion, politics, economics, his life history and many other things. He lasted 116 hours and 10 minutes—10 minutes longer than Long.

During the Thanksgiving vacation the Seminary choir of Augustana College enjoyed by very successful tour in Chicago, singing to over 3,000 people. The tour included many of the most beautiful metropolitan Chicago with the last appearance in Joliet. The choir sang in the form of choral service and not as concert. (Augustan Observer)

Attention called to you want to get married, go to the University of Illinois. Statistics show that only one percent of the couples that graduate from there are old maids. Eighty percent marry within the first three years after graduation and the rest of the sixty-nine percent within the next five years.

In the fantasy of a Rubie Goldberg setting and with the antics of the Marx brothers, Gode's political satire, "The Inspector General" opened at the latest production of the semester in the Los Angeles branch of the Collegio Little Theater for a seven day run.

The hero fools a crooked political machine with his swaggers and probing. Mistakes for the inspector general who is more to be making an income in America. He is reputed corruption, he accepts bribes, becomes engaged to the daughter of the mayor and lives the life of a graduate.

In a town where the postmaster opens all the mail, the teachers swing on the chandeliers and swing on their faces like a wet towel, and a justice raises punches in the court room, the play swings three acts of comedy and satire. (Junior Collegian)

As buses take speed in the corridors here of the Agropole at the University of Idaho contain two copies of the names of the 303 WPA workers who took part in the building of the new athletic stadium. (ATP)

Better late than never! Washington and Lee University awarded Col. Warren Whitledge his Bachelor of Science degree last June, just three years late. Col. Whitledge left school a month before graduation to take part in the Spanish American war... he remained with the regular army and the University did not learn of the peculiar circumstances until last spring.

Old Norway has a collection of library that is valued at several thousands of dollars. Included in first editions of rare books in its collection are Jobu World's "System Agriculture", one of the first systematic treatises on the subject of English farming. George Washington's correspondence on agriculture. Erasmus Darwin's poetry in which he endows plants with intelligence, and books by French and Scandinavian authorities of earlier centuries. There is also an exhibit of various famous people's drawings by various famous caricaturists and artists. (Vladette)

FACULTY ARTICLES ARE RECOGNIZED BY DEPT. OF INTERIOR

In a recent publication from the United States Office of Education, Department of the Interior (Bulletin, 1936, No. 5), on Bibliography to Research Studies in Education, 1934-35, S. I. N. U. is the only teachers college in the state to be represented. This college is represented by the listing of four articles:

1. W. G. Cline and others, "Remedial Reading in a Retarded Fourth Grade," 1935.
2. Bruce W. Merwin, "Development of the Curriculum in College Chemistry," Journal of Chemical Education, November, 1935.
3. Lawson, Douglas E., "Duties of the High School Principal," School Executives magazine, July, 1935.
4. Lawson, Douglas E., "The Content of Language Textbooks," Elementary English Review, March, 1935. Analyzes the content of 35 language texts to determine the agreement among authors on grade placement, objectives and drill in the mechanical elements of language study for grades below high school. Finds practically no agreement among authors of elementary language texts as to what, when, or why to teach mechanical elements in grammar.

Before a certain Purdue University professor accepted a job challenge from Purdue he won the majority of the games, he watched the team in practice, and coached the athletic activities.

Purdue says that Purdue would win on the basis of all the statistics. He mailed his acceptance to the Indiana Press.

When the game was called a tie, both professors breathed a little easier and reaped their respective nickles.

Deriding that the professional status is dead because of economic problem of competition with the motion picture, Elmer Rice, author and playwright addressed the Students of Brigham Young University recently.

Because the motion picture can produce plays that will reach a larger number of the people, for less money they have taken a large part of business from the theater. To offset this, "little theater and com-

Washington County has an area of 567 square miles and is in the south central part of the state. This county was organized in 1835. It was very fertile land and it was well timbered and watered. Grain and stock raising were the main industries of the county. The census of land cultivation was in 1870 as follows: 83,958 acres of wheat, 53,374 acres of corn, 33,114 acres of oats, and 114,788 in woodland. There were about 25,000 head of cattle then in the county. Because of the climate here to St. Louis, and the transportation facilities made it rather good market for the agricultural products. The population was composed of 30,438 natives of the state and 3,967 of foreign birth. There were eighty-five farms in the county in which 334 people were employed. The total capital of the state was $558,550 and total annual sales were close to $1,835,322. All denominations were represented in forty-four organizations. The school system of the county had advanced to be a very good and efficient one.

