Thirteen Southern Students Make 'Who's Who'

Volume 27

Carbondale, Illinois, Friday, December 14, 1945

Number 11

Six Members Carried Over From Last Year's Listing

Thirteen Southern Illinois Normal University students have been selected to appear in this year's publication of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Chosen for Who's Who on the basis of popularity, these students must be either juniors or seniors, and no more than fifteen could be selected.

Those people named last year who are still enrolled in the University are automatically members again this year.

Students appearing in the 1945 publication are as follows:

Richard Avis, a junior from Chicago, is one of the most outstanding athletes on the campus. He is a member of the track team and recently won first place in the cross-country meet held at DeKalb. His extra-curricular activities include Little Theatre, "I" Club, and Kappa Delta Alpha Fraternity.

Gloria Berger, Southern's Homecoming Queen, is a senior from Harrisburg. Gloria lives at Anthony Hall and is president of the Commerce Club. She is also a member of the OBELEISK and the Delta Sigma Epsilon.

Helen DeRantz, junior from Granite City, is a member of the Little Theatre, Girls Rally, German Club, and Pi Kappa Sigma.

Betsy Grater is a senior of Carbondale. She spends her extra time being president of Delta Sigma Epsilon, Pan Hellenic Council, Vice-president of the senior class, and the Commerce Club; member of Tau Delta Rho, Gamma Theta Upsilon, Student Council, and OBELEISK.

Dick Harmon, junior from Granite City, another outstanding figure in the sports field, particularly in basketball and track. Harmon is the "I" Club secretary, vice-president of Kappa Delta Alpha, and a member of Kappa Phi Kappa.

Virgie Hoesinger, a senior from Edwardsville, is a member of the Dunbar Society.

Mary Mann, is a senior of Parkersville. Her extra-curricular activities include Kappa Delta Alpha, Delta Rho, Newman Club, business manager of Little Theatre, Y. W. C. A., Independent Council, homecoming steering committee.

James McGee, senior from Granite City, is a member of Sigma Beta Mu, Gamma Theta Upsilon, and the baseball team.

Sam Milevich, captain of both football and basketball squads, is a junior from Zeigler. He serves as president of the "I" Club and belongs to Kappa Delta Alpha Fraternity.

Jane Mitchell is a senior from Murphysboro, and her extra-curricular activities include Delta Sigma Epsilon, secretary, Gamma Theta Upsilon vice-president, president of Pi Omega Pi, secretary of Commerce Club, and a member of the OBELEISK staff.

Opal Huff, junior from Shelbyville, serves as president of the Girls Rally, secretary of W.A.A., member of Pi Kappa Sigma, and is a cheer leader.

Grace Wegner, senior, hails from Belleville and spends her spare time being president of the Pi Kappa Sigma, vice-president of F.T.A. and the French Club, secretary of the senior class, and a member of the Pan-Hellenic Council, Spanish Club, and Homecoming committee.

Charles Chandler, Lillian Godard, Helen Mataya, Clara Pixley, George Schroeder, and Neva Wond are students still in school who were selected for Who's Who last year.

Holiday Vacation Ends January 6

The Christmas vacations for students and faculty will extend from December 22 to January 6, inclusive, with classes being resumed on Monday morning, January 7. The President, on advice of the Advisory Council, has authorized the closing of administrative offices December 22-25 and December 29-January 1, inclusive, and the suggesting of work in these offices for the remainder of the Christmas recess in order that employees in these offices may have these two four-day periods as a minimum vacation.

PRESIDENT HIRES NEW SECRETARY

L. S. G. Mary Ann Robertson of the United States Navy has left her position as Assistant to the Manager of the United States Navy Yards in Charleston, South Carolina, to take over duties as secretary to President Chester F. Lay this week.

Miss Robertson received her bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Alabama, where she left a high scholastic average. She was later commissioned as an ensign at Smith College and studied law at George Washington University.

Miss Robertson's position in the Navy Yards in Charleston was executive in nature, and was held by a man both before and after she had it.

ART DEPARTMENT HOLDS EXHIBITS

Two exhibits, one before and one after Christmas, will be arranged by Mrs. Dorothy Swan, Assistant Professor of Art, in the Little Gallery of second floor main building.

Exhibits To consist of Class Drawings

The first exhibit will consist of charcoal drawings from the Beginning Composition, 150, and Figure Drawing, 245. The drawings are judged from the standpoint of the students' understanding of fundamentals in drawing, composition, value relations, and proportions. The figure drawings were done on an art school basis, with student models posing for them.

The still life drawings which will be selected from the Beginning Composition Course were sketched from a number of still life set-ups arranged by Mrs. Swan and part of the art department's new shipment of still life objects including everything from wax fruits to drapes.

Second Exhibit Made Up of Oils

The second exhibit will be made up of oil paintings chosen from the Advanced Studio Course. Because of the difficulty in obtaining art materials, these paintings will not be matted.

Cagle Returns To Southern

After two years in the armed forces, Fred Cagle has returned to the staff of Southern Illinois Normal University to resume his duties handling biological materials in the Museum.

LITTLE THEATRE GIVES THREE-PART XMAS PLAY

A special Christmas program prepared under the direction of Mrs. Julia Neely, associate professor of English, was given in the First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, December 9, at 7:30 p.m. This program was sponsored by the Christian and Presbyterian Churches and took the place of the regular forum program. Those taking part in the program were active or apprentice members of the Little Theatre. The numbers represented were appropriate to the Christmas season and clarified its real interpretation.

The program, which was divided into three parts, was as follows: Part I. Prayers and parol by Kathryn Alley, Sue Brummett, Nora Faye Finley, June Kulkester, Marilyn Henderson, Betty Hill, Helga McCarty, Dixie Rice, Pat Rose, Mary Evelyn Smith, Mildred Tetterfield, Vivian Mickers, and Eleanor White.

Part II. Three modern Christmas poems by Kathryn Alley, Nora Faye Finley, Marilyn Henderson, June Kulkester, Betty Hill, Mary Evelyn Smith, and Pat Rose.

Part III. A miracle play. The characters were: the Innkeeper, Mildred Tetterfield; his wife, Pat Rose; their servants, Marilyn Henderson and Vivian Mickers; a vagabond, June Kulkester.

ISU To Present Scholarship Plaques Again This Year

The Independent Student Union will present a SCHOLARSHIP PLAQUE for the organized house—orderly, fraternity, or independent—maintaining highest scholastic average for the winter term. This plaque is being presented to give incentive to students for scholastic gains in addition to Honorary Day, which has been held in previous years.

The plaque will be awarded early in the spring term, after awards are submitted by houses wishing to compete.

