Council Selects Brimm As New Egyptian Editor

Bob Brimm, sophomore from Carbondale, will head the campus newspaper, The Egyptian, as editor-in-chief beginning spring term, 1953. Bob is a journalism major in the College of Vocations and Professions. He now works at the Alumni Service and has been a reporter on the staff of the Egyptian since September. He has also worked on the Shelbyville newspaper and was editor of a publication while in service.

An Acknowledgment
The Student Council, Office of Student Affairs, and the Placement Service wish to extend their appreciation for the cooperation and assistance of the students, organizations, faculty members, administration, and university staff members in planning and presenting the Career Conference now in progress here on campus.

Special thanks are extended to the guest speakers and to the organizing staff. Ernest Reed, who has contributed much to the conference without remuneration. Signed: Career Conference Steering Committee

Southern's second annual Career Conference was launched this morning at 9 o'clock when Ernest Reed, keynote speaker, addressed students and faculty during an all-school assembly in Shryock auditorium. The conference will continue through tomorrow.

Barbara Von Behren acted as mistress of ceremonies this morning and President Morris introduced the noted teacher, administrator, and businessman. Reed is presently with International Harvester as the head of the selection and personnel branch. He is a graduate of Kansas State College and Northwestern University. Reed has also had several years of experience in teaching and administrative work in Kansas and Indiana high schools and colleges and has served four years in the military service in the training and personnel division of the army.

Tonight from 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock students will have an opportunity to become acquainted with guest speakers at the special reception to be held at the Student-Center. Faculty, and guest speakers will attend this reception. Speakers will answer any questions students may have at this time.

PRECEDING the reception at 8 p. m. the modern dance team of Emily Frankel and Mark Ryders will present a dance concert in Shryock auditorium. This is the Frankel-Ryders duo's second visit to Southern's campus. Their concert will feature fantastic, dramatic, and humorous numbers. Guest speakers for the Conference will have their tickets provided for them and student admission will be free.

Still earlier in the evening President Morris will have the Career Conference speakers as his guests at a sponsored dinner at his home.

"HERE'S Your Job Interview" will be another highlight of the two-day conference. Tomorrow, from 8:30 to 10 a. m., two off-campus interviewers will conduct a demonstration showing the right and wrong techniques of the interview. Jerry Feer, president of the Student Council, will be master of ceremonies at this session with Ann Travelstead acting as reporter. Students Paul Morris and Mildred Schmitt will be interviewees. One of the two off-campus people conducting the demonstration is from a business field and the other from the public schools. This program will be held in Altgeld 207.

Tomorrow night the speakers will be guests of the Alumni Service at a dinner at the cafeteria and later will be guests of President Morris at the basketball game with Washington University.

STUDENTS may attend Career Conference sessions which are taking place during their class periods. Students need only to fill out the attendance card given them at the sessions by the tutors and hand it to their instructor at the next class meeting as an explanation of the absence from class.

On both days of the conference from 10 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. students may attend free coffee hours at the Student Center where they may meet and talk with conference speakers.

ANOTHER feature of the conference is the departmental exhibits in the halls of the second floor of Old Main. There are approximately 25 exhibits put up by various departments which present the many occupations which stem from the subjects taught in their areas.

Departments are still part in the conference in taking part by entertaining the guest speakers at lunch. Twenty-one of the university departments are doing this.

The program for the various sessions of the conference appears on page two of this issue.

Dick Gregory, Alpha Eta Get Variety Show Awards

Dick Gregory, St. Louis, was awarded the traditional gold medal for the best individual act, and Alpha Eta sorority was awarded the $100 traveling trophy for the best organizational act in last Thursday's Theta Xi Variety Show.

Other awards presented at this time were the Service to Southern awards. They went to Wilma Beadle, Carbondale, and Chuck Wildy, Belleville. Wilma is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma, and Chuck is a Chi Delta.

GREGORY, popular Southern comedian, tickled the audience with his "phone call to home" routine, and pleased them with his singing, "Alpha Eta's contribution to the show was called 'Up Surps from Carmen'." The act reflected a considerable amount of work on the part of those who planned the taping and the dance routines, which were a take-off on Bizet's "Carmen."

