FRIGID FIGURE—An ice sculpture entitled the Sphinx is examined by students on the University Center patio. It was one of several made in a sculpting contest sponsored Sunday by the Special Events Committee of the Activities Programing Board as part of the Season of Holidays activities. Examining the sculpture are, left to right, Harry Mehdezadeh, Karen Kunkel, Gale Beachurn, and Bob Rezzuto.

Keene Seeks IC Promise of Less Switching Tie Ups

By George M. Killenberg

Mayor David Keene said he won't oppose Illinois Central's plans to drop the Carbondale to St. Louis passenger service if the railroad "absolutely assures" him that the downtown crossing tieups caused by the IC's switching operations will be reduced in the process.

It was reported in another newspaper Friday that the mayor told a group of railroad representatives that he would request the Interstate Commerce Commission to postpone the IC's proposal to discontinue its six St. Louis-Carbondale trains.

However, Keene said that he did not tell the union officials that he would seek a definite postponement, only that he would notify the Illinois Central and the ICC that there was local opposition by the railroad workers to the IC's plans.

Keene said that he was not opposing the proposed IC move largely because the railroad promised him that it would reduce crossing tieups in Carbondale by 80 per cent if the six St. Louis trains were dropped.

"I don't want anyone to lose his job," said the Mayor, referring to the union officials' claims that many railroad workers would be laid off if the St. Louis runs were terminated. "But I have to be more concerned with the problems facing the whole town."

Keene said that the crossings at Walnut and Main Streets must be kept open to auto traffic if the city's proposed east-west couple is to succeed.

In other action concerning the IC's proposed move, the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce has concluded its poll of member's reactions to the plans to drop the St. Louis trains, but said that the results would not be released until at least this afternoon.

The Chamber's executive director, Harry Weeks, said the executive body of the organization would be told the outcome of the poll as its noon meeting today and would then make the decision whether to release the results.

Economic Group to Hold Confab on Area Progress

The Illinois Commission for Economic Development will hold an open meeting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in Ballroom A of the University Center.

Eleven civic and economic leaders throughout the 17-county Southern Illinois area will discuss progress that has been made and to provide information to the Commission on economic problems requiring action.

Carbondale's Mayor David Keene will present the keynote address at 1:30 p.m.

Trustees to Meet

At SIU Saturday

The SIU board of trustees will meet here Saturday for its last session of the calendar year.

The 9:30 a.m. session will dispose of an agenda which includes decisions on temporary relocation of several Carbondale campus offices to facilitate remodeling of Shryock Auditorium and University Center and site preparation for the new Humanities building.

Acting President Robert W. MacVicar is scheduled to make progress reports on the University's study of athletics, its proposal for medical education, and its recommendations for governance of new state colleges.

He will discuss progress Carbondale has made and some of the problems of a civic leader.

In a new plan for developing Southern Illinois, a concept of urbanism will be introduced by Arthur Prell, director of the SIU Division of Business Research Bureau. Prell will discuss how the Metro-Lakeland Illinois Area could be recognized as an urban area to attract industry. With this plan a 640-square mile area with a 160,000 population in Southern Illinois would be established as one city equal to Springfield. Both the Southern Illinois area and Springfield would have the same population and geographical factors.

The Negro as an economic factor in Southern Illinois will be presented by Robert Stalls of the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education at Ordill. The Negro as an industrial worker in Southern Illinois will be cited by Prell, referring to the large Negro concentrations in Alexander, Pulaski and Massac counties.

The role of the manpower training program and its contribution to the employment of the minority group, as well as its role in the future, will also be introduced.

Activities of the Shawnee Resources and Conservation Project covering 14 Southern Illinois counties will be presented by James C. Gillooly, project coordinator for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service.

The Shawnee project is one of 26 such projects in the United States and was authorized for operation in August by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Activities Begin for Exam Week

The experimental program of special activities for finals week, initiated spring quarter by student government in cooperation with the Dean of Student's office, began Monday, according to Dean of Students Wilbur Moulton.

Morris Library and women's hours were extended Monday to 2 a.m. The later hours will be continued until December 15. The library will continue to open at 7:45 a.m. each day.

The University Center hours will also be extended to 2 a.m. from December 11 through 12. Movies and dances are being planned for this period.

Help sessions for the larger General Studies courses are being scheduled for finals week in Lawson Hall.

WSIU radio and television stations may possibly extend their hours on the air in order to facilitate late hour students, a station spokesman said.

"Students employed after midnight will be credited with two hours work, from Monday through the end of finals week," Frank Adams, director of student work and financial assistance, reported.

Adams said the lack of student workers has been a major problem during the experimental program for the last two quarters. He said he hopes the pay bonus will solve it.

There will be a campus caroling party Wednesday starting at 7:30 p.m. in the University Center. After the caroling, there will be a party from 10 to 11 p.m. in Trueblood Hall at University Park.

The special holiday convocation will be Thursday at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Sculpturing First Holiday Event

Three kickoff events for this year's Season of Holidays were sponsored during the weekend by the Special Events Committee of the Activities Programming Board. The second annual ice sculpturing contest was from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday on the University Center Patio. The winner this year was Bruce Potts, a sophomore from Carlyle, who also entered the contest last year. He was awarded a $10 gift certificate to the University Center Bookstore. About 150 University children attended a Christmas party Sunday afternoon in the University Center Ballroom. Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus distributed Christmas stockings filled with candy to all the children. The Special Events Committee, headed by Georgia Severson, and members of the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity decorated the center from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The decorating party was also open to all students. Campus caroling is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday starting from the University Center and followed by a party from 10 to 11 p.m. at Trueblood Hall, University Park. A special holiday convocation will be presented Thursday at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Firecracker Draws Students While Rooms Are Ransacked

An exciting 10 minutes in Stevenson Hall early Sunday morning proved to be expensive to two SIU roommates.

Hearing an explosion which appeared to come from within the dormitory at 1:30 a.m., Douglas Hubbard, a resident fellow, and Larry Meier charged out into the hall to investigate.

Discovering the explosion had been only a cherry bomb in a laundry chute, the two returned to their room finding it had been ransacked. Hubbard estimated that approximately $400 in valuables and personal property had been lifted. About $20 was taken from Meier's wallet, Hubbard said.

No one has been charged for the theft so far, according to SIU police.