Last winter term the plaque was presented to Anthony Hall for a 4.02 average.

Normal Presidents Discuss Teachers' Salaries Equity

Jointness in establishing teachers' salary equity was the subject discussed at the meeting of the presidents of the five teacher colleges in Illinois, Sunday, Dec. 9, at Springfield, Illinois.

Besides the President, a faculty committee, headed by Dean H. J. Rehn of the College of Vocational and Professions, attended. The others on the committee were: Mr. F. G. Warren of the education department, Mr. W. M. Gersbacher, head of the zoology department, and Dr. Thomas Barton, head of the geography and geology department.

Council Recommends One Summer Term

The Advisory Council recommends the 1946 Summer Session at Southern shall consist of a single day, to run from June 10 through August 2. This schedule is subject to approval by the Teachers College Board, but already has the President's approval.

Gamma Iota Alpha To Hold Meeting of Campus Vets

A meeting of the 235 veterans enrolled at Southern Illinois Normal University will be held Tuesday, December 18, at which President Chester F. Lay will greet these students and discuss their problems and opportunities with them.

Enrollment of veterans at Southern has jumped from 90 during the fall term to 235 during the winter term which started December 3.

Veteran Enrollment Doubled

At the close of registration last fall, Southern had twice the number of veterans enrolled at any of the other Illinois State teachers colleges.

The meeting here Tuesday night will be conducted by Gamma Iota Alpha, the "G. I." fraternity here, as a means of welcoming the 145 new veterans and getting them acquainted both with other veterans and with the University administration.

University Leases Property

In order to accommodate the rapidly increasing number of veterans who are coming to the campus, the University has leased a residence adjacent to the campus to provide housing for the expanding Veterans' Guidance Center which will be occupied within a few days.

This center is one of six in Illinois maintained by the Veterans Administration to counsel with veterans about their educational and vocational opportunities. Complete testing facilities are available with University faculty members as examiners and counselors to assist the veterans in the service of the Veterans Administration.

All veterans of Southern Illinois are eligible for this service, whether or not they expect to enroll at Southern Illinois Normal University, and many hundreds have benefited.

In addition to the Veterans Guidance Center, the University itself provides counseling service on courses, housing, jobs, and other problems through its student life staff, the President's Office, and faculty committees.

College Heads To Discuss Veteran Housing

At the meeting of the presidents of the state supported institutions in Illinois to be held at Charleston Monday, December 17, the question of housing for veterans will be discussed.

Buzzard Heads Program

President Buzzard of the Eastern State Teachers College at Charleston, Illinois, is the head of the program to see that adequate housing for veterans on the campuses of the state supported institutions is taken care of.

President Chester F. Lay and Dean Eugene F. Fair will represent Southern at this meeting.

University Leases House For Veterans

The University made its first step in providing housing for returned veterans by leasing the Kirk property, 901 South Illinois Avenue, last week.

This house has six or seven rooms and will provide housing for approximately fourteen veterans. The leasing of this property will cost the University approximately $1,000 a year.

DRAPER AND ADLER

Adler and Draper Second in Yearly Artists' Program

Paul Draper, the man who tap-dances the classics, and Larry Adler, equally famous for his playing of the classics on the harmonica, will appear here in joint recital at the Shroyock Auditorium on Friday, December 14, at 8:00 p. m.

Draper and Adler have played to capacity crowds in many large cities. At the New York City Center Theatre, 3000, with Draper and Adler playing six consecutive sold-out concerts to a gross of $20,000.

"They provide entertainment of the highest order—in its own way, a new kind of standard for the concert platform. This from the Rochester Times-Union. The San Francisco News called them "incredible artists." The New Orleans Times-Picayune, "a refreshing change from normal concert routine—original, witty, intelligent, and satisfying." The summation of the Toronto Evening Telegram's critic is short and to the point, "They are among the world's greatest music-makers."

Both Adler and Draper have become distinctly individual artists in their own fields. Larry Adler has appeared as the guest-soloist with Symphonic orchestras, appeared on numerous radio shows, and toured with U.S.O. shows. Such well known composers as Kreisler and Ravel have heard his interpretations of their music and, consequently, have given him permission for its use on his programs. His recordings of classical and popular tunes are now heard on almost all juke boxes. His record of "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" sold a mere 200,000 copies and his "Clare de Lune" by Debussy is today a prize recording.

Paul Draper has succeeded in developing tap-dancing to a degree where it can take its place with the best in interpretive art. Since he possesses a complete command of ballet technique to begin with, his tap-dancing has become distinctly individualistic which marks him as one of the world's greatest dancers. Draper has appeared in several Broadway shows, has become a well-known night club entertainer, and has just completed his part in a forthcoming movie production "Blue Skies."

Draper and Adler live near each other in New York's East 60's—Draper with his American wife and small daughter Suzanne, and Adler with his English-born wife and his two small daughters.

Barton Speaks To City Rotary

Some of the practical applications of geography in our modern world were discussed by Dr. Thomas E. Barton, head of the Department of Geography, Southern Illinois Normal University, at the regular Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Carbondale Rotary Club at the Hotel Roberts.

Doctor Barton traced the use of geography in the war just ended, showing its great importance to the invading forces.

FRESHMAN ELECT STUDENT COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES

Nominations of four Student Council members for the freshman class were held Thursday, December 13, from 11 to 4 o'clock on the first floor of the Main Building.

The four freshmen nominated were:

1. Roberta Dooley, a Pi Kappa Sigma and a History major from Du Quoin.

2. Owen Kirkendoll, a Pre-Engineer from Owensboro, Kentucky. He is a Chi Delta Chi and a member of the Commerce Club.

3. Wellington Thalman, a Pre-Medical student from Carbondale. He is a member of the football team and the manager of the basketball team.

4. Ann Warren, a Home Economics major from Carbondale. She is a Delta Sigma Epsilon pledge and belongs to the Home Ec. Club. She is also secretary-treasurer of the freshman class.

Altogether 93 votes were cast in the nominations. The four freshmen above mentioned received an unanimous vote.

Due to a lack of other votes these freshmen are automatically elector members of the Student Council. Therefore final elections are not necessary.

Mu Tau Pi Re-elects Pixley President

Mu Tau Pi, honorary journalistic fraternity, met Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 in the Egyptian Office.

New officers were elected and are as follows: president, Clara Pixley; vice-president, Catherine Sullivan; secretary-treasurer, June Ferguson.

Plans were discussed for sponsoring a party during the year.

Mu Tau Pi will have its next meeting at 4:00 p. m., Tuesday, December 18. At that time, pictures will be taken for the OBELEISK.