THE SOUTHERN All-Star jazz band got the show off to a rocking start. Their two numbers set the mood for the evening. From there on it was a carnival of laughs, interspersed with vocals and chorus lines.

"Good Ol' Mountain Dew," a quaint hillbilly ditty, was done hilariously by Georgia Smith and Mildred Hart. Economy-size jugs, containing shotgun, and giant beer feet brought heavy laughs from the audience, as the two cavorted about the stage, doing barefoot shuffle.

ANTHONY HALL presented their chorus line act entitled "State-was Paradise."

This was followed by the inevitable all male chorus line, a group of cigar-smoking "beauties" from Theta Xi fraternity who held the spotlight briefly.

A bit of slapstick was introduced with the act of Ant Triplett and Les Barnes. They presented a "different kind of tumbling act," accented with sharp blows and hard falls.

Tuesday Night Wrestling from Madison Round Garden had an amusing commercial in which testimonials were given for the sponsors' produce. Sigma Pi also showed the audience the "marvelous results" of the "Charles Fettes Course."

BARBARA BUFORD, accompanied by Dr. Max Turner and his piano, gave the audience "Barrel-house, Boogie-Woogie, and the Blues."

The Little Red School House, by the girls of Johnson Hall, made school seem like a lot of fun, especially since it ended with school being dismissed early.

CARMEN leads the King's guard on in the award winning organization act of the Theta Xi variety show. The act was titled "Up Surps from Carmen," a take-off on the opera by Bizet.

The winning organization was Alpha Eta sorority, a new sorority on campus this year. The award was a $100 traveling trophy which was presented by Curt Ray, guest master of ceremonies.

New managing editor of the paper is Jim Aiken, sophomore from Benton. Jim is also a journalism major in the College of Education and has served as assistant business manager and reporter on the Egyptian since September. He is treasurer of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Bob Poos, new sports editor, is a Hillsboro sophomore majoring in journalism in the College of Vocations and Professions. Bob started working on the paper this year.

Business manager is Pat Sherman, Toledo junior. Pat is a transfer student from Eastern Illinois State Teachers College. She is majoring in Home Economics in the College of Education. Her sorority is Delta Sigma Epsilon. She has been a student employee in the journalism department since September.

Biological Lab Receives $6,966 Research Grant

A new grant of $6,966 to SIU's biological research laboratory to further its research program on radiobiology of yeast was announced recently by Dr. Carl C. Lindgren, laboratory director and widely known geneticist.

The grant comes from the U. S. Office of Naval Research, Washington, D. C. M. R. Lipman, St. Louis, regional director representative of the ONR, inspected the laboratory's work in acting on Lindgren's application for a research grant. The funds will be used for research personnel and equipment to expand the laboratory's study of radiation poisoning in cellular life.

Dr. Lindgren claims for the laboratory the world's largest stock of pedigreed yeast, and a world-wide monopoly on the production of a type of yeast cell resembling the cancer cell in human beings. With this stock in trade he directs research programs which are aiding the scientific world in the fight against cancer and against radiation poisoning.

Dr. Lindgren will be available to speak with any student interested in law.

Over-all chairman of the show was Jim Kahnman. Commenting on the performance, Kahnman said, "My success was attained in large part due to the hard work of the performers and my stage crew." He added, "They really were great to work with."

Celestial Blues" as presented by Pi Kappa Sigma sorority, was another crowd-pleaser.

There were many other singing and dancing acts which rounded out the program. The Air Force Blue looked good in the final number by the "Queen's Guard" chorus. 52 voices strong, dressed by Max Anderson.

Curt Ray, well-known St. Louis personality, donated his services for the evening to act as master of ceremonies for the show. Ray did an excellent job of tying the acts together, and keeping the audience happy. He seemed to enjoy the show as much as did the audience.

The 1953-Variety Show was the sixth annual presentation of the all-school event. Despite inclement weather, the house was packed for the long performance.

Lois Baurenfeind, Carbondale, presented selections on the electronic organ before the show began and during the intermission.

Saluki Debaters Win Nine Decisions Out of 16 At Eastern Tournament

Nine decisions out of 16 were won by Southern debaters at the Eastern fifteenth annual debate tournament while three debates came through with-noce out of five decisions at the Purdue novice tourney Saturday.