In other weekend activity, Stephen J. Lather, an SIU student, was found "not guilty" in police court Monday morning. He had been accused of not paying a bill incurred Saturday at Tony's Pizza, 403 S. Illinois.

The case of Jeff Glover, charged with interfering with the duties of a police officer, was continued to Thursday.

Glover allegedly wadded up a traffic ticket and threw it away Saturday evening. He had been ticketed for parking illegally.

Please don't zlupf Sprite. It makes plenty of noise all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet. Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place. An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zlupf is to err.

What is zlupping?

Zlupping is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzluppl! It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But, if zlupping Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment, if a good healthy zlupf is your idea of heaven, well... all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zlupf goes a long, long way.

SPRITE. SO TART AND TINGLING. WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

SIU Team 1st in Poultry Contest

A team of three SIU students was rated first in a National Intercollegiate Poultry contest held recently in Fayetteville, Ark.

Southern's team also ranked first in the breed selection category. The team also placed second in the produce division and third in the poultry production division.

Individual team members ranking in the contest were Dana A. Sauer, Paxton, highest scorer in the contest and first place in the breed selection division; Garold Partins, Adair, third highest scorer in the contest and third in the breed selection division; and Gary B. Shellhouse, Milledgeville, fourth highest individual scorer in the contest.

Oklahoma State University placed second in the contest while Kansas State University placed third.

MUCH-USED CROSSWALK TO TECHNOLOGY BUILDING

Daily Egyptian Editorials

Another Crosswalk Needed on Campus--Now

A hazardous crosswalk on Campus Drive is being neglected, and student lives are in danger.

The Campus Drive crossing is the main pedestrian crossing into the north side of the Technology Building complex.

The north end of the pedestrian crossing feeds directly into a much-used driveway servicing the Departments of Journalism and Printing and Photography offices, the Daily Egyptian and a parking lot. On the south side it serves the new Technology Building complex.

The driveway is the only convenient access students have to the paths in Thompson Woods that lead to the University Center, the Agriculture Building and the Morris Library.

Students must dodge traffic in the driveway, or be forced off to the soft shoulder that is rough and muddy in damp weather. Because of the pedestrians, traffic is not able to flow freely.

The volume of students using the crossing is significant. The scheduling center of the Registrar's Office estimates that at least 30 classes are held in the Technology Building daily, including seven large lecture classes. This means that a minimum of 2,000 students make at least two trips across the crosswalk every day.

Motorists also find the crossing a hazard to their own safety. The "yield-to-pedestrian" sign on Campus Drive is an obstruction to the motorist entering and leaving the driveway.

Campus architects should re-route the pedestrian crossing to feed into a path that is used only by pedestrians and not motorists.

Letters Welcome

The Daily Egyptian solicits letters to the editor. Any subject may be discussed. However, letters should be brief, not more than 200 words or about one and a half typewritten pages, double spaced, will be accepted.

All letters must be signed, including writer's address and, if possible, telephone number. The editors reserve the right to apply routine editing procedures to make the contributions conform to the law, decency and space.

Cooling The Long, Hot Summer

The long-hot summer has been over for three months, but several major U.S. cities are just beginning to cope with some of the problems which caused racial unrest in their ghettos during that summer.

Detroit, the hardest hit, is striking back with programs to help the large body of deprived Negroes within its slums. Industry is making a major effort there to find jobs for Negroes and to help them improve their ability to find work for themselves.

Ford is attempting to fill as many of its 6,500 job openings with Negroes as possible. It is actively recruiting in the stricken ghettos. Chrysler has dropped many of its employment barriers against men with police records.

Michigan Bell Telephone has "adopted a high school" and changed its own employment requirements.

In New York the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has a new director and a drive underway to combat discrimination. It knows discrimination exists. The important thing, according to EEOC director Clifford Alexander, Jr., is "to pin down where and why it exists and find a way to eliminate it."

A recent Commission study proved this point by determining that of 4,249 New York businesses, 1,827 didn't have a single Negro white collar worker. At the other end of the pendulum, one Manhattan firm has a white collar staff of which 22 per cent are Negroes.

The Commission hopes to alleviate the discrimination fast in as many quarters as possible.

These are but two cities of many which are acting to correct the ills which make summers long and hot for many people. But it is a commendable example of people who care and are anxious to work hard so others might work at all.

Letter to the Editor:

Seeking Changes

Being recently elected members to the Student Senate, we perhaps naively believe that the Student Senate should live up to the spirit of the Student Government Constitution. Student Senate is charged with democratically representing the students of this University. This means all of the students.

When we were campaigning for election, we went door-to-door, talking to students, but mostly listening. Listening to their opinions and problems. We listened, we remembered, and now we shall act.

Too often we have seen student senators more concerned with their own desires and opinions, and not those of the students who elected them. It's time for a change!

We pledge ourselves to bringing the problems and ideas of the students to the senate, enact and implement legislation to increase student involvement in their University.

We were elected by students and shall not forget that the only power that Student Government can have must originate with the students.

FAT CHANCE OUR GETTING INTO MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The Cause and Effect of Education

by Robert M. Hutchins

The most popular dilution about education is that it is the decisive factor in the prosperity and power of any nation. The country that has the largest proportion of the population in school for the longest period of time is bound to surpass the others. This conclusion is confirmed by the example of the United States, which is the richest and most powerful country in the world and has the largest fraction of its population in school for the longest time.

The trouble is that nobody knows which is cause and which is effect. Is the United States rich and powerful because of its educational system or in spite of it? Does the country spend more on education than any other because it has the money to spend or because spending the money has proved to be a good "investment"?

One thing is certain, and that is that no other country can afford to have an educational system like that of the United States. It is also certain that as countries have become more prosperous they have spent more on education. But did the rising expenditures on education cause the increasing prosperity, or was it the other way around?

There is some connection between education and prosperity, but nobody knows what it is. All that can be said is that a country interested in economic growth and development should take education into account as one of the factors that may contribute to the desired results.

If the aim is economic development, roads, communications and medical care may in some countries at some stages take precedence over education. We know that some countries have enjoyed rapid economic growth while their educational system was actually deteriorating. The case of Brazil is instructive.

This question of the relation of education to prosperity and power is just as important in Western Europe as it is in the developing countries. The reason is that American economic penetration threatens European ownership of European industries. The process has gone very far.