The county seat at the time was Nashville. It is centrally located in the territory. It had a population of 3,000 residents. It was noted for its "substantial brick blocks, residences, and public buildings." Another town was Okaville, which has since been abandoned. It is on the Central and Southeastern Railroad. Near it is Irvington, which is situated on the Illinois Central Railroad. It is in the center of the richest part of the county. Too, the Illinois Agricultural College is at Irvington. Irvington is moving to St. Louis and the second in importance in the county, is located at the crossing of the Central and Southeastern Railroads. It had a population of 1,500, and it was noted for its grain, flour, fruit, and tobacco. It was a good manufacturing point, and it contained many substantial public buildings. The taxation on property in 1875 amounted to $348,242 on personal property and $487,321 on real estate. There were thirteen precincts in the county. They were: Birch Grove, York, St. Louis, Pilot Knob, Plumb Hill, Okaville, Corvinton, Nashville, Hoyles, Irvington, Kichview, Ashley, Dalton.

CULTURAL OLYMPICS STARTED AT U. OF PENN.

Philadelphia, Pa.—(ACP)—"Cultural Olympics" for the purpose of discussing and exposing hidden talents of children and adults in the fields of art and literature are being inaugurated by the University of Pennsylvania's school of education.

The aim of the "cultural Olympics" is to promote the cultural interests of people and communities. At present the movement is limited to Philadelphia and its immediate area, but it is hoped that it will eventually become a national trend.

President Gates of the University of Pennsylvania explained the new project more fully:

"In accordance with the first objective, an effort will be made to bring the cultural olympics to the attention of as many potential competitors as possible by establishing contacts with churches, schools, museums, institutes, settlement houses, clubs, and other institutes and organizations which will help in the initial clearing houses for information concerning the project.

"The second purpose—that of suitably rewarding conspicuous achievement on the part of participants—can be accomplished best, it is felt, by making the awards of a special character that they will not be of mere passing significance but will serve as vehicles for the further development of the cultural talents of their recipients.

"To this end it is hoped that provision may be made whereby a number of these awards will be given to the privilege of study at various institutions which offer instruction in cultural fields.

"Time and again attention is called to the careers of men and women whose high achievements in the field of music, sculpture, painting, and other branches of the arts, were made possible solely by chance.

"Possibly that element of chance never may be eliminated entirely, but upon the extent to which it is minimized through the establishment of systematic agencies for the discovery and encouragement of talent wherever it exists, must depend in large measure the cultural progress of society."

MOVIE NEWS

By Tony Venegoni

Another of those "G-Men" pictures is "Sworn Enemy" which stars Robert Young. The play doesn't even have a new angle. You can close your eyes and see it all—imprisoned man and reformer killed by a bunch of "Protective Unionists." Brother swears revenge. And revenge he gets, after a series of rather trite experiences. The only thing that makes this picture any different from those of the "G-Man" cycle is the scriptural name leader. It took a lot of strong men to see that "G-men" even though he was crippled.

Lewis Stone turns out a very effective performance as the executive who had been framed. Robert Young is good, too, but he is wasted on this picture.

The famous Broadway and road show has come to the movies in its original form. "Three Men on a Horse" is the story of a human "jugg" that who has all the dough on the horses. The plot, while not particularly important, is certainly very entertaining. The dialogue is very clever and very funny. Frank Blough and Joan Blondell as their usual dumb-selves will keep you laughing.

Coming as it does, when all of us are only too conscious of the newspapers' gossip value—see the Simpson-Windor stories in any of the newspapers of America of the past four weeks—"Love On the Run" is timely.

The plot of this sophisticated and clever picture is rather trite. "News-papee man trials get to see story, falls in love; she hates newspaper; and reporter; he gives up job; in the end he gets both job and girl.

"The interest then is in, not the plot, but the dialogue and setting, both of which are very well done.

Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, and Franchot Tone play the leading roles with remarkable success. The crazy caretaker of the old palace should get his share of the acting honors.

This motion picture surely lays all the journalistic cards on the table when it comes to portraying news in the making.

school board, Matthew J. Murphy, John F. Watson, Victor J. D'Amico, Charles Hubbard Judd, and June L. Horn. Dr. Merwin will speak at a joint luncheon of Kappa Phi Kappa and Phi Delta Kappa on December 25.

Problems for consideration in the meeting will be: increasing the school districts, and providing convenience aid for distressed high schools.

NEED FOR INTELLIGENT, WELL-TRAINED BRAINS NEVER GREATER IN UNITED STATES, SAYS DR. HAROLD G. MOULTON

By JOHN ROGERS

"Never was there greater necessity for intelligent, well-educated brains in the United States than here at present," said Dr. Harold G. Moulton. "The college graduate of today steps into a field of unlimited opportunity."

Dr. Moulton at once gave the impression of a man of learning, keen-witted and to the point. However, he is larger, with the half-humorous, amiable manner of his speaking in a kindly and cultured, possessed of an excellent voice, he spoke fluently and without loss of attraction for a long period of time. BOOK REVIEW THE HIGHER LEARNING IN AMERICA

By Robert Maynard Hutchins - Yale University Press, New Haven, Conn.

