Cold Spell To Pause For Break

DAILY EGYPTIAN

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

Volume 46

Carbondale, Ill. Thursday, February 4, 1965

Number 82

Below freezing temperatures, which have held Southern Illinois in icy grip since Jan. 23 when the thermometer climbed to 41 degrees, should take a momentary break today, according to the 36-hour forecast issued Wednesday by the Weather Bureau in Cairo. Temperatures are expected to reach a high of near 35 degrees under partly cloudy skies.

The warming trend will be interrupted by colder temperatures setting in Friday and lasting through the weekend. Temperatures today through Monday will average 3-9 degrees below normal through Southern Illinois. Normal highs for the area are in the mid 40's and normal lows around 30.

Little if any precipitation is anticipated for the weekend.

A record high for this date was set three years ago when students watched the mercury reach a summery 73 degrees.

Tuesday night the thermometer dipped to 2 below after reaching a daytime high of 22.

Elsewhere in the nation southern Florida basked in a warm 81-degree sun Tuesday while northern parts of the state felt the grip of the nationwide cold wave. Temperatures in northern and central Florida tumbled rapidly toward the freezing point late Tuesday, and crop warnings were issued.

An icy 34 below zero in northeastern Iowa was one of the lowest readings reported for the day.

Variety Tryouts

Set Feb. 9 to 11

Tryouts for this year's Theta Xi Variety Show will be held Feb. 9 through 11, it was announced today.

The tryouts will be conducted from 6:00 to 10:30 each evening at Furr Auditorium, and each group will be notified as to what time its act will be considered.

In making the announcement, Robert T. Drinan and William C. Gard, cochairmen of this year's show, explained that only a limited number of the many applicants can be used and that the tryouts are used to determine which acts are chosen to appear in the show, scheduled for March 5th and 6th in Shryock Auditorium.

Judicial Unit Sets

Saturday Meeting

The Campus Judicial Board will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday in Ballroom C of the University Center.

Dan Heldman, Judicial Board chairman, will speak. After Heldman's speech the group will be divided into small sections to discuss attitudes in the judicial process, atmosphere of Judicial Board functioning, rights of individuals appearing before judicial boards, considerations which should be given to corrective measures by the judicial boards and the role of counseling and guidance.

Discussion leaders will be Irving W. Adams, assistant dean of men; Orville Alexander, chairman of the Department of Government; Jack W. Graham, coordinator of advisement and testing; and Loretta K. Ott, assistant dean of women.

Parking Lot Goes to Make Way For Physical Sciences Building

THIS LOT WILL BE CLOSED THIS WEEK

Fencing Begins South of Center

The parking lot south of the University Center will be closed "any day now," Willard C. Hart, University architect for the Carbondale campus, said Wednesday.

"For all practical purposes it is closed now, so any extra days drivers get to park there before the fence is constructed is just their good fortune," he added.

The lot is being closed and fenced in as a part of the construction site of the new Physical Sciences building. Fence post have already been installed and workmen are expected to begin stretching the chain-link fence this week.

No special provisions have been made to provide parking space for the 102 cars that normally use the lot.

However, Hart said that there is ample space to handle the cars in the lot south of the SIU Arena-Technology Building complex. In addition, a lot behind the SIU Laundry is being expanded and will be able to handle some of the cars.

"There are several other campus lots that generally are not full which drivers who normally used the one south of the Center can use," Hart said. They are the lot behind the Wham Education Building and the lot between Elizabeth Street and Forest Avenue and Grand Avenue and Chautauqua Street.

Thomas Leffler, SIU Security Officer, said that closing the lot will not automatically mean that persons will be permitted to park at random along Campus Drive.

"Parking is permitted only on the south side of Campus Drive in the area south and west of the University Center," Leffler said.

He added that parking is not permitted on the south side of

Mt. Everest Expedition Leader to Address Freshman Convocations in Shryock Today

Maynard M. Miller, who was in charge of the geological program on the successful American Mount Everest Expedition in 1963, will present this week's Freshman Convocation programs at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

Miller will present, through a talk and color slides, an account of the expedition, beginning with its departure from San Francisco in January, through the long march across Nepal from Kathmandu to the upper reaches of the Khumbu Glacier and Everest's summit by the South Col and West Ridge routes in May.

In recounting the adventure, he tells of the expedition's unusual scientific program carried out at heights of 16,000 and 25,000 feet. He also notes the human side of the expedition relating to the psychological and physical stresses, as its members climbed the glaciers and rock ridges into the rarified air of the world's highest mountain.

He received a B.S. degree from Harvard University in 1963 (Phi Beta Kappa, magna cum laude), an M.S. in 1948 from Columbia and a Ph.D.

Student Convicted of Stealing Out to Prove He's No Thief

An SIU student, arrested and convicted of stealing a carton of cigarettes from a local food store, will go to work for the manager of the store to prove to him that he is not really a thief.

Laurence Luecking, 18, a freshman from Freeburg, was fined $50 and $15 in court costs in Jackson County Circuit Court Monday on shop-lifting charges. Subsequently, he was placed on disciplinary probation through the spring quarter by the University.

In addition, Luecking is to apologize to the manager of the store and offer to work for him for four consecutive Saturdays, according to a spokesman in the Office of the Dean of Students. The spokesman said Luecking told him he wants to show the manager that he should not be considered a thief.