Southern was represented at the Eastern tournament by four teams, and fell slightly below last year's record of 11 wins and five losses.

Carol Boves and Jim Gibbons, negative team, defeated teams from Bradley, University of Illinois, and Principia and dropped one round to a DePaul team.

Gene Pegland and Charles Tucker, affirmative team, were awarded decisions against Principia, University of Illinois, and Garbage and lost to an Illinois Wesleyan team. Carolyn Reed and Sue Alice Martin, negative team, also won three out of four rounds. They won from Normal, Eastern, and Greenville teams and lost to a Principia team. Sue Smith and Phyllis Wise dropped four rounds to teams from Normal, Wheaton, Illinois College, and Northern.

Both teams and Richard Robinson, graduate assistant in the sociology department, went to LaFayette, Ind. for the Purdue meet.

George Kuhn and Dick Edwards, negative team, made a three out of four record by defeating teams from Wheaton, DePaul, and Calvin. They dropped a round to DePaul.

Barbara Furst and Roberta Resnick, affirmative team, met and were defeated by teams from Navy Pier, Notre Dame, Kalamazoo, and Goton.

Dance Team To Perform Here Tonight

"Little, lyric, and utterly lovely," is the description of Emily Frankel by New York Herald Tribune writer Walter Terry. She and her husband, Mark Ryders, will perform in a dancing engagement tonight at 8 p. m. in Shryock auditorium. The Ryders are a modern dance team.

Ryders, who is one of the major male dancer-choreographers of today, has had a long career in television. His greatest achievement was dancing the lead in the St. Louis Mundy opera production of "Bloomer Girl." He has also performed with the Martha Graham company, and the New Dance group.

Miss Frankel was once a member of the Charles Weideman Dance company. Theater Dance incorporated, and Doris Humphrey's Green Mansion group. She has performed many solo dances on television.

Sponsor of tonight's show is the women's physical education department. Admission prices are 50 cents for students and one dollar for all others. Tickets may be bought in advance at the women's gym.

Immediately following the concert there will be a reception for all students, faculty members, and the Career Conference speakers in the Student Center. The reception is being held as an event of Career Conference in order to give students and faculty members a chance to meet with and talk informally to the various conference speakers. The speakers will be guests at the dance concert before the reception.

DICK GREGORY, as he talked on long distance to his mother in his own accompaniment. Dick presented a comedy routine via the phone call following which he sang and played a tom-tom as his own accompaniment. Dick won the medal for the best individual act of the show.

PARTS in "Scattered Showers," a psychology play being presented Thursday night for the public, will be played by Mrs. Sylvia Mark, left; Mrs.-Carole Kennedy, center; and Mrs. Mary Croft, right.

Psychology Department To Give Play Thursday

An intensely dramatic one-act play, "Scattered Showers," will be featured at the February Public Forum, sponsored by the SIU psychology department and the Division of University Extension, according to Dr. Leslie Malpass of the psychology department. It will be held in the Student Theater of the University Training school Thursday night.

The play deals with parent-child relationships by showing three different types of mothers and how each reacts to a situation endangering all three of their children. One mother is an extremely sensitive, another is dependent on the advice of others, and the third is a rather well-adjusted mother, described by Malpass as not being an extremist.

Three faculty members, wives and three children compose the cast. They are Mrs. Sylvia Mark, Mrs. Carole Kennedy, and Mary Croft. The cast, with the help of the psychology department, handled all production and direction of the play.

"Scattered Showers" was originally produced by American Theater Wing in New York. Since then, it has achieved success in many other large cities such as Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Dr. William Verbeke, head of the psychology department, will lead an open forum after the play. The play and forum will be open free of charge to all interested persons.

Instructor Gives Pointers On Good Public Speaking

We are being bold to death, Dr. C. Holman Taylor, professor of speech at Southern Illinois University, insists that "We are so polite in America we let speakers bore us to death." In England the audience will heckle or walk out on a speaker if he bores them.

In Taylor's opinion anyone can be a good speaker. "Be a good conversationalist, never talk down to your audience, and use a language they can understand," the professor advises.