As long ago as 1963 Americans controlled in France alone, 40% of oil distribution, 65% of agricultural products, 65% of telecommunications production, 45% of synthetic rubber production, 50% of transistor production and 80% of computer production. The dollars have not been sent over: 90% of the money invested has been raised in Europe.

Americans are gaining possession of European industry and using European money to do it.

How can this onslaught be repelled? Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, editor of the French news magazine L'Express, has written a book, "The American Challenge," which is a European sensation. He announces that the most important task Europe has before it is to Americanize European education. In this way, and only in this way, will Europeans be able to outsmart the American invaders.

First, the author demands that more students of college age go to college. He shows that in the United States the percentage is 43, whereas in France it is 16, in Germany 7.5, in Italy 6.9 and in the United Kingdom 4.8.

Second, he wants education in those fields in which he regards Europeans as weak, in management, commerce, marketing and advertising.

The most obvious objection to Servan-Schreiber's proposals is that on his own showing of the rate at which the American conquerors are proceeding they will have taken over European industry by the time his suggestions, if they were adopted today, could have any effect. A point usually overlooked in discussions of education is that it takes time.

The next objection to Servan-Schreiber's prescription is that it assumes a cause-effect relationship between numbers in education and national economic success. This is an illusion.

The final objection to Servan-Schreiber's ideas is that they make the thoroughly American, but thoroughly unwarranted, assumption that the way to prepare somebody to do something is to give him courses in how to do it. This assumption deserves a column by itself.

International Finance And Creeping Reality

By Arthur Hoppe San Francisco Chronicle

Herewith is another unwritten chapter in that unpublished reference work, A History of the World, 1950 to 1999.

It was in the autumn of 1967 that Great Britain, in a momentous move, devalued the British pound from $2.80 to $2.40. Financiers around the world panicked.

The man on the street, however, greeted the news with customary equanimity.

"Personally, I wouldn't give you $2.40 for one," the man on the street, Mr. Albert Pranglove, a fishcart peddler, told a financial reporter. "In Israel, I hear you can get three pounds for a dollar. That's cheaper than pickled herring."

The reporter said these were Israeli pounds and not British pounds.

The British pound is worth more, explained the reporter, because the British Government says it's worth more. Only now they say it's worth a little less. So it's worth a little less. And the same was true in Israel. In fact, you could now get 3.5 Israeli pounds for a dollar.

"That sounds like a buy," admitted Mr. Pranglove cautiously. "But who trusts these foreigners if they can't make up their minds? I'll stick with the dollar, thank you. After all, I've got faith in the dollar."

Mr. Pranglove's curiosity was piqued, however, and that evening he took a book out of the library on monetary policy. He read where we dug gold out of the ground in order to bury it under the ground and it wasn't good for much anyway. But burying it under the ground gave people faith in paper money which the Government wouldn't give them any gold for, because if you had any gold around the house you could get arrested and...

Mr. Pranglove lost faith in the dollar!

The very next day, Mr. Pranglove refused a dollar bill tendered by Mrs. Murphy in exchange for a small salmon. "That's only a piece of paper," he said, "and this is a very nice fish. Maybe you've got a penknife or something of value?"

A local reporter wrote a human interest story about Mr. Pranglove's new aberration. The story was picked up by the wire services and Mr. Pranglove became a national sensation. All over the country, people took out dollar bills and, for the first time, examined them thoroughly.

The more that Government economists worriedly explained why people should have faith in paper money, the less faith people had. Until finally, no one believed it was worth anything. So it wasn't worth anything. It was a great triumph for logic and reality.

The result, of course, was a world-wide depression, famine, starvation and unimaginable chaos.

Indeed, so terrible did conditions become that everybody in the whole world agreed to believe these worthless pieces of paper were worth whatever the Government said they were worth--just as they had for centuries. So a dollar became worth a dollar, a British pound became worth $2.40 and in Israel you could get 3.5 for a buck. And everybody was reasonably happy once again.

21st Annual Show

Theta Xi Show Chairmen Named

Rick Pasco, a senior majoring in physical education, and Ron Glenn, a junior majoring in management, have been named co-chairmen of the twenty-first annual Theta Xi Variety Show scheduled March 1 and 2 in Shryock Auditorium.

Pasco was former president and adviser of the Junior Inter-fraternity Council (Junior Inter-Greek Council).

Glenn, corresponding secretary of Theta Xi, has been a member of Parents Day Steering Committee and the Homecoming Steering Committee and chairman of the 1967 Freshman Talent Show.

The Variety Show was begun in 1947 by Kappa Delta Alpha, a local fraternity which later became Theta Xi, as an outlet for student talent.

Open to all students, the show's entries are divided into three categories: group acts, intermediate acts, and individual acts. Applications for tryouts will be available at the beginning of the winter quarter.

Sigma Kappa and Phi Sigma Kappa, winners of the 1966 and 1967 group act category, will be trying to retire the six-foot group act trophy. The trophy goes to the group that wins the category three years in a row.

Professor of Agriculture Herr Writes Farm Article

William M. Herr, professor of agricultural industries, is the author of an article, "Understanding Changes in Non - Real - Estate Farm Debt," which appears in the November issue of Agricultural Finance Review, a publication of the Farm Production Economics Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Herr reports that cash expenditures for feed, livestock and capital items, and the availability of internal funds account for over 80 percent of the year-to-year variation in outstanding farm debts.

Herr returned to SIU in September after a year's sabbatical leave for post-doctoral work at the University of Maryland and the U.S.D.A. in Washington, D.C.

Advertising Men

Admit 5 Members

Five new members have been admitted into the SIU chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma national professional advertising fraternity.

They are Tom O'Rourke, Des Plaines; Tom Miller, Chicago; Greg Silvest, Peoria; Gary DeHaven, Augusta; and Tom Barnett, Chicago.

Ranked on the basis of service to the community and the university, the SIU chapter of the fraternity every year since 1959 has been voted one of the five most outstanding chapters of Alpha Delta Sigma in the nation. In 1961 it was named the outstanding chapter in the Midwest and in 1964 it was voted the number one chapter in the country.

Do you buy a shirt or a label?

If all you want is a blue oxford button-down, you just buy a shirt. But if you want the shirt to last, with every roll, pleat and taper in the right place, and lots of other colors to look at and choose from, check the label.