The manager is to file a report on Luecking's work with the Office of the Dean of Students at the end of the month. The report will be placed with the police report in Luecking's file.

WILSON RECORD

Record Resigns From Committee

Wilson Record, associate professor of sociology, has resigned from the Carbondale Human Relations Commission, effective this summer.

Tuesday the Carbondale City Council accepted his resignation and two suggestions about the commission: One, that a member of the Department of Sociology be chosen to fill the vacancy and, two, that John E. Keene, administrative assistant in the president's office, be appointed to the commission for a 3-year term ending in 1967.

In other actions the council: —Approved payments of the claims and bills incurred by the city.

—Agreed to submit photos to the state of the city's worst ditches to illustrate the need for improvement of storm drainage and to gain money from the state for this improvement.

—Decided to plant trees in the Carbondale cemetery.

—Approved the city's Advisory Commission plan to stagger the terms of their officials.

—Listened to suggestions from Carbondale high school students for improvement of the city.

SIU Dean Adams Celebrates Admission to Bar, Birthday

Irving W. Adams, assistant dean of men and coordinator of financial assistance, took oath Wednesday for membership in the Illinois Bar Association.

This event added to Adams' already big week; he celebrated his 55th birthday Monday. As a member of the bar, he is now licensed to practice law in all courts of the state.

Illinois is the second state where Adams can practice law. He was admitted to the bar of New York in 1935 and that of the District of Columbia in 1947.

In addition he was admitted to practice before the Appellate Courts of Washington, D.C., the Tax Court of the United States, the U.S. Court of Military Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Adams, a retired colonel in the United States Air Force, is a veteran of 20 years of military service.

In World War II, he was decorated for aerial flight in Europe, although he was never officially on flying service. After the war until his retirement he served as judge advocate.

Adams is a 1934 graduate of Fordham Law School. In 1935 he was graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the City College of New York with a bachelor of science degree in mathematics.

Adams has been a member

'Take Up Thy Bed and Walk'

Student government at SIU has lain apathetically on its deathbed for years. A few student interns have tried valiantly to revive it, but have met with little success and less support.

Nevertheless, they have persisted in their efforts. When the great physician began his move toward the future, threatening to minimize, or even ignore, their dedicated efforts, they rushed at once to the emergency room. Something had to be done—quickly.

As they huddled around their patient, panic-stricken and afraid, the great healer appeared and uttered what to them seemed a miraculous phrase, "Take up thy bed, and walk."

Their hearts were uplifted. At last they had won a victory. But their jubilation subsided when their eyes fell upon their motionless patient. He could not move.

For years his only activities had consisted of moaning and groaning. He had been bed-ridden so long that he had lost faith—in himself and in the great physician.

The interns did their best to help him regain his faith. They read him an editorial from the Daily Egyptian, entitled "To Do or Die." His eyes remained motionless on the ceiling.

They quoted to him a passage from the chief intern's "State of the Campus Message":

"This may be our last chance to prove to the administration that student opinion is something more than a parenthetical phrase on page 17 of the Bylaws and Statutes of the Board of Trustees."

Still he lay motionless.

The interns, realizing all hope was lost for their patient, returned to their laboratory and began work in an attempt to create life in a test tube.

As they were working, the great physician appeared and stood in the doorway, shaking his head in sympathy. When they saw him, they immediately left their work and rushed upon him.

He turned slowly and began to walk away, amidst their epithets of anger.

But instead of returning to their work, the dedicated interns spent the rest of their days hounding the great physician, hurling upon him the burden of their patient's death.

An Answer to Aces' 'Red Army'

On Feb. 27 the SIU Arena will be invaded by the Aces of Evansville College. With them will come several hundred red-shirted fans. These fans have become as well known as the Evansville team itself.

We are confident that Southern fans appreciate the Salukis as much as the "red army" does the Aces. Why can't we show our support for our team in the same way? If all Southern fans would wear articles of clothing of the same color, we could show our support.

As a suggestion, the men could all wear white shirts and the women wear white blouses. Perhaps a maroon tie, scarf, or ribbon. How about hearing from some others on this? Let's get behind the Salukis as a student body instead of a bunch of individuals.

Let's show Evansville we are united behind our team.

Wage Boost at Cafeteria Urged

As you probably realize from letters in the past, many students have dislikes—personal or otherwise—about various procedures of this university. Many of the things they complain of cannot be changed. There is one thing on this campus that can and should be changed; that is the contract leasing the University Center Cafeteria to ARA Food Services. Some of the full-time workers there receive only a dollar and a quarter per hour and could not be making two-hundred and twenty-five dollars a month. Workers on civil service who are doing similar work may expect to earn three-hundred dollars or more a month. It seems to me that the University should guarantee equal conditions to ARA employees.

Sincerely yours,
Keith Frick

Ours Is Not to Reason Why, So Let Us Smoke -- Let Us Die

By Arthur Hoppe
San Francisco Chronicle

"Evening, Old Bean." It was my dashing friend, Buck Ace, the swashbuckling, devil-may-care adventurer. Pearl diver, soldier of fortune, stunt pilot, big game hunter—Buck's one of that rare breed whose only enjoyment is defying death. With a smile on his lips.

