Consider The Reporter Press boxes in both the gymnasium and football stadium were enlarged and improved upon this year. However, there are a few little things that could easily be done which would add extensively to their purpose.

Also, an enclosure around the upper section of the stadium press and radio section would help. The lower part does not provide ample space for all the reporters and announcers.

OUTSIDE AND INSIDE By Bill Plater TRAGEDY IN THE DEEP SOUTH: Louisiana State University men students claim that 95% of all the college coeds in the United States are beautiful.

In the course of a survey for the Egyptian, one of the graduating seniors was asked, "What was the hardest thing you had to learn at Southern?" He replied, "How to open beer bottles with a quarter."

A Susquehanna University freshman who was voted to be the most likely to succeed, finally burned down the university main building on his second attempt. He told the police that he just didn't like to go to college.

Student ratings of their instructors and courses will be a part of the new and inclusive plan for evaluation of faculty services recently adopted by the University of Michigan college of literature and science.

Radio programs are to be broadcast into classrooms to increase the effectiveness of teaching at the University of Louisville. Under this plan, they claim it will be possible for professors to incorporate radio programs and transcriptions into their lessons.

The Normal Vixens gives this wise bit of advice to the ladies. "Bait your Leap Year rat trap with a symbol of security—cottage cheese."

Fashion Notes: We planned to write a fashion preview of this year's bathing suits, but found, after extensive research, there wasn't enough material. However, we are happy to report a new dress style is sweeping the nation—called the bar-wire dress.

THE CORN CRIB Edited by Wallace Peebles This column is to be devoted to those topics of talk, news, the hearts and lips of students at Southern. If it sometimes seems rather raw or even half-baked, just remember that you are the cook, we only serve it up.

Southern... That's where some girls work so hard for their Master's... to say nothing of hooking a bachelor.

Did anybody hear about the guy who missed a class because he was in the Canteen during the ten minute break and the smoke was so thick he couldn't find the door till 15 after?

Said one horse to the other horse, "If my brother wins this race tomorrow he'll get an extra bale of hay, and brother that ain't none."

We notice WCIL always reports its news from the leased wires of the Associated Press. Wonder if the news is any better from the most wires.

The following bit of information comes from a source which in the past has proved particularly unreliable: "Old Man will be shipped to Eniwetok for use as a target at the next atom bomb test."

When a fella tells you it's the Irish in him, don't believe him. More than likely it's the Scotch.

Three male students were seen braving the elements last Sunday evening in an attempt to remove a cat from a tree. Evidently it had forgotten its oxygen mask and climbed just a little too high, but due to these three fine Southern gentlemen and a tall ladder, one cat and its reputation were saved and our trees were again made safe for birds, snow birds, that is.

The other day a dog visitor was seen talking to one of the fag visitors here on the campus. Must be a zoology major looking for inside tips.

Let's Ignore Your Mind By Rod Krantz We have recently noticed with alarm that the makers of Almost Anything would be happy as all-get-out to send almost anyone, just about everything if they would only write twenty-five words or less about good old Almost Anything and enclose one little A. A. box-top.

We hate to be an alarmist but something sure ought to be done. It's not that we don't appreciate the opportunity of winning just about everything except the last three cars of the Friendship train—it's just that the whole thing is reaching such proportions that we're getting rather uneasy.

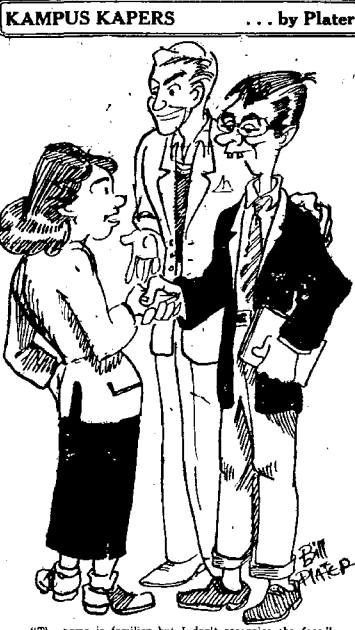

In fact, this box-top business is getting so far out of hand that we keep expecting to pick up our favorite magazine and find that some misinformed opponent of Woman Suffrage is mailing out babies for two box-tops and twenty-five words or less on why you want one.

We're sorry we had to expose the advertising industry's newest indoor sport. We suggest that you don't worry about it too much, since we're probably just bitter because the new car we sent for in a box-top and a four line jingle for two years ago hasn't arrived yet.