The label on this blue button-down assures you all that. Also that it's "Cum Laude" Decton® Oxford. Tapered. And Perma-Iron, which means it won't wrinkle. Labeled "Sanforized-Plus."

And available in solids and stripes. For $7.00.

If you're after a blue button-down, look at more than the color. The label tells you most about the shirt. And the one that tells you it's the best has our name on it. Arrow.

Employers Set New Trends in Hiring Grads

By Wayne Markham

Job opportunities for graduating seniors at SIU, traditionally most promising in the technological fields, are becoming more numerous in the Liberal Arts and Science area, according to Herall C. Largent, assistant to the director of SIU's Placement Service.

"Business has realized it cannot supply all its needs from the School of Business for example," Largent stated. "In fact, companies now train graduates for their particular job classification," he said.

Demand for graduates greatly exceeds supply, the Placement Service administrator said, and added that companies from all over the country come to SIU seeking employees.

He confirmed recent trends among employers who now look beyond a student's major. According to Largent, grades, interview performance and human relations skills are equally important in determining employability.

He did say, however, that some college majors are more in demand than others.

"Where college training per se is marketable," Largent said, "the demand for graduating seniors far exceeds our supply." He included graduates of the schools of technology, agriculture and business as being in this category.

Largent's biggest complaint was with seniors who come in at the last minute and expect to be interviewed. "Business starts looking in October for June graduates," he said.

He urged seniors to register with the Placement Service as soon as possible, and said that ideally they should register during the first quarter of their graduating year.

A one-page resume form is provided this year, an innovation from the three-page form used before. In addition, the student may request an "intake interview," according to Largent, which means a Placement Service staff member will talk with the senior who wishes more information on his resume.

The Placement Service, which is operated by the University and is free to students, furnishes three centralized services, according to Largent.

Interviews between employers and students, job notices sent to students from employers not represented on campus, and a free resume service are provided.

Information on upcoming interviews is often printed in the Daily Egyptian and periodic notices are sent to department chairmen.

In addition, Largent said, this is the first year a Placement Service bulletin board has been provided in the University Center. The bulletin board is located on the wall east of the Information Desk.

Seniors who have contacted employers on their own may have the Placement Service send copies of their resume to the employers at no cost, according to Largent.

Even after graduation the Placement Service keeps the student resume on file and will send copies out upon request. "A thousand or more alumni every year avail themselves of this free service," Largent said.

Rick Holt Places First in Memorial Oratorical Contest

Rick Holt, an SIU freshman from Murphysboro, was the winner of the recent Flora Breniman Memorial Oratorical Contest.

Second place was carried by John Sims, a junior from Belleville, and Charles Harris a senior from Carbondale, finished third. The three winners received cash awards of $25, $15 and $10, respectively.

Voted the top woman orator in the contest was Donata De Filippi of Benld. Other coeds who took part in the finals were Tammy Brundage of Murphysboro, Vangie Griffin of Zion, and Fran Schrader of Northbrook. The seven finalists were chosen from a field of 30 orators who competed in the semi-finals on the previous Monday evening.

The annual contest was established in 1959 in memory of Flora Breniman who at the time of her death was director of circulation for the SIU Morris Library.

Judges for the contest were Kent Brandon, Murphysboro attorney; Frank Gonzalez, a member of the SIU Department of Speech faculty; Ralph Micken, chairman of the Department of Speech; David Potter, professor of speech; and C. Horton Talley, dean of the SIU School of Communications.

Lester Breniman, of the Department of Speech faculty and chairman of the contest committee, presided over the affair and presented the awards.

Instructors End Recruiting Tour

Two members of the Department of Chemistry have returned from a trip to recruit graduate students and discuss research opportunities at SIU.

Donald W. Slocum and Charles R. Englund visited Vanderbilt University, Middle Tennessee State University, Georgia Institute of Technology, David Lipscomb College and Peabody College.

Englund discussed some of his recent research in steroid chemistry, and Slocum presented a seminar on "Electronic Effects in Metalloenes."

King Plans Washington Demonstrations

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., laying blame for poverty and racism on the federal government, said Monday he will launch prolonged, disruptive demonstrations in Washington next spring with the help of antiwar groups.

government action for "jobs or income for all." The campaign probably will begin "around the first of April," King said, and at first will involve 3,000 volunteers from 10 major cities--which he would not specify--in some type of civil disobedience. King said the new move might turn into the first major merging of antiwar and civil rights forces. "As we escalate it, all peace groups will be called in," he said. These groups will be drawn in to support the "jobs or income" demands, he said. The United States is fighting two wars--one in Vietnam and the other against poverty and injustice at home, he said. "And we're losing both." King said targets would be federal agencies, Congress and perhaps the White House. The question of pitching tents in the capital would have to be settled later, he said.

"We will go there, we will demand to be heard and we will stay until America responds," King said at a news conference.

King said his organization, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, "will lead waves of the nation's poor and disinherited" into the national capital to demand

And Then With Kosygin?

Wilson May Meet with LBJ

LONDON (AP)--Prime Minister Harold Wilson was reported Monday planning talks with President Johnson next month on the Vietnamese war and other world problems. He also may meet with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin if he thinks peace prospects might be improved.

Qualified informants disclosed this as a rash of comment from Communist sources suggested ways of getting peace talks started. A Soviet official in London said peace talks could open if the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam permanently.

Informants in London said no formal arrangements have been made for the Johnson-Wilson meeting but a visit by the prime minister to Washington next month is in the cards.

A Soviet official in London who declined to be identified said Vietnamese peace talks could get started automatically if the United States declared a permanent halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

He stressed that the halt must be permanent, saying any attempt to link a temporary bombing pause to a commitment to Hanoi to enter peace talks was "black-mail."

Wilson for some months had been planning to visit India and Pakistan for about 10 days in January. But he has postponed this. He has always tried to see President Johnson about twice a year and now a meeting is overdue. He is aware it will be difficult for him to visit Johnson when the 1968 American presidential election campaign heats up.

King, who announced plans for a Washington campaign three months ago, said again he considered this a "kind of last resort for nonviolence."

LBJ's Poll Ratings Higher in November

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Johnson was reported by the Louis Harris poll Monday to have apparently reversed a downward trend in popularity.