I hadn't seen him for more than a year and I couldn't wait to hear what bold challenges he'd faced, what desperate risk he'd taken. Gold smuggling? South American revolutions? U-2 flights?

"No, lad," he said, as he tossed his white silken scarf casually over one shoulder. "Years ago, I did my time in the Foreign Legion. And I saw a bit of action in the Spanish Civil War and those that followed. I've fought in the jungles, the deserts and in the arctic's snowy climate with scimitars, grenades and my bare teeth. And frankly, old chap, it gets to be a bit of a bore. A man starts looking for the supreme challenge. And at last, I've found it."

"What?" I cried. "Piranha fishing? Rhino spearing? Russian roulette?"

A grim smile played across his chiseled lips. "No," he said. "Smoking."

Smoking? "Right," he said, a flash of enthusiasm lighting up his cold, gray eyes. "I assume you read the Surgeon General's Report a year ago. I remember scanning it and saying to myself, 'Ah, here's a bit of a dare. That's the ticket for me.' And I vowed right there to take on two packs a day. Gad, what a glorious year it's been."

"Have you seen the latest casualty lists? About 200,000 in the States alone. I'd estimate as high as half a million world-wide. Why, that's more than we had at the siege of Barcelona, the Bulge and Dienbienphu combined. Oh, they've been dropping around me like flies." He shook his head sadly. "Good smokers, all," he said. "I'll miss them."

"But why go on, Buck?" I asked, my voice faltering.

An ironic smile lifted the corner of his mouth. "Ours not to reason why, old chap," he said, managing a gay laugh. He took out a cigarette (king-sized) and, with a cocked eyebrow, studied it. "And then there's the thrill to it," he said. "For you never know which one may have your number on it. You never know which one may be your last. All you know is that the odds are closing in on you, day by day."

He struck a match and only the keenest eye could have detected the slight tremble in his hand. With a brave wink, he lit up, inhaled—and immediately his whole body shuddered and contorted with a wracking cough. "Oh, Buck," I pleaded, "you've got to give it up. This is sheer suicide."

The paroxysm passed. "Quit," he cried, his voice weak, but his eyes flashing angrily. "If there's one thing I can't stand it's a chap who quits when the going gets a little rough. No, old man, I know my number's almost up. And all I ask is that you give me a simple epitaph: 'He Died Game, No Quitter He.'"

Oh, the world will miss dashing, devil-may-care Buck Ace. He's the secret ideal of all us Americans. What a shame that not all of us have the courage to go through life casually facing incredibly overwhelming odds day after day.

Of course, I'm sure you'll find it heartwarming to reflect that 16 million of us still do.

After British Model

Overhaul of Parties Is 'Must' for U.S.

By Robert M. Hutchins

Harold Wilson, prime minister of the United Kingdom, can rule with a majority of four. Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States, could not be sure of taking us one step toward the Great Society if every member of Congress were a Democrat.

This is not because Britain is a dictatorship and the United States a democracy. Britain is more democratic than the United States in the sense that the Englishman has more to say about his public affairs than the American.

The principal difference between the operation of democracy in Britain and the United States lies in the party system. The British party is a national organization with a national program. Its candidates are selected and supported by cooperation between the central headquarters and the local constituencies. Those candidates, if elected, are bound to vote on every major issue for the program of the party. If they do not they must resign their seats or at best fall of nomination in the next election.

The prime minister cannot lose in Parliament. If he does he will go out and all his party with him. He cannot be prime minister if he does not have a majority. If he has a majority he can carry his program.

If you want to know what is going to happen in Parliament, all you have to ask is what the prime minister proposes. If you want to know what is going to happen in Congress you have to enter into an elaborate calculation of the personal prejudices of the potentates in both houses.

An American party is a loose agglomeration of local interests brought together every four years for the purpose of nominating a president. The party platform is designed to seduce as many voters as possible into the fold. It will, therefore, avoid or conceal or confuse as many issues as it can. Candidates elected on this platform can properly regard themselves as uncommitted by it.

They are committed only to their own election and reelection. They are committed to their own constituents. As long as they can maintain the charm they have for the voters back home they can keep on going to Washington to annoy any president who is nominally "in power."

There is a great deal of talk nowadays about "strong" presidents and "weak" presidents. A "strong" president has a program and gets it through; a "weak" one either has no program or cannot get it through.

This seems to be a false statement of the problem. There is no inherent virtue in "strength" in presidents. Probably few Americans would prefer Charles de Gaulle to Dwight Eisenhower.

The problem results from the assumption that the clash of local interests will somehow add up to the national interest. It is like the old and discredited notion in economics that if every man pursues private gain he is led by an invisible hand to promote the public welfare.

The Constitution of the United States does not contemplate political parties. They grew up at a time when localism was dominant, before technology dethroned geography. Now it is clear that if the United States is to be an effective democracy we have to have national parties, organized on a national basis, and that the elected representatives of these parties have to be in some sense responsible to the nation.

If this requires constitutional changes, let us make them.

Johnson Offers to Exchange Visits With Russian Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, obviously encouraged by secret contacts with Moscow, said Wednesday night he hopes to visit the Soviet Union this year and to entertain Soviet leaders in the United States.

Johnson, in making the surprise announcement, said, "I believe such visits would reassure an anxious world that our two nations are each striving toward the goal of peace."