Since his accession to his present position of authority as president of the University of Chicago, Robert Maynard Hutchins has been creating a new life in the educational profession.

He believes that the universities are at the present time wholly inoperative as institutions of higher learning.

He would propose then, a general curriculum consisting of the greatest books of the world in the fields of reading, writing, speaking and thinking...

Dr. George D. Nelson in his recent review of the book said: "A recent book about the universities is 'The Higher Learning in America' by Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins."

THE VOICE OF THE FACULTY

After the pitiful exhibition of fear and spirit shown at the basket ball game, Thursday I decided to take it upon myself to find out the wherewithal of the faculty...

Accordingly I went to the homes of members of the faculty, who probably know more about pep than any one else in this institution.

This gentleman obligingly referred me to an article in "The Achiever" the gist of which is that the faculty is whipped up by a flurry of local patriotism.

He said that many whose opinions demand respect believe that the present programs for public work and probably a large amount of direct government aid.

46% OF STUDENT BODY PREFER CLASSICAL TO POPULAR MUSIC

By WILLARD KEAR

Do you prefer classical or popular music? Southern students in a cross-section poll voted on this question with the following results: 'CLASSICAL' 40%, 'POPULAR MUSIC' 55%.

It is a little surprising that the "The Southern students in a cross-section poll voted on this question with the following results: 'CLASSICAL' 40%, 'POPULAR MUSIC' 55%.

The fact that a larger percentage of upper-class students preferred classical music than did Freshmen would seem to indicate that the playing of classical music during chapel periods actually instills into them an appreciation of the value of music.

More than 200 students attended the first Pep club party Monday evening 7. Admitted by Pep club ticket only, the students danced to excellent amplified recordings and had a general good time.

So many students requested that the parties be held regularly, that the Pep club members decided to continue them. The date of the next one has not been announced, but the program will consist of dancing and a song-fest.

Mr. Hill also wishes to announce that the Pep club will sponsor a dance immediately after the holidays. A good quality orchestra will be provided and the charge will be nominal. The date has not been decided as yet, but will be published in the Egyptian.

A fast Southern quartet opened the '37-38 basketball season with bang by defeating the experienced Arkansas Swedes team by a 39 to 30 score Wednesday night and came back Thursday night with even more power to defeat the travel tired Arkansas Aggie 35 to 36.

In the very first minute of play, Edwards speared through the Aggie's defense for a setup basket. Then in quick succession Parsons shot three buckets and from then on the Maroons scored points from all angles of the court.

SOUTHERNERS TO MEET ILLINOIS COLLEGE TONIGHT

Also To Meet Sparks Business College Tomorrow

Southern's hopes of an I. A. C. Championship in basketball this season will either be raised or shattered tonight when Coach LaRue Van Meter's Illinois College Glee takes the floor against the Maroons at eight o'clock in the first conference game.

Coach Van Meter has a squad of 22 veterans at Jacksonville when this crafty coach has the material to make a good team. The Blue Birds starting quintet will probably be composed of Nick Watts, and Virgil Fletcher, guards; Herb Scheffler, forward; Ira Scott and Cecil Fletcher, center.

Watts is captain of the team and is well known for his defensive ability and for his long shots. Virgil Fletcher is the older of the two Fletcher brothers and hailed from Johnson City where he was known as 'Big' Fletcher.

On the Southern side of the fence, Coach Anderson is relying upon his starting five of Max Parsons and Harold Fulton on the forward; Rayne Demster at center; and Troy Edwards and James Lucas at guards, to stem the Blue Birds' winning attack.

Without exception the eleven men polling the highest were the outstanding players on their respective teams. Many of them were prominently mentioned on various All-Star selections.

Four men from St. Viator were picked. The St. Viator team, which may be recalled, was co-champion of the conference and defeated Southern 7 to 2. Two men from DeKalb eleven, which defeated us 14 to 2 were chosen and two from Cape Girardeau, a 6 to 2 victory over Southern, were picked.

The other best football backs round out of back field quartet. Welty of Normal and Godwin of Cape were similar to each other in playing style, both being fast and shifty.

A great many line tackles faced John Larson of St. Viator. Wayne Godwin of Cape Girardeau and Ray O'Connor of St. Viator were prominently mentioned in Illinois intelligentsia All-Star teams.

POOR FRACTURE MAY HAVE RUINED CAREER OF ENGLISH TEACHER

BY JOE BOREAN.

It is recorded in the record books of the Eastern League that Joe E. Brown was at one time a professional baseball player. And had it not been for a fractured bone, Mr. Brown's career might have continued to be heard from the diamond instead of from Hollywood.