He suggests that a sure-fire test of a good speaker is a man with a cigarette. If he puts it out when you start, he likes you, if he doesn't, well . . .

The speaker must be on his toes to seize every situation if he wants to hold his audience's attention, Taylor points out. "The attractive talk is to get their attention."

He warns a speaker not to make a mistake of talking about what the audience is interested in, unless he knows all about the subject. "Don't depend upon your reputation," he says. "It doesn't work."

"The audience doesn't owe you a hearing," he adds. "They have done it for us and we are supposed to do by coming. Put them on the back every chance you get. They sit there and you work here then to death."

Over-enthusiasm has ruined many a good story.

High man for the Irish from South Bend was H. Gruger who fired 382. Gruger fired perfect 100 scores from both the prone and sitting positions. Two of his teammates also recorded perfect scores.

Western Kentucky State college will be the next opponent for Southern. The match will be fired some time this week.

Mott Polls Teachers' Duties Statistics Show Married Teachers In Majority

The married teacher finally has unproved the spinster's hold on the nation's elementary classrooms. From an almost 100 per cent rule, the "married" teacher has slipped below the 50 per cent mark and left the married teacher holding the reins.

These findings are revealed in a survey made by Dr. Sims Mott, an SIU education professor.

"The sad thing, though," Dr. Mott says with concern, "is that colleges of education, generally speaking, still persist in tailoring the curriculum for the bachelor girl and not for the married women who must divide her time between home and school."

Conceding that you cannot arrive at a basic educational program for future teachers unless you know the kinds of lives they will lead, Dr. Mott extended her survey into the private lives of the married teachers of Southern Illinois.

HERE IS what she found out about the women who teach the nation's children and spend most of their waking hours with them and their parents:

The first two hours of her day, which begins at 6 a. m., are spent in preparing breakfast, dressing herself and the children, packing lunches, making beds and washing the dishes and relating for the rest of the day.

"This then is the modern teacher," observes Dr. Mott. "Primary teacher is no longer an old maid's job," she says. "It has become instead a strenuous hold for the intelligent, well-adjusted married women of America."

Franklin Talks To Soiree Group

Why we have physical education, from the point of view of school children, adolescents, parents or adults, teachers of coaches, and college students was explained by C. C. Franklin when he spoke at last week's Sunday Soiree program.

Franklin, chairman of the physical education department, continued his talk by discussing the different activity characteristics and interests at these different age levels, and how physical education can contribute to or affect the physiological and social development of these people.

By Sue Alice Martin

"Once we had a job photographing a rattlesnake's head and then ten minutes later we were photographing the Homecoming Queen," said William Horrell, as he explained that their work might be compared to the shifting scenes on a stage.

"We photograph everything from soup to nuts," he went on. Horrell is director of Southern's Photo Service. While the primary purpose is to do photography work for campus organizations and departments, the Photo Service is a second reason for existence. Credit and non-credit photography courses are offered through the journalism department and also the Vocational-Technical Institute.

The Photo Service office is located on the first floor of the journalism house. It is a crowded, efficient-looking confusion.

Horrell is quite proud of the variety of work done by the service. He also is of the practical experience that is offered student employees. He believes that Southern's photo service excels any other in the state in these two aspects.

Besides two full time employees, Beryl Sims and Robert "Rip" Stokes, the Photo Service also employs nine student part time. Campbell Bernhardt, Wes Frankfort, and Pat Sherman, Toledo, do office work. Student photographers are Willey Nes-

Assignments of events such as the recent Variety Show often take a great deal of preparation. Test shots to find the best angles and lighting are taken earlier in the day, so that when the actual moment for taking a certain picture arrives the photographer will be ready.

But that's only a beginning—the pictures still have to be developed, processed, and eventually filed away in case someone wants to use them again a year from now.

Cagers Face Washington U. Here Tomorrow

After two week-ends on the road, Southern's cagers will again play the part of the hosts tomorrow night, when they will try for their second win of the year over the Washington University Bears.

Last Jan. 13, the Salukis jumped to St. Louis and came back with a 62-37 victory over Coach John Puckoff's Bears.