Although reporting that the public still takes a generally negative view of Johnson's performance, the survey said confidence in the President's handling of the war jumped 11 points--from 23 to 34 per cent between the first and last weeks of November.

The survey, copyrighted by the Washington Post, said Johnson's over-all job rating has risen from his record low of 39 per cent in August to 43 per cent now.

On his general performance, including the confidence people have in him personally, the President's rating has risen from a low of 23 per cent to 32 per cent, the survey showed.

Harris said the reversal of the downward trend in Johnson's popularity came in the wake of the "real Johnson" style of his recent news conference and the assurances by Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker that the war in Vietnam would eventually go this country's way.

The latest Gallup poll said former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama could hurt the Republicans more than the Democrats if he enters the presidential race next year as a third party candidate.

Director George Gallup said Sunday that recent nationwide surveys indicate that Wallace would draw more support away from GOP contender Richard M. Nixon than from President Johnson.

No More Cabinet Changes : LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Johnson named the new Marine Corps Commandant Monday--promoting the No. 2 man, Lt. Gen. Leonard Chapman--but said he has not picked a new secretary of defense. He also said he knows of no other Cabinet Changes coming up.

Johnson told newsmen who were summoned into the Cabinet Room that he knew "some kids had been calling around to your bureaus" and predicting additional Cabinet shuffling.

In the talk that has been going around Washington, Chapman had been listed as the darkhorse in the race to become commandant.

Johnson said he has had a number of recommendations and picked the man he thought was the best qualified as Greene's successor.

dent said it is becoming more evident every day that the country needs a tax bill and he hopes Congress will pass one.

Questions spun from one topic to another, including these:

Tax increase--the Presi-

Expenditure cuts--he puts them up to Congress, saying that it has the power to make reductions and he hopes it utilizes the power as it thinks is necessary.

GOP CANDIDATE-- John Henry Altorfer, Peoria industrialist and financier, announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination for Governor of Illinois last week.

Patient 'Good' After Heart Transplanted

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A South African with a transplanted heart spoke for the first time Monday, saying: "I am feeling much better." But doctors warned a crucial period for him is expected by the week's end.

Louis Washkansky, 55, underwent an operation Sunday, receiving the transplanted heart of Denise Ann Darvall, 25, fatally injured in an automobile accident the day before. Her heart was kept "alive" for three hours with a flow of fluid from the time of her death until the operation.

Prof. Jan. H. Louw of Cape Town University's medical school, said Washkansky's condition was good.

Discrimination Ban to be Judged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court picked up the ball from a reluctant Congress Monday and agreed to consider imposing a nationwide ban on housing discrimination.

With President Johnson's open-housing proposals almost moribund in the Capitol, the justices decided to plunge in and see whether the Constitution itself forbids a realtor to refuse to sell to Negroes.

In a written decision, the justices rejected a claim by Texas to 26,000 acres of potentially valuable submerged oil lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

Dominating this first public session in nearly three weeks was the granting of the housing appeal.

Here a racially mixed St. Louis, Mo., couple, claiming a developer's refusal to sell them a house and lot violated both the constitution and federal law, won the backing of the Justice Department in seeking high court consideration.

Should the court be persuaded by the appeal of Joseph Lee Jones, a Negro bail bondsman, and Barbara Jo, his white wife, an almost forgotten 1866 civil rights law would be converted into the open-housing edict that the President has been unable to get from Congress.

At the very least, the old law and the equal-protection guarantees of the Constitution could be interpreted to prohibit large suburban developers from refusing to sell to Negroes.

The two big broadcasting cases set down for argument are concerning the FCC's "fairness doctrine" and application of Federal copyright laws to Community Antenna Television systems (CATV).

Red Lion, Broadcasting Co., inc., operator of WGCB AM-FM in Red Lion, Pa., is challenging the FCC requirement that free air time be given to persons who have been attacked in a radio or TV broadcast.

Fortnightly Corp., meanwhile, is appealing the first federal court decision that a CATV operator should have to pay for copyrighted movies, cartoons and such picked up from TV broadcasting stations.

BIG GIFT—Southern Illinois University Foundation Director Kenneth Miller has accepted gifts for SIU ranging from horses to seashells. Thursday night (Nov. 30), he received a free airplane. The plane—with only 14,000 hours on its two engines—was given to the Foundation by General Motors Corp. of Detroit, which is phasing out its fleet of piston planes in favor of jets. The DC-3, first introduced to aviation in 1936, has a workhorse reputation and many are still flying passenger and cargo lines with 60,000 hours and more already logged. Gene Seibert, manager of the Southern Illinois Airport where the plane was delivered, said the gift is "slick as a whistle". Originally a cargo model (C-47), it was bought by GM in 1959 and converted to a 12-seat passenger model. From left: Miller; John Rendleman, SIU chief pilot Elliot Ketring; GM pilots

Instruction Center Offers Aid

By Margaret Perez

Over 17,000 students have taken advantage of the Self-Instruction Center since its inception during the spring quarter of 1966, according to Harry Denzel, director of the Center.

The Center, previously located in the Communications Building, is now located on the first floor of the Morris Library. This quarter alone, over 1,000 students have visited the Center for instruction help, Denzel said.

One of the major objectives of the Center, according to Denzel, is to provide an atmosphere where a student may proceed through programmed and course material at his own pace and at a time convenient to himself.

The Center is in the library atmosphere with additional instruction helps such as language tapes, slides, laboratory tapes, work sheets and filmstrips.

The programmed textbooks used in the Center are of the commercial question-and-answer type, Denzel said. The student is asked a question and then is allowed to check his answer on the next page of the book.

"In some cases the instructors are requiring students to complete course work at the Center," he said, "but in most cases, the students come on their own to get help in preparing for proficiency exams, final exams, and prerequisite exams."

Besides programmed commercial textbooks, much of the instruction helps are self-instruction materials prepared by SIU faculty members.

Instruction fees are not charged, and programmed texts may not be taken out of the Center.

Over 40 courses, about half of them general studies, have locally produced self-instruction materials in the Center. Almost 90 per cent of these use some sort of instruction materials in the Center. Almost 90 per cent of these use help such as tapes, filmstrips or slides.

The Center will permit students to extend their studies in particular subjects beyond regular course requirements, Denzel stated in a recent report on the Center.