In an address prepared for a dinner meeting of the Anti-defamation League of the Jewish service organization B'nai B'rith, Johnson said his Jan. 4 proposal that the new leaders of the Soviet Union visit the United States is receiving active, constructive attention in Moscow. He went on:

"I have reason to believe that the Soviet leadership

Viet Nam Worsening, Senator Says; Colleague Senses New U.S. Dissent

WASHINGTON (AP)—An investigating senator declared Wednesday the situation in South Viet Nam is rapidly growing worse. And another lawmaker who favors a negotiated settlement there said some of his colleagues privately share his view.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Military Preparedness subcommittee, offered no formula for a settlement in South Viet Nam, where the United States is backing government forces in a fight against Communist guerrillas.

But Stennis said the situation is "growing more serious daily."

"I think affairs are heading toward a decision," he said after the subcommittee dis-would welcome my visit to their country—as I would be glad to do. I am hopeful that before the year is out this exchange of visits between us may occur."

Johnson's statement obviously reflected the results of talks between American and Soviet officials that have been in progress for at least a month. While he expressed himself in terms of hopes, it was evident that he would not have gone as far as he did in discussing the subject publicly had he lacked good reason to expect his hopes to become reality.

In what amounted to a major address, Johnson dealt also with critics who contend that, in pursuing what he has termed a national consensus, he might make broad agreement an end in itself and a substitute for challenge.

"Invested with the trust of cussed the Vietnamese situation behind closed doors.

Stennis said his subcommittee does not plan a formal investigation of U.S. military aid now. But he said the group asked for regular reports from administration experts.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he senses increasing dissent among his colleagues on the U.S. position in South Viet Nam.

"It's becoming increasingly obvious that established policy is not proving out," said Church, who long has advocated negotiations to end the fighting.

Church has suggested an international guarantee of neutrality and independence for South Viet Nam.

America's consensus," he said, "we are grasping the nettles of our society. We are not avoiding controversy to prolong the political consensus—rather we are striving to use the consensus to resolve and remove the political controversies that have stood too long across the path of our people's progress and fulfillment."

Johnson said he is sending to Congress legislative proposals "facing up to conflicts, to controversies and to the needs for change in our society."

The President said that the fulfillment of the nation's aspirations eventually would rest on the preservation of peace.

He spoke of the nation's approach to the pursuit of peace in these words: "I believe it is the highest legacy of our democracy that we are always trying—trying, probing, falling, resting, and trying again—but always trying and always gaining."

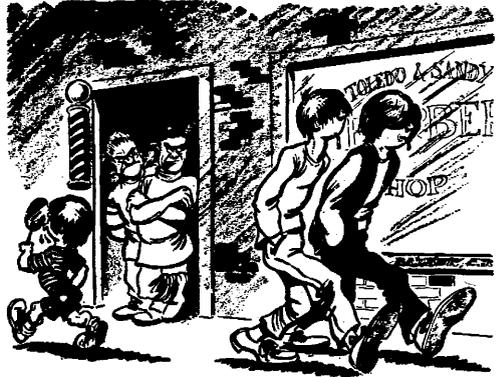

It was toward this end, he said, that he last month expressed hope the new Soviet leaders might visit the United States.

He went on to argue that a national consensus has been formed and will be preserved, "not for the end of the passing moment" but for a long effort ahead.

Johnson said, "Out of the years and fire and faith in this 20th Century, our diverse people have forged together a consensus such as we have not known before—a consensus on our national purposes, our national policies and the principles to guide them both."

The President said that if some of his goals are idealistic, "we welcome that as a compliment."

Creates Own 'Eclipses'

Sun-Studying Satellite Fired

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A "sunshine satellite" which creates its own private solar eclipses vaulted into orbit Wednesday to take the pulse of the sun.

Its sensitive instruments are to provide the best information yet on the seething sphere of hot gases and how its turbulent thermonuclear energy controls what happens on earth and other planets.

From its findings, astronomers may piece together clues about the history of the solar system. Scientists may learn more about radiation dangers facing astronauts who journey deep into space.

The satellite, officially named OSO-2 for Orbiting Solar Observatory, boomed into space atop a three-stage Delta rocket.

Launch Director Robert Gray said the Delta made a textbook flight and shoved the craft into orbit about 350 miles above the earth.

OSO-2 is the second of eight similar satellites the National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to launch to map the sun throughout a 11 year solar cycle. OSO-1 was fired into orbit in 1962.

Among new experiments on the satellite is a device capable of simulating artificial eclipses of the sun.

When the "sunshine satellite" is properly pointed, the disc acts like the moon and blots out the sun to two of the measuring instruments.

105 Cadets Resign At USAF Academy

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—The superintendent of the U.S. Air Force Academy announced Wednesday completion of an investigation into cheating at the academy, listing the final total of cadets resigning to 105.

Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren said that only cadets involved in the theft, sale or use of stolen examination papers were asked to resign.

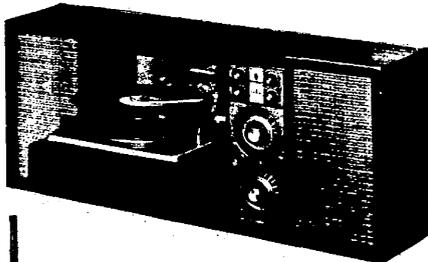

He said 29 who resigned were football players, including 20 who would have been candidates for the varsity team next season.