RIVALRY between the two schools dates back to 1914 and 1915, when the Bruins trounced the SU Maroons twice, by scores of 28-18 and 29-13. But since then, it's been all Southern. The two teams weren't re-matched until the 1928-29 season, when the South-eastern took a close one 45-42. Carbondale did a repeat performance in 1940, winning 38-23. The series lagged until 1947-48, when Coach Lynn Hilder's powerful Aquinas of that year nipped the Bears 47-43. Perhaps the most thrilling of the seven game series took place in the 1951-52 season, when the Salukis squeezed by with two points to spare, 60-58. Bear Bob Kipling, senior guard, missed the tying basket with a last second shot.

The Bears will be going into tomorrow's contest with a season record of 10 and 7. Among the Bear statistics are a 63-42 trouncing of Harvard and a 60-40 victory over Beloit. Big name on the Washington schedule this season was the University of Michigan. The Big Ten Wolverines came out on top 69-51.

COMPARING scores rates the two teams almost on a par. Millikin posted two wins over the Bears, 87-84 and 81-68. The Big Blue defeated the Salukis 95-86. The Bears hold a 74-62 victory over the Evansville Aves, who split with Southern, losing 66-60 and winning 72-64. The Bears beat Cape

Girardeau 66-59, while the Salukis downed the Indians 67-62 and 74-64.

After tonight's contest, the Salukis will not play at home again until Feb. 25, when they have a rematch with Millikin University. Coach Lynn Hilder's men winds up the season playing host to Indiana State, only other home game remaining to be played after the Millikin encounter.

Grapplers Tie Northern 12-12, Lose to Navy 31-3, Stoudt Hurt

Southern's wrestlers returned from their northern excursion Sunday with a 7-12 decked sheet with Northern Illinois and a 31-3 dubbing administered by a powerful Great Lakes team.

IN FRIDAY night's match at DeKalb the Salukis had to come from behind and rally for a tie. Each team won four of the eight matches.

Results of the Northern meet: 123—Bob Whalen (S) defeated Ed Jaff (N), 2-0
130—Don Reimer (N) defeated Marshall Riggan (S), 12-4
137—Jack Stoudt (S) defeated Carrier (N), 4-2
147—Copin (N) defeated Joe Fedora (S), 4-3
157—Ruskin (N) defeated Bob Zdenek (S), 6-6
167—Sisk (N) defeated Art Hargis (S), 10-2
177—Nick Veremis (S) defeated Burns (N), 3-2
Hwt.—Kent Werner (S) defeated Skul (N), 5-0

Coach Jim Wilkinson had to shuffle his lineup before the meet. Joe Huske, who had won top berth in the 177 pound class, was found to be indolgent. Nick Veremis, who had lost his top 167 pound position to Art Hargis, took over the task in the 177 number. In the Chicago senior came through with his second victory in four seasons of competition.

Cagers Lose Two Games On Michigan Venture

Hurons Win 73-70, 'Chips' 65-63

Michigan's two IAC series, Michigan Normal and Central Michigan, ganged up on the Saluki cagers to hand them two losses over the week-end. The Normal Hurons overcame a Saluki lead with a 25 point third quarter to trim the Southern 73-70 Friday night. Central Michigan's last place Chippeas added the second defeat, a 65-63 affair Saturday night.

IN BOTH GAMES, the Saluki cagers' outscored their opponents from the floor, only to lose at the free throw line. The Hurons made 25 points on 25 Saluki fouls, while Central Michigan's Southerners dropped in 12 points on a scant 10 Huron fouls. That victory, plus a 95-76 trouncing of high-flying Eastern Illinois Saturday night, moved the Hurons into second place.

Southern dropped in 25 field goals Saturday night to the Chips' 17. But again, the hosts got the breaks and the game at the free throw lane. Twenty-nine fouls were called against the Salukis, and the Chippeas capitalized on them for 31 points. Southern got 13 points on just nine Central fouls.

The Salukis set the met on fire Friday night, hitting 29 times in 58 shots for an even 500 average. The Hurons shot practically as well, hitting 24 times out of 50. But the free throws told the final story.

BOB NICKOLAUS, jumping jack forward, paced the Salukis with 11 field goals and two free shots for a 24 point total. Ray Rippelmever and Chuck Thate each had 14.