One of our friends, glancing at an ad in the Egyptian, the other day noticed an article which made small beads of perspiration appear on his forehead. It stated: "Why worry about the heat? Let us prepare your supper. 30c—including drink and dessert—We specialize in salads."

Just as he grabbed his hat and started for the nearest door, he folded the paper to stuff in his pocket and suddenly he noticed the date—May 24, 1933.

Eddie Melvin was strolling down the street the other day when suddenly, he noticed what he thought was the new look. Immediately he reached up, straightened his tie, and lo and behold! It was a tent some kid had erected in his front yard.

"The name is familiar but I don't recognize the face."

NOTES IN PASSING

Bill Price We submit the following parable on the operation of fair play in this, our sovereign democracy:

A talented young athlete was absorbed with a burning desire to play ball. All he asked was, a chance to play. He was considered quite capable by many spectators, but circumstances were such that he was unable to participate to the extent he wished. So, he retired to the minor league. He retired with the blessing of the major league coach, he received the affection of the minor league director, and his case was put before a board of three (this equals, mind you, not his superior).

This board of three met and arranged for quite a small, but pro and con, over the case in question. (Remember this athlete loved to play ball!) The final decision of this board of three was based on the following considerations: 1. AINT according to the rules, this man could not play in the minor leagues. Why? According to the fine print here at the bottom of the page, he can't play. (Of course, representatives didn't enter into the case at all, simply the rules, y'know.)

Consequently, this young athlete who loves to play ball, can't play; even with the sanction of the upper powers-that-be, because the lower powers-that-be, say no... Thank our lucky stars, this could not happen at Southern!!!!

HOUSING FACTS ARE DISCLOSED BY MABLE PULLIAM New facts about the housing shortage have been compiled by Mrs. Mable Pulliam, housing director. She sent out questionnaires to all people keeping boarders last November and she has now received them and tabulated the information.

HOLDERMEN TAKE SECOND CONFERENCE VICTORY FROM EASTERN

SIU Cagers Appear Strong In Winning 58-54 Contest From EIST at Charleston

The Southern Cagers chalked up their second consecutive conference victory in two starts with a win over Eastern State Teachers at Charleston last Saturday by a score of 48-54. The triumph puts the Maroons in the lead in conference play with 2 wins with Northern second with a record of two wins against one loss.

Coach Lynn Holder's charges led throughout the contest, but Eastern's Olsen kept Charleston in the ball game with 11 points for the evening. Southern's Jack Eadie of West Frankfort was high point man for the game with 21 points. Eadie had nine field goals and three free throws, but his percentage on the goals department was amazing. Out of only 12 shots, Eadie made nine. That's shooting at a .750.

Olde Shooff of Mt. Carmel played his usual consistent ball game, both on offense and defense and topped the fray with second point honors with 11.

Bob Colborn of Flora and Quentin Stinson of Eldorado were the big guns in the Maroon rebounding, but the lack of scoring of Colborn was felt throughout the game. He had an average of 12.5 after the New Year, but since then has fallen off. It has been missed, but his fine defensive work has more than made up the difference.

As long as Eadie and Shooff continue with 21 and 14 points per game, there will be little trouble. Of the nine remaining games before tournament time in March, the Maroons have six to play in the conference. Experts considered the Eastern game to be the big contest of the Maroons' schedule. They stated that if Southern got around the Charleston boys, then the rest of the conference games would fall into the place of a third straight IAC crown for the Maroons.

The box score:

On The Trail Of Sports

Athletes are usually praised for their speed and the ability of a basketball player to consistently hit a high percentage of his shots or the ability of a baseball player to hit a large number of home runs and a batter's thrilling broken field running... Naturally these are valuable assets to a performer. We do not intend to slight these abilities in any way. However, there are other equally valuable traits, which are harder to distinguish... Take the present Maroon basketball team for instance. Every member of the first five is generally recognized for one or two outstanding features... It is our opinion that they are not fully appreciated for this reason. Each player is doing valuable things in his own way... For illustration we'll go over the ability of each player as we see them, beginning with Oliver Shooff. Shooff is known as the good shooter, but he is also a rebounder. Most people believe he is also a good passer and clever ball handler, but they don't appreciate this. If the baskets Shooff has set up as a result of his ball handling and passing were recorded, they would undoubtedly total more than the baskets he has made... Next let us take a look at Eadie. Eadie is one of the defensive men we have seen this year. His obvious ability is his high scoring. This is the first time he has played guard in his career. Nevertheless, he has turned out to be a very effective defensive job, while continuing to maintain his usual brilliant scoring reputation... Quentin Stinson—rebounder deluxe... handles every type of pass the other four players have and with the pass stressed Maroon quintet that is a lot. He is the hub of the entire offense of the Maroons... We have seen Quentin Stinson hold many a taller man to a low number of points, which indicates he is a pretty defensive player... All season long we have heard comments that Joe Hughes didn't impress them too much. In a mid way we have have presented this. Hughes is one of the finest passers we have seen and we have seen Andy Phillips in his prime with the "Whiz Kids" in 1942. His performance doesn't stop there. Rebounding has been another of his outstanding abilities. He has been very effective, but he has hit a good percentage and has come through at times.