Kidnaping Fate Feared For Official

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A ranking U.S. civilian aid official was feared kidnaped by Communist guerrillas Wednesday on the eve of the visit to Saigon of McGeorge Bundy, top White House foreign policy adviser.

As U.S. officials prepared to greet Bundy and a team of advisers they were jolted by the news that Gustav C. Hertz, 46, chief of the aid mission's public administration division, was missing.

Hertz left his home Tuesday on a motorbike and never returned.

His wife, who lives here with their three children, reported Hertz missing when he did not return two hours after he had left the house.

It was the second kidnaping of a U.S. aid mission official. Last August, Joseph W. Grainger of Sumpter, S.C., a field representative, was kidnaped and still is missing. Hertz is from Leesburg, Va.

Bundy is coming to talk with Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who has been on the outs with Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, South Viet Nam's strong man. Khanh ousted Premier Tran Van Huong two weeks ago.

While Bundy is in South Viet Nam, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of the Soviet Union is expected to be in Communist North Viet Nam. Official sources in Moscow said Kosygin would fly to Hanoi.

Britain's Wilson Postpones Trip To See Johnson

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson has postponed a visit to Washington.

Sources said he wants more time to woo the West Germans on nuclear strategy before seeing President Johnson.

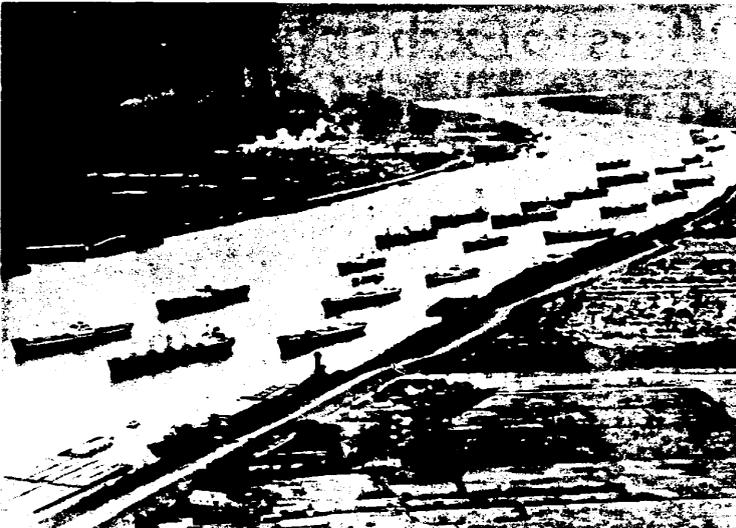

Ostensibly, the trip was called off Wednesday because of uncertainty over whether the U.N. General Assembly will meet as planned next week.

A spokesman at No. 10 Downing St. said a primary purpose of Wilson's transatlantic trip was to address the General Assembly Feb. 11 a day after the Washington visit.

The spokesman said Wilson probably will delay going to the United States until sometime in the spring.

Informed sources said, however, that Wilson is anxious for talks with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard before meeting Johnson.

Wilson was to have visited Bonn Jan. 20 but the illness and death of Sir Winston Churchill prevented this. Wilson now is expected to make the Bonn trip late this month or early in March.

Mediator Voices Caution

No Quick Solution Expected In 24-Day Strike on Docks

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A federal mediator said Wednesday he doesn't expect any quick solution here of the 24-day-old longshoremen's strike that has tied up shipping in ports from Maine to Texas.

However a longshoremen's negotiator, voicing optimism, hinted, "something's in the wind," that could end, at least, the Philadelphia side of the dispute.

Mediator John R. Murray issued the caution as he brought representatives of the International Longshoremen's Association and the shippers back to the conference table. "We're moving," said Murray, "but slowly."

He said that despite previous statements, "There is no connection between any of the negotiations."

He added that a settlement in Philadelphia won't bring an immediate halt to the nationwide walkout.

Agreement must be reached also in Galveston, Tex.; Miami, Fla., and Hampton Roads, Va., the other ports where I.L.A. members and shipping interests have failed to agree on a new contract.

Murray noted that the bone of contention here was a guaranteed annual work week. He said a settlement here "would have an effect on helping end the current dispute, that's all."

The Philadelphia negotiations have been singled out in some areas as "the new key" to ending the dock tieup that is costing the nation millions of dollars daily in economic losses.

The New York longshoremen stuck with the I.L.A. edict that all ports remain closed until total agreement is reached. New York longshoremen and those in Baltimore have agreed to a new contract.

The major obstacle to agreement in Philadelphia, according to James T. Mock, I.L.A. vice president, is the union's demand for a 1,600 hour annual work guarantee. Shipowners reportedly want to guarantee only 1,300 hours.

March Draft Quota Doubled by Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has more than doubled its draft request for March, boosting the quota from the first estimate of 3,900 to a new quota of 7,900.

An announcement said the big increase was necessary because discharges of enlisted men during December were higher than were originally expected.

Soviet Premier Leaves Today For Viet Nam

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Alexei N. Kosygin will leave today for Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam, a Soviet spokesman said.

Kosygin will go by special plane with a delegation that includes experts on military aid and on foreign contacts of the Russian Communist party.