SOUTHERN'S 'CUT SYSTEM' DEPENDS ON EACH STUDENT OR TEACHER'S OWN INTERPRETATION APPLICATION

A statement issued by the president last week has at last clarified the "cut system" at Southern. That is to say, there is no "cut system" at Southern. That is to say, there is no "cut system" at Southern. That is to say, there is no "cut system" at Southern.

However, each faculty member is asked to report three consecutive absences, regardless of the reason for them. Excessive absences which the instructor considers likely to affect scholastic standing of the student are also reported.

Cafeteria Should Lower Prices to Accomodate Students

One of the most important questions facing students is where the best food for the most reasonable cost can be secured.

Householders and cafeterias in college towns all over the nation, have tried to feed students at a low cost. On the Southern campus the cost of meals for five days averages approximately three dollars, and close to five dollars at the college cafeteria.

In a small community a cafeteria sponsored by the state is at a rather disadvantage since there is no cash fund for buying goods from local farmers or wholesale houses.

As it is the State is operating a cafeteria, originally planned to help the food problem for students, but actually keeping it the same or making it worse.

The picture looks depressing. Wholesale people say that there will be a 10 pct. rise in all food costs the first of January.

For several months there has been pending consideration of a 35c luncheon. However, action has been slow because of either lack of interest or lack of feeling for the students.

This college has a maximum enrollment set at 4000. The coming 4000 students must be fed.

Housing Shortage Depends on State Appropriations

The student housing shortage at Southern has seen little improvement over last term. It has been especially difficult to accommodate married veterans, some of whom have children.

The shortage has been solved in part, by allowing the householders to keep more than two students per room, but still it is almost impossible to find housing facilities for these married students.

Mrs. Pulliam has submitted several plans which would have relieved the shortage somewhat, but have failed to come to a working arrangement because of lack of cooperation.

However, the university did lease the Kirk property at 901 South Illinois last week for veterans. It consists of seven room house, which will cost approximately $1,000 a year.

S. I. N. U. has the largest maximum yearly enrollment of any of the state teachers colleges of Illinois. This maximum is 4000 students, exceeds that of "Normal" Southern's runner-up, by 1500.

Of course, there is the ever-present desire for a Union Building, but appropriations for the Union Building or housing facilities will have to come from the state.

January 2, 1945, Acting President Merwin and Business Manager Miles submitted a budget for SINU to the state legislature for approval, but they failed to allow any money for dormitories.

There is one thing to lay hope in. On December 17, there will be a meeting of the presidents of state-supported institutions of Illinois.

THE STATE OR ALUMNI?

Write to 'Slat's'

For three months there has been a movement on this campus for a student union building for Southern. A committee was appointed by the student council to start advances toward informing the alumni, students, and administration.

The union building is now in the hands of the Alumni Association, the president of which is Wilbur "Slat's" Valentine. What he does about the union building or will do is up to the interest shown by the student body.

It is necessary NOW for EACH AND EVERY ORGANIZATION and STUDENT to write "Slat's" Valentine, Alto Pass, Illinois, and encourage the Alumni Association to act on the Union Building Program.

Here is the time for the students to act! Write Wilbur Valentine today.

BOOM IN WINTER ENROLLMENT SHOULD MEAN FAVORABLE IN ACTIVITIES

The boom in enrollment at Southern for this term is an optimistic note. This is the first time in nine years that the enrollment for winter terms has exceeded the fall enrollment.

This decrease in enrollment has been blamed in years past for the almost complete cessation of campus social activity and the resulting lag of interest in school. The girls complained that all the college boys who had helped make Homecoming a special event were whisked away by the draft.

The effects of increased enrollment and increased student activity are reciprocal. The attitudes and enthusiasm of students on any campus can be an important factor in deciding future enrollment.

American Universities to Stimulate Students' Intellectual Interests

It is necessary to have some fundamental concept of what is trying to be done in colleges and universities if we are to attempt to find the main faults of the present system.

A. C. Willard, former president of the University of Illinois stated that although our institutions of higher learning train men for all professions and vocations, they often fail to educate even those who receive collegiate degrees.

Just what is a fault of our college system? It seems that the main fault of American universities is their failure to stimulate intellectual interests.

The general goals of a liberal education—grace and ease of expression, sense of human kinship, delight in the arts, discrimination in human values—can only be living in the world of the mind and spirit—these should be the goals of the curricula in our colleges.

It is generally agreed that the small college offers the most in the personal development of the average student. All students who have completed preparatory work have intelligence and a degree of creative ability.

STUDENT OPINION POLL

By Eleanor White

ACCURATE CHECK ON ELUSIVE 'FLU' GERM MOST DIFFICULT

There were 383 students answering polls in chapel Thursday. Of this number, 143 students indicated that they had had influenza during the recent epidemic.

The Health Office aided 55 of the students who indicated that they had influenza. Thirty-two out of this number received various treatments and medicines for colds.

Eighty-eight students who were ill received no aid from the Health Office. The fact that very few of these students were ill during Thanksgiving vacation when they were out of the reach of the College Health Office is significant.

STUDENT COUNCIL MINUTES FOR DECEMBER 3, 1945

The meeting was called to order by the president, Lillian Godard. The following members were absent: McGee, Fairbairn, Pleasant, and Schlueter.

The president thanked the Student Council for their cooperation in presenting the all-school party.

There was a letter read from the I. S. U. in which our present out-system was criticized. The secretary was instructed to write the Independent Student Union to inform them that we have a system of unlimited cuts.

Another letter was read from the Independent Student Union regarding the duties of class officers. It was decided that action would be taken on this matter at the next meeting.

The president read a letter concerning the filing cabinet which is to be purchased for the Student Council.

Cain moved we adjourn; Kirkendall seconded. The meeting adjourned.

United States and Russia at Critical Point in China

The United States has been giving considerable attention to the situation in China. One fact which has become evident is that the United States and Russia will be implicated. Russia has stated that she is neither for the Communists nor Nationalists; however, it is the belief of several groups of people in China that Russia favors the communists.

It is the belief of a number of people that the United States and Russia should withdraw troops from China; however, if such a step was taken it might result in considerable danger. If China were left to fathom her own problems she might not only destroy her country but destroy the people's faith.

It is the belief of many people that if Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek would abandon the one-party government and bring in more democratic elements that much of the confusion of ideas could be straightened out. Whether such a plan would prove sufficient remains to be seen.

China's conflict? This is a problem which each person should give constant consideration.

Campus Guidance Center Serves Southern Illinois

Every morning a band of serious-minded young men may be seen on the steps of Old Science. Some are fresh from the Services as may be seen by the entirely new outfits of clothing. Others have been separated from the Services for some time. All, however, wear in their lapels the gold eagle, whose original adorned the victory column of the Emperor Napoleon.