Another former baseball player, Professor S. C. Schneider of the English Department, founder of the English Department, has had a similar career ended, too, by a fracture. Mr. Schneider, who admits himself that he was "only a bushier," fractured his left wrist while sliding into second base during a game near Belleville in May, 1922.

Mr. Schneider is tall enough to compete with Slim Summerville while the committee recommended an adjustment so that there would be no conflict in the presentation of the two features.

OPINIONS ON ROSE BOWL WINNER VARIES AMONG SINU ATHLETES

When it was formally announced that the University of Pittsburg had been selected to represent the "East" in the Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day a great outburst of news and comment has been heard, a constant discussion among sports enthusiasts as to the wisdom of the choice. A group of men closely connected with the gridiron sport at Southern gave answer to the question "What do you think of the selection of the University of Pittsburg for the Rose Bowl Game?"

In answer to this question Robert Courtney, assistant football coach said: "I look at it this way, if Pittsburg was the real champion of the East they would rate the trip, but Pitt is not the real champion so some squad with a better record deserves to go."

Big Tom North, co-captain of the 27 eleven contestants Courtney is saying "Why I think Pittsburg is the logical choice. It is probably the strongest team in the East, although it did lose and tie one game. Pitt defeated Notre Dame 25 to 0 and Notre Dame showed they were not set up by knocking Northwestern out of the undefeated class."

Captain Dale Hill, of the '36 team believes along the same lines as his successor and backs his beliefs by saying, "I think Pittsburg was a very proper selection for the game. Beating Notre Dame 25 to 0 to rate as the greatest team in the East."

But another dissenting voice enters into the discussion. Lester Deason, co-captain elect with Tom North says: "I don't think they have a loss and a tie against them and there really are better men on some other Eastern teams."

Clark Davis, publicity director for the college is another man favoring the selection. He answered the question with "Maybe Pittsburg does not have the spectacle of an attack as Oklahoma or Louisiana State, but nevertheless the team still is tops in the East. They will probably give Washington a bit more than those Huskies can stand."

Al Nerone, clever little "hundred of dynamite," said Orin Quander, Pitt's football manager from West Frankfort take the same stand on the question. Nerone voices his opinion in "Pittsburg is not the team to go to the Rose Bowl. Having lost one game and tied another they do not rate as the best team in the East. My personal preference is Northwestern, which they are by far the greatest team on the continent. Second in line would be Louisiana State, which was tied only once and won every other game by overwhelming scores."

Quander backs up his comments with "I feel that it is an injustice to Louisiana State in picking Pittsburg for the Rose Bowl. L. S. U. has the better record and traditionally the teams with perfect records should be picked for Rose Bowl competition. In addition I feel that Sports Clara should have been chosen to represent the East instead of Washington."

Wailing Wall

Editor of "Wailing Wall":
The aim of the editorial staff of the Egyptian must be to arouse critical comment toward its editorials, for certainly it is aware of the inconsistency of two in last weeks issue, i. e., "Freedom of the Press" and "For a Non-Universal College Entrance."

In regard to the first I think it is obvious that to have intelligent criticism, the education of the critical souls should come first—but then the Egyptian proposes the elimination of freedom of education. As for the second, the Egyptian admits that a large part of college freshmen are unprepared to do college work. If they had analyzed the situation a note longer they should have seen this to be a direct result of lack of good teaching, which together with the press is in dire need of freedom.

If some are unprepared for college then it is the duty of a democratic school system to meet that demand, and prohibition is not a solution, and neither are sublimation courses, they will never eliminate themselves. If college freshmen lack background, it is because their previous teachers are forced to cater to the whims of a group whose aggregate years of education are usually in the digits. This might be eliminated by the raising of the educational qualifications of school board members, and the institution of academic freedom for teaching cannot defend itself by offering what it itself disapproves, and neither can the press.

For two years he studied at the Sternbach Conservatorium in Berlin, and following that under the great Auer himself.

Making his debut in Oslo, Norway, at the age of fourteen, Mr. Siedel was instantly a sensation. U. HIGH LEADS LAST THREE QUARTERS TO BEAT ALTO PASS, 21-15

University High's air tight defense proved the margin of victory over the Alto Pass quintet in the S. I. N. U. gym Friday night.

After the first quarter U. High was never headed, but seldom were ahead more than two or three points, where three consecutive tallies put the game on ice.

At the half the local quintet led at 8-5, and added twelve points in the second half to the enemies' lead, to gain the victory 21-15.

Nervousness kept the Hallman's offense checked in the first half, but they got under way in the latter period.

Until playing U. High, Alto Pass had lost but one game and had defeated the strong Adams squad.

Every man on the squad scored at least one point. Deaton, with six points led the way, closely followed by Elbertson with five. Logan with four, Pauls with three and Truener Hoyle with two. Anderson, the only other man to score, scored a free throw in his few minutes of playing time.