Other objectives of the Center, as cited in the report, are to "permit students to explore subject matter areas in which they have an interest; help students review previously covered material; help students who are having difficulty in certain subjects, and assist professors to evaluate and refine their course objectives."

IVAN DAVIS

'Ivan the Terrific' to Appear In Community Concert Series

Ivan Davis, the young pianist described by critics as "Ivan the Terrific" and "the Thinking Man's Pianist," will be heard by the Carbondale Community Concert audience at 8 p.m. Friday in Shryock Auditorium.

The young Texan, who is professor of piano at the University of Miami, Florida, won national attention in 1960 when he won the Franz Liszt Piano Competition in New York. At that time he was already winner of many other contests, including the Young Artists Competition of the National Federation of Music Clubs. He has been a Fulbright scholar in Rome, and is one of the few pianists who has coached with Vladimir Horowitz.

In solo recitals and appearances with most of the major American orchestras, his performances have been described as "dazzling." One reviewer found "taste and tone, poetry and precision, fire, temperament, delicacy and a wealth of nuance and eloquent inflection, all of which expressed his musical charm and personality, including the sincerity of youth."

This is the third in this year's series of Community Concerts, which are open to membership card holders and SIU students. Student admission may be obtained free at the University Center. The last concert in this series will be heard in April, presented by the Beaux Arts Trio.

Farmers Face New Experience In Creating Recreational Areas

A farmer who is thinking about transforming a part of his farm into a public recreational area should be aware of the differences between such a business and his customary farming enterprise.

This is indicated by a SIU study conducted by John H. Watkins, native of Odin and master's degree holder from SIU. Using Washington County as a primary sample area, Watkins considered the potential for developing commercial recreation on farm land in the area. Managing a public fishing, hunting, camping, or picnicking area requires much more extensive dealing with people than does raising field crops or livestock, he said. Serving as a host to all kinds of people, including many urban dwellers, makes management of a recreational area an entirely new experience for many farmers.

Watkins also said: "Since the farmer will not want to irritate his neighbors, he should find out how they feel toward his developing any type of facility which is going to draw in the public. Certainly, it is easy to understand that some of the adjacent farmers may not appreciate a hunting preserve or fee-hunting area next to them because of a belief that the hunters might trespass on their property and cause damage to livestock and crops."

Another real difference between regular farming and establishing a recreational area is the importance of advertising and promotion to the success of a commercial recreational venture. Investments in advertising are some of the big expenditures required for making a start in the recreation business.

Watkins lists commercial credit agencies and federal agencies, such as the Farmers Home Administration, as possible sources for financial assistance in embarking on a recreational development. Under the 1962 Food and Agricultural Act, FHA received responsibility for making loans to farmers who wish to develop public recreational facilities.

"It is on the basis of the soundness of the farmer's plan that federal funds are made available, either as loans or grants for such development," Watkins pointed out. The prospective developer of a recreational area can work out his plan with technical assistance available from private and governmental sources.

The Soil Conservation Service is the agency responsible for providing technical advice on the local level for some recreational developments. SCS county officials can help farmers determine which areas of the farm are best for regular farming operations and which are suited for developing recreation facilities. The SCS technicians can advise the farmer on nearly any of the physical aspects of the planned recreational area.

In planning a recreational facility on his farm, the farmer is faced with many decisions. Only after making them should he answer the big question: "Do I develop a recreational area or not?"

"No pill can stop you from flunking out," I scoffed. "Well, he's there. And I'm here. Take warning from my sad case. And take NoDoz to help you stay with it."

Actually, our young warrior is right: NoDoz can't work miracles.

But it can help, any time you're drowsy or tired. For example: A couple of NoDoz can sharpen your mind and help you remember facts at exam time, or NoDoz can wake you up when you have to cram late at night.

When driving makes you drowsy, NoDoz can bring you back to life. If a long lecture makes your attention wander, NoDoz to the rescue.

Get the point? NoDoz can help you anywhere, any time, and it's non habit-forming.

Reviews South Seas Explorations

Historian to Lecture Friday

A maritime historian and specialist on South Seas ethnology and archaeology will be the guest lecturer presented Dec. 8 by the SIU chapter of Sigma Xi, national scientific research society.

The lecture by Ernest S. Dodge, since 1950 director of the Peabody Museum, Salem, Mass., will be given in Morris Library Auditorium at 8 p.m. and will be open to the public without charge.

Dodge will speak on the subject "Captains Collectors," recounting the maritime history and collections of the early exploratory voyages in the South Seas.

He is the author of the book, "Northwest by Sea," a history of the search by sea for the Northwest Passage, published by Oxford University Press in 1961. That same year he received a Guggenheim Fellowship to study the ethnological material in Europe brought back on the three exploration voyages of Captain James Cook. His 1962 series of Lowell Lectures, "New England and the South Seas," at the Boston Public Library was published in book form by Harvard University in 1965.

Dodge is editor of "The American Neptune," a quarterly journal of maritime history, and is the author of numerous popular, scientific and historical articles. He has done field work in the Society, Fiji and Hawaiian Islands and on Algonquian and Iroquois Indian reservations the eastern United States and Canada.

The speaker has received an appointment as senior specialist at the East-West Center in Honolulu to serve from March 1 to July 1, 1968.

Chemistry Meeting Set

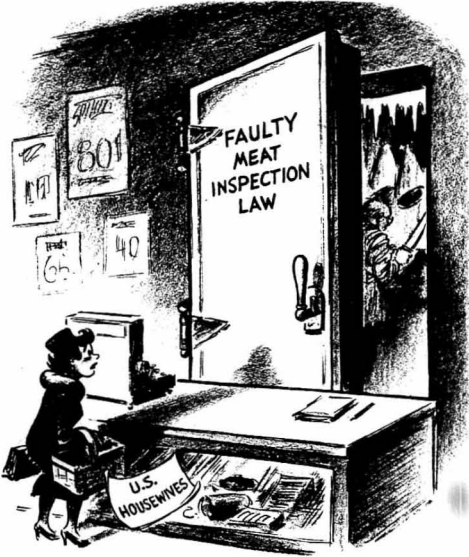

David Wasmund, graduate research assistant in the Department of Chemistry will discuss "Pyridine as a Reaction Solvent" at 4 p.m. Wednesday in Parkinson 204.