Four Advance To Finals In Golden Gloves

Eight men representing Southern Illinois University are competing in the Golden Gloves Tourney held in the Coliseum at Herrin. Four of the Southern fighters have advanced to the finals and two others will fight exhibition bouts the night of the finals, Monday, January 20.

Dan Cox, lightweight from West Frankfort and light-heavy weight Jack McCarty of Herrin, are the boys in the exhibition bouts. Cox's opponent will be Paul Shields and McCarty's is not yet known. Dan Cross, heavyweight from Christopher, will fight in the finals Monday as there is only one other man entered in the heavyweight division. Bill Link of West Frankfort, welterweight, was defeated in a hard-fought bout last Monday. But, was discovered later that his opponent should have been in another weight division so Link will fight in the finals Monday.

Donald Henry of Carbondale, welterweight, won a decision last Tuesday night and will also fight in the finals. Tommy Barnes, a lightweight from Carbondale Community High School, fighting with the Southern squad, advanced to the finals with a 2-1 K.O. in his first bout Monday and a decision in his second fight Tuesday night. Two Southern boys lost to the same fighter, Eberly of Johnston City, Charles Whittenborn, a middleweight, lost Monday on a T.K.O. in the first round. Forrest Drickson of Zeigler also a middleweight, lost Tuesday on a T.K.O. in the third.

Any person wanting to enter the Centralia Golden Gloves Tourney should see either Coach Bill Freeberg or Dan Cox.

Maroons Seek Third IAC Win Against Tough Western Crew in Game Here Saturday

The Southern Maroons will be seeking their third straight conference win on Saturday evening when they will entertain the Western Illinois Leathernecks in the Men's gym.

Coach Holder's charges occupy the top spot in the Illinois Interscholastic Athletic Conference with two wins without a loss while the Leathernecks are at the bottom of the heap, having a nothing and two record.

On comparison of scores, the teams appear to be evenly matched. The Maroons bested DeKalb by one point whereas, Coach Morley's Westerns quit a split even with the Northern Huskies in two outings. The Leathernecks defeated DeKalb in overtime to win the Illinois-Ohio Christmas tourney but bowed to the Huskies in conference play by a narrow margin. Last week, the purple and gold of Western failed in the last half to allow Illinois Normal to overtake them.

Coach Morley boasts of having the tallest team in the conference, with four men standing well over the six foot mark. Western's biggest threat is Red McCure, a transfer student from the University of Illinois, who is capable of scoring from anywhere on the floor.

Coach Holder plans to stick to his starting lineup of Bob Colborn and Joe Hughes at the forward posts, Captain Quentin Stinson in the pivot slot, and Jack Eadie and Olie Shooff at the guard positions. Eadie, in pacing the Maroon attack the last few games, has compiled an amazing shooting percentage. In the Cape and Eastern games, the West Frankfort flash connected an 18 out of 26 attempts.

There will be a preliminary game at seven o'clock.

Maroons Smother Arkansas State 72-42

Putting on a strong second half drive, the Southern Maroons defeated Arkansas State before a packed house in the SIU Men's gym, Tuesday night, 72-42.

Starting slow, the Maroon regulars left the floor after 15 minutes of play trailing 16-6. The second team came on to prove in the last five minutes of the first half that "a team is just as good as its reserves" racking up 15 points to cut the visitors lead at half-time to 23-21. In this late first half drive, Charles Goss of Marion, poured in four field goals, while Jack Long of Flora was helping with two.

The first five quickly found themselves in the second half taking over the lead after one minute of play, and from there on they spent the evening pulling away from the Statesmen.

Quentin Stinson of Eldorado, Jack Eadie of West Frankfort and Goss were high for the game with 12 points each. Withrin and Moore were high for the visitors, with 12 and 11 points respectively.

"The preliminary game was won by the Southern 'B' squad, as we are back the Arkansas 'B' team."

to some of you these bits seem trivial but it is evident that some are not aware of them.