Bob Kirksey of the Hurons paced the winners with 19 points, aided by a 16 point effort by team-mate Chuck Morgan.

Central Michigan's Chippeas averaged a 73-59 Friday night drubbing by Eastern Illinois with a 65-63 squeeze on the Salukis. The last place Chips, unhampered by foul trouble, used just five men to down the Southerners. One starter finished the game with three

Northern Grappler Sniffs 'Smelling Salts'

Northern Illinois' Don Coplin and Southern's Joe Fedora were both working for a take-down in Friday night's wrestling match at DeKalb. The two 147 pounders went for each other simultaneously, and met head-on.

Time had to be called when both wrestlers lay flat on their backs unconscious. Someone on the Northern bench produced what presumably were two bottles of smelling salts. Wilkinson went to work on Fedora, and soon had him back on his feet.

However, Coplin was still out. Thinking that the second bottle of smelling salts had lost its kick, Wilkinson traded bottles with the Northern trainer. Wilkinson's bottle soon revived Coplin, who went on to win the match. The "smelling salts" in the ineffective flask turned out to be a laxative.

Seven Netmen Begin Practice

Seven candidates for the SU tennis team began practice sessions last Monday night. All seven are veterans from last season's squad. Five of the seven lettermen.

The returning lettermen from last year's fourth place team are Bruce Lape, Pam; Ernie Fines, Harrisburg; Charlie Pissont, Herritt; Captain Gene Hailt, El Dorado; and Bill Fry, Carbondale.

Also back from last year's team are Paul Profman, Nanticoke and Don Killian, Columbia. Coach Jim Wilkinson's nomination passed a record of five wins and seven losses in dual meet competition for the 1932 season.

An official 1933 schedule has not been approved as yet. However, tentative meets have been carded with Illinois Normal, Beloit, Missouri State of Mines, Eastern Washington U., Bradley, and Evansville college.

Salukis Slump To Fourth Place

Eastern Illinois Panthers finally lost an Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball game but they didn't lose any ground in the title chase.

The Panthers were rushed off their feet Saturday night by Michigan Normal at Upland, Mich., 95-76. It was Eastern's first defeat after six straight IAC wins.

Webster Kirksey's 29 points led a fast Normal assault that produced a 48-39 halftime lead and enabled the victors to register their sixth victory in nine league starts.

Meantime, Southern Illinois—which had been pressing Eastern as IAC runner-up—dropped two games over the week end, to Michigan Normal Friday and to Central Michigan Saturday. The losses caused Southern to slip to fourth place. Michigan Normal took over second spot.

Small college week-end results included: Friday—Millikin 100, Augustana 79; CCL Northern Illinois 99, Western Illinois 90; IAC, Michigan Normal 73, Southern Illinois 70; IAC, Eastern Illinois 73, Central Michigan 59; IAC.

Basketball Rises From Cussing and Cold Wind

Cold Canadian winters, grueling football practice sessions, a long string of cuss-words, and a ministerial student can take practically all the credit for the popularity that basketball now enjoys across the nation.

The student was James A. Naismith, minister, doctor, athlete and educator. While studying at Gill university, Montreal, Canada, he held down a tackle spot in the McGill grid forward wall.

ONE DAY while practicing the guard to him he got on a long string of colorful adjectives, directed at the sub-freezing weather, the grueling practice sessions, and the Naismith was studying to enter the Presbyterian ministry, the guard apologized for his vocabulary.

Naismith passed it off remarking that he had heard more competent cussing in the Canadian lumber camps than his team-mate could ever hope to master. However, the incident did influence him in one respect. Naismith began to regard the discomfort of competing in outdoor athletics after the cool blasts of fall had changed to the icy breeze of the cold Canadian winter.

HE THOUGHT of the comfort of some new indoor game which would be played during the winter months.

Naismith continued studying for the ministry; but the call of athletics was too loud within him. In 1890 he accepted a position as coach at the YMCA school in Springfield, Mass. The school was small, with a limited number of athletes.

He realized the need for a vigorous, exciting sport to keep his handful of athletes in shape and to amuse them during the lay-off between football and baseball seasons. Again the idea of a new indoor sport entered Naismith's mind.