What is the purpose of these veterans? Are they asking for a job or a hand-out? No, they are seeking advice from the Veterans Administration that they may find an answer to that all-important question—a niche in life.

What happens to a veteran when he is being "advised"? Does some one sit back and give him a pious pep-talk by the yard? Does one feel of his skull or look at the palms of his hands or gaze into a crystal ball and foretell the veteran's niche in life? Nothing of that sort. Let's trace the advisement.

After the veteran has made his acquaintance with Mrs. Norman, the efficient clerk of the Guidance Center, he is assigned to one of the experts, either Mr. Hites, Mr. Randle, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Wolf, or Mr. Randolph. This expert proceeds to test and interview him. They test his intelligence, his work interests, his aptitudes, his emotional stability, his manual dexterity, and almost any facet of personality that is measured by standardized well-constructed tests. No, they don't test for the sake of testing but for the sole purpose of understanding and helping the veteran. Then comes the interview. It seems that nothing remains uncovered. His work, history, his ambitions, his plans, his failures, his successes, his finances, his age, his family status, his physical abilities, yet almost everything conceivable are taken into consideration. Thoroughness is the descriptive word.

Then comes the conclusion, the objective. Instead of having the vocation determined by some new-fangled machine determines for himself what his vocation will be. If a vocation which appeared under the heading of the "Normal" he aims too high, the expert will caution him about his "dub-machine" invented by occult wizardry. The veteran is asked about his chances for success. If he aims too low, the expert will tell him that he is worthy of better things. He must determine for himself what he can do. All this testing and advising takes about a day, an important day for the veteran. It may be the turning point in his life.

After the objective has been chosen, the training or retraining process begins. The veteran is given a list of possible schools or training centers. The conscientious and watchful Mr. Pinkerton helps the veteran to find his way through the maze of governmental regulations and details. After the veteran is placed in a school, the training officer takes charge. If the veteran does well, no worry. If otherwise, he is again re-advised and given all the "breaks" possible. In short, it is the policy of the Veterans Administration to increase both the earning and purchasing powers of the veteran. In that way he helps himself and becomes an asset to his community.

Since its organization last May, a total of 282 veterans have been processed by the center on our campus in addition to hundreds of boys coming to Old Sci. Speaking of a backlog, enough cases are already scheduled to keep the whole staff busy until next February.

Nearly all the cases so far have been disabled veterans. All the C. I. Jobs may avail themselves of this service, free to all veterans, that is if he can get booked. Next time you are hurrying to the early eight o'clock or the more convenient nine o'clock class, look to Old Sci.

BOOKS IN REVIEW

The Fountainhead Made Into Movie 'You Came Along'

In 1945, Ayn Rand co-edited the scenario of You Came Along, starring Robert Cummings and Elizabeth Scott. In 1943 the Boddie-Merrill Company published a book by Ayn Rand that immediately became a best seller. Now, one of the chief criticisms of best sellers is that mediocre books are given equal billing, and after the press agents of various book clubs conduct their campaign, some very fine writing is often forgotten.

The Fountainhead is not a mediocre book, nor is it a great one, but it is, well-written book. It is based upon the belief in the importance of selfishness, on the idea that man's ego is the fountainhead of progress. Howard Roark, architect, is a disturbingly strong character. Despiser of the second-hand, he needed no one, wanted no one, and lived only to build. Such a man was a threat to successful "boy wonders" like Peter Kitting who built only to live.

Ellsworth Toohey, supposed humanitarian, is a beautifully drawn character—one whom you will recognize as not unusual in our present civilization, on the contrary, all too common. Few books have ever been based upon this profession; thus the novelty of the background is enough to interest the reader. The vital style will draw applause from those who find beauty in the well-turned phrase. The characters, however minor, step out of the pages in almost three dimensional proportions. For those who may have reluctance to fire their interest, there is the romance of Roark and Dominique which may terrify the weaker sisters, for few could ever attain the strength of character, or cling to the perverse morals that were the spawn of such strength. You may despise this book, you may love this book, but you will not forget it.

French Club At Sweet Briar Adopts LaFille

This year the French club at Sweet Briar College is undertaking a new project—the first in its history. For the next two weeks to play bridge in French; the second is to "adopt" a French child. Although they will not be able to actually adopt the child, they will send two packages of food and clothing a month to a French girl for a period of six months. The members of the club will take turns packing the boxes.

Eastern New Mexico Holds Rattlesnake and Mouse Fight

Rattlesnakes may not get hungry in three weeks, but a mouse gets desperate after 20 hours without food. Proof of this comes from the rattlesnake and mouse fight a few weeks ago at Eastern New Mexico College.

A rattlesnake had been brought in to Dr. J. S. Martin, assistant professor in biology, for observation. It had not been fed for three weeks. Hoping to see the snake eat, Dr. Martin put a mouse in the cage for the zoology class to watch, but the snake did not seem hungry. On the following morning the snake still wasn't hungry enough to fight, but the mouse was. According to Dr. Martin, the mouse attacked the snake in a savage way. Digging its sharp teeth into the body of the snake time after time, the mouse finally managed to get a piece of flesh from the body of the snake and sat calmly in the corner of the cage eating it.

When he had finished, he waddled more. He tried to bite the snake's head, but it was a bit too hard. He started diving at the slit in the back of the snake's body. The snake was much more scared than the tiny mouse and would have gone for coffee had there been a place for him to go, but the cage held him. Having no alternative, he fought his way out managing to sink his fangs in when the mouse got careless.

Sleeping Facilities Provided For Staff

In the "Vesteyers" of The Wildcat, school paper of Meridian, Mississippi, we discover sleeping facilities for that staff would be improved. Since all radiators and window sills had been worn out, a cabinet of shelves was instituted. As you might have guessed, the top shelf was for his latrine, the Editor; the shelves beneath were for the society editor, business manager and art editors. The bottom shelf held head writers, reporters and other unimportant members. Underneath is a reservation for visitors. But notice—the associate editor gets the editors desk top! Now how come? Watchdog, maybe?

Iowa Memorial Union Building

University of Iowa Builds Union with Student, Alumni, Donations

First discussions of plans for the Iowa Memorial Union occurred in the spring of 1919, about four months after the signing of the armistice.

That fall, a campaign for the raising of $1,000,000 was launched and contributions were pledged by alumni, faculty, students, and friends of the university.

In the articles of incorporation, the following purpose was set forth: "To provide a means of erection and to erect and maintain an educational building of monumental character in commemoration of the loyalty and patriotism of the sons and daughters of the University of Iowa who served their country in the Civil war, the Spanish-American war, or the World War, to the end that their names and memories may be perpetuated in an educational way, and that Americanism may be incultured, patriotism exalted, and an educational center provided where students, graduates, and friends of the university may meet together incidentally in fellowship and service."