Sports Personality

JOE HUGHES

In Frankfort Heights, March 21, 1926, there was born a valuable asset to Southern's athletic program. Joe Hughes came to Southern's campus by way of Northwestern University last year. Joe not only excelled in athletics, but in Frankfort high school in 1941 was student body president, where two years later his younger brother Robert (better known as Cotton) took the same award and now has taken his brother's spot on the cap squad at N.U.

"Hades" in high school, under the able coaching of Coach Stan Channon now at Mt. Vernon, and Southern's Coach Harlan Hodges, earned nine letters. He received three each in football, basketball, and track. Since coming to Southern, he has one for football, and is well on his way for receiving one for basketball, and plans to try for one in track. Incidentally he is quite an athlete to the ease, lope and saundist.

Serving two years in the Navy, he played basketball with the crack Nevada, Florida Flyers. Of course Joe is a physical education major and hopes to get into the coaching profession.

Looking At High School Sports
By Dolan Gieger

Little Fairfield pulled one out of the bag last Saturday night and pounced upon a giant Lawrenceville for the biggest upset of the week in the state. It just about clinched the conference crown for the Salem Wildcats. Probably the next giant killer was Wood River, who pealed Edwardsville's scalp. Mt. Vernon's goal just about put the Ham's hopes for laurels in the month bag when he dropped all but Hooper and Moore from the first squad and three others for infraction of training rules. Knowing the coach, we know he lays the rules on the line and he generally doesn't back down. Pinckneyville still didn't completely run away with the ball game; nine points in all that separated a badly weakened team with a potential state crown bearer. The Ram was a guinea pig for the difference between Salem and Pinckneyville.

Coach A. L. Trout's Centralia Orphans are only three games from a second consecutive undefeated year in the South Six. Little Casey took the Orphans of the storm a week ago Tuesday, but Friday they played everybody and laced Marion 74 to 51. On Friday night with the team still intact, Mt. Vernon Rams bumped the hapless Benton Rangers 87 to 36. Harrisburg hit its peak by tripping the Red Birds of West Frankfort 57 to 49. The strange thing about the South Six is the inconsistent showing of all the teams, excepting Centralia in league play. They are busily knocking each other off while the Orphans lose no conference titles and win all their league games handily. There is some discussion about the South Six's most outstanding players, it isn't hard with guys like Herb Commins of Harrisburg, Sebastian and Locke of Centralia, Hooper and Moore of Mt. Vernon, Hill, Buckner, Conwell of Marion, Burnett of West Frankfort, and Moore of Benton.

Salem kept up its torrid pace in the North Egypt by downing Flora 56 to 31. In the Southwest Egyptian, Pinckneyville plowed through Chester 68 to 39; Murphycolor slipped past Du Quoin 48 to 39; and number one Collierville won easily at the expense of Granite City (Andy Phillipville) 66 to 31. Paris, champ of 1947, losing only to Salem this year won its 16th victory by trouncing Charleston City 59 to 37; Pana, another upstate contender won over Nokomis 62 to 34.

Saturday night, Marion beat an old rival—Harrisburg 57 to 44—Marion, Harrisburg beat Cartright Mills, Benton fought out a 52 to 51 count over Zeigler, and West Frankfort edged the season's score with Carbondale Community by bouncing the Terrers 52 to 28.

Two Franklin county tournaments will be held starting next Tuesday at Benton and Zeigler. The pairings are as follows: At Benton: Harrisburg vs. Pinckneyville, West Frankfort vs. Johnston City, Marion vs. Herrin, Cairo vs. Benton. At Zeigler: Zeigler vs. Christopher, University High of Carbondale vs. Swasey, Elkville vs. Carterville, and Hurd-Bush will play the winner of Elkville-Carterville.

The games for this week end: Friday: South Six: Centralia at West Frankfort, Harrisburg at Benton, Mt. Vernon at Marion, North Egypt: Lawrenceville at Mt. Carmel, Fairfield at Salem, Okey at Flora, Southwestern Egyptian: Pinckneyville at Carbondale, Coal Belt: Zeigler at Elkville, Others: Hurd-Bush at University High, Johnston City at Du Quoin, Thompsonville at Equality, Christopher at Herrin, Valer at Seaser. Saturday: Benton at Pinckneyville, Du Quoin at Elkville, Herrin at Johnston City, Robinson at Flora, Harrisburg at Mt. Vernon, Centralia at Salem, Princeton, Ind., at Mt. Carmel, Paris at Lawrenceville.