There was rising speculation here that the group will stop in Peking at least for refueling and possibly for more. A source in the North Vietnamese Embassy said he expected Kosygin to go through Peking.

Some observers thought a Peking halt could have significance in the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

Guernsey Club Names SIU Cow A Top Producer

The American Guernsey Cattle Club, Peterborough, N.H., again has cited one of the purebred Guernsey cows in the SIU Dairy Herd for high milk and butterfat production.

The report shows the four-year-old Guernsey, Pre Eminent Aces Gracious, produced 13,340 pounds of milk and 646 pounds of butterfat in her last official Dairy Herd Improvement Registry record for a 305-day lactation period.

Guernsey is one of three registered breeds of dairy animals maintained at Southern's Dairy Center for teaching, research and demonstration purposes. The others are Jersey and Holstein.

Prof. Lantz Edits Book

"Perspectives in Sociology," the first in a series on fundamental themes in human society, edited by Herman R. Lantz, professor of sociology, has been published by the SIU Press.

Lantz said one objective of the series is to republish important works in sociology and related areas which are concerned with a broad understanding and explanation of social forces that transcend time.

He has written extensively in the areas of the community, marriage and family relations. Lantz is also author of "People in Coal Town" and coauthor with Eloise Snyder, associate professor in sociology, of "Marriage."

Lantz, a native of New York, came to SIU in 1951. He is a graduate of Kent State University, Ohio, and holds both master's and Ph.D.

HERMAN R. LANTZ

degrees from Ohio State University.

Other books now in preparation for Lantz's series are "Negroes in Brazil," by Donald Pierson; "Social Process," by Charles H. Cooley, and "Memoir of John Mason Peck," written by Rufus Babcock with a foreword by Paul M. Harrison.

She Got More Than a Badge

'Swimming in Sea of Matrimony,' Or, 'Coaching Coach to the Altar'

By Louis Sandbete

The best that most girls can expect from swimming lessons is a Red Cross life-saving badge. Mrs. Ralph Casey, a swimmer since she was 11, got the coach.

When she was 11 and living in Chapel Hill, N.C., her parents decided the summer-time was a good time for Susan to learn to swim. She was enrolled in a swimming course at the University of North Carolina where Ralph Casey, now the SIU swimming coach, was the instructor.

She learned to be a good swimmer, kept up the lessons through high school and made the team when she entered the University of North Carolina. Later she became Mrs. Casey.

Since then she has been a housewife and helps her husband at Southern by rounding up the officials needed for the swimming meets.

Her social life is also tied in with her husband's teams. It is a tradition in the Casey household to celebrate Thanksgiving with the team.

MRS. RALPH CASEY

Each Thanksgiving Mrs. Casey cooks a 30-pound turkey, with all the trimmings, and invites team members and their dates - about 25 to 30 guests.

The Caseys never seem to have trouble finding baby-sitters for their two young daughters. The team members are always employed for that task, Mrs. Casey says the fellows almost demand that the Caseys go out so they can have the baby-sitting jobs. She says she suspects that the team members sell the baby-sitting idea to their dates as a sort of cheap date, but everyone is happy about the arrangements.

Mrs. Casey says her husband has never suffered from the "losing blues."

She says, however, that the end of a swimming season always means more time for the coach to spend with their two daughters, who are 4 and 6, and their 17-year-old son.

The Caseys also have a married daughter.

NOW is the time to plan ahead for summer.

Woman Gymnasts Going to Oklahoma City To Face Fliptwisters in Year's 2nd Match

Southern's woman gymnastics team leaves today for Oklahoma City where they will meet the Oklahoma City Fliptwisters for the second time this year.

Earlier this year the SIU women defeated the Oklahoma team 83-64. The Fliptwisters reportedly have been strengthened by the addition of Betty Avert to the squad.

Miss Avert of Austin, Tex., finished second to Southern's Judy Willis in the trampoline and tumbling events at the World's Frampoline meet in London last week and will be trying to overtake Miss Willis this time.

Childhood Education

The Association for Childhood Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 208 of University School.

Coach Herbert Vogel's team has been suffering from the flu, but most of the team's members are expected to be at full strength when they meet against the Oklahoma team.

Vogel will once again be relying on the performances of Gail Daley, the top Canadian woman athlete of 1964, Donna Schaezner, Irene Haworth and the two trampoline stars, Miss Willis and Nancy Smith.

The home team will be led by Debbie Bailey, an all-around performer, Patty Dilbeck, the 1964 Southwest AAU tumbling champion and Miss Avert.

Unbeaten at Home

7 SIU Cage Games Left; 6 Are in Arena

With two-thirds of the season tucked under their belts, Southern's cagers can look forward to playing six of their last seven games in the friendly confines of the SIU Arena.

Playing these six home games will be a definite advantage to the Salukis as they head down the wire to post-season tournament time. This is especially true since Southern is unbeaten in its first seven games in the Arena, while dropping four of seven on the road.

But a look at the schedule shows the upcoming games won't be a breeze even on the home court.

Ball State, the opponent Saturday night, doesn't have an impressive record at a glance, 5-10; but some of its losses have come from fine teams. The Cardinals' defense has given up more than 100 points five times this year, but they have lost to teams like Michigan, Notre Dame, Valparaiso and twice to Evansville, 108-92 and 117-81.