With $600,000 pledged in the fall of 1924, the board of trustees let the contract for Unit 1. This unit was dedicated February 6, 1926.

Dimensions of the first unit are 175 by 140 feet, and the structure contains a main lounge, 120x90 feet, and with a 20-foot sun porch around its sides. Dining and grill rooms, game rooms, and other quarters for benefit of students are contained in the unit.

Second Unit Dedicated

In March, 1927, the second unit was dedicated. This houses the quarters for the Triangle Club and University Club, organizations for faculty men and women, and the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.. The first two units were completed at the cost of $465,000, of which the four organizations named above invested $82,000 for their quarters in Unit 2.

Plans Call for Enlargement

Plans call for the construction of Unit three, known as the Student Activities unit and will have three floors. Among the features of Unit three will be a lounge room, 90 to 50 feet, which will be used for student parties not large enough to justify the use of the main lounge in Unit 1.

Presidents and other officers of student organizations will be quartered in a large room on the second floor, and the first floor will be divided into committee rooms. The ground floor will accommodate student game rooms and men's smoke rooms, such as are found in the Michigan, Wisconsin and Cornell unions.

Has Drawn Thousands of Persons

Within the past four years, Iowa's Union has been the scene of many varied activities, drawing thousands of persons. Vesper services, concerts, and recitals have attracted more than 60,000 persons, and Day's day convocations and other special occasions have been attended by about 60,000 persons. More than 120,000 have been served at special dinners and luncheons, and class parties and other university festivities have involved 70,000. Other large social gatherings of student and faculty groups, and state organizations have brought into the Union more than 50,000 persons, while smaller clubs, teas, receptions, and art exhibits have served 35,000.

WAR where she falls. The crowd moves on only thinking of "I". And the mother lies flat with her child—to die. V. Roberts

The people are dying from want of food. But the world is warring for ends which are good. A mother is singing her child to sleep. While dropping bombs are making carter's deep. All around the pair sirens are screaming. And out at the post search lights are straining. The mother has fear for her little child, While it hears nothing but the tune so mild. There is a screech and a terrible crash, The rock of the floor, and the light of a flash. The roof falls in, and the mother runs wild. Out of the house, into the street, with her child. She does not stop there but keeps on moving. She heads for the shelter—people are shouting. The place is on fire like the pictures of Hol. The mother stumbles and is left

COLLEGES SHOULD DEVELOP 'CRITICAL MIND'

"The student's course should be more strictly regulated. This the veteran may not want, but let me point out that I escaped from the university without ever having taken a course in economics or mathematics. I now regret it, for in understanding the world as it is, economic factors are always to be considered, and I am handicapped."

"This is what MT Sergeant Millard R. Kratochvil of the Fifth Marine division, who received his master's degree at Drake, wrote to Luther W. Stalnaker, dean of liberal arts. The dean has asked several former Drake students now in the armed forces what kind of education they think should be offered in universities.

Sergeant Kratochvil states further, "In the first place, I believe few veterans will take advantage of the educational features in the G. I. Bill of Rights. However, the few who do come to college, will be excellent material, for they, on the whole, will be serious-minded; many will be those who, but for the G. I. bill, might never have entered a university.

"They will have been broadened by travel, by varied associations and by facing death; they will be self-reliant and yet aware of the necessity of cooperative living as they have learned it in the fox-holes from Guadalcanal to Okinawa.

"The basic problem though, I think, is not what the veteran will expect, but what any student can expect from the colleges. Veterans or not, the education in the arts and sciences can be improved and new perspectives have caused many of us to believe that now is the time to change so that veterans and all may benefit," the sergeant explained.

"Veterans will not desire to be treated like psychiatric cases as so many pseudo-advisers suggest, but individual differences must be considered now as never before. The trivialities of college life—such as freshman hazing and fraternity life—will be odious to these veterans. Careful guidance will be needed as never before.

"These men will have to be indoctrinated in methods of study. Most of them will have a definite goal in mind.

"The average student of the past has been over-competent because facts have too often been presented to him only as facts, not in their relation to human behavior—past, present and future. It seems to me that all freshmen should be startled or shocked out of the lethargy which society has imposed upon them. Something is not true merely because someone has said it is true.

"The veteran who comes to college will be serious enough to be interested in the world which he has encircled in his battles. He will want to know the cause of human conflicts and means of their elimination. He knows that future security depends on him and others who have seen at first hand the nations in tumult," Kratochvil continued.

"To conclude, I believe that more and more the colleges should work towards developing in a student the CRITICAL ATTITUDE OF MIND that will pierce through convention and superstition and ignorance, and will open up to him the world of ideas that will create within him a joy for living."

Dr. Vera Speaks On Poetry

A discussion of Contemporary Latin-American Poetry, presented by Dr. J. Cary Davis of the foreign language department, was the central feature of the "SINU Hour" Wednesday, December 12. Dr. Davis, through his contact with the language of our southern neighbors, has made a study of Latin-American literature.

In keeping with the approaching holiday season, Miss Alma Dean Smith, a sophomore from Carbonale, presented a series of Christmas songs.

Miss Ola Mae Rice, freshman from Tamara, announced the broadcast and acted as news commentator. The "SINU Hour" is presented each Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. over stations WJPF, Herrin, and WEBQ, Harrisburg.

Peacock To Head Eng. Teachers Assn.

Dr. Vera Peacock, professor of foreign languages and head of that department, has been elected president of the Illinois Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of English. The Illinois Chapter takes in all of Illinois except Chicago, which has its own organization. The next meeting of the Illinois Chapter will be held in Chicago during the Christmas vacation, when the national organization convenes also in Chicago.

DRAPER'S AUNT AT MAC MURRAY?

Ruth Draper, character actress, presented six sketches as one of MacMurray's visiting concert artists. A native of New York, she has been in the theater 26 years, and is now making a short tour of clubs and colleges in the middle West.

This is probably Paul Draper's aunt, one of the many artists in his family. See December 7 issue of the Egyptian.

A Veteran Speaks

Dear Editor: Several of the students on the campus have been provoked, and they have every right to be, especially the veterans on the campus, by a statement made by Dean Terkuerst to a veteran student. The implication was that this veteran who was attending Southern under the G. I. education program was wasting the taxpayers money. NOW what I want to know is—should Dean Terkuerst be the one to judge whether or not the taxpayers money is being spent efficiently. It is my profound belief that the taxpayers had rather have their money spent by a boy who has fought for the United States, than have someone sit in a comfortable chair in an office and draw a salary which exceeds, by several times, the amount granted to this veteran student by the government.