Drainage Project Awarded to Firm

Edgar Stephens and Sons, Inc. of Carbondale is the apparent low bidder on a drainage improvements project at the SIU Arena playfields area.

Three parallel lines of 48-inch pipe will be laid from Rt. 51 across the area and north of the baseball diamond, following an existing drainage ditch. Stephens submitted a bid of $93,944 for the work, lowest of seven received for it.

Robert Sproat, engineer in the SIU campus architect's office, said the project will alleviate flooding and provide additional overflow drainage facilities for the Campus Lake and its sister lake now under construction.

National Foundation Awards Grants to SIU Instructors

Two SIU professors have been awarded research grants by the National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities.

Barnaby C. Keeny, chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, announced that John Y. Simon, executive director of the Ulysses S. Grant Association and associate professor of history, and Paul A. Schilpp, professor of philosophy are among 23 scholars throughout the country to receive the research grants this year.

Simon is awarded $3,500 to further the collection and publication of a 15-volume edition of the works of Ulysses S. Grant, the Civil War general and 18th president of the United States. Simon is directing this project, the first volume of which has been published by the SIU Press.

Schilpp, editor and contributing author to the "Library of Living Philosophers," will receive a grant of $15,000 to continue his scholarship on this series in contemporary thought. The series has been appearing in English and other languages since 1938. Volumes have included studies of John Dewey, George Santayana, Alfred North Whitehead, Bertrand Russell, Albert Einstein, Sarvepalli Randhakrishana, Karl Jaspers and Rudolf Carnap.

Sculptor to Lecture

David Slivka, artist in residence on the Carbondale campus will give a lecture December 7, 2 to 4 p.m., in the auditorium of Morris Library.

Slivka, a sculptor, will speak and show slides on contemporary sculpture.

Salukis Crush MacMurray State

With Jay Westcott picking up part of the slack created by the early exit of flu-ridden Dick Garrett, the Salukis easily triumphed over MacMurray State Saturday night, 78-51.

Westcott pumped in six of seven shots, mostly from the 15 to 25-foot range, after coming into the game midway in the first half. Garrett left the game three minutes after the opening tip-off. Coach Jack Hartman said after the game that Garrett would be an unsure starter in the Iowa game Monday night.

The Salukis jumped off to a quick 4-0 lead in the contest, gradually stretching it to a 25-point lead at half time.

Throughout the first half Southern combined sharp shooting with a tenacious man-to-man defense to hold a 46-21 halftime margin. The Salukis shot at a 60-per cent clip in the first half while holding the Highlanders to a 30.8-per cent shooting percentage.

Willie Griffin, who was the Salukis high scorer of the evening with 14 points, scored eight of Southern's first 12 points while Chuck Benson chipped in with the other four.

The score was 14-9 with five and a half minutes gone in the first half, when Westcott entered the game and promptly sunk two 20-plus footers to push the score to 18-9.

Jim Samuals of MacMurray then followed Westcott's two baskets by turning a steal from SIU's Rex Barker into an easy two points for the Highlanders.

The Salukis then exploded with a bucket and two free throws by Bruce Butchko, a steal by Willie Griffin who turned it into two points, and a 10-footer from the side by Benson. This made the score 26-11 with just under 11 minutes left in the game. Coach Hartman then substituted liberally, but the Salukis still managed to outscore the Highlanders 20-10 during the rest of the half.

The leading rebounders for the Salukis in the first half were Benson with seven and Juarez Rosborough with six. SIU outrebanded MacMurray 24-10 the first half.

The second half was a more even match as the Salukis could outscore MacMurray by only two points 32-30. After the first 10 minutes of the second half, Hartman cleared the bench.

Southern once again had an unusually high number of turnovers, 18, which also plagued them in the Sam Houston State game Friday night. MacMurray had 17 turnovers.

Top SIU scorers, besides Griffin, were Chuck Benson and Jay Westcott, each with 12 points.

Southern's scoring was rounded out by Butchko, Barker, and Craig Taylor, with eight points each, Howard Keene with six, Rosborough with four and Bill Steppe, Rick Brueckner and Andy Kucik each had two points. Garrett and Charlie Hughes did not score.

The top scorer for MacMurray was Denny Desmond with 13 points, including four field goals from beyond the free-throw circle. Tom Peters added seven points and Marc Kolb added six for MacMurray.

Rebounding statistics showed Southern with a 43 to 31 lead, including team rebounds. Top rebounders for the Salukis were Benson and Rosborough, each with 10. Griffin and Barker followed with five apiece.

Overall the Salukis shot 54 per cent from the field while MacMurray could muster only a 32.8 percentage against the Southern defense.

Three Top Teams Defeated In Faculty-Staff Bowling

Although the three top teams of the Faculty-Staff bowling league were upset in action last week, their positions in the standings remained unchanged.

The league-leading Alley Cats and University Center teams were upset by underdog Chemistry and Zoology, while third-place Rehab dropped three games to the Cherry Pickers.

Team honors went to the Cherry Pickers with the high series of 2814 and to Chemistry with a high single of 990.

Chuck Kolich of Chemistry took individual high series with a 501, and Lloyd Wright of Zoology rolled a 213 for the high game of the week.

The standings are as follows:

Alley Cats	23	13
University Center	23	13
Rehab	21	15
Chemistry	19	17
VTI	17	19
Zoology	17	19
Cherry Pickers	16.5	19.5
Mathematics	16	20
Dutch Masters	14.5	21.5

Soccer Club Loses First Match

SIU's International Soccer Club found the mud and a vastly improved Murray State team too much to cope with as they fell to defeat for the first time in the club's history 3-1 last Saturday at Murray, Ky.

It was the Murray State team that gave the club its biggest scare of the season prior to Saturday by tying them 0-0 earlier in the year.

The match was played under hazardous conditions. The field was covered with mud and in some spots the water was ankle deep.

"I don't think that match proved who was the best team," said team captain Frank Lumsden. "Under those conditions it was a matter of who got the breaks."

However, it wasn't the mud that defeated SIU, but a highly improved Murray State team.

"They've improved a great deal since we last played them," said Lumsden. "The shots were about even and although we hadn't practiced since before Thanksgiving, it was hard to tell if that factor had any significance due to the conditions of the field."