The only teams they have played in common with Southern are Indiana State and Evansville. Ball State lost to the Sycamores of Indiana 96-99 in overtime, while the Salukis pounded them 94-68. SIU lost to Evansville 81-80.

The next home opponent after Ball State will be San Francisco State on Feb. 10. State is 9-5 so far this year against some tough teams on the west coast.

On Feb. 13, Toledo's tall Rockets roll into Carbondale to take on the Salukis. The Rockets sport only a 6-7 record so far this season, but they also have lost to some of the toughest teams in the Midwest and East.

Toledo has lost to Duquesne, Villanova, Bowling Green and Notre Dame among others, but they have beaten teams like Butler and small college power Wittenberg. The Rockets also beat Kentucky Wesleyan 76-71 while Southern trimmed the Panthers 100-75.

Tennessee State is next on the home list. The Tigers gave the Salukis a real battle in the first encounter this season before losing 82-67. Tennessee State always attracts the fans with its flashy play, and the contest should draw a good crowd at the Arena.

The Tigers will also be trying to even the score with Southern which now holds a 7-6 edge in the 13-game series between the two schools.

The Salukis' next to last encounter will be against tough Ohio U. The Bobcats beat Southern 79-69 last year, and they should be just as tough this year. Ohio is 12-4 this season, and its only losses came at the hands of Indiana, Purdue, Villanova and Miami of Ohio. Included in the Bobcats' prey are such teams as Northwestern Duquesne, Toledo and Bowling Green.

But the season's finale against Evansville shapes up as the biggest game left on the card. The game could be a showdown between two of the nation's finest small college teams.

The Purple Aces are ranked first by the United Press while the Salukis are third. The Aces are currently 16-0 and stand a good chance of being unbeaten when they come to the Arena on Feb. 27.

Purdue Prof to Speak

At Math Colloquium William J. Gorman of the Department of Mathematics at Purdue University will speak at the Mathematics Colloquium at 4 p.m. Tuesday, in Room 201 of the Wham Education Building.

Preceding the colloquium, coffee will be served at 3:15 at the Department of Mathematics office at 409 West Mill St.

SIU Swimmers to Meet Indiana Friday

Oppose Iowa On Saturday

The SIU swimming squad steps out of its class Friday to go up against one of the nation's most talented teams, Big Ten powerhouse, Indiana.

The undefeated Salukis then return to the friendlier confines of their own pool Saturday for a 4:30 p.m. duel with Iowa State of the Big Eight.

The busiest weekend thus far this season for Coach Ralph Casey's swimmers should be interesting, although it will undoubtedly be costly to their unblemished record.

The classy Hoosiers, the defending national runners-up, appear to be in a class by themselves. Thus it will take nothing short of a miracle on the part of Casey's mermen to upset the talent-rich outfit in its own pool.

The Indianians aren't used to losing. In fact one has to go all the way back to February 1959 to find a blemish on the Bloomington, Ind., team's docket.

Since that loss to Ohio State, Coach Jim Counsilman's teams have racked up 45 straight victories including four this season. Their latest conquest came last weekend when they loafed by Washington University of St. Louis 65-18.

Other victims have been Cincinnati 68-26, North Central College 72-27 and Pittsburg.

And all the Indiana victories have come without the help of four Hoosiers who competed for the powerful United States Olympic team last October.

Sitzberger, a gold medal winner in Olympic three-meter diving; Fred Schmidt, another gold medalist, who swam on the U.S.'s medley relay team; Tom Thretheway, who placed in the 100-yard freestyle event and Rick Gilbert, a diver. All may be ready to go against the Salukis though.

If they are and the Hoosiers are looking for a good workout it could be a long evening for Casey and company. The Indianians are loaded with so much talent that in most of their meets Counsilman's biggest problem has been to decide who will swim in which event and how not to skunk the opponent.

In the super-star category on the defending Big Ten champs are butterflyer Schmidt and diver Gilbert. Both are defending National Collegiate champions.

Schmidt is as typical as an example as how to show the problems SIU will face Friday night. The senior from Northbrook, Ill., won his national crown in the 200-yard fly with a national record 1:53.5 clocking.

The Salukis have their best flier in history this year in Kimo Miles, a sophomore from Honolulu, Hawaii. But Miles school record-setting performance earlier this season of 1:59.1 doesn't even compare with the Hoosier sensation's best.

The Schmidt - Miles comparison isn't an atypical one.

The analogies could go on right down the list with almost the same gloomy finding from the Saluki standpoint.

The Indianians have a 1:59.8 backstroker while the Salukis best is Bob O'Callaghan 2:07.0. They have a 2:00.1 individual medalist to the Saluki's best Rich Evertz 2:07.5.

In the breaststroke they have three men who have all gone better than the Salukis' Gerald Pearson, who has hit 2:19.6.

In the short sprints they may be more on the human side with their best man in the 50 having gone 22.3, while SIU's Darrell Green has a 22.5 to his credit, although he hasn't been able to duplicate it this season.

In the relays and diving, the Hoosiers are almost invincible. The Indianians may have their hands full in the distance races though. Because it's there that the Salukis have their ace Thom McAnency.

Big 10 Title Our Only Goal, Says Michigan Coach Strack

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — It's nice to be the No. 1 college basketball team in the country, but Coach Dave Strack's Michigan team still has its eyes set on only one goal—winning the Big Ten title.