She was a nation proud and bold. Triumphant armies round the world. Announced her strength and gained foothold. For colonies. They spread her culture. Throughout all lands, both hot and cold. They bought her lukeword, bauxite, coal. They bought her spices, drugs, and lace. They brought to her a wealth untold. In food, and trade, and loyalty. So long as she could lead them to. To greater power within their world. But negligence crept in to steal Her glory and undermine her power. The rain on unprotected fields. Beat down and washed her soils away. While wise men slept and fools held sway. Until she had a rotten core Where strength and brilliance stood before. Her people fought among themselves. They cursed their leaders and called for more. And more, and more from colonies Which mattered 'till some forceful man Stepped forth to break the ties that bound Them to the motherland across the seas. And still the rain in rivulets ran Unchecked to muddy rivers whose Leaves first crumbled, then o'erflowed To wreck all homes, or life, or pride. That stood before the raging flood. Hungry children cried for food When famine crossed the land. There were mobs who stood with empty hands. With listless faces, hopeless eyes, Cursing the hour that they were born To live in hate and shame and fear. And there were men who fought for bread. "Far better to die and sleep in peace Beneath the rainsoaked fields," they said, "Than live and while for crumbs each day."

She was a nation proud and bold. Triumphant armies around the world. Announced her strength; but now she is A weak and sickly thing who feeds On charity, whose glory lies beneath. Her pulled belts and rainswept fields, Whose strength the rains have washed away. Virginia Curtis Sielbeck

Sonnet On Day

Like a shooting star that had no mind or body long, the days came. I loved it for what it was; the day went. And the music of night was like a fine whistling tune that knew where to touch to make the cry sad, and where to smile to make the baby child glad. When sleep is tired, like a butterfly that starts to fly to God, the day comes. Franklin Hamilton

Nadine Conner in 'The Magic Flute'

Nadine Conner, Metropolitan Opera soprano, who sang at Southern only a few weeks ago, sang the role of Princess Pamina in Mozart's "Magic Flute" on the New York Metropolitan Opera broadcast a week ago Saturday, received a very great ovation.

The "Met" broadcasts every Saturday afternoon at 1 p. m. over radio station KXOK in St. Louis. Tomorrow's program will feature "The Masked Ball" by Giuseppe Verdi, an opera which has not been given there in two years. Although it is not as familiar to most as some of Verdi's other operas, nevertheless it has many lovely tunes.

The cast will include Zinka Milinoff, Jan Pierce, and a Canadian newcomer who was the winner of last season's Metropolitan Opera Auditions contest. Between acts, the Opera Quiz and Opera News will be presented. Elsa Maxwell is special guest for the quiz. Milton Cross will announce.

Have You Bought A Victor Plastic Record?

'Twas in October that the RCA Victor Record Company released the new Victor plastic records which J. W. Murray, General Manager of RCA Victor, declares the greatest improvement in home phonograph records in forty-five years. The main feature of the discs seems to be the fact that it is extremely flexible and non-breakable.

Since it does not have the mineral filler-in of the regular shellac kind, there is almost no surface sound, and it functions with amazingly lifelike results. The needle wear is negligible and the reproduction cleaner and clearer.

This new disc was developed before the war, but the high cost of materials prevented mass production. Moreover, it cannot be manufactured as fast as the shellac record-press man being able to turn out only one-third as many plastics as shellac in the same period of time.

Mr. Murray says "it is planned to release only newly recorded works on the new type discs, which will be known as Red Seal Deluxe records." Eventually the same work will be expanded to other types of Victor records, and to some of the fine recordings of the past.

These new records, similar to ruby glass, sells now for two dollars. More information about it can be secured from the November issue of The Etude Music Magazine.

Reinhardt Featured In Missouri Art Exhibit

The City Art Museum's Annual Missouri Show featured among other works a number of Siegfried Reinhardt's "strange drawings." A large exhibit of Sgt. Reinhardt's work was held in the Little Theater at Southern two years ago, and the permanent collection of the Art Department includes a drawing by Sgt. Reinhardt, a gift of the Southern Illinois Art Association.

Harry B. Burke of the ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT discusses the drawings in the show by Sgt. Reinhardt. "Possibly the most arresting talent in the show is that of Sgt. Siegfried Reinhardt, which frankly rejects this reviewer's in his subject matter and its surrealistic aspects, yet commands his admiration for an equally uncanny skill of expressive lines in which it is effected. It has been so since he made his debut—mere boy—and in a school exhibit here. Nor has war experience changed his curious demonstrations of an effort to effect a mystic symbolism from adolescent brooding."

Three members of the Southern faculty comment briefly on Sgt. Reinhardt's work. Dr. Tenny, Acting Head of the Art Department, judges Sgt. Reinhardt as being a gifted draftsman, but somewhat imitative, modeling himself too much on Salvador Dali. Although Sgt. Reinhardt's sketches are rendered in an excellent technique, Dr. J. Cary Davis, Associate Professor of Foreign Language, feels that his finished sketches appear more like the half completed sketches of the old masters. Mrs. Dorothea Swan, Assistant Professor of Art, interprets Sgt. Reinhardt's drawings as being very technical, also that he is a good craftsman, and usually his subject matter repels at the same time it attracts.

scholarship standing, a sterling character, and who is in good health. The student must also have graduated from a high school which is affiliated with the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. Last year this scholarship was awarded to Mary Mann of Pinckneyville.

At the present time Miss Fairbairn is Sophomore Student Council representative.

"Education Time," under Malone's direction, will be presented for the last time Friday, December 21, and will not be resumed until Friday, January 12.

Both programs originate in the University's campus studio, and are broadcast over stations WJPF, Herrin, and WEBQ, Harrisburg.

SOUTHERN SALUTES

"Mel" has been overseas about one year, and on October 1, he received a battle star. As he is stationed in Headquarters, he has not seen any action, but the unit to which he is assigned was awarded the star for combat in Burma.

At the present time, Mel is stationed at Hastings Air Base in Calcutta. Headquarters Base, where he works, had been an enormous juke mill, known as Hastings Mill which was named after Warren Hastings. It is located on the banks of the Hooghly River, about fourteen miles north of Calcutta.

His brother, Charles Wittenborn, who attended school last term, was recently examined and passed by the Army and will leave the second week of December.

PATTERSON HAS POEM PUBLISHED IN 'NEW AMERICAN POETRY'

Mr. Charles Patterson, assistant professor in University High School has a poem, "Reveries of An Alud Scot", which has been published in New American Poetry, a three-volume national anthology of poetry which has been released by Harbinger House, Publishers, New York, New York.