Contrasting the two times the teams met, the Murray State improvement is obvious. In their first meeting the Salukis outshot Murray State 47-2 while in the match Saturday the shots were evenly distributed.

The defeat in their season finale left the club with a 5-1-1 slate for the season and a 10-1-3 record since it was organized last year.

Murray State broke the match wide open in the opening period with two quick goals.

SIU forward Andres Guerrero cut the lead to 2-1 at the half with a rebound shot in the second quarter.

Then Murray State put the icing on the cake in the final period with a 20-footer to make the final score of 3-1.

In a preliminary contest SIU's second string edged Murray State's reserves 1-0.

Victory String Snapped at 21 by Iowa

IOWA CITY — Iowa ended SIU's 21-game winning streak Monday night 61-49 and dropped the Salukis' record to 2-1 this season. Southern has yet to defeat a Big Ten school in six tries. It was the second loss to the Hawkeyes.

Iowa jumped into a quick 7-0 lead and the closest Southern could come for the rest of the evening was two points at 25-23 with less than two minutes remaining in the first half.

Iowa's scrappy zone defense applied constant pressure throughout the game, forcing SIU into 10 turnovers, nine in the opening period.

The Salukis' lack of experience appeared to take its toll late in the game as the Salukis missed repeated opportunities to close the Iowa lead.

Nearly four minutes had elapsed before Southern scored on Willie Griffin's 20-footer. Iowa's Sam Williams was called for traveling and the Salukis failed to score. Ron Norman made it 9-2 Iowa and Bruce Butchko converted two opportunities for SIU to narrow the margin to 9-6. The Salukis turned the ball over the next two times they handled it and Iowa converted once.

The Hawkeyes opened the game up at 22-12 before Southern scored eight of the next 10 to bring the score to 24-20. An Iowa foul shot was good before Dick Garrett narrowed the margin to 25-23 on a three point play.

But the Salukis missed their next two shots and Iowa scored twice to take a 29-23 lead into the locker room.

The Hawkeyes won the second half tip, as they had the opener, but the Salukis took the ball away from them twice before scoring. However, at that point Iowa forced Southern into two turnovers and consistently took the rebounds away from the Salukis, something they had failed to do in the first half.

The lead went to 11, with Sam Williams getting eight quick points after only two in the opening stanza. Jay Westcott's two buckets and Griffin's jumper narrowed it to seven.

But that was as close as the Salukis were to get. Iowa scored six consecutive points on free throws and the Salukis were quickly hand-capped by the bonus situation.

Southern had several chances to reduce a 12-point Iowa lead, but lost the range from the floor, not only missing several shots but also the tip-in attempts. The Salukis missed five consecutive free throws at the close of the contest and the Hawkeyes poured it on with their pressing zone to score the final five points of the game on charity at-tempts.

Iowa worked the ball in to their big men, Huston Breedlove and Rich Jensen, several times with either a bucket or foul resulting. The Salukis failed to score the final eight times they had the ball.

Williams got 14 points in the second half, for 16 on the night. He was the Big Ten's third leading scorer last season. Cal Calabria, a reserve, dropped in nine points and Breedlove and Ron Norman had eight each.

Garrett left the game on fouls in the final two minutes with 14 points. Butchko scored 10, Griffin five, Barker five, Benson and Westcott four apiece and Juarez Rosborough three.

A crowd of 12,670 watched the Hawkeyes win their second game in as many tries. They defeated Bowling Green Saturday night 79-73.

The loss will undoubtedly drop the Salukis out of the top 20 in both Associated Press and United Press polls. They were ranked among the second 10 by both wire services earlier in the campaign.

They will have a week to prepare for Arizona State, whom they play in the Arena Saturday night. After that the next contest is Dec. 16 against Arizona.

Matmen Take Three Firsts, Five Seconds in Invitational

Saluki wrestlers took three firsts and five seconds in the Illinois invitational at Champaign this weekend.

Winning the firsts were Rich Selover in the heavyweight division, Al Bulow in the 191-pound division and Ben Cooper in the 177-pound division. Selover has a 2-0 record, Bulow a 4-0 and Cooper a 4-0 after this year's first meet.

The wrestlers with their records in parentheses, who won second places are: Al Lipper, 167-pound division (2-1); Bill Van Nattan, 145-pound division (3-1); Aaron Bulow, 191-pound division (2-1); and Joe Price, 145-pound division (3-1).

Those taking thirds were Tom Duke, 152-pound division (3-1), and Julian Gabriel, 160-pound division (3-1).

Those taking fourths were Tony Turek, 160-pound division (2-2) and Steve Sarossy, 115-pound division (2-2).

Officials May Postpone Open

LONDON (AP) — British tennis officials showed the first signs Monday of wavering on their revolutionary plan to stage an open Wimbledon tournament.

J. Eaton Griffith, British delegate to the Executive Committee of the International Lawn Tennis Federation ILTF, admitted it might be a good idea to postpone open tennis for at least a year.

Britain's bold position was shaken by failure of the other two big tennis playing nations, the United States and Australia, to back up the move.

The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia, in a meeting in Brisbane Monday, confirmed opposition to the trial Open, saying it ran counter to international rules. The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association earlier said its players would be forbidden to compete, unless approving action was taken by the ILTF.

The decision has to be made by the British Lawn Tennis Association LTA next week. The LTA Council has recommended open tournaments in a bid to smash amateurism and put professionals and amateurs on the same level.

Griffith was back from an ILTF meeting in Paris, where he was told clearly that British players and officials will be suspended from Jan. 1 if plans for open tournaments go forward.

He told newsmen he found fiercer resentment over Britain's proposals than he ever anticipated.

But Britain gained one point. The ILTF promised to set up a committee to go into abuses of amateurism.

Jobs Abroad Open

SIU students can take advantage of job opportunities overseas this summer by writing to American-European-Student-Service, an organization which locates jobs for American college students each summer.

Information and application forms are available from AESS. Write to American-European-Student-Service, Box 34733, FL 9490, Vaduz, Liechtenstein (Europe).

Jobs vary from forestry to hotel work and include such specialized occupations as construction and factory work.

The pay is not very much according to American standards, but college workers receive room and board plus a good wage, judged by European standards.

Opportunities are available in Germany, Ireland, Switzerland, England, Italy, Austria, Norway and Holland.