"That's the one goal we set for ourselves at the start of the year, and we are still a long way from making it," Strack said Tuesday.

Michigan, 13-2, has won all five of its league games and will have had nine days rest when it takes on runner-up Iowa here next Monday.

The Wolverines, top-rated in The Associated Press' pre-season poll, stayed on top until they suffered a one-point loss to Nebraska.

Then UCLA took over and reigned as the No. 1 team, only to fall to Iowa last week.

Pairings Set for Playoff Round Of State Prep Cage Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Pairings for sectional and quarterfinal play in the 1965 Illinois State High School Basketball Tournament were determined by the luck of the draw Wednesday.

The traditional drawings for order of play in the playoff rounds of the long tournament series were made by Al Willis, executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association.

The following lineup resulted for the quarterfinal round of the state finals in Champaign March 19-20:

Upper Bracket:
Winner at Evanston super-sectional vs. Winner at Moline.

Winner at Peoria vs. Winner at Olney.

Lower Bracket:
Winner at Normal vs. winner at Macomb.

Winner at Aurora East vs. winner at Carbondale.

Order of play also was drawn for the four-team show-downs at the 15 sectionals from which winners, along with the Chicago public school champion, will advance to the eight super-sectionals (first-round finals).

Pairings in the 15 sectionals will be (last team listed is home team from regional survivors):

At Arlington Heights—first game winner at Des Plaines vs. winner at Mundelein; second game winner at Waukegan vs. winner at Skokie.

At Carbondale — Anna vs. DuQuoin; Salem vs. Murphysboro.

At Decatur — Decatur vs. Normal; Tuscola vs. Pana. At De Kalb — De Kalb vs. Freeport; Sterling vs. Rockford.

At Harrisburg — Fairfield vs. Metropolis; West Frankfort vs. Norris City.

At Harvey — Berwyn vs. Blue Island; Dolton vs. Chicago Heights.

At Hinsdale — Aurora vs. Elgin; Villa Park vs. Northlake.

At Jacksonville — Havana vs. Jacksonville; Springfield vs. Rushville.

At La Salle — Lockport vs. Ottawa; Pontiac vs. Peru.

At Macomb — Hamilton vs. Lewistown; Quincy vs. Macomb.

At Olney — Effingham Lawrenceville; Vandalia vs. Marshall.

At Peoria — East Peoria vs. Lincoln; Streator vs. Peoria Heights.

At Rock Island — Aledo vs. Bradford; Lanark vs. East Moline.

Evansville Scores Near Sweep In Retaining No. 1 Ranking

By the Associated Press

Philadelphia Textile, Wittenberg and Grambling.

The all-winning Evansville Aces were near unanimous choices for first place in the Associated Press' small-college basketball poll Wednesday while Central State of Ohio took over second place from High Point, N.C.

The Aces, 16-0, collected 15 first-place votes and one for third for 158 points from among the 16 regional experts participating in the weekly balloting.

Central State picked up 118 points, followed by High Point's 84. Rounding out the Top Ten in order were Fairmont, W. Va., Gannon, Winston Salem, Arkansas AM&N, Philadelphia Textile, Wittenberg and Grambling. Evansville defeated Valparaiso 83-78 in its only start last week. Central State advanced one place after increasing its record to 14-0 with an 82-74 victory over Tennessee State.

The Top Ten, figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points:

1. Evansville (15) 158
2. Central State, Ohio 118
3. High Point 84
4. Fairmont, W. Va. 73
5. Gannon 65
6. Winston Salem 39
7. Arkansas AM&N (1) 38
8. Philadelphia Textile 34
9. Wittenberg 29
10. Grambling 24

Bids Received on Steam Plant For Heating, Cooling Campus

Apparent low bids totaling $457,908 have been received on construction and modification at the SIU steam-generating plant.

The work will be linked with installation of two high-pressure boilers being built by another firm.

Mantle's Salary Set at $107,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle has agreed to terms with the New York Yankees for a $107,000 salary, tops in baseball, the New York Post reported Wednesday.

The report said the Yankees also have reached an agreement with Roger Maris at $70,000, restoring the cut he took last season.

Both players reportedly will sign official contracts within the next few days.

When completed, the steam plant work will provide heating and air conditioning covering all campus needs "for the near future," Willard Hart, University architect for the Carbondale campus, said.

Apparent low bidder on piping and plumbing, major phase of the project, was Ralph Vancil, Inc., of Cairo, at $282,582. Vancil submitted a combined bid covering the work.

Oakes Construction Co. of Metropolis was apparent low bidder on general construction with $117,310.

Fowler Plumbing and Heating, Centralia, was low on electrical work ($55,000) and the Johnson Sheet Metal Co., East Moline, was apparent low bidder on ventilation ($3,016).

Hart said a complete comparison of bids would be finished in a week. Included in the call were alternate bid proposals on other work needed at the steam plant—outside paving, chimney work, new roofing, emergency generator piping and wiring, air compressor facilities and bigger coal carrying machines for the boilers.

The alternates can be shelved if budgeted funds are not available, Hart said.

The Erie City Iron Works of Erie, Pa., is constructing the two huge boilers under a $387,000 contract awarded previously.

The latest bids were received Tuesday.