A quotation taken from the preface of this volume has this to say: "This is one of the most comprehensive anthologies of verse by poets in recent years. Published in three volumes it contains poems chosen from nineteen states and national anthologies and hundreds of newspapers and magazines. The poems cover a broad range of subject matter and form representing a cross-section of the best in American poetry of the last decade."

The poem written by Mr. Patterson that was chosen to be printed is of the following:

Reveries of An Old Scot Through the magic of a fireplace Conjured by the flickering flames, I can see familiar faces, And I call them by their names; I see again the happy scenes, Where I lived across the seas, They take from me the cares of life, And steal old age away from me.

I can see the kilted laddies Going proudly marching by, With their sporrans wig-wag-wagging, And glen-carried heads held high. Then I view amid Scotia's hillsides, With their purple-beathered hue, As the sun shines through the colored haze, Their rugged beauty again I woo.

I can hear the Scottish pipers On these hillsides far away, As they play a lively melody, Or a plaintive, haunting lay; And the skirling of the bagpipes, As it echoes through the glen, And the sounding of the pibroch, Are just as clear today as then.

Now I see an ivied cottage With a garden nicely planned And a little, gray-haired lady Stands and beckons, with her hand; While a man of youth and vigor Hurries through the garden gate, But he never seems to reach her, Though I may sit and wait—and wait.

In the grate the embers settle, Waving lazily from her sleep; My dream faces now have vanished, And a sigh comes oling and deep; From my pipe I knock the ashes, From my cheek I wipe the tear, Yet I know that I am thankful To have those scenes all reappear.

Has Also Composed Anthem

Mr. Patterson has also composed the following anthem, "Song of Thanksgiving," which was sung by the senior choir of the First Methodist Church of Carbondale under the direction of Mr. Floyd Wakeland on Sunday, November 18.

I ASKED ABOUT CUTTING

By A Staff Writer

This week I took my—I mean somebody's pencil in hand, and went out to interview students on cutting.

The first one I came to was Miss L. C. after a few preliminary hellos, I asked her since this was the beginning of a new term if she had any new resolutions about cutting. Well, she did have, and I am proud to quote she is going to stay in and study this term, in fact practically liberate herself, but I'm really going to study, also I am going to drop my major in cartology, and my minor in wheelology. You know how those things are. They take up entirely too much of one's time, (and she ain't kidding) power to you L.C. and if you can stick to those resolutions in... All I have to say is if you're really a better man than I am.

Leaving L. C. at her usual booth in carter's, I wandered around the room looking for another appropriate person. And ran right into Mr. J. U. Everybody knows that J. U. is the second best cutter in school. So I stopped down, asked him for a sheet of paper, and started in. "Why do you cut so much?" I asked him. "Well, he said, you know I work and also carry a full load; therefore all my leisure time must come from the time I get by cutting classes. Since I'm a man that likes a lot of leisure time, I have to cut a lot."

I thought he answered that one pretty good so I asked him another, "did he have any new resolutions for this term?" He answered thus, "None, with the exception of the resolution to have more leisure time, so figure that one out for yourself." At this point I thought, well, took somebody's pencil and his paper and left his booth. I just don't think that's any attitude to have at the beginning of the term. After all, the whole point of this interview was to give me a little incentive to go to class at least a day or two a week until the Christmas vacation.

I interviewed a few more people, but they all felt the same way as Miss L. C. They were all going to study like they had never studied before. I sincerely hope this is true, but frankly knowing most of them personally, I think these new term resolutions are regular three-month occurrences and we will just have to wait until the end of the term to see who keeps them and who doesn't. (if you want a tip, my money says none of them will keep the resolutions.)

COVERING RELIGIOUS FRONT

By JULIA COOK

Every year many students leave home to come to Southern Illinois Normal University. Some are near their home towns; others are far away. To help students adjust themselves to the new life, SINU has encouraged certain institutions in Carbondale to carry on for the home town. One of these institutions is the Church. Since religious life plays an important part on this campus, this column will be devoted to the churches and what they are doing. A review of the Christian Student Foundation is the subject for this week.

The Student Christian Foundation was formed by ministers and laymen of Carbondale and Southern Illinois to bridge the gap between the Church and the campus and to guide the student during his formative years. Conserving the religious training and experience that students have received in Christian homes and local churches before entering college, the SCP also commits students who have had no vital religious experience to the cause of Christ. Besides providing for the presence of a teacher and adviser on the campus, the Foundation aids the eight denominations which support the religious life of the student.

The University recognizes the importance of church relationship too. Recently President Lay stated, "Only by adding spiritual stature to a vigorous intellect can our young people of this generation clearly determine their worthy life purpose and to live to practice the brotherhood of man."

In July, 1942, definite plans were made to establish a Foundation. Reverend John E. McCaw came to Carbondale to assume the responsibilities of Director. Seminar discussions groups on religion and Thursday night open houses were the first student activities.

At an annual meeting on May 13, 1943, the Foundation was dedicated with addresses by President Pulliam, ministers of Carbondale, and students of the University. During the same year, recently elected council officers were: Secretary, James E. Tooley, 511 S. University, phone 367K, Carbondale or 701 E. Oak, phone 315, West Frankfort.

Reverend McCaw assumed his new duties as National Director. Students Work for the Disciples of Christ, Reverend and Mrs. Douglas Mac Naughton came from Ohio to assume leadership. Both of the MacNaughtons act as host and counselors to the students of the campus, and both their home and the Foundation house are always open to students.

LIL GODDARD

PERSONALITIES IN THE NEWS

Feature Editor's Note:

The following article is the first in a series of campus personality sketches. Outstanding students who are adding to the honor of Southern through good service in their major fields of study, through scholarship, and activities, will be featured. Art work is by Chuck Rust.

IT'S THE SMILE THAT COUNTS

Presenting your Student Council President, that permanent face of yours. Yes, none other than Lil Goddard, President of the Sphinx Club. How can the word President be used twice with the different title and only one person? This is just the beginning. Lil is also President of her Sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and has twice been the Editor of the Egyptian, associate editor of the ORELLISK and chairman of the Board of Publications. She has just been picked for the third time to be entered in that all important publication, "Who's Who Among Students in America."

You may be wondering just what type of personality would merit such accomplishments; here's the facts:

In the way of education we find her well equipped to meet almost any situation. Ranking high on the list is bowling followed by dancing, pinocle and bridge. She believes that the individual should set up his own code of ethics and follow them. As to clothes, well, Lil's content! Lil wants with the brown color, being purple and white. Her favorite hobby is simply making friends. Ambition? Journalism, he it great or small. Someday she would like to take a trip around the world; no particular country, just the whole world and on a cattle boat. She's an early riser and a late retiree.

Strike the above mentioned with a little sun-shine and an "Ippa Smile" and you have Lil Goddard. Anytime you see her she'll be grinning from ear to ear and will always have a big hello! As the general opinion runs on the campus, she's "a real guy."

This same opinion runs true with her home town which happens to be Carbondale. Her college career has been a follow-up of successful and out-standing activity in High School.

Maroons Out to Avenge Last Year's 37-35 Defeat in Kansas City Tourney

By BOB McDOWELL
The Maroons will have to stop All-American Jim Hullberg and co-captain Sam Foreman. During last season's play, Hullberg rang the bell for 314 points, while Foreman counted 226.

An exciting contest is anticipated, as Southern will be out to avenge the 37-35 defeat handed them by these same Wolves in the Inter-Collegiate Tourney at Kansas City last year. The Wolves went on to win the title while Southern wound up in fourth place.

Playing Against All-American

The ten men making the trip for Loyola are: Sam Foreman, John Castex, Milton Jackson, Jim Bonck, Jim Hullberg, William Troutman, Bob Benson, Joe Gursievsky, Vincent Greco, and A. C. Waldrep. Coach Martin will dress twenty men for the contest.

So far this season, Loyola has won four, drubbing Camp Platte twice, 72-34 and 51-37, and whipping Camp Clabourne 45-43 and 35-14, and last only to Berzstrom A.A.F. 46-48 and 49-40. On the other hand, Southern has been playing .500 ball, winning from Onized of Alton 51-41, and also from Bowling Green College of Bowling Green, Kentucky, 53-45, and losing to a powerful Wright Field quintet, rated by some coaches as the top service team in the country, 71-56, and also dropping 51-53 thrash to the Murray Teachers of Murray, Kentucky.

Loyola To Bring 10-Man Squad

Loyola will bring a ten man squad, averaging six feet in height, up for the contest, while the Maroons expect to gain the services of

Hittin' The HIGH SPOTS

By RICHARD JACKSON

The Southern Illinois Normal University Maroons have recently been strengthened by the addition to the squad of Roy Ragsdale, a guard from DeSoto. Ragsdale, who has been seeing duty with the U.S. Marines as a lieutenant, lettered on the Southern basketball squad in the 1942-43 season. Roy is expected to be in shape for some action against the strong Loyola University Wolves, who battle the Maroons here tomorrow night. The above game, by the way is expected to be another sell-out engagement comparable to the Wright Field tilt at which several hundred fans were turned away because of the inavailability of seats.

Ping Pong, or table tennis, the game of all great athletes, has come to the fore here at Southern Well, slightly to the fore anyway. On certain afternoons before the gymnasium practice in the men's gym, such stars as LeoDie (The Maroon Cabutti), Dick Harmon, and Dick Foley, can be seen displaying their wares with the paddle. Cabutti, who can use a paddle well, has a nice hook serve and a fadeaway backhand, while Harmon and Foley are all-around players.

Speaking of Cabutti, I noticed the other day that the Northern Illinois Teachers' Guild team published an all-around squad, with Cabutti placed at end. Also on their team representing Southern was Gene Stollar, flashy halfback on the 1945 Southern squad.

The big battle of the year as far as Professional football is concerned will be played Sunday, at Cleveland when the Cleveland Titans meet the Washington Redskins in a divisional battle for the National League championship. Cleveland by their star passer Bob Waterfield is favored slightly over Sammy Baugh's Washington outfit.

There will be a meeting of the representatives of the intramural basketball teams or anyone interested in playing intramural Monday night at 4:00 p.m. in the men's gymnasium, Room 201.

Earl Roberts of Carlyle has again returned to the campus. Roberts who last year lettered in football, basketball, and track is now out for basketball.

Time for the Southern Maroons-Loyola game Saturday night has been moved to 8:30 in order to permit broadcasting of the entire game, Coach Glenn "Abe" Marun announced yesterday.

Harlan Wiley, a newcomer at Southern, is now out for basketball. Wiley recently discharged from the armed forces, lettered in football, basketball, and track at Plano, Illinois high school. Plano is coached by Steve Stevens, former Southern athlete.

Spectators are urged to come early Saturday night for the Loyola game if they want a seat, as a sell-out crowd is anticipated. In the last home cage encounter against Wright Field nearly a thousand basketball fans were turned away.

Don Sheffer and Sam Milosevich, Maroon high scorers, combined forces to account for thirty

Southern Defeats Bowling Green; After Bowling to Murray Five

By John B. Harris, Jr.
Southern Illinois Normal University's basketball team Monday night at Paducah, Kentucky, bounced back into the winning column by defeating the Eastern Kentucky Teachers College five of Bowling Green, 53 to 48. Saturday night the Maroons were defeated by the Murray Kentucky Teachers College aggregation, 51 to 38, in the Metropolis high school gym.

Foley Back In Line-up

With Dick Foley, Maroon guard, back in the line-up Monday night, the Maroons played a clever brand of basketball in downing the Bowling Green cagers. Foley did not participate against Murray because of sickness.

The hard driving SINU five started off fast Monday night and held a 30-23 lead at the half. In the second half the winners kept up their fast pace to hold a slight lead throughout the entire encounter.

Southern, in the final two minutes held a two point lead, but increased that margin when the losers became very rough, with the winners taking advantage of the situation by making the free throws good.

Milosevich Makes 17 Points

Heading the Southern quintet was Sam Milosevich, who swished the net with seven field goals and three free throws for a 17 point total. Teachers' Guild team published an all-around squad, with Cabutti placed at end. Also on their team representing Southern was Gene Stollar, flashy halfback on the 1945 Southern squad.

Bowling Green's main threat was Charles Parsley, hard-driving forward, who dumped in six field goals and three free throws for a total of 15 points. The fact that Southern's ball handling was first rate drew a great deal of applause in the Paducah, Kentucky high school gymnasium, where the encounter was played. All of Sheffer's field goals were set up-shots under the basket.

Murray was paced by James Herrold who dropped in four field goals and four free throws for a total of 12 points. Herrold was followed by Padgett of the winners who chalked up one field goal and nine foul tosses for 10 points.

JOHN STABLER OF EASTERN WINS AWARD

The McAndrew Trophy for the most valuable football player in the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference this year has been awarded to John Stabler of Eastern Illinois State Teachers College.

Stabler, halfback on Eastern's 1945 football team, comes from Tuscola, Illinois.

The McAndrew Trophy was awarded this year for the first time. This trophy is the gift of the "J" Club at Southern, established in memory of the late General William A. McAndrew, former coach here.
